The day to give Earth a chance

Daddies and other men from the community, along with their helpers, gathered at Midway Elementary School on Saturday to help clean up the school and to show their pride in the area.

Daddies do great things in Midway

By VICKI DeGROSS
Herald Senior Staff Writer

The men of Midway rallied for the young people who are growing up there and attending classes at the school which serves as the centerpiece of the community.

Often maligned as a group who has abandoned their children, the fathers, grandfathers, uncles and big brothers answered the call for Midway Elementary School's Daddy Do Day on Saturday.

The second annual event brought together men from across the community to take part in fix up and spruce up projects around the school.

From painting to repair work, from picking up trash to raking up leaves, the men helped show their pride in their children and the other young people by coming out to make the school a place the whole area could be pleased with.

Principal Ines Schmoock started the event last year in order to bring the men of the community together to do something for their children's school.

She hardly expected the overwhelming response to her call. Nearly 60 men came out to do what they could to make the school a better place.

This year, the response was equally strong and much work was completed in a very short time.

Parents find different ways of getting involved in their children's education, Schmoock said. The Daddy Do Day gives these parents who may not have the means or the opportunity during the school day to do something to show that they care.

The school is located in the midst of a community that is economically disadvantaged and which is often not noted for its pride in either its surroundings nor its children, she noted.

Daddy Do Day gives them a chance to shine, she noted.

And, it gives the school an added lift from the spit and polish work done by the dedicated work crew.

Schmoock said she hopes the Daddy Do Day will continue to be an annual event, because she believes the school benefits from the community pride generated by the project.

Midway Elementary School is a community school in the traditional sense of the word, Schmoock pointed out. The facilities are used for more than just classes for the children.

Parents are able to come to the school for a variety of services and learning opportunities in the evenings and on weekends. The school also houses a branch of the Sanford Boys and Girls Club.

Earth Day has become one of those floating observances. People seem to declare Earth Day whenever they find something to do such as plant trees or organize nature walks.

Regardless, today, Tuesday, April 22, is the anniversary of the original Earth Day, first observed in 1970 with the slogan, "Give earth a Chance." It called attention to reclaiming the purity of the air, water and living environment.

In Sanford, the event will be observed at the Central Florida Zoological Park, but not until Saturday April 26. The event will run from 9 a.m. until 1 p.m. with 20 to 30 environmental groups planning to be on hand, along with Woody Owl and Smokey Bear and others.

There's more about that in today's paper. There was already a full page on the event in this past Sunday's Sanford Herald.

Other cities, including Lake Mary, are also observing the event, so find out, and attend if possible.

Another one of those floating observances is Arbor Day, which is being observed today in the State of Nebraska. They were one of the first states to observe it, back in 1972. Actually, Earth Day is similar except that it encompasses more environmental areas.

Want someone to honor? Today is Orlan Bousquet's day to recognize the people who make it all possible.

If you are one of those people who can't sleep when there's a full moon, tonight's the night, so take a good book to bed.

Today in history was a big day for the Bambino. On April 22, 1914, Babe Ruth made his first professional pitching debut, playing for the Baltimore Orioles in his own hometown. He allowed just six hits and contributed two singles himself. Ruth shut out the Buffalo Bisons 6-0.

Passover began at sundown last night. Passover, or Pesach, begins an eight-day celebration of the delivery of the Jews from slavery in Egypt. Unleavened bread (matzoh) is the food at this time.

In historical birthdays, Russian socialist and revolutionary leader Vladimir Ilyich Ulyanov was born in 1870. As no one could pronounce his name, he changed it to Nikolai Lenin. His embalmed body, in a glass coffin at the Lenin Mausoleum, has been viewed by millions of visitors to Moscow's Red Square.

Pedro Alvarez Cabral founded Brazil in 1500. (When was it lost?)

The Oklahoma Land Rush got underway on April 22, 1890 when thousands of settlers rushed into the Oklahoma territory to claim their portion of 1,900,000 acres of land purchased from the Creek and Seminole tribes.

