HITLER ASKS FOR POWER TO RUN COUNTRY

Promises Campaign Of "Barbaric Severity" Against Traitors; Words Are Cheered

BERLIN, Mar. 23.—(A.P.)—Chancellor Adolph Hitler, shouting above the cheers of his Nazi deputies, demanded four years of dictatorial power from the Reichstag today.

He relegated the issue of the monarchy to the background, lifted destruction of communism to the fore of his program, reiterated the familiar Nazi thesis of arms equality for all and promised a campaign of "barbaric severity" against all traitors.

Wave after wave of applause greeted his voice from time to time. The Nazis who control the Reichstag, once adjourned, the Reichstag is recalled only from time to time "to be informed by the government of its acts when the assent of the Reichstag is desirable."

The first big step came when he expressed approval of "public denunciation" of men who set fire to the Reichstag building before the last election.

Delegation Will Attend Meeting Of River Association

A large delegation of Seminole County members of the St. Johns River Improvement Association is expected to leave here early Monday morning to attend the annual meeting of the association at Sanford.

The association will meet at the Marion Hotel at 11:00 o'clock, following which there will be a joint luncheon at 12:45 o'clock to which has been invited members of the Ocala Rotary, Kiwanis, and Lions clubs. The speakers at the luncheon will be W. F. Glynn, of Crescent City, president of the association, and State Senator J. J. Parrish, of Kissimmee.

Pretzel Company Is Formed In Sanford

Announcement was made today at the organization of the Florida Pretzel Co., with Edward Higgins, of Sanford, as president and general manager, and Dan Schieffeler, of Reading, Pa., as production manager.

The new organization takes over the Ramsey Pretzel Co. interests and production begins on Monday morning. New capital has been mobilized and under present plans a state-wide sales promotion and distribution plan will be put into effect at once.

Geneva Garden Club To Have Flower Show

Mrs. L. A. Sheldon, president of the Geneva Garden Club, this morning extended an invitation to the flower lovers of this city and county that they attend the first annual Geneva Garden Club Flower Show which will be presented at the Geneva Town Hall tomorrow from 10:00 o'clock until 7:00 o'clock.

An exhibition that would do credit to a much larger community will be presented at the show at Geneva. It will be a large and complete collection of native plants and a display of rare plants.

Jeffcoat Attorneys Ask Execution Stay

TALLAHASSEE, Mar. 23.—(A.P.)—Attorneys for Elvin Jeffcoat, Clearwater, condemned to die in the electric chair tomorrow in the hammer murder of his wife, today asked the Supreme Court and Governor Sholtz for a stay of execution. The Court and the Governor took the plea under consideration.

FREE HAND TO BE ASKED ON TARIFF FOR ROOSEVELT

Plan Has Bearing On Foreign-Trade And Possibly War Debts

WASHINGTON, Mar. 23.—(A.P.)—The administration will seek from the present special session of Congress a free hand for President Roosevelt to open American tariff doors in return for compensating bargains in foreign tariff walls by means of reciprocal treaties.

This announcement, with its far-reaching bearing upon the world trade and possibly upon war debts, was made definitely yesterday by the state department. The legislation will be presented as soon as emergency measures have been enacted.

The power to reduce tariff rates on a give and take basis is hoped for by the administration in time to permit the making of the first of the proposed commercial treaties in advance of the world economic conference scheduled for London this summer.

The decision means embarkation upon an entirely new tariff policy from that pursued since 1909 when provisions for reciprocity were repealed.

In seeking to place the power to negotiate reciprocal agreements in the hands of the executive, the administration feels it is acting toward the practical execution of the Democratic platform which provided for "reciprocal tariff agreements with other nations."

Already this grant of broad tariff powers to the President has been proposed on Capitol Hill with Representative Lewis of Maryland, a Democratic member of the House ways and means committee which normally draws up tariff bills, advocating it as a means of expediting such agreements.

At the same time there are plenty of signs that such a proposal may encounter strong opposition.

While the American government in diplomatic discussions soon to begin in preparation for the economic conference will emphasize in general the need for removal of excessive tariffs and exchange restrictions and will "play down" the war debts, a distinct relation between the debts and tariffs is seen by officials.

Much of the argument of the debtor nations for revision has been based on the plea that the United States is making it impossible for them to pay by raising tariff walls which prevented sale of their goods here in exchange for the dollars needed to pay the debt.

Floods Are Menacing Other U. S. Sections

LOUISVILLE, Mar. 23.—(A.P.)—As the Ohio River's crest surged toward Mississippi, presaging floods in Western Kentucky, Illinois, and Missouri this week-end, residents of stricken communities turned anxious eyes toward dripping skies today.

Showers descended on the watershed of the Ohio Valley last night and more rain was forecast today. The Ohio began receding about 150 miles of waterfront between Ashland, Kentucky, and Cincinnati after driving thousands of families from their homes in the lowlands of West Virginia, Ohio, Kentucky, and Indiana. Relief agencies reported the situation well in hand.

