Khadafy-Backed, Report Says

Terrorist Hit Squads On Way To Europe?

HAMBURG, West Germany (UPI) — Libyan-backed terrorist hit squads, "indoctrinated in fanatical hatred," are en route to Europe to stage attacks similar to those at airports in Vienna and Rome, a West German newspaper reported.

Libyan leader Moammar Khadafy has promised Abu Nidal — a Palestinian named as a possible mastermind of the twin airport attacks — $12.8 million a year to subsidize the extremist's European operations, the Bild am Sonntag newspaper said Sunday.

The report came two days after terrorists gunned down travelers at El Al Airlines ticket counters at airports in Vienna and Rome, killing 18 people, including five Americans. More than 100 others were wounded.

Abu Nidal's Arab Revolutionary Brigades was one of the several groups that claimed responsibility for the attacks.

Khadafy and Abu Nidal met in the Libyan desert to make their financial agreement, Bild reported. Libya has already made a $4.8 million first payment to the extremist group, said the newspaper, which has good West German intelligence sources.

Abu Nidal — the pseudonym for Sabri Al Banaa — has trained between 400 and 600 young men in isolated camps in Yemen and Libya to become fanatical killers, Bild said.

"His men are indoctrinated in fanatical hatred," the newspaper said. "They remain cut off from women. Before going into action they are given drugs and they kill in a frenzy." The newspaper said the squads travel on Moroccan passports.

Abu Nidal, who broke with Palestine Liberation Organization leader Yasser Arafat in 1974 to form his group, claimed responsibility for the EgyptAir hijacking of Malta. That incident ended when Egyptian commandos stormed the plane Nov. 24, killing 60 people and all but one of the hijackers.

Little is known about Abu Nidal's group, but it is believed to have carried out a string of terrorist attacks, especially assassinations and bombings, since the early 1970s.

In an interview with the West German news magazine Der Spiegel in October, Abu Nidal said President Reagan, British Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher, King Hussein of Jordan and Egyptian President Hosni Mubarak were on his death list.

Sanford Has Year Of Decisive Action

Editor's note: The following three stories are third, fourth and fifth in a series on 1985's major accomplishments in Seminole County, Sanford, Lake Mary, Longwood, the Seminole School district, area law enforcement and local business.

Establishing solid citizen and staff support while tangling with some difficult issues has marked 1985 for the Sanford City Commission.

Three city commission members, including the city's first black commissioner and first female mayor, came on board in January, and all commissioners agree the past year has been one of swift and sure action.

The cross-challenges with Seminole County over sewage treatment and annexations have been indicative, they said, that the city is willing and able to assert itself for the benefit of its residents.

"We've confronted the issue of growth countless times this year," Mayor Betty Smith said. "And it's led to certain frustrating problems. But because our expansion is going to continue, so too do our efforts to see that it's handled in the proper way."

Commissioner Milton Smith, marking his fifth year as a city representative, agreed with the mayor and also offered a philosophical footnote. "We're all Seminole County citizens," he said, "and what we need next year is a spirit of cooperation that was lacking last year. I think a lot of what went on could have been avoided if selfish desires had been put aside. If we all come together in one accord with people's interests at heart and make collective decisions based on their needs, that would be the greatest thing that could happen."

"We all were elected," Smith said. "And that means we're servants, not dictators."

For Sanford, then, who better to dictate residents' needs than the citizens themselves. To achieve this, the commission chartered several advisory boards in 1985, and staffed them with a concerned cross-section of city residents. The board's titles, Scenic Improvement, Youth Advisory, Human Relations, Historic District, underscore the commission's desire to address the mechanics of burgeoning development without sacrificing the existing needs of the city and its residents.

"Among the things we've done this year is to try to improve on Sanford's 1985 Accomplishments:

- Scenic Improvement Youth Advisory, Human Relations, Historic District citizen advisory boards chartered
- Police department morale boosted with hiring of new Chief
- Pride instilled in city with downtown facelift
- Progress in grappling with waste treatment problems
- Hiring of new city manager and department heads what we already have." Commissioner Bob Thomas said. "We're concerned about maintaining steady efforts to upgrade the city."

Thomas, who is concluding his first year on the commission, likened the citizens' efforts to "the posture" he and his colleagues have taken "to instill pride in the city's appearance and expand upon its services. We're all working together on this and that in itself says so much."

David Farr, the commission's "elder statesman," said "transition and change" set the tone for his seventh year as city representative. "The commission ran the city in a high profile manner. There was a heavy concentration on the city's visual impact." See SANFORD, page 2A

Growth, Expansion Marked Year For Seminole Schools

By Paul Schaefer
Herald Staff Writer

1985 was a year of growth and expansion for Seminole County Schools. It was a year that saw the county student enrollment rise over 40,000 and the School Board of Seminole County spend a million dollars on 50 portable classrooms to house those students, and designated "floating teachers" to move from classroom to classroom to take advantage of every available teaching space. Multi-million dollar expansion and construction projects began at several of the system's 41 schools, and community support was displayed with the approval of a $105 million bond issue in October.

However, school board spokesman Karen Coleman says the greatest accomplishment of the year was the achievement of Seminole County students.

"The greatest indicator of educational excellence is student achievement," Mrs. Coleman said.

In both the ACT and SAT testing, students in Seminole County posted averages above the averages of the state, region, and nation. "The real news is made here at the point where the teacher and student meet," Mrs. Coleman said. "Education is important to the people of Seminole County," she continued, and that interest is passed from parents to students.

Thanks to the passage of the October bond issue, the school system will continue to build for the future to meet the projected growth of over 1000 additional new students a year during the next two years, while continuing to strive for excellence.

New students are coming with families moving into the area, but one of the fastest growing groups of student population are

Right Anglers

Canvassing Lake Monroe early for a few choice morsels Saturday were three anglers, two equipped with modern means and the other, crossing their wake, dependent on water-resistant feathers and funny feet. The men may have been out for speckled perche which are said to be biting well. Reports on the little angler's fare were unavailable.

Telephone Officials Concede Breakup 'Baffles' Customers

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Telephone company officials concede that the average American is baffled by a post-divestiture marketplace that "defies common sense," but predict consumers will benefit from competition.

"We'll look back 10 years from now or 12 years from now and say [the breakup of the Bell system] was the right thing to do," Edward Block, senior vice president of the American Telephone & Telegraph Co., said Sunday on CBS News' "Face the Nation."

Although local phone rates may have increased an average 35 percent nationwide since the 1984 divestiture, William McGowan, chairman of MCI Communications Corp., said long-distance rates will continue to drop.

He pointed out since the advent of "equal access," with more and more customers able to choose their long-distance service, AT&T's rates have dropped 9 percent and MCI's charges are 12 percent lower.

"We think that trend will continue," he said, also predicting that MCI, the No. 2 long-distance phone company, would control 10 percent to 15 percent of the market by the end of 1986.

Block said although competition is working, many people are unhappy and confused.

"A substantial portion of consumers really liked the old one-stop shopping," he said. "They could go to the phone company for their equipment for their local service. They knew who to complain to. Those consumers are not all that wild about the changes."

Ivan Seidenberg, spokesman for NYNEX, the Bell operating company serving New York and New England, said, "The truth of the matter is it (the new phone system) defies common sense. It really does."

"Divestiture ... produced a system that, for people, sometimes doesn't make sense. You call the local telephone company and they in turn have to direct you to two, three, four other places to take care of your total package."

The government, in an effort to guard against anti-competitive practices, limits the amount of advice a local phone company can give a customer about such things as telephone equipment.

"We have to do better at educating the customers, and the government has to have less regulation so we can do a better job of serving the customers overall," Seidenberg said.

"The federal government, which has done this to us, has not spent one penny on public education," noted Sam Simon, president of the Telephone Research and Action Committee. He said Americans are "telephone babies" who need to learn the "ins and outs of competition."

Expressing alarm at local phone bills, which some officials expect to rise by as much as 50 percent over the next few years, Simon said a cap should be put on local rates. To offset the cost of the cap, he said, phone companies should be allowed make money by getting into new areas of business.

McGowan blamed AT&T for at least part of the Holiday Closings

City, county, state and federal offices in Seminole County will be closed Wednesday for the New Year's Day holiday. The Seminole County School Board will also be closed on Tuesday. The schools are closed for the Winter Holiday and will reopen on Jan. 6.

Banks and post offices will also be closed for the day.

Casselberry and Sanford branches of the Seminole County Public Library System will close at 5 p.m. Tuesday and reopen Thursday at 10 a.m. The Bookmobile will be at the Goodings Plaza stop Tuesday from 1-4:30 p.m. only.

There will be no garbage pickup in Sanford on New Year's Day and the regular schedule will be resumed on Thursday.

Probe Continues In Case Of Deputy Shot By Partner

An informal investigation continues today in the accidental shooting of a Seminole County Sheriff's deputy by a deputy trainee Saturday morning in a darkened Longwood flower shop. A 13-month veteran of the force was wounded in the incident. The trainee has been suspended with pay while the investigation continues.

Deputy Brent Davidson, 21, was shot in the upper left leg when one of two shots fired from 24-year-old Deputy Trainee Greg Thompson's .357 magnum service revolver deflected off a wall and struck him, according to department reports.

Davidson was treated and released from Florida Hospital/Altamonte.

The officers were investigating a possible break-in at The Flower Market in the Longwood Village Shopping Center, State Road 434 and Interstate 4, Longwood, after they found an open rear door at the store at about 3:10 a.m. Saturday, reports say.

Thompson, on the job three weeks, remained near the rear door, while Davidson searched the interior of the store and showroom for a suspect. Sheriff's department spokesmen have said that both men had their guns drawn at the time.

As Davidson returned to the rear of the shop, Thompson reportedly fired twice. An initial report said that Davidson returned one shot after he was wounded, but department spokesman John Spolski said evidence at the scene indicated that Davidson's gun may have gone off when he fell after being shot. The bullet from Davidson's gun reportedly went into the floor near where he fell. He also said the men were about 30 feet apart at the time of the shooting.

It is unclear whether Thompson gave a warning before he fired, however department Captain of Detectives Roy Hughey said. "Normally that would be a good procedure." He added, "It would be a judgment decision at the time," based on whether the deputy felt he was in a life threatening situation. It would have been standard procedure for the men to have their guns drawn while inspecting the shop, as they had to assume there was still an intruder inside, according to Spolski.

No intruder was found, and the store did not appear to be broken into and nothing was missing, according to Hughey.

NATION IN BRIEF

Police Probe Mysterious Death Of FBI Agent Trial Witness

MALIBU, Calif. (UPI) — Detectives investigating the mysterious death of a witness in the espionage trial of former FBI agent Richard Miller said Sunday they were unsure if foul play was involved.

The body of Ludmila Kondratjeva, 38, of Santa Monica, was found Saturday in the back seat of a car that plunged off Pacific Coast Highway into the surf, sheriff's deputies said.

Although no evidence of foul play was immediately found, Kondratjeva's death was being investigated as a possible homicide, Deputy Pete Fosselman said.

Fosselman said the roof of the 1970 Volkswagen Dasher was crushed when the car fell 25 feet from the highway and landed at the edge of the water. The woman's body was partially protruding from a back window.

Burger Cites Judicial Deficit

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Too few judges and a backlog of cases have caused a "judicial deficit" that could be alleviated if the president and the Senate acted quickly to fill vacancies on the bench, Chief Justice Warren Burger said today.

"Federal judges are working longer hours and more days than ever before but, like Alice in Wonderland, they cannot run fast enough even to stay in the same place," Burger said in his annual year-end report on the judiciary.

The backlog of cases has developed in the lower courts, partially due to slowness in filing 85 new federal judgeships authorized in July 1984, Burger said. One year after the authorization, 56 of the new positions had not been filled, along with 41 regular vacancies, he said.

"I have urged the president and the Senate to speed up the process and have urged sitting judges to give ample advance notice of their intention to resign or to take up senior status," he said. "We have also urged some method of creating judgeships that can better anticipate needs, rather than react to them."

President Encourages Caution

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (UPI) — President Reagan is spending his New Year's vacation out of sight but he has some important issues on his mind, including U.S.-Soviet relations and the situation in the Middle East.

On his flight Sunday from Los Angeles to Palm Springs, Reagan signed letters of condolence to the five Americans killed in Friday's terrorist attacks in Rome and Vienna.

During the weekend, he sent messages to several Middle East governments, including Israel, asking for restraint in the aftermath of the attacks.