Today's birthdays: Actor Eddie Albert (Green Acres) is 69; singer Glen Campbell is 63; singer Peter Frampton is 47; and actor Jack Nicholson is 61.

SANFORD — Of course your dog or cat is good looking enough to be a Hollywood star...the next Morris the Cat or Spuds MacKenzie (the beer dog). Aren't they all?

The Seminole County Humane Society is having an event this weekend that will both satisfy your urges to have Fido or Kitty immortalized on film and to raise money for the humane society. Hollywood Hounds, a glamor pet photography service, will be on hand Friday through Monday, April 23 through 26 to make stars out of your little friends.

Make an appointment to bring your pet to the Seminole County Humane Society on County Home Road in Sanford and you can have one of the fantasy photos (like those irresistible ones above) taken of him or her for a $15 donation to the humane society.

The photo will be a beautiful 8-by-10 inch color portrait of your pet.

While you're down there, you might want to visit the homeless creatures that are looking for a new place to live and a family to adopt. Perhaps you might even get a photo taken of the newest member of your household while you're on site.

In addition to the photos, there is the opportunity for your pets to star in a glamor video which comes complete with music, a variety of props and backdrops and lots of pampering. The video features the "Puppy Macarena Dance."

The video can be made for an $11 donation to the Seminole County Humane Society.

All pets have to be brought to the humane society either on a leash or in a carrier.

For more information or to make reservations for a portrait, call the humane society at 323-8685.

Huber also says the tournament is a form of rehabilitation, enabling participants to perform activities they might not ordinarily perform. The rehabilitation processes is also emotional. "Losing the ability to walk or do other things they used to be able to do is very difficult, says Huber. "Sometimes they feel they can't do things like play with their children. Coming to these events shows them they can do anything they want."

Hundreds of volunteers from all over the US, many from Sanford, pitched in to make the event a great success. Boat captains teamed up with participants for the open division tournament. Other volunteers worked with fishermen on the banks of Lake Carol, baiting hooks, casting, bringing refreshments and cleaning up. Participants were universal in their appreciation of the help provided.

Ken Curt, of the Central Florida PVA, says the volunteers did a great job. "The sponsors were wonderful and the event would not be possible without the help of all of those involved. Curt also expressed his thanks to the City of Sanford, which he said "went out of their way to accommodate us."

One volunteer, Jim Greathouse, a Vietnam veteran who now works for Disney, uses his vacation time to photograph the event each year. He says he volunteers because the sacrifices these men have made makes it possible for the rest of us to enjoy the blessings of liberty. "They have paid a high price to make our lives as good as they are. Helping them enjoy this event is the least I can do."

Winners for the Bank Division are: Joe Higgins, whose fish totaled 11.86 pounds followed by Mitch Hinkle with 10.28 pounds and John Holder with 9.84 pounds. The winner of the big fish award went to Holder whose Mud fish weighed in at 4.62 pounds.

Patrick O'Connor took first in the open division with a total of 13.94 pounds. Frank Cravens was 2nd with 12.96 pounds and Robert Bills snagged 3rd with 12.12 pounds of Lake Monroe's finest. Billy Mount hooked the big fish award with a lumber weighing in at 7.98 pounds.

positive discipline...participants will be exposed to a structured atmosphere by specially trained Drill Instructors."

The Sheriff's Office established a Department of Juvenile Crime Enforcement and Intervention in January.

Operation Right Track, Estinger said, is one of six initiatives the department plans to implement as soon as possible. The others are: Law Enforcement Education Initiative; Suspension Program; Drug Violence and Safety Prevention Specialists; Intensive Community Protection Initiative (ICPI) and Jail Pass.

"Today, I wanted to tell the commissioners about each of these plans and to get feedback from them," Estinger said. "The most pressing crime and quality of life issue facing the county is juvenile delinquency."

Among the statistics supplied today: During the 1995/96 school year, Seminole County Schools suspended 3,533 middle and high school students. These suspensions represent opportunity lost forever - young people under suspension not being able to be educated becoming a burden on law enforcement and a potential threat to the community.

If the sheriff gets the proper support from the BCC and from school board officials, there soon will be a mandatory, supervised program where EVERY middle and high school student who is given an out of school suspension will receive intensive academic and effective skills training at a specified location in the county.