FARM RELIEF BILL O. K'D BY LOWER HOUSE

Roosevelt's Strength Displayed In Poll On Measure With 98 Votes In Opposition

WASHINGTON, Mar. 23.—(A.P.)—A fourth great display of strength yesterday sped through the House to a more hopeful Senate future a new remedy for farming ills.

Two days of debate bristling with criticism of the drastic farm-relief measure meted only 98 opposition votes when the roll was called on a bill virtually identical with that sent from the White House last week.

Against this small minority of 73 Republicans, 24 Democrats and one farmer-laborer, the Democratic machine rolled up 315 votes, including 30 Republicans and 1 farmer-laborer.

The measure would confer upon Secretary Wallace unprecedented powers to deal with the farm situation. Under its terms, he could apply any of several methods of controlling surpluses and reducing acreages, including features of the domestic allotment plan, rental of lands to relieve them from production, and the Smith law of reduction, and the exchange of government-owned cotton.

While the House chamber echoed with debate it was made known that within the week the administration will introduce a similar bill.

Florida Y. M. C. A. Delegates Arrive Here For Meeting

Harry P. Heermann, of Miami, president of the Florida State Y. M. C. A. organization was presiding over a business session attended by nearly 50 delegates from various Florida cities at the Parish House this afternoon. Featuring the session were reports from state officers including reports from Frank E. Wood, of Daytona Beach, state chairman, and J. M. S. Graham, of Jacksonville, state treasurer.

At 6:30 o'clock tonight, the delegates and many local residents will meet at the Parish House for a supper session that will be presided over by William Edwards, of Zellwood, as toastmaster. Dr. Kenzelwood, of Jacksonville, former president of Michigan Agricultural College, and Norman K. Browne, Jr., of Orlando, will be the principal speakers, and City Commissioner T. J. Dunne will welcome the group, expected to number nearly 75 persons, on behalf of the City. The public is invited to attend this affair.

Tomorrow's session of the two-day conference will begin at 9:00 o'clock and will end at noon. Election of officers, and final reports will be featured.

At 2:00 o'clock this afternoon delegates had arrived from Jacksonville, Gainesville, Miami, St. Petersburg, Tampa, St. Augustine, Daytona Beach, and Orlando. A. Bruce Mearns, of Miami, was named recording secretary of the conference.

Local Group Named By Mayor Of DeLand

Mayor Earl W. Brown, of DeLand, who is general chairman of the St. Johns Valley Day celebration which will be held at the DeLand Fair Grounds on April 29, today announced that he has appointed the following men as members of a committee which is in primary attendance and to work up the highway features of the celebration:

Harry M. Papworth, of Sanford, as chairman; J. W. Campbell, of Palatka; C. Fred Ward, of Winter Park; J. G. Drake, of DeLand; and H. L. Smith, of Ocala.

He also announced the following additional appointments in the General Arrangements committee: J. G. Drake and C. E. Gilliland, of DeLand; Other members of this committee are Mayor Brown, W. F. G. Wilson, of Crescent City; Lieut. E. C. Wilson, of Orlando; C. E. Adams, of Sanford; and George W. Oble, of Jacksonville.

Miami Sheriff Is Target For Bomb

MIAMI, Mar. 23.—(A.P.)—A dynamite bomb with a lighted fuse was hurled to the roof of the Star Cleaners building today while Sheriff Dan Harbo and a squad of deputies guarded the plant. The bomb exploded after Chief Deputy Virgil Ketch, stationed on the roof and near whose feet the explosive missile fell, attempted to throw it from the building. His try fell short and the bomb blew a hole in the roof and near whose feet the automobile from which the bomb was tossed was driven rapidly away amid a hail of bullets from the deputies. It was found later and police arrested a man they said they believed to be implicated in the bombing.

MACHINERY SET FOR OPENING OF BEER TAPS IN U.S.

Prohibition-Traiders Make Plans To Test Measure's Legality

WASHINGTON, Mar. 23.—(A.P.)—The federal government today moved swiftly to open beer taps through which legal 3.2 brew will flow to America's thirsty after midnight April 6.

The machinery to license brewers was set in motion by Dr. James Moran, industrial alcohol commissioner, who pledged himself to keep hostile beer racketeers out of the legalized industry.

Government officials acted the day after President Roosevelt signed into law a bill which permits the sale of beer and wine of 3.2 percent alcoholic content. The President's action signalled the end of absolute prohibition which has prevailed since 1920.

Leaders of prohibition organizations meantime made plans for testing the law's constitutionality and for blocking the sale of beer by injunction. They served notice of a determined court battle.

Southwestern railroads already prepared to load trucks to the task of hauling beer by asking the Interstate Commerce Commission to reduce freight rates on the beverage.

The principal provisions of the beer bill:

Legalizes beer and wine of 3.2 per cent alcohol by weight or four per cent by volume.