He also signed a dozen bills, including one that provides retroactive increases in life insurance and increased military housing allowances for survivors of the Dec. 12 plane crash that killed 248 GIs returning from peace-keeping duty in the Sinai.

in addition to the behind the scenes administrative efforts."

Farr also gave his new colleagues high marks for their efforts.

"We took on a lot of tough issues this year and everyone's input provided assistance. As far as I'm concerned, nobody came up short."

He said this has been "especially true" during the commissions' "wrestling with the problems of our multi-faceted sewage project. Concern and constructive proposals have been offered every step of the way."

...Schools

In kindergarten through third grade, indicating the student population is growing from inside the community, according to Mrs. Coleman.

"We're one of the fastest growing systems in the state," she said.

Support for education in the county is strong. That was obvious when 78 percent of the voters said yes to the bond issue.

But it also obvious in the numbers of parents and citizens who participate in school programs. The PTA boasts of 12,000 members and growing. The 2,005 member community volunteer Dividends Program donated 139,096 hours of service to the schools, and 600 more people serve on various advisory committees at each school.

Students have been participants in the success and growth. In June, 2,315 seniors graduated and they earned over $5 million in scholarships and military academy appointments, and each of the six high schools earned their share of academic and athletic championships and awards.

Lyman High School in Longwood was singled out as being a "model of excellence" and Superintendent of Schools Robert W. Hughes attended an October White House reception

The job being done by Steve Harriott, who became Sanford's police chief in May, was also applauded by Farr. "He's a young man who has demonstrated tremendous leadership ability in a relatively short time. I think the department's morale has greatly improved since Steve came on board, and that, in turn, benefits the entire city."

John Mercer's first year on the commission has included steps "to rejuvenate and beautify the city," he said. "Our advisory boards' assistance has been invaluable and with their help, the strong programs we established this year will continue in 1986."

From a governmental standpoint, Mercer said the Sanford city commissioners "are all of the same mind when it comes to our citizens. We want the best for them."

As a result, he said, "We may disagree at times on how to accomplish this, but we're not disagreeable. We respect one another's opinions."

The Sanford commissioners are in unanimous agreement when discussing the support they receive from city hall staff. They said the admirable job done by City Manager Frank Faison since his joining the city in May has been complimented by the efforts of new department heads Kim Smith, administrative services, and Bill Simmons, planning and engineering.

"They've all offered the kind of and create productive citizens."

Also located at Crooms will be a teen-age parenting program, which may begin as soon as January. Academics, as well as vocational training, and courses in parenting will be taught to students there.

The updating of school kitchen areas will continue in 1986. There are still 16 schools relying on the satellite system for food. By the 1986-87 school year, plans call for every school to have their own full service cafeteria.

The satellite system, in which food is prepared at a central location and then shipped out to the systems schools was adopted in the early 1970s, according to Mrs. Coleman. But by 1983, the school board decided on a program to place full service kitchens in every school. Twenty-five schools produce their own lunches, and the emphasis is on variety. Student taste tests have been conducted, and there have been trials with salad bars, Mexican bars, and soup and sandwich bars in cafeterias. The result is that more students than ever are eating at school.

More growth, more expansion, and greater numbers of students are forecast for Seminole County Schools, but Mrs. Coleman said, the emphasis will continue to be on educational excellence.

She said that the school board would continue to address the issue of teacher's salaries in 1986.

The type of growth especially unwanted in the city are adult entertainment businesses. In April, the city commission adopted a new 37 page, half-inch thick ordinance to severely regulate all types of such entertainment, including adult book stores, theaters and topless bars.

The ordinance was the idea of Fess and Police Chief Harry Benson, who wanted to make it clear that such businesses are not wanted or welcome in Lake Mary.

poration to get a go-ahead to build a new $4 million broadcasting studio and office complex for Orlando television station WOFL channel 35 near Skyline Road and Interstate 4.

In November, the city approved a Comprehensive Land Use Plan to set the standards for future growth. The plan's key items include an urban development area, sewer service, a controversial development district (to protect the semi-rural character of the downtown area), the Lake Mary Boulevard corridor, and sections dealing with zoning, density of development and setbacks and variances for building.

Rabin earlier told American Jewish fundraisers in Jerusalem that Israel "should inflict the maximum damage on those who are the leaders of terror organizations, those who organize and those who carry out terrorism."

Israeli warplanes raided the Tunisian headquarters of the Palestinian Liberation Organization Oct. 1 to avenge the murder of three Israelis by Palestinians in Cyprus. Israel said the PLO carried out the attack, but the PLO denied responsibility.

Military officials briefed the Israeli Cabinet Sunday on the Rome and Vienna attacks, but a statement issued after the meeting gave no indication whether retaliation was discussed.

"I'm sure our intelligence will be able to discover who is responsible, and the perpetrators will be punished," Communications Minister Amnon Rubinstein told reporters after the Cabinet meeting.

Terrorism expert Ariel Merari of Tel Aviv University said he did not think that Abu Nidal and his fighters were "immune" from Israeli revenge.

"Abu Nidal is a person. As a person he is as bulletproof as his victims. It is a bit more difficult to get to him, but I don't think it's impossible," Merari said.

"We don't believe that AT&T is trying to scuttle divestiture ... but they are doing things that hurt competition very much," he said. "They blamed it on a computer mistake, but that certainly doesn't help clarification to the consumer nor does it help competition."

Block said many complaints from competing long-distance companies come from the fact "They don't want AT&T to be allowed to compete back."

Lebanon's 3 Militias Announce Peace Accord Ending Civil War

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — Lebanon's three main militias announced details of a Syrian-sponsored accord to end 10 years of civil war and Christian Lebanese Forces chief Elie Hobeika prepared for Syria to free dozens of his men.

Christian television said Hobeika returned Sunday from the Syrian capital, Damascus, to the LF barracks in Christian east Beirut, leaving behind his security chief, Jean Ghanem, to receive LF prisoners in Syrian hands.

The captives, expected to be the last LF members held in Syria, were captured by Syrian forces in fierce fighting after Syrian troops entered Lebanon in 1976. The LF recently freed three groups of Syrian prisoners.

It is the first agreement aimed at ending 10 years of civil war between the militias themselves rather than politicians and greatly strengthens ties with Syria — calling for total coordination in foreign policy.

The new Cabinet will have between 22 and 26 members who will appoint a new Parliament of 198 deputies divided equally between Christians and Moslems. The present Parliament has 99 seats weighted in favor of the Christians.

The 23-page document said the state of war should end within one year and called for the deployment of Syrian forces both to stop fighting and block Israeli attacks on Syria, and rebuilding the army with Syrian help.

Tutu Threatens Sanctions

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (UPI) — Bishop Desmond Tutu has threatened to call for international economic sanctions against South Africa within three months if the government fails to meet the demands of black students and parents.

The Nobel Peace Prize laureate delivered his ultimatum Sunday as lawyers for Winnie Mandela said the black activist would risk arrest and return today to her home in the township of Soweto in defiance of a government ban.

The Soweto Parents Crisis Committee, meanwhile, called on students to return to their schools and universities in 1986, ending a classroom boycott that has lasted for three years for some students.

Thousands of black students in densely populated townships around Johannesburg and Pretoria have boycotted classes since early 1985, demanding authorities meet their demands for a greater say in their education.

Soviets Condemn Nuclear Test

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet Union rejected "slandorous" U.S. charges it violated arms control treaties and said the United States wanted to undermine the agreements to conduct research into a space-based defense system.

A Foreign Ministry spokesman Sunday condemned a U.S. nuclear test in Nevada, which he said was part of the "Star Wars" program, and urged the United States to join a Soviet moratorium on testing before the offer expires Jan. 1.

The Tass news agency, meanwhile, said, "The U.S. side has again made an attempt to unleash a slanderous campaign concerning alleged violations by the Soviet Union of its international obligations."

Tass said its statement was "authorized" by the Kremlin, a term denoting Kremlin authorship.

Marcos Pledges Deal On Bases

OLONGAPO, Philippines (UPI) — President Ferdinand Marcos today carried a pledge to renegotiate a deal on U.S. installations in the Philippines to the American military base city of Olongapo after calling opponents to the treaty "latter-day isolationists."

IN BRIEF

Current Miami Vice Episodes Are Real - Not TV Specials

MIAMI (UPI) — Three Miami policemen charged with murder and a fourth charged with racketeering were part of an operation prosecutors call "The Enterprise," that went beyond drug ripoffs, officials said Sunday.

The officers started out taking small amounts of drugs from motorists pulled over for traffic violations. When they realized how easy it was, The Enterprise moved on the bigger things — like million dollar caches of cocaine, said Metro-Dade County homicide detective Alex Alvarez.

Charged with the first-degree murder of three drug dealers are Armando Estrada, Armando Garcia and Roman Rodriguez. Officer Arturo De La Vega was charged with racketeering and cocaine trafficking.

Eleven Miami officers have been charged with crimes in the past year, including murder, million-dollar cocaine ripoffs, home-invasion robberies, kidnappings and even selling their shields. The theft of $150,000 in cash from the police department vice safe is still being investigated.

Florida For Sale At Sears

ORLANDO (UPI) — Four million shoppers in the eastern United States soon will be able to book a Florida vacation as easily as they buy underwear and coats for the kids. All they need is a Sears catalog.

Getaways to five Sunshine State locations plus cruises from three port cities will be advertised in a 40-page insert to the Sears spring catalog to be distributed beginning Jan. 23 in 16 states from Ohio north to New England and south to the Carolinas.

Promoting the tours — which include transportation, lodging and tickets to attractions such as Walt Disney World — through the Sears catalog was the brainchild of Bill Sims and Elmer Cook.

They organized and incorporated Super Holiday Concepts of Orlando, which will do business as Sears Travel.

Trump Buys Palm Beach Manor

PALM BEACH (UPI) — In what may have been among the largest private home purchases in American history, Millionaire Donald Trump has acquired Mar-a-Lago, the pink-and-brown mansion once owned by cereal heiress Majorie Meriwether Post.

Trump, developer of the 68-story Trump Tower on Fifth Avenue in Manhattan and owner of the New Jersey Generals football team, signed a contract to buy the 118-room mansion on 17 acres in October. The deal was closed Friday, said foundation attorney Doyle Rogers.

The price was not revealed, but earlier this year it was said to be between $10 million and $15 million.

The estate includes 58 bedrooms, 33 bathrooms, 27 servants rooms, three bomb shelters, a theater, a ballroom and a 9-hole golf course. There is also a private tunnel under State Road A1A to the beach.

Explosions Follow Computer Threats

Two explosive-filled bottles were thrown on the lawn of an Altamonte Springs man who had been getting threats over his computer.

Robert Signoni, 35, of 315 Tulane Drive, said he heard a muffled explosion around 1:45 a.m. Sunday.

On his lawn he found an unexploded smoking bottle containing a pungent brown liquid. A second bottle apparently did explode hurling shards of glass around the lawn and as far away as 75 feet. There was no fire, according to the investigating deputy's report. Also in the home at the time of the explosion was Andrew Cignoni, 15.

Signoni said he "talks" with people on his computer through a network of computers and that he has been receiving threats over the computer. He said he does not know the names of the people he communicates with over the computer network. There were no injuries or property damage reported.

VIDEO BURGLARY

A thief made away with 12 movies and other items from the home of two Altamonte Springs men. Total haul: $4,151.

Charles and Wayne Hutton, 32 and 36, of 128 Tulane Drive, told a sheriff's deputy that someone entered their home and took the 12 movies valued at $70 each. The incident occurred sometime between 6:15 p.m. Friday and 6:50 p.m. Sunday.

Also removed in the heist were three televisions, three VCRs, a handgun and automotive tools.

REPORTER ARRESTED

A man who went to the police to report a family disturbance was arrested after he reportedly shoved an officer then tried to run away.

According to a Longwood police report, the man went to the station around 10 p.m. Saturday to report a family dispute. The situation, however, turned when the man who appeared to have been drinking, shoved an officer and fled. He was arrested and charged with disorderly intoxication.

Being held on $1,000 bond was Wayne W. Norwood Jr., of 157 Sandy Oaks Place, Longwood.

PURSE SNATCHED

A 62 year old North Carolina woman's purse was snatched as she was preparing to enter her room at a Longwood hotel Friday night.

According to a Seminole County Sheriff's report, Doris W. Aulbert was about to enter her second floor room at the Quality Inn, State Route 434 and I-4, Friday night shortly after 10 p.m., when a man came from around a corner, snatched her purse, and fled on foot.

The suspect was described as a 5-10, 170 pound, black male.

