If you're not using Zip Codeyou're not getting your nickel's worth

When you plunk down a nickel for a stamp, you should get the world's most efficient postal service in return. But-if you haven't added the Zip Code to the mailing address, you may not get all you are paying for. Because Zip Code makes it possible for postal workers to sort mail faster and deliver by more direct routes. With Zip, they will use new electronic machines that "read" Zip numbers and sort mail fifteen times faster than was possible before!

That is why Zip Code is now the most important part of any mailing o'dress. Always use it on every letter you write. Include your own Zip in your return address, too. That makes it easy for others to Zip their mail to you. When you don't know a Zip Code, simply call your post office or look it up in their Zip Code Directory, Local Zip Codes can be found on the Zip Map in the business pages of your phone book. It is so easy to use Zip Code. And when you do-you know you a

O.B.C. — A Big Joke Something ought to be done about that Orange Belt Con-

Some of the presently enrolled schools are too weak for the competition and there are some others who are not members and should be. Like maybe our own Seminole High, for It's not the school's fault that they're not in it. As everyone knows (That's a joke for a lead cause I didn't know and was surprised)-they've been trying to get into the conference but are voted down.

Seems there are two or three schools who keep dropping the black ball into the balloting. Kissimmee is one and they're honest about it-'You're too big and good for us." But one of the other school's reasoning, well, you just wouldn't believe it. How about Seminole moving up to the Metro? No deal! While Seminole is Class A, all of the others are AA due to the total number of students enrolled. And besides, once the Navy moves out, Seminole will lose another 20 per cent from their enrollment, so, they're Class A alright, but are denied the right to compete on an equal basis. conference. There are other schools in a similar position to Seminole's, like Seabreeze, New Smyrna, Titusville, plus a All records are only made to be broken. Maris did it a couple seasons back with a home barrage. And something happened to the lustre of the Babe's name, I mean, as a kid all I ever heard was baseball and Ruth Mays is averaging 37 per year and he's only (did I say

Students To Handle Affairs Next Week

Sixteen outstanding students from Seminole High School next week will be working with city and county officials in the first "Youth Government Week" ever to be conducted in Seminole County under sponsorship of the Sanford-Seminole Jaycees. Thomas Freeman Jr. is serving as chairman-

Students and the positions they will be filling are Rick Goerss, W. R. Beasley, Gray Wrisley, Pat Marazita and Chris Wilson, county commission; Frank Whigham, Jay Stokes, Marilinette Welch, Karen Thornall and Ken Martin, city commission; Lamar Oxford, county prosecuting attorney; Cindy Wilson, tax assessor; Steve Leach, county judge, and Sue Nichols, clerk of circuit court.

Brenda Carter will be editor of The Sanford

City Manager Warren Knowles and Deputy County Clerk Ashby Jones will meet Monday morning with the youths for indoctrination of staff type activities of the city and county Monday night, the city commission members will meet with their youthful counterparts, while the county commissioners will meet Tuesday with their student group.

County officers are to meet Thursday afternoon with those filling their positions and editors of the newspapers will meet with their replacements upon

Purpose of the event, Freeman states, is to "communicate to young people of the community the problems and responsibilities of local government. By participating in conferences with elected representatives, it is hoped they will get better understanding of the functions of these governmental bodies." Response and cooperation of the city, county, and school officials have been outstanding. Freeman re ports. "Due to this fact, Jaycees expect to continue the observation on an annual basis and probably wil enlarge the participation next year," he said.