Levies a federal tax of $5 a barrel of thirty-one gallons.

Becomes effective fifteen days after enactment.

Leaves all regulation as to distribution to the states.

Protects dry states by reaffirming the Volstead-Kenyon Act in those that have laws prohibiting preventing interstate shipment of more than one-half of one per cent alcoholic content.

Provides that brewers must pay an annual federal license fee of $1,000 for each brewery.

Annulls dry laws affecting Hawaii, Alaska and Puerto Rico to permit sale of the 3.2 per cent beer and wine.

Makes manufacturers bear the burden of proof that their products do not contain more than 3.2 per cent alcohol.

PARRISH AND HOLLY SPEAK AT LUNCHEON

Senator Sees Tax Reduction As Big Need; Holly Will Fight To Protect Black Banns

By a mandate which cannot be mistaken, the people of Florida last November said they are going to have a reduction in taxes, and I for one shall work for the best of my ability toward that end," said State Senator J. J. Parrish, of Titusville, as the Kisanians and a large number of guests at the Montezuma Hotel yesterday. The program was devoted to the policies which Senator Parrish and Representative Charles E. Holly, who also spoke, will attempt to carry out for the benefit of the people of their district.

To indicate that he has been studying the situation carefully, Senator Parrish stated that he feels that a reduction in taxes generally can be aided materially by the enactment of several bills which he will present as quickly as possible.

Among these are: A bill to consolidate the Shell Fish, Game and Fish, and Forestry departments into one Commission, thereby effecting a $250,000 annual saving; a bill to reduce the interest on delinquent taxes from 18 per cent to eight per cent; a bill to repeal the tax on the sale of clear-cut land, and a bill to accept county bonds in payment of taxes.

Senator Parrish paid his respects to bondholders and bondholders by stating that "they need expect no quarter from me for I propose to see that our municipal, county and state obligations are met to our ability to pay. If our people are honest, they will pay their bills."

He charged that "our leading citizens, who are securing credit (Continued On Page Four)

Baptists Will Hold Revival Meetings

Rev. Wm. P. Brook, Jr., of the First Baptist Church today announced that beginning next Sunday night at 8:00 o'clock there will continue for several days a series of nightly revival meetings to be conducted by Dr. H. M. Fugate, pastor of the First Baptist Church at Yalobusha, Ga.

"Mr. Fugate," Rev. Brook said, "is a splendid preacher, having held some of the outstanding pulpits in the South. He is a graduate of the University of Richmond and the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary. He has been a member of the Foreign Mission Board of the Southern Baptist Convention for many years, and we feel that his appearance here will be welcomed by all."

Poultry Expert Will Give Lecture Tonight

Poultry growers who are interested in increasing the productivity of their flocks are urged to visit Seminole High School tonight, where at 8:00 o'clock Frank W. Brumley, agricultural economist at Gainesville, will speak on "Feeding Poultry."

The talk will be made before members of the Commercial Poultrymen's Evening Class, according to Alex R. Johnson, class advisor. Let the public be invited as well. "I hope that we have a large turnout tonight," he said, "for Mr. Brumley's talk will be one of the best and most valuable."

Northern Visitors Inspect Land Here

Mrs. and Mrs. V. Bonward, of Newton, Kansas, arrived in this city yesterday to inspect a tract of land they purchased some weeks ago from a Winter Park agency which controls the Overseas tract in the northern part of Seminole County.

During a visit to the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce offices, the Bonwards both expressed satisfaction over their purchase and the general conditions as they stand. They expect to develop their purchase as an orange grove.

Guard Slays Woman And Then Kills Self

KITTERY, Maine, Mar. 23.—(A.P.)—Fred Thacker, 37, marine guard at the Portsmouth, New York naval prison, shot and killed Mrs. Mary Blodgett, 45, in her home today, and then fatally wounded himself. James Blodgett told police he had never known his wife's assailant to visit their home and scarcely knew him by sight.

Miss Perkins Testifies At Congressional Hearing On Roosevelt's Relief Plans

WASHINGTON, Mar. 23.—(A.P.)—Miss Frances Perkins, secretary of labor, told a congressional committee today that the purpose back of the President's reforestation measure was to afford relief not only to the unemployed but to the civilian conservation corps.

Determined to clip the wings of opposition before they could too far, President Roosevelt called in a "White House" conference last night the congressional leaders who are handling his reforestation employment program.

That the President's plan was based on a misapprehension, that a dollar a day for reforestation camp workers isn't a wage level for unskilled labor, Conroy said, "I won't support the bill in its present form."

ACTION SPEEDED FLOWER EXHIBIT AGAINST FORMER GOTHAM BANKER TO END TONIGHT

United States Attorney Limitations Statute "Most Successful Of Shows" Attended By Threngs Of Persons

Final opportunity to attend the annual Garden and Flower Show of the Sanford Garden Club is given residents of this section until 10:00 o'clock tonight when the doors will close on what late this afternoon was termed "a most successful show."

