

OLE MEN WILL SPEAK TO TRUCK GROWERS

John Bell of Lake Monroe and A. C. Foster of Bureau of Plant Industry to Talk at Meeting at University

By B. F. Whitner, Jr.

Farmers and citizens in general, will be interested to learn that the names of two prominent Seminole county men appear on the program for the truck growers' session, for Farmers and Fruit Growers Week, at the University of Florida, Gainesville, Aug. 11 to 16, inclusive.

John Bell, of Monroe, will talk to the truckers of Florida, Tuesday afternoon, Aug. 12, his subject being, "The Proper Packing of Vegetables." Mr. Bell is one of the pioneer farmers of this section, and he is still pioneering. Being a man of great energy and initiative, he was not willing to stop when he had produced a first class crop of celery, but instead, set to work to improve the standard package and put up a crate of celery that was just so good to look at, that it would command a big premium at all times, and sell when the market was so crowded that inferior stuff must necessarily be turned under. The result is the "Big Bell Brand" of washed and individually wrapped stalks of celery, that has attracted so much attention during the last year.

Mr. Bell believes in putting up such a good looking product that the consumer, and in turn the housewife, simply cannot resist buying it. He is an enthusiastic believer in an A-1 grade and package. He is full of his subject, and it will be well worth any trucker's time to go up to Gainesville to hear his talk.

A. C. Foster, Bureau of Plant Industry, will also address the truckers of the state Tuesday afternoon, Aug. 12. His subject will be "The Fertilization of Celery, Its Relation to Growth and Disease." Mr. Foster is in charge of the experimental work being carried on here by the Bureau of Plant Industry, U. S. D. A., in co-operation with Seminole county and the state of Florida. Mr. Foster is a man of many years training, and has been stationed in Sanford for some three years, studying the growth, diseases, fertilization, etc., of the crops grown here. The truckers of Florida will be especially interested in having the chance to hear Mr. Foster talk on this subject.

The College of Agriculture is making a earnest attempt to put on a program for Farmers Week that will be both interesting and helpful to all of the farmers of the state, no matter what branch of farming they may be engaged in.

G. O. P. Quarters at Minneapolis, WASHINGTON, Aug. 6.—The Republican national committee has before it for decision, President Coolidge let it be known Tuesday, the question of establishing regional headquarters at Minneapolis as the base for an intensive campaign in the Northwest states.

For some time advisers of the President have urged that an active campaign be conducted by the Republican party in the states regarded as the stronghold of Senator LaFollette, independent candidate for president, and the word from the White House was taken as indicating that the advice was regarded favorably enough to have it placed before the national committee for action.

Additional encouraging reports were received by the President Tuesday on the campaign outlook in western territory. Representative Johnson of South Dakota, called upon the executive and said that the Republican ticket would prevail in that state in November.

Reports of Republican success in the East were brought to the White House by Secretary Weeks who has just returned from a vacation in New England, and by Senator Edge of New Jersey.

Bradentown Wants Adams Dock Property

BRADENTOWN, Aug. 6.—After two years of negotiations with the owner, the Bradentown Board of Trade has decided to initiate legal proceedings in an effort to force the sale to the city by William Adams a dock used by his boat line at this city. The matter has been placed in the hands of G. O. Lea, city attorney, who it is understood will bring suit to test the ownership claimed by Mr. Adams to riparian rights at the foot of Main street from which the dock takes its start into Manatee river.

Four Men Are Shot In Clash with Klan

SAVERHILL, Mass., Aug. 6.—Four men were shot here early today when hostile crowds clashed with between 2,000 and 5,000 members of the Ku Klux Klan who held an infiltration lasting until early this morning on a hill near the neighboring town of Groveland. State and local police quelled the disorders by arresting 33, including three wounded men, and confiscating six shotguns, revolvers and quantities of ammunition. Arrests appeared to be approximately evenly divided between those attending the Klan meetings and the opposition.

Loeb Struck Fatal Blow Says Alienist

The opinion of Clarence S. Darrow, chief of defense council. "And then I am making a conservative estimate," he added.

"The defense will use two or three more alienists, Mr. Darrow indicated, with an undetermined number of other witnesses, some of whom will probably be members of the families of the two defendants.

