Gurney Urges Votes For Pueblo

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Rep. Edward Gurney, R-Fla., suggested Monday that absentee ballots be sent to crew members of the Pueblo "so they can register their feelings about the Johnson-Hurricane administration."

Gurney, campaigning for the U.S. Senate against former Gov. LeRoy Collins, made the suggestion in Tampa Monday when he addressed a group at a bar here.

"I hope and pray with all Americans that the crew, now in its ninth month of captivity, will be released soon," Gurney said. "However, if they are not to believe they will be released, I believe they would wish the opportunity to express their disgust with the administration for not protecting them."

"I am sure they wonder, as do millions of Americans, why the U.S. had only seven outlandish aircraft in South Korea, factoring in 50 Russian MIGs. This poor

On Pueblo N. Korea Repeats Demands

TOKYO (AP) — The North Korean Communist party newspaper said today that the 42 crewmen of the Pueblo will not be released unless the U.S. government admits the U.S. Navy ship violated North Korean waters and apologized.

The newspaper, Rodong Shinmun, said the Pueblo crewmen are spies and have to be punished according to North Korean law. But it said they "honestly confessed" their actions and pleaded for leniency, saying they acted under orders.

"In view of these facts," the party organ continued, "it will be possible to send back the crew only when the U.S. government bears responsibility as the organizer of the crime, makes due apology to the government of the Democratic People's Republic of Korea and gives assurance that such crime will never be repeated."

U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk indicated on Sept. 10 that North Korea was also demanding that the United States limit its operations in the Sea of Japan, but the broadcast today made no mention of this.

The United States has said the Pueblo was under orders to stay 13 miles off the North Korean coast and Washington had no evidence to indicate the ship's captain, Cmdr. Lloyd M. Bucher, and his men violated this order. But it has proposed that a neutral party investigate.

Russians Demand More Concessions Of Czechs

PRAGUE (AP) — Czechoslovak sources say the Russians have offered to withdraw all but 100,000 of the half a million troops occupying the country if Prague's leaders make more concessions to the Kremlin.

Three Czechoslovak leaders are scheduled to fly to Moscow this week for more negotiations. Sources say the Russians are demanding stricter controls on the Czechoslovak press and the removal of additional figures from Czechoslovak public life.

The latter are believed to include newspaper editors, writers and other persons who were critical of the Soviets before the Aug. 20 invasion.

Three Cabinet members, all key figures in the Czechoslovak liberalization drive, have already given up their posts under

Congressmen Playing Hooky

WASHINGTON (AP) — before the normal noon starting time on Monday. Preoccupation with the election, only six weeks away, is showing in Congress with members of both houses harder to find for conducting business.

Monday, for example, the House was forced to adjourn when there weren't enough members on hand for a quorum. It was the first time in nearly two years the House had to quit for lack of members on the floor.

The Senate Monday went into session two hours earlier than usual in an effort to expedite business. But it took that two hours and another 15 minutes to round up enough members to muster a quorum.

"This country is in grave trouble, the people are highly dissatisfied," Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield angrily chided his colleagues. "We, by our own actions, are making the Senate look ridiculous and pitiful."

Mansfield was forced to adjourn the Senate early Friday when a quorum of 51 members didn't appear on the scene. That's when he called the Senate into session two hours be-

County Approves Hwy. Beltline

Resolution requesting the state to consider the inter-county beltline as one of its proposals to the Federal Bureau of Roads for federal funding under the expanded government highway program was adopted by the Board of County Commissioners Tuesday.

The beltline to run around Orlando and extend into Seminole through Longwood and Altamonte Springs, north of Casselberry and close to Goldenrod will be a limited access throughway.

Harlan Hanson, director of the Orange Seminole-Osceola Planning Commission, recommended the action be taken "to let the state know we are interested in the inter-county beltline."

Hanson said the beltline meets most of the Federal Bureau of Roads criteria and the potential of the highway would be tremendous to Seminole.

Commissioner W. Lawrence Swafford "went along" with the recommendation but noted he didn't "see much advantage in it."

Orange County Commission adopted a similar resolution Monday and Hanson reported the OSO planning group also would adopt a resolution on the matter.

Sanford getting all that traffic to the Cape. It apparently is going to be a truck route around Orlando.

His remark that it appears clear Seminole gets nothing out of Orange gets the beltline brought answer from Hanson that Swafford's statement was correct but oversimplified.

Hanson insisted that Lake Jessup Causeway, for example, does not meet the traffic criteria at this time, but with the beltline it would have sufficient traffic to be feasible.

Orange County Commission adopted a similar resolution Monday and Hanson reported the OSO planning group also would adopt a resolution on the matter.

JOHN K. PROSSER

Local Ford Agency Changes Ownership

Complete line of the new 1969 Ford will be shown to the public Thursday at Jack Prosser Ford Sales in Sanford, John K. Prosser, owner, announced today.

At the same time, Prosser also issued formal announcement of his purchase from W. A. Morrison of the business located at 3750 Orlando Drive (Highway 17-92), the former Strickland-Morrison Ford, Inc. Morrison retained the American Service Station adjacent to the agency and will continue to operate it.

No personal changes in the dealership are expected although additional representatives will be employed with the arrival of the new cars. Gary Hudgins will remain as sales manager and public relations man, Prosser said.

A formal opening is being planned for November after some interior decorating is done and landscaping is added.

Prosser, a Dade County native, comes to Sanford from Miami where he "literally grew up in the automobile business," beginning as an apprentice after graduation from Miami High School. He worked at the agency and was dealer before taking over his first Ford dealership in Miami 15 years ago.

