News And Views From Our Washington Correspondent

Washington, D. C., Nov. 5.—With the "tumult and the shouting" over as the result of Tuesday's election, the carpenters and the joiners will begin the construction of a cabinet for President-elect Woodrow Wilson, and the names already suggested, give some indication of how the various elements in the Democratic party view their tremendous victory.

William Jennings Bryan, the "Warwick" of the incoming administration, is most generally touted for Secretary of State, although there are those that believe the "Commoner" would rather be a free lance than attach himself to the person of the President in a ministerial capacity, believing that he could do the party greater good in the open than by holding down a cabinet position. Undoubtedly Bryan can have the choice of any position should he so desire.

Louis Brandeis of Boston is among the favored ones suggested for Attorney General, although William F. McCombs, chairman of the National Democratic Committee must also be reckoned with, as he has been a tower of strength for Wilson, and as he is a lawyer of repute might find the Department of Justice to his liking.

It is generally believed that Congressman Albert S. Burleson of Texas will be accorded a cabinet position and possibly may accept the Interior portfolio, although it is known he has a leaning to the Secretaryship of Agriculture. But Dr. Harvey S. Wiley, late chief chemist of the Department of Agriculture is seriously mentioned for the head of the Department with which he has been connected for so many years.

Josephus Daniels of North Carolina, editor of the Raleigh News and Observer, who had charge of the publicity end of the Wilson campaign may possibly become the "headman" of the new administration, more generally known as the Postmaster General. Daniels is a "live wire" and undoubtedly would take rare pleasure in relieving the "hated" Republicans of their postoffice jobs.

Then, too, one hears the names of Rolla Tull of St. Louis, William G. McAdoo of New York, Walter Hudspeth of New Jersey and even Senator Robert M. LaFollette for cabinet places and the "carpenters and the joiners" have just begun the construction of President-elect Wilson's official family.

XXXXX

The forthcoming Convention of the National Rivers and Harbors Congress which will be held in Washington on December 4th, 5th and 6th gives promise of bringing together a larger number of influential business and professional men than ever before participated in the deliberations of this great Congress organized for the purpose of securing annual appropriations for the improvement of the rivers, harbors and canals of the country and to bring about a fixed policy of waterway betterments on the part of the general government.

The convention, which is ninth in numerical order, will be of intense interest to the nation, as it is hoped President-elect Wilson will be present and in an address to the delegates define his position on many of the questions relating to the water highways of the country. President Taft will open the convention with an address, while with him on the program are a score of the ablest men of the country who are down for addresses during the days of the convention.

3. All contestants must be entered by November 24th. In case more than ten are entered in each contest, preliminary contests may be held in convenient cities December 9th, the number of such contestants entered and on the location of their schools. If such preliminary contests are to be held, principals will be notified in sufficient time to permit their pupils to be present.

4. The winners of such preliminary contests as may be held shall be entitled to contest at Ocala for the Florida Educational Association medals.

5. In entering a contestant, a principal should send to the chairman of the Executive Committee of the Association, Starke, the name of the contestant, sex, age, grade, date of entering school, number of regular studies carried by such pupil, and the title of the pupil's declamation. The title of the declamation may be furnished by December 9th.

6. In awarding the medals, or in deciding any preliminary contest, the judges shall grade each contestant on (1) stage appearance, (2) clearness of enunciation, (3) correct interpretation of the spirit of the selection, (4) general effectiveness, and shall award the medals to the contestants having the highest general average on these four points.

COUNTY DIVISION AGAIN AGITATES THE PUBLIC

Several New Counties Want Divorce in the Legislature

FLORIDA NEWS AND VIEWS FROM EVERY SOURCE

Daily Happenings in The Land of Flowers Culled and Tied Into a Nosegay of Brieflets

County division is rampant now in several counties of the state and the matter will become so popular by the time the next meeting of the Legislature takes place that all the counties that are too large and where the inhabitants thereof are dissatisfied will certainly separate and the legislators can be depended upon to give the majority what they want. Among the counties now talking county division are Volusia and Orange and it is already conceded that these counties will get division. There is also considerable agitation about the making of a new state of West Florida and this step is being discussed already west of the Apalachicola river. In case of a state division Tallahassee could never hope to hold the state capital.

Fishermen who returned to Pensacola a few days ago after a three weeks' trip to the snapper banks, had the distinction of bringing with them one of the largest devilfish, or octopus, ever brought to that port. The octopus measured no less than six feet from mouth to the tip of his longest tentacle. The monster will be preserved.

The new bank building at Groveland is nearing completion and the bank expects to be doing business by the first of next month. It is a handsome brick building and will add much to the appearance of that town.

Jacksonville's financial district is to have still another institution located in its very center, for articles of incorporation are now being prepared for the organization of the United States Trust and Savings Bank which will begin business on or about January 2, 1913.

Two large warehouses of McIver & Mackay at Ocala were destroyed by fire Saturday afternoon and several adjoining buildings were damaged. The estimated loss is about $20,000, about half covered by insurance. Sam Pyles, an employe of McIver & Mackay, fell through a skylight to the floor, a distance of about twenty-five feet. An examination showed one broken rib. Several volunteers had narrow escapes.

Seriously injured, his injuries self-inflicted, perhaps with suicidal intent, O. S. Goodrich, manager of a land company at Green Springs, is at the Gordon Keller Memorial Hospital at Tampa to which place he was brought from Green Springs. He is suffering from gun shot wounds in the head, a load of bird-shot having torn away a part of the skull on the left side of his head, just missing the brain.

While there is a great number of persons laying their plans for federal appointments during the next administration, it is apparent also that those who wish appointments to state positions are not asleep on the job. It is understood that a hundred or more have already made application to Hon. Park Trammell, the next governor, for appointment to different places by him.

Leaving a letter of apology to Manager Tallavat for the trouble his death would cause, Lieut. Fred de Mannerfelt of the Royal Life Humors of Sweden has morally committed suicide in the Humboldt Hotel by shooting himself through the heart with an automatic pistol.

Judge Perkins of this circuit today handed down a decision in the Orange county prosecution against S. J. Bligh, for shipping immature citrus fruits, in which he holds the unconstitutionality of the law. Judge C. B. Parkhill of Tampa and Attorney Starbuck were attorneys for the prosecution and Thomas Palmer of Tampa and Carl Robinson of Orlando appeared for Bligh.

ASSOCIATED CHARITY

Sanford Organization Is Doing Excellent Work

BUT MORE MONEY NEEDED

Secretary McDaniel Writes on Organization And The Needs That Are Apparent

What is the Associated Charities doing?" has been recently asked us, and for the benefit of those who up to the present time have not been especially interested or in touch with the work, a brief resume of what has been going on in the Charity office should be given out.

In the first place let me state that the society was organized because it was needed in Sanford. Those who took the initiative and started this movement saw this need when cases of want and distress, the same as will arise in every community, were being continually referred to them. They realized the importance of relieving these cases in a systematic, businesslike way, all of which required time, thought and money. Therefore, this center of communication was established. A place where the various charitable organizations and churches of Sanford can affiliate and work together to relieve want and distress, to work out careful plans to help families and individuals, and to suppress begging on the streets. This is being accomplished to some extent, and with the cooperation of every citizen it can be proven beyond a doubt that the Associated Charities is a benefit to the town as well as to individuals. Aid is dispensed, yet money is saved because frauds and impostors are weeded out and help is given only where it is needed. Already merchants and business men have stated that the organization of the Charities has been a help to them, as it has lessened the number of appeals to them for help by the professional beggars, and that they could double their subscriptions to the Associated Charities several times and still spend a good deal less than they have been giving to these strangers. There is a small army of these individuals and they are marching from one end of the country to the other, their travelling expenses paid by the public. They usually want help to get to another town where they claim they have relatives, friends and perhaps work. The same story is repeated as they go from place to place. It will be a saving to the town if these beggars are promptly turned down and sent to the Charity office. If they are not impostors they will apply there for help and always get it, otherwise they will decline to do "business with those people" as one stated recently when directed to the Associated Charities after working some of the business houses on First street.