Since the opening of the Show at the Mayfair Hotel yesterday afternoon thousands of persons have viewed a large and colorful display of Florida flowers, shrubs and plants. Many of the spectators were out of town and winter visitors, and nothing but praise was heaped upon the show and its sponsors.

A small admission charge is asked as a means of defraying some of the expense of gathering the exhibits from many sections of the county while children are admitted without cost. Plenty of parking space is available, and Mrs. Eddor Curlett, general chairman of the show, urges all persons who have not yet seen the display to do so promptly before 10:00 o'clock.

The list of prize winners is as follows:

Light pink, Mrs. H. H. Coleman, 1st; Mrs. E. N. Scott, 2nd; Mrs. E. M. Galloway, 3rd; dark pink, Mrs. E. M. Galloway, 1st; red, Mrs. Scott, 1st, Mrs. Galloway, 2nd, Mrs. C. B. ROOSEVELT TO OFFER PLAN ON MORTGAGES

Financing Arrangement May Call For Possible Issuance Of Federal Bonds

WASHINGTON, Mar. 23.—(A.P.)—Speaker Rainey today told newspapermen the Treasury is considering and Congress "shortly" will receive a recommendation from President Roosevelt for enactment of a farm-mortgage refinancing plan calling for possible issuance of two billion dollars worth of bonds.

President Roosevelt will follow this measure with propositions already taking shape for federal control over the stock exchange and reorganization of the railroads.

Reduction of interest rates is one of the essentials in the mortgage refinancing contemplated by the President. He wants the program to extend to all paper, both government and private, now held over the individual farmer and home owner.

The recommendation and bill to carry it out will be read by the end of the week and will go forward at an early date to Congress, which now is working on the agriculture and unemployment relief measures.

Roosevelt also contemplates in this project the re-organization of the eight federal farm agencies into one organization to be headed by Henry Morgenthau, Jr., chairman of the farm board.

By this move he believes the strength of the federal lending institutions will be increased and efficiency promoted.

At his direction, aides are busy with the urgent task of reorganizing the federal farm agencies into one organization to be headed by Henry Morgenthau, Jr., chairman of the farm board.

It is known definitely that this program will be a major feature of the President's reforestation employment program.

Under the plan, federal loans and grants will be made to the individual farmer and home owner.

The program will be a major feature of the President's reforestation employment program.

J. C. Chase Scores Proposed Laws To Hinder Truck Use

Bills now pending in the legislatures of 13 states, and scheduled to be introduced in the Florida legislature next month, will, if passed, tax highway users to the breaking point, thereby automatically returning the nation to methods of transporting goods that are not economically sound, according to a statement released here today by Joshua C. Chase, chairman of the Florida Highway Users Conference.

Mr. Chase charges that these proposed measures "are inspired by interests which are in direct competition with truck and trailer users who are transporting goods with greater speed and more economy than the ultimate consumer than, for instance, the railroads."

Bills that would still further increase the tax burdens of the operators of automobiles, motor trucks and trailers and buses, he charged, are eminently unfair when it is considered that motor vehicle taxes are now more than triple the taxes paid by the railroads, "the opponents of highway transportation."

"The whole tendency of recent years has been to increase the taxes paid by the motor vehicle," Mr. Chase said. "During 1932, trucks, trailers, automobiles and buses in Florida paid in license fees alone the sum of $5,261,074.25, and in gasoline tax $1,654,417.67, or a total of $6,915,491.92, and this does not include mileage taxes paid by the certified carriers, while the levies imposed upon all steam railroads, in 1932, was less than $4,000,000."

BUDDY LAKE HAS BAD INNING IN TILT WITH YANKS

Youngster Meets First Real Test Tuesday; Writers Praise Him

By PETER SCHAAL. The life and baseball career of Buddy Lake, our youngest contribution to major league competition, grows more interesting and enlightening every hour, according to press reports received here today.

Yesterday Buddy received a real baptism of fire down in St. Petersburg when he was sent to the mound in the latter innings of the Braves' game against the hard-hitting New York Yankees. Things went well for Buddy for three innings but in the ninth the Yanks fell on him for five singles. In the excitement the Braves made a pair of errors, and before the smoke had cleared away Spohrer had succeeded Buddy on the mound and the game was lost 8 to 6.

While we haven't read the full account of the game, we are willing to wager that those five singles were mostly to the infield. In fact we believe that about three of them were bunt hits toward Buddy, those slow rollers that are so hard to handle.

We think that the Yanks started hunting at the suggestion of Lib Jones, who hurried for Sanford last year. Jones is working out with the Yankees, and it seems reasonable that he, in a spirit of fun, might have told the Yanks' manager that Buddy used to have trouble handling bunt hits. Five straight singles followed. We'll find out more about what happened tomorrow.