$250,000 Shopper Mall Contract Let

By JUDY WELLS

Contracts have been signed and work will begin immediately on downtown Sanford's new $250,000 shopping mall, Sanford Realtor Ernest Southward announced today.

Being built by Russell A. Firestone Jr. Investors, the 14,000 square foot plaza will be located next to the Post Office between Palmetto and Sanford Avenues and will front Commercial Street. Initial plans call for space for from six to eight businesses, according to Southward, who represents Firestone in the deal.

Plans were designed by Logan Kelley, local architect, in cooperation with Firestone architects Wong and Tung, of Hong Kong, China.

A small mall will be featured and landscaping will highlight shrubs and a fountain, concrete benches surrounding the entire area. Set-back featuring, giving the mall "the look of tomorrow," will completely hide service areas from public view. The mall will run from the spacious parking lot behind the buildings, through the plaza, and front Commercial Street.

Southward reported nothing new on a proposed restaurant to go on the McLander Arcade Building, which used to serve as garages for the former Strickland-Morrison Ford Company, adding, "this project is in the hands of the architect."

Raborn Will Not Run Again

M. L. Raborn Jr. today confirmed rumors that he will not seek re-election as a Sanford city commissioner in the Dec. 5 municipal elections. He issued the following statement:

"With the December city elections rapidly approaching, many persons have asked whether I plan to be a candidate for re-election to the City Commission. It has been a very rewarding experience serving on the Commission these past six years and I have tried to judge each subject on its merits, knowing the best interest of the city and its citizens are paramount.

"I am happy to have had a part in the many progress projects that have been undertaken, completed and in progress of completion. However, after considerable deliberation, I have decided not to be a candidate for re-election to the City Commission.

"I shall continue to be vitally interested in the progress of our city and its future. In my opinion, most remains to be done to move our city progressively forward.

"Annexation, a plan should be developed equitable to both city residents and those living outside the city limits, to expand the area of our city.

"Many residents outside the city are desirous of city services but are unable to come into the city because they are not adjacent to the city official's office.

"Sanford should boast of a population of over 30 thousand.

"Industrial Development; every effort possible should be put forth to develop the former Naval Air Station property into a prosperous industry."

Sign Law Explained

Sanford building and zoning inspector J. Roy Elmer today explained the ordinance controlling the erection of political signs in yards and on private property.

Elmer said a permit is required from his office before a sign can be posted in the city and only way this can be changed is to petition the City Commission to amend the ordinance.