CAR STOLEN FROM LOT

A new car was stolen from a Sanford car dealer's lot during the Christmas holiday.

The car, a 1986, red Toyota, MR2 coupe, was taken from the lot of Willet Toyota, 1371 North Highway 17-92, according to a Seminole County Sheriff's report. The theft occurred between 7 p.m. Tuesday and 4 p.m. Friday, according to dealership manager Peter Mehra.

The car is valued at $13,000.

DUI ARRESTS

The following persons have been arrested in Seminole County on a charge of driving under the influence.

—Robert Andrew MacDonald, 30, of 1601 Kenlyn Drive, Longwood, at 11:56 p.m. Sunday after making a U-turn against the light on State Road 436 on Interstate 4.

—Albert Richardson, 62, of Apopka, arrested Saturday at 10:12 p.m. on County Road 427 at and Lake Mary-Longwood road in Longwood, after his car failed to maintain a single lane.

Self-Proclaimed Killer Holds Hostages

NEWPORT, Ky. (UPI) — An ex-convict who claimed he killed two youths shot at police today to keep them away from a home where he was holding two teenage hostages and set demands for $50,000 and a getaway flight to Europe.

Dennis Lucas, 20, blamed drug addiction for a crime spree in which he said he killed a teenager, briefly took a family of nine hostage and then killed a second youth whose father identified the body today. He then took two teenagers hostage.

"I made a mistake. I'm a big heroin addict, and everything," the gunman told a radio station news director Sunday night. "My mind is just sick. I have a real sick mind, because prison makes your mind sick."

Lucas took Larkin Wardlow, 16, and his brother, Robert, 14, hostage at about 5 a.m. Sunday. He fired random shots Sunday and today to keep police from approaching the boys' home. No one was injured by the shots.

In calls Sunday to Cincinnati radio station WLW, Lucas said he would rather die than return to prison and claimed he killed two people. Police found the body of a teenage boy later near where Lucas said he dumped it.

Police said Lucas had at least two guns in the ground-floor apartment of the house in a residential area across the Ohio River from Cincinnati.

A woman and her two children were trapped in an upstairs apartment, but apparently were in no immediate danger, police spokesman Jim Kim said.

Lucas was released 1 1/2 months ago from the Indiana State Prison after serving 18 months for theft.

He was arrested last, on charges of concealing a weapon. On Friday, Kenton District Judge Judy West gave him a 30-day suspended sentence and fined him $50.

In one of four calls to the radio station, Lucas demanded $50,000 and three airline tickets to Europe for himself and his hostages, and said he wanted at least $1,000 immediately "to show that they're willing to negotiate."

He told WLW news director Kathy Lehr he wanted to go "anyplace where they won't extradite me," and said he would take the boys with him "because I'm not dumb. They will go with me. And we will be put on a plane with my guns."

The gunman said he had been imprisoned for a crime he did not commit and, "Before I go back (to prison), I will put a bullet in my head."

Lucas told Lehr he left prison recently and that drugs had twisted his mind. But he said his hostages "know they're not going to get hurt" because "I don't want to hurt nobody but these Newport cops."

Lucas claimed he killed two people, including one he identified as Eddie Pence, 14, of Newport. He said he stabbed Pence, who has been missing since Dec. 13, and dumped his body on the Cincinnati side of the Ohio River. A search of the river yielded no body, but police said the search was continuing.

Police found the body of James Cain, 15 in the Licking River, about a half-mile from the house, and said the victim had been stabbed.

Automatic Weapons Seized In French Freighter Raid

AUCKLAND, New Zealand (UPI) — Customs officials raided a French freighter Sunday night and seized 25 packages of automatic weapons and ammunition "enough to start off a mini war," authorities said.

It was unknown for whom the weapons were intended, but there was speculation the arms may have been destined for right-wing French settlers who are battling an independence movement in New Caledonia.

Auckland customs official Kevin Donovan said agents boarded the general freighter Ile de Lumiere Sunday in Auckland Harbor night as part of a program of "guarding our borders."

He said 25 packages of automatic rifles, machine guns, pistols of different calibers and ammunition were found hidden in the ship's fuel tanks.

"There was enough to start off a mini war," Donovan said. "We haven't counted the number of bullets individually, but there is probably enough to fill eight very large suitcases."

The Ile de Lumiere, which is licensed to carry general freight, operates between New Zealand, Norfolk Island, the French territory of New Caledonia and Australia, from where it came to Auckland.

Earlier this year two men were arrested in Australia's northeastern state of Queensland and later convicted of trying to smuggle arms to

New Caledonia.

Security in Auckland Harbor has been increased since the July 10 sinking of the Rainbow Warrior, flagship of the environmentalist group Greenpeace, in which a Portuguese photographer was killed.

Two French secret service agents are serving 10 year sentences for manslaughter for their role in the mining of the ship, which was to lead a protest flotilla against French nuclear testing in the area.

WEATHER

NATIONAL REPORT: Floods from the ice-clogged Snake River forced families from their homes and threatened one town's water supply along the Oregon-Idaho border today, while the snowiest December ever in Buffalo, N.Y., drew to a close with more snow.

Winds gusted to 67 mph in Rockies late Sunday near Cheyenne, Wyo. Two people were slightly injured Sunday when their single-engine Cessna 175 was caught by a gust of wind and hit a water tower at Broomfield, Colo. In Michigan, flooding eased Sunday along the ice-jammed St. Clair River after forcing families to abandon water-logged homes. Great Lakes snow squalls today dusted lower Michigan, northwestern Pennsylvania, New York and Vermont today as Buffalo, N.Y., and Erie, Pa., neared monthly snowfall records after shattering their December marks. Nearly 4 inches of snow fell in Buffalo Sunday, bringing it within three-tenths of an inch of the record of 68.3 inches set in January 1977. Erie, which has been buried by 59.1 inches, was about 3 inches short of the January 1978 mark. At Ontario, Ore., about 20 National Guard members helped families flee from their homes near the Snake River. The river, which forms the border between that part of Oregon and Idaho, was clogged with a growing, 30-mile ice jam that pushed floods into fields and threatened Ontario's water supply. "The river's still coming up," National Guard Capt. Theo Moore said Sunday night. "We have enough people now, but if it gets any worse, we may need more. It depends on how cold it stays and how much the river jams up. "We've pulled five families out that I personally know of. Others have moved out on their own or with the help of other agencies," Moore said. The worst threat was to Ontario's water supply, and sandbags were stacked to hold back about 3 feet of water encircling the city's water treatment plant. "If it gets much higher, it'll probably shut it down. The rumors are out now to fill your bathtubs," said Frank Durgan, a trooper with the state police. In Watertown, N.Y., lake-effect snow squalls Sunday pushed the December snowfall total to 101.7 inches, topping a 2-year-old mark of 97 inches.

Speed Limits Set By States Is Best

America's motorists are schizophrenic when it comes to the nation's 55-mph speed limit. Studies show that most drivers regularly exceed the 55-mph limit, but congressional efforts to raise it have been stalled by a lack of public support.

The nationwide 55-mph speed limit was enacted in 1974 to conserve energy during the Arab oil embargo. It certainly has done that. A 1984 study by the National Research Council of the National Academy of Sciences says the reduced speed limit saves 167,000 barrels of oil daily. That's a $2 billion annual saving.

Besides saving oil, the reduced speed saves between 2,000 and 4,000 lives a year, according to the Research Council study. Indeed, the council calls the 55-mph speed limit "one of the most effective highway safety policies ever adopted."

Nevertheless, the council suggests that Congress consider permitting states to raise the speed limit on rural interstate highways, where more than three-fourths of all drivers already drive faster than 55-mph speed limit. Two persuasive arguments can be made to support this recommendation:

For one thing, the 55-mph speed limit has become the 1980s equivalent of Prohibition — a law habitually violated by millions of otherwise good citizens. This breeds disrespect for the law and makes enforcement almost impossible.

What's more, Americans spend an extra 1 billion hours on the road each year as a result of the 55-mph speed limit. Although rural interstates comprise only 6 percent of the nation's highways, they carry 19 percent of its total traffic. Increasing the speed limit to 65-mph on these uncongested, well-designed highways would save Americans more than 445 million hours of travel time annually. It would also permit law enforcement to focus on speeders in more congested areas, where they pose a far greater threat to themselves and fellow motorists.

The 55-mph speed limit served its original purpose remarkably well. But much has changed since 1974. Oil is now plentiful, cars are more fuel efficient and better engineered, and freeway design has continued to improve. We believe Congress should return the authority to set speed limits to state legislatures and permit them to determine where 55-mph is appropriate and where the speed limit should be higher.

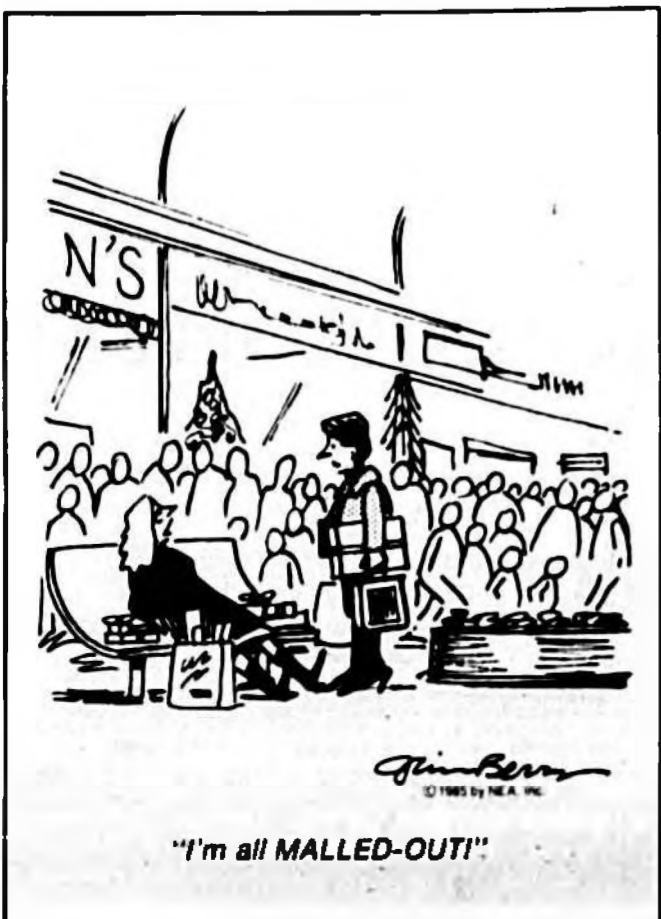

M'Bow Must Go

Since its inception four decades ago, the United Nations Educational Scientific and Cultural Organization (UNESCO) has survived several crises. The one thing the organization will probably not survive is the continued mismanagement of its director general, Amadou-Mahtar M'Bow.

During Mr. M'Bow's despotic tenure, UNESCO has alienated numerous member nations with its blatant propaganda schemes and its unbridled spending practices. Such abuses prompted the United States to withdraw from the organization last year. Now, Britain has announced that it is pulling out by year's end, and Singapore is leaving as well. Taken together, these defections have reduced UNESCO's budget by nearly one-third and forced the organization to tighten its belt.

Perhaps the Third-World block that dominates UNESCO will also get the message and demand Mr. M'Bow's resignation. His departure could hasten the internal reforms necessary to restore UNESCO's credibility and thus assure its continued existence. Otherwise, the organization's days are clearly numbered.

Kennedy Out: Good News For Democrats

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy has withdrawn from the presidential race. We tend to overuse the words "sea change" and "watershed" in writing about politics, but Kennedy's action qualifies.

This is so because Kennedy had distorted the nature of the national Democratic Party. With Kennedy now out of it, it will be much easier for Democratic politics to move back toward the middle of the road, which is where elections are won.

The Kennedy distortion factor can be summed up simply: He is very liberal, and he is very popular. These days, those two things don't normally go hand in hand. When they are fused together in the crucible of history — as they were in Kennedy's case — the resulting anomaly makes it difficult for the laws of political gravity to work.

How liberal is he? Very. Despite recent talk about a move toward the middle, the last full-year ratings by the National Journal — for 1984 — show the Kennedy voting record this way: on economic issues, 95 percent liberal, 0 percent conservative; on social issues, 88 percent liberal, 5 percent conservative; on foreign issues, 81 percent liberal, 0 percent conservative.

How popular is he? Very. The most recent Gallup rankings among Democrats showed him 15 points ahead of Sen. Gary Hart. Perhaps more important, 91 percent of the respondents said they "know something about him," compared to 59 percent for Hart, 30 percent for Gov. Mario Cuomo, and 3 percent for Sen. Joseph Biden.

