

AIRPLANE SEARCH MADE FOR MISS MIAMI'S VICTIMS ---MOORE IS RECOVERING

Sub-Chaser Puts to Sea Today to Continue Search

MOORE TOLD STORY

WHICH READS LIKE OLD TALES OF THE SEA AND SUFFERINGS FROM SHIPWRECK

(By The Associated Press) MIAMI, March 27.—An airplane search for Miss Miami's victims was discontinued but a sub-chaser put to sea today to look for them. Moore is slowly recovering at the hospital.

MIAMI, March 26.—Robert Moore, pilot of the lost flying boat Miss Miami, in a hospital last night, fully recovered from his delirium, although still in grave danger of developing pneumonia, gave a graphic account of the scenes attending the death of his five passengers and his own fifty-five hour battle for life in the Gulf stream clinging to the upturned craft. "Please don't allow the people to praise me, I have not done anything to deserve praise. I don't want to be criticised, unless justly. All I want now is to give the world at large the facts," he began. "We left Miami at 11:04 o'clock last Wednesday morning in the face of a stiff northeasterly wind. At 11:41, about three minutes out of Bimini, something broke off the propeller. I automatically looked for a ship, or a shoal, to land by. I saw a fishing smack and volplaned down to the water about a mile away in its course.

"I asked the passengers not to be afraid. We were in no immediate danger and the craft was drawing near. The winds, however, were rising, and before long the hull of the boat sprang a leak. The nose of the plane began rising. Then a big wave came along and lifted us. The plane turned over and we were all thrown into the sea.

"My passengers were Mr. and Mrs. August Bulte and Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Smith, of Kansas City, and Mrs. J. S. Dickson, of Memphis, Tenn. Bulte came to the surface first, then Mr. Smith and Mrs. Smith. Of the three, none could swim. I succeeded in getting them to the overturned plane. Mrs. Dickson and Mr. Bulte had not appeared on the surface. Mrs. Bulte made this discovery.

"My God, my husband, where is he?" she cried. I told her he would be all right in a few minutes and dived into the waters. I could locate neither him nor Mrs. Dickson.

"Mrs. Bulte began to weep. I dived into the water and obtained cushions from the plane to use for life preservers. The other three passengers were on the fuselage of the machine. As I returned to them, I saw the body of Bulte floating. I moved directly in front of Mrs. Bulte and obstructed her view. As the body passed me I noted a wound on his forehead. He must have been killed before he struck the water when the plane overturned.

"Within the next thirty minutes the scenes changed twice.

"On the horizon we sighted the fishing boat. We began to laugh and contemplate being picked up. I was confident we would be saved. In fact I felt like whistling. I believe I did. I kept up my morale.

"And the fishing boat changed its course.

"I can't understand in God's world why he did not keep on toward us. He knew I was in that locality somewhere for he had seen me come down. I could see his name on the boat, less than half a mile away as he went on. Why, oh, why did he not keep toward us?"

The winds rose during the night and the women grew weaker. At least twelve times they were swept over, but I swam out and got them and brought them back every time.

"The next day our hopes rose as we saw other boats pass, but none came more than a mile and a half near us. I tried to keep up the morale of the others by telling them they were soldiers. It helped marvellously, but one of the women, Mrs. Smith, became utterly dejected. The other pleaded with her to hold out.

BOYS SUMMER CAMP.

Read what Ernest Seton Thompson says about the boys' summer camps in this issue. Your boys need a summer camp in the mountains. It means so much to them in a hundred different ways. You know what it has done for those Sanford boys who have been attending a good summer camp in the mountains. You know what the Laurel Park Camp means to your boys. Read the advertisement in this issue and make your reservation with Robert Holly, Jr. Ask him for a catalogue telling you all about the wonderful camp life, the mountains, the athletics, etc., and the very reasonable terms for two months this summer.

"We weathered the storm of Wednesday night, after a terrible experience, and Mrs. Bulte died Thursday. I saw Mr. and Mrs. Smith clasped in each other's arms and one of them suggested that they close their eyes and jump overboard. But they didn't, and Mrs. Smith died in her husband's arms. We let go the bodies of the two women and they floated away.

"Thursday as dusk approached Smith grew delirious and I strapped him on. At times he appeared rational and asked me what chance I thought we had of being rescued.

"Moore, let's you and I talk this over," he said. I told him not to take it so seriously, as we would yet be rescued. "No," he said, "I don't see how we can hold out much longer. Don't you think I had a brave wife? I assured him that I had never seen a more courageous woman.

"All right, Bob," he answered; "promise me that if you return you will tell her sons how brave their mother was. Tell them the facts and tell them the truth about me. You will know as no other, how I died. Tell them for me, boy.

"He removed three $1 bills from his pocket and asked me to give one to each of his three boys with his dying message.

"I pushed his body into the sea, and all alone kept up my courage as best I could. The sun's heat had blistered me, and the thirst was maddening. I chewed the ends of my fingers until blood came to appease my thirst. I saw boats pass and waved to them, but none saw me. As dusk approached Friday night I began to believe that it was all up. I tied a rope to my neck, but I was so weak that it seemed there wasn't much use. I guess I was unconscious when the boat came after me, for I didn't remember much more."