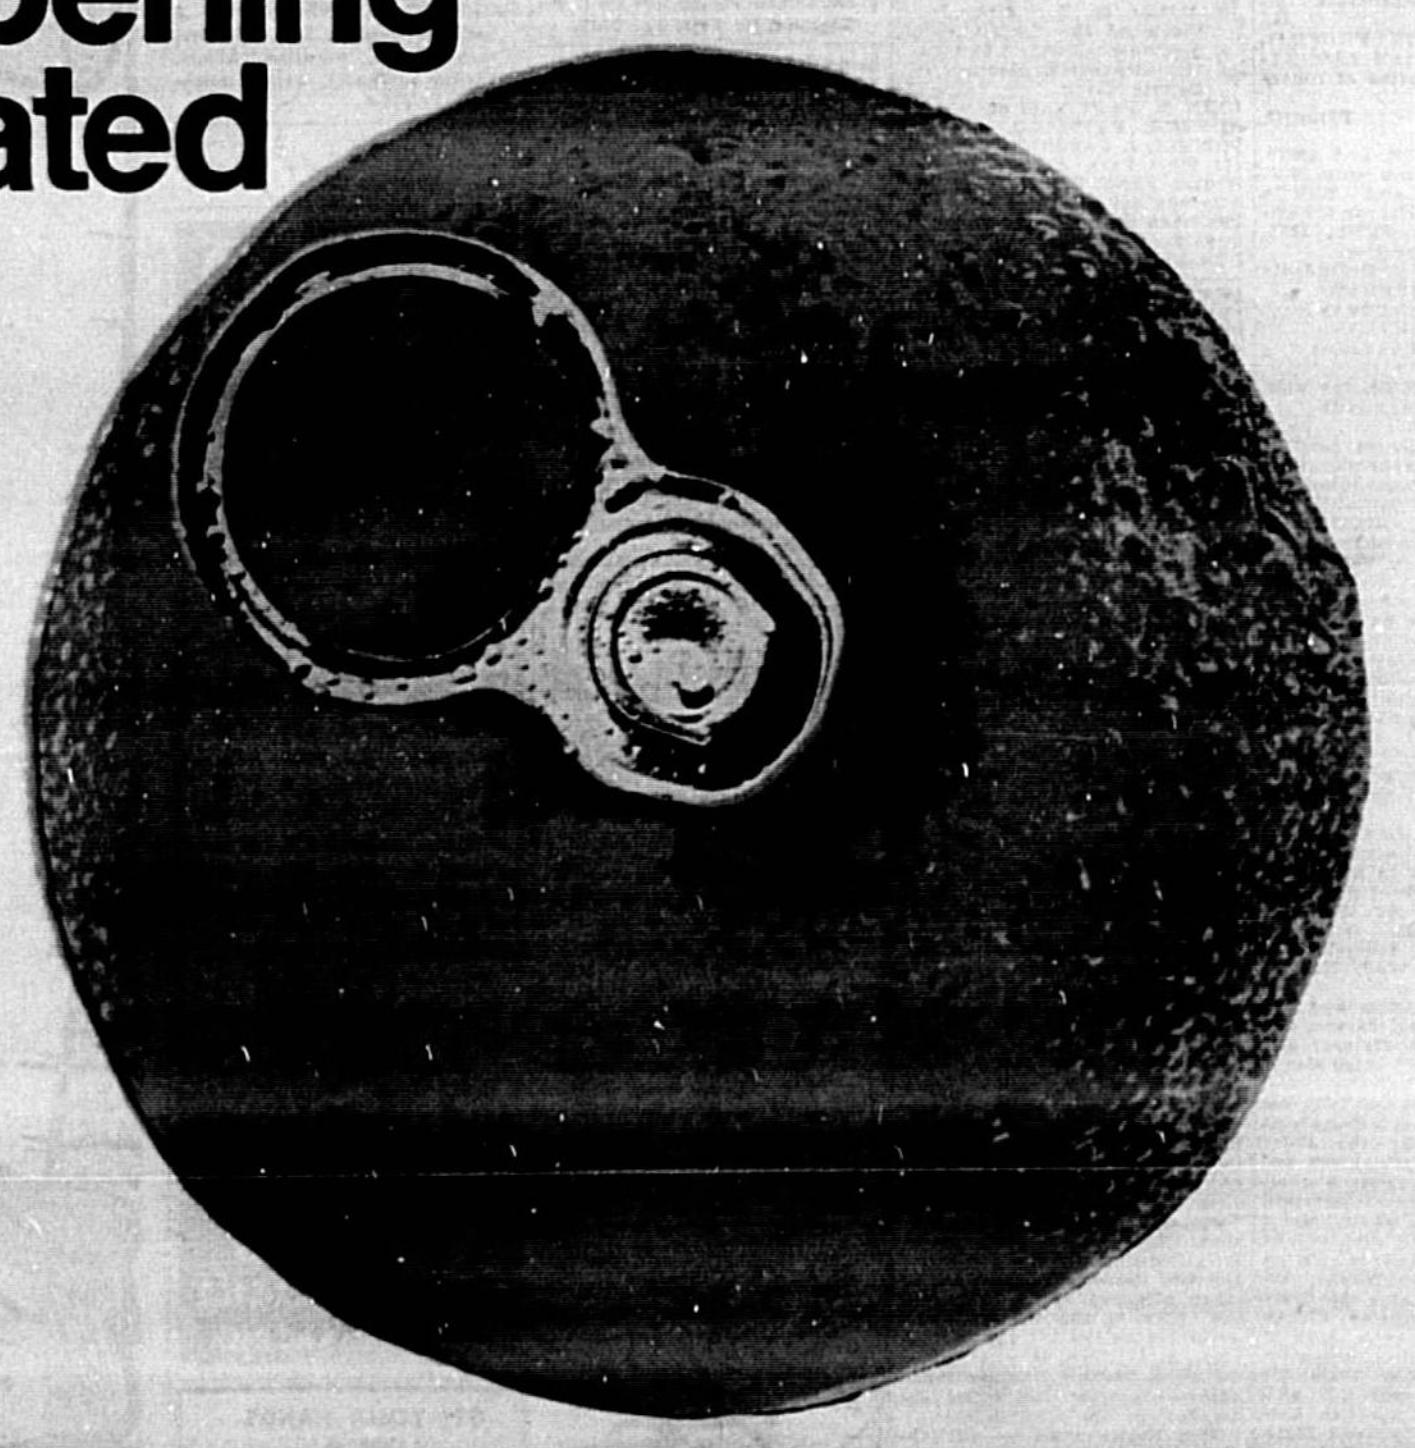

"If a sign is erected without a permit, city crews have been instructed to remove it and this law must be enforced," the city official stated.

Riser foresees no problem in getting a permit to post signs and added, "I will be glad to work with anyone who explain the law in this sense."

Riser said cost of the permit is $1 and each of the permits is not given approval to candidates for election of signs on their land but signs were installed anyway.

Big Plans Big Tree Park

"Sanford-Seminole Jaycees plan to develop Big Tree Park into an expanded recreational facility."

These were the comments of Wendell Agee, Jaycee president, when the County Commission adopted a motion to allow the concession and maintain the facility located just off I-95 on Gen. J. C. Hutchinson Parkway near Longwood.

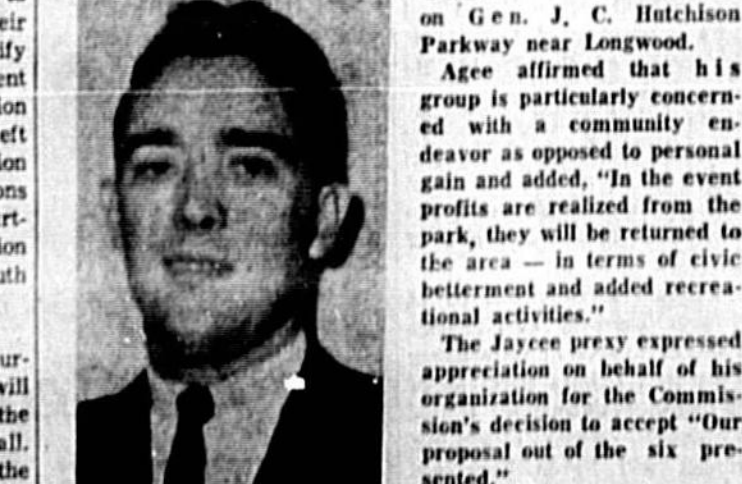

Agee affirmed that his group is particularly concerned with a community endeavor as opposed to personal gain and added, "In the event profits are realized from the park, they will be returned to the area — in terms of civic betterment and added recreational activities."

