Teen Center To Be Run By Teens

Lake Mary Offers Alternative To Hangin' Out

By Kathy Tyrity
Herald Staff Writer

If you're tired of seeing local teenagers "hangin' out" at the convenience stores and shopping plazas, you're not alone. The kids are tired of it, too. And in Lake Mary, they're doing something about it.

The Lake Mary City Commission has approved expansion of the Parks & Recreation summer program to include a student-run "Teen Center" with entertainment every Saturday night in the Fire Hall.

"We're very excited about this," said primary organizer Jim Orioles. "There are just darn few places where kids could do anything on their own without having someone to haul them around."

He was joined in his enthusiasm by co-organizer Ed Suggs, who is well known around Lake Mary for his years of coaching Seminole Pony Baseball.

"Our kids are really good," he said. "I've never had a lick of trouble from any of them. But all they could do was hang around the street corners."

Both the organizers have teenage children of their own and know what it's like to try to keep them entertained.

The new Teen Center will entail blocking off a portion of the road by the Fire Hall at First and Wilbur so the kids can skateboard in the lighted area from about 7:30 p.m. to 11 p.m. Area merchants and residents have donated refreshments (pizza and soft drinks) for the first trial run parties already held, and have also raised over $1,000 to pay for games and a stereo system.

Trying to keep from requesting city funds, Orioles said the group would rather raise their own money and remain "non-political." The firemen are donating utilities, use of the hall and

Sanford May Drop Suit Over Ramps

By Karen Talley
Herald Staff Writer

A proposal from Sanford Commissioner John Mercer may lead to the city's dropping a suit it filed to recover the $79,000 it spent last year to repair a boat ramp at the Lake Monroe marina.

Commissioners have agreed to discuss the matter at an upcoming work session.

The suit contends damages Sanford repaired last year were caused by a cruise ship that undermined the ramp's foundation.

Mercer, however, said he feels city may have reduced its chances of winning the suit following efforts this summer to repair similar damages it said were caused by small power boats that use the ramp.

"If they (the smaller boats) did it this time, they did it last time, not the large boat," Mercer said after Monday's commission meeting.

The suit was brought in April 1985, against Chuck Volk, who operates the Monroe Harbour Marina through city lease, and the Starline Cruise Corp., which subleased dockage area from Volk for its defunct Star of Sanford cruise ship.

The suit contends turbulence from the 120-foot boat's propeller caused extensive damage to a nearby boat launch ramp, necessitating the $79,000 in repairs last year.

In proposing that commissioners consider dropping the action, Mercer pointed to ramp damage the city had repaired this summer. This damage was attributed by the city to turbulence created by the "power loading" of small boats onto trailers.

City Engineering and Planning Director Bill Simmons said today, although he came on staff after the earlier $79,000 repair effort was under way, from an engineering standpoint, although "any power boat is going to move dirt around," the Star's size and the frequency it was used should be considered when assessing blame for the 1985 damages.

Volk said he plans to attend the commission work session and is hopeful it will lead to dismissal of the payment claim. Volk added, however, he plans to pursue his legal complaint against the Starline Cruise Corp. for the approximately $20,000 in damage he contends the Star caused the dock slip and nearby pilings. Volk said he has already spent $18,000 repairing these damages.

The Star moved from the marina to the Port of Sanford soon after the city filed suit and has since discontinued operation. The Starline Cruise Co. is headquartered in Wisconsin.

The marina berth held by the Star is now occupied by the Rivership Romance cruise ship.

House Passes Tax Package

WASHINGTON (UPI) — An easy win for tax reform in the House has Americans on the brink of getting lower rates and fewer breaks, but a nagging question remains: Will taxpayers find the landmark bill a help or a handicap.

By an extremely comfortable 292-136 margin, the House passed a historic overhaul Thursday of the nation's twisted tax laws and sent the bill to the Senate. Senate Republican leader Robert Dole of Kansas said he would try to begin action today.

President Reagan, the driving force behind tax reform, is certain to sign the measure if it reaches his desk. A White House statement welcomed the House vote and boasted that the nation was "one step away ... from enacting the president's No. 1 priority — a tax system that will promote economic growth" and bring "fairness and equity" to the tax code.

But even though the chief Senate sponsor of the bill, Finance Committee Chairman Bob Packwood, R-Ore., predicted it would pass the 100-member Senate with 70 to 85 votes, there still are nagging questions in Congress about whether the sweeping legislation is really good for America.

In addition to limiting deductions and cutting tax rates to their lowest level in about 50 years, the bill would take about 6 million working poor off the tax rolls and, in the next five years, raise taxes on businesses by about $120 billion while lowering taxes on individuals by a similar amount.

Sponsors argued Thursday that by curbing tax breaks, instituting a strong minimum tax for the wealthy and corporations and shutting down tax shelters, the plan would finally bring equity to a tax code that has become top-heavy with loopholes and has allowed too many people and businesses to avoid paying their fair share.

But opponents contended the bill, written in haste last month by House and Senate negotiators, was far from fair, would do little to simplify the tax system and could spark an economic upheaval. While the measure would cut taxes for most of the rich and poor, it would boost levies for about 15 million lower- and middle-income Americans, the foes argued.

Several also complained that, in an effort to win needed support, sponsors loaded the bill with about $11 billion in special tax breaks for hundreds of lawmakers' favorite projects and companies.

But Rep. Dan Rostenkowski, D-Ill., chairman of the Ways and Means Committee and a key architect of the massive bill, said it was a "response to a moment in history" when the nation was losing faith in its tax code.

In the most emotional moment of the more than three-hour debate, retiring House Speaker Thomas O'Neill, D-Mass., made a rare floor speech in favor of the bill, calling it "the decision of a political lifetime" and a chance to accomplish something that had escaped Congress for years.

"We have struggled too long to waver now. We have accomplished too much to give up now. We have struggled too

Kidnapped In West Beirut

Reporter Makes 'Miracle' Escape

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — A kidnapped British journalist escaped as he was being taken through the Shiite Moslem southern suburbs of west Beirut today.

David Hirst, 50, the correspondent of London's Guardian newspaper, was kidnapped for 15 minutes while he was in a cab passing the Mreijeh road, 300 yards from the airport highway, south of Beirut.

Hirst, who was crossing at 6:30 a.m. into Christian east Beirut, said he was escorted by three bodyguards following in another car when his cab had a flat tire, forcing them to stop in the middle of the densely populated Shiite neighborhood.

While Hirst's bodyguards went to fix the flat tire, three unidentified gunmen in a white BMW stopped and asked the driver about the identity of his passenger.

The driver, identified only as Samir, said the gunmen told him they belonged to a Moslem party and wanted to interrogate him. "I tried to stop them but they warned me not to interfere," Samir said.

"Within seconds they dragged me out of the car, forced me into the back seat of the car, kept my head bent down and drove for at least 10 minutes in the area before stopping near a concrete house," Hirst said when he returned to Beirut.

Hirst said he was struggling all the time in the car, shouting and screaming to draw attention for any help, while one of the gunmen kept saying in half Arabic English, "I will kill you, I will kill you."

"One of the gunmen was bearded and all three of them were dressed in civilian clothes. They ... looked like hooligans," said Hirst, who was slightly wounded.

Hirst said the car stopped in a deserted area in the Moslem southern suburbs and he was asked to get out of the car.

"At this stage I knew what was waiting for me, I started shouting ... then opened the door of the car, fell on the ground and ran away," Hirst said.

"My escape took my abductors by

New Voters Must Register By Oct. 4 To Be Eligible For November Election

Seminole County residents may register to vote through Oct. 4 and be eligible to vote in the Nov. 3 general election, county elections officials said.

Registration may be completed at any city hall in the county, except Sanford, where registration is at the Supervisor of Elections office on the second floor of the County Services Building, 1101 East First Street, Sanford.

Registration hours at the County

Services Building are from 8 a.m. until 5 p.m. Monday through Saturday.

The elections branch office at State Road 434 and Sand Lake Road is also open Monday through Saturday from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m., but is closed weekdays from 1 p.m. to 2 p.m.

Information on registering to vote or changing registration address may be obtained by calling the elections office at 321-1130.

Special Triathlon Set For Sunday

Cycling, hiking and foot-racing await contestants in the Seminole County Water Festival Triathlon slated for Sunday morning at the Lake Monroe marina in Sanford.

The festival is being sponsored by the Greater Seminole County Chamber of Commerce in cooperation with the Greater Sanford Chamber.

Planning is for 300 competitors in the triathlon, which begins at 8 a.m.

The event is designed to "show off the marina and Sanford," to contestants as well as spectators, according to Ed Welch, co-owner of the Lake Monroe Holiday Inn and head of the Sanford chamber's tourism committee.

Welch envisions jet-ski races becoming part of subsequent Water Festivals.

"We're hoping to hold the festival every year around this time and want to add more water-oriented contests, like the jet-skiing, and other offerings like parasailing," Welch said.

The festival has been endorsed by Sanford Mayor Betty Smith and.

Developer Gets City Help With Paving

Lake Mary developer Larry Dale will get all he bargained for — a paved road to his development — thanks to special action of the Lake Mary City Commission Thursday night.

Working quickly to appropriate the money before the fiscal year is up next Tuesday, the commission awarded a bid for paving and drainage of a new 24-foot-wide Evansdale Road to Briar Construction of Seminole County. The contract is to be for $287,367, and of that, Dale's company, D&K Development, will pay $191,322. It was an offer Dale made recently and the city felt obliged to accept, within the present fiscal year.

Dale has a project called Cardinal Oaks Cove with more than 100 lots off the east end of Evansdale Road.

Another paving project is tied to the Evansdale resurfacing because of an old land deal. That means the short street of Sun Rise Point, which fingers off of Evansdale, will also be paved. The commission decided to include Sunrise Point resurfacing and drainage (at the same per-unit price, with the same construction company) not to exceed $10,000.

The reason: at one time Heidrich Land Co. owned all of the Evansdale Road-Sun Rise Point lots and committed to the lot buyers that at the time the city paved Evansdale Road they would pay for paving Sun Rise Point as long as it was negotiated at the same price as the Evansdale paving. But the statute of limitations on the deal may have run out and lawyers are now mulling that over. Anyway, Lake Mary commissioners feel they will win and Heidrich will have to pay the $10,000 for Sun Rise Point resurfacing.

If Heidrich is allowed not to pay, the commissioners decided the full responsibility for the $10,000 would fall on the three lot owners on Sun Rise Point. Residents in that area are fighting.

Resident Al Whitman of 277 Sun Rise Point complained because the city first told him the city code called for a much more expensive 24-foot-wide paving of Sun Rise Point with swales on both sides.

"This could result in a possible bill to each of us of $4,600," he said. He said in the six and a half years he's lived there he's never passed another car on the little road.

"I'm asking you to look at the area and see what can be worked out," said Whitman. "Our entire front yard will become a disaster even with a 16-foot

Swearing In Ceremonies Today For Rehnquist, Scalia

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Justice William Rehnquist becomes the nation's 16th chief justice and Judge Antonin Scalia takes his place as an associate justice in two ceremonies today at the White House and the Supreme Court.

The constitutional oath, the first of two required pledges, was to be administered by retiring Chief Justice Warren Burger at the White House with President Reagan, members of his Cabinet and the other justices in attendance.

Rehnquist, who turns 62 next week, and Scalia, 50, then were to receive the judicial oath from Burger at an afternoon public ceremony in the same courtroom where Rehnquist was installed as an associate justice in 1972.

Rehnquist would be the second chief justice to take an oath at the White House. The first was Chief Justice Frederick Moore Vinson in 1946.

Sanctions Veto Override Likely

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan is locked into a foreign policy showdown with Congress over new sanctions against South Africa, a dispute opponents say he stands little chance of winning.

Reagan opposes congressional economic sanctions that he says will only harden resistance in Pretoria and undercut U.S. influence to end its racial segregation policy of apartheid and has pledged to veto the bill today.

The Democratic-controlled House is expected to override the veto next week. In the Senate, where Republicans are in command 53-47, Reagan has to muster enough votes to overcome the two-thirds majority needed to override the veto.

Republican and Democratic sources said the president has no more than 20 votes.

Nurse Acquitted Of 6 Murders

ALBANY, Ga. (UPI) — A nurse described by prosecutors as "the murderer of the century" was acquitted of fatally drugging six patients and found guilty but mentally ill on one count of aggravated assault.

"I hope every juror is willing to go into intensive care with (Terri) Rachals as their nurse," an outraged District Attorney Hobart Hind said Thursday night before storming out of the courtroom.

Rachals, 25, who was accused of injecting patients with lethal doses of potassium chloride, slumped in her chair and wept as the jury delivered innocent verdicts on six murder charges and 19 counts of aggravated assault.

Rachals was convicted of the aggravated assault of an elderly patient who died in February. She faces a sentence of up to 20 years in prison for the conviction. Judge Asa Kelly said he will schedule sentencing next week.

Fears Vandals, Kills Paperboy

INDIANAPOLIS (UPI) — An elderly man charged with the shotgun slaying of a paperboy he mistook for a vandal told police he was harassed by teenagers, and neighbors said they had feared he might "take the matter into his own hands."

Nokomis Woodrow Toombs, 74, who said he had been keeping an all-night vigil against menacing youth gangs, fired a shotgun blast through his living room window before dawn Thursday, killing honor student Scott "Patrick" Lawson, 16.

Toombs, charged with murder and jailed without bond today, told police he did not realize the teenager at his door was a carrier for The Indianapolis Star.

Lawson was accompanied by his mother on his deliveries, and she was waiting in a parked van when he was shot, police detective Norman Matthews said.

Reputed Mob Boss' Trial Begins

NEW YORK (UPI) — The racketeering trial of reputed mob boss John Gotti began with prosecutors portraying him as a man who killed "to climb the ladder of success" and a defense attorney tossing a copy of the indictment into a trash can.

Gotti, 45, is believed to be the boss of the Gambino organized crime family, the nation's largest mob. The leaders of three of New York's four other crime families also are now on trial in a separate federal racketeering case.

35 Million Americans Without Health Insurance

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Almost 35 million Americans are exposed to potentially huge medical bills because they have no health insurance, and the situation is getting worse as the U.S. industrial base erodes, a new report concludes.

The study issued Tuesday by the non-profit Employee Benefit Research Institute said that in 1983 and 1984, in the wake of economic recession, the number of Americans without health insurance grew by nearly 15 percent.

In 1982, it said, 30.3 million people under the age of 65 had no health insurance coverage — and the figure had grown to 34.7 million people in 1984.

"Four out of five Americans under the age of 65 (still) have some form of public or private health insurance," the report said, but the number without coverage is growing because of the decline of industries most likely to offer group plans.

"The major factor is the shift in employment ... from industries and firm sizes that typically offer health coverage toward those less likely to offer coverage," the report said. It noted, for example, the troubled mining, wholesale trade and manufacturing industries are more likely to offer group health insurance — but employment has dropped more than 13 percent in the mining industry.

Meanwhile, employment has grown in industries "less likely to offer coverage — repair and construction, for example, in which employment grew 16.1 percent and 13.7 percent, respectively."

The report also showed that: The people most likely to have health insurance coverage are full-time workers in larger companies who earn at least $20,000 annually and are over age 25.

Smaller companies, providing more than half of recent new job opportunities, appear more reluctant to establish health plans for their employees.

Employer spending for group health insurance has increased steadily as a percentage of wages and salaries. Employer spending rose from 1.2 percent of wages and salaries in 1960 to 5.3 percent in 1984.

Odor Forces Jet Landing

DENVER (UPI) — A United Airlines jet made an unscheduled stop on a flight from Las Vegas, Nev., to Chicago because the odor of an exhumed body in the cargo hold wafted into the cabin and nauseated 10 passengers.

Three passengers were taken to St. Joseph Hospital for treatment of nausea Wednesday night and released. Another seven passengers were treated for nausea at Stapleton International Airport.

Denver police said the exhumed body was in a casket in the cargo section of Flight 686 and one of the seals apparently broke. The odor from the casket leaked into the airplane's ventilation system, making some of the 197 passengers ill.

Crews repaired the seal on the casket, fumigated the airplane and it was able to resume its flight with the remaining passengers, United spokesman Joe Hopkins said. The ill passengers stayed in Denver overnight.

School Board Signs Sex Discrimination Settlement

By Kathy Tyrity
Herald Staff Writer

A long-fought court battle to settle a female-teachers' pay discrimination suit in Seminole County has concluded with all parties agreeing on $330,000 payment to 20 women teachers.

The agreement came at a Wednesday afternoon School Board meeting where the entire board reconciled that board Chairman Nancy Warren would sign away the money on the legal forms, also endorsed by all complaining teachers. The matter will now go to a district court judge for final order to pay.