But, here's the really big news of the week. Far as Buddy is concerned, did you know that he is "courting"? Neither did anyone else in Sanford, its safe to say. Yet, according to press notices from the Philadelphia Inquirer, its either so or else some experienced sportswriters are razzing the rookie.

We'll let you read parts of Stan Baumgartner's account of the Phillies-Braves game of last Friday, as retold in the Inquirer: "ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Mar. 17.—Faced with a shortage of pitchers more acute than the recent currency crisis, Bill McKechnie, boss of the Braves, started a green left-hander against the Phillies on St. Patrick's Day and the Shottons promptly thumped him black and blue to score a 5-1 triumph.

"It was fortunate for the Phillies that they found Williams so easy to solve for when McKechnie substituted the sidewinder and inserted a fellow by the name of Lake, baseball was harder to get than rembrandts at one dollar a copy.

This last's hurling was the feature of the tilt. Only 17 years old, a product of the Sanford High School, he stood the hard hitting Shottons on their collective ears. In five innings he allowed only one hit and retired the first 13 men to face him.

"Ben Cantwell, one of the Braves' regular hurlers discovered the kid in his home town and brought him along to camp. His work impressed McKechnie and two days ago the Brave manager told him that he would give him a chance against the Phillies.

"You will not mind Mr. McKechnie if I bring my girl over to see me pitch?"

"Certainly not" agreed McKechnie with a smile. "You can bring your great grandmother if it will help you on the mound."

"His girl was evidently the only inspiration he needed. Before he walked into the box he gave her a wave—and then proceeded to bowl the Phillies over in order. And we imagine that Lake and Mrs. Lake to be (?) were a proud couple as they walked down the main drag of Sanford tonight."

Here's what Bill Brandt, staff correspondent for the Philadelphia Public Ledger had to say about Buddy's performance: "ST. PETERSBURG, Mar. 17.—The celebrated power of the Phillies bat pile has developed a weakness that won't prove serious unless all the other National League teams rush out and sign a lot of recent high school graduates for pitchers.

"The Phils clouted enough runs across in today's first four innings to beat the Boston Braves, 5 to 1, in their first of many meetings scheduled this year with the McKechnie trile. They showed pitching on the part of Cy Moore, Reg Grabowski and Ed Holley which proved entirely too tough for the home side to sink its teeth into.

"But in the fifth a certain Bernard Lake, a chubby youngster who was dazzling the high schoolers of North-Central Florida for the cause of old Sanford High as recently as year before last, stepped in against Chuck Klein and his burly brothers who thereupon proceeded to look as dazed as Lake used to make Sanford Junior High on a dark afternoon.

"The Phils perished one-two-three for four innings. Somebody fanned in each of the four frames. In the ninth, Holley in a fit of rage at the tricks of this beardless encroacher on the noble twirling craft, slapped a single, to right which was the only speck marring Lake's no-hit effect in his debut as a Boston chucker.

"It was unheard of, unspeakable and unexplainable, but it happened.

Minor Will Hurl In Ball Tilt With 'House Of David'

Tige Minor, young Ocoee hurler who starred in the Central Florida Baseball League for the past two years, will be the starting hurler for the Sanford All-Star baseball nine which will play against the House of David team at Municipal Park tomorrow night at 8:30 o'clock.

Minor will hurl the entire game unless the visiting players find his delivery easy, in which event, Cal Dennis or Dick Torrible, the latter a young "find", will take the hill.

Joe Barnes, who has gathered a team together to play the bearded representatives of one of the strangest religious cults in America, also announced today that the batting order will be as follows: Frisbie, ss; Barnes, lb; Sanford, 2b; Martin, cf; Harrison, lf; Reed, rf; Chapman, c; Minor, p; Higgins, 3b.

The game will be played under floodlights that will arrive in Sanford early tomorrow afternoon to be installed in plenty of time to allow both teams to get in a stiff workout before the game starts. It will be the first time that baseball will have been played in this city under the lights. Diamond-ball games without number have been performed under the arc lights, but never a baseball game.

The House of David team will reach here tomorrow afternoon from New Smyrna where they will appear tonight against the New Smyrna Crackers who will be in the Central Florida Baseball League this season.

It was so much like what Bill Dietrich, of Frankford High and the Athletics did to the Phils Thursday in their only other game played so far this year. Hurl Shotton was pondering deeply on his way home Friday night whether it was better to burn down all the high schools or try to capture some of their pitchers for his own purposes.

Fortunately, also McKechnie did not think of Lake until the fifth. Before that, off a fellow named Lefty Williams, whose high school career, divers Phils crasheer it was better to burn down all the high schools or try to capture some of their pitchers for his own purposes.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED. PARIS—The engagement of Mrs. Virginia Willys de Aguirre, daughter of John N. Willys, the American automobile manufacturer and former ambassador to Poland, to Jose de Landa, of Paris, a member of a distinguished Spanish-Mexican family, was announced.