Is Kennedy popular because of his liberalism? Surely not. Recent polls show that voters reject the liberal label because it is now sensed to be the vehicle of a far-out political philosophy. Kennedy's popularity in the polls clearly stems from his celebrity, his charisma, his family, his charm and his notoriety.

This is an easier distinction to make in a newspaper column than in a long presidential primary process. With Kennedy in the race, the towering fact remained: The No. 1 Democrat was a very liberal fellow. That laid out the field of play. Other candidates, consciously or unconsciously, had to compete on that tilted field. Accordingly, there was reason to believe that the 1988 Democratic primary process could have easily slipped back into the familiar "Laffer Than Thou" mode. That peculiar Democratic pattern had yielded Republican presidents with stunning regularity.

What does it look like with Kennedy out of the race? Very different. There are still three liberals in the top tier of potential candidates. One of them, Jesse Jackson, has chosen to remain so far out on the political left that he can be only a nuisance factor. The other two, Hart and Cuomo, are not only somewhat less liberal than Kennedy but much less popular and much less known.

Moreover, both Hart and Cuomo have problems. Hart was the Cinderella candidate early in the 1984 season — and grew weaker as he became better known. That is less than a solid endorsement for a man who will now be in the camera's eye as front-runner for two long years. Cuomo has a governor's race to run in late 1986, which will make it difficult for him to run well-organized primary campaigns a little more than a year later in early 1988.

Interestingly enough, all the other potential candidates now being mentioned for 1988 are substantially less liberal than Kennedy and at least somewhat less liberal than Hart or Cuomo. These players include Sens. Biden, Bill Bradley, Dale Bumpers and Sam Nunn, Rep. Richard Gephardt, and Govs. Bruce Babbitt and Charles Robb.

In one way or another, all these potential candidates had planned to challenge the sort of liberal orthodoxy that Kennedy had come to represent. With Kennedy out of the race, the odds for success in such a campaign have soared. That is good news for Democrats.

SCIENCE WORLD

Holiday Chemical Primer

By Jan Ziegler
UPI Science Writer

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Around this time of year, certain people may be vulnerable to overdoses of a substance containing a chemical known to be a cousin to amphetamines.

The odor of the substance alone is based on 300 different chemicals. The substance also contains caffeine, an even more potent stimulant called theobromine and phenylethylamine, the aforementioned amphetamine relative, a chemical produced naturally and said to be released in the brain when people fall in love.

It also contains trace amounts of calcium, protein and iron.

What is it? Chocolate, of course. Chemistry is considered by many to be a hard, cold science, yet as we know from grade school, chemicals are the basis of all things material that we value in this world.

British journalist and author William Bolitho was one of those who saw chemicals as something more enticing. "The most sensual and exciting of all sciences," he called chemistry.

For instance, that familiar chemical known as eugenol may be used as a pain killer in the dentist's office, but for cooks, curry fans and cookie eaters, it is a major component of oil of cloves.

Another important facet of the holidays contains volatile oils, tannin, resin and gum. Would you have guessed peppermint? Spearmint has in it a volatile oil containing at least 50 percent carvone.

Carvone, whose full name is 2-methyl-5-(1-methylethyl)-2-cyclohexen-1-one, is a major component of many volatile oils. Volatile means a tendency to disperse into the air.

Spearmint is easier to remember. "Of course, the big holiday chemical is ethanol," said Peter Andrews, an organic chemist with the American Chemical Society. Ethanol is a form of alcohol.

And for those whose bloodshot eyes are testimony to late-night merrymaking, there are products containing the well-known tetrahydrozoline, a chemical that constricts blood vessels, making them narrower.

"That's how it gets the red out," Andrews said.

Vietnam Crime Gangs Alive And Well

By Jack Anderson
And Dale Van Atta

WASHINGTON — Criminal activity in Vietnamese-American communities is thriving. Law-enforcement agencies glumly agree about that. As we've reported, organized gangs of Vietnamese are operating in as many as 13 states.

But what the frustrated authorities can't agree on is the source of the crime wave. Is it a communist plot, or merely what could have been expected when a wave of refugees swept into this country during and after the Vietnam War?

Clearly, some of the refugees were less than upright pillars of the community back in Vietnam.

The "Hanoi mastermind" theory was laid out in a recent report by William Cassidy, a former U.S. consultant, at a private conference of law-enforcement officers in Houston. It provided some startling, if anecdotal, evidence that extortions and murders in Vietnamese communities in the United States are sometimes instigated, or at least

ROBERT WALTERS

A Tower of Babel?

HUNTINGTON PARK, Calif. (NEA) — Two years ago, the English-speaking employees of the municipal court system in this Los Angeles suburb became uneasy about Spanish-language conversations among their Hispanic co-workers.

Suspecting that they were the objects of derisive remarks in a language they didn't understand, the English-speaking workers successfully appealed to the court's judges to severely limit discussions in Spanish.

Court personnel were permitted to use the language of their choice during lunch or breaks. They also were allowed to use Spanish when dealing with members of the public who could speak only that language.

In general, however, court employees were to converse only in English while conducting official business — a requirement that is quite reasonable in a fragmented society where one of the few unifying elements is a common language.

But the court's truculent Hispanic workers have transformed the language restrictions into a cause celebre, complaining to no fewer than six different state and federal courts and agencies that their rights have been abrogated.

Among the agencies embroiled in the dispute have been the Los Angeles County Board of Supervisors and its Civil Service Commission, the federal Equal Employment Opportunity Commission and the state Fair Housing and Employment Practices Commission.

That continuing controversy is matched by confrontations in other communities where the primacy of English has been challenged in recent years by zealous proponents of Spanish as an alternative language.

When the mayor of Elizabeth, N.J., ordered city hall employees to speak only English while at work, he encountered a wave of protest and was threatened with political defeat. In Miami, Fla., two native-born, English-speaking women were rejected for office-cleaning jobs by a janitorial service company because they did not speak Spanish and thus would not be able to understand their Hispanic supervisors.

In both of those instances, the English language prevailed. The New Jersey mayor was handily re-elected and his order still stands. The Florida women were awarded jobs and back pay to resolve a discrimination complaint they filed.

Nevertheless, the trend is disturbing. Although English proficiency is a prerequisite for citizenship and citizenship is required of voters, ballots in San Francisco have been printed in Spanish and Chinese since 1980.

Rosty's Ulterior Motives

By Arnold Sawicki
UPI Senior Editor

WASHINGTON (UPI) — If the gift of life is truly the greatest that can be given, the Democratic Party may owe Dan Rostenkowski the political equivalent of the national debt.

There were Democrats who thought the bluff and burly Chicago congressman had gone soft in the head, not to speak in the ideology, when he enthusiastically welcomed President Reagan's tax reform proposal earlier this year.

The House Ways & Means Committee chairman not only praised the Republican president's initiative but went on television to invite the public to express support for tax reform by writing him at the Capitol — addressing their mail to just plain "Rosty" if they had trouble with the name.

When Reagan proposed the tax reform measure, a lot of Democrats, perhaps including Rosty, saw more in it than a mere revision of the internal revenue code to make taxes simpler and fairer.

To them, the Reagan move was nothing less than a bold stroke intended to erase the image of favoritism toward wealth and big business under which the Republican Party has labored and lost elections for much of the 20th Century.

If, as it appeared, the GOP finally was pulling close to the Democrats in the national contest for voter identification, tax reform might be the single event that could end whatever working class voting base the Democrats still held and propel the Republicans into majority status for decades to come.

Some Republicans at the White House and on Capitol Hill might have been a tad suspicious about Rosty's rush to sign up in the Reagan tax reform army, but they couldn't very well publicly accuse him of harboring ulterior motives when he was going all out to help their president.

In fact, they had to have his support if the legislation was going to go anywhere, because the Constitution says, "All bills for raising revenue shall originate in the House of Representatives" and Rosty runs the show on the House committee that deals with tax legislation.

ese family's gold and jewelry association in Southern California. He said the family was "planted" there by Hanoi to send cash and gold bullion back to Vietnam using a network of jewelry shops as a c o v e r .

In addition, large amounts of credit were extended to Vietnamese wives of Americans with the idea that they could be blackmailed into passing sensitive information to Hanoi — which would presumably pass any worthwhile intelligence on to Moscow.

But another view of Vietnamese-American crime is offered by the FBI. The bureau attributes the crime wave, not to Hanoi skulduggery, but to refugees who were criminals before they came here from South Vietnam.

"Some criminal groups were composed of military personnel who used their positions to foster a number of rackets paralleling traditional criminal enterprises," an FBI report explained. Some of the Vietnamese crooks got their start selling narcotics to American soldiers during the war and then "re-established themselves in the United States," the report added.

The FBI identified mixed Chinese and Vietnamese gangs such as "Frogmen" and "Thunder Tigers," and said they have committed murders, robberies, kidnappings and extortion. Using the threat of a "communist" label, the gangs squeeze money from refugees for the ostensible purpose of organizing armed resistance to overthrow the Hanoi regime.

The President's Commission on Organized Crime disclosed that many Vietnamese criminals sneaked into the United States using names of dead persons who had no criminal records. "These criminals were involved in narcotics trafficking, extortion and prostitution activities in Vietnam," a commission document reported. Once they made it through the refugee camps, they emerged as practitioners of the same kind of illicit, violent activity that was their trademark on the streets of Saigon.

Meyers Boots Lake Mary Into Final Against Leto

By Chris Fister
Herald Sports Writer

While the All-Seminole County final didn't materialize, tonight's championship of the Pizza Hut Invitational Soccer Tournament between Lake Mary's Rams and Tampa Leto's Falcons should be an interesting and exciting matchup.

The game starts at 7 at Bishop Moore High School in Orlando. Leto, the defending 4A state champion, comes in with a record of 7-0 while the Rams stand at 10-2 with a five-game winning streak.

Lake Mary played another strong game Saturday night as it blanked fourth-ranked 3A Daytona Beach Seabreeze, 2-0, in one semifinal while Leto ended the unbeaten string of Lyman's Greyhounds with a 3-0 shutout in the other.

Seabreeze stands at 11-2 with both losses to Lake Mary and both this week while fifth-ranked 4A Lyman now stands at 9-1-1.

Getting their offense cranked up early will be a key for the Rams since Leto has recorded three consecutive shutouts in tournament play. Once the Falcons get in front, they can pack their defense in tighter and make it even tougher for an opponent to score.

Offensively, Lake Mary coach Larry McCorkle said Leto will be much stronger tonight with the return of sweeperback Glenn York, which will allow Joey Valenti to return to midfield.

"York will be back and that will make quite a difference," McCorkle said. "That will allow Joey Valenti to move to midfield where he's an All-American."

McCorkle said the battle at midfield could decide the outcome. "That will be a big thing, how we fare at midfield," he said. "If we can fare okay at midfield, we'll be able to score some goals on them. We may not have many chances, but we have to convert the ones we get."

Defensively, the Rams are hurting as Vinay Jotwani took a blow to the head in the win over Seabreeze and

Soccer

Louis Rosen suffered a leg injury. "They'll play if they can," McCorkle said. "Louis will play on one leg if he has to."

Lake Mary has been able to get its offense on track early during the tournament and the Rams have outscored their three opponents, 12-2, with two wins by shutout. In those wins, nine of the Rams' 12 goals were scored in the first half.

Leto, on the other hand, has outscored its tournament foes, 7-0, including 3-0 blankings of Lyman and Tarpon Springs. The Falcons had to go to penalty kicks to pull out a 1-0 win over Lake Brantley in the first round.

The Rams did all of the scoring Saturday in the first 40 minutes of play. Six minutes into the game, Jerry Meyers put Lake Mary on the scoreboard as he scored on an assist from Tony Fiorentino.

Lake Mary came back just before the end of the half with the goal that literally broke the Sand Crabs' backs. Again it was Meyers that scored and this time he dribbled through the Seabreeze defense and knocked it between the pipes for a 2-0 halftime lead.

The Rams then pushed back their defense in the second half and concentrated on shutting down the Sand Crabs, which they did. Lake Mary's usually reliable defensive corps of Rosen, Jotwani, Chris Riske and Scott Schmitt did the job again while Kevin Noonan was a defensive standout off the bench.

"I hope that everybody will be healthy," McCorkle said tonight's clash. "The pressure is off since we made it to the finals. If we can hang in the first half, it should be a real nice soccer game."

GREYHOUNDS BOW OUT

Tampa Leto broke a scoreless tie in the last five minutes of the first half, then scored two goals in the second half for a 3-0 victory over Lyman's Greyhounds Saturday night.