The figure represents back pay and damages to the team of teachers who taught vocational subjects. They successfully claimed they were denied pay increases based on experience outside the classroom. Whereas male teachers with similar experience were given pay raises, the ladies claimed they were not.

According to the agreement, the School Board will pay the women up to $23,000 each by Oct. 31, and the women will drop any further legal actions. In addition, the women's lawyers, Chamblee & Miles, will receive $85,000 within two weeks.

The verdict in favor of the women was issued last May 21 by a jury, but it has taken until this time to decide who gets how much. (Only $117,000 of the sum was asked in back wages, and the rest damages, court costs, etc.)

The women and their settlement amounts were as follows:

- Mary Atwill, $10,402;
- Peggy Aycock, $20,950;
- Deborah Billington, $13,074;
- Loretta F. Butcher, $9,251
- Susan Capetta, $11,244;
- Mary Chavers, $8,971;
- Janice Daniels, $9,421;
- Barbara Deac, $18,452;
- Charlotte Drew, $12,208;
- Carol McBroom, $9,703;
- Minnie Delores Myles, $16,751;
- Gay Parker, $23,304;
- Sylvia Pond, $18,884;
- Ella Robinson, $12,548;
- Cathy Salley, $13,536;
- Harriet Simmons, $2,895;
- Victoria Smith, $5,347;

- Ruth Williams, $10,402;
- Carolyn Wolf, $17,829; and
- Patricia Munsey, $2,018.

The suit covered a period of discrimination between 1982 and this year. For the School Board's part, they argued unsuccessfully that male teachers were required by the state to have outside teaching experience, whereas the female teachers needed only a degree to be certified, and so the men should be paid more.

Sheriff's Dept. Sued In Jail Rape By Women

Rape while in the Seminole County jail was the claim made Thursday in a suit filed by an Altamonte Springs woman against the sheriff's department.

The woman, then 26-weeks pregnant, said the assailants were three women in the jail who violated her with a ball-point pen while holding a scraped-to-a-point toothbrush against her stomach.

Orlando attorney Michael O'Brian filed the suit on behalf of the woman who is seeking unspecified damages in excess of $5,000. The women are not named in the suit and were not charged because the State Attorney's Office determined there wasn't enough evidence to obtain a conviction and the woman, because of previous convictions, was in a position to have her credibility questioned.

The suit was filed against the county because the woman, 27, reportedly told correction officers twice that she was in danger, O'Brian said.

The woman was jailed on a charge of obtaining property by worthless check and subsequently has been sentenced.

"It was a particularly heinous rape. It was real bad. They were holding her down," said O'Brian referring to a police report on the incident.

The alleged attack occurred Feb. 27, around 9:30 p.m. A forearm was placed against the woman's throat and the sharpened toothbrush held against her stomach. Her assailants allegedly threatened to kill the fetus if she did not cooperate. She said the woman violated her with the pen and forced her to perform a sexual act, again under the threat of killing the fetus. The assault reportedly lasted for five minutes and occurred at her bunk.

The woman did not report the alleged assault for a week because she was afraid of the assailants, she said.

The woman was hospitalized at Central Florida Regional Hospital in Sanford after she told jail medical workers she was bleeding. A medical report does indicate she was traumatized. O'Brian said.

The woman gave birth to a son July 27 and tests are being conducted to determine if he was affected by the incident.

The incident is believed to be the first female-to-female sexual assault reported at the jail.

Daniloff Deal In Works?

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — Secretary of State George Shultz and Soviet Foreign Minister Eduard Shevardnadze, running out of time to save a superpower summit, have met again to discuss the fate of American newsmen Nicholas Daniloff.

Amid conflicting signals on whether an agreement was near, the two men held their third meeting of the week Thursday night at the American U.N. mission.

"The Daniloff issue was discussed, and the issue is still not resolved," State Department spokesman Bernard Kalb said after the 1 hour and 45-minute surprise meeting.

Shultz and Shevardnadze made no comment after the meeting and left immediately.

The meeting began just 30 minutes after Shultz told a news conference he expected to see Shevardnadze "at some point" but declined to say when.

Soviet Foreign Ministry spokesman Gennadi Gerasimov suggested earlier that Daniloff, a U.S. News & World Report correspondent detained in Moscow since Aug. 30, might not go on trial for espionage after all.

"Simply, we do not want to aggravate our relations even more. That's why we are ready maybe to discuss the possibility of some other kind of solution," he told reporters. Daniloff, he said, "can take, if the solution is found, the next plane home."

Gerasimov cited "a kind of deadline" of Tuesday when Shevardnadze leaves for Canada.

Shultz was leaving for Washington early today and returning Sunday night, leaving time for more meetings with Shevardnadze while both men attend the U.N. General Assembly.

Shultz said there had been a "genuine effort on both sides"

WEATHER

LOCAL REPORT: Thursday's high was 89 degrees and the 8 a.m. reading today at the University of Florida Agriculture Research and Education Center, Sanford, was 70 degrees. No rain was recorded. Mostly clear today with high near 90.

NATIONAL REPORT: Floods damaged homes and covered roads today in areas of Michigan where flooding earlier this month caused more than $300 million in damage, while storms in the West buried a Utah ski resort under 40 inches of snow. Record rain fell Thursday along the West Coast in Los Angeles, San Diego and Portland, Ore. Snow in the mountains prompted travelers advisories in the Oregon Cascades, the Colorado Rockies and California's northern Sierra Nevada. Utah's Snowbird ski resort reported 40 inches of snow at the 11,000-foot level. Flash flood watches were posted today in 11 counties in central Michigan. More than 5 inches of rain in three hours soaked southwestern Michigan late Thursday, pushing the Black River out of its banks in Van Buren County. "About 50 to 70 homes in South Haven Township and the city of South Haven have been damaged," said county sheriff's deputy Joe

McDonnell. He said there had been no evacuations, but the county board of commissioners "has asked Gov. James J. Blanchard to declare a state of disaster." One rain-related death was reported in South Haven Thursday. Officials said a 56-year-old man was overcome by carbon monoxide spewed by a gas-powered pump he was using to remove water from his flooded basement. "We also had to rescue one man," said Dion LeMieux, South Haven fire chief. "Apparently water washed the guy's car in the ditch. He got out of his car and was standing on top of it. All of a sudden a gush of water came along and carried his car away. He was holding on to a tree limb for two to three hours before we got him down." Official said they were monitoring the Bredsville Dam on the Black River. "At this point it's holding," said state trooper Paul Hogan. "There's no indication of it bursting, but there is a possibility. There is about 2 feet of standing water on most secondary roads. No major roads are closed." Floods earlier this month in central and southern Michigan caused more than $320 million in damage. Rain Thursday reached from Montana to the Great Lakes, where flooded roads were reported in Illinois and Wisconsin, the National Weather Service said.

Rape Charged In Sex For Cocaine Demand

A 21-year-old Sanford woman reported to Seminole County sheriff's deputies she was raped by a man in his room at the McAllister Motel at about 6 a.m. Thursday after he demanded sex as payment for $30 worth of cocaine he had reportedly bought for her earlier.

The woman said she and other people had been "partying" through the night at the motel on Southwest Road near Sanford and she had asked the man if she could stay in his room until dawn and then she would walk home. He agreed and they talked for several hours until he demanded sex, a sheriff's report said.

The woman refused the demand, which the man reportedly said would be payment for $30 worth of cocaine he had reportedly given her. When she tried to leave he blocked the door and pushed her onto a bed and raped her, the report said.

The woman said she struggled and tried to talk the man out of assaulting her, but she alleged he said, "I won't be going to jail for raping you, but I will go to jail for kicking your..." the report said.

After the attack the man threatened her if she called police. She wants to file charges, the report said, and the investigation continued.

TIE LIFT ROBBER

A robber who entered the Club Juana, 6150 U.S. Highway 17-92, Casselberry, at about 7:40 p.m. Wednesday approached the door man and demanded cash. He grabbed the doorman and another man by their neckties, lifting and choking them, causing them to fear for their lives, a police report said.

Witnesses stepped in. One jumped onto the suspect and others joined in a struggle to subdue the man, while a bartender called Casselberry police to the scene, the report said.

Police arrived and arrested a man who was being held on the floor by witnesses.

Ronald Lee Pratt, 32, of 355 Eversdale Road, Lake Mary, who weighs 205 pounds and is 6-feet, 4-inches tall, has been charged with strong arm robbery. He was arrested at 6:30 p.m. and was being held in lieu of $8,000 bond.

BICYCLED TO JAIL

Seminole County sheriff's Sgt. Terry Huffman reported he was suspicious of a bicyclist he spotted riding near Circus

Action Reports

Circus, U.S. Highway 17-92, Fern Park, at about 1:30 a.m. Thursday.

Huffman lost sight of the man, but within a few minutes Lt. Donald Eslinger, spotted the man again in front of the Club Juana, just north of Circus Circus, on U.S. Highway 17-92.

Huffman and Eslinger got out of their car on Lakeview Drive and watched for the suspect. They found a bicycle hidden behind a dumpster and were looking for the suspect when Huffman spotted the bicyclist crouched in the backseat of a 1974 Ford. The man was leaning forward between the front console and ransacking the front seat area, Huffman reported.

The suspect was confronted and reportedly said he was waiting for his girlfriend. Huffman located the owners of the car who said they didn't know the suspect, he didn't have permission to be in their car and they wanted him prosecuted.

Donald Johnson, 23, of 610 Plum Lane, Altamonte Springs, was charged with burglary to a conveyance at 1:50 a.m. Friday in the parking lot of Pioneer Federal, Fern Park. He was being held in lieu of $1,000 bond.

BREAKS IN, GETS KNIFE

A man who allegedly kicked in the door of a home at 649 Avenue B, Oviedo, at about 9:40 p.m. Wednesday, disarmed the person inside the house and threatened the victim with a knife taken from that person.

When Oviedo police arrived the suspect was still armed with the knife, a police report said.

Cleophus Odums, 34, of Room 4, Douglas Blvd., Oviedo, has been charged with armed burglary, aggravated assault and battery. He was being held in lieu of $8,000 bond.

WOMAN ALERTS AGENT

A City/County Investigation Bureau agent reported he was stopped by a woman on Marker Street near Altamonte Springs about about 3:50 p.m. Thursday and the woman pointed out a man she said had crack cocaine and who had been selling the drug.

The agent pursued the suspect who was riding a bicycle. The man was confronted on County Road 427. The man defied an order to stop and the agent saw him drop something. The man was stopped and while a Seminole County sheriff's deputy watched the man the agent recovered from the ground a cigarette that contained crack cocaine, an arrest report said.

James Alexander Wright, 23, of Altamonte Springs, was charged with possession of cocaine and resisting arrest at 4:10 p.m. Friday. He was being held in lieu of $1,000 bond.

DUI ARRESTS

The following people have been arrested in Seminole County on a charge of driving under the influence:

—Stephen Ives Vickery, 32, of DeBary, was arrested at 12:33 a.m. Friday, West Senora Boulevard after he was seen driving with headlights out on U.S. Highway 17-92, Sanford.

—Russell John Fowler, 28, of Osteen, at 1:50 a.m. on State Road 46 after a westbound sheriff's patrol car had to swerve to avoid a collision with his eastbound car.

—Larry Kent Mills, 26, of 2805 Grove Drive, Sanford, at 7:19

p.m. Thursday on U.S. Highway 17-92 after his speeding car was spotted by a Florida Highway Patrol trooper who also noted the vehicle's tail lights were out. He was also charged with having an unassigned license tag and driving with a suspended license.

BURGLARIES & THEFTS

Charlie Gunter, 66, of 2420 S. Meiz Ave., Sanford, reported to sheriff's deputies that a .32-caliber pistol and holster with a combined value of $530 were stolen from his pickup truck between Sept. 19 and Wednesday.

Jewelry valued at $1,000 was stolen from the home of William H. Richardson, 32, of 2801 Knudsen Drive, Sanford, on Tuesday or Wednesday, a sheriff's report said.

Katie Moncrief of Katie's Landing, 190 Katie's Cove, Sanford, reported to Seminole County sheriff's deputies that several rental canoes with a value of at least $800 were stolen from her boat rental area between Sept. 1 and Wednesday.

Maintain Reason In Anti-Evil Fight

When Americans are disgusted or outraged by something that seems to them evil, an appeal to reason can seem superfluous — particularly in an election year. Our response to drug abuse is the latest case in point. With both Congress and the president scurrying to claim their place at the head of a grassroots crusade, with quickly-cobbled multimillion-dollar drug abuse programs suddenly tossed onto the public agenda, it's time to slow down and catch our breath. It's time to contemplate means as well as ends.

The federal judge who ruled recently that mandatory urine testing of government employees to determine the presence of illegal drugs is an unconstitutional invasion of privacy was making the same point.

"The threat posed by widespread use of drugs is real, the need to combat it manifest," Judge H. Lee Sarokin of Federal District Court in Newark, N.J., wrote. "But it is important not to permit fear and panic to overcome our fundamental principles and protections."

The judge ruled in a case brought by 17 police and fire personnel of the city of Plainfield, N.J. The firefighters had been locked into their station houses without notice, forced to give urine samples in the presence of all the other firefighters, and, if they tested positively, were discharged without being given a chance to appeal.

"If we choose to violate the rights of the innocent in order to discover and act against the guilty," Judge Sarokin wrote, "then we will have transformed our country into a police state and abandoned one of the fundamental tenets of our free society. In order to win the war against drugs, we must not sacrifice the life of the Constitution in the battle."

The head of the federal government's main anti-drug enforcement agency also was counseling reason when he observed that law enforcement alone would not solve the nation's drug problems. He chided Congress for its recent proposals to use the military to stop drug smugglers at the borders.

The official, John C. Lawn, chief of the Drug Enforcement Administration, said that unless the government helped reduce demand for drugs through education and treatment programs — less dramatic methods but perhaps more successful — the work of federal agents and the police would end in disappointment. "Law enforcement cannot, did not and will not solve the appetite for drugs in this country," Lawn told The New York Times.

"Congress now is talking in terms of interdiction, of putting all of this money to blockade the borders," he said. "Number one, that is impossible. And number two, if we miraculously could put military people arm to arm to surround the United States to keep out cocaine and heroin, we would continue to have a substantial drug problem."

Lawn was alluding to a measure sponsored by Rep. Duncan Hunter, R-Calif., and recently passed by the House of Representatives, that would require the president to deploy whatever military forces were necessary to reduce significantly the amount of drugs coming into the nation by ship or airplane.

Lawn maintained that even if cocaine were eliminated in the United States, the public would find some other substances — synthetically produced drugs, for example — as a substitute.

Lawn was not disputing the seriousness of widespread drug abuse, nor was he questioning the crucial role that law enforcement must play in hampering the spread of cocaine use. Both he and Judge Sarokin were reminding us that panic and ill-considered measures are counter-productive in the battle against drug abuse.

Latvian Landscape Changing As Lid Is Lifted

RIGA, Latvia (NEA) — I have just returned from six days in Riga, where I served as a member of a delegation engaged in a dialogue between Russians and Americans. The conference was sponsored on our side by the Chatauqua Society and the Eisenhower Institute.

We left America when Nick Daniloff had been released from jail, but only to the custody of the U.S. ambassador. Some American delegates, most notably Jeanne Kirkpatrick and Richard Perle, felt the best way to show outrage over Daniloff was to boycott the conference. I and some others thought it better to show outrage by coming here to express it. I think both positions are responsible.

I can offer only a blur of thoughts. The two delegations were housed together in the best hotel in Riga. We ate all our meals together. The old pros of the diplomatic corps often swapped rumors about who was up and who was down in their departments. The professional friendship people talked about conference logistics. The rest of us made small talk. Evenings a fine troupe of American musicians gave concerts, joining Latvian performers.

During the day, the delegates waged verbal combat. My sense is that the Americans were on the offensive. Every American speaker hit on the Daniloff affair. American speakers made the point that the United States does not recognize that Latvia is even a part of the Soviet Union. (It was invaded by the Soviets in 1940 under the terms of the Nazi-Soviet pact.) Our speakers made sharp references to the lack of human rights in Russia.

During the public question periods, a number of Chatauquans made critical references to issues in America — the use of drugs, for example. But no member of the Soviet "public" voiced criticism of anything in Russia. In fact, some of their "typical" Latvians were experts brought in from Moscow. The rest were basically hand-picked organization types from Latvia.

After a while the Americans delegates began teasing the Soviet audience asking them to say just one little old thing wrong with Russia.

Our side was better prepared. Our statements were usually written out and thought out. Most of the Russian speeches were off-the-cuff and boilerplate rhetoric.

They wanted to talk about arms control (very technical), the need to avoid war (agreed), and the need for the peoples on both sides to be friends, good close friends, just like at this friendly conference.