The Jaycee group expressed appreciation on behalf of his organization for the Commission's decision to accept "Our proposal out of the six presented."

Agee added, "We believe this is an expression of faith in the leadership ability and aggressiveness of our chapter."

Park plans include the expansion of concession facilities and promotion of the area throughout the state.

Agee indicated the Jaycees immediate agenda item is to police the area in a clean-up effort — and inform the public of the existence of Big Tree.

Nixon Aide Sees Troop Cut In Vietnam

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A key Republican congressman today accused a new Nixon aide of a "policy of U.S. troop reduction in Vietnam" in a speech in the House.

John J. Pickens, R-Mich., said the new aide, Robert H. Humphrey, was "a man who has predicted an early start on U.S. troop withdrawal—of 'dangerous, harmful'—confusing and, in my view, irresponsible talk."

In other political developments, Sen. Ernest Gruening, Alaska, who lost his bid for renomination in last month's primary, announced he will seek re-election as a write-in candidate.

Seminole Countians, Eligible To Vote, Register!

This is addressed to the 20,000 or more eligible voters in Seminole County who have failed to claim the basic right of citizenship and have not registered for the November elections.

Because of this failure our county has the worst average of registered voters in Florida. It is a record which is not irremediable. It can be saved and turned into the kind of statistic which will make all of us proud of the civic interest of fellow-countians.

The details of this situation were printed on our news pages in yesterday's edition. Yet so serious is the matter and so important is the issue that we again would argue on our editorial page for a quickening of the civic conscience to the point of action.

In case the statistics have escaped notice, this is what was the case yesterday—Our county population is estimated as amounting to 87,800 by the East Florida Regional Planning Council. Of these there are 20-25,400 eligibles who have not registered.

The four counties of similar population—Pasco, Marion, Lake and Bay—have better registration proportions on their records. We do not believe Seminole citizens would want this to be the situation on Oct. 5 when registration will end.

Of course there are graver issues than mere numbers. But it would seem that the increasingly gravity of the world, national and even regional problems has failed to move those who should but have not registered in Seminole County.

Happily there are exceptions. Our reporter covering this story in the office of Camilla Bruce, registrar, heard two citizens tell why they were registering for the 1968 elections.

One was a man who had been living in the county for 15 years. He had never registered. He was a new convert to the voting process. Another was a lady who had been a registered voter but who had been "purged" in 1962 because she had not exercised her privilege.

This year is different. She re-registered this year "... because it is important." This is the hard fact that we feel should be realized by all. This realization should, in all cases, be the proof that takes the apathetic or reluctant or lazy eligible voter to the registrar's office in the County Courthouse in Sanford or the office in Seminole Plaza.

One aspect of registration is so obvious that everyone should be aware of it. Without voting, one's convictions will have no meaning. Sure, the non-voter can talk and unhelpfully do so.

But the ballot is the pay-off. It is a right and a privilege that was bought with blood, is secured by courage and can continue unimpaired and unblemished as long as the citizenry hold it in high regard.

This year there are so many pressures being exerted that voting and voting intelligently is a "must."

Voting in itself is a remarkable safety-valve for political blood-pressure.

When the furo and fury of campaign oratory has been exhausted, when the roused emotions have been quieted, then the sober trip to the polling place, the act of voting in privacy with one's conscience as the only witness, is a healthy experience.

Of course we do not say "show" to vote, but we do say "vote" and, in order to do this let the laggard eligibles run—no walk-to—the registration offices in Seminole County and let our county come out in the top spot on Oct. 5.

How True It Is!

We print and give a hearty approval to this assessment of our county by Trends in Florida Business.

"Business news from Seminole County continues to tell a story of rapid industrial growth and a major upturn in most economic indicators. At the beginning of this year, the county, located just north of the greater Orlando area, seemed doomed to the doldrums as the Naval Air Station announced plans to move out. Now the county, buoyed by a barrage of good news, just may turn out to be the Brevard County of the '70s."

"General Dynamics' Dynatronics Division at Lake Mary has a local payroll of $5 million, is going to increase their plant by 100,000 square feet in early 1969, and will expand the work force."

"Allied Control Company of New York has selected a site just west of Sanford, and will build a 75,000 sq. ft. plant where 200 employees initially will build solenoid valves, hydraulic components and electronic devices for machine-controlled systems."

"New construction in the county for the 11 months of the current fiscal year is nearly double that of last fiscal year, and building permits issued so far amount to $16.6 million worth of construction. Apartment permits alone are running between $5 million and $4 million."

"And as the county anticipates the 'cross state' barge canal along with development of the Sanford International Port facility, it appears that the day is dawning when Florida's future may well depend as much upon the Central Floridians in Seminole County as upon the much more publicized doings of the 'Gold Coast' and the Astromart Trail."

Domestic Comment

Revolutionary Revolution?

By WARD CANNEL
NEW YORK (NEA)—Well, of all things, there was Mark Rudd lining up along with the other kids to register for the fall semester at Columbia University.

Rudd's name may be recalled, was one of the leaders of the student protest that seized and disbanded Columbia just before term papers were due last spring.

Exactly what the protest was all about is still largely a mystery. But it took the city police to liberate the campus. And in the aftermath, President Grayson Carl resigned and Rudd and his colleagues, vowing to continue the protest after the summer vacation, were suspended from the university.

And now, of all things, to find him trying to register for classes—well, honestly? Is that any way to run a revolution?

We may be somewhat naive about this sort of thing. But it has always been our belief that revolutionary leaders don't seem to have a piece of the revolution market.