Nearly thirty cases have come before the society since its organization and each one has been given careful attention. Lodging has been given nineteen times and thirty-one meals provided for those asking help. Transportation, groceries, clothing and some furniture have been provided. Employment has been secured for eleven and about fifty visits made to those who needed attention. A careful record is kept of every case.

Right now the Associated Charities is in need of money with which to conduct the business during the winter months, as the calls are more frequent at this time. Membership cards are $1.00, and the amount subscribed, for relief is voluntary. Subscriptions may be paid to any of the membership committee: C. H. Leffler, H. C. Dubois, E. B. Rourke, Mrs. R. L. Peck; or the finance committee: B. F. Whitner, Jr., D. L. Thrasher, W. A. Leffler, Mrs. W. M. Hynes, or the secretary at the office, 105 First street.

Mrs. J. C. McDANIEL, Secretary.

Fire Pressure Was Good

The pressure at the Wight fire this morning was excellent and with three streams playing on the fire at one time the amount of pressure was kept up to the limit. The Herald wishes to make this note because at various times there has been criticism on the pressure of the water company, at various fires, but there can be no criticism on the pressure this time for the Water Co. was Johnny on the spot and had the goods at every stage of the game.

ANOTHER TRACTION LINE

Company of Orlando Business Men Will Build Road

AMPLE FUNDS ARE ASSURED

Line Will Be Built From Orlando To Winter Park And On To Sanford

The Inter-Urban Traction Company, a corporation organized to build an electric railroad between Orlando and Winter Park was organized here this morning.

The following officers and directors were chosen: President, W. C. Temple; vice presidents, E. F. Sperry and Carl Dann; secretary-treasurer, L. L. Payne. Directors: E. F. Sperry, Judge Warlow, M. O. Overstreet, C. R. Harper and the above mentioned officers.

Application will be made at once for a charter.

The organization of such a company to construct an electric line between Orlando and Winter Park have been in progress about three months. Carl Dann and C. R. Harper have been the moving spirits in the venture.

Mr. Harper is a comparative stranger here, coming to Orlando about six weeks ago from a point in Ohio. He came seeking investments; heard of this project and became interested in it.

It is understood that seventy-five thousand dollars will be subscribed, and that the stock will be placed upon the market.

Fifteen thousand dollars was raised this morning by the officers and directors who met in Judge Warlow's office. Subscriptions were made as follows:

M. O. Overstreet, $2,000; Judge Warlow, $2,000; W. C. Temple, $2,000; E. F. Sperry, $2,000; Carl Dann, $4,000; C. R. Harper, $1,000.

The plan of the promoters of the enterprise will be to lay the line as far as Winter Park and subsequently extend it to Sanford.—Reporter-Star.

Week of Prayer

This week is being observed by the Presbyterian, Congregational and Methodist churches as a week of prayer for Home Missions. Interesting as well as instructive programs, setting forth the different kinds of work being done by the missionary societies of the different churches, and specifying the causes just now most in need of prayer and material aid. It is hoped this week of study and prayer will be instrumental in impressing the minds and hearts of the Christian people with a greater interest in the cause of missions and a desire to do all that is in their power to assist in answering their own prayers for the success of the causes they are asked to pray for.

Flower Sale a Success

The flower sale held two days last week by the ladies of the Civics Committee of the Welaka Club was a great success and they sold out all of the fine roses and other plants in record time and could have sold more if they had had them. In fact the sale was so successful that the committee will hold another one soon. The Herald office is indebted to Mrs. Lake and the committee for the receipt of two fine rose bushes. They are planted in the grass plot in front of The Herald office where they will be a constant reminder of the generosity of the ladies and also of their efforts to make Sanford beautiful.

Chief Underwood Ill

Fire Chief W. H. Underwood is ill at his home and was unable to appear at his post at the Wight fire this morning.

The Turkish fortress of Monastir surrendered this afternoon to the Servian troops. Fifty thousand Turkish soldiers and three generals laid down their arms. Monastir virtually had been surrounded by Servian troops for several days, while Greek troops coming from the south had cut off the Turkish line of retreat to Oschrida. On Saturday the Servian troops, after desperate fighting throughout the day and night, captured two important heights commanding the city. They then advanced through the morasses upon the interior fortifications, which surrendered today. Monastir is the headquarters of the Sixth Turkish army corps, commanded by Pethi Pasha, but many other Turkish troops fleeing from surrounding towns which had been covered by the Servians concentrated there. David Pasha, the commander of the Seventh Turkish army corps, went there with many of his soldiers after the fall of Uskup to the Servians.

That all postmasters should dispose of their own dead letters and that letter carriers should be used to carry the lighter parcels post articles, even if they do come to look like Santa Claus, was advocated by First Assistant Postmaster General C. P. Granfield in a talk to the Postmasters' Association of New England. Mr. Granfield predicted the limit of weight of parcels post matter would soon be raised from 11 to 100 pounds. He wanted the rates in the first zone reduced, for otherwise he said the parcels post would not compete with the express companies. "My answer to the critics who say the cost of the Postoffice department is excessive is just this," said Mr. Granfield, "the revenue from mail which is now franked, if paid, would bring an annual income to the Postoffice Department of $22,000,000."

I believe there should be an extra session of Congress at the earliest possible date after March 4, to fulfill the pledges made by the Democratic party," said Speaker Champ Clark upon his return to Washington today. The speaker had prepared a statement pledging himself to an extra session and gave it out when he arrived at his offices in the capitol. Speaker Clark said he had come to Washington to take up the legislative program for the approaching session of Congress.

Women, especially young girls, are rapidly becoming more and more addicted to intoxicating liquor in the national capital, while the men are rapidly growing more and more abstemious, according to Albert E. Advised to the effect that General Felix Diaz, leader of the latest revolution in Mexico, has escaped from the Mexican federal prison at Vera Cruz, and thus succeeding in defeating the purpose of the Mexican cabinet to inflict the death penalty on charges of high treason; reached Louisville in a letter recently. The communication was addressed to R. George Kirwan, a Louisville business man. The letter bore the signature of R. H. Dickinson, son of a capitalist of Boston, Mass., who is a big copper mine owner in the state of Jalisco. The Mexican government suppressed the news of his escape.

The Junior Epworth League of the Methodist church held their regular meeting Friday afternoon in the church.

CURBSTONE GLEANINGS

A Budget of Opinion "Just Between You and Me"

EVEN THE GATE POST NOT IN IT

A Chief is Among Ye Taking Notes and Faith, He'll Front 'Em— So Says Saunterer.