My opinion of the shrewdness of our adversaries has gone down. In many cases they sound like plain fools. Their top delegate carefully explained that the Berlin Wall was really built to keep West Germany from invading East Germany! His proof that Latvia was part of the Soviet Union was that the delegates flew there in a Soviet plane with Soviet visas.

Their scheduling of the conference in Latvia was a blunder. It gave more attention to the restive Baltic republics than those little states have had in decades. Young Latvian-Americans (traveling with the Chatauquans) passed out pins with the old Latvian flag on them. The local Latvians were euphoric that someone cared enough to come.

I'm glad I went. I'm even more glad I'm back. It's not my kind of place, even in the best hotel in Riga.

Rightists Infiltrate GOP Top

DES MOINES, Iowa (NEA) — "Hide your strength," says the instruction sheet distributed to politically active members of fundamentalist Christian churches here. "Try not to let on that a close group of friends is becoming active in the party."

That document, entitled "How to Participate in a Political Party," repeatedly stresses the importance of secrecy — and even suggests that conservative evangelicals disguise their motives while working to seize control of the Republican Party.

"Pretend to be interested in and supportive of all the party candidates for office.... Give the impression you are there to work for the party, not to push an ideology," it says. "Keep your positions on issues to yourself.... The activities of the church must not become public knowledge."

The origins of that document are murky (religious leaders insist it was unauthorized and probably the work of overzealous, misguided individuals) but it was a factor earlier this year when fundamentalists and evangelicals took over the Republican Party in Polk County.

Polk, which includes Des Moines and its suburbs, is by far Iowa's most populous county. In neighboring Dallas and Warren counties, conservative Christians displayed surprising strength at this year's Republican conventions but failed to wrest control from party regulars.

Similar developments have been reported throughout the country this year. In Nebraska, activists from the religious right took over the Republican Party in Douglas County, which includes Omaha, and almost did so in Lancaster County, which includes Lincoln.

In Indiana's primary elections, ultraconservative candidates supported by conservative Christians unexpectedly defeated more traditional Republicans in three of the state's eight congressional districts.

In Texas, fundamentalists and evangelicals accumulated so much strength at county and district conventions that they controlled 40 to 50 percent of all delegates at the statewide Republican convention.

In the state of Washington, conservative Christians used such heavy-handed tactics to take control of the Republican Party that one newspaper editorial criticized the "religious brown shirts" who transformed the GOP's state convention into "some kind of twisted town meeting."

Vietnam Vet Tries To Rescue POWs

By Jack Anderson and Dale Van Atta

WASHINGTON — Two American POWs were on their way to freedom from Laos in December 1984 when machine-gun fire from a Mekong River patrol boat forced them back, according to an affidavit given to us by a highly decorated American hero of the Vietnam War.

The sworn statement by retired Army Lt. Col. James (Bo) Gritz is a gripping account of his efforts — futile so far — to rescue prisoners of war he is convinced are still alive in communist-held Laos, Cambodia and Vietnam.

Gritz has won more than 60 medals for valor and achievement, including three Silver Stars, eight Bronze Stars, two Legions of Merit and 26 Air Medals. He is a licensed pilot, a sixth-degree black belt in karate, an underwater demolition expert and a master parachutist.

In his affidavit, Gritz "swears and affirms under penalty of perjury" that he has conducted cross-border

DICK WEST

Long Distance Wrist

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A Japanese jeweler and an American message center have joined forces to produce wristwatches that let the wearers know when they are wanted on the telephone.

Maybe there are demands for watches that page you, but that seems to me only a minor step forward. There is more need at this time, I would think, for pages that watch you.

The next major step may be a telephonic answering machine you can strap on your wrist.

Suppose, for instance, you had a toothache and wanted to reach your dentist, who was out on the golf course.

Under the old-fashioned way of doing things, you would call his office and someone would activate the beeper on his belt. Particularly if he is about to putt.

A beeping wristwatch would only be a modest improvement. He still would miss the putt. How much better off you both would be if your ring were answered by a friendly voice that said:

"Hi! This is young Dr. Gillespie. I can't talk on the phone right now but if, at the tone, you'll leave your name and number and state the nature of your complaint, I'll get right back to you."

Sure enough, true to his word, the dentist stops at the 19th hole and listens to his messages. Then he dials your number and learns you underwent an emergency tooth extraction just five minutes ago.

But the important thing is: His afternoon off was uninterrupted by belline beeping. That leaves him free to make real estate deals later.

I can see where a combination wristwatch and answering machine could become popular with other professions as well — an ideal gift for your favorite doctor, marriage counselor, divorce lawyer, tax accountant or politician.

"Hi! This is Dr. Fixitt of the office of Dwight, David and Eisenhower. I can't answer the telephone just now. Take two aspirins and call me in the morning."

Dr. Fixitt is, of course, a marriage counselor. Would a physician leave a recorded message like that? He would be more inclined to answer thusly:

"Hi! This is Dr. Feelgood. I can't talk on the phone right now and I don't care what your ailment is. Just take two aspirins and call me in the morning."

Your lawyer, on the other hand, could be expected to speak to his wrist as follows:

"Hi! This is Dr. Splitem, your friendly divorce lawyer. I can't talk on the phone right now, so take two aspirins and call me in the morning."

However, a tax accountant might leave the following message:

"Hi! This is Dr. Loophole. I can't talk on the phone just now but if, at the tone, you'll leave your name and the number of your tax shelter, I'll examine your file as soon as I get back to the office."

Or, a politician could take advantage of a wristwatch-recorder in this wise:

"Hi! This is Senator Klaghorn, your friendly candidate for president. I can't talk on the phone right now, but if, at the tone, you'll leave your name and address, I'll see that you get a campaign solicitation form letter and are placed on my mailing list."

VIEWPOINT

India's 'Phones Unreal

By T.S.K. Lligam

NEW DELHI, India (UPI) — In 1881, Britain gave its vast and unwieldy Indian empire a head start on the 20th Century when it introduced the telephone in Calcutta.

Today, India sometimes wishes they hadn't.

More than a century later, the device remains a mystery for millions of Indians and those who are privileged enough to have one often find it more nightmare than marvel.

Crossed connections, wrong numbers, dead lines, corrupt repairmen, rude operators and excessive bills try subscribers' patience and it is not unusual to hear of exasperated users hurling their telephones into a wall.

In one case that recently made headlines, Member of Parliament Prakash Chand Sethi stormed into New Delhi's main telephone exchange waving a pistol and screaming that a long distance call he had booked hours earlier had not been connected.

Sethi's protest sparked a walkout by operators, paralyzing the city's operator-assisted services for three days and nearly resulting in the army taking over the exchange.

"We have the worst telephone system in the world," said Sethi, a former home minister. "My visit simply underlines my frustration. I received letters congratulating me."

A telecommunications minister once told a group of irate subscribers that if they were unhappy they could always give up their telephones. Several years ago, a disgruntled user held a public funeral for his phone.

There have been cases in which subscribers have bribed repairmen to hook up their telephones to neighbors' lines and then made long-distance calls.

Dieter Jansen, a German businessman and a regular visitor to India, said getting international calls is not difficult.

"The problem is to get the call through to towns on the outskirts of New Delhi," he said. "If it is urgent, I send the message through someone and don't depend on phones."

Service disruptions are especially prevalent during the monsoon season, with rain seeping into underground cables, rendering thousands of phones useless for days.

"The average daily number of complaints of 300 multiplies several times during the July-to-September monsoon season," said Razia Ahmed, a spokesman for New Delhi's government-owned telephone company.

craft then ran down the small boat. The second boat containing the two POWs turned around and safely made the Lao shore."

Gritz said he tried to rescue the two later, but word had been passed to Thai newspapers that Gritz was active along the northern Thai border. "We had to withdraw," said Gritz, explaining that a previous disclosure had led to his temporary arrest in Thailand.

Gritz added in his statement: "I am positive there remain today in Laos 50 U.S. servicemen who put on the uniform of the United States and did what others feared to do and fled from doing." Finally, he swore that a high-level Defense Intelligence Agency official "told me that he had briefed the President-elect (Ronald Reagan) and several members of his staff in the West Room of the White House" in January 1981, on a minimum of 100 POWs in Vietnam.

Pentagon Report Says Army Wasting Millions

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Army, in a practice that may be widespread in the military, wasted millions of dollars by paying contractors too much to protect against the faulty production of already proven missiles, a confidential Pentagon report showed Thursday.

"What has developed is a common business practice that is clearly unfavorable to the Army," said the audit by the Pentagon's inspector general. It also urged the Defense Department to take "further actions" to determine the scope of the problem throughout the military.

The study details the practice of paying a contractor to correct deficiencies, "rework costs," that arise when a production line weapon is manufactured — called "Fly-to-Buy" acceptance tests.

Dated April 1, the 38-page report was classified confidential because of contractor proprietary information and was obtained by United Press International through the Freedom of Information Act.

In it, auditors questioned whether it was necessary to negotiate a "Fly-to-Buy" program since federal regulations do not make it clear whether the program is part of normal inspection procedures or is an extension of them.

The Army assumed "Fly-to-Buy" to be an extension, as if it were added insurance, the report showed.

It concluded, "Defense Department policy guidance and acquisition regulations regarding rework costs are imprecise and in need of revision."

Used by the Army's Missile Command in Huntsville, Ala., as an incentive for tough quality control measures on the production line, the auditors found that the costs for the "Fly-to-Buy" program are excessive, adding millions of dollars to the price tag for a weapon — to the benefit of the contractor.

The report focused on contracts for the shoulder-fired Stinger anti-aircraft missile between fiscal years 1978 and 1984 in which the Army paid $8.9 million in rework costs to the Pomona Division of the General Dynamics Corp. The contractor's actual rework expense was an estimated $86,000, the study said.

Auditors also found the Army wasted $5.4 million by firing too many missiles in testing an advanced version of the Stinger, each costing $2,000.

The Army also paid $20 million in rework costs for four other proven missiles and Army officials told the auditors the other services have similar programs, the report said.

The Pentagon, however, responding to a query, said it had reviewed procedures in the Navy, Air Force and Defense Logistics Agency — the services' spare parts buyer — and found "it was not necessary to change the regulations."

An Army spokesman said the Missile Command was studying the report and "hasn't done anything as a result of this study."

The auditors did not suggest eliminating the "Fly-to-Buy" program but said it may not be necessary to add the program to a standard contract for a weapon that has a history of high quality production.

Under existing contracts, the report said, "substantial amounts of rework costs will be paid even though documented evidence indicates that the quality of Stinger missiles produced has been consistently high and contractor risk is minimal."

"Moreover, the money will be paid whether or not rework costs are actually incurred," it said.

Consequently, the study concluded, "the propriety of paying these costs is doubtful. We found the rework cost issue to be pervasive in the Missile Command's acquisition of other missile weapon systems."

Command records show that "every missile manufacturer proposed rework costs" in their contracts since at least 1978, the report said.

When auditors advised the Army of the problem, the command saved $600,000 on a fiscal 1984 Stinger contract, it said. But the study urged the Army to take "a strong position" and consider renegotiating contracts in which rework costs "are inappropriate or excessive."

Suicide Link In 6 Deaths

HOUSTON (UPI) — Carbon monoxide from a luxury sedan left running in a garage apparently killed a family of six — the wife in the car, her husband by the television and their children in a bedroom, police said.

The family lived "like hermits" in a garbage-strewn home, police said.

Authorities — alerted by a co-worker who found the wife, Jo Ann Robbins, 37, dead in the family's Lincoln Continental — entered the home Wednesday and discovered five bodies amid accumulated trash and garbage.

No carbon monoxide was detected in the home, but it appeared the six people had been dead for at least three days and there would have been enough time for an air conditioner left running to cleanse the air of poison, police said.

Autopsies were to be conducted Thursday on Jo Ann Robbins, her husband, Thomas, 39, daughters Astrid, 7, Emma, 4, and Elizabeth, 2, and son, Drake, 5.

The Robbins lived in a three-bedroom brick home on a tree-lined street of a middle class subdivision. Neighbors said the family had been there for about a year. The outside of the one-story house appeared neat as the lawn was cut and the bushes trimmed.

"Nobody knew them," said neighbor Mary Speer. "The kids came straight home from school and went straight into the house. It was like nobody was living there. I see those kids peering at me through the windows, and that's it."

Once-A-Month Pill Studied Male Contraceptive May Be On Way, Too

CHICAGO (UPI) — An artificial hormone that proved 100 percent effective in preventing pregnancy in lab animals is ready for clinical testing and may one day be available as a once-a-month birth control pill, a scientist says.

The contraceptive, called anordin, is a synthetically produced steroid that has been used as a "morning after" pill by the Chinese but which also prevents ovulation when taken at the beginning of the menstrual cycle, said Dr. Robert Chatterton of Northwestern University.

Meanwhile, researchers say they soon will conduct worldwide tests of a male birth control drug, an injectable hormone compound that has stopped or drastically reduced sperm production in clinical tests.

The preparation, which contains the male hormone testosterone and another steroid, will be tested worldwide beginning early next year, Dr. C.A. Paulsen of the University of Washington School of Medicine said Thursday.

Chatterton said Wednesday anordin was 100 percent effective in preventing pregnancy in monkeys and shows few, if any, side effects when given to humans.

"We've done extensive studies with animals and everything looks good at this point," he said. "We're basically ready to begin clinical trials."

Chatterton is developing anordin in injectable form for use, as a once-a-month contraceptive in Third World countries. He said the drug also is effective in oral doses and expects it will be marketed in the United States that way.

"The dose would have to be increased considerably (in oral form) but there wouldn't be much trouble making that translation," he said.

Anordin has been used for several years in China as a "honeymoon pill," which when used after unprotected intercourse prevents a fertilized egg from implanting in the uterus.

With regard to the male pill, it will be four or five years at least before enough testing is done to make the preparation available to the public, Paulsen said.

"But keep in mind we've been working 20 years on this," he added.

Researchers long have sought a drug that would make males temporarily infertile. A major problem is that men produce as many as 12 trillion sperm in a lifetime, while females release only one ovum — or egg — a month.

Chinese researchers have conducted clinical trials on gossypol, a cottonseed derivative, but Paulsen said that drug has serious side effects and the infertility it causes is not always reversible.

Early clinical trials of the new compound showed no serious side effects and fertility returned to normal within a year after injections were stopped, Paulsen said.

Field testing of the preparation, supported by the National Institutes of Health and the World Health Organization, will begin early next year, using 350 couples in several countries including the United States, Paulsen said.

"The question we still have to ask is, 'Is a lab diagnosis of no sperm count associated with no fertility?' I know that sounds like something we should know, and it sounds obvious, but we don't and so we have to test it."

Chatterton and Paulsen reviewed their research at the fourth annual meeting of the Society for the Advancement of Contraception. The gathering, which began Wednesday, has drawn more than 800 delegates from 45 countries.

Stormy Sea Steals Centuries-Old Eskimo Remains

BARROW, Alaska (UPI) — Stormy Arctic waves destroyed a frozen archeological site and washed away perfectly preserved Eskimo remains 300 to 500 years old but scientists Thursday held out hope of finding other ancient treasures.

Archaeologist Jack Lobbell said he will examine the storm-battered north coast Friday to see what may have been uncovered by 6-foot-high waves that washed away the centuries-old remains of an Eskimo man and other museum-quality artifacts.

"The man is gone," North Slope Borough spokesman Bill Hess said of the frozen Eskimo. "But there are some other sites opened up. Whether there are bodies there or not and whether they are frozen and preserved like the man, I don't know."

Lobbell, an Anchorage Community College anthropology teacher, said this week's storm robbed scientists of a chance to learn about the lives of Alaska's northern Eskimos before they had any contacts with Western civilization.

Calm returned to Barrow, an Eskimo village of 3,075 people 325 miles north of the Arctic Circle and America's most northern town, but officials were trying to save houses precariously perched on eroded cliffs overhanging the Arctic Ocean.

A girl following barking dogs on Sept. 10 came upon the Eskimo man, seeing a leg sticking out of shoreline cliffs eroded by waves.

Lobbell said the remains — "older than 300 years and younger than 500 years" — were concealed, except for the one leg, in permafrost and an excavation was planned for next summer.

Lobbell and others secured the site by covering it with tarps weighed down by 1,000-gallon barrels full of gravel.

"You would have thought that would have held it," Lobbell said, "but the storm threw those barrels down like toys. The sad part is that all this is gone now and there is nothing we could have done about it."

Scientists know a wealth of history lies beneath Barrow, but seldom does the frozen earth give up its dead and its secrets.

"It's unfortunate for science. It's a real loss," Lobbell said. "But the storm has apparently opened up five additional houses."

In 1982, waves uncovered a house with four frozen and preserved bodies of an Eskimo family apparently killed when huge icebergs moved into shore and crushed their house, said Lobbell who excavated that site. The man discovered two weeks ago may have been a victim of the same event, but he may have been older.