Just let some firebrand shout: "Down with their thing!" and there is immediately an official fact-finding commission appointed to look into the causes of the rebellion, namely what thing? Why does he want it down? How did it get up in the case any more. Nowadays, as far as we can see, there is practically no difference between revolution and business-as-usual.

In fact, there are moments when it appears that revolution is business-as-usual.

Just let some firebrand climb onto a table and shout: "Down with their thing!" and there are immediately land battles and highball glasses available with the same legend and magazine reports. TV documentaries and adult education courses on the movement and its place in history.

From what we saw on the Columbia campus last spring and at Chicago during the convention, the people who make those "Tale" and "Harvard" pamphlets are missing a good thing if they don't come out with a "Students' and 'Police' line for the fall session.

Here as we find it to believe, the established establishment also seems to have a piece of the revolution market.

Just let some firebrand shout: "Down with their thing!" and there is immediately an official fact-finding commission appointed to look into the causes of the rebellion, namely what thing? Why does he want it down? How did it get up in the case any more.

Why Worry Now?

Something to worry about is always available. When the threat of the bomb seems to diminish temporarily, there's the promise that overpopulation will accomplish the same grim end.

Up to now the population menace has been projected in terms of universal starvation. But a physicist foresees not lack of food, but of space. By 2028, he fears, our great-grandchildren will be so numerous they will all be squeezed to death. The trouble is that the professor seems to be considering only the dry land. Three-fourths of the surface of the earth, however, is covered with water. And if man runs out of elbow room, he can always go to sea.

Indeed, this trend has already started. Thousands have escaped weekend highway jams by switching from autos to boats. Skindiving, too, has become a big thing among those who want to get off crowded beaches. The professor might also consider the example of Holland, which has reclaimed hundreds of square miles of land from the sea. But it is possible that those great-grandchildren will not have too much need for space on earth. By 2028 they may be moving to the moon, moonclimbing in Mars, moonclimbing on Venus, jumping off to Jupiter. In fact, nothing would seem to be more hazardous than guessing about what the world of 2028 is going to be like—Macoon (Ga.) News.

Appeal To Demo Dissidents

By BRUCE ROSSAT
NEA Washington
BUFFALO, N.Y. (NEA)—Listening for one to really warm-up cheers from Democratic party faithful, Vice President Humphrey felt the contagion. But he still found time to talk beyond them to the McCarthyite dissidents who are denying him full party support across the country.

"Together we can win, but separate we lose," he said.

It was one of the most candid confessions of urgent difficulty ever heard from a presidential nominee this early in a campaign.

Still talking to the dissidents, he cast the problem of the party's disunity in another light:

"We can't unite the nation if we can't unite the vehicle (the Democratic party) which wants to drive the nation."

New York leaders like John Burns and John English continue to warn privately that Humphrey's fears are not groundless. Many, many supporters of Sen. Eugene McCarthy simply have not come out of their warring tents.

Humphrey's fears and frustration were shared by Lawrence P. O'Brien, his deepened concern for the problem when he came close to converting a mass rally into a platform for an impassioned plea to the disaffected to return to the fold.

Underlining the general spirit was a word from Minnesota that backers of McCarthy, of Sen. George McGovern of South Dakota, and in some cases the quietest of Kennedy plan to meet in larger session there on Oct. 5-6 to plan a general strategy for taking over the party's leadership for the election battles of 1972.

It is without precedent for any substantial elements of a major party to begin planning openly for the next election even before that party has finished its struggles in the current election.

Some Democratic figures are reading the development as proof these dissidents not only expect Humphrey to lose, but want him to lose and lose big so they more easily seize power upon the shattered remnants of the party.

The unreconstructed McCarthyites obviously are rejoicing in the development and are making a strong argument that a massive presidential defeat in 1968 might cast the party into the abyss for many years to come. They can cite the quick 1966 rebound of the Republicans from the Goldwater cataclysm of 1964.

Such a comparison could hardly be made to far too gloom. The victorious Republicans in 1966 were heavily avastigated by general revulsion against the Vietnam war and by the incredible unpopularity of the incumbent Johnson rising out of that war and his curiously inability to sell even his best programs.

Dissident Democrats cannot fairly accuse that a triumph still have the Vietnam war on his hands in 1970 or beyond. It would not surprise us in the least to wake up tomorrow morning and find that a new federal agency had been established under the title of Department of Revolution. And assumed thereunder (as they say in Washington) a Commission of Adultery and Divorce, an Office of Relevance, Dialogue and Confrontation and a Bureau of Charisma, Intrinsicity Yearning and Visceral Response.

At we said, maybe we are very naive about this whole thing. But it seems to us that today's firebrands are giving revolution a bad name. And we are very happy to see on our TV set a young, bearded, bruised distributor of the peace just back from Chicago who complained: "We'll have to go underground. We'll have to shave, get haircuts, and wear business suits and clean shirts if we want to keep the rebellion alive."

Letters To The Editor

Strength In Government Needed

Editor, Herald:

Recently it has been presented to the citizens of Sanford, by the City Commission that an increase in the refuse collection fee is very necessary in order to permit a no doubt well deserved raise for city employees.

Why is it necessary for this rise in taxes to cover this? So far this year our federal, state, and now city taxes have been raised. This trend of increased taxation just can not be allowed to continue.