¶ As promised last week I will endeavor to give the names of some of our citizens who ought to be on the city council, in the city council or just below where the city council usually meets. I am playing no favorites in this free for all Aldermanic trot for the sweepstakes. I have friends in both places and I do not want to make any of them mad. It keeps me busy all day and part of the night trying to keep my friends from getting mad at me because I know that if they ever get mad at me they will cease borrowing money and other perquisites from me. There may be many of my friends who are not mentioned that ought to be mentioned as possible aldermanic timber. If any of them have been missed and will address me care of The Herald I will write their obituary in the next issue. Again there may be some friends and other people who will get mad because I have mentioned them in this article and if they will write to me I will promise not to mention it. This series of articles on the life and habits of Sanford citizens has taken much study and deep breathing to compose and no doubt will meet with a ready response. In the shape of commendation and condemnation and maybe assassination, but please remember that the Saunterer is only a myth and cannot be met in the flesh. In other words, when you attempt to gently lean a club against my mammo and noble brow I will not be there. There are good men who should seek office and there are men who should seek the asylum for a rest. Good men fill the public offices and good men fill the jails and sometimes good whiskey fills good men.

This article is only a filler and you can take it for what it is worth. The men mentioned are all good men and true and every one of them should be a candidate for public office and get in trim for county division. Look it over and see if you like them.

The first candidate is Felix Frank.

¶ Felix Frank would make an ideal Alderman. Felix is fat and jolly and has friends by the legion. He has had years of experience as a politician and has been the power behind the throne upon several occasions. We would like to see him come from behind the throne now and sit upon the throne itself. He is one of the chosen people and could be chosen by the people.

¶ W. C. Palmer has the face of an Alderman, and if he only will get large pictures of himself and hang them in the windows he will be elected hands down. Palmer has good ideas of a business administration and would make a first class Alderman. He is progressive and public spirited and ought to be on the city council.

¶ Harry Wilson has been here long enough to grow whiskers and yet he has never plucked up nerve enough to apply for a job on the city council. Harry is a young man of good business qualities and has been on the job so long that he could attend to the city's business with his eyes shut. If he will not announce himself his loving friends should do it for him.

¶ Harold Hawkins is a young man of exceptional ability. He lived in the shadow of the Tavares opera house in his youth and like that immense pile of architecture has large ideas, is broad minded, a good business man, has resided in Sanford many years and being a Bull Moose is bound to have progressive ideas and be full of the "new idea" in running the government.

¶ R. C. Maxwell would be a good man for the position of Alderman. Dick has executive ability, has served the city as Clerk, Treasurer and Assessor and in his official capacity attended all the council meetings. He has the experience, could make good automobile laws and could be counted upon to prevent any more fertilizer warehouses from being erected near the depot. Dick thinks that one fertilizer warehouse is enough for any city.

¶ B. F. Whitner is always too busy to attend to any of the city's affairs and he will waive the matter aside if it is ever mentioned to him and yet he would make a dandy good Alderman. He has been here when the moss grew on the south side of the oak trees and he is here now that it is on the north side and yet to my certain knowledge he has been content to dabble in nothing but school matters. There would be no pretty school marm mixed up in the aldermanic job and maybe that accounts for Whitner, Phillips and Walker staying on the school lid so long. If these gentlemen don't get away from that school job and try for the city council I will immediately investigate their salary as school trustees.

¶ F. E. Brady would not think of flirting with Dame Fortune at this stage of the game and he is not a candidate. As Mr. Brady stated publicly and with no fear of contradiction he has too good a thing now, and a bird in the garbage can is worth two in the council chamber.

¶ Charlie Dingee said that he fully intended to try one barrel at the job but that the time was not ripe as yet. He showed me a scar where he was wounded at the battle of Sanford Heights and said that no man could serve on the city council and be an elder in the church at the same time. Charlie said he had all the city work now that he could do and there was really no incentive for making the race.

¶ I even bearded F. P. Forster in his den and while he talked all around it I am at a loss to understand even now whether he refused or acceded to my request. Mr. Forster was very busy preventing overdrafts from blowing on his whiskers and I do not believe that I am taking any liberty with his name when I state that while he does not positively decline he does not positively accept—and— and say, don't the lettuce look nice?

¶ The gentle breezes from the gulf and the ocean have long fanned the whiskers of Cruse Barnes and yet they have never murmured in his ears the magic words of "Alderman." Mr. Barnes has been successful in business and has ample time to devote to the city as one of her servants and he would make a good man on the job but he is too bashful to ask a man for his vote and consequently will never have his name in the columns of the "also rans."

¶ M. P. Lipe is a young man of bright ideas and knows how to make a dollar do the work of two in any kind of business. If the city needed money at any time Lipe could get up a raffle and obtain money where money never grew before. He is a high financier and works on the principal that necessity is the mother of invention. If the city wanted municipal ownership Lipe could work out the scheme on paper and give figures to prove the same.

¶ W. W. Abernathy could carry out the old adage made famous in the school books of "if at first you don't succeed keep on running until you get there." He has been a candidate before and found out it was easier to be right than to be alderman. He has had plenty of experience on the outside looking in and no doubt could use pieces of his old platform to make the race again. He is a successful business man, which goes a long way toward making a successful Alderman.

¶ Jack Davison has been there one trip and longs for the flesh pots of Egypt again. He tried to do his darndest last time but the steam roller flattened him out and took all the wind out of his sails. Jack had a good summer at Coronado and received some valuable pointers from Frank Powers on civil government and he could be some punkins now that the periwinkle soup has rejuvenated him somewhat. I believe that Jack Davison ought to have another fling under new management.

¶ O. L. Taylor is another gentleman of large proportions and few ideas to confuse the public mind. Mr. Taylor is a sworn enemy of the railroad and receives a large pension from the railroad every month to work his fingers instead of his mouth. Mr. Taylor gained his ideas of city government from his uncle, Joe Cannon and has been cartooned and much maligned by Ben Guthrie. If Taylor was ever elected he would pass an ordinance prohibiting Guthrie from drawing anything but his salary.

¶ D. A. Caldwell would be one of the most important men of Sanford as a councilman but he refuses for business reasons. My only objection to Mr. Caldwell would be his extreme modesty in expressing himself upon any subject.

¶ I have labored long with L. P. McCuller trying to get him out for Alderman, but he says that while he would like the job for advertising purposes he is sure that his customers would object to his serving two masters and he could not serve Mammon and salmon and hold his job.

¶ J. T. McKenzie would give us a good business administration mixed with turpentine, and while he is a new man in the community he is well qualified to serve and is not tied up with any clique or clan and stated to me that he did not know what Tammany Hall meant and I believe him.

¶ W. R. Pell should sacrifice himself again for the welfare of the city if he happens to be called. If Pell would only make the race and be elected he would be in favor of making every property owner paint his house at least twice a year and I would back him up in his platform. Pell's Paint Propounds Publicity.

¶ S. Runge has already been there, both on the inside and outside and ought to try it again just for luck. He is a good man on any kind of position and has the good will and esteem of every man in Sanford. He is particularly strong in the Fourth Ward where he resides and could carry all of Tammany Hall.

¶ Tim Keene is my candidate for the position of Alderman. He has the goods and can be caught with them on him at any time of day or night. You can get good advice from Tim upon any subject and he would be especially strong for making McCuller screen his Irish potatoes. Tim could be counted upon supporting Dick Maxwell for the prevention and spread of any more fertilizer warehouses in the vicinity of Calhoun's bedroom.