Storm damage in Barrow and the village of Wainwright was estimated at $7.6 million.

The storm also trapped Eskimo whale hunters on Cross Island, north of Prudhoe Bay. Hess said they were rescued by helicopter.

QUESTION QUESTION — QUESTION

AS A VOTER WHO WISHES TO BE INFORMED I ASK? DOES N.E.A. (S.E.A.) SUPPORT ANN NEISWINDER? IF SO DOES SHE, AS A MEMBER OF THE SCHOOL BOARD PROPOSE TO IMPLEMENT THE N.E.A.'S ONE WORLD PROGRAM?

FROM THE 1978 BICENTENNIAL REPORT OF N.E.A. "WHEN WE BREAK WITH THE PAST OR TAKE EVEN A SMALL STEP TOWARDS A NEW IDEA FOR THE FUTURE WE ARE ON TOTALLY UNTRIED GROUND. THE RISK TO OURSELVES AND TO FUTURE GENERATIONS (YOUR CHILDREN) ARE AWESOME IT IS WITH THIS AWARENESS THAT WE SET ABOUT TO CHANGE THE COURSE OF AMERICAN EDUCATION IN THE 21st CENTURY BY EMBRACING THE IDEALS OF GLOBAL COMMUNITY (ONE WORLD GOVT.) THE QUALITY AND INTERDEPENDENCE OF ALL PEOPLE AND NATIONS AND EDUCATION AS A TOOL TO BRING ABOUT WORLD PEACE" END QUOTE.

DOES ANN STILL SUPPORT ERA? IF SO, DOES SHE SUPPORT NOW'S ABORTION-HOMOSEXUAL STANCE AND AS A MEMBER OF THE SCHOOL BOARD DOES SHE INTEND TO IMPLEMENT THESE PRINCIPLES IN SEMINOLE COUNTY SCHOOLS? OR WILL SHE OPT FOR TEACHING THE TEENAGERS IN THE SEX-EDUCATION CLASSES, TO SAY "NO" TO URGING OF THE ACTS OF FORNICATION THAT INEVITABLY LEAD TO TEEN-AGE PREGNANCIES.

Embattled Judge Debates Response

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A Florida federal judge, formerly of Altamonte Springs, has not determined if he will respond to an invitation from the chief policy-making body of the federal judiciary to issue written comments to a report calling for his impeachment, his lawyer said Wednesday.

Terence Anderson, the attorney for U.S. District Judge Alcee Hastings of Miami, said the judge needs some issues clarified by the Judicial Conference of the United States before he knows whether he will provide a written response.

The Judicial Conference last week delayed sending to Congress a report from a lower judicial organization calling for Hastings' impeachment, and instead invited him to respond in writing to the report.

Anderson disclosed on Wednesday that the Judicial Conference gave Hastings until Oct. 18 to review the massive report in Washington and then until Nov. 17 to provide a written response.

But Anderson on Wednesday renewed the request that the judge be given a copy of the report, that further evidence against him — including 2,800 exhibits — be available in Miami, that the evidence be made public and the conference indicate what procedures it will follow in investigating the Hastings case.

"The when, where and how," Anderson said, "What are Judge Hastings' rights?"

The lawyer said until Hastings knows both what rights he will have to inspect the evidence against him and the "context" in which he is responding, he will not know if he plans a response or what form that response will take.

Hastings, appointed by President Carter in 1979 as Florida's first black federal judge, was acquitted by a jury in 1983 of charges he conspired to solicit a $150,000 bribe from two convicted racketeers in Florida in exchange for a reduction in prison terms.

But an investigating panel of the Judicial Council of the 11th Circuit has charged that the judge did in fact conspire to take the bribe and gave false testimony during his 1983 trial.

The investigating panel called for Hastings' impeachment and on

Alcee Hastings ... fights impeachment

Sept. 2 the full Judicial Council endorsed that call.

Hastings has termed the judicial probe "double jeopardy" and "jury tampering."

If the Judicial Conference eventually backs the call for Hastings' impeachment the matter would move to the House, which would not be obligated to act. The Judicial Conference is not due to meet again until March but a special session to consider the Hastings case is possible.

Impeachment by the House and conviction by the Senate is the only way to remove a federal judge, who is appointed for life.

The Senate now is conducting the impeachment trial of Judge Harry Claiborne of Nevada, the first such trial in 50 years.

Man Stuck With Bad Debt Seeks Succor From Seer

DEAR ABBY: I saw an ad in a magazine that said this man could foretell your future, solve your love problems, business problems and bring you everlasting happiness. Well, I called the number in the magazine and talked to this man personally who said he was a psychic and could help me. Here is my problem: Some guy stuck me for $3,600. I told this psychic about it, and he said he could get my $3,600 back if I send him $400 immediately.

Does this sound like it's on the up and up to you? I don't want to lose $400 on top of the $3,600 I am already stuck for, but if this psychic can get my $3,600 back, it would be a good deal. Please advise.

ANONYMOUS IN JERSEY

DEAR ANONYMOUS: If this so-called psychic could foretell the future, he would be making a fortune on the stock market and flying his private jet to Las Vegas on weekends to pick up a little extra cash to bet at the track. Don't throw good money after bad, my friend.

DEAR ABBY: My son, who just turned 21, was sent to the Philippines. (He's in the U.S. Navy.) He wrote and told me that his first week there he met a native girl in a bar (she works there). She is 17 years old and has a 2-year-old baby.

He says he loves her, but Abby, he has never been in love before and I am afraid he has a lot of feelings and emotions confused. He wrote that some of his Navy friends have told him some very bad things about this girl, but she has had a hard life, and he wants to rescue her from the terrible life she has had.

He is leaving for San Diego soon, and is considering filing some "fiancee" papers, then sending for her so they can get married. He has asked me what I think he should do.

He has always been a good

Dear Abby

boy. Do you have any words of wisdom that I can tell him? Like every mother, I want my son to be happy.

WORRIED IN KANSAS

DEAR WORRIED: Since he asked you what to do, it is apparent that he is as yet undecided.

Tell him that marriage is a lifelong commitment, and you think he should wait a while before making a commitment of that duration. Assure your son that if what he feels for this girl is really "love," it will survive a separation. And if it isn't, he is better off knowing now.

DEAR ABBY: I've been married for nine years — no children, by choice. About a year ago I discovered that my husband enjoyed looking at pictures of nude males. He doesn't deny it. I'm an attractive woman. I am often paid compliments by men. Very few are from my husband.

I'm lucky if we make love once a month. Now I have an absolute "hunk" after me. I didn't start anything. He did. I feel as though my life is wasting away. An affair would be the only thing that would keep me a sane woman. Any advice? I'll keep watching the paper.

PLENTY OF NOTEN'

DEAR PLENTY: There is no mention of how you feel about your husband and how he feels about you. Assuming you married because you love each other, don't look now, but your marriage is a shambles. First, you should decide (both of you) whether you want to save your marriage, if you do, your husband should quit looking at paper dolls and you should tell that "hunk" to get lost. Then you should both get some counseling. But, if you'd rather be free, admit it and quit wasting your young lives.

DEAR ABBY: I have never written to you before, and so now only because of recent developments involving children turning in their parents to the authorities over drug abuse.

In general, the media applauded this action, yet I am having a terrible time justifying such action on the part of the children. It seems such a short time ago that the media brought to our attention a similar action by Chinese children. I recall thinking how terrible it would be to have our children violate the sanctity of the family.

I realize that drug abuse must be stopped, that this subject is somewhat taboo, and wonder if anyone else has addressed this subject. How do you feel about it?

DANIEL STRAWBECKER, CINCINNATI

DEAR R R STRAWBECKER: I realize that drug abuse is a serious problem that has taken on global dimensions. But I, along with you, am not comfortable with children turning in their parents. There must be a better way for children to show their parents how much they love them.

Nudist Wins Discrimination Suit

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A male nudist has won his battle for equal pricing for men and women at the clothing-optional Elysium Fields.

"It's one small battle in a larger war of changing society's attitude toward men and women," said Alejandro Crespi, 56, in announcing an out-of-court settlement Wednesday.

The agreement settles a Superior Court lawsuit filed Sept. 3 by Crespi, a law book salesman from Pasadena who quit Elysium Fields to protest its charging men more than women to participate in workshops and seminars.

"This certainly says they are sensitive to the changing society and they recognize that their policy is outmoded and it's time for a change," Crespi said.

Crespi claimed the camp's pricing violated the state U.S. Civil Rights Act, which forbids sex discrimination in business. Elysium charged men $175 and women $115 for annual membership.

Although Crespi said he did not want to sue, Elysium attorney Gloria Abad said a news conference

Oviedo Home Games Return Home

By Kathy Tyrity Herald Staff Writer

Oviedo High School's new football field was certified as "substantially complete" by the county School Board in a Wednesday afternoon meeting. The field's first home game will be at 8 p.m. Oct. 3.

Project architect Prime Design, Inc., formerly Watson and Company, notified Superintendent of Schools Robert Hughes this week that the field was substantially complete, and the board unanimously voted not to wait for another meeting Monday to stamp approval. Already the high school had to play one of its "home games" on another field.

Also affecting Oviedo High School, the board approved a change order adding $10,700 to the construction contract now totaling almost $13 million. The changes will correct a warranty problem, provide a handicapped ramp, and meet other code requirements.

Spending money elsewhere, on new administrative posts, the board approved advertisement of three new job descriptions: coordinator of staff development to be paid $35,175 - $45,728; personnel analyst to be paid $20,050 - $25,326; and a technical assistant for communication in the Community Relations Department to be paid $16,814 - $22,090.

Board member William Kroll questioned whether the new community relations assistant would duplicate efforts of the community relations coordinator, based on similar job descriptions, but it was noted that the coordinator's job was to "oversee" results from the new staff person. At any rate, the board made sure it was understood that these new positions — which could total more than $93,000 — would be temporary and re-evaluated after a year. Community Relations Coordinator Karen Coleman said the new employees should be on board within a month.

In making selections for new employees, board member Pat Telson reminded personnel administrators to check out all references.

"I found out that some may not be checked at all," she said. "I really think that's a terribly important thing," because, she said letters of reference may not be genuine.

The board also approved a new list of who will be driving home board-owned vehicles. The vehicles, to be driven only on school business and to and from work, were issued to: (Facilities Dept.) Benny Arnold, of Longwood; Spencer Graves, of Orlando; David R. Spear, of Oviedo; (Maintenance) Don Nicholas of Sanford; Thomas Brewer of Lake Mary; Malcolm Hall of Casselberry; Allen Nettles of Osteen; Richard Thompson of DeBary; (Transportation) Richard C. Wells of Longwood; Woodrow Burnsed of Oviedo;

George Duncan of Sanford; Ellen O'Donovan of Deltona; Alexander Rivera of Longwood; Robert O. Starke of Altamonte Springs, and Barbara Higgins of Longwood.

Schools spokesman Karen Coleman explained the vehicles are taken home by employees who are on 24-hour call.

In other business, the board: ● Gave hearty approval to a resolution from Teens Together and Families Together to declare Oct. 5-12 Drug Awareness Week. There will be community-wide drug abuse prevention activities that week, and a Straight, Inc. rehabilitation graduate will address classes;

● Approved a change order to add $10,688 to the cost of the transportation phase of the Consolidated Services Center, for a total contract amount of $3.22 million;

● Approved a change order for Greenwood Lakes Middle School athletic facilities amounting to $1,600. This will add a racquetball court and increase the number from five courts to six. Administration sources said this $100,000 project came in under budget by $6,000 and so the funds were available.

● Accepted a stern letter from teachers union president Louella Rahming stating "grave concerns" that promised pay raises were not included in the first two pay checks this year. The pay raised should, however, be retroactive.

HUGE Howell Invades Sanford Tonight

Mosure's 'Noles To Rely On Speed To Offset Size

(Tonight's SAC prep football game between Lake Howell and Seminole at Sanford will be broadcast live by Sanford's WUEZ-AM (1400). Steve Luba will handle the play by play with Stan Lee serving as the color analyst. Air time is 7:50 p.m.)

By Sam Cook
Herald Sports Editor

About 6:30 tonight, a cattle truck will crawl down Dike Road and turn into Lake Howell High School. It will circle the parking lot, pass the band room and stop in front of the cafeteria.

The cattle truck's rear door will open and the loading ramp will bang to the ground.

Lake Howell's offensive line — all 1,195 pounds of it — will lumber through the cafeteria's double doors and onto its transportation to tonight's football game at Sanford. The rest of the team will follow in a Seminole County school bus.

Lake Howell coach Mike Blascaglia said Winter Garden West Orange was "BIG, BIG, BIG." How would he describe his own club? How about "HUGE, HUGE, HUGE?"

Seminole's task tonight at 8 in this Seminole Athletic Conference opener against the Silver Hawks is to find a way over, under, around or between that bulk. Needless to say, it will be a HUGE task.

"Huge is right," Seminole coach Dave Mosure said Thursday. "I think those weights are light. It's hard to believe how big these kids are until you get down on the field with them."

Junior tackle Jack Benedict (6-4, 287) is the biggest. Junior tackle Mike Schaefer (6-4, 273) is a couple meals behind. Junior guard Ken Joseph (6-0, 226) and senior guard Steve Vadala (6-1, 216) are next in the serving line. Junior center Jason Kotar (6-0, 193) is the undernourished member. Senior Kevin Hunnewell (6-1, 216) plays a lot, too, flopping behind guard and tackle. Tight end Greg Hill (6-1, 185) is under 200 pounds, so they make him drive the cattle truck.

Football

The five linemen, who average 239 pounds per man, have the driving (literally) force ahead of Howell's 2-0 start. The Hawks manhandled Orlando Edgewater in the opener and then ground up West Orange last week.

It's a bulk which Mosure hopes to offset with his Tribe's speed, especially at linebacker where two of his quickest — Steve Warren and Earle "Sackman" Lewis — are allowed freedom to roam.

HUGE, HUGE, HUGE meets BLITZ, BLITZ, BLITZ.

"Lake Howell is polished like Astronaut and big and physical like Titusville," Mosure said about the first two opponents to hang losses on his 'Noles. "They'll definitely be the biggest team we'll face all year."

And there's more. Senior Mark Wainwright, a three-year starter, is coming off his best game last week. The Burger King Offensive Player of the Week was 8 for 12 with two TD passes to Bill Wasson. Tailback Cornel Rigby and fullback Nate Hoakens know how to follow the line.

Mosure said the Hawks are so balanced that patterns are undeterminable. "Don't try to pick up tendencies," he said. "Forget it. They go short side, wide side, any side they want."

If Mosure is banking on anything, it's that people who average 239 pounds won't be running around like Carl Lewis. "We aren't that quick on the

Scott Thinks Division 1st, No-Hitter 2nd

HOUSTON (UPI) — The first pitch Mike Scott threw Thursday put Dan Gladden on base. The last one put the Houston Astros into the playoffs and Scott into the record books.

Scott joined the ranks of baseball's elite with the first no-hitter of his career, striking out 13, walking two and hitting one batter in leading the Astros to a 2-0 victory over the San Francisco Giants.

The classic gave the Astros their second National League West Division championship and the right to meet the New York Mets in the playoffs.

"We wanted to clinch it here," said the 31-year-old Scott, whose teammate, Nolan Ryan, has thrown a major-league high five no-hitters. "The no-hitter came second. I'm just glad I could help."

"A game like this makes up for every low point in a career. I've never been in the playoffs before and I've never thrown a no-hitter. I'll always cherish this game."

"I've pitched two no-hitters," San Francisco left-hander Vida Blue said. "I knew the feeling."

Scott's first pitch hit Gladden in the back. "That first pitch, I don't know what happened," Scott said. "I was all pumped up and I let it go as hard as I could and it hit Gladden. But I seemed to settle down after that."

"I was more pumped up than nervous. I was no more nervous than I usually am. I wanted to throw a 110 mph fastball, but I don't have one."

Scott, walked Chili Davis to open the second, then retired the next 19 Giants before walking Phil Ouellette with one out in the eighth.

The frenzied crowd of 32,808 stood in the ninth, cheering every strike. Scott struck out Gladden on a 1-2 fastball, then fanned Robby Thompson on a split-fingered pitch. Will Clark grounded the first pitch to first baseman Glenn Davis, triggering a double celebration.

Raines Maintains Lead

Sanford's Tim Raines maintained his four-point edge over Tony Gwynn in the race for the National League batting championship Thursday as he went 1 for 3 in a victory over the Pirates.

Raines kept his league-leading mark at .336. San Diego's Gwynn stayed at .332 as he went 3 for 9 in a doubleheader split with the Dodgers. Steve Sax, the third factor in the race, was 2 for 9 and fell one point to .327.