Pat Poff scored the first goal for the Falcons for a 1-0 halftime lead. Rich Biondi and Brett Phillips each scored in the second half to seal the victory. The Falcons outshot the Greyhounds, 13-9.

OVIDEO WINS TITLE

In other soccer tournament action Saturday, Oviedo used two goals each by Greg Brick and Ken Guggenheim and nine saves from keeper Gordon King to win the Apopka Christmas Tournament with a 4-1 victory over Apopka. Oviedo improved to 5-6-1.

MANDY SPARKS LYMAN

In girls action Saturday, Lyman topped Bishop Moore, 7-1, as Sheila Mandy scored her second hat trick of the year. Dawn Boyesen and Kim Mitchell booted home two goals each for the 7-0 Lady Greyhounds of coach Tom Barnes.

In one other girls game, Lake Howell dropped a 1-0 decision to Winter Park.

OSU 'Changeup' Befuddles Bosco

ORLANDO — When reading pass defenses, it's not what you see sometimes that's important, it's what you don't see. Robbie Bosco, Brigham Young's All-America quarterback, found that out Saturday afternoon against Ohio State in the Florida Citrus Bowl.

Confused by the Buckeyes' defensive alignments all day, Bosco fired a pass right into the arms of linebacker Larry Kolic at the 13:52 mark of the third quarter. Kolic conveniently rumbled 14 yards for a touchdown to provide the difference in a 10-7 victory before 56,920 fans at Orlando Stadium.

"I didn't see him," Bosco said about one of four interceptions. Kolic, who missed the Rose Bowl last year due to personal problems, also pulled in another one later in the third quarter while earning most valuable player honors. Bosco earned most unvaluable player. He had a miserable day, completing just 26 of 50 passes for 261 yards and a tainted touchdown.

"That's right, Robbie didn't see me," Kolic said while accepting his MVP award. "I was dropping off underneath and fortunately I turned around at the right time. It was right in my hands."

Setting up the timely theft was a defensive front which befuddled Bosco most of the day. Kolic lined up at nose guard, a place Bosco had no trouble recognizing him, but then dropped back at the snap into a short, middle zone.

The three-man rush wasn't distracting on this occasion but Bosco still couldn't find a receiver deep so he unloaded up the middle toward Val Sihakema. All he found, however, was Kolic and Kolic broke a tackle and then followed a wave of Buckeyes into the end zone.

"I got a helluva block from Chris Spielman," Kolic said. "I scored a touchdown last year against Iowa, too. That was against a pretty good quarterback, too. Chuck Long."

Ohio State made it too long off a day for Bosco, that was for sure. BYU coach LaVell Edwards blamed most of Bosco's ineffectiveness on the Buckeyes. "They threw a good changeup at us by dropping the nose tackle off," Edwards said. "That fooled us. But he didn't throw the ball very well. It seems we never play as well in bowls as the regular season."

Edwards said the smallness of BYU's inside facility at Provo, Utah is not conducive to the passing game and the five days during distractions in Orlando were not enough time to get things together.

"We're had better days, that's for sure," Edwards concluded. "And I'm sure we'll have better days in the future."

Two other Buckeyes who had better days were linebacker Pepper Johnson and wide receiver Chris White. Johnson was named defensive player of the game while White was offensive player of the game.

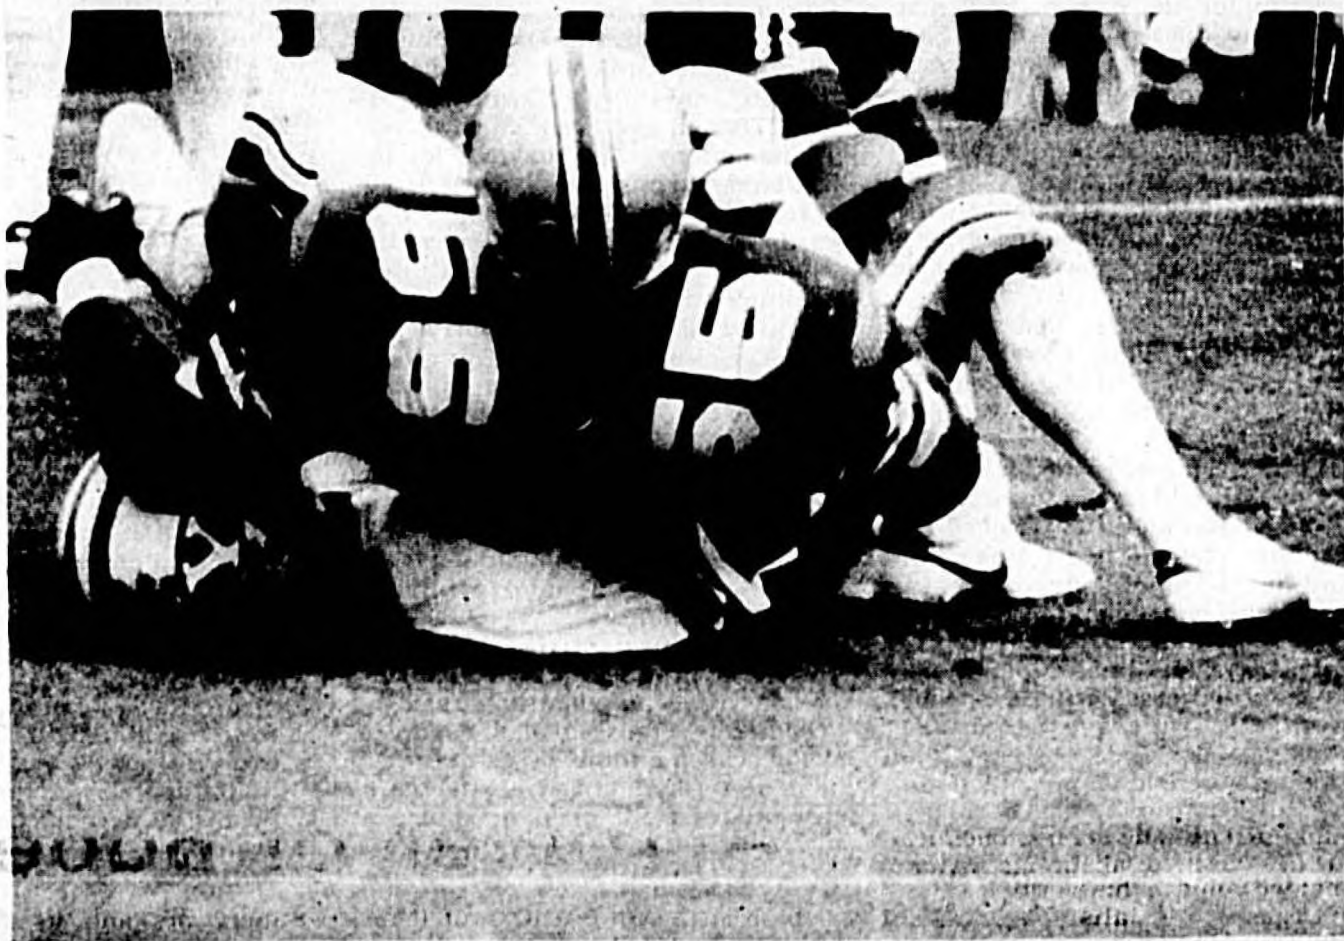

"We knew we had to play great against Bosco," Johnson said. "We did except for the one play right before halftime. But that was just a great play by Bosco. He rolled way left and then threw it back to the right. How many times is that going to happen?"

On the play, just 52 seconds before halftime, Bosco located David Miles for a 38-yard touchdown. A replay later showed that Miles stepped out of bounds just before he hit the end zone but the Cougars probably would have scored anyway.

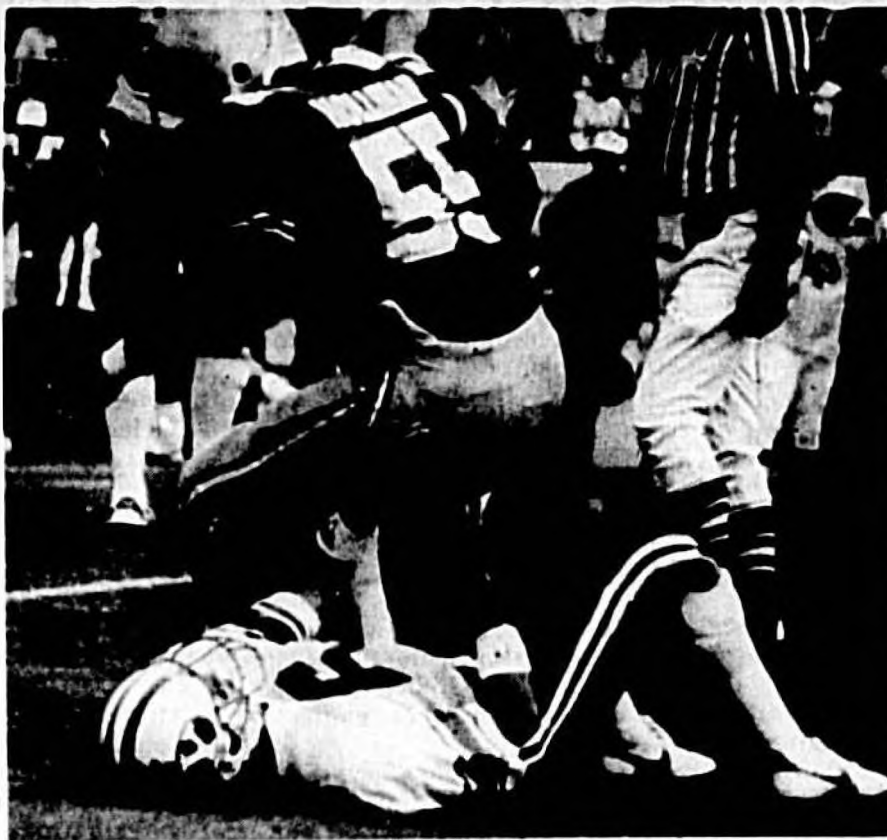

The TD erased a 3-0 OSU lead which came via a 47-yard field goal by Rich Spangler at the 10:32 mark of the second period and gave BYU a 10-7 halftime advantage.

White, meanwhile, couldn't explain Ohio State's lack of offense but he said it didn't have anything to do with Keith Byars going out with an injury five plays into the game. "Everybody wanted Keith Byars to play and have a good game because he's meant so much to the program," White said. "But that (his injury) isn't a problem at Ohio State. We've got a lot of talented tailbacks."

White made the offensive play of the game when he curled around a sideline throw with a

It was that kind of a day for BYU quarterback Robbie Bosco. Above, the All-America quarterback is crunched by Ohio State defensive tackle Ray Holliman. Buckeyes' Defense Too Puzzling For BYU, 10-7

By Ira Kaufman
UPI Sports Writer

ORLANDO (UPI) — Ohio State's defense, which was shredded by Michigan quarterback Jim Harbaugh in the regular-season finale, proved a frustrating puzzle for Robbie Bosco in Saturday's Florida Citrus Bowl.

The 17th-rated Buckeyes intercepted Bosco four times in the second half and limited No. 9 Brigham Young to its lowest point total in seven years, beating the Cougars 10-7 in sold-out Orlando Stadium.

Bosco, who finished third in the Heisman Trophy voting after setting eight NCAA records, completed 26-of-50 passes for 261 yards but managed only a 38-yard TD pass to David Miles late in the opening half.

Harbaugh hit on 16-of-19 passes against Ohio State five weeks ago in leading the Wolverines to a 27-17 triumph. The Cougars came into Saturday's game leading the nation in total offense (500 yards) and they ranked seventh in scoring (33.5 points).

"Everybody talked about them averaging 500, 600 yards a game," said All-America linebacker Pepper Johnson, who led the Buckeyes with eight tackles and recovered a fumble. "Those are the teams we like to play against. It's why a lot of us chose to come to Ohio State ... we knew we'd get a chance at these teams."

Another senior linebacker, Larry Kolic, provided the critical defensive play in earning MVP honors. Kolic, who walked off the team twice last year, citing personal reasons, returned a third-quarter interception 14 yards for the winning touchdown as Ohio State finished 9-3 under Coach Earle Bruce for the sixth consecutive year.

"Anytime you play against a great quarterback like Bosco, you want to force things and make him make the mistake," said Kolic, who lined up at nose guard on the key theft, faked a

Giants Clear 49ers' Hurdle — Bears Next

EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. (UPI) — The New York Giants cleared a major stumbling block Sunday, only to look face first into another.