Mike Crown is an Alderman after my own heart, for he is one of the few men in Sanford who already has the Aldermanic proportions. Mr. Crown informs me that it would be impossible for him to make the race however, because he cannot diet himself in such a short time. If he did go in for such athletics he could be counted upon to have a revolving depot and coal chute—one that could be moved every six months to suit the wishes of every citizen and demonstrate that the railroad belonged to the city instead of the city belonging to the railroad. Mr. Crown could also take expert advice on city affairs from B. G. Smith, which would be of inestimable value, Oviedo being larger than Sanford.

¶ J. D. Roberts is an exceptionally bright and promising young man, and I have it from his Sunday school teacher that he would never tell a lie when the truth would do as well and yet he told me the other day that he was too busy to attend to the duties of Alderman. I explained to him that the city needed his services and cited case after case where Aldermen had escaped sentence and were still at large. He listened intently when I touched upon the salary part of the proposition but he put on his hat and started east from the store when I named the amount.

¶ Charlie Hand could run for Alderman and be elected. Charlie, for a fat man has made some remarkable races in his time and always wins second place with two running. He was mayor of Sanford one time after the freeze when most of the people were out of town fishing for a living and Charlie never did anything to make an enemy. He must have had the Aldermanic bee in his bonnet then. He is now represented on the council by the second hand in the shape of Walter, and maybe it is just as well that the right hand should never know what the left hand is doing and this alone will bar Charlie from making the race.

I have some more candidates for next issue.

¶ I see by the papers that county division is on, and at the next meeting of the legislature there will be several pies that are to be divided and instead of a whole pie several county officials in several counties will have to suffice with half a pie. Of course there will be some warm fights waged on the matter for no county is anxious to divide and have the pie cut in two. Along with several other counties Orange county is becoming uneasy upon the disintegrating subject. The Commercial Club rushed matters the other night and along with other items of new enterprises the subject of county division came up and the way those boys went after it would have frightened the good people of Orlando. The spirit showed that the people of the north end of the county are not satisfied with the present state of affairs and they think they can get better results with a smaller area. There is plenty of time to discuss the affair and there is no need to become unduly excited over the matter. If the people of this end want to separate they will do so and you might just as well look the matter squarely in the countenance. There will be plenty of arguments pro and con and the wishes of the people in the new territory will of course be considered. Those who do not reside in the proposed new county will not have a vote and all they can do is to call upon the Governor for troops to guard the court house in Orlando and keep the Sanford people from moving the same to Sanford.

Office in Herald Building Telephone No. 148

Are you a county divisionist?

The cool weather is bringing a smile to the faces of the growers.

Roosevelt said a year or more ago, "Under no circumstances will I accept a third term" and he has made good.

Don't forget about the county fair. Sanford should have a fine exhibit this year as it may be the last time we will exhibit as a county. Next year we will have a Sanford county exhibit.

Some people are already worrying about increased taxes in the new county just as some people are already figuring who they will employ when they get the postoffice. One is as sensible as the other.

Tim Keene says: "During the mad rush for the postoffice Wednesday morning one of our citizens had his leg broken in four places. Several other popular men' deservin' Dimmyrats was more or less injured."

Lettuce is bringing a good price and the growers are getting their money here at Sanford. Just bear in mind that when the market wants lettuce you can get the price anywhere. With an auction f. o. b. market you could get the cash all the time.

Editor Howard of the Orlando Citizen is a candidate for the postoffice at Orlando and comes right out and states the fact that while the position may be a long time off he is on the job just the same. Howard will get the job. The newspaper men of the south will receive the recognition of those higher up every time.

Chris. Codrington of the DeLand News is a candidate for the position of postmaster at DeLand. Here's hoping you get it, Chris. If any people in the world are entitled to an office by appointment it is the newspaper men of Florida who have labored long and faithfully for the party and received less than any other member of society. It is a significant fact that wherever an editor has wanted a federal position under any administration they always come first in the matter of appointment.

The Lakeland Daily Telegram has passed the first milestone and is better than ever. Editor Hetherington deserves the loyal support extended to him by the citizens and business men of Lakeland. In the Telegram he undoubtedly has the best daily paper in south Florida for the size of the paper and the field. May the Telegram extend and prosper and may Hetherington's pocket book extend until he will have to use his surplus in a diamond necklace for his most deserving and delightful little helpmate, Mrs. Hetherington.

One of the most burdensome trusts with which the Florida business man has to contend is the Southeastern Tariff Association, which arbitrarily fixes fire insurance rates. It is a clear combination of the various fire insurance companies for the purpose of extracting the highest possible rate that the business will bear. Marianna, as well as almost every city and town in Florida, is burdened with this trust and we are glad to note that many of the newspapers are engaged in an active crusade against it. —Jackson Leader.

WILSON AT THE BAT

Editor Scholey of the Guilford, Conn. Times was a Republican before November fifth. No one knows what he is supposed to be now. Bull Moose, Conservative or Knownothing. But Bro. Scholey is alright, his heart is in the right place and he likes Sanford. All of which overbalance the fact that he is a Republican. In his last issue he gives voice to the following trite message:

"The future of the Democratic party depends on the game its team may play on the administrative diamond at Washington in the national league after next March. That Wilson, the chief box artist, will present some new and valuable curves and a swift delivery is looked to with great expectancy by his own fans and those of the opposition on the bleachers—the latter casting a weather eye to windward anticipating rain checks before the game is over. Should Wilson receive the support behind the bat and in the field which he rightfully deserves there is good reason for believing that he will be called upon to sign another contract for the following season. The fans are listening anxiously for the call "play ball."

STAY ON THE JOB

Bart Corley of the Leesburg Commercial proposes to retire from the newspaper game in that town because the support given his paper is not adequate and the grouchy contingent in Leesburg are always kicking because the paper is not good enough to suit them. Other things being equal, it is a good rule in such cases to stay on the job and fight it out. There is no town in or out of Florida where the kicker does not hold forth, and the paper being a local institution, always more or less prominent in the public eye, it is the natural and inevitable thing for the town kicker to launch his kick against that obvious and obdurate object. We do not presume to advise against private business, but on general principles we suggest to Bart to stand to his own guns and beat the kicker at his own game. Lakeland Telegram.

OLD POLITICAL HATREDS DEAD

Since the south is still solid and the north is Democratic, let all sections be courteous and loving.

It has been a long time since the Civil War. Let the heroes of the sixties rest in peace. They met the issues, and met each other, like men.

The real cause of that bloody, fratricidal conflict was slavery. The north as well as the south was responsible for the presence and enslavement of the African in America.

If it was a crime, our fathers shed their blood like brave men to settle it. It went out in revolution.

Has not the time come for the true American to honor alike the old soldiers no matter whether their uniform was grey or blue? Let Kentucky build one monument to the greatest of her sons, Jefferson Davis and Abraham Lincoln.

The war is over. A new generation has come and fought out the matter of reconstruction.

When the north takes a southern man elects him Governor of New Jersey and helps the south make him President it looks like the bloody shirt is fastest to rise no more.

In Florida let the words, rebel, "yankee" and "rebellion" be heard no more.

The next generation is to be neither northern or southern, but Floridian and American. —DeSoto Co. News.

WILSON FOR WILSON MEN

The Jacksonville Metropolis of Nov. 11th contains the following editorial:

Deep interest is being displayed in the State-wide scramble for office, which has been precipitated by the overwhelming election of Woodrow Wilson, and among the "scramblers" are many men who fought the great Princetonian to the last ditch before he secured the nomination at Baltimore.