Raines also stole his 64th base in 72 attempts and scored his 89th and 90th runs. All three players have 10 games to go. — Sam Cook

Sand Or Turf: 2 Meets 'Surface' For Thinclads

By Chris Fister
Herald Sports Writer

It's nice to have an alternative, but it appears you just can't beat the beach.

As of Wednesday, only three teams were committed to compete in the Seminole High Invitational. They include host Seminole, Lake Howell and Winter Garden West Orange.

Saturday's Seminole High meet is being held on the same day as the Daytona Beach Seabreeze Beach Run, the oldest cross country meet in the state.

Seminole High coach Sid Blackwell invited all the teams from Seminole and Orange counties. Despite the snub, he said a meet with only three teams in it is just fine with him.

"A lot of people said they did not want to go to the Beach Run," Blackwell said. "So I get this meet together and now they all go to the beach."

"Actually, a small meet is fine," he added. "It's good for a change to run a dual or a small invitational. That way, the team doesn't lose its identity."

Regardless of sand or turf, thinclads from all county schools will surface for a big Saturday of cross country.

The Seminole High meet is scheduled to start at 8:30 a.m. with the girls junior varsity followed by boys JV at 9, girls varsity at 9:30 and boys varsity at 10. But Blackwell said the JV races will most likely be combined into one.

Seminole High's boys team is coming off a solid sixth-place finish at the Winter Haven Invitational. Powerful Clearwater Countryside won the meet although individual champion Roger Letchworth was disqualified for wearing jewelry during the race. Countryside still won going away as its top five went 3-7-8-9-11.

Following Countryside were Orlando Bishop Moore, Orlando Boone, Brandon, Tampa Gaither and Seminole.

Seminole's top five included David Johnson (21st at 16:42), Rufaro Matipano (24th at 16:45), Alan Seward (25th at 16:46), John Skees (39th at 17:15) and John Herberger (66th at 18:00). Jason Kaiser finished 68th at 18:06.

Blackwell said he won't have his top team at Saturday's meet and that his varsity team will include Johnson, Skees, Herberger, Kaiser, Brent Posey and Chuck Roll.

"I'm just looking for them to run hard and be competitive," Blackwell said.

Lake Howell will be the favorite of the three-way meet led by a solid top five of Chuck

Sooners, 'Canes Collide To Decide No. 1

Football

MIAMI (UPI) — The game between No. 1 Oklahoma and No. 2 Miami Saturday contains the kind of plots and subplots that has excited all of the college football world, except for possibly Orange Bowl officials.

The people in charge of the Orange Bowl would love to save the game for Jan. 1 to decide a national champion. Instead, the major plot will be who will emerge as the nation's top team in late September.

Defending national champion Oklahoma, 2-0, is out to avenge its only loss of 1985. The Sooners are led by linebacker Brian Bosworth, the best known defensive player in the country, and Miami, 3-0, has one of the country's best passers in Vinny Testaverde.

"This has to be the ultimate in excitement," Miami Coach Jimmy Johnson said. "The adrenalin is flowing with the media, as much as with the players, coaches and fans. That's good."

"It's going to be a war. It's going to be fun, too," Oklahoma quarterback Jamelle Hollaway said. "The fun part about it is, I mean everybody in America is probably going to watch our game because its No. 1 and 2.

"But, going out there and just playing against them, just because they beat us last year, will be a thrill in its own self because we do have something to prove to them."

Miami's 27-14 victory at Norman, Okla., last year was the only blot on the Sooners' season, which ended with a 28-10 victory over Penn State in the Orange Bowl. Oklahoma is off to a roaring start this year, winning 38-3 over UCLA and 63-0 over Minnesota, and has 10 straight victories since the loss to Miami.

Miami also has been impressive with victories over South Carolina, Florida and Texas Tech. But Oklahoma players think the Hurricanes are not the team they were a year ago. Bosworth says he sees holes in the wall surrounding Testaverde.

"With the film I've seen, I don't think they're as good as they were last year," Bosworth said. "Last year, it seemed they were a wall. You couldn't penetrate any of them."

"This year, it seems a lot of teams have gotten a lot of pressure on Testaverde. I don't know why that is. I think that gives us a chance to use a lot of our pass rushes."

The Hurricanes don't buy Bosworth's rap.

"I felt we had the better football team last year and I feel we have the best football team this year," Johnson said.

"They might come out and try to intimidate us, but I bet you they'll come out scared," Miami center Gregg Rakoczy said. "They don't know what to expect from our passing game. They say they've been working extra hard, but they've never seen anything like it before."

Testaverde has not been at his best this season, throwing for 724 yards, six touchdowns and five interceptions in three games. But he has help. Defenses must respect running backs Melvin Bratton (five rushing TDs) and Alonzo Highsmith, and sophomore wide receiver Mike Irvin has 16 catches for 279 yards and two TDs.

Hollaway excels at running the wishbone and leads the team with 142 rushing yards on 17 carries. With fullback Lydell Carr gaining

Keeling, Burgess, Rivers Hold Tribe Hopes At Sharidan Swim

The Sharidan Aquatic Club will be bubbling over with swimming action Saturday as Seminole, Lake Mary, Lyman, Oviedo, Lake Howell and Lake Brantley compete in the Sharidan Invitational. The meet begins at 9 a.m.

During the past two weeks most of the county teams have been prepping for the Sharidan with a series of duals. Based on the early results, Lake Brantley's girls, Lake Mary's boys and Lyman's boys are the pre-conference favorites.

Seminole, which coach Donalyn Knight said is short on numbers, received some quality performances from Cissy Burgess, Kristie Keeling, Kirby Swinehart, Shannon Rivers in Wednesday's dual-meet loss to Lyman.

Burgess set two school records with 2:31.300 individual medley and a 1:06.7 50 fly. Keeling won the 100 free in 1:06.0 and placed second in the 50 free in 28.9. Rivers took home top honors in the 100 breast in 1:19.6.

Swinehart had the best boys' performance with a 59.6 100 free for second place.

Connors Moves Into Semifinals

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — After reaching the quarterfinals of the $298,000 Transamerica Open men's tennis tournament Thursday night, Jimmy Connors worried about his concentration.

"I played well when I had to, but that is not good," Connors said after downing Peter Fleming 6-3, 3-6, 6-3. "I should be playing well all the time. I am trying to figure out why. Maybe I am just tired."

In other second-round action Tuesday, top seed and defending champion Stefan Edberg looked sharp with a 6-3, 6-2 victory over Bud Schultz; fourth seed John McEnroe breezed by John Letz 6-2, 6-2, and unranked John Sadri defeated Jaime Yzaga, the 19-year-old Peruvian, 7-5, 3-6, 6-0.

In today's action, Edberg faces Jim Grabb, who had to qualify for the tournament, and McEnroe meets Sadri. Third-ranked Andres Jarryd battles sixth seed David Pate and Peter Lundgren of Sweden takes on Connors.

The winner of Sunday's finals at the Cow Palace gets $44,000.

Aussies Celebrate Anniversary

FREMANTLE, Australia (UPI) — Aussie yachtsmen commemorated the third anniversary of their America's Cup victory Friday and foes predicted the coveted trophy will have a new home once the next contest ends in February.

West Australian Premier Brian Burke kicked off the remembrance by launching three new stamps showing the victorious Australia II, the winning team's green flag with a yellow boxing kangaroo and the Cup, symbol of sailing supremacy, brandished in the air.

An estimated two million stamp enthusiasts were expected to converge on post offices throughout the country to secure samples and first-day covers recalling Sept. 26, 1983. That's when Australia II, with John Bertrand at the helm, overtook Dennis Conner's Liberty downwind on the next-to-last leg of the final race and shattered the 132-year-long American winning streak.

No Rust: Pohl Records 66

ABILENE, Texas (UPI) — This has been such a good year for Dan Pohl that he hasn't even had to play on a regular basis to stay sharp.

He showed up at the Southwest Golf Classic Thursday, having stayed off the PGA tour for a month.

Instead of showing signs of rust, Pohl birdied the first three holes en route to a 66 that left him in a tie with Morris Hatalasky and D.A. Weibring, going into today's second round of the $400,000 event.

Pohl began this year with a past similar to that of Hatalasky and Weibring, who between them have won three tournaments in 19 years.

In eight years of trying, Pohl had not won a tournament. Suddenly, he captured the Colonial National Invitation and then won the World Series of Golf.

He ranks as the tour's No. 4 money winner this season with $440,563.

Magic Number Reaches 7,807

With a telephone blitz of 24,000 calls to Central Florida businesses planned for Monday and 7,807 season-ticket reservations already banked, the Orlando Magic is closing in on what general manager Pat Williams hopes will sway the NBA owners to include Orlando in its expansion plan.

"The thing is just sizzling," Williams said Thursday. "The last 24 hours have been the most incredible period. People are crawling all over this thing now."

Orlando is locked in a battle with Miami, Minneapolis, Charlotte and Santa Ana, Calif. for what Williams said will "probably be one franchise" awarded for the 1987 season. Orlando has sold more season-ticket reservations than all other competing cities.

The Magic goal is 10,000 season-ticket reservations, which if accumulated, will be impossible for the NBA to turn down, according to Williams.

Call 422-7433 for tickets.

2 Parking Areas For Football

Two parking areas will be available for the fans of Lake Howell and Seminole for Friday's Seminole Athletic Conference football game at Seminole High School, Seminole athletic director Jerry Posey said Monday.

In addition to the normal parking lot for boosters on the drivers' education range behind the field on Ridgewood Avenue, a parking lot behind the Seminole weightroom just off Georgia Avenue. Parking is free to boosters and a $1 donation is appreciated from others.

Motorcycles Return To Daytona

Motorcycle racing will return to Daytona International Speedway with the running of the eighth annual Daytona Pro-Am on Oct. 18-19. Highlighting the weekend will be the Paul Revere 250, the final round of the AMA Motoworld U.S. Endurance Championship as well as the Championship Cup Series Race of Champions national championship sprint races.

The $20,000 Paul Revere was postponed by rain from the Fourth of July weekend and it replaces the Six Hours of Daytona, the usual fall endurance run.

More than 75 teams are expected to compete during the weekend. Most of the major manufacturers will be represented along with the Port Orange-based SuperTeam and Dr. John's Mobil One Moto-Guzzi, the defending champion of the Paul Revere.

Joe Kosiski of Omaha, Neb., edged out last year's champion, Doug McCoun, to win the NASCAR Winston Racing Series national championship. The 29-year-old Kosiski won 29 races in 86 starts on NASCAR sanctioned dirt tracks in the Midwest. Kosiski also won two track championships.

Carl Vanzura

MOTOR SPORTS WRITER

For his efforts this year Kosiski will collect over $30,000 in point fund awards, including $25,000 from Winston cigarettes, $5,000 from Gatorade, $2,000 from STP, and $1,500 from Champion Spark Plugs. He will receive his rewards at the awards banquet in Nashville, Tenn.

Volusia County Speedway was one of the tracks entered in the series and some of our local drivers were high up in the standings. Sanford's Steve Harris was one of the elite.

Dale Earnhardt managed to hold his lead in the NASCAR Winston Cup stock car point standings following last week's Goody's 500. Earnhardt, who finished 12th in the Goody's 500, holds a 136-point edge over second place Tim Richmond and a 159-point advantage over third place Darrell Waltrip.

If Earnhardt and his Wrangler Jeans team can finish fourth or better in each of the five remaining Winston Cup races, they will win the championship no matter what Richmond or Waltrip do. Bobby Allison, the 1983 champion is in fourth place.

Earnhardt also leads the Winston Cup circuit in money-winnings with $966,100, and could become the third driver in motorsports history to win over $1 million in a single season. Bill Elliott, who stands a good chance to surpass $1 million for the second straight season, is second with $806,880.

Earnhardt won the 1980 Winston Cup title in a fairy-tale season which came on the heels of his Champion Spark Plug Rookie of the Year crown the previous year. He's the only driver to ever accomplish that.

He admits he wants the Winston Cup this year more than before and he'll also be better prepared to handle the responsibilities of the championship than he was when he won it back in 1980.

Bosworth Only Hates Miami Team

United Press International

The Miami Hurricanes are falling to draw the full ire of Oklahoma Sooners linebacker Brian Bosworth, entering Saturday's game pitting the two top teams in the nation in the Orange Bowl.

"This is not the University of Texas," Bosworth said. "I hate everything about the University of Texas. The only thing I hate about the University of Miami is the football team."

Bosworth, the most celebrated talker among the nation's college football players, has been relatively quiet this week, but is known for baiting opponents during games. The No. 1 Sooners have backed up their words this year, running UCLA (38-3) and Minnesota (63-0) into the ground.

No. 2 Miami, 3-0, is known as a passing team, but Miami quarterback Vinny Testaverde said the Hurricanes can crack heads up front as well as any body.

"We were physical last year and that's why we won the game," he said. "They didn't expect us to be as physical as we were. They thought we were going to be intimidated by them."

Oklahoma and Miami players have talked a lot this week about which is the better team — this year and last. Miami defeated Oklahoma 27-14 last season, but the Sooners rebounded to win the national championship.

"If they have something to say, hopefully our team won't say it back, but knowing us, we probably will," Oklahoma quarterback Jamelle Holloway said.

Other schools in the Top 10 will be looking to move up at the expense of whichever team loses in the big shootout.

No. 3 Alabama, 4-0, has the week off. No. 4 Michigan plays No. 20 Florida State; and No. 5 Nebraska faces Oregon.

"I'm worried a little bit about complacency on our part, especially since we're playing a team we beat so bad (63-0) last year," said Nebraska Coach Tom Osborne, whose team is 2-0. "You can't expect all the good things that happened to us last week to happen every game."

Elsewhere, it's No. 6 Penn State vs. East Carolina, No. 7 Washington vs. No. 12 Southern California, No. 8 Auburn vs. Tennessee, No. 9 Arkansas vs. New Mexico State and No. 10 Arizona vs. Colorado.

In games involving other ranked teams, it's No. 11 Arizona State vs. Washington State, No. 13 Iowa vs. Texas El-Paso, No. 14 Maryland vs. North Carolina State, No. 15 UCLA vs. Long Beach State, No. 16 Texas A&M vs. Southern Mississippi, No. 17 Baylor vs. Texas Tech, No. 18 Michigan State vs. Western Michigan and No. 19 Fresno State vs. Louisiana Tech.

Veterans, Hughes Rally Lady Lions

By Chris Pister Herald Sports Writer

When senior Kelly Price went down with an injured ankle in practice Wednesday, the Oviedo High volleyball fortunes took a turn for the worse. The good news: Price's ankle was not broken. The bad news: It was a bad sprain that could keep the powerful performer out for a while.

Although the loss of Price hurt, the Lady Lions rallied behind their veteran players and up-and-coming sophomore Suzanne Hughes to claim a 15-6, 15-9 victory over Kissimmee Osceola Thursday night in Orange Belt Conference action at Kissimmee.

"The girls could have had a let down without Kelly (Price), but they pulled together and played really well," Oviedo coach Anita Carlson said. "I hope we'll have Kelly back soon and it's going to be hard trying to get used to not having her there. But I think we'll be all right."

The Lady Lions, 4-1 overall and 1-1 in the Orange Belt, return to action Saturday at 9 a.m. against Orlando Oak Ridge in the single elimination Winter Park tournament. Seminole, Lyman and Lake Howell will also compete in the tourney.

Thursday night, junior Jill Knutson and the 6-0½ Hughes dominated in the front row for the Lady Lions. With the versatile Knutson contributing to the front row play, and the every-improving Hughes, Oviedo hopes to persevere while Price is on the sidelines.

"Suzanne (Hughes) is getting better every game," Carlson said. "She got in a lot of spikes tonight and she's so tall that nobody has been able to block her yet."

The veteran players who Oviedo relied on Thursday included seniors Cindy Wood, Barbara Malone and Kelly Davidson. Wood served seven points in the opening game while Malone served eight points in two games and did not miss a serve. Junior Jodie Switzer also served 100 percent while Carlson said Davidson did an excellent job setting.

Buster, Jeff VanBuskirk, Kavan Howell, Steve Steffy and Andy Terechenok.

Seminole High's girls are also not expected to run their usual team as number two runner Viola Posey will be out of town and number four runner Ginger Skees is nursing an injury.

"Ginger (Skees) wants to run in her home meet but if she's not ready I'll hold her out because I want her strong for later in the season," Seminole coach Cindy Branum said.

Leading the way for Seminole is Shownda Martin who has a top time of 12:23 which is third in Seminole County and only one second off the 10th best time in the state.