The Giants' 17-3 victory over the San Francisco Sunday avenged playoff losses to the 49ers in 1981 and 1984. It makes them 3-0 in wild card games, but they have failed to make it past the second round. The playoff losses to the 49ers came in years when San Francisco won the Super Bowl and now the Giants are facing the favorite to win Super Bowl XX — the Chicago Bears.

"We just played the defending champions and it's nice to get them out of the way," Giants linebacker Harry Carson said. "We've been down this road before. Last year was a valuable experience."

The Giants never felt as good about winning a wild card game as they did Sunday. They held the 49ers without a touchdown for the first time since 1983 and controlled the ball with Joe Morris' 141 yards rushing on 28 carries.

Giants quarterback Phil Simms avoided the costly mistakes that cost New York a division title. He completed 15-of-31 passes for 181 yards and touchdowns of 18 yards to Mark Bavaro and

Patriots Oust Jets, See Page 6A

3 yards to Don Hasselbeck. Simms was not sacked and his only interception was a harmless heave at the end of the half.

Simms hopes his performance will end talk that he comes up short in big games.

"This was one of the biggest games we played in our career," New York linebacker Lawrence Taylor said. "We did what we had to do."

"We didn't look past these guys," said Morris, who left the game with bruised ribs in the fourth quarter but said he'll play Sunday in Chicago. "If we did, they would have kicked us around the field."

Eric Schubert kicked a 47-yard field goal on the Giants' first possession but later missed tries from 43, 36 and 39 yards. Beside Schubert's misses, the Giants' only costly mistakes were three defensive penalties crammed into San Francisco's drive leading to a Ray Wersching 21-yard field goal with 22 seconds left in the half.

"The Giants played an absolutely great football game," 49ers coach Bill Walsh said. "They played up to playoff capabilities. To sum it up, we were banged up and they outplayed us."

"We will be back. I promise you publicly."

The Giants shut down Joe Montana until the fourth quarter and Roger Craig all together. Montana completed 26-of-47 for 296 yards and an interception, but 12 completions and 135 yards came in the fourth quarter.

"I think it's a big letdown," said Montana, whose ribs were sore most of the season. "Unfortunately, you can't be 15-1 every year. We didn't get it done."

Craig, the first back in NFL history to go over 1,000 yards rushing and receiving in a season, ran nine times for 23 yards and caught two passes for 18 yards.

TURNING POINT

EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. (UPI) — The ghost of Jackie Smith haunts some receivers who are open in the end zone, but Don Hasselbeck remained unaffected.

The New York Giants tight end was clear and free beneath the goalposts early in the third quarter Sunday. No San Francisco defender was within 15 feet.

"You feel like Jackie Smith when you are so open and you always think about it," he said, referring to the receiver who dropped a would-be touchdown pass in Super Bowl XIII.

"You are so open, you want to look around to see where the defenders are, see how far away they are, and when you do look around, that's when you drop the ball," said Hasselbeck. "That's what you're afraid of doing."

His 3-yard reception capped an eight-play, 77-yard drive and completed the scoring in New York's 17-3 victory over the 49ers in the NFC wild card playoff game.

The pass to Hasselbeck had never been used in a game or even practiced, he said.

"I was surprised they called it, they usually get conservative down there and just mash it in, that's why Joe Morris has so many touchdowns," said Hasselbeck, who carried the play into the game but was not the primary receiver.

Patriots Place Mistake-Prone Jets In Storage

EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. (UPI) — Hours after the York Jets were eliminated from the AFC playoffs with their 26-14 loss to the New England Patriots, workers at Giants Stadium removed the last vestiges of what had been an outstanding season.

In a hurry to prepare for Sunday's NFC wild card game between the New York Giants and the San Francisco 49ers, the ground crew worked into the night stripping the Jets' end zone logos and replacing them with those of the Giants.

The NFL playoffs place a premium on performance. Those who don't perform, as was the case with the mistake-prone Jets on Saturday, have their season rolled up and placed in storage until next summer.

"We made the turnovers and they didn't," said Jets coach Joe Walton, who led New York to an 11-6 season. "We got ourselves into the hole, turned the ball over four times with two fumbles and two interceptions. They didn't turn the ball over and that spells trouble."

In the regular season time is measured in weeks. In the playoffs that balance is skewed. There is next week for the winner, but for the loser it becomes an unbearable wait until training camp next summer.

"When you get older and realize time is running out you understand how difficult it is to get here," said New York center Joe Field, who concluded his 11th season. "You can't be happy just to get to the playoffs. That's not enough."

For the Patriots, 12-5, there is a next week. They leave from Boston Tuesday for the sunshine of Los Angeles to meet the Raiders on Sunday in an AFC semifinal matchup.

If they need any sort of motivation, it could come from a 35-20 loss to the Raiders Sept. 29.

"We got beat by the Raiders this year and that is a big advantage for us," said New England tackle Brian Holloway. "Losses don't sit well with the Patriots. It's going to be a street fight, but we welcome that because we can play that kind of football."

The Patriots lost to the Raiders when they were struggling, and they claim to be a different team now.

After taking the Patriots to a 2-3 record, New England quarterback Tony Eason separated his shoulder and Steve Grogan came on to lead the Patriots to six straight victories.

Grogan broke his leg in New England's 16-13 overtime loss to the Jets and Eason has taken the Patriots to victory in four of their last five games.

"One of the most satisfying things in coaching is to see a young player develop in front of your eyes," said New England coach Raymond Berry. "He's (Eason) improved week by week and that is what you have to do."

Eason ended the day 12 of 16 for 179 yards, including a 36-yard touchdown pass to Stanley Morgan. Eason's counterpart, Ken O'Brien, left the game early in the third quarter because of a mild concussion after a sack by New England linebacker Andre Tippett.

"We made mistakes and once again were our own worst enemy," said O'Brien, who added that he was all right physically.

O'Brien had the Jets moving early, but with New York leading 7-6 in the second quarter he threw an interception to New England safety Fred Marion. The Patriots converted the turnover into the go-ahead score — Eason's TD strike to Morgan.

O'Brien, who completed 13 of 17 passes for 149 yards, gave New York the 1-point lead with an 11-yard TD toss to Johnny Hector. He had completed 10 passes in a row before the interception.

New England scored 10 points in a 15-second stretch in the third period. Tony Franklin converted one of his four field goals and on the ensuing kickoff Johnny Rembert scooped up Hector's fumble and rumbled 15 yards for a 23-6 lead.

Pat Ryan drove the Jets on a 10-play, 57-yard drive to cut the lead to 23-14 with less than a minute left in the third period, but Franklin followed with his final field goal, a 26-yarder in the fourth quarter.

With the victory over the Jets, a team the Patriots split with during the regular season, New England's outlook is positive as one of eight teams remaining in the Super Bowl hunt.

"We have a right to be confident," said Patriots linebacker Steve Nelson. "We played well over the last 11 weeks and we won games we had to win. When you win must games you start gaining confidence."

TURNING POINT

EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. (UPI) — Ken O'Brien suffered two lapses Saturday in the New York Jets' 26-14 AFC wild card loss to the New England Patriots.

O'Brien, the third-year quarterback, threw a momentum-killing interception to New England safety Fred Marion in the second quarter which New England converted into the go-ahead touchdown.

He also suffered a mild concussion after linebacker Andre Tippett laid a tremendous hit on him that forced O'Brien out of the game early in the second half.

O'Brien claims to have never seen Marion. New England's team leader in interceptions with seven.

"Kennedy said he didn't see the free safety," said New York coach Joe Walton.

Wesley Walker, who was streaking down the left sideline saw Marion and didn't expect O'Brien to throw the ball his way.

"I was surprised he threw the ball," said Walker, who caught 4 passes for 54 yards. "I seen him (Marion) back up. I saw the ball. As a matter of fact I thought I'd get it."

The result was an interception on the Patriots' 7-yard line that Marion returned to the 33. Marion saw the play open for him.

"Wesley was springing like he was the primary receiver," said Marion. "I was trying to use my body like a basketball player and get position on him and I did that."

Walker said that when Marion was backing up, O'Brien should have looked for wide receiver Al Toon who was running a short route.

The Jets seemed to be in control of the game prior to the interception. New York led 7-6 and O'Brien had the offense moving. He had completed 10 passes in a row prior to the interception.

FSU's Isaac Williams takes a swig. The former Seminole High standout closes his college career tonight in the Gator Bowl against Oklahoma State.

Favored FSU Confronts Oklahoma State

By Ira Kaufman
UPI Sports Writer

JACKSONVILLE (UPI) — Running back Thurman Thomas and defensive tackle Leslie O'Neal, two of the nation's premier players, try to lead No. 19 Oklahoma State to a second straight Gator Bowl victory Monday night while 16th-rated Florida State responds with a dangerous attack mired in controversy.

Florida State is a seven-point favorite for the 8 p.m. EST matchup, but the Seminoles have been stripped of their top two receivers — one on suspension and the other because of injury. The game will be televised by Orlando's WFTV, channel 9.

Freshman quarterback Chip Ferguson will need plenty of poise against the No. 6 pass defense in college football.

"We've had some distractions," says Florida State Coach Bobby Bowden. "But I think under the circumstances the attitude has been good."

The Seminoles, 8-3, upset Nebraska 17-13 in the second week of the season and they reached the 50-point plateau three times. Including a 76-14 rout of Tulsa, Ferguson completed 54 percent of his passes for 990 yards and 11 touchdowns and Hassan Jones was his favorite target with a school-record 21.7-yard average on 34 catches.

Jones, who had 98 receptions in his four-year career, has been declared ineligible for the Gator Bowl after he admitted selling 12 tickets to a former Florida player, Robin Fisher.

Florida State's other starting receiver, sophomore Darrin Holloman, is out with a fractured collarbone and freshman backup Phillip Bryant has been bothered by an ankle sprain. Bryant is expected to start Monday opposite sophomore Herb Gainer.

"With Hassan and Darrin out, a lot of people think we can't handle the job," says Bryant, who scored five TDs and averaged 21 yards on 17 receptions. "We have a lot of confidence in ourselves."

Tony Smith, who averaged 6.1 yards per carry, paces a well-balanced running game and the Seminoles also boast a strong kicking duo with punter Louis Berry and Derek Schmidt, who converted 18-of-25 field goal attempts. Defensively, Florida State is led by nose tackle Todd Stroud, tackle Isaac Williams and sophomore cornerbacks Eric Williams and Martin Mayhew.

"The surest way for us to win the Gator Bowl is to be fundamentally sound on defense," says FSU defensive coordinator Mickey Andrews. "In the games we lost, we did not create enough turnovers."

Oklahoma State finished 8-3 following season-ending losses to Iowa State and Oklahoma, but the defense allowed 20 or more points only once — a 34-24 setback to Nebraska. O'Neal had 15 tackles in the regular-season finale against the Sooners to give him 363 career tackles. The 6-foot-3, 249-pound senior had seven sacks this year and registered 15 tackles behind the line of scrimmage.

Thomas, only a sophomore, had three 200-yard games as he rushed for 1,553 yards and 15 TDs. He will be looking for his 11th career 100-yard game Monday night as the Cowboys try to defend the Gator Bowl title they won a year ago by topping South Carolina 21-14.

"I'm not used to losing two in a row and our players aren't used to it," says Oklahoma State Coach Pat Jones. "I don't think we'll have trouble at all getting ready to play a team of Florida State's stature. Our kids, particularly our seniors, know what's at stake. We're going to get it done ... I don't know how, but we're going to get it done."

Sophomore quarterback Ronnie Williams threw for 363 yards against Nebraska, but completed just 48 percent of his passes overall with 11 interceptions and a mere six TD passes. O'Neal isn't the only defensive star as safety Mark Moore had 91 tackles and intercepted seven passes.

"I'm sure I represent the sentiments of the majority of our team and staff when I say I'm happy to be where we are with an 8-3 record, but not really satisfied," says Cowboy defensive coordinator Louis Campbell.

Gator: Over 12,000 Tickets Left

JACKSONVILLE (UPI) — After reaching the 50-point plateau three times this season, the Florida State Seminoles will settle for half that output tonight against Oklahoma State in the Gator Bowl.

Two 8-3 teams looking for respect after a late-season slump clash in a game that hasn't stirred overwhelming interest in the host city. After setting attendance records the last three years, the Gator Bowl is having trouble filling its 82,300-seat capacity for the 8 p.m. EST matchup; more than 12,000 tickets, at $20 apiece, remained available by the weekend.