Business Leader From Indiana Is Sold On Florida

JACKSONVILLE, Mar. 22.—Frank R. Baker, New Albany, Ind., business executive and bank director, is sold on Florida.

Here on his regular winter visit, Mr. Baker expressed the opinion that the state's future is particularly bright at this time, when, as he put it "the nation is really getting its promised new deal."

Mr. and Mrs. Baker were guests at the Burbridge Hotel while in Jacksonville. "Two years ago Florida was ready to start on the upgrade but the bogging in other sections continued with the final collapse in the nation-wide banking troubles," Mr. Baker said. "Now this state should lead the way out to normal times." He has been coming to Florida for 10 years and owns property in Jacksonville and other sections of the state and announced that his holdings "are not for sale."

Mr. Baker looks upon the recent national banking holiday as the needed thing in this country. He thinks that new banking procedure will be the result and believes that bank will take more cognizance of the personal, small loan plan than has been the case in the past.

Mr. Baker is the president of the Baker Company and is included in his operations is a lithographing plant in Indianapolis. He has been a director of the Second National Bank of New Albany for a number of years.

National Guard News By E. H. CULLUM

Capt. H. C. Washburn, after spending several weeks in the Lake City Hospital where he underwent a nose operation, has returned home and was in command of Company D Monday night. Inasmuch as Federal inspection is now only a little over a week away, all three units of the Sanford Post are putting in very intensive training in order to be as near perfect as possible for the inspection. The Medical Detachment will hold a special drill tonight (Wednesday) while Company D will drill both next Monday and Tuesday nights.

The following men enlisted this week: Archie Ward, Leroy Reiter and James Reiter in Company D and Paul Biribson in Headquarters Company.

The Headquarters Company has had its orderly room thoroughly renovated. The Medical Detachment has made extensive improvements in the locker room, having had shelves put in, the room repainted, and a door cut in between the locker room and the supply room. Beginning next Tuesday night members of the Medical Detachment will go to the armory in their civilian clothes and don their uniforms after arriving at the armory. After the drill they will again change their clothing, leaving their uniforms in their lockers at the armory.

Orders were issued to the Medical Detachment boys—Tuesday night to bring their field uniform (woolen shirt and breeches) to the armory at once in order that they may be dry cleaned before inspection.

On account of business interference, the following have been discharged from Company D: Privates Kinlaw, Martin and Harriett.

After several weeks absence, Privates William Moye and Robert Glenn were at drill Tuesday night. Private Glenn has just recovered from an attack of flu.

Sergeant Virgil Smith also attended drill last Monday night. It certainly looked good to see the "Sarge" at his post of duty.

If you want to see the best kept ordinance room in the state just step in and inspect Company D's. Private Spivey certainly has it looking as neat as a new pin.

Mellon Returning To Join In Battle To End Depression

PITTSBURGH, Mar. 22.—(AP)—Andrew W. Mellon, once more a private citizen after serving his country for 12 years, returns home Friday, his seventy-eighth birthday, to join in the war against depression.

He will find his business empire anxious for his advice. Mellon, personally, is not so wealthy as he was at the time he became Secretary of the Treasury in 1921, his associates say. But the corporations which his family and close friends dominate are large and relatively more important—with assets above the $3,000,000,000 mark, even at 1933 prices.

At heart Mellon is a banker—one who enjoys handling money and making it do things. But under the law he will be unable to re-enter "that field" except in an advisory capacity for two years. Mellon's methods of operation are no secret. One of his first actions, since repeated again and again, was like this:

"Mr. A., a comparatively successful but small manufacturer, applies for a loan—say $10,000. He makes his plea. Then the mild-mannered little man across the desk persuades him to picture his own vision of his industry's future. He is asked to return a day or two later. Then:

"Mr. A. I find that you don't need $10,000. What you need is $60,000. Here is the money, so

A Mid-Atlantic Airport

An interesting and successful experiment has been made with a floating airplane base in the middle of the Atlantic between Africa and South America by a German airline which has converted the former liner Westfalen into a veritable landing and take-off field.

The outstanding feature of the 5,000-ton ship is its huge catapult which can launch an airplane of 14 tons into the air at a speed of 94 miles an hour. The device is 170 feet long and its motive power is supplied by compressed air.

The planes which this catapult is called upon to accelerate, in a very short space and at an exceedingly high rate of speed, are giant twin-motored flying boats. The actual track is only 103 feet and it is in this distance that the acceleration from zero to 94 miles an hour must be gained.

The ship faces the wind. The pilots take their seats, their heads pressed tightly against springs to prepare for the severe shock. Their bodies become more rigid. The motors are switched to full speed. A man at a lever gives a sign. The lever is released and the airplane shoots forward like a rocket. A second later it is in the air.

The landing maneuver is accomplished by means of a drag-sail of stout sail cloth which is lowered into the water and is dragged behind the ship. The drag-sail measures fifty-two by twenty-six feet. With the liner moving directly into the wind, the plane alights in the slick or smoothed wake and taxis along the water until it reaches and runs upon the drag-sail. It is then easy to take the craft aboard by means of a huge crane.