With all due respect to the wisdom of the City Commissioners, I just can't feel that more increases in taxes is the answer. Perhaps if time would be taken to review costly expenditures of the City, such as the money spent for the plans for our new and exciting proposals, the City of Sanford, and the costly drawings and architectural designs that never seem to come about, taxes would not be raised. I am sure the citizens of Sanford would be as thrilled at the actuality of our progress in Sanford, without the expense of proposals and wishful thinking of the Commission. Concerning the Naval Air Station, it is common knowledge that many large corporations would bring industry and prosperity to our city. Any large and flourishing business would be great for our town, and they are not at all without the expense of thousands of dollars. I know through personal contacts that companies have been obtained information concerning the utilization of the facilities on the base, and yet there appears to be no one in City Hall who seems to have this information. Has there been any progress made on the much talked about plan to lease the base for one dollar a year, beyond the average citizen, who is not aware of their inquiries. These businesses would like very much to give this city its new birth through industry.

We need so badly to have strength in our government bodies. We need men who will solve our problems not continue to worsen them. I am an average citizen interested only in the greatness of our country; I see the need to elect men of great strength and ideals. If we are to have liberty and justice for all we must see to it that our cities, towns, and countries are governed by those that will proudly bring forth to our nation great leaders. Is this not our goal?

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP)—A 23-year-old Oklahoma University student was arrested early today on charges of possessing marijuana after authorities stated that the student had been in the area where the marijuana plant was growing.

The sheriff said Joe Carles had 150 grams of marijuana in a suitcase and a large amount of marijuana in a room at a house near the Lee County jail.

Magistrate said sheriff's deputies, state and federal narcotics agents, state investigators and Lee County Prosecutor G. H. Right Jr. had staked out the area just off U.S. 28. He said Bennett, who lived in a rented house nearby, was picked up as he gathered some of the weed. "We had had the area under surveillance for several weeks waiting for the subject to return," Right said, adding it was believed Bennett had been home during the summer.

America Shifting To The Right

LONDON (AP) — A West German television commentator fears America is shifting dangerously to the right politically. An English correspondent sees the United States on the brink of a new epoch. "The trend in the United States is directed to the right at present," commented Heinz Pol from Washington for the Evening Rundschau. "That cannot even be hidden by the protest movement of the students and the colored people. I must indicate that the trend to the right even bears extreme traits and widely surpasses the term 'conservatism.'" Pol said: "The truth is that the United States is politically, on a very dangerous road." He found the presidential campaign of George C. Wallace "daily winning thousands of new adherents, who fall into enthusiastic frenzy when their 'savant' talks of cleaning out the Communist-anarchistic stable called Washington. These are ladies which by some might be recalled from the times of Hitler and Mussolini."

James Cameron, a British correspondent for the Evening News who is touring the United States, reported that despite the troubles faced by the United States, "America will transcend her crisis because the Americans are the most resilient of people, the most varied and resourceful, as well as the strongest."

He continued: "I am beginning to believe in a new American epoch which may be more innovative and probably safer than the one that preceded it. 'Whatever the results of the election it seems to me certain that the U.S. tendency heretofore will be to accept fatigue and go out, to reject the pattern of world leadership...'"

And an Irish correspondent, after a visit to the United States, had some kind words for the New York police. Brian Barrett, of the Irish Independent, observed that "the literature of America has generally not been kind" to the policeman. "If the fictional and often ill-learned notion of the New York cop is overplayed and over-painted, he is still a tough individual compared with any policeman in the world. He has to be, because he has a tough and dangerous job. And he is picked and trained and tuned for it."

'Not Out Of Hurricane Woods Yet'

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Not a single major storm has come howling out of the tropics to attack American shores this year, but "don't write off the hurricane season yet," says director Robert H. Simpson of Miami's National Hurricane Center. "It takes only a week," Simpson said, "for a vast change in atmosphere conditions that could yield a whole rash of storms, or develop one giant hurricane. We don't predict that, but it's possible."

It has been a tame season for two reasons. The first is that the upper atmosphere of the tropics has been abnormally cold. The air column of a hurricane, rising like a giant smokestack to great heights, cannot develop and hold together without a concentration of heat all the way up. The second restricting factor is that surface winds have been blowing from the east and upper winds from the west, making it impossible for an air column to grow.

Simpson said the winds blow like this in the wintertime, "and that's why we don't have hurricanes then," but such a situation develops only periodically in the storm season.

While it has been a dull season from a public standpoint, Simpson said, it has been a humdrum for the forecasters. Of the 13 hurricanes that have formed in the eastern Pacific this year, virtually all of them were tracked for thousands of miles by Miami weathermen. "They're up to the letter 'O' in the alphabet over in the Pacific," Simpson said, "and they got virtually all of them from us. We probably cracked the record for the number of organ-

CHICAGO (AP) — One thing a prisoner does well while in the central detention area of the Chicago Police Department is eat.

Records show that the first three months of 1968 in both men's and women's lockups food consumed amounted to 2862 loaves of bread, 200 pounds of bologna, 300 pounds of coffee, 900 quarts of milk, 6 cases of canned milk, 400 pounds of sugar, 2 cases of tomato, chicken noodle and vegetable soup.

The cost of detention comes to an average $7.37, up 45 cents from the cost in 1967.

Throughout the 20 districts a total of 64,116 feedings was made during the first quarter of 1968.

Hospital Expansion Approved

Final approval to $700,000 hospital expansion at West Volusia Hospital has been granted by commissioners of the Hospital Authority, pending minor adjustments.

A sum of $2,000 of the final $39,886 payment to Wiggs and Maale Construction Company of West Palm Beach will be held until a credit is received on repair of a defective absorption machine.

In other business coming before the authority, proposals that the hospital take over operations of DeVol Nursing Home, a county-owned facility located adjacent but leased to private operators, was taken under advisement. Purchase of a bookkeeping machine at cost of $21,000 was approved upon recommendation of the auditor.

Dr. L. A. Dunton was re-elected chief of staff of the hospital, Dr. David Rauschenberger re-elected vice chief of staff and Dr. John W. Collette was elected secretary.