OPERATORS AND MINERS HOPEFUL OF SETTLEMENT BY ARBITRATION METHODS

GOVERNMENT AID MERCHANT MARINE BENEFIT SOUTH

SENATOR RANDELL SAYS LEGISLATION WOULD FREE THE SOUTH OF VASSALAGE

(By The Associated Press) WASHINGTON, March 27.—Members of congress from the Southern states were urged by Senator Ransdell, Democrat, Louisiana, in an address in the senate Saturday to support, for the benefit of the South's ports, pending legislation to provide government aid for the merchant marine.

Enactment of such legislation, the Louisiana senator declared, would free Southern ports from the "vassalage" in which he asserted they were held by foreign shipping companies. "If the government does not extend direct aid to shipping and thereby materially encourage men to enter into the shipping business with a reasonable prospect for earning a fair return on their investment," said Senator Ransdell, "it will be impossible for the shipping board to dispose of the greater portion of its very large fleet of slow, moderate sized vessels. Given reasonable assistance, vessels of this class can operate from a number of the smaller ports of America with a fair prospect of success, thereby establishing business out of these ports to the great benefit of the country generally increasing the number of its ocean ports and preventing congestion.

"I would particularly invite the attention of senators from Southern states to the fact that the compensation or aid to the slower, smaller, cargo ships is of especial value to the South, with its exports of cotton, lumber, tobacco and other bulky commodities. Without aid to these slower cargo ships, it is not probable that many of our existing services in shipping board steamers can be continued out of Southern ports, or that these ports will maintain a foothold for the gradual development of the faster and larger passenger ships to a share of which they are rightfully entitled.

"Compensation for mail steamers, amply justified by Democratic precedents, would not suffice for present Southern interests. There must be also compensation for the cargo 'tramps' especially adapted to our new and growing lines, if those lines are to be saved to the ports of the South Atlantic and the Gulf of Mexico.

"Within the last four or five years we have seen the creation of a new sea power on the South Atlantic and Gulf of Mexico—an American sea power of ships managed and operated from our Southern ports, purchasing their stores there, employing their crews there, carrying our commerce to markets some of which we have never reached before. Foreign ships had come and gone through the years—ships built abroad, owned abroad, officered and manned abroad, distributing their profits mostly abroad and carrying our commerce on routes which foreign shipowners and merchants determined.

"In other words, the European maritime powers had held our Southern ports in almost absolute vassalage, and had destroyed all hope of an American shipping of our own.

"Are there any of us who would like to have the old conditions return to Norfolk, or Newport News, or Wilmington, or Charleston, Savannah, Jacksonville, Tampa, Mobile, New Orleans, Houston or Galveston.

"No, never. Equality with our brethren of the North, we of the South want our own American merchant marine—and this proposed bill points more clearly and powerfully than any bill which we have seen before, the way in which we can secure and keep it."

The church was beautifully decorated with flowers and the special music was greatly enjoyed by those present. MORE ABOUT FREIGHT CHARGES

When the growers of Moore Haven found it would take $70 a car more to ship their 10,000 acre cabbage crop than the northern market offered for cabbage, they stopped shipping. How about fixing a standard price for cabbage, Republicans?—Tampa Tribune.

And we are reliably informed that the freight rate on cabbage from California to Chicago is just about one-half of what it is from Southern Florida, although the distance is twice as far and much of it mountainous country where railroad building costs more than elsewhere in the United States. Why cannot the South get something like a square deal from the railroads?—Wauhulla Advocate.

"HELLO" BARRED IN BOSTON

According to Superintendent of Schools Burke the Word is Both Undignified and Slovenly.

Do not say "Hello" when you pick up the telephone.

Avoid "Nops" and "Yeps" in your conversation when you mean "No" or "Yes."

If Boston is going to sustain its reputation as the Athens of America, it must quit the use of these barbarisms, according to Jeremiah E. Burke, new superintendent of Boston schools.

It is more in accordance with Boston culture to say something like "This is Mr. Smith talking; with whom am I conversing?"

"There are many words," Superintendent Burke says, "which may be used in place of that moth-eaten, undignified and impolite word 'Hello.' Its use is condemned in Boston schools, particularly in classes in salesmanship where knowledge of dignified and grammatical English is essential.

"There is no excuse for the use of 'Nops' and 'Yeps' in conversation. I believe that if Boston school children will check themselves in their use, parents at home will gradually dispense with their use.

"My advice to the children in Boston schools is:

"Don't be slovenly in the use of English. Slovenliness is the result of habit, and once tolerated, it is likely to cling to all of us until mature life."—Boston American.

ETIQUETTE THAT SEEMS ODD

Table manners at the time of Chaucer were described in a lecture by Kenneth Hare, author and poet, on "A Holiday in London in the Days of Chaucer." Etiquette in those days (the latter half of the fourteenth century) demanded that meat should be held between two fingers and a thumb of the left hand, and no more, if one was to be received in polite society.

After soup, pike roasted in claret and flavored with strange and varied spices was eaten. Then followed partridge roasted with saffron, cloves and ginger, and jam tart and jelly.