No. 16 Florida State is a seven-point favorite over the 19th-rated Cowboys even though the Seminoles enter the game plagued by injuries and controversy. Top receiver Hassan Jones, who is featured on the official Gator Bowl poster, has been declared ineligible for the game because he violated NCAA rules regarding the sale of tickets.

Florida State's other starting receiver, Darrin Holloman, is out with a separated shoulder and backup Phillip Bryant is nursing a bruised left shin but should play against the No. 6 pass defense in the nation.

Delirious Colorado Battles Apologetic Huskies

United Press International

While the Washington Huskies almost have to apologize for being in Monday night's Freedom Bowl, their opponents have to contain their delirium.

Washington, the nation's second-ranked team last year after an Orange Bowl victory over Oklahoma, has grown accustomed to playing on New Year's Day, more often than not in the Rose Bowl as the Pac-10 champion.

But the Huskies followed up last year's 11-1 season and this year's No. 6 pre-season ranking with a 6-5 season.

For Colorado, the Huskies' opponent, the Freedom Bowl trip to Anaheim, Calif. represents the crowning glory after a remarkable turnaround season.

After last season's 1-10 finish, Coach Bill McCartney scrapped his pure passing attack for the wishbone and the Big Eight Golden Buffaloes averaged 259.8 yards rushing per game in finishing 7-4.

"Of the 36 bowl teams this year, we are the most excited to be in a bowl," McCartney said Sunday. "We were the longest shot to be here. We're having the time of our lives."

Washington views the game as salvation rather than reward.

"It would shine a better light on the season with a win," said Huskies offensive tackle Kevin Gogan. "Things have not gone well overall but that doesn't mean we can't put together one final effort."

Colorado is led by fullback Anthony Weatherspoon, who rushed for 569 yards, and quarterback Mark Hatcher, a freshman running back last season, with 539 and 10 TDs.

Hatcher suffered an ankle injury Oct. 26 against Nebraska but will be at full strength Monday night.

Washington's senior quarterback, Hugh Millen, is still recovering from his shoulder injury, suffered Nov. 9 against Arizona State. Sophomore Chris Chandler will start but Millen hopes to play some.

Another injured Husky, Rick Fenney, is expected to play as a backup. The 6-foot-3, 242-pound fullback, despite being hampered by ankle and hamstring injuries, led the team with 497 yards rushing. The Huskies dropped all five games in which Fenney played less than a quarter. They won all six when he played more than a period.

This will be the Huskies' seventh straight bowl game. The Buffaloes have not played in a post-season contest since the 1977 Orange Bowl. Washington is listed as a 4-point favorite.

"Some of our alumni are not too excited about 6-5," admitted Washington coach Don James, who served as Colorado's defensive coordinator from 1968-70.

In Monday's other bowl game, 16th-ranked Florida State will take on No. 19 Oklahoma State in the Gator Bowl at Jacksonville, Fla. Both teams are 8-3.

The Florida State defense yielded only 3.5 yards per rushing attempt this season and will direct its attention to the Cowboys' Thurman Thomas, who leads an offense based on the run. Cowboy sophomore Ronnie Williams completed only 48 percent of his passes. Thomas earned MVP honors in last year's Gator Bowl by rushing for 155 yards in a 21-14 triumph against South Carolina.

A 186-pound sophomore with 4.4 speed, Thomas rushed for 1,553 yards and 15 touchdowns this year.

Tuesday, 8-3 Army faces 6-4-1 Illinois in the Peach Bowl at Atlanta; Air Force, 11-1, faces Texas, 8-3, in the Bluebonnet Bowl at Houston; and in the All American Bowl at Birmingham, Ala., Georgia Tech, 8-2-1, plays Michigan State, 7-4.

Curry Defends Suspension

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (UPI) —

Georgia Tech coach Bill Curry insists his suspension of star quarterback John Dewberry and three other players was needed to "maintain order" on his team just days before the All American Bowl.

"Any time a successful family or company or team functions, it functions within certain guidelines and a philosophy and set of rules. And that's exactly the way we work," said Curry, whose team faces Michigan State Tuesday (8 p.m. EST) at Legion Field.

"The only other option is anarchy. You can have no curfew — then you don't run this risk. I'm not going to do

Lee was his favorite target, grabbing 29 passes for a 22.2-yard average and six scores.

"This is not intended to embarrass the players that we've had to suspend. It is simply intended to maintain order on our team," said Curry, who has coached the Yellow Jackets for six years.

"If I come to your house (recruiting) and promise you I'm going to be responsible for your son for four or five years, then that's what I'm going to do. And that doesn't include turning him loose in a strange town," Curry said. "If you have a rule, you must keep it."

Football

that," Curry added.

Starting wide receivers Gary Lee and Toby Pearson, and reserve fullback Charles Mack were suspended along with Dewberry Saturday for violating Curry's 1 a.m. curfew Friday night — the Yellow Jackets' first night in Birmingham.

Dewberry, a senior, threw for 1,557 yards and 10 touchdowns for the 8-2-1 Yellow Jackets, the Atlantic Coast Conference runners-up. The 6-foot, 194-pounder led the ACC in passing efficiency, completing 110-of-193 attempts.

White caught five passes for 71 yards.

tremendous leap and came down with the ball amid two defenders. "When I came down with it, I was pretty much surprised," he said. "I knew for sure I was in bounds but I didn't know if the official knew because BYU was yelling that I was out."

Earl Bruce, Ohio State's coach, wasn't too impressed with his offense lauded the defense for its effort. "The defense did all it could possibly do," he said. "It was tremendous. To limit Robbie Bosco to 261 yards and come up with four interceptions is a tremendous effort. The six turnovers (two fumbles along with the interceptions) made the difference."

Not a big difference, but enough.

Nets Waiting For Comeback Player Of Year To Come Back

EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. (UPI) — As of noon Sunday New Jersey Nets guard Michael Ray Richardson, the NBA Comeback Player of the Year last season, remained missing.

Richardson, 30, missed Saturday night's game between the Nets and Washington Bullets and has not been seen by any team officials since he attended a Nets holiday party Friday night.

A two-time loser to chemical dependency, Richardson could be subject to a two-year suspension by the NBA if this latest disappearance is related to drugs.

"We don't know where he is," said Nets Director of Operations Lewis Schaffel. "For now we are withholding comment."

Nets forward Buck Williams said: "We are concerned about Sugar. We hope he is mentally and physically OK and we hope that no one jumps to any conclusions before all the facts have been determined."

Nordiques Outplay Soviets, 5-1

United Press International
Now we know how the Quebec Nordiques managed to lose to the NHL's worst team Saturday night: they were saving everything for the touring Central Red Army squad.

The Nordiques, one night after dropping a 5-4 decision to the Detroit Red Wings, thoroughly outplayed the best team in the Soviet Union en route to a 5-1 victory.

"I don't think you'll see a better performance from another NHL team that will play against the Soviets," said Quebec coach Michel Bergeron. "We played a near-perfect hockey game."

In another game, the Calgary Flames downed Moscow Dynamo 4-3.

The Nordiques played a tight-checking style, continuously forcing the Soviets in their end.

"The Nordiques played a good defensive game, and they knew how to stop our offense, and that was the key," said Soviet coach Boris Tikhonov.

Bullets' Johnson Fractures Foot

LANDOVER, Md. (UPI) — Washington Bullets guard Frank Johnson, injured in the last seconds of a game against the New Jersey Nets Saturday, was diagnosed as having fractured a bone in his left foot, team officials said Sunday.

The Bullets defeated the Nets 98-93 in New Jersey. This is the third time Johnson has cracked the fourth metatarsal bone of his left foot, officials said. Last season, Johnson missed 29 games after cracking the bone during the Detroit Pistons contest on Feb. 8.

Johnson returned for the playoffs but re-injured his foot over the summer and began the season on the injured list. Johnson was activated Nov. 27 and has appeared in 14 games.

Pack Fires 'Shocked' Schnelker

GREEN BAY, Wis. (UPI) — Bob Schnelker has been fired as offensive coordinator of the Green Bay Packers, Coach Forrest Gregg confirmed today.

"I have no complaints about the job Bob Schnelker did here," Gregg said. "He worked hard. He's a good offense coach."

"At the same time, I felt we needed to make a move in that area. As a team, we sort of stood still. We have not improved."

Schnelker said he was shocked to be fired. He said Gregg asked him to resign, but he refused to do so.

"I had no idea this was coming," he said. "I thought I had a good working relationship with Forrest. It was a shock."

Biddy Cage Tournaments Offered

Teams or organizations interested in participating in a Youth Basketball Tournament Jan. 24-26 should contact the Boys Clubs of Alachua County, P.O. Box 532, Gainesville, FL 32602 or phone 904-372-5342.

Tournaments will be conducted for two age groups, 9- and 10- and 11- and 12- year-olds, with age as of Sept. 1, 1985. The youngest group has a 5-4 height limit while the older teams are limited to 5-7.

The tournament will be played by "Biddy Basketball" rules but it is open to non-affiliated teams. The two major differences from high school basketball are a smaller ball and a 8 1/2-foot goal.

Skating Trip Set Feb. 11-15

If you are a snow skiing enthusiast or you just want to learn the sport, the Central Florida YMCA has just the program for you — a three-day trip to the mountains of North Carolina.

Scheduled for Feb. 11-15, the package includes round trip transportation, rental equipment, lift tickets and lodging — all for the price of $239 per person.

"There is no better way to learn snow skiing than on this type of trip," says YMCA director Scott Washburn.

For information or details, call the YMCA at 862-0444.

Karate Class By Phuoc Nguyen

Classes in karate (Tae Kwon Do) for beginners and intermediate to advanced are held on an ongoing basis, twice weekly, Tuesday and Thursday in the Wekiva Presbyterian Church off State Road 434.

Under the direction of Phuoc Nguyen, fourth degree black belt, students are taught and advanced according to their own skill and initiative.

Fees are $25/Y-members and $30/month for others. Call the Seminole YMCA 862-0444 for details.

YMCA Offers Soccer Programs

Seminole YMCA will offer an 8-week program in soccer beginning Jan. 6 for boys and girls in grades K-5.

With emphasis on fundamentals, fair play and fun, there are four locations to choose from: Rock Lake Middle School, Teague Middle School, Idyllwilde Elementary and Winter Springs Elementary. Beginners play from 4-5 p.m. and Advanced Beginners from 5-6 p.m. The fee is $22/Y-members and $27/others (Y-shirt included).

Call the YMCA 862-0444 for details.

Unseeded O'Reilly Wins Tennis

PORT WASHINGTON, N.Y. (UPI) — Unseeded Patty O'Reilly of Ridgewood, N.J., won the girls 18-year-old category of the Rolex International Junior Tennis Championships Sunday when she defeated Jana Pospisilova of Czechoslovakia, 7-6 (7-1), 6-3.

As a finalist, O'Reilly received an invitation to participate in a women's professional tournament in Chicago this week, which she accepted.

Activities Planned For A Safe And Happy New Year

Various groups in Seminole and Orange counties are offering New Year's celebrations, both for the younger and older set, helpful services and safe New Year events.

Representatives of the newly reorganized Seminole County Chapter of MADD (Mothers Against Drunk Driving) will be working with the 7-Eleven Stores of Orange and Seminole Counties to offer free coffee to those out on New Year's Eve. Store workers will also call cabs, family or friends for drinking drivers to get home safely. The stores are also giving informative pamphlets on drunk driving laws in the state of Florida.

Meanwhile, Families Together, the Longwood drug awareness organization, and All American Roller Rink on State Road 436 in Altamonte Springs are sponsoring a "Booze-Free Bash" for area youth to celebrate New Year's coming. From 7:30 p.m. to 1:30 a.m., Dec. 31, the J.J. Silver's youth night club, located at the rink, will offer refreshments, music and dancing. Music will be provided by "The Action." There will be a crowning of Miss and Mr. J.J. Silver's, with the winners receiving $25 each, as well as 1 year's free admission to the night club.

For the younger set, a New Year's Eve Camp-in is on for 7 p.m. at the Orlando Science Center. Open for children from the ages of 4-14, the Camp-in will have fun and games, goodies and a special magic show. Call 869-7151 for details.

Winter Park's YMCA has setup a New Year's Eve Overnight Party beginning at 9 p.m. and ending at 7:30 a.m. on the 1st. A score of entertaining events and party doings will take place. Those interested may call the "Y" at 1201 N. Lakemont Ave.

Let's all join to encourage a safe and happy New Year to all.