Home Nurses Staff of the West Volusia Home Nursing Association has reported 128 free cases handled during the month of August, highest number on record this year.

In report of the nurses' activities, Miss Olive Seymour, director, noted that the number of cases "reflects the fact that Medicare benefits have been used up by many patients."

Of 508 home visits made during the month, Medicare covered, in part or completely, 204 visits, she advised, noting that 66 paid the full charge to the association.

Enterprise precinct 1 shows the greatest increase in voters during the past several years, reportedly due to development of nearby Deltona. Registration, growing from several hundred, now totals 1,766. More Republicans, 789, are registered here than in any of the county's 82 precincts. There are 907 Democrats and 90 others.

Jail Construction On Schedule Construction on the new county jail in Deland appears to be on schedule despite delay caused by rain, according to Architect William Faust. It is expected the sheriff's administrative wing in the new $12 million facility will be completed late in October, with completion for the entire project set by the first of the year, Faust advised.

Sanford Youths Held In Volusia Two Sanford youths, Earl Prichard, 17, and Bernard Crumedy, 18, have been charged in Volusia County with assault and robbery. District 2 Justice of Peace Albert Williams, reports. The pair was arrested by Constable Tom Yon as they were running from the DeShazo Shoe Service on Highway 17-92. Yon reported that owner of the store, Clifford Fogarty, had suffered cuts and bruises about the head and that $2 had been taken from his pocket. The youths were bound over to Felony Court.

Unable to develop in the Atlantic, they found the proper conditions in the Pacific, although none grew into major storms. Miami forecasters have given names to only four Atlantic storms this year. The first, Abby, drove thousands from their homes in western Cuba and moved across Florida, but her winds never exceeded 70 miles an hour and damage was minor. West formed in the Gulf of Mexico and brought heavy rains to Texas. Brenda, Dolly and Edna never crossed a coastline.

Fortas' Foes Ahead

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new Senate rout showed today that opponents of Abe Fortas definitely have the votes to keep a filibuster—which may already have started—going against his nomination as chief justice. The new bill by the Associated Press gave opponents 35 votes, one more than necessary to prevent a move to choke off debate. The tally was made shortly before preliminary debate on the controversial nomination actually began. Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield moved unexpectedly Tuesday night to break off extensive debate on a tax bill and get Fortas' name before the Senate as the next order of business. His motion ran into an immediate storm and Michigan Republican Robert Griffin, anti-Fortas leader, said it would be discussed "at length." Another Republican opponent, Strom Thurmond of South Carolina, said he doubted the motion would ever come to a vote—another way of saying a filibuster might already be under way. "There'll be a lot of speaking" on it, Thurmond said. Mansfield indicated he wants a showdown on debate-limiting clauses no later than the first of the week. A two-thirds majority of senators voting is needed to invoke cloture. If all 100 senators are present, 67 votes is enough to defeat a cloture petition. If the filibuster against the motion to consider the nomination is choked off, whether could be launched against confirmation. Mansfield's motion to consider may short-circuit any attempt to send the nomination back to the Senate Judiciary Committee or to declare that no vacancy exists on the Supreme Court. Both steps have been under consideration as possible ways to end the tangle.

means 1 column by 2 inches. Too small for an ad to be noticed or effective? You're reading this one!

It began as a simple idea.

(Then competition started)

These like products start in the hands of men. Particularly great ideas. But it takes more than an original genius to make them grow into something big. It takes the lively competition among nationally advertised brands. The kind that has changed the sound of music to what it is today. Brand names are what manufacturers call their products. They put their name right on the package so you can see who they are. They work hard to make their products better. Offer brighter developments. Innovations. Consistent quality. This is how they try to outdo other brands. And they let you know about these improvements through advertising. But if they don't live up to these claims it's goodbye to their reputations. That's how competitive brands work. Nationally advertised brands are what we take for granted. But we'd soon know the difference if they weren't around.

When brand names compete, products get better. Lose neither.

16,000 Students Will Enroll At FSU

Registration for more than 16,000 students expected at Florida State University this term will be continued through Friday with classes slated to start at 8 a.m. Monday. Dormitories opened Sunday and orientation for freshmen and new undergraduate students are being conducted through the week. Prime reading material during the week is a newspaper tabloid-sized publication of 28 pages, "Schedule of Classes for the Fall Quarter, 1967." Fall quarter will end with examinations from Dec. 8 to Dec. 15, followed by Christmas vacation. FSU Homecoming this year will be Nov. 22-25 with the principal attraction to be the FSU-Wake Forest football game. Theme of the weekend will be "Focus on State '68." Annual FSU-Florida weekend will be Sept. 26-28 with the main event a Saturday afternoon football game between the Seminoles and University of Florida's "Gators." This will be the second year of operation for the new school's new quarter system. Winter quarter classes run Jan. 6-March 14; spring quarter, March 26-May 30, and summer quarter, June 15-Aug. 19. Commencement ceremony is scheduled for 8 p.m. Saturday, June 7, following the third quarter.