Such men know no honor in politics and they only participate in the game for the pelt they may take. Principles count for naught—it's the "pie" they want. Those men who fought Wilson for Judson Harman were almost as much his enemies as those who fought for Taft, for there's little or no difference between the political idea of Harman and the President. Wilson stands for progressiveness and the people, and the people, not the politicians, elected him. Harman and Taft stand side by side for the money powers, and Taft's re-election would have done the country as much good as the election of Harman.

This is a Wilson victory. Therefore, to Wilson men justly belong the spoils for political victory.

The Ft. Pierce Tribune makes the following comment about office seekers of the "turn coat" variety:

"Like vultures which stand idly by and wait for other to slay that they may eat, is the attempt of the enemies of Democracy—those who fought against the nomination of Hon. Woodrow Wilson as the Democratic standard bearer, and favored any weak man whom the Republicans could easily beat—in the interests of Wall street—to grab the fruit of the victory for themselves."

The Sun does not believe that President-Elect Wilson endorses any such sentiment as expressed by The Metropolis and Tribune. Every Democratic had a right to support either Harman, Clark, Underwood, Bryan or any other candidate for the nomination for the Presidency, and the fact that many Democrats, in fact a majority in most Southern States, preferred some other candidate to Mr. Wilson, does not make them any less deserving of recognition at the hands of the incoming administration than the "original" Wilson men themselves. Certainly Mr. Wilson would never have been elected without the faith of those Democrats who favored him, and the other of his opponents for the nomination, and he never had more loyal supporters after he secured the nomination than Champ Clark, Judson Harman and Oscar W. Underwood and their advocates prior to the banner being placed in the hands of the Princetonian. "This is a Wilson victory," says The Metropolis. But Mr. Wilson himself says it is a Democratic victory, and the people will prefer his version of the result of the recent election.

But in justice to those Democrats whom The Metropolis and Tribune so uncalled for affront, it is the observation of the editor of The Sun that the "scramble" for places at the "pie counter" is on the part of those who claim to have been "original Wilson men." On an average there are hundreds of them for every position at the disposal of the next President, and there are bound to be many disappointed ones after the new administration makes distribution of Federal patronage. There may be a few applicants who were not supporters of Mr. Wilson for the nomination, but they are not less deserving, as Democrats, than those who actually did the nomination.

If the solid South is ever brought will be through the carrying out of such a policy as that advocated by The Metropolis and Tribune, but it is hardly possible that such a narrow-minded man as these two editors appear to be will ever be elected to the Presidency by the people of these United States, especially as a Democrat. —Gainesville Star.

TAKE ADVERTISING AGAIN

Now that the commercial club is trying the wheat and the corn, it is well to do out the corn and the wheat and see what happens. The club will come to the aid of the advertiser and the advertiser will come to the aid of the club.

The club is a very valuable feature of the Commercial Club that of protecting the home merchant at all times. The Herald has used up all the space preaching about the club and the money at home and the club must bear the seal of approval of the advertising committee of the Commercial Club and every merchant in Sanford can save and do save by using the club's advertising.

The club is a very valuable feature of the Commercial Club. This is one of the many valuable features of the Commercial Club that of protecting the home merchant at all times.

The Herald has used up all the space preaching about the club and the money at home and the club must bear the seal of approval of the advertising committee of the Commercial Club and every merchant in Sanford can save and do save by using the club's advertising.

No man can solicit advertising well unless he is sincere. The Commercial Club and the club will not endorse the proposition unless it is a good one. Few of the fakers wait until the club meets to endorse the scheme. Their plan is to get all they can in one day, save hotel bills and get the money and get out of Sanford as quickly as possible.

Don't give up any good money for advertising unless you know it is good, whether it bears the endorsement of the club or not. You know advertising when you see it and all of you know the result of sending your money out of town.

Be governed by your own knowledge and impulse and let the Commercial Club do the work of censoring.

And lastly keep your money at home always.

FOOLISH QUESTIONS AGAIN

The South Florida Sentinel has the following swan song regarding the county division:

"Sanford citizens, or at least a portion of them, are again agitating the matter of county division. No reason is advanced for such division except that the county seat is to be a county seat. This is a very good reason for the approval of the county division of Orange county. The county seat is to be a county seat. There is no reason for the county being governed by a county seat. It is difficult to believe that the greater the blessing of the county, the greater the blessing of the county. And while a division of the county would necessarily be an increase of the county seat, that would mean that portions which would be separated from the county seat would be separated from the county seat. The expense of maintaining a county seat is far beyond the expectations of those who have not given the matter a careful study and personal investigation.

The Sentinel has always stood for impartiality in the administration of affairs in Orange county, always had a good word for Sanford, believing the people of that little city to be as good as the best, we have studiously refrained from any unfavorable comment even when some over zealous citizen of the Celery City indulged in an unguarded thrust at Orlando. Orlando citizens have the greatest respect for Sanford and the wealthy men of this city have done much to help develop the Sanford district, and there is absolutely no reason for Sanford being more friendly to Orlando.

If a few of the hotheads of Sanford do not allow the county seat to be separated from the county seat, it will be much better for the tax payers of the county. The tax rate will be as low as it should be, and every unbiased man must know that the carving up of the county to suit the taste of this coterie of promoters would mean an increased tax rate that would retard the progress of the county more than anything that could happen to it. Representative Forrest Lake stands for the county seat. He is an advanced member. We hope to see him in the future.

The county seat is to be a county seat. There is no reason for the county being governed by a county seat. The ladies of the Baptist Missionary Society who are trading with a dime in behalf of the Chapin Memorial are reminded by Mrs. C. M. Williams, chairman, that the allotted time is drawing to a close and they are requested to bring in their returns next Monday evening at the church. Ladies, make good use of the few remaining days.

J. J. Brown of Smithburg, Maryland is in the city visiting his son, Emory Brown, manager of the Virginia Carolina Fertilizer Co. This is Mr. Brown's first visit to Sanford and he is already in love with Sanford and Florida's balmy climate. He spent a week at New Orleans attending the meeting of the Farmers' Association, and being an authority on agricultural subjects can appreciate the farming industry practiced at this point. Mr. Brown states that Sanford looks more like a farming community than any other section he has seen in the south.

Members A. T. Rossetter, H. H. Chappell, L. A. Brumley and D. R. Brisson went to Jacksonville Monday night on a short trip, combining business and pleasure. These gentlemen will attend a conference, at the invitation of the railroad authorities, who with the growers and shippers of Florida fruits and produce of every kind are seeking to decide upon a standard size of crate, for everything in the fruit and vegetable line that is shipped out of Florida. With this matter finally and satisfactorily settled an annoying tangle in the affairs of Florida growers will have been straightened.

Mr. and Mrs. George Lovell were host and hostess at a very pleasant surprise party Monday evening complimentary to Mrs. Lovell's father, Mr. M. D. Gatchel. The guests were delightfully entertained with music, varied with several very pleasant games, which were very much enjoyed. Later in the evening delicious sandwiches, coffee and cake were served. Mr. and Mrs. Lovell's guests were Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Stewart, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Thornton, Mr. Hunter and Mr. Davis, who all united in wishing Mr. Gatchel many happy returns of the day, when bidding their pleasant host, hostess and Mr. Gatchel good night.

Della Clark in "Introduce Me" The attraction that Manager J. P. Karnatz offers at the Imperial on Nov. 22 will be Della Clarke's four act comedy, "Introduce Me," a play that abounds in witty lines and comic situations. Miss Clarke who is a natural comedienne of ability plays the dual role of the wife and Francis Everton, the novelist, and she is supported by a thoroughly adequate company of artists.

