12B-The Sanford Herald Thursday, Mar. 28, 1974 Hearing On Recall Monday By JANE CASSELBERRY

County Editor A 7 p.m. public hearing will be held Monday night on an ordinance that would provide for a recall of elected city officials on petition of 33 1-3rd per cent of the qualified voters in Winter Springs. The ordinance was amended at the last council meeting to permit the official recalled to continue in office until a special election could be held 45 days later.

Residents of The Ranchlands section of the city complained this week to council about the condition of roads in their area plaming dump trucks being used to haul out dirt. Mayor Troy Piland, who is enployed by Allen Pyle Land Clearing Co., one of the firms involved in dredging out lakes in the area. said his company has been putting clay and sand on the roads daily. It was reported that school buses have been getting stuck on Fisher Road - three in one

Gas Numbers Game

NEW YORK (AP) - By small steps and great leaps, the great American gasoline numbers game of 1974 is coming to an end. Now, with the end of the Arab oil boycott, the odd-even gas distribution plan is being dropped in South Carolina, the District of Columbia, New Jersey and at least one Connecticut city and one California county. Notable among the holdouts is Oregon, where the plan originated. Other states preserving the plan undiluted include Massachusetts, Washington, Maryland and Delaware.

Campaign Reform Stalls

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Senate so far is standing ast against attempts to eliminate or modify the public inancing provisions of a campaign reform bill.

But another attempt was planned for the start of today's session with an amendment by Sen. Jesse Helms, R-N.C., who contends the answer to abuses is full disclosure of campaign financing.

Helms' amendment would strike out the entire bill and substitute new reporting requirements.

Demos Speak Saturday

NEW YORK (AP) - The Democratic response to President Nixon's radio speech on education will be broadcast Saturday on three radio networks. ABC and NBC said the Democratic spokesman for their broadcasts would be Rep. John Brademas of Indiana, whose speech was to be aired at 12:7 p.m. EDT on ABC and 3:05 p.m. on NBC. CBS said Sen. Claiborne Pell of Rhode Island would speak at 12:07 p.m. Nixon spoke last Saturday.

To An Open House At Stromberg-Carlson On Saturday, March 30th. 10 A.M. To 3 P.M.

We're inviting the entire community to our new Sanford facilities for a day of neighborly visits.

It's our way of showing everyone how proud we are to be a member of the community ... and tell them how we're trying to be good neighbors.

To make the day interesting for all our visitors we'll have guided tours all day to acquaint you with our many products produced right here in Sanford. And we'll let you try out our new VISTA-PHONE that lets you see the person you are telephoning ... and you'll see a lot of other exciting new developments in telecommunications.

Bring the children. Boy Scout Troop 560 from DeBary will serve them hot dogs and cokes.

Please come and visit with us Saturday, March 30th ... We want you to get to know Stromberg-Carlson and our many employees.

After all, we are neighbors. So come and enjoy yourselves at our home. It's only fair! We've been in your homes for years.

WASHINGTON - Congressional investigators have traced a curious cash flow through presidential pal Bebe Rebozo's Key Biscayne, Fla., bank in 1970-71. The trail leads to Switzerland where money can be hidden in umbered bank accounts.

As part of the investigation into President Nixon's tax returns, the Joint Congressional Committee on Internal Revenue Taxation has checked a number of accounts in Rebozo's bank. I has taken lengthy statements from Rebozo.

Elaborate charts, covering two large desk tops, have been prepared showing how mysterious cash sums were routed through the bank, our committee sources say.

The investigators have not established that Rebozo himself has a secret Swiss bank account. But a committee investigator will fly to Paris and Geneva in an attempt to follow the flow of cash to Switzerland.

Rebozo Out Of Touch

We were unable to reach Rebozo for comment. But he has denied to committee investigators that he has been involved in any improper cash transactions.

The investigators are trying to determine whether the sudden movement of cash through the Rebozo bank in 1970-71 is linked to efforts to raise money for the President.