The school day will be extended at the center to run from 7 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Students who comply with the terms of their suspension will be given partial credit for work completed, earn gain time towards re-entry into school, acquire knowledge about the academic performance and acquire tools for effective decision making.

Efforts will be made to assist the students in all areas, but the sheriff said that there will be no mistake about the focus of the program: "This is not a warm fuzzies, let's get in touch with our feelings program," he said. "This is a mandatory, intensive, corrective, academic confinement of suspended students."

The expected outcomes for the Suspension Program and other initiatives are - a decrease in the number of suspended youth on the street; a decrease of daytime crime; an improvement of educational services to young people and a decrease in disciplinary referrals.

"We want to support Sheriff Estinger and implement each of these plans," BCC Chairman Randy Morris said. "We're aware of what has to be done. It is of primary importance."

The smells of sausage and barbecue mixed in an aromatic cocktail. Hot, sweaty revelers quenched their thirsts with cold beer, soft drinks and ice-cream. One young woman blew bubbles with a child's bubble wand, creating a feeling of enchantment and other-worldliness.

Bragging about our cities

Under the classification "Help Wanted," in this past Sunday's Sanford Herald, there were 75 separate listings. Many of them had more than one position to be filled, some with a half dozen or more.

Looking back, five years ago, there were nine listings for help wanted on the third Sunday in April. We've come a long way.

Now, the jobs aren't just for housekeeping or restaurant workers as they were back then, but many are professional positions, some requiring experience, others needing a certain level of education.

Many people who consider themselves as experts in the economy, will tell you that the more high-level help wanted ads in a local paper, the better the prosperity or potential is for that area. They will not only tell you this, but they are writing books on the economy which stress that point.

Another thing the Sanford Herald want ads tell us is that the number of previous-owner homes for sale are fewer than we have seen in years gone by. We must assume therefore, that more people are staying in Sanford and Lake Mary. Why? Hopefully because they are happy here.

Naturally, we have many new homes being built in north Seminole County. In this case it's not a matter of "Build it and they will come." Rather it's an economic move: "They are coming, so let's build the houses."

Yes, there are still people living in our midst who don't believe we are in a boom time. They wouldn't believe it no matter what developments or statistics they see.

Then there are others who deeply resent progress. They want our cities and rural areas to stay what they were several decades ago.

Unemployment? Yes, there is still some listed on the books. But the figures are lower than they have been in years. This is because a few people seem to want high paying jobs which don't require much work or any previous experience. They aren't willing to work toward a job. All they want is that paycheck.

But look at the majority. People have reason to be happy with our present situation. Few areas are growing as rapidly as Sanford and Lake Mary, and elsewhere in the northern county.

Editorials in daily newspapers often point out what is not right, or needs fixing. Today, we offer a different approach.

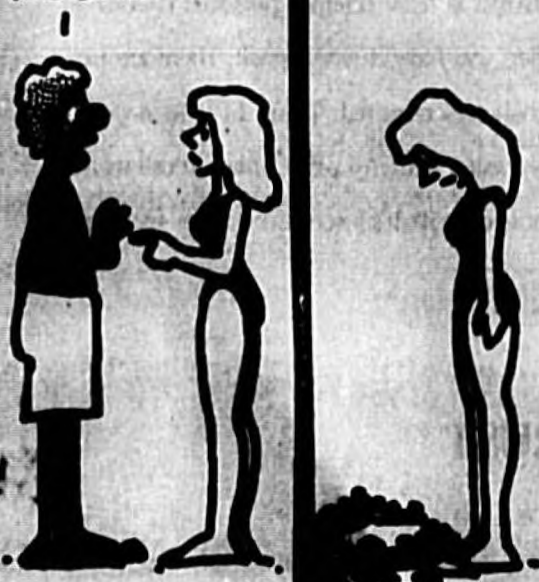

Cut these comments out of the paper and send them to a friend somewhere else in the country. It's time we started bragging about ourselves. After all, we do have things about which to brag.