It was the custom to change the cloth with the courses, and one read of one feast in which each new cloth was scented with a perfume appropriate to the dish. In Chaucer's day the bath in construction was not unlike a miniature pulpit, and a bouquet of sweet scented herbs was hung over it for the stream to draw out their refreshing qualities.

The Man in the Moon.

Observations made from August, 1920, to February, 1921, by Prof. William Henry Pickering of Harvard, who is one of the world's leading astronomers and an authority on lunar and Martian phenomena, tend, he asserts, to prove beyond doubt that life exists on the surface of the moon.

Ship Has 18,000 Spoons.

We may be cutting down our warships. There is no reduction in our liners. This applies to size as well as to number.

Take the White Star liner, Majestic. The largest steamer in the world is aptly named! Its tonnage is 56,000 and it is to carry 14,000 knives, 10,000 forks 18,000 spoons, 45,000 pieces of plate in all, 178,000 pieces of linen and 270,000 pieces of crystal and glassware.

When one adds its cargo, crew and passengers, one's brain almost staggers at the responsibility which will rest on the shoulders of the captain.

Shoved Off.

The Chasseurs Alpins, those classy French fighting men who helped train the marines who first went to France, could never quite get accustomed to some of the marine corps lingo. One of the Blue Devils had learned the meaning of the sea-going phrase "shove-off," but when he had his first chance to use it he was—as the saying is—not there.

"Hey, French," said a Leatherneck, "have you seen our lieutenant around?"

"Oul, monsieur, oul," said the poltu, struggling to remember the elusive phrase, "he have—what you call—pushed over."—The Leatherneck.

Roman Relics in London. An old Roman building dating back to the Third or Fourth century was uncovered by workmen in Grace Church street, London, while laying postal cables. One wall four and a half feet thick and extending downward 13 feet appears to form part of an inner chamber of a Roman building.

GOING NATURE "ONE BETTER"

Man Has Been Engaged in Work of Altering Domestic Animals for Many Centuries.

What a curious thing it is to realize that a St. Bernard, a Pekinese, and a Skye terrier all three come from a common wild stock!

Man has been altering domestic animals of every kind for centuries past. He has taken the common pigeon and invented something like 60 distinct varieties, while hundreds of different sorts of fowls have come from the original jungle bird of Ceylon.

Curious experiments have been made in coloring birds by feeding them on certain foods. One man obtained pigeons of a beautiful red by putting in their food a chemical with the terrible name of "methyltrabromo fluorescein," and he got others of a rich blue by similar means.

Man is changing not only animals and birds, but also fish and insects. Take bees, for instance. Of course, various species of bees are constantly crossed in order to get kinds that will produce a bee which shall be more useful for fertilizing flowers than any of the present sorts.

With object, certain breeders are trying to produce a bee with a longer tongue than any possess at present. For flowers like clover such a bee would be invaluable, since the result would be a great increase of fertile flowers, and, consequently, seed.

The latest branch of creation which man is tackling with a view to modifying is fish. The experiments were begun at the University of Chicago, about five years ago.

NEVER LINCOLN'S REAL LOVE

His Marriage With Mary Todd Seems to Have Been Largely Matter of Convenience.

Mary Todd, wife of Abraham Lincoln, was the sort of woman who is described as "capable and upright." Lincoln, it is testified by biographers, was not deeply in love with Mary, either before or after their marriage. As a matter of fact, his heart was buried in the grave of his first love, and he had proposed marriage to a second and unwilling young woman. By the time he married Mary Todd, who was neither beautiful nor gracious, he had come to regard marriage as a necessity rather than as the ultimate result of love and romance.

Their courtship was long and suffered many bumps and separations before it culminated in marriage. When Lincoln first met Miss Todd she was only sixteen years old and was being courted by Stephen Douglas the great man's rival in many things.

Lincoln had suggested in a rather offhand way that he would marry her. Apparently regret set in rather soon, for he made several attempts to gracefully withdraw from the compact. But Mary, with prophetic vision, had an idea that he would one day reach the White House and she was determined to be its mistress.

"Kidnap" Camera. When you inquire about the big camera the station photographer uses in taking the 1 1/4-inch square photographs for the 50-trip family ticket he says, "Oh, it is a special one we invented years ago for kidnaping."

"How do you number them?" "It is a six-exposure plate, and each of these spaces on the sheet of paper corresponds to one on the plate. Each plate is numbered. We used to use this camera for kidnaping."

Then you swallow your pride and ask boldly: "What do you mean—kidnaping?" He laughs kindly at your ignorance.

"Why, you know," he says, "we take our camera and go out on the street and see a little boy and take his picture. We get his name and address. By and by, after we develop the picture, we go around to his home and show it to his mother. If she likes the picture, she buys one. That's kidnaping."—Pittsburgh Dispatch.

Furs.

Trapping is being carried on more extensively this season than for the last ten years, and the catch is abnormal, reports the manager of the Winnipeg Fur Auction Sales company.

Economic laws work as rigidly in the fur north as elsewhere. A shortage of any commodity runs prices up. Then high prices lure larger production. With the supply increased, price slumps. Then production falls off.

It's the eternal merry-go-round, with speculators playing the turn in the market.