In addition to the catapult, the drag-sail, and the crane there is a powerful radio station aboard for transmitting weather reports to the airplanes. It is equipped with short and long wave facilities and also radio direction finders. A repair shop, a meteorological station, and accommodations for crew and pilots are provided.

This ocean air base is perhaps only the forerunner of a vast system of floating airports across the Atlantic. At present it is not being used for passengers, but with improvements in operation from the experiment, we can look forward in the near future to safe crossings to Europe by plane in the course of ten or twelve hours.

A Gain Against Crime

It might be expected that with many hungry mouths in the big cities and with millions of men out of work that the crime rate would go up considerably. So far as New York is concerned this is not the case, as the police commissioner's report indicates. Commenting upon it, the New York Herald Tribune has this to say:

"The annual report of Police Commissioner Edward P. Mulrooney shows several clear gains in the fight of the police against crime and disorder. There were in 1932 fewer murders clearly attributable to gang warfare, fewer homicides in general, fewer robberies and a continued steady lessening of street accidents. The Commissioner, with the record to support him, praises the new radio patrol system as 'a most important cog in the machinery of policing.' The strength of this system lies in its speed; the police in the radio-equipped cars frequently catch criminals at the scene of the crime. It is reasonable to expect that, with the extension of the system and the increased co-operation of the public in giving alarms, these cars should become even more valuable than their first year's operation has proved them to be.

"Mr. Mulrooney's report is a cool, factual account of what the police did last year. The record is good, although the Commissioner is realistic enough to point to the dangers of the youthful crop of criminals and to the probable increase in commercialized vice. It still remains to be seen just how effective the police counter-offensive against juvenile crime, through the department's crime prevention bureau, can be, for this problem goes to the very roots of the social organization. The report of what the police have done, and what they are trying to do, should give New Yorkers a renewed sense of pride in the force, as well as a feeling of confidence in the Commissioner himself."

SANFORD, TWENTY YEARS AGO

Mrs. Ida S. Parramore and daughter, Miss Annie, of Jacksonville, arrived in the city last week and are the guests of Mrs. Parramore's mother, Mrs. A. A. Sirrine.

Miss Eugenia Mauldin, of Washington, is spending the Easter holidays with her aunts, Mrs. A. P. Connelly and Mrs. H. B. Connelly.

Miss Florence Moore spent the week-end with her sister, Mrs. Morton Hopson, returning to Oakland Saturday evening.

The task of tabulating and counting the votes in The Herald's subscription contest has been finished and the following is a list of winners: first prize, the player piano, was won by Miss Maude Cameron; second prize, $25.00 brass bed, Mrs. R. A. Newman; third prize, a gold watch, Miss Ruth McDaniel; and fourth prize, a gold locket, was won by Mrs. B. L. Griffin. The committee of judges consisted of Forrest Lake and H. E. Tolar.

Ralph Wright spent last Sunday at Daytona Beach and being invited to take a flight in the airplane that is making daily flights over there, accepted and now holds the record of being the first Sanford man to go up in an airplane. The pilot of the airplane is a most charming lady which accounts for the avidity with which the Sanford boy accepted the invitation to go up aloft. Ralph stated that the flight was a most delightful sensation but the sharp sea air brought tears to his eyes, although the thoughts of home and mother may have had something to do with the tearful part of the flight.

SOLONS PLAN TO INTRODUCE BILL LEGALIZING BEER

Representative Thinks Measure Would Be Held Constitutional

JACKSONVILLE, Mar. 23.—M. M. Frost, member of the House of Representatives of the Florida legislature from Duval county, either will introduce or vote for a beer bill, he set forth in a statement last night, in which he expressed the opinion that such a bill, if passed, would be constitutional.

His statement follows: "I will either introduce or vote for a beer bill for Florida for in my opinion if a beer bill is passed at this session of the legislature it will be constitutional, my reason being that Section 1 of Article 19, of the Constitution of the State of Florida provides as follows: 'The Manufacture, Sale, Barter or Exchange of all Alcoholic Intoxicating Liquors and Beverages Whether Spirituous, Vinous or Malt Are Heretofore Prohibited in the State of Florida, except Alcohol for Medical, Scientific or Mechanical Purposes, and Wine for Sacramental Purposes; the Sale of Which Alcohol and Wine for the Purpose Aforesaid Shall be Regulated by Law.'"

"Section 2 reads as follows: 'The Legislature Shall Enact Suitable Laws for the Enforcement of the Provisions of This Article.'"

"The Federal Eighteenth Amendment provides that the manufacture, sale or transportation of intoxicating liquor for beverage purpose is prohibited.