It has now been established, for example, that the $100,000 cash gift from billionaire Howard Hughes was delivered to Rebozo in 1970. We have also traced at least two other smaller cash contributions to Rebozo, who was not an authorized Republican fund raiser.

He has insisted, nevertheless, that the contributions were intended for the President's political campaigns. Both chairman Russell Long, D-La., and cochairman Wilbur Mills, D-Ark., have agreed that the committee should establish only how much more taxes the President owes and should not make any judgments about possible tax fraud.

Any evidence of fraud, they have agreed, should be turned over to the Internal Revenue Service and the House impeachment panel. As we have previously reported, the IRS has already doubled their Indian Ocean Force, the fleet consists of the which handles criminal cases. Our sources say the unit finds criminal violations in about 50 per cent of its investigations.

> POLITICAL PROSECUTIONS: In the wake of Wat federal prosecutors suddenly have started pouncing upon politicians. From Oklahoma to Missouri, top political figures we come under intense federal investigation

The latest victim is the legislative assistant to Rep. Fred Rooney, D-Pa., a young man named William Kovacs who simply carried out the congressman's orders. He filed a suit to free impounded sewer and water funds on behalf of five townships in the home district.

For filing this Mandamus action, the young assistant has now come under criminal investigation. Assistant Attorney General enry Petersen notified Rooney in a Feb. 19 letter that the Justice Department "has initiated an investigation to determine whether your legislative assistant, William Kovacs, has violated" the law. It's true that the law prohibits government employes from acting as agents or attorneys in cases against the government. But an exception is made for an employe who acts "in the proper discharge of his official duties."

Investigation Blocks Case

The criminal investigation, meanwhile, has effectively locked the impoundment case.

After repeated unsuccessful efforts by Kovacs' attorney to arrange a meeting with Justice Department officials, Rooney put through a personal call to Petersen.

The congressman's notes on the conversation quote Petersen as saying he "is waiting for the facts" and doesn't want "to make any conclusion at this time." Rooney also quotes Petersen as wishing to check out the technicalities of the "goddamn statutes." Petersen told us he did not recall his exact words but said "I'm not responsible" for what the law says. He hoped the matter would be resolved shortly, he said. Meanwhile, he stressed, it was "not the intent" of the probe to interfere with the lawsuit

Enrollment Padding Denied

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) - Florida State University president Stanley Marshall has denied it is the policy of his administration to pad student enrollment figures to boost state appropriations.

Chancellor Robert Mautz, meanwhile, has served notice on all nine state university presidents to audit registrations by May 1 so he can assure lawmakers that there is no padding.

Marshall and Mautz were spurred into action Thursday by angry members of a House appropriations subcommittee that is investigating a memorandum urging FSU students to take extra courses.

The league executive director said the proposal on compulsory binding arbitration would encourage bad-faith bargaining

Arbitration should only be advisory, he said. The commission report, filed March 4, said arbitration should be binding on the negotiators but not on the governmental body which would have to vote the money, such as the legislature or a school board.

THE COST OF LIVING vs

Why higher electric bills? And why they aren't higher!

had be a ward with and

Because electricity is so important to us all, we naturally pay close attention to the cost. And since we use it in so many ways, we can't imagine doing without it. It's a vital part of our everyday life.

Electricity is known for its good qualities: ease of use, non-polluting at the point of use. convenience, reliability, and cleanliness. In addition to all of these, electricity is inexpensive in comparison with the general cos of living. Inexpensive, despite high construction costs, high interest rates, the fuel crisis and general inflation. And still, electric rates are far below the Cost of Living. We're fortunate.

The cost of electricity has been going down for over forty years. There was nothing magical about this reduction. We just developed better technology. We found that bigger power plants could produce energy cheaper. And built more efficient transmission facilities

It worked. During 1973 the average residential cost of 2.27¢ per kilowatt hour of usage approximated the Kwh charges of 1963! And is well below the 3.174 Kwh cost of 1953-twenty years earlier! For several years - 1968 through 1971 - this cost dropped to less than 2¢. At 2.27¢ per Kwh, electricity is an inexpensive servant. (A kilowatt hour is that energy needed to light a 100 watt bulb for 10 hours.)