Upon completion of Dr. Healy's testimony, Dr. Bernard Glueck, of New York, was called as the third defense alienist, despite the fact that there was only twenty minutes of the session left and the attorneys were hinting broadly for an adjournment because of the intense heat. Dr. Glueck got only as far as his qualifications as an expert before adjournment.

Numerous Warships Of Soviet Government Cruise Finland Gulf

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., Aug. 6.—Surprise has been expressed in the smaller states about the Baltic Sea at the number of ships participating in the cruise of the Russian Soviet fleet in the Gulf of Finland, which began a few days ago. Two dreadnaughts, six submarines, five light cruisers, ten destroyers, ten torpedo boats of French type and a number of repair ships have been sighted, a greater number of vessels than it was thought possible could be commissioned. All the ships appeared to be in a good state of repair.

The fleet was recently sighted close to the Estonian coast, but so far none of the vessels have appeared in Finnish waters. As the Soviet authorities are said to be anxious to make a demonstration of the efficiency of their reorganized navy, it is expected that the cruise will be extended to Danub and German waters.

Parents Warned Of English Won't Put Up Children Chauffeurs With Poor Speakers

WEST PALM BEACH, Aug. 6.—Judge Harry Hauck, with a warning to parents and employers against allowing children to act as chauffeurs, has fined Joseph Hendricks, 13-year-old boy, $5 for driving an automobile, in assessing the fine, Judge Hauck declared "children, according to the definition of the law, are not qualified to drive motor cars. Parents are liable for permitting their boys and girls to drive and employers who permit young persons to drive their vehicles are equally responsible to the city authorities." Sixteen years is the limit, it was pointed out.

Leads New 'Investigations'

There will be another outbreak of "investigations" in Washington this week, it is reported. Senator Clegg, shown above, is going to peep through the doors of the Treasury Department and see what he can see. The income tax division and the prohibition unit are to bear the brunt of the investigating. Sensations of the first order are foreseen.

United Labor Support Third Party Urged

Democratic vice presidential nominee for Wheeler in that state, Robert M. LaFollette, Jr., explaining that arrangements for placing the Independent ticket on ballots was entirely in the hands of Chicago headquarters, in charge of Representative Nelson of Wisconsin, said that no word had been received from Nelson of the move to couple Bryan instead of Wheeler with LaFollette in Wheeler's home state, and that unless Nelson showed concern over the situation no attention would be paid to reports of discord.

Assurances that LaFollette would adhere to his announced intention of running as an independent in all states, was given today by Robert M. LaFollette, Jr., in a letter to Chairman Butler of the Republican National Committee, which disclaimed any intention of LaFollette supporters in Wisconsin to take over the Republican ticket, thereby forcing President Coolidge to run there as an independent.

Five Thousand Attend Convention Opening

His exception of true Americanism as described "to fear anger of the just God, to respect all law, to reverse all authority." The convention will be in session until Thursday.

Soldiers' Treatment Of Man Is Questioned

NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—About Simon Kink, wealthy Jewish hotel man who was evicted at the Ku Klux meeting in the Hudson river driving park last night, said today he would ask Governor Smith to review the treatment accorded him by state troopers. The unwelcome guest at the Klan meeting charged troopers mauled him and refused to arrest men whom he charged with assaulting him during a scuffle before eviction. King claims to have received an invitation with other business men to attend the gathering.

PUBLIC URGED TO GIVE TRUE VALUE TO NEWS OF DAY

Bleyer Says Citizens Should Cultivate Reading of Public News to Recognize Facts.

MADISON, Wis., Aug. 6.—Development and cultivation of a newspaper reading public which will recognize news as of more importance than the society column, the sporting page and the comic strip, is one of the main duties of the future newspaperman, in the opinion of Prof. W. G. Bleyer, director of journalism at the University of Wisconsin.

Newspapers should be read and taught in the public schools of the nation, and the youth instructed in reading news and determining what is best to read, Prof. Bleyer said.

"Democratic government depends upon public opinion, and public opinion, as we know it today, is mainly taken from the newspapers," Mr. Bleyer stated. "If the purpose of education is to train the youth of the nation in citizenship, the study of the newspaper should have a prominent part in our public schools.