Why I choose life over abortion

SANFORD — I've been asked why would a 38-year-old woman with two children, one of each sex (ages 7 and 9 years old), a career, a husband, home and responsibilities bring another child into this world? Some say, why not abort?

Let me explain. Many people raising children in the 1980s may remember a time when mothers stayed home to raise children while fathers left the nest to bring home the bacon. Now, times have changed.

More women than ever before have entered the workplace. Men are sharing parental responsibilities or, unfortunately, sometimes neglecting them all together. Children are spending more and more time in the care of others than in the care of their own families.

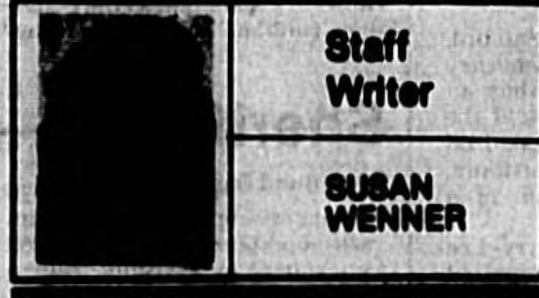

We also now reside in a fast-paced, fast food, fast-track society. Much of our discards are disposable. The majority of life has become complicated and stressful. We speed through our days wondering what happened to building relationships and those intimate moments with loved ones.

So...why in a world like this would one consider bringing another being here to occupy space and consume energy, not to mention the frustrations, other children to provide for, time constraints and financial burdens?

I think a billboard that stands in front of the Seminole County Humane Society sums it up. It reads, "All life is precious."

I realize that the advertisement is an effort to raise the community's awareness of kindness, concern and care of animals but it's a testimony also to the unborn child.

How easy it is for some to treat an unborn child with disposable status. Babies are messy, all-consuming, inconvenient and demanding. Yes, they are, but the joy my two have given me and the love I feel for them has far surpassed that burdensome stage.

I love being with them. They keep me young. They help me focus on what's important and not so much on the urgent.

My children allow me to see that there is hope for the future, a brighter one. My children push me toward dropping the responsibilities and having fun with them. My children help me see that there's more time than simply showing productivity. Let's face it, how productive is it to discover all the different animals in the clouds or how many fireflies are out, not to mention the feel of mud on bare feet or the soft touch of a little hand needing some attention.

Would I trade that for the corporate world? Not a chance. Can I balance the home and work a bit? Usually, but not always so gracefully, but always carefully. Would I give up the workplace to spend more time with my children? In a heartbeat, if finances allowed. That's why I choose part-time and freelance work and a position that is flexible and that I can labor while they are in school.

Do I have regrets about being pregnant at this time in my life? No. Fear, maybe. Nervous, yes. But, joy overflowing.

We did think we had completed our "reproductive" time of life. But, obviously God had other plans.

A planned pregnancy, no. A love and wanted child, yes, by all means.

Even with the complications, added weight and in three months, many sleepless nights, I wouldn't trade this for the alternative. Providing life to my unborn child is all I ever considered, abortion was always out of the question.

We're told that the sonogram shows that my tiny hitch-hiker is a precious girl. Our son is now over the shock of growing up with "two ugly sisters." Our daughter is ecstatic to know that a baby sister is her next present. She even attributes her persistent prayers for four years to the bundle of joy expected for delivery in July.

So, when asked why I choose life, what other choice could there be? Why should this child be discriminated against because of stature, weight and place of residence.

She's a living, breathing person like you and I. She may demand more than you and I. She requires a little more care, but her tiny arms can hold you, her little eyes will reflect the one who knew her from conception. God. The Bible says in Psalm 139:13,14a (NIV) "For you created inmost being; you knit me together in my mother's womb. I praise you because I'm fearfully and wonderfully made."

She is one of God's creations, just like you and I. She has rights and she has the right to life.

LETTERS

Officers need your help

An open letter for the citizens of Sanford: The Police Officer's at the Sanford Police Department need your support. These are fine men and women trying to rid the department of K's corruption. They have already lost one officer because she tried to do the right thing by exposing a major problem.