This progressive work is still going on. But it is taking more and more belt tightening and innovative thinking to bring about increased efficiencies. At FPL, we are dedicated to developing even more efficient, reliable, economical electricity. By economical, we mean the lowest possible cost!

But the individual electric customer won't el this full impact of higher fuel costs. That's because FPL has a fuel mix. We use natural gas for some of our generation. About 24 per cent in 1973. And we have two nuclear reactors producing electricity. Fuel costs for gas and nuclear are below that of residual fuel oil. FPL uses a sophiscated computer operation to help plan the available uel mix in order to have the most efficient units generating electricity at the lowest possible costs. Ve burn the cheapest fuel we have. Run the most efficient units. Whenever we can.

We're not happy about the high costs of fuel ncreasing your monthly bills. We're working as hard as we can to hold any future increases to a minimum. And we are encouraging the search for more domestic

Down The Line

By Doug Storum Herald Staff Writer

Somewhere in the annals of bascball lolklore, the name of the inventor of the "seventh-inning stretch" lurks in obscurity. It could probably be determined, that is, if you've got the time to wade through tons of old literature hunting for such trivia. But the "seventh-inning stretch" is as integral a part of baseball as is the "Star Spangled Banner" (the first of mly two items you may legally leave your seat during a ball game), blind umpires

The Seventh

As a rule, the seventh inning is a good time for analyzing how the game has gone so far and what can be expected in the final few innings. Just as the bunt is as different from the home run, the different types of seventh inning stretching techniques are as varied as the dancing flight of Wilbur Wood's knuckleball.

I guess we could say that those times when 300 people kick, bite gouge and literally turn into raving beasts in hot pursuit of a foul ball richocheting off heads and concrete seats could be considered simon-pure moments of getting up and milling around. But other than that, the fans sit patiently waiting for their chance to stretch their limbs, talk about how tomorrow will be a better day, and discuss their rheumatism.

Instant Stretch

Relinquishing the opportunity to stretch yourself, especially if the game is dull, you can snicker under your program at the different ways the stretch is performed. sometimes you're directly involved. Like when the guy in front of you, whom you have politely been reminding to wait for the seventh inning to do his stretching so you can watch the ball game, preforms the Instant Stretch"-he's up and down, and then when play resumes you're once again counting the freckles on the back of his

There is always the hazard of exriencing a "I Found Your Bubble Gum Stretch." It's discovered when you get an added boost to your cleaning bill two days later or if its a good gooey wad you have a hard time getting out of your seat, or you rip your pants when you fly out of your chair to catch a glimpse of the winning run crossing the plate.

yelashes and fire engine red lip stick. Out comes the compact and comb and she batts her eyelashes at .425 clip at whoever will watch. The most dangerous stretch is the "Lost Quarter Stretch"-very costly in terms of money, time and health. What happens is, after finally getting comfortable in the hard wooden receptacle the front office passes off as a chair, ning and shifting your all your change from buying the kids hotdogs and pennants falls on the floor. While on hands and knees, dodging feet, the 300 pound fat lady who travels with the visiting team stomps on your knuckles and spills mustard in your hair. You're out for the rest of the game.

More Docile

In the more docile category there is the "Delayed Stretch". The rheumatic grandfather that starts to get up during the top of the seventh and finally reaches a full fledged standing position by the middle of the eighth.

Then of course, the "Roaming Stretch" He gets up, decides to take a quick stroll, gets lost and if you're lucky, the next time you see him is in the parking lot on your way home.

Final Stretch

Two more, its getting late, is the "Final Stretch". The game is so lousy you leave at the end of six and one-half-innings, or the seventh - Beer Stretch"-the last few words are muffled and distant as he falls over the barrier separting his box seat from the field.