"Newspaper reading today is not taken as a serious part of the individual's daily life. On the whole, the individual devotes at least thirty minutes a day to the newspaper. This is the weakness of our modern democracy. We do not digest the facts, we swallow them too hurriedly.

"The aim of the newspaper and journalism schools should be to train a new generation of newspaper readers to whom news, real news, is of more importance than the society column, the sporting page, or the funny strip. The news should be read first, leaving these other features as dessert. The news is the solid food. We need to cultivate news taste and discrimination in the public.

"The public should be taught to think of the news as a part of history, of current events that are making history. The newspapers can influence public opinion and through that influence, even the economic forces of the nation can be moulded. They can be the organs of an enlightened patriotism and make for more idealism and community betterment.

"Less emphasis should be put on the sporting page. An interest in sports is healthy and normal, but we overstress it, these days. Professional sports are not a good stimulant for the mind."

ABLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY
 "Life and Good Days" - He that will love life, and see good days, let him refrain his tongue from evil, and his lips that they speak no guile. - I Peter 3:10.

LOVING
 Everybody loves a little loving, everybody craves it now and then. When the heart is saddest, when the heart is gladdest, that's the time we hunger for a loving little friend.

Everybody loves a little loving, everybody, whether young or old. When the year is fleeting, when the heart is beating, that's the time to tell them that your love is never cold.

Everybody loves a little loving, from the baby to the mother gray. Even dear old daddy, wouldn't feel so very badly, should your light of love around his heart strings play.

Everybody loves a little loving, everybody wants a little more; Love is never wasted; Sweetest thing we've tasted, since we made our journey on the loveliest shore. - Dr. J. W. Rogers.

If they say they don't then they are telling stories. The experts of fiction: the golfer and the fisherman. Where is that University Club going to be organized in Sanford?

The question which Judge Caverty must decide is "When is insanity not insanity?" The little girl down the street says she doesn't see where there is any fun in a neck and neck race between two men.

Five deaths were attributed to heat in Chicago on Wednesday. It won't be long before Chicagoans will be sunbathing in Florida. Our office boy says if some girls could see themselves as others see them, the application of rouge and lipstick would become a fine art.

Nowadays when paragraphs run out of ideas all they have to do is to speak of bobbed hair or mention the Prince of Wales' latest fall. "Davis in Fine Shape for Battle" says headline. Sounds more as if he is going to engage in a prize fight than an election campaign.

Judge Caverty says, "It is breeding anarchy to hang a man without giving him a hearing." Well, it's certain the judge is not breeding anarchy. What's the matter with those St. Petersburgers? Would they lock their doors against Sam Untermyer, Julius Fleischman or Major Henry Cabot?

One thing we can't understand is why a deposed governor who made such an ass of himself while in office, can later run a close second when he makes a try for the senate. New York is having its troubles with pyromaniacs. "Fire bugs" are among the most dangerous of lunatics and should be very carefully and permanently locked up when caught.

Charles Ponal, who fleeced a group of Eastern investors out of about two millions, and was sentenced to five years in prison, is now walking the streets again. If he tries to sell you something don't take too much stock in it. The Fort Pierce News-Tribune contains some very wise advice regarding roadside parking. This practice by many people is not only a nuisance but a distinct danger to lives and property and should be carefully avoided.

It is suggested by the Waycross Journal-Herald that the Atlanta spirit is the willingness of those who live in Atlanta to brag about their city. The Atlanta spirit should have found its way into Sanford.

With one of the best ball fields in the state and with enough interest here in the national game to support a team, Sanford should have a baseball team in the Florida League next year. And the time to begin making arrangements is steadily gaining.

When outdoor sports of "anxious" played around railroads, the game is steadily gaining ground in this country. Personally the theory of evolution doesn't bother us, and we don't believe as Representative Corman of the Georgia legislature that a wagon load of mud dumped in the middle of the road, might, through its own inherent powers of evolution, some day up and run for the legislature.

A Herald correspondent expressing his interest in the near escape of the Democratic party from being reft asunder by the Ku Klux Klan issue asks if the bitterness smouldering between the anti-Catholic and pro-Catholic factions will crop out at all in the summer's campaign. His own opinion is that only in local fights here and there, and as much between candidates of the Republican or the LaFollette groups as between candidates in Democratic party ranks, will there be any show of religious intolerance or dissension.