Cpl. Shearer was never allowed to speak in her own behalf to the public. If they could do this to one of the officers inside the department, what could they possibly do to one of the citizens? This must not be kept in the closet any longer, it must stop. Cpl. Shearer gave 14 years of her life to the City of Sanford and its people. She truly loved her town and tried to make a difference. She did this not only for herself, but for everyone.

Please show your support at the next City Commission's meeting. I know I will.

 Sister of Cpl. Sharon Shearer

Look at the good

I am distressed by all the efforts of the press to barrage the public with information that does not move us forward in a positive manner. The press being the television stations here in Central Florida and the local news media. We need to see more positive information and less information on the inherited woes of our local police department. It seems there recently has been more column space dedicated to these problems than to the GOOD that this community and its citizens are trying to achieve.

There seems to be too much effort on the issues revolving around Mr. Shearer's death and the problems with Mr. and Mrs. Keith. It is sad that a peace officer went on to her maker. It is also very sad for the Keith's family problems. I have had good experiences with the officers of the Sanford Police Department including Cmr. Keith and all the officers in the Historic District.

We need to see and hear good news, let's give our new city administration time to implement their recommendations for the police department. We must allow the constitutional phrase "innocent until proven guilty" work for the Keiths. There are those of us in the community that feel that Chief Dillard needs the opportunity to do his job. I leave this to our city commissioners and the mayor, they were elected to serve our citizens and I believe they will do so well.

The city of Sanford is in a growth position and these problems are sometimes part of growth, we will be ever appreciative of our town if we let those who serve us DO THEIR JOBS and we are all a little less judgmental. Thank you.

Kudos to firefighters

Just before Christmas a frame home on Briarcliffe St. in Sanford caught fire during the night. A barking dog in the home awakened 5 persons to a blazing inferno in one room. The people evacuated safely and the dog was trapped. The Seminole County Fire Department entered the house and rescued the dog to safety. He was found with his nose to an opening around a vent pipe in the bathroom. Thanks to the Fire Department, the score is now 4 to 1 in favor of the people!

The bad news is that the owner had no insurance and the condemned structure had to be removed. The cost of abiding by ordinances, code enforcement laws, and removing the structure will be thousands of dollars to the owner who has just suffered a devastating economic loss.

Condemned structures become drug dens, safety hazards and eyesores.

The owner and the neighbors met and agreed that the best thing to do would be to ask the Fire Department to burn it to the ground. Obstacles to this action seemed endless, including proximity to other homes, liability, legal papers from the owner and neighbors. This stacked on top of the crowded Fire Department's schedule.

The easy way out for the Fire Department would be to just say no! But then they are motivated by Public Service rather than the "What's in it for me?--Bottom Line Mentality."

They asked how it might be done, rather than how they could avoid it! Through the extraordinary efforts of neighbors, and the "CAN DO" attitude of the Fire Department's Training Division, a burning took place and a community problem was eliminated.

When Public Servants go the extra mile and citizens get involved in the community, good things happen! Our neighborhood salutes Lt. Weinhart and the Fire Departments of Sanford and Seminole County.

BOB GOFF
 Bob Goff is an elected member of the Seminole County School Board.

Politics, politics

"Their attitude is but a short gaze step to government from another era--the 1940's" said one member of the Republican Executive Committee of Randy Morris and Paul Tremel after the Debate on Government concluded. I guess my own personal shock started when Tremel said "A fundamental principal of Government is checks and balances on the will of the people." It increased when Morris later said, "It isn't about majority rule all the time," while debating fellow Commissioner Grant Maley on referendums on new taxes. Maley's main election campaign theme last year, "People aren't intelligent enough to understand complex issues. They only listen to 30 second sound bites."

Morris several times referred to the necessity of having only intelligent voters "like you people in this room" make decisions and said "Who do you want to make your decisions on taxes? New people? People of quality should make the decision."

As a new School Board member, I am in transition from being a private citizen educational advocate to being a politician. From the outside of the decision making process to the inside. As I look at my notes from the Debate, I wonder if I'm going to change like Morris? Next year will I be spouting Democratic dogma and acting like Hillary Clinton in drag? Will I change into something like Tremel and feel that because I got elected--only I know what is best for you?