He Found Himself.

The marine had tumbled off a motorcycle, and he was dead to the world when they carried him to the hospital. The next morning he woke up just as the doctor came around to see how the patient was getting along.

"Well, well, my man," said the doctor cheerily, "how did you find yourself this morning?"

"I opened my eyes," said the Gyrene, "took a good look at the bed—saw some guy lying in it—and there I was."—The Leatherneck.

The Youngest Soldier Killed.

Representative Isaac Siegel, of New York, recently made claim in the house of representatives that Albert Cohen, whose parents now live in Memphis, Tenn., was the youngest soldier to be killed in action in France. He was killed in action on October 5, 1918, while serving with the 20th Infantry. At the time of his enlistment he was thirteen years and six months old.

WEAK SPOTS IN HER "FIRMAMENT" CAUSE EARTH TO TREMBLE

ST. LOUIS, March 24.—Seismologists of St. Louis University yesterday ascribed "weak spots in her firmament" as causing old mother earth to tremble in parts of six states surrounding St. Louis yesterday. The earth tremors radiated 150 to 250 miles southeastward from here and were reported as far south as Troy, Tenn., and Hickman, Ky., and as far east as Evansville, Ind., according to reports received here from the affected area, which also included northern Arkansas, southeastern Missouri and southern Illinois.

Shaking buildings and homes for from 12 to 18 seconds, the shocks were described as severe and at times violent by observers and attendants of the seismograph.

Only slight damage, consisting mainly of falling chimneys and plaster was caused by the tremors, which rattled chinaware and dislodged pictures and ornaments from their places.

DEATHBED CONFESSION

RICHMOND, March 24.—Curtis R. Jenkins, 25, of south Richmond, who died February 23, confessed six days before his death that he and not Walter R. Hines, killed Policeman Washington I. Curtis in South Richmond, last August, according to a statement to the News-Leader yesterday by Bessie Jenkins, sister-in-law of the dead man.

Hines, who was convicted of the crime January 21 and sentenced to 15 years in the penitentiary, is in the Richmond city jail awaiting the outcome of an appeal to the state supreme court.

A similar confession, Mrs. Jenkins said, was made to the dead man's brother, Fred M. Jenkins. The latter, she said, has laid the declaration before Hines's attorneys, L. O. Wedenburg and J. H. Turner, both of Richmond.

URGES SPEED

WASHINGTON, March 24.—Quoting a statement by Henry Ford that if given the Muscle Shoals project for development under government contract, work would be provided for many former service men now out of a job Rep. Crist, democrat, Georgia, breaking into the bonus bill yesterday, urged the house military affairs committee to speed up its inquiry and make a recommendation on disposal of the Alabama properties.

BANDITS ROB LOAN OFFICE

DAY AND NIGHT SHIFTS IN MILL SAWING LUMBER

(By The Associated Press) GROVELAND, March 24.—Day and night shifts will be employed by the J. Ray Arnold Lumber Company here beginning March 27, it was announced. Each shift will work 10 hours.

Recently this mill established what is believed to be a state record in that line when it cut more than 111,000 feet of lumber in one hour.

PURITY LEAGUE TO CENSOR PARADE OF GAY BATHING SUITS

ST. PETERSBURG, March 25.—(Special).—Miss Hazel Melford Van Tredon, head of the Purity League which recently stirred up such a mess here over the kind of bathing suits worn at the beaches here, has again come to the front and threatens to put a crimp into the plans for a bathing suit parade that is to be a part of the Festival of States celebration here next week. She has demanded that she be made censor of the bathing suits and proposes to decide which can be put on exhibition on the figure of some lovely damsel. To satisfy her T. J. Heller, in charge of the water sports for next Friday has agreed to allow her to be one of the judges and if she finds anything objectionable about the parade she will have her way and can stop the appearance of one of the girls to be on display.

It seems impossible to produce a picture that will have a healthy effect on public morals and the same effect on the box office.

The great weather continues.

There has never been a better spring for celery growing.

Sanford can now show the tonnage on the St. John's river. All we need is a man to show it to congress.

A straw sticking from the coat of a man in Orlando made the officers suspicious. Straws show the way the liquor. Straws show the way the scent blows.

Tornadoes in Texas, cyclones in Georgia, earthquakes in California and all is peace and prosperity in Florida. Stick around awhile and pick off a few.

Some well meaning chap sent us a commercial bulletin this morning telling about the condition of the wool market. We don't care any more about the wool market than we do about the boll weevil. We can really do without wool now that summer is coming on.

"Leaks Are Causing Grave Concern Among Diplomats" says headline in daily paper. Yes, leaks are causing grave concern among the bootleggers in Florida and also amid the prohibition forces. In fact leaks are a source of grave concern among a lot of people higher up.

The Sanford Herald is a shining example of optimism. It thinks that lower freight rates are in sight for its section.—Miami Metropolis.

No optimism about that, brother. That is just pure facts and we have the water transportation to bring it about if the people will stay with us.

Automobiles are being stolen right and left in and around Orlando and other nearby cities. Sanford has suffered but little loss in cars this year but they have not passed us by. It behooves everyone to lock their cars, carry insurance and use every precaution when they leave their cars in out of the way places for the thieves are with us all the time.