For his own information this correspondent asks what is the church affiliation of John W. Davis. There are doubtless other Herald readers who would be interested in knowing the answer, and in also knowing which church has been most often represented in the executive chair in Washington.

From a recent Associated Press dispatch from New York, The Herald learns that if John W. Davis is elected he will be the eighth Presbyterian president of the United States, and this will bring the number of such presidents even with the number who have been communicants in the Protestant Episcopal Church, the latter at present holding the palm with eight presidents.

Mrs. Davis is a communicant of the Protestant Episcopal Church, and Mr. Davis attends Sunday morning services with her in the Church of St. John of Lattingtown at Locust Valley. Hence even though Mr. Davis is a Presbyterian, some Episcopal Church in Washington may again have a president of the United States as a regular member of its congregation.

President Coolidge is the first Congregationalist president of the United States, and Warren G. Harding was the first Baptist to preside over this nation.

The Presbyterian presidents were: Grover Cleveland, Andrew Jackson, Polk, Buchanan, Benjamin Harrison and Woodrow Wilson. Abraham Lincoln did not unite with any church but during his stay in Washington he regularly attended the New York Avenue Presbyterian Church.

The Episcopal presidents were: Washington, Madison, Monroe, William Henry Harrison, Tyler, Taylor, Pierce and Arthur.

The Unitarians were: John Adams, John Quincy Adams, Fillmore and Taft.

The Methodist presidents were: Johnson, Grant, Hayes and McKinley.

Van Buren and Roosevelt were members of the Dutch Reformed Church. Garfield was a member of the Church of the Disciples of Christ. Jefferson was a Liberal.

In the entire list there has been no member of the Roman Catholic Church serving as president of the United States, but for that matter there has been only one Baptist and no Lutheran.

The Herald believes with its correspondent that if there is any religious issue injected into the summer's campaign, it will be confined to local cases where narrow prejudice can have a chance to run amuck. It would be regrettable beyond words if this great nation should travel back toward the days of religious intolerance and blind bigotry. Let this nation keep religious doctrines out of politics, and politics out of religion, if it would live and prosper.

Women's Fashions, A Momentous Question

Observing that a prize has been offered to the woman's club evolving the most attractive modest fashion in women's clothing, the Asheville Citizen opines that "the next thing necessary will be a prize for any woman who will wear the thing."

Criticism of women's clothes has long been a great indoor sport. It has even attained at times the dignity of an outdoor sport. Men will stand on street corners to indulge in repartee as to the merits of passing skirts. And many a brainy gathering on a club-house veranda improves a rainy afternoon with deep arguments upon the pros and cons of women's fashions.

It is a momentous question. The Pope at Rome the other day ordered the non-admittance of a group of women visitors to the vatican because he did not like the way they were dressed. He followed up this action by sending out an appeal—a near-ukase in fact—to the Catholic women of the world to bring about a reform in the style of women's garments. He wants these garments "more modest." And if the faithful members of the great Roman Catholic Church take his request seriously, the civilized world may be asked to produce an invariable rule for the term, "modest."

Can any fashion of clothing, for instance, be deemed "modest" if worn by a woman who is not modest? Can any fashion of clothing be deemed "immodest" when worn by a woman who is innately modest?

Having settled those two questions, the next step will be easy. Women will be "turned loose" to wear exactly what they want to wear, and the world will keep on traveling through space, the moon will rise and the moon will set. And "gents" will stand on street corners and exchange their intellectual views about the skirts that pass their way.

ANOTHER PICTURE
 MIAMI HERALD

Arthur Brisbane gives a view of the young criminals now being tried for murder in Chicago, differing from that given cut by the ordinary reporter sending out the news of the daily events of the trial.

They have represented that the young men, now on trial for their lives, come into and go out of the court room with a jaunty air, that they face the crowd unflinchingly and that they constantly smile and laugh during the unfolding of the testimony.

All this would lead the people of this country to believe that there is something abnormal about these young fellows and so abnormal that they ought not to be held responsible for their acts; seems all to be a part of the plan to save the young men from the gallows and to land them in some sanitarium where, within a short time, they may be declared cured of their abnormality and again restored to liberty.