Now with that in mind, we can get back to its origin. Yes the seventh inning has come a long way from its beginning back around the turn of the century. At a very discipline oriented school, the prexy would tolerate no movement or horseplay by his students while they watched the school team perform. From here there are two pretty good rumors to draw a conclusion upon. One, a guest of the President left during the seventh inning and everybody rose in respect, or the President, although strict, was thoughtful and decided the boys needed some exercise and seventh innings was about as long as they could last. Anyway, why not take in a ball game tonight at 7:30 the Minnesota Twins play their first night game in exhibition play in eight years at Orlando and seventh inning stretch time will be loaded with laughs. With the way the Twins are playing, its got to be highlight of the evening

Robinson Joins Sharks

JACKSONVILLE, Fia. (AP) - Johnny Robinson, former allpro safety and an assistant coach with the Kansas City Chiefs, has joined the coaching staff of the Florida Sharks of the World Football League.

Coach Bud Asher said Robinson will be in charge of the Sharks' defensive secondary. Robinson retired as an active player in 1971 after 12 seasons. He was a star back at Louisiana State before becoming a pro.

Taxes Delay Norton, Champ

CARACAS (AP) - Defeated heavyweight challenger Ken Norton was to try again to leave Venezuela today while champion George Foreman planned to stretch his enforced Caribbean vacation through the weekend. But just when the government would okay their departure was anybody's guess.

The problem is taxes. Venezuela was demanding an 18 per cent nonresident income tax on Foreman's $790,000 purse and Norton's $200,000 earnings, as well as on any ancillary income. However, spokesmen for both fighters said fina arrangements were in the works to guarantee payment of taxes and other bills from Foreman's second-round knockout of Norton in their title bout Tuesday night. Foreman and his party were turned back at Maiguetia

International Airport Thursday morning while Norton and his group were stopped Thursday night.

Girls Must Play

TRENTON, N.J. (AP) - A New Jersey appeals court today upheld a ruling that Little League baseball must let girls take the field with boys. A Little League spokesman said the organization had not yet decided whether to appeal the 2-1 ruling by the Court is required to consider it. The decision by the Appellate Division of Superior Court followed by a day a similar decision by Judge George B. Gelman of Hackensack in the case of Frances Pescatore, 11. She had applied Feb. 2 to play in the nearby Ridgefield League. Gelman said the Ridgefield Boys Athletic Association was setting a bad example by changing its name to in-clude "Boys" in the title and by threatening to close down rather than let girls play. Porter Football Boss

WASHINGTON (AP) - Douglas Porter has been named head football coach at Howard University, the school announced Thursday. Porter succeeds Tillman Sease, who has retired. Formerly head coach at Mississippi Valley State, Porter has been offensive backfield coach and assistant athletic director at Grambling since 1966.

Braves Cut Six Men

WEST PALM Beach, Fla. (AP) - The Atlanta Braves have cut six players to reduce their roster close to the 25 layers they can carry during the regular has season. Pitchers Max Leon, Barry Lersch and Joe Grzenda and infielders Rod Gilbreath and Jim Breazeale were sent to the Braves' farm club at Richmond. Veteran infielder Sonny Jackson was released when he refused to go to Richmond.

Under a new rule, Jackson had to give his approval before being sent to the minors.

Simpson To Colts

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) - The San Francisco (Sers have traded free safety Mike Simpson to the Baltimore Colts for an undisclosed draft choice.

Simpson, 5-foot-11 and 170 pounds, is in his fifth year in the National Football League. He formerly played for the University of Houston. The Colts expect to use him as a cornerback and on kick returns, a Baltimore club spokesman said when the trade was announced Thursday.

And he decided to do something: complain. When later he received the physician's bill, Charell responded with a bill of his own. "You kept me waiting an hour," he explained, "and I charge $50 an hour for my time. I will subtract your bill of $35 from mine of $50. Doctor, you owe me $15."

Audacity is second only to originality with Ralph Charell. As indeed it must be.