The play tells of the troubles of Mrs. George Nichols writing a successful book named "Susan" under the name of Francis Everton. The complications that beset her in concealing her identity from her author husband are many and amusing. George Nichols, the husband, who is a stern type of man, though he has a weakness for affluities, does not consider his wife capable of doing anything so wonderful as writing a book. This she does, and mutual friends have the husband dramatize his own wife's story, although he is totally ignorant of the identity of the writer except that she is Francis Everton, a woman whose writing he admires.

Miss Clarke wears numerous beautiful gowns which have caused much favorable comment. Among the people in her supporting company are Luella Smith, Hattie Neville, Harriet Kingston, Pauline Woodward, P. S. Witham, Gordon DeMaine, G. S. Payton and William Barber.

O. McLaughlin, Mrs. S. O. Chase, Mrs. B. F. Whitner, Jr., Mrs. B. W. Herndon, Mrs. F. L. Miller, Mrs. Samuel Puleston, Mrs. Robt. Newman, Mrs. A. P. Connelly.

Residence private line per month	2.00
Business party line per month	3.50

A special rate of four winter service of four months will be made as follows: Business phone, $12.00 in advance, residence phone, $10.00 in advance.

These rates represent an advance over the present ones of only 50 cents per month. This company has been furnishing telephone service at a lower rate than any company in Florida. On account of the necessary heavy expenditures of installing underground cables and making our system metallic this advance is absolutely necessary to meet our operating expenses.

Our subscribers are now receiving the use of nearly 600 phones and the rate charged in other cities of the size of Sanford is usually $4.00 for business and $2.50 for residences.

The new rate still gives a $1.50 rebate to those who will use a two party line.

Any subscriber desiring to change their service from private to party are requested to notify us at once so that arrangements can be made.

FIRE THIS MORNING

Blaze Costs Wight Family Loss and Much Inconvenience

What at first seemed to be a great loss this morning started in a blaze in the attic of the A. M. Thrasher house occupied by Henry Wight. The house is in one of the most prominent and thickly settled portions of the city at the corner of Third street and Park avenue. Just in the rear is the Bye-Lo Hotel and at first it seemed that part of the block would go up in the flames. The whole roof was blazing before the fire was discovered, and owing to the absence of Fire Chief Underwood who is confined to his home by illness, the boys were slow about taking hold and several minutes of most valuable time were lost, but when the boys did get the hose lines going they did valuable work, and what seemed the total destruction of the Wight home and several other houses was confined to the upper story of the single house.

At first glance it seemed that the Jones home next would surely be scorched but the entire absence of any wind and the metal shingles on the roof prevented the spread of the fire.

Mr. Wight will suffer the loss of most of his household effects that were in the upper stories and the damage by fire and water will be serious. The family will also be inconvenienced for some time until the home can be repaired.

GREEN FRUITERS' FINISH AT HAND.

MARKET DEPRESSION TO REACT IF GROWERS FIRM.

Temple Urges the Grower to Demand a Dollar a Box on the Tree
—Market O. K.

(From the Tampa Times.)

General Manager Temple of the Florida Citrus Exchange is firmly of the opinion that there will be a number of "busted" orange speculators in the state if the growers will now adopt the wise course of sitting tight and holding their fruit until it is worth something, which happy period Temple points out is bound to come when it is fully ripe.

Mr. Temple believes firmly that the rushing of green fruit to the northern markets as soon as the gates were down on October 1 was a scheme on the part of the small speculators to break the market. How successful it was is known to all.

Sees Scheme of Speculators.

The market once broken, the small speculators flooded the markets with letters offering fruit at $1.25 to $1.40 a box, November and December delivery. To make good on this they must buy the fruit at prices on the trees not to exceed sixty cents a box. At this very moment they are scouring the back counties of the fruit belt trying to do this, and filling the air with lies about how the exchange has broken down the market and intends to keep it down for the balance of the season.

Chase points out that the only way to handle these fellows is to refuse them fruit at less than a dollar a box on the trees. He firmly believes the prices will go up and that there will be a good market at good prices for all the good fruit the state will produce. There will be no market for green fruit and but little for poor fruit.

Predicted Green Fruiters' Action.

"During the closing days of September," said Temple this morning, "we predicted, in an interview in The Times, that we feared a number of short-sighted dealers who were without accurate market information would take advantage of the loopholes furnished them at the Gainesville convention, and begin shipping out large quantities of immature grapefruit. We knew that if they did do this they would demoralize the grapefruit markets of the country.

"We further stated that the indications pointed to the shipment of 500 cars of grapefruit by these little operators during the first week of the month. We said also that if they adopted that policy and continued the reckless and indiscriminate shipping of immature grapefruit we would see grapefruit sell as low as $1 before Christmas.

"In point of fact only about 200 cars were shipped during the first week in October, for which, in the language of Mr. Post, 'there was a season'. Practically all over the citrus belt of the state it rained almost the entire first week of October, so it was almost impossible to pick fruit and in spite of this about 200 cars were moved, which shows most of these 200 cars were picked and ready to move before the open season provided for by the Gainesville convention.

Grapefruit Sold at Forty Cents.

"Now it is a notorious fact that grapefruit did sell as low as forty cents a box, delivered in Philadelphia in October. If the movement of 200 cars produced this result, what would have been the result had weather conditions permitted unlimited shipments by the minor factors having such plans in view? We maintain that the position taken by us in that interview has been amply justified by the results.

"The unfortunate part of that interview, however, is that it has been so garbled and distorted by the same parties whom we hold responsible for the conditions we fear that they have led many growers to believe

"First—That the exchange caused the downfall of the markets.

"Second—That said downfall would continue.

In point of fact at the same time green grapefruit were selling in Philadelphia at forty cents a box, the exchange was marketing sweet, well colored grapefruit at $3 a box, f. o. b. packing house in Florida. The exchange has not taken a single order for grapefruit up to the present at less than $2 a box f. o. b. packing house, and has been steadily marketing sweet oranges at $2 per box f. o. b. Florida, in the face of a flood of quotations from small independent operators ranging from $1.25 to $1.35 per box f. o. b. Florida for November and December shipments, quotations guaranteed against decline.

Growers Should Hang On.

"The object of this interview is to assure the legitimate growers of the state of Florida that the market has not gone to pieces for good fruit and that there is not the slightest danger it will go to pieces for good fruit.

"Any grower having oranges on the trees who sells them for less than $1 a box on the trees will be making a foolish bargain, because they will be well worth that and more when they are really ripe and ready to ship. Any grower who allows the little fly by night dealer to talk him into the belief that market conditions, present or prospective, are such that he needs to sell his fruit to them at any such foolish prices as sixty or seventy-five cents a box on the tree is simply falling into the trap these little irresponsibles have cunningly laid for him by deliberately producing the present ruinous prices for green fruit which the irresponsibles have themselves brought about by shipping the green grapefruit with this very object in view.

"We have too much confidence in the common horse sense and shrewdness of the Florida orange grower to believe he will allow himself to be taken advantage of by any such transparent skin game as this.

"Your oranges and grapefruit are not costing you a cent hanging on the trees. Let them stay where they are until they are ripe, and when the ripe fruit begins moving to the great markets in ample quantities and the ripe fruit begins moving to the great markets in ample quantities and enters into competition with the sour early navels California is preparing to ship, you will realize the true benefit of the action of the Florida Citrus Exchange along these lines.