William Jennings Bryan was hissed when he attempted to address the City Club at Washington Friday afternoon. It was occasioned by the fact that a man was speaking when Bryan entered the room and the master of ceremonies wanted to introduce Bryan and have him speak on the other fellow's time. The crowd would not stand for it and told William to go back and sit down.

THE SUMMER CAMP.

Do you wish your boy to read and write? "Yes, why ask such a question? I send him to the best of schools."

Do you wish your boy to be a high-class, strong American with a sane outlook, a healthy body, and clean pleasures? Then send him to the place where such things are taught, not only by good teachers and good precepts, but chiefly by the all-prevailing influence of the thought, the irresistible magic of atmosphere, with its night and day insidious compulsion, an agency that can be found only in an isolated community, only in a selected and harmonious community—that is a high-class summer camp.

GROCERIES FRUITS AND VEGETABLES

Who was the father of the great outdoor movement, the back to nature idea, that is possessing America with such benignant force today? There can be little doubt that Moses was the first to recognize its value. He established for his people the Feast of Tabernacles, that is, an annual campout, for a memorial of their fathers' big camping trip across the desert, and also to bring them back to things simple and primitive, so necessary to their continued national life.

We are just beginning to realize the importance of these things. Every one of us who can, goes to the woods each year.

But a false idea has crept in. It is the fashion nowadays to go to camp for the summer, but what is meant by camp?

Is it an outing? (Certainly not without class. Too often with such, the very essentials are left out: The memorial of the days when the fathers of this country were roughing it, making everything with their own hands; the total change of surroundings, thought and way of life; the simplicity, the bodily and mental discipline; the tonic of the sun by day; the open campfire and the sweet soothing air by night—these most precious and healing things of all, are missing.) For these fashionable campers merely build in the wilderness another Fifth Avenue mansion, taking with them their city clothes, foods, servants' ways and thoughts and call their new abode "a camp" because it has some bark slabs on the outside.

Against all of this, the real campers should make a stand. We want the simple life, the primitive life, the outdoor life; with a different world and wholly different activities. Cards and billiards may be good games, but not for a summer camp; because one can, and does get them elsewhere. We need some studies, some reading, but not arithmetic or ancient history; they do not belong. Nature-work, Woodcraft Scouting, Forestry, are ideal studies, all of them, for they combine athletic handcraft brain work and observation, they are out of doors, and in these teacher and pupil are learning together.

But there is only one perfect place for these happy combinations; that is the summer camp.

The physical advantages of this primitive life, can scarcely be over-estimated.

Exposure to sun and air, as in camp life, is now the specific remedy for a dozen troublesome skin troubles. Many a man have I known with weak lungs, or even well on in consumption, who has been cured simply by camping out.

Its mental discipline is equally salutary.

Many a boy who was as helpless and useless as a baby, as selfish as a Turkish husband, has had his real awakening in the summer camp.

Many a girl who was spoiled, hopelessly irritable and selfish at home, has, under the stimulation and subtle ceaseless influence of a high, clean camp, been gently wrought into a new character, and made a desirable member of the homo circle.

If your boy is peevish and spoiled at home send him to camp. Is he disorderly in dress or manner? Send him to camp.

Is he inclined to be a sissy and afraid to play the part of a man? Send him to camp.

Is he disrespectful to his parents and teachers? Send him to camp. There he will slowly, surely, kindly and firmly be brought into line, in one short summer.

Yes, these are the effects of the camp life, with its high clean standards, and self-contained community, PROVIDED YOU SELECT YOUR CAMP.

Not a big military camp, where each boy is a mere private, to be ordered about, and "treated rough"; not the loose camp where tent-life means mere unrestraint, but the up-to-date modern camp, with leaders who are men of character trained to the work, selected, tried and proven. A camp where the fundamentals of Woodcraft are not only taught, but lived, all day and all night.

There must be five thousand summer camps in America today. Many of them are not sound; but many of them are, you can easily learn which, by looking up the record. If you want to make sure that your boy or girl is on the way to high manhood or high womanhood, send him to a carefully selected summer camp.—Ernest Seton Thompson.

SMALL FARMS IN FLORIDA.

The Plant City Courier recently said: "If the holders of large holdings of land in this section would sell in small tracts there would be development of this part of the state that the country has never even dreamed could come to pass." Small farms are the ones that pay best in Florida, and in this respect it may be that the people are learning a lesson from the old world. Small farms are the rule in Europe. The great acreage owned by individuals and corporations in some parts of Europe are rented to small tenants, very largely, and intensive cultivation brings results that are entirely satisfactory.

Small farms in Florida, used to the full extent of climate and season possibilities, with proper cultivation and fertilization, pay handsomely. The fact is noted every day in the state newspapers. An acre tract here or two acres there gets into print for making a lot of money for the owner or lessee.

Great bodies of land are held by corporations and individuals in Florida and with the idea almost general that these holdings will some day be subdivided and sold in tracts that can be handled by men of small means, there is not the activity along this line that would perhaps be warranted. It must come, sooner or later, and when the number of Florida farmers doubles, or trebles, and there are hundreds at work in a section where now but half a dozen energetic, industrious men are working, the state will blossom like the rose. Florida has the acres to support ten million people—but they cannot come here until it is possible for the small farmer to get a foothold.