Through Seminole County's history, elected officials who've lost touch with those ignorant, ill-informed voters mentioned by Mr. Morris, have been turned out of office. This is what makes the Larry Furlong TV Channel an interesting dilemma for me to vote on. The Furlong TV Channel, so named by some because Furlong is pushing it through CALNO, is a government access channel now being debated by local governments and the School Board. Like Channel 9 on TWC, this channel (paid entirely by your tax dollars) will give selected cable subscribers a chance to watch local government at work. As a political junkie, I look forward to seeing some other elected official lose their cool and cues, or storm out of a meeting in anger. As a voter, I want to know who's in control of themselves and who's out of control in local governments. As a School Board Member though, I worry about the public's perception of the Board when one member launches an out-of-control personal attack and threatens to leave the meeting if required to listen to an opposing view.

How long will it be before staged TV "performances" take over council, commission or Board meetings--especially at election time?

Or will this service to the community provide better representative government as more and more citizens become voters and more and more voters become "informed" voters?

Smoky Bear and Wooday Owl will be on hand to remind us about preventing forest fires and not littering.

Some zoo residents, including an endangered Florida panther, will be on hand to give guests an up close look at the kinds of animals which could be lost if we do not do our part to help preserve our wildlife.

There will be some special earth-friendly activities for those who wish to learn more about recycling and its practical values. If you want to do that, you're encouraged to bring an aluminum can and/or a plastic 2-liter bottle and find out what it's all about.

The zoo's Earth Day celebration will take place from 9 a.m. until 1 p.m. For those who want to make a full day of the activities, the zoo will be open during regular hours.

Inside, there will be an Asian Elephant demonstration at 2 p.m. and an Alligator Snapping Turtle demonstration at 2:15 p.m.

At 3 p.m. the zoo keepers will feed the exotic cats and the primates will get their fill at 3:30 p.m.

What better way to celebrate the earth than at the zoo, where wildlife and the planet itself are celebrated every day. The Central Florida Zoo is McDonough said in August, 1996, investigations showed the Bingo Center, Inc., deposited $718,984 in their bank accounts, but paid charities only $118,049. McDonough said the charities therefore, were cheated out of $600,935. During the same time period, Bingo Center, Inc. charged that $711,000 had been paid by non-profit organizations for rent, when the actual rent amounted to $85,400.

Suspects taken into custody Sunday night at Bingo Center were identified as Jennings Davis, 63, his wife, Shirley, 61, Harrell Corley, 71, and his wife Lila, 61, of Winter Park, were arrested at Bingo Mania in Lake County. Wilson Gallion, 56, and his wife, Rosemary, 50, of Winter Park, were arrested at a residence in Rockledge.

How our empty Aprils became so enchanting

Not so terribly long ago there was little or no big-league sports activity this month of each year in Florida. The baseball teams all would leave the state after a month of spring training. Florida had no hockey or basketball teams or its own major-league baseball team. Aprils were empty.

How dramatic the change of the 1990s - Empty Aprils becoming Enchanted Aprils. Teams from Miami and Orlando are playing each other this week in the opening round of the National Basketball Association Playoffs. The Florida Panthers, seeking consecutive appearances in the Stanley Cup hockey finals, are 1-1 in their opening series against the New York Rangers.

The Florida Marlins are making a big pitch in the National League East title, although smarting a lost weekend against the upstart Giants in San Francisco. On Sunday, right-hander Alex Fernandez pitched well, allowing four hits in eight innings. On Saturday, right-fielder Gary Sheffield lost a routine flu that cost him team a one-run setback. The Marlins play tonight in Colorado.

Each of Florida's NFL teams - The Dolphins, Jaguars and Buccaneers - are fresh from the college draft, optimistic for the new season. A record nine of the NFL's top 18 picks were from Florida schools. "There's great football played in the state of football. That's what that says," Jacksonville Coach Tom Coughlin said.