"The material difference between the State Constitutional Amendment and the Eighteenth Amendment is the words 'all alcoholic.' It was certainly the intent of the state lawmakers that the word 'or' should be construed as 'and.' My reason for saying this is the fact that the legislative enactment which carries into effect the enforcement of the Constitutional Amendment states: 'All Drinks, Beverages or Alcoholic Liquors for Beverage Purposes Containing One-half of One Per Cent of Alcohol or More by Volume x x x Shall be Deemed and Held to be Within the Prohibition of This Article.'"

"The legislature of Florida passed the Nineteenth Amendment to the State Constitution which provides that the legislature shall enact suitable laws for the enforcement of the provisions of this article. Thereupon the legislature followed this mandate by passing a law that certain beverages containing more than one percent was in violation of the law. It was evidently their intention and it so construed the Constitution to mean that all alcoholic beverages were not prohibited as intoxicating but only those in excess of one-half of one percent were in violation of the law; so if that legislature in carrying out the mandate of the constitutional amendment that it adopted said that one-half of one percent was not intoxicating then why can't this same legislature say that 3.2 percent is carrying out the mandate of the Nineteenth Amendment to the State Constitution and is not in violation of the provisions thereof?"

"The Volstead Act insofar as the percentage of alcohol goes is the same as our state law in that more than one-half of one percent is presumed to be intoxicating; so if Congress can increase the percentage of alcohol under the Volstead Act it would seem that the legislature could do, likewise notwithstanding the fact that our Constitution has the word 'alcoholic' in it and the Federal Constitution does not.

"As I have already stated it would appear foolish to believe that the legislature intended that all alcoholic beverages such as beer, wine, etc., were prohibited and then pass a bill defining anything over one-half of one percent is intoxicating."

WAKE UP, BROTHER, IT'S SPRING!

Orange Grove Will Be Unique Feature At Chicago's Fair

MIAMI, Mar. 23.—A half-acre of Florida orange trees in full fruitage will brighten a corner of the Century of Progress Exposition when it opens in Chicago, June 1, 1933, and will constitute an important part of this state's exhibit.

The trees already are being prepared for their long journey and transplanting into a strange atmosphere. Great patience, care and time are required to accomplish the feat. The trees are being donated by the Flamingo Groves, which are located in the town of Davis about 20 miles northwest of Miami where the soil has been found to be especially well adapted to the growing of the late Valencia and Lu Gim Gong varieties, the fruit of which matures in May and June. The greater part of Florida's summer crop of oranges is grown in this section. Trees sent to Chicago thus will bear their fruit at the normal time.

Work of transplanting the trees into huge crates is a delicate yet simple process requiring 10 weeks. To prevent shock to the trees the roots are clipped on one side at a time, allowing two weeks between clippings. When roots have been clipped all around, a three-sided crate, without bottom, is constructed around the tree. This is dragged into the permanent crate and the open side boarded up.

The tree then is lifted into a truck and transported to a specially constructed greenhouse and allowed to resume its growth in the crate before shipment to Chicago. Trees crated thus far have not even curled a leaf during transplanting.

Actual shipping will begin the first week in May, according to Floyd L. Wray, president of Flamingo Groves. At the close of the exposition the trees will be donated to schools and museums for preservation under glass.

Ruling Is Made On Beer Advertising

WASHINGTON, Mar. 23.—(AP)—An informal opinion, given today at the Postoffice Department, held that newspapers publishing beer and wine advertisements before midnight Apr. 6th will be violating the law.

It emphasized, however, this was not a formal ruling and none would be rendered unless the case came officially before the department. No complaint has been filed.

FARM RELIEF BILL O. K. BY LOWER HOUSE

Senator Robinson, of Arkansas, the Democratic leader said he planned to have this new administration plan attached to the relief bill in the Senate. Although this would require further consideration of the present bill by the House, it is calculated to save time in enacting the whole program.

In the Senate, hundreds of amendments to the relief bill were in preparation to back the plucky demands for revision. Nevertheless, the Democratic leaders, very confident of getting the measure through in a form acceptable to Mr. Roosevelt.

The banks of those demanding revision were joined yesterday by Chairman Smith of the Senate agriculture committee, who said he would be ready today. Committee colleagues opposing his views, he added, he will not seek to block favorable action but will try to change the bill when it is considered on the floor.

Charges of "sovietism" were hurled at the measure in the House yesterday.

"If the bill becomes law," said Claiborne, (D., Mo.), "it will mean one thing; the next president will be a Republican."

Others seemed to share this sentiment, and Bierman, the Iowa Democrat who defeated Gilbert Haugen, famed sponsor of the equalization fee plan, said the bill was not "in accord with the Democratic platform on which we were elected." Bierman spent two days on the bill behind closed doors, but was defeated, 197 to 90.

"When it comes back from the Senate, no man here will recognize this legislation," said Woodruff, (R., Mich.), expressing a view held repeatedly as members assailed the procedure prohibiting amendments.

All five of Florida's representatives in the House voted in favor of the bill.