The Courier, following up the paragraph quoted, says, "it is the small farm that is in demand these days. This is due to several causes, one of which is the growing burden of taxation, another is the difficulty of getting a day's work for a day's wages." The man who undertakes to cultivate a few acres is able to attend to the supervision of his fields himself, and that means the elimination of a high priced assistant. This is a matter to be considered, and nowadays the farm must be operated economically if it is to be a paying proposition.

In France a gardener can make a good living for his family on less than one acre of ground, but he keeps at it all the time. In Florida an acre of land will raise a wonderful amount of vegetables or fruit. A few peach trees yield splendid returns for their care and the space they occupy. A few orange or grapefruit trees well repay the owner for attention—and the waiting of a few years. There are some great farms of many acres; some ranches and places where things are grown in a wholesale way—but the state has hundreds of small farms to every large one, and the increase is steadily on the side of the small acreage.

Every new subdivision, and opening of a tract for sales of small farms is an aid to the growth and prosperity of the state.

A Chicago jury has decided that styles last just three weeks. This should forever settle the matter between man and wife. Hereafter the man will settle for the new dresses every three weeks without any murmurings or mouthings or making funny faces at his wife.

UNCLE HANK

One of the drawbacks to being famous is, you're apt to have a bum cigar named after you.

WE MUST KEEP OUR BAND.

While other Florida cities are spending many thousands for outside bands to play for a few weeks during the winter season Sanford has been able to have a regular band that will play weekly concerts every week in the year for less than the big bands cost for a few weeks in the winter. Sanford is an all the year round town and should have a band all the year round. We need good music in the summer as well as in the winter and in order to have a good band and to keep a good band leader it is necessary to arrange for a certain sum that will guarantee the band boys and the band leader a band for the year round. It would be foolish to attempt to go back to the ancient method employed here in years gone by a pick up a band now and then and expect them to have an organization. We never had a real band until last year and anyone who has listened to them say they are the best band in the state for local bands. They have already gained a fine reputation over the state and Sanford has gained in reputation for having genius and foresight in getting a real band and keeping the members together not only in the winter but in the summer as well. We collected $15,000 or more for a baseball club for one season and surely we can collect one third of this amount for the band which really means more to our town than any ball team. The band boys keep the money at home, they are an integral part of our city, they belong here and all that they receive for their services is left here in trade channels. The municipal band is a home institution as much as any part of our municipal life and as such should be maintained all the year round. The time is coming in a few days when the disposition of the band will be made and it behooves every lover of good music to get behind the band and boost for their remaining during the summer and remaining up to the full amount of men. We want the Tuesday night concerts and we want a real band that is available when we need it.

COMPOUND INTEREST FOR THRIFTY.

Persons who scoff at interest paid by banks and other institutions and individuals, should consider the case of Henry R. Stuart.

In 1897 George Jones borrowed $100 from Stuart, agreeing to pay 10 per cent interest a month.

Stuart recently sued for the principal of the loan, together with accrued interest and was given a judgment in court at San Jose, California, for nearly 305 trillions of dollars.

He has a valid claim on all the money in the world, and then some, but he can't collect it.

The incident is important only in illustrating the power of compound interest to bring wealth to the thrifty. Compound interest is the only universal road to financial independence.—St. Petersburg Times.

Europe still clings to the hope that we may yet marry her to reform her.

LATE FROST CAUSED CONSIDERABLE DAMAGE TO VEGETABLE CROP

Beans and Squash were Hardest Hit—Palmetto and Moore Haven Tomatoes and Other Crops Suffered Considerable

The cold spell Wednesday night did considerable damage to the truck crops around Plant City. Advice from other sections is to the effect that crops there were hurt equally as bad. It has been estimated that the damage in this vicinity will run close to twenty-five per cent, but later reports are that the general acreage was not hurt as much as was at first supposed. The thermometer dropped as low as thirty-three degrees in the country near Plant City early Thursday morning.

Frost was much in evidence Thursday morning. Farmers in the Dover community lost heavily from the frost it is said. The Hopewell community is said to have suffered very little, while loss was rather heavy out Knights way. A number of farmers around Springhead and Coronet suffered losses, while the territory as a whole was not so severely damaged. The midway section underwent a bad setback, especially on beans and watermelons.

The frost as is usually the case afected the crops only in spots, mostly on high ground. Beans and squash seem to have been hurt more than anything else. Some cucumbers were nipped but not as badly as was at first supposed. The tomato crop as a whole does not seem to have suffered greatly, although there are individual cases where the loss was heavy.

The tomato crop around Palmetto was cut by the frost and cold wind which followed it from thirty to forty per cent, according to a telephone message from there. Other crops in that section were hurt in proportion, it is said. Advice from Moore Haven is that crops were damaged twenty-five per cent on the west or Moore Haven side of Lake Okechobee, while those on the opposite side were not hurt.—Plant City Courier.