Top-ranked Lake Howell will also be on hand Saturday. The Lady Hawks have two of the top five runners in the state in Lisa Samockl (third at 11:39) and Martha Fonseca (fifth at 11:46). Jenny Bolt, Mary Fonseca, Bonnie Oliver, Tammy Bolt and Michelle Lee also rank in the top 15 in the county for the Lady Silver Hawks.

COACHES ENJOY, RETURN TO BEACH

Although some say it is not cross country, the Daytona Beach Seabreeze Beach Run is one of the most popular meets of the season. While Seminole and Lake Howell will be in the Seminole Invitational, Lake Mary, Lyman, Lake Brantley and Oviedo will make the trip to the Beach Run.

Saturday's meet, the 21st annual running of the Beach Run, starts at 9:30 with girls varsity followed by boys varsity at 10, girls junior varsity (unscored) at 10:30 and boys JV (unscored) at 11.

"It's the oldest established cross country race in the state," Lake Mary girls coach Mike Gibson said. "I ran in it when I was at Seminole High and enjoyed it as an athlete and now I enjoy taking my teams there."

Gibson's Lady Rams had their best showing of the young season last week at the Edgewater Invitational, where they finished seventh. Sue Kingsbury led the way with an 18th place time of 12:42 which is currently eighth in the county.

Also running season's bests for Lake Mary were Heather Heikkila (37th at 13:25), Allison Snell (48th at 13:48), Lisa Shelby (58th at 14:28) and Heidi Hostnick (73rd at 16:09). Tabatha Gano just missed her pr with a time of 14:09 (52nd).

Lake Mary boys coach Mark McGee, who also ran at the beach as an athlete at Lyman High, doesn't agree with those who say it is not an actual cross country race.

"Cross country implies lots of different surfaces and conditions," McGee said. "The Beach Run is just another type of course. Some say it is unfair and unnatural but I don't think it is. Out of the top 20 times ever run by Lake Mary people, only five are from the beach."

McGee's team is coming off its best performance yet as the Rams took sixth at the Edgewater meet with the top four varsity runners all turning in personal bests. They included Eric Petersen (7th at 15:31), Brad Smith (15th at 15:57), Paul Evans (32nd at 16:52) and Scott Plyler (46th at 17:19).

Bramble Fights Rosario But Thinks Camacho

MIAMI BEACH (UPI) — Edwin Rosario has given both Livingstone Bramble and Hector Camacho reason for taking tonight's lightweight title fights seriously.

Bramble will defend his World Boxing Association title against Rosario and Camacho will defend his World Boxing Council crown against Cornelius Boza-Edwards.

Bramble wants to knock out Rosario for talking too much and Camacho wants to prove he is better than he looked while winning a close decision over Rosario in June.

"It's hard to keep your mind off Hector Camacho," Bramble said. "But you have to take every fight seriously."

If Bramble and Camacho win and avoid injury in Friday night's double-header at the Abel Holtz tennis stadium, they will fight on another double-header and the winners from that card will meet.

Bramble got some help taking Rosario seriously from the challenger this week. "Rosario is getting aggressive at the lip," Bramble said. "I never shook hands with a fighter before a fight, but I was going to do it for the very first time because Rosario impressed me as a gentleman."

"But forget it; he's been talking too much, yelling at my trainers. I'll be very content to knock this man out."

Rosario, who does most of his talking in Spanish, is looking for a rematch with Camacho.

He hurt Camacho twice in their June fight before losing a disputed 12-round decision.

"I am fighting Bramble, but I see only Camacho," said Rosario, a former WBC 135-pound champ. "It will make me win."

Bramble, 28, lives in Hampton, N.J., and is 24-1-1 with 15 knockouts. Rosario, a 23-year-old from Puerto Rico, is 23-2 with 19 knockouts.

Camacho, of New York, said he abandoned his usual lateral movement against Rosario and won't repeat the mistake against Boza-Edwards.

"I was right in front of Rosario, right there for that right hand," Camacho said.

Lyman Tries To Shed Lax Offense Against Patriots

By Scott Sander Herald Sports Writer

LONGWOOD — To say that the Lyman Greyhound offense has struggled through the first two weeks of the season would be an extreme understatement.

The 'Hounds have managed only 7 points in their first two games. Despite the paltry production, a 7-6 win over Boone and a 14-0 loss to Daytona Beach Mainland have left Lyman at 1-1 entering tonight's Seminoles Athletic Conference opener against Lake Brantley at Lake Brantley High School.

If Lyman is going to be competitive in the SAC, however, its offense is going to have to improve in a hurry. It's been lax in both games thus far.

"We need to get on the winning track again," Lyman coach Bill Scott said. "This is a really good rivalry and has produced a number of great games. This should be a heck of a game."

Brantley coach Fred Almon, who was an assistant coach at Lyman two years ago, said the game is "do or die" for his Patriots. Brantley lost its first two games (Oviedo and No. 1 Orlando Evans) and faces a demanding District 5A-5 schedule with Winter Park, Apopka, Lake Howell and Winter Garden yet to come.

Almon has settled on lefty Greg Ebbert at quarterback. He has moved Bucky Chambers, big solid blocker, into the backfield with Mark Sepe and breakthrough threat Johnnie Griffin to add some punch to the backfield.

as anything," he said. "We just need somebody to get our offense in the end zone."

That somebody may be Robert Thomas. The 5-10, 180-pound tailback is the heart and soul of the Lyman offense. Thomas is second in the SAC rushing race with 168 yards. In the Greyhounds' opening victory over Boone, Thomas carried the ball 26 times for 109 yards and a touchdown. In their loss to Mainland last week, Thomas only had nine carries good for 47 yards. Thomas needs to have a large number of carries in order for the Lyman offense to be productive.

Scott said that mistakes at critical times have dearly cost the 'Hounds so far. "Everyone has made little mistakes," Scott said. "They all seem to accumulate and they really hurt you in the long run."

Four lost fumbles is what really hurt Lyman last week. Had it not been for the fumbles, it could have been a different game. "We have got to eliminate the turnovers," Scott said. "They always haunt you."

Scott went on to say that the 'Hounds are not a big-play type offense and they need to get more consistent. "You won't see a lot of big plays from us," Scott said. "We have got to get more consistent, though. We get a nice drive going and something goes wrong."

The Lyman defense can't be faulted. Coach Jack Bloomingdale's 11 has played pretty well in the first two games. "I think that our defense has done a good job," Bloomingdale said. "The performances of our kids have been very good so far."

Bloomingdale knows that Brantley will be running the "Power-I" and has practiced accordingly. "They have a good running game," Bloomingdale said. "We have done well so far against the run this year. We should be able to stop them."

Brantley second-year coach Almon has coached many of the Lyman players and Scott said the players like and respect him. "Our kids really like Fred a lot," Scott said. "We are hoping for a real good game."

Scott said that the Greyhounds will have to play inspired football in order to win. "The kids will be pumped up," Scott said. "With this type of rivalry it doesn't take much to get them fired up."

Mosure said his secondary of halfbacks Ron Blake and Nick Casaleo along with safety Leonard Lucas and monsterback Bernard Burke must have a good night. "This is the first real severe test for the secondary," Mosure said.

He hopes will continue tonight. He and his team are very anxious to get into the win column. "The reason we are 0 and 2 is because of two basic things," Mosure said. "Defensively, we are not getting into the right alignment. One or two kids not lined up in the right place can cost you a touchdown."

Blanton, Kinnaird Spark Oviedo JV

By Chris Fister Herald Sports Writer

A lot of Seminole County's varsity teams are searching for the right quarterback, but Oviedo High junior varsity coach Ken Kroog doesn't face the same dilemma. In fact, Kroog has a pair of outstanding young QBs in Matt Blanton and Micah Kinnaird.

for 40 yards including a 26-yard touchdown strike to Charles Warner for the winning score. St. Cloud took a 6-0 lead in the first quarter on Tony Harris' five-yard run but Oviedo blocked the extra point. The Lions took a 7-6 lead in the second quarter on Blanton's one-yard sneak and Eric Dullmeyer's conversion kick. It remained 7-6 at halftime.

until late in the fourth quarter. On the Lions' second play after recovering a Harris fumble, Kinnaird unloaded a 26-yard TD pass to Warner. Dullmeyer's kick gave Oviedo a 21-14 lead with less than two minutes remaining. St. Cloud could not get a drive going on its next possession.

Enjoy Hours Of Relaxation With A Patio Addition To The Landscape

One of the most pleasant and enjoyable areas of your home landscape is a patio. Here, you can enjoy hours of relaxation alone, or with friends and family. A well-designed patio can improve your home's value—both in appearance and dollars. Sensible planning and good construction are the basic essentials to keep in mind in developing the area.

The spot you select for your patio should be one of the most carefully planned parts of your landscape. It's especially important to select the proper kinds of plants for use in and around a patio. Keep in mind that when you plant the area, you want to insure years of pleasure with minimum maintenance.

In most instances, the patio is located next to the side or rear door. But, it doesn't have to be there. The important thing is to keep it relatively close to a primary entrance to your home. It's a good idea, too, to leave about two feet of planting area between the paving and the exterior wall of your home.

When designing your patio, make sure it will be large enough to serve your family's needs.

Settling for a few small, concrete slabs near the house won't provide you with much space, and may be a disappointment in the long run. Keep in mind, too, the range of your family's activities.

Drainage is another important consideration. All patios should slope slightly away from the house to allow water to drain off. The slope is especially important with solidly paved surfaces.

Carefully choose the materials for paving. This is a long-term investment, and it can be expensive. Concrete is the least expensive, but it's also the least interesting. With a little imagination, you can improve on the appearance by varying the surface with gravel or pebbles. Or, you can color the concrete with paint, stain, or other chemicals.

Bricks or pre-cast concrete slabs set in sand or mortar will make an attractive patio surface. Flagstone and tile are the most attractive, but also the most expensive. If you choose one of these, you'll have a high-quality, patio surface that will wear extremely well.

Don't forget lighting in your plans. Floodlights controlled from inside the house are recommended. But, portable lights can be used. The lights should be of a color that won't attract insects. Additional lighting can be installed to accent certain parts of the landscape, such as a specimen plant or garden pool. Keep in mind that the wiring should be in place before paving.

After you have decided on the surface material and construction details, you need to consider the plantings that will give the patio a "touch of class." The proper choice of plants is needed to create a pleasing effect. Locate your trees so they will provide shade during warm weather when the patio will be used the most. Select trees that will be relatively small when mature. Species with interesting leaf and trunk patterns will make the patio much more attractive. Avoid those with oversized fruit or flowers, or ones that produce seeds which may stain the pavement.

The size and growth habit of the shrubs is important, too. Select low-growing types with striking colors, form, and texture. Beautiful shrubs that are too fragile to use in other parts of the landscape may grow well in more protected patio areas. Try some of these more exotic plants.

Another way to decorate your patio is to use potted or tub plants and hanging baskets. These are particularly useful when your patio doesn't have convenient planting areas. Container-grown plants can be placed anywhere you need an accent or color. But, be careful not to overdo it. Too many different types may make your patio seem crowded.

If you have a small patio, you can make it look larger by carefully locating a few good plants at strategic points. Avoid crowding. Stepped plantings are useful for enlarging the visual image of the limited area. Begin with lower plants near the patio, and gradually use taller types further away. This will lead the eye upward and out of a confined space.

If your patio seems too large, you can make it visually smaller by inserting planting squares in the surface. A solidly paved area tends to look bigger than one that's broken up into distinct visual patterns. If your patio is already surfaced, you can accomplish the same effect with properly spaced, raised flower beds, planters, and large potted plants.

Before you spend a lot of money for a patio, take plenty of time to carefully plan your project. Consider the uses your family will have for it. If you need a large space, don't settle for a smaller one. Be sure to allow for drainage, and carefully consider the available surface materials—from durability and appearance, to cost. Remember, plants play an important part in creating an attractive, restful environment. And, by artistic use of trees, shrubs, and other plants, you can create a patio that you, your family, and friends can enjoy for many years. Happy Gardening!

Bacterial And Viral Meningitis Differ

Dr. Gott

DEAR DR. GOTT — Last year I had viral meningitis, and many people stayed away from me because they heard that it was contagious. Will you explain the disease and any long-term effects that the fluid on the brain might have?

DEAR READER — Viral (aseptic) meningitis is an infection of the membrane that covers the brain. It can be differentiated from bacterial meningitis by analysis of the spinal fluid. In the acute phase, it is contagious, but it usually clears up by itself and produces no long-lasting consequences. Antibiotics are ineffective in treating viral meningitis because the medicines do not affect viruses. Once the infection disappears, the spinal fluid and brain tissue return to normal.

DEAR DR. GOTT — In terms of building muscle, how do those Nautilus machines compare to home workouts with barbells? DEAR READER — It's a matter of preference. Exercise machines can give a good workout by toning up muscles — sometimes large groups of muscles in all parts of the body. On the other hand, the use of free weights will enable the user to progress beyond simple conditioning. Weightlifting will increase muscle bulk and size to a degree that the Nautilus machines cannot.

If you want a little exercise and are not interested in bodybuilding, the Nautilus system is fine. If you want to build up your muscles, I believe that free weights do a better job. DEAR DR. GOTT — I have been told that the pain and weakness in my legs comes from calcium deposits. What can be done for this? DEAR READER — It depends on where the calcium deposits are. If they are pinching or compressing a nerve — for instance, in your back — the deposits may have to be surgically removed, or serious damage may result.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I recently read of a person who was cured of allergies forever by receiving adrenal cortex injections once a week for nine months, then once every two weeks for three months. If this method worked for him, why haven't more doctors tried it? DEAR READER — Adrenal cortex injections consist of cortisone, a naturally occurring substance that reduces the body's ability to react to inflammation. Cortisone and its analogues, such as prednisone, are extremely effective antidotes for a variety of diseases, including lupus, rheumatoid arthritis and some severe allergic reactions.

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby
A sad reality as contract bridge nears its 60th anniversary is the gradual disappearance of the legendary figures of the game. So I am happy to report that today's skillful declarer play was by 81-year-old Joel Tarlo of England. The bidding may not have been as shown, but four spades was the actual contract. Since three no-trump seemed easy, Tarlo knew he needed to make his contract to avoid a disastrous adverse swing in the team-of-four contest. Trusting the opening lead, he won dummy's king and continued with the nine, but East covered with the jack. Convinced that East was left with the 8-6 of spades, Tarlo won his spade ace and played the queen of diamonds, hoping for a defensive miscue. No such luck! West grabbed the ace of diamonds; cashed the club ace and led a club to East's king. Back came another diamond. What next? Tarlo's plan was to shorten his trumps to the same number as East's and still wind up in dummy at the right time. So he played a heart to dummy's 10 and held his breath. When the 10 held, he ruffed a diamond, played back to the heart king and led the good clubs. Since East had to follow suit, declarer threw both his winning hearts on the clubs and was left at the finish with the Q-7 of spades over the 8-6 in East's hand. It was just another day at the office for bridge legend Joel Tarlo.

What The Day Will Bring...

YOUR BIRTHDAY
SEPTEMBER 27, 1986
 Conditions over which you may have little control could stimulate your ambitions in the year ahead. These urges will be positive and they'll contribute to your success.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) In order to gain the support you require from others today in an adventure that's important to you, you must open ways for them to derive benefits as well. Get a jump on life by understanding the influences that will govern you in the year ahead. Send for your Astro-Graph predictions today. Mail $1 to Astro-Graph, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428. Be sure to state your zodiac sign.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Even though your ideas may be superior to those of your contemporaries today, don't ridicule what they have to offer. Yours will be rejected if you do.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) For the sake of your pocketbook, it's best not to get involved in a friend's complicated financial affairs today. You could end up being his or her banker.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Extra tact will be required today to keep an important relationship running smoothly. Don't make a big issue over a small infraction.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) A poor attitude will affect your productivity today. If you think a task is distasteful, you're likely to do it in a way that will prove you are right.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Don't let it disturb you today if someone with whom you're involved gets more attention from your friends than you do. Your turn is next.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Domestic responsibilities should be given priority today. You won't like yourself much if you let loved ones down, and they won't feel too good about you, either.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Unexpected events could occur today and disrupt your well-planned schedule. Try to adjust to conditions instead of losing your cool.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) This could turn out to be a rather costly day for you if you get involved in something socially with persons who don't pick up their end of the tab.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Try not to put yourself in a position today that will enable associates to make decisions for you that affect your personal interests. You won't like what they decide.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Usually, you're an optimistic person, but today you could have a tendency to worry too much about things that might never happen. Be hopeful instead.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Money could slip through your fingers today. You're not apt to be wasteful with large amounts, but the little things that you buy here and there will add up.

WORLD

France Troops, Jets Aid Togo Following Failed Coup Attempt

LOME, Togo (UPI) — France sent about 150 troops to Lome today and prepared to send a contingent of jet fighters to support Togo's pro-Western government following a failed coup believed to have originated in pro-Libyan Ghana.