Will Ruin Some "Tin Horn."

"Moreover, you will then find a lot of little tin horn Florida orange speculators ruined, and out of the deal endeavoring to buy your oranges at ruinous prices which they will have to do to fill the orders they have already taken with the calm assurance that they can fool a "cracker" to give them his fruit for nothing to fill these orders on which they depend.

"The Florida citrus industry is all right; the market is all right for ripe fruit and will be all right. You produce the finest, juiciest, sweetest fruit in the world and you are entitled to a good price for it. You will get it if you ship when it is fit to ship.

"We will admit that the consuming trade at the other end won't take and won't pay for green, sour Florida oranges, and we will admit that the Florida Citrus Exchange is responsible for this condition, and we are proud of it. 'If this be treason, make the most of it.'"

Take the Stand, Governor

You are his Excellency, the Governor of the Great State of Florida, are you not?

"Yes."

You are supposed to use some judgment in conducting the affairs of the office, are you not?

"Yes, sir."

You were elected to serve the people of the state, to guard them from oppression and to do all in your power to aid them in improving their condition, were you not?

"That's what I promised to do if elected."

Did you use your judgment in sending troops to Jacksonville to aid and assist the Rockefeller-Morgan group in running their street cars with thugs who refused to take the cars out of the barn unless the militia was called out?

"I had no time to use any judgment, besides the law says I don't need to use judgment."

Did you not know that the men on strikes were natives of this state who objected to working for Rockefeller for 17 cents an hour and wanted to better themselves?

"I did."

Knowing that, did you do one solitary thing to help the boys?

"Oh, yes, I told 'em to go back to work and quit sticking by other "crackers" who had been fired for trying to organize them."

Did you know Rockefeller, Morgan, et al. who own and operate the street railways of Jacksonville had demanded and received of the city the right to have matters at issue between the company and the city arbitrated?

"Yes, I was informed."

Knowing that, did you demand that the corporation grant the demands of the citizens of Jacksonville and let their difficulties with the men be settled by arbitration?

"That was none of my business."

Why are you keeping the militia in Jacksonville, at an expense to the state of thousands of dollars per day?

"To protect property."

Whose property?

Rockefeller's property."

That'll do. Step down, Mr. Gilchrist. Contributed by a Jacksonville reader of the Enterprise.

Grapes Were Boozed

Arcadia, Nov. 18.—A certain news agent of the Atlantic Coast Line Railway, plying his trade between Tampa and Fort Myers, has been dealing in grapes rather extensively, and the expense of conducting the business has been so great that for some time will be required for him to declare satisfactory dividends.

This news "butch" on his trips from Tampa, passing here about 8:30 at night, got to selling grapes by the basket. So many baskets were passed out night after night and to parties who had never been suspected of taking large quantities of fruit to their children, that the officers grew suspicious. A man with a basket was taken in hand recently, and on investigation it was found that a bottle of "Tampa Best" was at the bottom. The booze was carefully covered by choice grapes. Next morning the fake "grape seller" was asked to stop off and see Mayor Freeman. His Honor thought $250 would be about right tax on the combination business of grapes and Tampa booze, and so he said "Two hundred and fifty and costs or twelve months on the county roads."

The news "butch" has decided that as a "Get-rich-quick" scheme booze in baskets is a failure and hereafter he will not load his grape baskets so heavily.

Saw the Warships

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Qyeman, Miss Louise Shepherd and Chas. Passmore of Louisville went over to Daytona Beach Sunday in the Overman auto to see the fleet of war ships that passed down the coast. They report the searchlight drill as being very beautiful and novel and the trip was greatly enjoyed by all.

PREPARING FOR POTATOES

Hastings Growers Will Plant in the Neighborhood of 8,000 Acres
Hastings, Fla., Nov. 15.—Because of favorable weather the last few weeks farmers are farther along with their work by several days than at a corresponding date last year. The last of the pea-vine hay crop has been gathered, the corn crop has been harvested, and farmers are now giving their attention to the preparation of ground for the spring crop of Irish potatoes. Approximately 8,000 acres will be planted to Irish potatoes this year, an increase of about 10 per cent over last year. The seed potato problem, an item of between 40,000 and 50,000 sacks, imported from Maine and New York mostly, is being given careful attention, and in the opinion of men closely in touch with the situation has been satisfactorily settled for this year, insuring growers good seed. Strict inspection following written contracts as to quality, is being maintained at both ends of the line.
The acreage planned in truck is considerably larger than last year. Lettuce, beans, turnips and onions are now being harvested in small amounts, to grow larger very soon. Cabbage will start to move in about ten days. Large plantings are being made to strawberries. — Produce News.

LET US SOLVE YOUR CLIPPER PROBLEM

By furnishing you with a sample pair of the famous "TUTTLE CLIPPERS," now in use by 75 per cent of the citrus growers in California, and by scores of the big fruit companies in Florida, who have bought heavily of them the past month.

We claim that the TUTTLE CLIPPER will pick all varieties of citrus fruits WITHOUT INJURY and that it renders clipper-cutting ABSOLUTELY IMPOSSIBLE.

It will do as perfect work in the dark as in the day light, and can be operated by a child as well as by the most experienced orange grower. Each pair is a marvel of mechanical expertness and comes in a separate box, with half a dozen extra springs and a slip of emery paper to keep the blades in good condition.

These are a few strong points in its favor. YOU WILL FIND OTHERS EVERY DAY THAT YOU USE IT.

Florida's Good Roads
Florida in 1909, when the last national statistics were taken, had 17,374 miles of roads, of which 1,762 miles were improved, or 9.97 per cent.
The average percentage of improved roads in the United States is 8.66.
Florida had more miles of improved roads in 1909 than these states: Arizona, Arkansas, Colorado, Delaware, Idaho, Kansas, Louisiana, Mississippi, Montana, Nebraska, Nevada, New Hampshire, New Mexico, North Dakota, Utah, Virginia, West Virginia, Wyoming.
As Florida's greatest good roads movement has been the past three years it is safe to say that at the present time Florida has more good roads than any of the states of tremendous populations like New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Illinois and California.

Further, Florida's sand roads average better the year around than the clay or stone roads of other states. They are easier to negotiate 365 days of the year than the roads of any other state. They are easier on tires than the rocky roads, easier on the machinery than the clay roads, more comfortable for the passengers than the adobe or other dirt roads.

It is stated by tire manufacturers that the motorist of Florida gets more miles out of his tires than a motorist in any other state. There are few ruts, but tire ruts caused by baked clay ruts. Tampa Tribune.

A brother of President-elect Woodrow Wilson's father is a resident of a voting precinct in Orange county and was for several years a resident of Orlando, having moved to his orange grove a year ago. He was at the polls bright and early to cast his vote.

NOTED EDUCATOR SUICIDES

Visitor to Winter Park Takes Life in Despondent Mood

Rev. George A. Gates, sixty-two years of age, a distinguished educator, committed suicide at his home at Winter Park between six and seven o'clock last night, by cutting his throat. He died immediately.

The act is supposed to have been the result of a temporary fit of insanity. Last winter Rev. Mr. Gates suffered both mentally and physically from injury in a railroad wreck, since which time he has had recurrent spells of aberration.

He has been in Winter Park about two weeks, coming south from Nashville, Tenn., his home with his wife. He has been a nervous sufferer ever since he has been here. Last week he is said to have made a remark to a resident of Winter Park that he would either kill himself or somebody else before many days.