GEORGIA AND EVOLUTION
 TAMPA TIMES

Some folks may smile knowingly when they read of the bill before the Georgia legislature which proposes to withdraw all state aid from school in which the Darwinian theory is taught, but those folks who have been forced to come into close contact with the legislators of some states can well appreciate that this is a serious matter.

Personally the theory of evolution doesn't bother us, and we don't believe as Representative Corman of the Georgia legislature that a wagon load of mud dumped in the middle of the road, might, through its own inherent powers of evolution, some day up and run for the legislature.

 Limits to a dog's tail.
 Three cheers for Eric Nelson
 BY ARTHUR BRISBANE
 (Copyright 1924)

HOW QUICKLY time passes, for those far beyond the borderland of childhood. Remind any man of thirty that Coolidge finished his first year as president last Saturday and he will say, "Impossible." It seems only yesterday that Harding died. But much water has come over the dam since that death and much oil, too.

PROFESSOR HENRY T. Fairchild worried about the earth's future population, says that with population increasing as it did before the war this country, at the end of this century would have one third more population than China with one-fourth less land.

In ten thousand years, says he, there would not be standing room in America. That population worry used to promote birth control, and excuse the drowning of girl babies to oriental countries, is much exaggerated. If a puppy's tail continued to grow all its life as rapidly as it grows in the first three months an old dog would have a tail ten yards long. But as Harry George remarked long ago, the tail stops growing at the right time. The Lord arranges it so that we shall not grow into the heavens.

NEWS OF A GREAT victory in war could not have been more gratifying than Eric Nelson's safe arrival in Iceland. "Lost in fog" when the other American flyers turned back, was the story of Nelson on Saturday. But that young flyer is not named Eric for nothing. Not lost in the fog, stall, but diving under and going through the fog, continuing his appointed journey around the world and landing safely on Iceland's soil, is his story.

That's enough to make old composers of the Sagas turn in their icy graves to look for writing materials. We have the story. If the government will kindly supply flying machines this country will be well prepared.

SIMPLE AMERICAN souls read and talk about European diplomacy, without understanding any of it. Lloyd George recalls the fact that all the prime ministers concerned long ago accepted the Dawes plan. Germany accepted it, also, although here we are told that Germany's acceptance is the remaining question.

The discussing is done to get American financiers and the American people committed to their part of the program, which is to supply the money. Nobody took the trouble to inform our state department that the whole thing was arranged. That was an unnecessary formality.

THE WHOLE PLAN hangs on American gold, says Lloyd George. Without that, the plan falls flat. We are to supply gold to start Germany's wheels revolving. From German industry fed by our money and raw materials, Germany will get money to pay France and Belgium and England, perhaps.

FRANCE IS VERY mysterious. It may be that even in the long run it will pay us to sell goods to Europe, to be paid for with our own money. Distribution of money to business is what distribution of water and fertilizer is to agriculture.

The Dawes plan will set out gold reserve in movement. Some of it will go to Europe. More will be scattered here, to pay for things that Europe needs.

NO MATTER HOW it may affect us in the long run, each distributive, accompanied, probably, by a new flood of crisp new Federal Reserve bills, will start up a prosperity boom with us. Baruch says it will be such a boom as to make the war prosperity look small. The things that Europe buys from us in this boom will be used to build up. The materials bought in the war were used by Europeans to blow each other to pieces.

Prepare for good times with business booming, work plenty, wages high. There is no knowing how high the wages will go with the immigration shut out and Europe's population looking to us for supplies.

BOSTON'S COLLECTOR of the port is told of a huge German submarine "flooding the Massachusetts coast with German beer and French wines." The submarine probably takes on its load of a hundred miles out where bootlegging is no crime, and then brings in the merchandise, below water. That's what they call the "blue ocean." One submarine could keep several bootleg ships busy.

IT'S THE LATEST in bootlegging and romantic. There is even comfort in it. Since we must have bootlegging from abroad, may as well bring in German beer and French wines. These folks farm in one shipment of raw whiskey than in 100 carloads of German beer and French wines. In fact, some believed that we could have solved our whole drink problem by forbidding whiskey and encouraging wine and beer. It's too late to discuss that, however, we are enlisted for prohibition and must give it a fair trial.