The Bucs chose Warrick Dunn from Florida State and Reidel Anthony from Florida in the first round, and the Dolphins got Yatil Green from the University of Miami. "Sometimes you have a gut feeling on people," said Bucs Coach Tony Dungy about Dunn's selection. "Everybody in our office likes him."

Apparently, Central Floridians who took part in the Orlando Sentinel-Goodings name-your-favorite Magic player sweepstakes, like Penny Hardaway more than anyone else on the team. Hardaway had 99 more votes than Rony Selkaly in the recently-conducted poll - which comes as somewhat of a surprise, the contest being for favorite not necessarily the best player.

Much depends on Pouty Penny in the playoffs. He's the player who could hit the team past Miami in the All-Florida series that begins Thursday. The Magic made it to the NBA finals two years ago when they had Hardaway and Shaquille O'Neal. The Heat have been in four playoffs but have not made it to the second round.

Magic Coach Richie Adubato, ready to match wits with Pat Riley, said Saturday that the Heat (61-21) play "the most intense, most aggressive defense in the league." The Bulls can turn it on when they have to, he said, but the Heat goes at it 48 minutes each night. "And now, they'll turn it up another notch."

To date, Florida's only professional sports titles have been won by the Miami Dolphins, who were Super Bowl champions in 1973 and 1974. The franchise, which was begun in 1966, has three other Super Bowl appearances, the last in 1986. The Jaguars clawed their way to the National Football Conference final in their second year.

It's conceivable that Florida could become the state of champions by the year 2000, gaining professional titles in each of the major team sports. The fact there are will be nine franchises next year - three in football, two in baseball, two in hockey and two in basketball is mind boggling.

The biggest irony is that the baseball teams - first, the Marlins and next year the Tampa Bay Devil Rays - were the last on the scene. By all sensibility, baseball should have been first. Big-League teams began training in the state more than 100 years ago. Why none of them stayed around through April is absurd.

It took a while for Florida's Enchanted Aprils to arrive, but they're here now. So, lets enjoy them.

Chang's in control

Upset gives Chang's Car Care Co-Ed lead

From Staff Reports

SANFORD - The Sharks took a bite out of C & L Timber and Chang's Car Care took advantage of the help to acquire sole possession of first place in the Sanford Recreation Department Co-Ed Spring Slow Pitch Softball League at Pinehurst Park Monday night.

Sunland Corporation then won its second straight game the easy way as BIM failed to field a team in the second game.

Then, with first place hanging before them like a carrot, Chang's Car Care took a 5-0 lead in the first inning and then used four home runs, three in a six run fourth inning, to blank Maronda Homes 12-0.

Chang's Car Care is now 4-0 and leads C & L

See a specialist about faintness

DEAR DR. GOTT: I'm 77 years old and for the past year have suffered sudden attacks of faintness. My doctor is unable to help me. Can you?

DEAR READER: Lightheadedness and fainting are common symptoms in the elderly and may reflect a temporary loss of circulation to the brain that may be caused by arterial blockage in the neck, a pulse that is too slow, over-medication with drugs for hypertension, small strokes, and a host of other medical conditions.

In your question, you don't state which tests you have had — only that your doctor cannot help you. Consequently, I recommend that you discuss this situation with him, for the purpose of completing the testing schedule that I mentioned or referring you to the proper specialist.

For example, if your family physician suspects a cardiovascular cause, he should enlist the aid of a cardiologist. If, however, the heart and circulation are normal, he should send you to a neurologist.

As a general rule, if a patient's doctor is unable to solve a diagnostic dilemma, referral to a specialist is mandatory. In such instances, two heads are always better than one.

To give you more information, I am sending you a copy of my Health Report "Understanding Heart Disease." Other readers who would like a copy should send $2 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to P.O. Box 2917, Murray Hill Station, New York, NY 10156. Be sure to mention the title.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I had a CT scan of my head, because of headaches. The only positive findings were calcium deposits in my brain. Is this caused by the calcium supplements I am taking to ward off osteoporosis?

DEAR READER: No, it isn't. Calcifications in the brain are usually an incidental finding of no medical importance. They ordinarily indicate the sites of previous, undiagnosed infections or the normal age-related buildup of calcium in the brain's blood vessels.