CAN'T SQUIRT WATER ON OTHER WOMEN

(By The Associated Press) MIAMI, March 27.—Newly acquired women's rights do not include a prerogative to squirt water on another of their sex, according to a ruling in Judge Branning's office here.

A woman dashed breathlessly up to Deputy Sheriff Mattie Ware and asked:

"I want to know if it's a criminal offense to turn a water hose on another woman, for I'm going to do it." The deputy referred her to Judge Branning's office, where she was informed such an attack might come under the head of assault and battery.

"Well, I'll see about it," she declared as she walked meditatively away.

Details of what had come up in the neighborhood to warrant this spontaneous quest of legal knowledge were not revealed.

FREE COURSE IN WRITING FOR ALL CORRESPONDENTS

(By The Associated Press) GAINESVILLE, March 27.—The University of Florida through its General Extension Division, has announced the offer of a free scholarship in newspaper writing to all reporters or correspondents who apply through the paper they represent.

The course will be conducted by a number of the extension division's staff who has had six years' experience on large daily papers and magazines and who is a graduate of the Missouri School of Journalism. It will cover the source of news, proper preparation of copy, ideas relating to news values and the necessity for brevity, order and sequence in writing news.

The lessons are offered to those engaged in the newspaper work who feel they may derive some good in the nature of helpful suggestions.

NO WAR TAX ON FREIGHTS FOR MUNICIPALITIES

(By The Associated Press) ST. PETERSBURG, March 27.—The federal treasury has returned to the city of St Petersburg some $1,255 paid in as the city's war tax on freight, and express bills and telegraph tolls, in ignorance of a provision exempting the municipalities from such tax charges.

Director Shepard of the city's finance department discovered the municipal exemption clause and immediately brought the matter to the attention of treasury department officials. Uncle Sam went down into his pockets and reluctantly returned the money.

SHIPS THAT FATTEN SAILORS

Modern "Tankers" Are Now Blamed for Added Weight Taken On by the Seamen.

Shipping experts continue to argue regarding the advantages of oil fuel over coal. At present the question is occupying the attention of medical men.

The adverse effect of oil fuel upon such surfaces as steel, canvas, rope and other shipping accessories are widely known; ships' doctors are now divided on the question as to whether it is harmful or beneficial in its effect upon sailors, a writer in London Times states.

Sailors on oil-fed vessels are fatter and plumper than those who work on coal-fed ships. Some naval surgeons declare that the fattening effect is produced by the slight fumes exuded by the dormant oil fuel; others ridicule the suggestion, and maintain that the former are fat simply because they have less work to do.

"Coaling ship" is one of the finest exercises in the world for reducing superfluous flesh. It is hard work that has to be maintained at high speed all day. Ships vie with each other in getting their coal aboard in record time, and even after the operation is finished the sailors still have a few more ounces of avoirdupois to work off in cleaning up the mess below decks. Usually three days are occupied in cleaning a vessel after a bout of "coal ship." On the other hand, oil-fuel ships perform the task in about three hours.

Doctors are asking themselves: "Is the fat a healthy fat, or an injurious parasitic growth?" If a hammock is splashed with oil fuel, all the scrubbing and boiling in the world will not prevent a hole from appearing in it; and if it eats through double-ply canvas, what will oil fuel accomplish in the case of human beings?

"Tanker" hands are noticing that after two or three voyages they begin to put on flesh.

FAMED FOR ITS MARASCHINO

Dalmatian Town of Sebenico Really Has Little Right to Other Claims to Honors.

Sebenico vainly boasts of being the Roman colony Scium, where Claudius quartered his veterans, and so styles itself in public inscriptions and Latin documents. But Scium stood farther south, near Salona, at a spot still marked by Roman remains.

It is to be feared that Sebenico had a sadly ignoble origin, says the Manchester Guardian. The name is said to be derived from a word that means the fort from whence bandits attacked and plundered. The little Dalmatian pirates' lair remained quite unknown until selected in the early Middle Ages by Croatian kings for their favorite residence. Apart from possession of a picturesque land-locked harbor, the only cathedral in the world built entirely of stone and metal, and the ancestral house of the Orsini, Sebenico has few claims to distinction. However, by some people Sebenico will always be held in high honor for being the place where they make maraschino, an luscious liquor distilled from small black cherries.

The Wrong Saint.

Childhood's propensity for getting names mixed was well illustrated a Sunday morning or two ago when little Richard, on the way to Sunday school with his mother and sister, met another little boy afflicted with St. Vitus' dance.

Richard was deeply impressed by the incident and asked his mother what was the matter with the little boy.

"Poor child," the sympathetic mother replied. "He has St. Vitus' dance." Back at home, Richard rushed in to tell his father of the incidents of the morning and closed with the remark:

"And—and we saw a poor little boy who jerked all over. He had the Riccomb Riley."

Only Fat Girls in His Office.

"I have found one employer whose 'bug' in hiring folks for his office is worse than the idea against bobbed heads and short skirts," lamented a young woman who was weary with hunting work.

"And what's that?"