The Defense Ministry in Paris said France was responding to a request by President Gnassingbe Eyadema after Togo's army and police crushed the coup attempt by several dozen commandos who attacked Eyadema's residence.

The ministry said the troops, from the 11th division of paratroopers based at Libreville, Gabon, arrived early this morning and took up positions around sensitive areas in Lome, including the airport, the presidential palace and radio and television stations. They reported that the night was calm.

A French minesweeping ship, the Croix du Sud, was in Lome's port, with about 50 sailors on board, officials said.

Europe To Battle Terrorists

LONDON (UPI) — Western Europe is going to war with terrorists. Their weapons: hi-tech crime detection and communications against the money, arms and technical expertise the gunmen and bombers can deploy.

Immediate targets include the bomb-throwers who have killed nine people and wounded more than 160 others in Paris this month, and the 60 to 80 Abu Nidal Palestinian terrorists who West Germany says are planning new attacks on the continent.

Interior and justice ministers from the 12 European Community nations met in London Thursday in the first of three conferences between now and Christmas to explore ways to deal with terrorist attacks that have cost scores of lives and millions of dollars.

"Terrorists, by their choice of method, are not warriors but criminals, and should be treated as such," said British Home Secretary Douglas Hurd.

Crowd Surrounds Haitian Army

PORT-AU-PRINCE, Haiti (UPI) — Angry slum dwellers chased a group of soldiers through the streets and into an army barracks in a northern city then blocked off the city with burning tires, radio reports said.

The government-owned Radio Nationale said some soldiers may have been injured by rocks thrown in the confrontation Thursday with about 200 people in the city of Gonaives, about 100 miles north of Port-Au-Prince.

The broadcast said the confrontation in Gonaives — center of the popular movement that ended the dictatorship of President Jean-Claude Duvalier in February — began when soldiers arrived from the Port-au-Prince, the capital, seeking suspects in the murder of a soldier several days ago.

Crowds formed when the soldiers, dressed in civilian clothes, went into the slum of Raboteau. After the soldiers identified themselves, the crowds chased them to an army barracks and began demanding the release of several prisoners.

Soweto Housing Director Quits

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (UPI) — Saying she could not ignore the "faceless terror" of a bomb attack on her home, a white Soweto township official who authorized an eviction of rent strikers resigned today.

Del Kevan, director of housing in Johannesburg's giant black township of Soweto, said, "I have no answer for people who will not come out in the open and prefer to use terror tactics."

Kevan last month authorized the eviction of Soweto families participating in a nationwide anti-government rent boycott. At least 21 blacks died in Soweto Aug. 28 in clashes with security forces following protest meetings by rent strikers who feared large-scale evictions.

Kevan blamed supporters of the rent strike for the bomb attack on her home early Wednesday in the white suburb of Craighall, about 20 miles from Soweto.

No one was injured in the explosion but she said her home was extensively damaged and a neighbor's child had a narrow escape.

Convict Denies Knowing Bombers

PARIS (UPI) — One of three convicts whose release from prison has been demanded by Arab groups that claimed responsibility for a wave of bombings in Paris said he has no knowledge of the groups.

Anis Naccache — serving a life sentence for leading a pro-Iranian commando squad in a 1980 assassination attempt — said through his lawyer Thursday that he "condemns all blind terrorist attacks."

"He has come to believe that the demand for his freedom is a pretext and he is sure the French government must know this," said lawyer Antoine Comte.

The Committee of Solidarity with Arab and Middle Eastern Political Prisoners and its apparent sister group, the Partisans of Right and Liberty, have claimed responsibility for five Paris bombings that killed nine people and wounded more than 160 between Sept. 8 and Sept. 17.

Their main demand has been the release of Georges Ibrahim Abdallah, reputed leader of the leftist Lebanese Armed Revolutionary Faction, but they have also called for the release of Naccache and Waroujian Garbidjian, leader of an attack at Orly airport in 1982.

Israel Patrols Lebanon Skies

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — Israeli helicopter gunships and warplanes patrolled the skies of southern Lebanon, hours after an air raid on a Palestinian base killed one guerrilla and wounded two others.

Moslem Voice of the Nation radio said the Israeli aircraft, apparently on reconnaissance missions, flew over the south Thursday following their second strike this week on Palestinian targets.

Earlier in the day, police in the port city of Sidon, 24 miles south of Beirut, said two Israeli jets fired six air-to-surface rockets on the nearby Miyeh Miyeh Palestinian refugee camp.

The rockets scored a direct hit on a building used as a training base by the mainstream Al Fatah group of the Palestine Liberation Organization, police said.

So He Won't Be Moving After All

City Forgives Falwell's $1.4 Million Tax Debt

LYNCHBURG, Va. (UPI) — The City Council voted to forgive a $1.4 million tax bill owed by the enterprises of the Rev. Jerry Falwell, who had threatened to move his evangelical empire to a big city unless the assessment was dropped.

The council Thursday night granted tax-exempt status to the organization, reversing the city's earlier position in the dispute. Falwell did not attend the hearing but later said the 5-2 decision pleased him.

Falwell, who led the fundamentalist Moral Majority group, had threatened to move to Atlanta, Dallas or Orlando, Fla., unless he was given a tax exemption for the Old-Time Gospel Hour television show, his umbrella organization, as well as Liberty University and other holdings.

Some residents expressed resentment over Falwell's threat to leave as a way of bullying the city and the hearing drew such a large turnout it had to be moved from council chambers to a high school auditorium.

But a majority of the council said other schools with religious affiliations had been granted similar tax-exempt status and forgave Falwell's debts. The action must be approved by the state General Assembly. The Assembly routinely grants tax exemption requests that are backed by local governments.

"We are now putting Jerry Falwell on welfare," said Councilman M.W. Thornhill, who voted against the request.

"Don't grant this insidious request," said resident Nathaniel Hobbie. "It will do violence to the Constitution."

Falwell, who employs 2,000 people in Lynchburg, was dissatisfied because the city demanded he pay taxes on much of his organization's property, including the university and buildings belonging to the Old-Time Gospel Hour.

City officials had said Liberty University could be offered tax-exempt status if he separated the school from the Old-Time Gospel Hour. But Falwell refused, and the council approved the move anyway.

Leaders of the Falwell's organization were miffed recently when the Old-Time Gospel Hour bought a historic music academy in downtown Lynchburg to save it from demolition, only to receive a city tax bill on the property.

The city also had feared Falwell would turn off the lights to the airport. The town's lease on the mountain where the airport beacon lights were placed expired in 1983 and wasn't renewed or paid for since then.

Falwell's group owns the land but he has said he has no "interest in owning a city installation or shutting down the airport."

"If in fact the city does not have a valid lease, they can certainly obtain one from us for the asking," said Falwell, who had raised publicity surrounding the issue.

NASA Unveils Revised Space Station Plan

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sometime in 1993, if everything goes according to plan, a space shuttle carrying four orbital construction workers will blast off from Cape Canaveral, Fla., to begin assembly of a 500-foot space station.

One year and eight flights later, the embryonic base in space will be big enough and equipped enough to begin housing eight men and women on a permanent basis, with crews rotating to and from the station every three months.

NASA Administrator James Fletcher revealed the revised plan for the ambitious space station to the House space subcommittee Thursday, saying 31 shuttle missions, including logistics flights, will be needed to complete the project during a four-year period.

Fletcher said there is potential for further growth to the station, allowing it to house 20 to 30 people.

His project got a big boost Thursday when the House approved a $7.7 billion NASA spending plan that includes $410 million in the next fiscal year to begin work on the station.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration plans to ask aerospace contractors in January to submit bids for construction of various elements, and the first work on actual hardware could begin next summer, Fletcher said.

Design revisions, made largely with the prodding of Congress, will make it easier to get the base into space, easier to maintain it and safer for its crew. Still under consideration is whether to add a "lifeboat" to allow the station crew to return home in an emergency.

Fletcher said the design changes might add to the overall $8 billion cost estimate for the station, but new cost estimates

School To Hold Kissing Seminar

DALLAS (UPI) — Students only get lip service from the textbooks but enthusiastically await homework in an adult education class designed to teach the perfect pucker.

Marriage and family therapist Bill Entsminger instructs a classroom of eager and embarrassed men in a "Kissing with Confidence" class, the Dallas Times Herald said Thursday.

The catalog notes: "This is not a lab course."

"When I didn't (kiss) in previous catalogs, people took it seriously," he said. "They were terrified they would show up and have to kiss someone."

Entsminger said the class, which he teaches for a private, continuing education firm called Fun Ed, always has attracted more men than women; serious types interested in building talent into skill.

"Women are just naturally better kissers than men," he said. "They're warmer, more giving, more receptive people. With men, kissing is a performance. They have to live up to expectations that they're red hot lovers."

Warm, soft lips — no hard lips, no sloppy sliding around, especially at first — makes for a good kiss, the teacher said.

Open-mouthed French kissing requires preliminary.

"Don't start with too much suction, like a vacuum cleaner," he said. "That may be appropriate later on."

The biggest kissing turnout, the class agreed, is being kissed by the wrong person.

Also high on the list was bad breath and lack of enthusiasm. Entsminger also warned that if the woman does not want to be kissed at the close of the evening, "monitor your manners next time."

"If she watches a guy pick his teeth all night, and he starts to kiss her, she may wonder what all he had in there," he said.

long to fail now, O'Neill said. "Let's say yes to a change. Let's say yes to a brighter new day for American taxpayers. Let's not wait another 50 years for reform."

O'Neill's remarks, which closed out the debate, were greeted with a standing ovation, including Treasury Secretary James Baker, who watched the debate from the visitors' gallery.

The steamroller of support for the measure was reflected in the vote — with 176 Democrats and 116 Republicans supporting the bill, while 74 Democrats and 82 Republicans opposed it.

But despite the large margin of support, even some of the most ardent proponents admitted it was not perfect and there was no great clamor for the plan among their constituents. Nonetheless, they argued, the bill was still better than the current system.

Rep. Guy Vander Jagt, R-Mich., agreed there were probably "100 reasons to vote against the bill and only a handful to vote for it." But, he stressed, those few reasons "were so outstanding, so historic, that they dwarf into insignificance" the others.

Under the bill, the present 15 individual tax rates, which have a top of 50 percent, would be replaced by two rates of 15 percent and 28 percent and an effective top rate of 33 percent. The top corporate rate of 46 percent would drop to 34 percent.

However, to pay for those reductions, the bill would limit or drop a host of tax breaks.

The deduction for contributions to individual retirement accounts would be severely limited; the deduction for sales taxes would be dropped; the write-off for two-earner couples would be eliminated; and new restrictions would be placed on such deductions as medical expenses and union dues.

Some of the most popular deductions, such as home mortgage interest and most state and local taxes, would be preserved.

"I was being cautious in my movements. I knew the situation was dangerous for foreigners here but I was taking precautions. I had bodyguards escorting me today but I do not blame them for leaving me alone with the driver to repair the flat tire," said Hirat, who has been in Lebanon for 25 years.

A number of Westerners are being held captive in Lebanon, including several Americans.

In addition to the Holiday Inn, local business supporters include the RiverShip Romance, Cardinal Industries, Central Florida Regional Hospital, Harcor Aluminum and Katie's Wekiva River Landing, which is providing the canoes.

The triathlon will begin in front of the Holiday Inn with a three mile run, into eastern Sanford and back to the marina. Racers will then pick up bicycles and pedal 10 miles through western Sanford and back to the lake. Here they'll get into canoes and finish the contest on the lake. Individual entrants will go two miles on the lake, while relay teams will paddle three.

Sanford and Seminole County law enforcement officers will be on hand to assist traffic flow during the street races.

Prizes will be awarded the top three finishers in the team and individual categories, which are grouped by age and sex. The triathlon also has a husband-wife category, with top finishers receiving a dinner cruise on the Romance.

liability coverage in case of an accident. But the students have to do all their own clean-up. Police and firemen have guaranteed supervision will be provided.

So far, the facility offers ping-pong, video games, bumper pool, speed hockey, stereo music and other attractions. They plan on hiring small bands and holding dances as time goes on.

Students will be issued membership cards and be required to sign in and out. But once they've signed out for the evening, they will not be permitted back in.

"That's to prevent them from using it has a 'hang out'," said Orioles.

About 35 teens showed up at the most recent get-together, and organizers expect many more once the word begins to spread.

"We didn't think we'd get any response at all without any publicity yet, but it proves how much the kids want this," Orioles said.

Pretty soon, the whole operation will be turned over to the teens. They will elect officers, raise their own funds and decide what games and amusements to purchase. Supervision will be maintained. But the atmosphere will be relaxed. Smoking cigarettes will be permitted.

Although the age requirements have not been finally determined, the program is targeted mainly at those age 13 to 17. Police Chief Charles Lauderdale was also instrumental in getting the program started, according to organizers. His idea was that young people were congregating on street corners and needed an alternative.

"Police would just ask these kids to move from place to place," said Orioles, acting city manager in Lake Mary. "This will give them a place to be basically by themselves with a minimum amount of supervision."

Further information on the triathlon may be obtained from the Holiday Inn, 323-1910.

road. We think 11 or 12 feet would be best."

With the help of Stan Welling, building and zoning official, the city decided the code would allow a 14-foot road, even though there could be no cul-de-sac. Emergency vehicles will simply have to back out of the small street, the city decided. Commissioner Russ Megonegal made the motion and it passed unanimously.

Finally, in other action, the city took Commissioner Ken King's suggestion to require at least three bids (if at all possible) before awarding contracts in the future.

—Kathy Tyrity

In another bid award, Briar Construction got another contract with the city — $48,000 to build a waterline extension serving 70 homes in Country Downs. Country Downs originally hooked in with county water, but since a main has now been extended out that way, city water is available.

Lore To Explore Surrounding Minting Of Coins

Pennies, Dimes And Dollars Make Sense

Gone are the days when you could sift through your change with hope of turning up a collectible coin. Today's coins that are just copper clad slugs hold little or no interest, except for special collector issues.

The old coins that catch the eye of the collector can be found only through a secondary market of coin dealers, auctioneers and other collectors.

Sanford's Glenn Meyers, who at 33 said he's been a coin collector for about 20 years, also said that coin fanciers don't play Midas. Their treasures are too valuable to keep close at hand, although the aesthetic value of the coins is a draw to many collectors, including Meyers.

Meyers' collection of loose change is kept in a bank safety deposit box, which he visits about once a month. He'd rather have his coins at home, so he could play Midas every day or so and enjoy having his hands on this cash. But he has to protect his investment.

As a Boy Scout, Meyers earned a merit badge in coin collecting, and it's an interest that has endured. The history behind the coins, which reflects the history of the nation, is a draw to him. There's lore to explore surrounding the minting of some coins, he said.

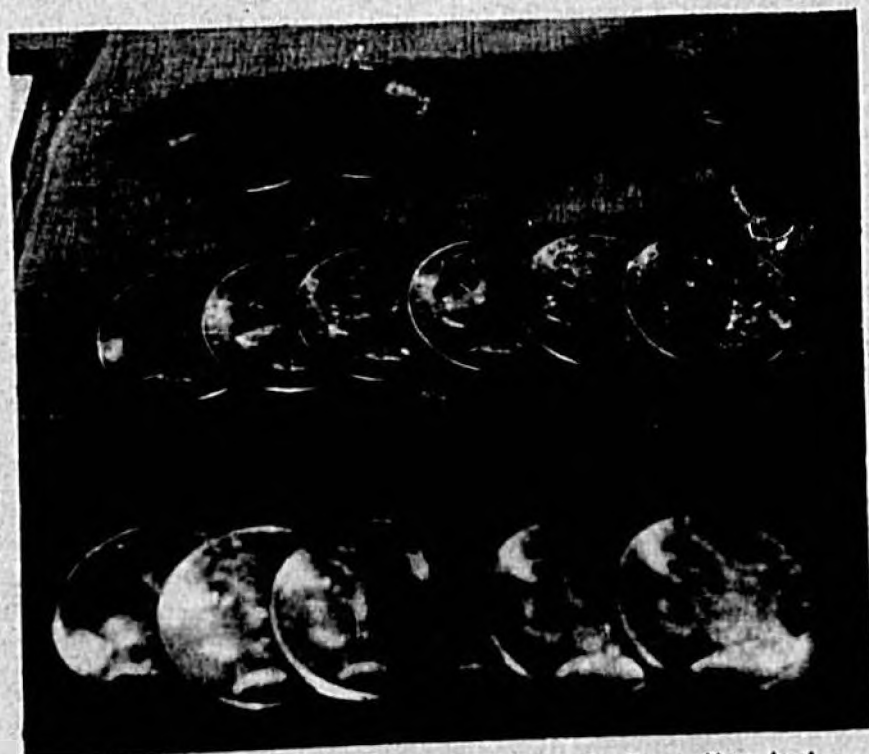

Other coin collectors take a less sentimental view of coinage. About half of all coin collectors, Meyers said, are in the field for investment opportunities. That wasn't the case before the 1960s, when about 80 to 90 percent of the collectors were strictly hobbyists, he said.