The deceased was a Doctor of Divinity and had served with distinction as president of Grinnell College, of Pomona College, California, and of Fisk University, Nashville. He was also widely known as an author. He was a personal friend of Dr. Blackman, president of Rollins College. It was owing to his friendship with Dr. Blackman that he came to Winter Park.

Sanford's New Depot

Atlantic Coast Line trains have for years backed into the depot at Sanford, waiting at least a half hour on each trip between Jacksonville and Tampa. The company is now building a new passenger depot on the main line, about two miles from the postoffice at Sanford. The Sanford people are well pleased with the change. If DeLand's passenger station were on the main line on a direct avenue leading to DeLand, the DeLand station would be about four blocks farther away from DeLand than Sanford's new station is from Sanford. With the auto four to eight blocks count for nothing, and practically everybody today travels to and from the station in an auto. Let's build the boulevard due west and put DeLand on the main line. President of Produce Company Writes Interesting Letter About The Auction Project

Your editorial in the issue of Nov. 15th on the Sanford Market is very timely. It would be worth everything to the Sanford farmers to bring the market for their goods to Sanford. But I do not believe it will be accomplished except by a well nigh unanimous stand on the part of the growers. There are several commission houses with excellent buyers now represented in Sanford. Do they have vision and grit to undertake the buying of the whole marketable produce of the whole Delta at such prices as the market will warrant and the farmers will find acceptable? It would be impossible for them to do it if any large amount of the produce was shipped upon consignment. If those firms, which become more thoroughly identified with the Florida interest, would take up the matter for f. o. b. sales and become the distributors throughout the whole country for the Sanford produce, they could make handsome returns and the farmers would be sure of a paying price for every hamper which went beyond Sanford. But then the farmers would have to get together. A certain amount of agreement is essential to prevent heavy losses by the majority of the growers. It is not enough that the very early and the very late produce should bring a fair profit. The great bulk of the labor, expenditure and interest is in the main movement of the crop. Unless a fair return is received even at the height of the season, the business can never be reasonably profitable to the majority of the growers, and Sanford cannot have a general prosperity so long as a considerable portion of the people receive no adequate return for their labor, but are simply existing until whatever resources they may have had are lost, and they are compelled to fall out. The lowest price at which any hamper leaves Sanford should bring a reasonable profit to the grower. It is impossible to grow more truck at Sanford during the winter season than the great cities of the nation, North and South, would be glad to consume if well distributed and at prices which would pay the grower, the freight, and the middleman fair returns. As the business is now organized, no one takes any serious risk except the grower, and even under favorable circumstances the returns are not enough to pay him for the risk which he continually carries.
It will very gradually increase the importance of Sanford as a business center, it will bring money to our merchants and all our enterprisers, if the market for our produce can be brought to Sanford, it will bring a valuable class of new residents for a considerable portion of the winter. Why do not the Merchants Association, The Chamber of Commerce and the Growers Association take up this problem for vigorous, united effort. It may not be too late to accomplish something in this direction this year. Certainly perfected arrangements could be secured for the next season.

A free municipal market or warehouse should be provided as the common meeting ground for sellers and buyers, and a sort of exchange building convenient to the points of shipment. It would pay Sanford to spend the small sum necessary for such a structure. And if the city should not feel justified in taking it up, I believe the organizations, to which reference has been made, would have no difficulty whatever in selling sufficient stock at $10 or $25 a share, or even $100, a share, to put up an exchange building, the Sanford Produce Exchange, and receive a small margin on the business conducted. I believe, Mr. Editor, you are on the right track and for one I shall be glad to take shares if private enterprise shall be necessary for the construction of suitable warehouse and loading platform for the Sanford Produce Exchange. It ought to be natural ground not belonging to any particular transportation Co., but every line should have easy access to it. Telegraphic Communications Boiled Down For the Benefit of Busy Herald Readers

Railroad, etc., can be easily constructed. I think there are enough men of vision, readers of your paper, who can see the desirability of such a produce exchange. I am sure there is enough money to finance this in case the city should hesitate.

I have not written this letter in form for publication. You are welcome to use any of the matter, which, in your judgment, may be helpful to the common interests of your city. Since you published my former communication, calling upon the growers to get together for f. o. b. sales, I have been pondering the subject and I believe that we want to do these two things:

1. Secure if possible the harmonious action of the growers and of the important commission houses now so thoroughly identified with the trade for a Sanford Produce Exchange.

2. We want to give this Exchange a habitation as well as a name, something such as will be adequate to the present demands and to the promise of a greater future for the Queen city of Florida.

I am, with best wishes,
Very truly yours,

FREIGHT BOAT BURNS

Fine Vessel Burns to Water's Edge at Coast Line Slip

An alarm of fire brought the people out last night about nine o'clock and the large blaze on the lake shore directed the Fire Department to the Coast Line slip just beyond the passenger depot. On account of the trestle and the distance from the fire plug the Fire Department could be of no avail and the boat burned to the water's edge.

The boat was the Selma S., owned and manned by Capt. J. W. Berry, formerly of Green Cove Springs. Capt. Berry placed the Selma S. in the river trade some time ago and had been very busy hauling oranges from Geneva to Sanford for several weeks. A cargo of oranges for Chase & Co., had just been discharged yesterday and the crew had left the boat at her moorings at the A. C. L. slip. There was no fire of any kind on the boat and as it was propelled by gasoline motive power the origin of the fire will always remain a mystery. The boat was only partially insured and the loss of the freighter at the height of the season is a very serious one and falls heavy upon Capt. Berry.

About one hundred feet of the A. C. L. wharf was consumed before the flames were checked.

About Trolley Line

According to advices from Sanford, they expect to have dirt flying in the opening of work on a trolley line from that city to Winter Park within the next sixty days. There has been any number of surveys and much talk of electric lines to and from Sanford and reaching out to various nearby cities and towns, but the recent organization of a company for a line to Winter Park appears to be the first that will really get to work. Prominent men of Sanford and Winter Park are interested and they claim that the greater part of the right of way has been secured and other preliminary work well advanced.—Times-Union.

Cablegrams received in San Francisco from China announce that the public is preparing to go to war with Russia for possessions of Mongolia. The big Chinese secret societies which fostered the revolution have been exchanging dispatches with President Yuan Shi Kai. The young China association has opened subscription lists and lecturers have spoken at every Chinatown corner explaining the encroachments of the Czar's troops in the ancient Chinese territory. Dispatches have been received here by Yow Gook Har, secretary to Fung Chi You, secretary of state of Yuan Shi Kai's cabinet to the effect that an army of 60,000 has been mobilized at Peking and that General Wong Hing, hero of the revolution has been appointed its leader. According to a report General Wong Hing has ordered his army north to Mongolia with instructions to establish military rule and drive Russian soldiers out.

Eight trainmen were killed and three badly injured near Norlina, N. C., on Tuesday when Seaboard Air Line through passenger trains running between New York and Jacksonville, Fla., collided head on. Both locomotives and three passenger coaches were demolished. Further deaths and injuries were prevented by the fact that there were no passengers in the coaches demolished.

The change in administration is not expected to alter materially the plans of those persons who are interested in the improvement of the rivers and harbors of the United States. After the present administration is ended progressive citizens in all the states will look to a Democratic administration to carry on the work of the river, harbor and canal improvement now under way on the ground that the platform of the Democrats is even stronger than the platforms of other parties with respect to this very vital question.