IT'S THE RUSSIAN people, kind, generous, cheerful. However, you may feel toward Bolshevism. One world war, two revolutions, a civil war, a famine of typhus and cholera, and horrible famines. All that was done in the few Russian years. And you see, you see, you see.

HOMeward BOUND
 MIAMI NEWS

There must come to the six American flyers who are winging their way around the world, a sense of deep gratitude as the crews of their mighty ships of the air are pointed toward home. As the poet has written:

"Breathes there the man with soul so dead,
 Who never to himself hath said,
 'This is my own, my native land;
 Whose heart's heart's home is not within him,
 As his home's his footsteps he has turned,
 From wandering on a foreign strand."

The great adventure is about to be realized for the American bird-men. Hopsons have been adjusted to the airplanes, new Lindbergh engines have been put into place. A long, cold flight across the North Atlantic will bring these dauntless aviators to their first stop after leaving Kirkwall to Iceland. Then Greenland and Labrador are to be visited before the machines which left Braugh, England, Wednesday, finally head straight for the friendly and familiar waters of the Atlantic. Every movement of the journey henceforth will bring these heroic pathfinders nearer to home.

PRINCE IS BROKE
 MIAMI HERALD

There are certain names which must go into the public prints so often. In the case of most people it does not make any difference, but if the eager reader does not see something about certain personalities the paper of a morning seems to be lacking something. The Prince of Wales is one of these persons. The public expects him to do something every day, or so that will justify the news found in judging his name.

If the prince does not fall off his horse and break his bones, there is something in a bit of gossip regarding his marriage. He is thirty, now you know, and all the dames of England and the rest of the world are beginning to worry for fear he will become a hopeless old bachelor.

The other day all the news about him seemed to be lacking and someone discovered just in the nick of time that he had attended the Worldly Exposition without taking any money with him. When he

EQUINE FIDELITY
 NEW YORK HERALD-TRIBUNE

Those who go through life with their eyes open have frequent examples of the reaction of dumb animals to kindness. In the matter of fidelity in the animal kingdom none can dispute the claim of the dog to first place, but the behavior of the horse plagues at times leads to the belief that this useful quadruped has more affection in his make-up than the general public credits him with possessing.

The behavior of the police horse Rookie, which fell with and injured Patrolman Edward J. Aylward last week, was touching. He not only showed solicitude while the officer lay in the street awaiting medical attention, but insisted on following the ambulance carrying his master to the hospital.

The bond between man and horse in this instance was so strong as to be the subject of comment in this great city, where business has in a great measure crowded sentiment into the background. Rookie's behavior is really that he was responsible for his master's safety and was loath to leave him in the hands of those who would do him harm.

Nearly every day Ignorance isn't bliss in the eyes of the ignorant. Where is the man on coal during the winter? He who waits to often has no lungs left. All left of the man wearing apparel is the man who keeps looking. The sky is the limit who keeps looking. Man wants but his chin in hot water. Somebody is always drastic change for. Some people think the headache. Farmers near railroads should paint their red. A watch has 1001 year, but a camera would swear he has a minute. Giraffes can see turning their heads, but be terrible if gossiping like straffes. Rats, according to experts, are increasing may be propaganda silk stocking trade. Georgia hen laid inches around, and old-timers say it's a hallostone.

Who throws the swiftest ball in the big leagues today? Walter Johnson of Washington used to, but the great Johnstons is allpung. Experts agree his successor is Dazy Vance of the Brooklynns, who, in a recent game against Chicago, fanned 14 batters and set seven of the Cubs down in order on strikes, duplicating a world's record.

Laws Against Liquor Passed 69 Years Ago

TALLAHASSEE, Aug. 7.—The far-sightedness of Florida's legislators of the nineteenth century is disclosed in an old law unearthed in the archives of the state capitol here. It is an act which became effective in January, 1855, and provided heavy penalties for employees of railroads found guilty of being intoxicated while in the performance of their duty.

At the time of its enactment there were no railroads in Florida. The act, however, imposed upon the general assembly the proper objects of improvements in relation to railroads, canals and navigable streams; and indicates the presentment the lawmakers must have had that liquor and locomotive combined would not make for public safety.