"He won't hire any one—male or female—unless he has a fat, healthy, well-fed, well-cared-for look. I was talking to the girl who lets applicants in to see the boss. She was real sweet and kind and she told me I might as well not go in. I asked her why, and she confided to me that I was too pale, too delicate looking. This girl thinks it is just because he is known as an old tightwad and is selfish, and he doesn't want it said of him that even his office people look pinched and pale and ill-treated."—New York Sun.

FORD ANNOUNCES FORTY HOUR WEEK AND $6 DAY FOR ALL EMPLOYEES

DETROIT, Mich., March 25.—Adoption of the forty-hour week as a permanent policy in all plants of the Ford Motor Company was announced last night by E. S. Ford, president of the company. Under the new plan the factories will be closed on Saturday and Sunday and about 3,000 men will be added to the force. The change will affect approximately 50,000 employees who will continue to receive the minimum $6 a day wage. New employees, however, will receive a minimum of $5 daily, the pro-war scale. In making the announcement, Mr. Ford said he had reached the conclusion that the forty-hour week was practical, that the additional day of rest would prove a benefit to the workers and that the production schedules of the Ford industries could be so arranged as to maintain the present output on the curtailed working week.

Mr. Ford said he believed a greater demand for motor vehicles particularly commercial was an indication of improvement in business generally.

JAX SEEKS DRY DOCK

JACKSONVILLE, March 25.—The city of Jacksonville will make a cash offer for the 10,000 ton dry dock property formerly owned by the Terry & Brittain Shipbuilding Company when it is offered at auction by the United States Shipping Board here March 30. The city intends, however, to present certain claims against the property which it is figured will virtually offset the purchase price. A committee representing the city recently appeared before the shipping board in Washington in an effort to get the property.

EASY TO DARKEN YOUR GRAY HAIR

YOU CAN BRING BACK COLOR AND LUSTRE WITH SAGE TEA AND SULPHUR

When you darken your hair with Sage Tea and Sulphur, no one can tell, because it's done so naturally, so evenly. Preparing this mixture, though, at home is messy and troublesome. At little cost you can buy at any drug store the ready-to-use preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients called "Wyth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning all gray hair disappears, and, after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully darkened, glossy and luxuriant.

Gray, faded hair, though no disgrace, is a sign of old age, and as we all desire a youthful and attractive appearance get busy at once with Wyth's Sage and Sulphur Compound and look years younger.

SIEGFRIED'S SWORD IN BERLIN

Weapon Had Long Been in German Capital, Though the Hero Was Really a Belgian.

The theft of the sword from the statue of Siegfried in Berlin raises the question. What has Berlin to do with Siegfried's sword or with Siegfried himself? That hero was no Prussian, but rather a Belgian—at any rate, a Netherlander—and it was a Burgundian princess that he married. In his day the Burgundians were an obscure tribe and scarcely heard of in Burgundy and along the Rhine. Moreover, the difference in character makes it hopelessly incongruous for the Prussians of today to exploit Siegfried as one of their national heroes. Hagen of Troneg would be more fit, chosen at the moment when he treacherously murders Siegfried, when he steals Kriemhilde's fortune or when he brutally slays the infant Ortlieb. But Siegfried was honorable, Siegfried was brave, Siegfried was chivalric, Siegfried was not a Hohenzollern. To exploit Siegfried and his Balmung as emblematic of Prussia, or indeed of the Germany of today, is gross impertinence perhaps. It is well that the sword is gone. The statue itself should follow it into retirement from a place where it does not belong. —New York Tribune.

DAUGHTERS' MEETING

The Daughters meeting of the Woman's Missionary Society of the M. E. Church, held Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Claude Herndon, was a most beautiful and enjoyable affair. The connecting parlors were sweet and fragrant with quantities of nasturtiums, Amaryllis and ferns and were crowded with members of the Society and friends of the hostesses, Mesdames Herndon, Fox, Griffith and Morgan.

Mrs. P. M. Elder opened the meeting with a short devotional exercise, after which she paid a tender tribute to "Our Mothers." Her own mother was at one time president of the Society and presented Mrs. Elder's name for membership when she was but a young girl. Mrs. Mettenger was also for many years president of the Society and still retains her membership here; though doing active work in her own church in Jacksonville, Mrs. Elder welcomed the Daughters into the fold and spoke of the time in the not distant future when the burden of the work would pass wholly into their hands and prophesied that they would do honor to the high heritage which is theirs. The program of music and readings published in Thursday's Herald was carried out in detail and was keenly enjoyed by all present.

At the close of the afternoon the hostesses served a salad course and hot chocolate.

So enjoyable was the Daughter's meeting that it is hoped it will become an annual event.

SANFORD'S TEMPERATURE

Well, the old bulb spells 80 today which is a sure sign that summer is almost here to stay. There may be a few cool days and we want them for the late celery crop but there will be little of winter left. The old scoundrel may linger in the lap of spring but if the sheriff catches him he will give him a job on the roads. This elegant chatter about the weather was left out Saturday by Harry Neal, who said it was not the sort of stuff for Saturday reading—Harry joined church last week. Our opinion of him is that it will need a revival to save his life if he ever leaves out this moral uplift of ours again and we can prove it by all the readers of the Herald. Isn't it so? Raise your hands. Thank you and you and you. 5:40 A. M. MARCH 27, 1922