Rehearsals get underway next week for the Seminole Community College's Fine Arts Theatre production of John Osborne's "Look Back in Anger." The play will be directed by Sara Daspin and is to open on the evening of Wed., Feb. 26.

New classes for children at

The Children's Fitness Center in Casselberry are scheduled to begin on Jan. 6. These classes are for children from the ages of 9 months to 10 years. Call Ms. Herr or Ms. Huebner at the center to register your child.

Altamonte-Maitland Christian Women's Club will hold a "Happy New Year Happening, Western Style" at the Maitland Civic Center on Friday, Jan. 10 from 7-9 p.m. The special feature will be "Shenanigans For Fun" with the McFaddens. Special music will be "Campfire Songs" with David and Lori Blair and the special speaker, Tom Pettit will offer "Moonlight Stories".

Reservations are required for members and guests. Deadline for reservations are Jan. 7. Call Mrs. Grossman at 767-2935 or Mrs. Riles at 862-1469 to place yours.

The Christian Woman's Club January Prayer Coffee will be on Thurs., Jan. 2 at 9:30 a.m. at the Hulbert home, 220 Lake Seminole Drive in Maitland.

The Sanford and Casselberry branches of the Seminole County Public Library system will close at 5 p.m. on Tues., Dec. 31 and will re-open on Thurs., Jan. 2.

From 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. on Jan. 11, South Seminole youngsters may register to join the Casselberry Little League Program which is scheduled to open the 1986 season on March 1.

Registration will be held at The Pass Sporting Goods Shop in the Butler Plaza on Hwy. 436. Tryouts will be Jan. 15-17 at Secret Lake Park. The Casselberry Little League is sponsored by that city's Parks and Recreation Dept.

Maureen Gerylne McFadden of Longwood, has been selected for inclusion in the 1986 edition of Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges. Maureen is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter McFadden, Longwood.

Like to play Scrabble? Think you are an expert, as you can beat everyone in the family? Try your expertise at the Florida State Scrabble Championships being held at the Hilton on North Lake Boulevard in Altamonte Springs.

Recreational and competitive levels of play are set at the Jan. 11, 1 p.m. and Jan. 12, 10 a.m. tournaments. Try it! You may be better (or worse) than you think!

Woman's Penmanship Wrote Her A Ticket To Happiness

DEAR ABBY: The letter from "Marilyn," who wondered how many pen pal relationships developed into something more serious, makes me wonder if perhaps my parents may have set a record.

In 1919, Pfc. Ernest Kern was stationed in Hawaii when an Indianapolis newspaper printed a list of "lonely" American soldiers seeking pen pals. An Indianapolis girl wrote to the first name on the list. Eight sacks of mail were received. Many of the servicemen picked the letters with the best handwriting.

Kern said, "It's not always the best handwriting that counts," and he picked Mary Mortsof's

Dear Abby

David Edrington found it. To make a long story short, that letter was from me, Denise Boyd. David and I corresponded until he returned to the States on March 1, 1985.

On March 10, we were married. It was the answer to two prayers: his and mine. We are presently stationed with the U.S. Army at Fort Belvoir, Va., and are expecting our first child any day now. We will be eternally grateful to you, Dear Abby, for bringing us together. May God bless you and your wonderful column.

DENISE AND DAVID EDRINGTON

DEAR ABBY: The letter about the freeloader who "rode along" to work and back with a co-worker brought back memories of my own experience some years ago.

My husband and I worked at a large plant. One day while I was in the women's restroom, a smiling lady from a different department (I'll call her Alice) introduced herself, saying she had heard that I lived in her neighborhood and asked if she could ride to and from work with me. (I later learned that Alice had a new car.) I foolishly said yes.

My husband, who does the driving in our family, is a very kind and patient man, but after six months of going out of our way to pick up Alice and take her home, we decided we had had enough.

We never asked her for a cent, but she didn't offer anything. She talked constantly from the back seat, which bothered my husband because he doesn't like to converse while he's driving. There were times when we wanted to stop after work for groceries or go to dinner somewhere, but we always had to take Alice home first, which cut into our time.

After we invented a story telling her why we could no longer drive her, she was very cool to me whenever we met in the hallway, lavatory or lunchroom. It was very uncomfortable for me, and I was happy when I got transferred to another building away from Alice.

That was the last time we ever car-pooled.

NEVER AGAIN IN ST. PAUL

DEAR NEVER AGAIN: Fortunately, every rider is not an "Alice." Witness a short story from Long Beach:

Balloon Trip Through Himalayas Latest Of Woman's Adventures

By Frank Spotnitz
UPI Feature Writer

NEW YORK (UPI)—Jan Reynolds, a 29-year-old champion skier and climber, says conquering the world's most dangerous mountains in exotic places like China, Tibet and Nepal is not as difficult as it looks.

"I came from nowhere, growing up on a Vermont dairy farm," she said the other day, having just flown in to New York from her home outside Burlington, Vt. "I'm an average, normal everyday person. If I can do it, you can do it."

The most recent feat on Reynolds' long list of adventures was sailing through the Himalayas last month in a mammoth hot-air balloon. The trip had been planned for three years by Australian Chris Dewhurst.

"He runs Adventure Travel there," Reynolds said. "It was his dream to balloon in the Himalayas. He wanted an American to go, someone who was a climber, and they needed a writer and photographer." Reynolds fit the bill.

Because the Himalayas are situated on the border between China and Nepal, sailing through them presents not only a logistical challenge, but a political one as well.

Reynolds and her companions were warned that neither of their two balloons must sail within 20 miles of the Chinese border. They also were to take a government observer with them on Reynolds' balloon to make sure they kept within the assigned boundaries, but he was left off at the last minute because of weight limitations.

After four trial runs, two of them in Katmandu, the crews awaited word from a meteorologist on when weather conditions would permit their flight. If winds were too strong, or temperatures too severe, the balloons could suffer disastrous collisions in the rugged terrain.

On the morning of Nov. 10, weather conditions were about as ideal as they were likely to get and the balloons set sail. Reynolds remembers her balloon shooting through the dense fog and above the clouds to 27,000 feet.

The temperature was 20 degrees below zero, which was 30 degrees warmer than they had expected. Since balloons move at the speed of the wind, the air seemed calm as they cut through perhaps the world's most spectacular mountain range.

"I was dangling my feet off the side, taking pictures," Reynolds said. "It was an incredible way to see the Himalayas. I just sat back at one point and watched."

The trip only lasted a few hours, but that was long enough for both balloons to brush against disaster.

The second balloon's pilot light went out and dropped 11,000 feet before the flame could be relit. Reynolds' balloon was descending to land in a village when a draft knocked it into a cliff.

Its fabric punctured by a tree, the balloon crashed onto a plateau, trapping the crew underneath the basket and starting a small fire. Reynolds managed to scramble out, turn off the gas and extinguish the flames before anyone was seriously injured.

"We spent the next day getting the gear ready to trek out," Reynolds said, but they were spotted and a helicopter managed to airlift them and the balloon, valued at more than $100,000, to safety.

A week later, Reynolds was safely back home in the United States.

Reynolds, who usually lives in Colorado during the winter, recounts another one of her adventures in the Himalayas in Everest Grand Circle, a book about a four-month climbing and skiing trip around Mount Everest in 1980.

She and her co-author, Ned Gillette, became the first people to successfully make such a journey. They got lost twice, and Reynolds dropped more than 25 pounds on the trip.

Reynolds, who set the world record for high-altitude skiing in China in 1980, said she is not frightened while climbing, ballooning or skiing in treacherous areas like the Himalayas.

"I think fear plays a bigger part before I go," she said. "I think about the risks and I weigh them. They're calculated risks."

Generic Drugs May Not Be Best

DEAR DR. GOTT — I wanted to tell you my experience with generic drugs. I was taking Penicillin VK for one year. I was changed to a generic type and I noticed many unfavorable symptoms. I asked my doctor to allow me to go back on the non-generic type, which he did. I noticed a big difference within a week. As you know, bacterial endocarditis cannot be cured, but the Penicillin VK has kept me in good condition and I've been so happy to have this extra year. I'm able to enjoy life, and I'll be 80 soon.

The symptoms of this are the same as lymphoma in humans. Leukemia is related to lymphoma. Can cat-scratch fever develop into lymphoma?

DEAR READER — The virus that causes cat-scratch fever and feline leukemia have been reported to cause leukemia-like illness in some humans. Some scientists who believe in the viral origin of leukemia use this relation as further evidence of a tantalizing hypothesis: that all leukemia — perhaps all cancer — is virus-induced. Although, to my knowledge, sick cats do not cause lymphoma (cancer of the lymph glands), there is much experimental work now in progress that may clarify this issue in the future.

Send your questions to Dr. Gott at P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, Ohio 44101.

DEAR READER — Your observations are valid and support the position I have taken in a previous column: namely, that generic drugs are sometimes — but not always — equivalent to brand-name products. I am glad your doctor paid close attention to your dissatisfaction and changed your medicine.

However, I must take issue with one of your statements. Bacterial endocarditis (infection of the heart valves) is curable. Modern antibiotics, if used properly and for a long enough time, can eradicate the infection. You are probably taking prophylactic antibiotics; that is, sufficient medication to prevent the recurrence of endocarditis. Penicillin VK is good for this purpose because it is not degraded by stomach acid. You seem to be receiving appropriate treatment. Happy birthday!

DEAR DR. GOTT — My mother has double vision. She went to a specialist and he had her do eye exercises for one year. They did not help. Would you please tell me about double vision?

DEAR READER — Double vision is known medically as diplopia. It has many causes and may originate from an imbalance of the eye muscles or from neurological disorders — tumors, infection, stroke ... the causes are endless. Each cause, in turn, must be ruled out. I suggest that your mother seek advice from a neurologist and an eye specialist. That way, her problem can be dealt with in a coordinated way on two fronts. Eye exercises are obviously not the answer; I think more extensive evaluation would be warranted.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I came across an article on cat

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby

Would you like to take a look at finesses? There will be a few wrinkles involved, so you serious bridge devotees might profit from saving this week's columns. It might even be a way of fulfilling a New Year's resolution to improve your bridge skills.

North and South cue-bid their way to six hearts. West probably should have led a spade but instead placed his lone trump on the table. That lead gave declarer some options. After winning in his hand, he first tried leading diamonds. (If West held the ace, 12 tricks would be easy.) East took the diamond ace, leaving declarer with a second diamond loser. South, however, up to the test, later on led a spade to dummy and put in the queen. When that held, he had his 12 tricks.

A simple deal. First find out about the location of the diamond ace. Then, if necessary, take the spade finesse. But defender East must be given falling grades. If he had casually ducked the first diamond, South would very likely have returned to his hand to lead the suit once more. East would then have taken two diamond tricks to set the contract.

HOROSCOPE

What The Day Will Bring... YOUR BIRTHDAY DECEMBER 31, 1985

Several major achievements are likely for you in the year ahead. Your imagination and creativity will be two of your strongest forces for bringing them into being.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) There may be some restrictions placed upon your personal plans today. But you'll still end up having a good time. Trying to patch up a romance? The Matchmaker set can help you understand what it might take to make the relationship work. Mail $2 to Matchmaker, c/o this newspaper, Box 1846, Cincinnati, OH 45201.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) All will work out better for you in the long run today if you don't mix business and pleasure. Put the deal you want to discuss on the back burner.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Get important tasks out of the way early today so that they won't infringe upon time you'll be wanting to spend with your friends.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) It's important today not to rely too heavily upon others. You'll be capable of doing whatever needs to be done without assistance.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) You should be able to fare rather well in your commercial dealings today, yet you won't get everything you expect if your demands are unreasonable.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) This may turn out to be an interesting day. A door might be closed to a source that is usually available, while an unexpected one suddenly opens up.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) In a joint venture today, make every effort to shoulder your share of the burden. If this is your objective, all will work out well.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Establish your terms in advance if you are performing work or service for another today. A proper understanding will eliminate future problems.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) In all of your involvements today, keep everything out in the open. You're bound to get tripped up if you try anything too cute or coy.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) A situation that you have been negatively anticipating is going to turn out OK. Don't waste time worrying about something that may never happen.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Have fun and enjoy yourself today, but also keep the financial cost in mind. You can have a ball without destroying your budget.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Everything will work out to your satisfaction today if you don't trip over your own feet. Let important events run their natural courses.

ANNIE

I TRIED TO BE ANITY DOOSON. I REALLY DID! I DO HOPE MY STEPFATHER WON'T CARE HE'S TOO ANGRY WITH ME... DOES HE HURT YOU WHEN HE'S ANGRY?!