But investors have learned that coins hold great potential of increased value. However, if you enter the field as a speculator or even a hobbyist, Meyers said, you must proceed with caution.

"There's no Santa Claus in numismatics," he said. "You get what you pay for and there are a lot of good people involved and a lot of not so good people."

Even if you're just a hobbyist, before you hand over less collectible cash for a coin you'd better do some research. "Buy the book before you buy the coin. Know what you're getting into," he said.

A coin show, like the one scheduled by the Central Florida Coin Club at the Orlando Expo Centre this weekend is an ideal introduction to the art of coin collecting, Meyers said.

That show is scheduled from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., Friday, Saturday and Sunday and about 60 collectors from across the country will be on hand to show their coins and to spark interest in the hobby. A coin auction is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Saturday and admission to the show and auction is free, Meyers said.

...Coins

It's the collectors choice when it comes to singling out what they want to collect. Meyers favors the Morgan silver dollar, which was issued from 1878 to 1904.

Among the coins considered most valuable is the Brasher doubloon struck by a private, New England coliner in the late 18th Century. One of these surviving colonial coins sold for $200,025 for a record in 1980, Meyers said.

Some coins issued by the U.S. Mint are very rare and valuable, including the 1822, $5 gold piece and the 1870 San Francisco $3 gold piece. Each of those have sold for about $400,000. There are only a couple of the 1822 gold pieces in the hands of private collectors and only one known San Francisco $3 gold piece, he said.

One coin that was a flop with the public as well as collectors was the Susan B. Anthony dollar that was issued and withdrawn in recent years. Although it would be quite rare to find one of these dollars that look too much like a quarter in circulation, there's nothing rare about them, Meyers said.

He called the issuance of that coin a fiasco and said the government has millions of them sitting in vaults, which can be made available to collectors on request. But the question, according to Meyers is, who wants them?

Even collectors it seems aren't interested in trading their green back buy! for a $1 coin, especially if it looks so much like a 25 cent piece.

Commerative coins, which were issued on special occasions starting in 1892, were popular especially in the mid-1930s. That practice was stopped in 1954, Meyers said, because of profiteering on the part of event sponsors.

But in 1982 the U.S. government issued a coin honoring George Washington. That was followed by Olympic commemorative coins, and a Statue of Liberty series. The Statue of Liberty set, which includes a $5 gold piece, was first issued for $175 and today is valued at about $450, Meyers said.

Old coins shouldn't be cleaned, except by an expert, he said. They are usually stored in plastic sleeves, to avoid scratches.

It's a hobby that can pay with satisfaction of ownership, but before stepping into the field, Meyers cautions, "You have to know what you're doing to come out ahead."

Innocence Meets Evil

Kyle MacLachlan Stars In 'Blue Velvet'

By Frank Banello

HOLLYWOOD (NEA) — The stars of most epic films that flop don't stay stars for long. Quick! Who had the title role in the remake of "Flash Gordon"? Can you name the star of the recent movie version of "The Lone Ranger"? Who played Bo Derek's "Tarzan"?

Kyle MacLachlan considers himself very fortunate. He played Paul Atreides, the Messianic hero of the epic-science fiction film "Dune," which also happened to be one of the epic bombs of 1984. "I looked like a blow-dried Ken doll in "Dune," MacLachlan says.

The handsome 26-year-old actor is almost relieved that "Dune" flopped because Dino De Laurentiis had him under contract to star in four possible sequels. "I would have been Paul for the next 20 years," he says, flinching at the thought.

The slightly built MacLachlan has done more than escape oblivion. He's proven that he can play something other than a "blow-dried Ken doll" in outerspace.

"Blue Velvet" was directed by David Lynch, who also directed "Dune," but it's hard to believe the two films were created by the same person. Co-starring Isabella Rossellini, Dennis Hopper and Laura Dern, "Blue Velvet" is a deeply disturbing, hard-to-watch story about innocence confronting evil in a small town. Rossellini (Ingrid Bergman's daughter) plays a masochistic nightclub singer who is regularly beaten by Hopper in horrifically graphic scenes. MacLachlan is a sweet college student who finds himself shocked and fascinated as he's drawn into their sadomasochistic relationship, bringing Laura Dern's even more innocent high school student along with him.

"Blue Velvet" is so kinky it makes "9½ Weeks," last spring's S&M extravaganza, seem like a Disney film.

Feminists will not be pleased by the repeated abuse Hopper inflicts on Rossellini, even though MacLachlan is treated almost as roughly.

"It was a worry," MacLachlan recalls. "While we were shooting we were always saying, 'I wonder how women are going to react to this picture.' It's an exploration of evil and what evil does. All the sadomasochistic scenes were necessary to make that exploration."

The hardest scene to shoot for both MacLachlan and Rossellini involved the actress standing stark naked outside his character's house. "It was a real tough night because there was no way we could close the set. We were shooting in a real neighborhood in Bible Belt country. People were shocked. The neighbors were standing around watching. Isabella is a real trouper," he says.

It's been reported that Lynch, who also directed the cult classic "Eraserhead" and "The Elephant Man," cast MacLachlan in both "Dune" and "Blue Velvet" because the actor looks like a younger version of himself. But MacLachlan doesn't see any resemblance and says Lynch looks like a young Jimmy Stewart.

Currently, the actor shares a duplex in Hollywood with his look-alike brother Kent, 23, a struggling actor, and Dern, whom he met and fell in love with on the set of "Blue Velvet."

A native of Yakima, Wash., MacLachlan landed his first film role starring in "Dune" at a Seattle audition that was part of a nationwide search. "Blue Velvet" is only his second film, and he doesn't have another job lined up, although he says he auditions for just about everything in his age range. He even read for a supporting role in "Top Gun" — but did not receive a part.

His dream role, he says, would be playing Cyrano de Bergerac on stage, a strange choice for someone with his male model looks. MacLachlan disagrees. "I sort of think of myself as ugly on the outside, and a wonderful person on the inside. I was an ugly child. I could show you some pictures that would shock you."

Different Kind Of Hero

By Vernon Scott

UPI Hollywood Reporter

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Actor Tom Conti, a quiet-spoken Scotsman, says it takes more courage for a man to send back his dinner in a restaurant than it does for Rambo to charge a machine-gun nest.

Conti, who was nominated for an Academy Award as the gentle poet of "Reuben, Reuben," believes genuine heroes are the work of ordinary men who react courageously in extraordinary circumstances only after giving thought to the consequences.

It is not heroism, he maintains, when a man or woman reacts reflexively without thinking.

A native of Glasgow, the son of an Italian immigrant and a Scotswoman, Conti has starred in some 15 films. In most of these he has played a protagonist whose triumphs are not of heroic proportions. His characters simply cope.

Such is the case in his new movie, "The Gospel According to Vic," in which he portrays a dedicated teacher of backward students in a parochial school. Mistakenly, he is credited with performing miracles.

"It's a serious subject treated with a comedic touch," Conti said over lunch recently.

"Heroic leading men don't exist in real life. They've been spawned in films by society in wartime. It's been 40 years since there was a global war situation. Heroes emerged from militarism and the officer class."

Clearly not a vigilante fan, Conti laughs at the antics of Rambo and other superheroes.

"Real heroes never know they're heroes," he explained. "The average movie hero is a man acting on instinct just for the moment. It is the action of a man who lacks imagination, the fellow who dashes into a situation without considering the consequences."

What's Happening In The Soaps?

By Nancy M. Reichardt

ALL MY CHILDREN:

Shelley fell down stairs and killed herself after her aborted attempt to murder Phoebe. Tad and Skye found Stuart hiding out in a circus. Skye said Stuart, who is terrified of Adam, can share her pad. The police realized that Shelley is the woman with whom the anonymous letter (sent by Tad) claimed Wade was having an affair. Jeremy told Erica he's been having a nightmare about a dead woman in a wedding dress. The police suspect that Phoebe lured Shelley into her home and then cold-bloodedly murdered her. Ross lent money to Stuart and Skye. Jeremy refused to give Natalie any money for herself or Timothy. Erica's been receiving and making mysterious phone calls. Adam told Natalie he has a proposition for her. Bill and Amy are setting up a new clinic. Palmer is determined to walk again. Adam refused to patch things up with Skye.

ANOTHER WORLD:

Brittany took Peter Reginald to the hospital for a checkup and Rachel's son, Jamie Frume, who is now a doctor, examined the child. Rachel tried to steer clear of Mitch, who taunted her with memories of their past romance. Matthew met Mitch for the first time after learning that Mitch is his real father. Vince didn't see Mariasa, who had followed him to the cemetery and Mary's grave. Reginald is determined to keep Mariasa away from Vince. Reginald met with a mystery woman. Scott gave Vince a letter from Mariasa, who is trying to cool the feud between the Loves and the McKinnons. Mac and Rachel are constantly arguing with each other.

AS THE WORLD TURNS:

The raspy-voiced man phoned Brian to tell him that Shannon and Harriet had been kidnapped, but that they're still alive. Shannon and Harriet failed in an attempt to escape from their kidnapers. Angelo and Chaney, who didn't mention that she knows the meaning of the list of numbers found in Tad's otherwise empty briefcase. Meg switched the test labels after she and Sierra both had pregnancy tests at the hospital. Margo was surprised to learn that Denise is living with Hal. Seth assured a returned Frankie that he didn't kill Tad. Sierra thinks she's carrying Craig's baby. For Betty's sake, Craig is keeping mum that he thinks Steve killed Tad. Barbara was puzzled that Emily seems to have met Henaley before either of them arrived in Oakland. Lucinda offered Holden a junior executive job. Duncan smooched with Barbara, but is worried about Shannon's welfare. Emily told Frankie she has spent time in Scotland.

CAPITOL:

Jenny died after drinking the poisoned wine. Zed and Sloane survived Jenny's attempt to kill them. All rushed to Sloane's hospital bedside, even though Harraq is on the verge of war. Judson followed Baxter, who met with Carla. D.J. was pleased Brenda broke up with Dylan. For Clarissa's sake, Judson is going to check out Baxter's past in Columbia. Thomas gave Kelly prescription tranquilizers. Kelly threatened to ruin D.J.'s life if he doesn't lie that he's Scotty's father. Victor's former cohort, Josh, was found dead in his jail cell.

DAYS OF OUR LIVES:

As planned by Vaughn, Marlana was allowed to phone Roman after she escaped from her kidnapers. Ralph and Clark. The two thugs later recaptured Marlana, who was moved to a new hideout. Shane isn't thrilled to be working with Gillian, who's secretly keeping Vaughn apprised of Shane and Roman's every move. Kayla told Patch that she no longer believes he killed Britta. Melissa was angry to learn that Pete is back in business with Victor. Kimberly was jealous to learn that Gillian is Shane's new partner. Ralph told Roman to find the missing treasury plates or Marlana would be killed. Neil was furious when Liz returned from Hollywood and then immediately left to do a benefit concert. Frankie watched Jennifer and Glenn, who were making out on the beach. Mike promised Robin time to deal with her love for him. Savannah failed in another attempt to seduce Neil. Kimberly made friends with newcomer Barbara Stewart.

GENERAL HOSPITAL:

A returned Robert had knocked Edna out cold before she could carry out her plan to assassinate Frisco and Felicia. Edna later escaped. Sean fumed that Monica went off to South America on medical business while Sean's suspected of murdering Alan. Tania and Tony are anxiously awaiting the birth of their baby. Ginny refused to share Rick's bed until Mike decides to come home again. Lucy was miffed that Patrick wouldn't listen to her tall tale about why she let "Kevin's letter" be published. Frisco and Felicia checked out circus owner, Michael, who is connected to the illegal dealings in Port Charles. Duke dislikes Robert, who is secretly checking Duke's background. Damon assured Bert that Edna is out of the country and he's already hired a new hit man, Bud Price, to eliminate Frisco and Felicia. Jade returned to work at the hospital. Bert told Damon to expect another shipment of laundered money.

GUIDING LIGHT:

When Ross nixed letting Vanessa on the plane to San Rio, she blurted out that Jesse is their daughter. Simon fretted over Jesse, who was shot when they were taken prisoner by Tito's men. Simon and Jesse later escaped and Simon attempted to rescue Alex, who is Tito's prisoner. Jarrett, who is in cahoots with Alan, was assigned to Claire's medical case. Tito wants an audience with Alan. Mindy quit her TV job with Jackson. India begged Phillip to keep it a secret that Dorie is really Dinah's sister. Tito is also interested in Johnny Bauer's whereabouts. Fletcher took the blame when Maeve printed a story that exposed the FBI's investigation of a local drug ring. After they spent a romantic night, Alan gave ownership of India's family estate back to her. Johnny's spending a lot of time with Roxie. Phillip told Dinah that he doesn't love her. Kyle rejected the attentions of Lady lawyer. Monica, Mindy is suspicious of Jarrett.

LOVING:

Jane was stunned when Zach told her she can no longer live with him and Kelly, now that he's engaged to Lorna. Gwyneth taunted Ava that she'll never trap Judd into marriage. A drunken Curtis lost control of his race car and crashed through a fence. Triaha romped in the sack with Nick, who said Steve never deserved her love. Gwyneth begged Harry to check out Nick's past. Zach didn't approve of Kelly's date with Rob, who suggested that Kelly pretend to run away from home.

Director Signs 4 Picture Deal

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Director George P. Cosmatos, whose most recent assignment was "Cobra," starring Sylvester Stallone, has signed an exclusive deal with De Laurentiis Entertainment Group for four feature films.

A spokesman for moviemaker Dino De Laurentiis said Cosmatos will complete the four films over a five-year period beginning in early 1987.

Among Cosmatos' other film credits are "Rambo: First Blood Part II," "Of Unknown Origin,"

"The Cassandra Crossing" and "Escape to Athena." The director has worked with such stars as Roger Moore, David Niven, William Holden, Richard Burton, Marcello Mastroianni and Sophia Loren.

Doctor Or Auto, The Voice Is The Same

Dear Debra — I would appreciate it very much if you could tell me if the person who plays Mark on "St. Elsewhere" is the same person who did the voice for KITT, the car on "Knight Rider"? My husband just laughed when I suggested it. Please help settle this. — D.H., Muskegon Heights, Mich.

Husbands have a way of laughing too quickly at their wives sometimes, don't they? Tell him to start apologizing. The voice of KITT and the man who plays Dr. Mark Craig on "St. Elsewhere" are both William Daniels.

Dear Debra — I believe that Bronson Pinchot, who plays in "Perfect Strangers," also played Arnold Horshack on "Welcome Back, Kotter." My sister disagrees. Was Pinchot also Horshack? — A fan, Houston.

Sis knows best on this one. Arnold Horshack was played by Ron Palillo.

Dear Debra — I thought Robert Carradine was fantastic on Showtime's "As Is." Could you give me some information about him? Also, where does he fit in in the Carradine family? — A.B., Houston.

Celebrity Corner
Debra Katz

Robert Carradine, who, I agree, was wonderful in "As Is," was born in 1954, making him 32 years old. He is the youngest son of actor John Carradine and the brother of Keith Carradine. He's also the half-brother of David Carradine. He began his acting career as a teenager and has been in numerous films, including "Orca," "Coming Home," "Mean Streets," "Jackson County Jail," "Cannonball" and "The Cowboys."

Dear Debra — I am a fan of "Days of Our Lives" and I would like to know how long the show has been on the air. Also, have the Bradys and the Hortons always been the main families on the show? — A loving fan, Houston.

"Days of Our Lives," which has been on the air since Nov. 8, 1965, was always primarily about the Horton family. The original Hortons consisted of Dr. Tom Horton and his wife, Alice, and their children: Tommy, Addie, Bill, Mickey and Marie, as well as Addie's daughter, Julie.

Dear Debra — What is the name of the film in which the late Ross Martin played a young astronaut on the flight to Mars? And was his name in the film, Andre Foder, perhaps his real name? — B.S., Houston.

Ross Martin was born Martin Rosenblatt on March 22, 1920 in Grodek, Poland but came to the United States as an infant. "The Wild Wild West" star played an astronaut in the 1955 film "Conquest of Space."

Dear Debra — Just recently I started to watch "MacGyver," with Richard Dean Anderson. I would like to know if there is any relationship between Richard Dean Anderson and Harry Anderson of "Night Court." They have so many similarities in looks, mannerisms and speaking patterns, that I just had to write and ask. — S.M., Kitchener, Ontario.

Other than the fact that they're both fine actors, there's no relation.