If your physician is content to ignore the calcifications, you can, too. Supplemental calcium will not be deposited in any of the body's organs.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I have "white-coat hypertension." When my doctor checks my blood pressure, it is usually about 20 points higher than the values I obtain at home, even when we use my machine in his office. How can I overcome this tendency?

DEAR READER: Because of apprehension and fear, many patients' blood pressures are higher in a medical setting than at home. This is the primary reason that I encourage "hypertensive" patients to check their own blood pressures in a more relaxed environment. Often what appears to be hypertension is, in reality, a temporary reaction to the stress of being examined.

Short of learning to relax in your doctor's office, there isn't much you can do to avoid "white-coat hypertension." I suggest that you be patient, give it time and continue to monitor your own blood pressure at home.

To give you more information, I am sending you a copy of my Health Report "Hypertension." Other readers who would like a copy should send $2 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to P.O. Box 2917, Murray Hill Station, New York, NY 10156. Be sure to mention the title.

Nail-biting disappointment

By Phillip Alder

After the regulation 96 deals of the World Open Team Olympiad semifinal between Denmark and Indonesia, the Danes thought they were victorious. But a careful recount showed that the score stood at 217-217. Eight more boards would have to be played.

After seven deals, Denmark led by eight. The decider is in today's diagram.

Indonesia stopped in four spades. The Danish pair of Jens Aulien (South) and Dennis Koch-Palmund pushed higher. North's double was negative, promising values and suggesting length in the majors. Three clubs was a game-forcing cue-bid. Four no-trump was Roman Key Card Blackwood, the five-club reply showing one ace. Five diamonds asked for the spade queen, but North decided that the 8th trump was as good as the queen, so he kept to the slam.

Aulien could have made the slam by finessing twice through East in trumps. But that is not the percentage play. When declarer cashed the spade ace at trick three, Indonesia had qualified for the final (where they lost to France).

In theory, how bad is six spades by South? A priori, that spade suit will play for no losers greater than 50 percent of the time, which makes the slam acceptable. (The exact odds depend on what you would do if West dropped the 10 under the ace on the first round of spades.) True, West's overall effect is the a priori odds slightly, and there is the faint chance that East can take an immediate diamond ruff. Still, this shows how thin can be the line between victory and defeat in bridge.

In the year ahead you might establish a unique association with a person who generates opportunities in unusual ways. Just be sure all your contracts with this person are in perfect order.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Close friends might be inclined to tell you what you'd like to hear today instead of rendering a frank opinion; keep this in mind if you request advice. Taurus, treat yourself to a birthday gift. Send for your Astro-Graph predictions for the year ahead by mailing $2 and SASE to Astro-Graph, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 1788, Murray Hill Station, New York, NY 10156. Be sure to state your zodiac sign.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Guard carefully today any confidential information that was passed onto you, as your words won't be retentive.

CANCER (June 21-July 20) Make a conscious effort to treat with respect today possessions owned by others. Carelessness could be quite costly.

LEO (July 20-Aug. 20) Try to find ways to trim your budget today, not to expand upon it. There may be good reason to start saving for the future.

VIRGO (Aug. 20-Sept. 20) Be realistic today regarding your expectations. Good things aren't apt to be handed to you without doing anything to get them for yourself.

LIBRA (Sept. 20-Oct. 20) You could end up regretting it later if friends want you to participate in an activity you feel is a waste of time. Join in!

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Indecision could cause you to treat an important matter ineffectively today. Be sure to take a firm position before it's too late.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 20-Dec. 21) Avoid making rash promises today in order to get the support of others unless you're prepared to put your money where your mouth is.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 20-Jan. 19) There are indications you might not make the most of your opportunities today, so keep your eyes and ears open at all times.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Do not depend upon Lady Luck and your charming personality to get you by today; instead, roll up your sleeves and produce.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Do not let your pride get in the way of letting others do a favor for you today, especially if it's something you'd really do for them.

ANNIE (March 21-April 19) Keep a tight hold on your wallet today, as the glare and the glitter of merchandise might distract your vision for values.