Only Top Talent Wanted By NASA

Miss Lain awards a new Mercury portable, courtesy of the Royal Typewriter Co., to Kevin Black, Annandale, Va., for his request: "I'm a senior in high school and would like to know about the career opportunities offered by NASA."
A—My thanks to Greve Webster, director of personnel, National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) for his helpful comments on the Civil Service area of aerospace technology.
NASA is THE CIVILIAN SPACE AGENCY in charge of all non-military space flight projects. From its Washington, D. C. Headquarters, NASA operates research centers, space flight centers and auxiliary installations throughout the country, including the famous Manned Spacecraft Center in Houston, Tex.
ALMOST HALF OF ALL NASA PERSONNEL are technical men and women—scientists, engineers, supporting technicians and craftsmen. (The remainder of NASA employees are engaged in diverse functions from administrative to clerical, too varied to detail here; see suggested resources below.)
NASA scientists and engineers are the cream of the crop, recruited from the best in national manpower. They enjoy not only public esteem and the chance to work with some of the most brilliant minds of this century, but are receiving increasingly better salaries and fringe benefits as well. Job security is excellent at the upper technical levels, although changes in Federal expenditures cause fluctuations in the number of new employees hired. Right now, in fact, a reduction in NASA's budget has forced a temporary employment cut-back.
Highlights of NASA technical career specialties include space science; investigation of atmosphere and space phenomena; fluid and flight mechanics; establishing criteria

Salary scales are up to meet competition from private industry. As of March, 1968, representative minimum rates of pay for physical science, engineering and mathematics positions are: GS-5, $7,186; GS-12, $12,280; GS-15, $19,780. Other levels have been similarly boosted.
Education: A bachelor's degree is the minimum for scientists or engineers, and the better jobs require a master's or doctor's degree. Some 20 different college degree fields are represented. Typical engineering majors are aerospace, electronics, electrical, chemical, nuclear, mechanical and industrial. Scientists frequently are physicists, mathematicians, chemists, metallurgists, physiologists, physiologists and astronomers.

Solons Itch To Go Home

WASHINGTON (AP) — House leaders are telling restless members itching to get home for the campaign that there will be plenty of time for electioneering if they only put in a few days hard work on the floor. The word is out that the House is ready to work only on a few major matters for a day or two a week, and take the rest of the time off.

Chevrolet introduces 1969.

Caprice. Match this, you other 69's! There is no joy in the land of our competitors today. But let us ask you this. Should we have made the Caprice shorter instead of the longest Chevrolet ever built? Or adorned it with flashy nick-nacks to make it look less expensive? Just because competition doesn't should we not have offered you washers to clean your headlights, the new variable-ratio power steering, liquid tire chain that you can apply to your rear wheels at the touch of a button? Should we not have included the new 327-cubic-inch engine, the biggest standard V8 in its field? Should we have skipped the many improvements in the interior and in the quietness of the ride? Some people think so. Our competitors.

Standard V8 is 210 hp. SS engines available up to 325 hp. For added SS appeal: striping that flanks the nose and charges up the side, power disc brakes, wide oval tires with raised white lettering. And when those big, fat tires grab the ground, you can almost hear the suction.

We The Women:

It seems that everywhere I turn I find interesting material for the 1958. This, for those not old enough to remember first hand, was the time of the lake swim. It was the period in history when those ill of the world old attributed to poor dental hygiene were blamed on the Puss Office.

Man broke through to space but few could find personal identification material there. Roger Bammer went through the four-minute misadventure and that did save the decade from being one long yawn.

Of course, it was also the time of the "angry young men" of literature, although in retrospect, they seem rather meek. And there were the bestsellers who, when compared with Shakespeares and Toppies, come off as ultraconservatives.

The era of the gray flannel suit, surely the ultimate of sartorial severity, was gray flannel in more ways than one. One of the most interesting of all conversational gambits has always been the question, "If you had a choice, would you live in the time in history would you have lived?"

For me, it usually turns out to be an embarrassing moment. It always answers, "Right now, this time, this era" and nobody wants to believe it. "Well, at least," I mumble, "most of us have said goodby to indifference."

And then, it is pointed out to me that the older generation practices meeting and wholehearted contempt on the young. I try to protest that some merely stand up for their own ideas and ideas and are not playing the role of Didactic Daddy.

The "all-us-nonconformists-were-heads" attitude of some of the younger generation is mentioned. I try to explain that three couples were honored on their 25th wedding anniversary, last Saturday, at the Veterans of Foreign Wars, Post No. 1802 covered dish dinner in Longwood.

All citizens are urged to register before Oct. 2. Don't forget, the Voters League meetings are held every Wednesday evening in the basement of First Shiloh Baptist Church on West 15th Street at 8 p.m.

Hopewell Elementary will hold its first PTA meeting Wednesday, Oct. 2, at 8 p.m.

The president, Mrs. Dorothy Adams is inviting all parents and interested persons to please attend this general opening session.

Eloise Slama Prexy Of Spring Lake PTA

By MARYANN MILES

Open house at the new Spring Lake School, the county's only portable complex, was held by the Parent-Teacher Association at its first meeting of the year.

As a feature of the session, third graders taught by Mrs. Margaret Stuart, made life-size replicas of themselves, dressed the dummies and placed them in their desk seats.

Following the visitation, members of the association moved to Altamonte Elementary to conduct the business meeting and program.

Officers introduced include: Mrs. Eloise Slama, president; Mrs. V. Segrest, first vice president; Principal Dick Prater, second vice president; Mrs. Marge Franklin, secretary; and Sidney Matthews, treasurer.

Appointive positions made by the president went to Mrs. Frances Dwyer, room representative; Mrs. Doolie Schaffner, publicity and publications; Dr. and Mrs. Bob McFadden, ways and means; Mrs. E. P. Kirchman, membership; Mrs. Martha Thompson, historian; Mrs. June Woods, devotions; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Patterson, program; Mrs. Ruth James, health and safety; and Mrs. Vivian Hall, hospitality.

Items in the proposed $275 budget were, administration, $75; hospitality, $25; leadership training, $50; book shelves in the library, $25, and contingency, $100. A check in the amount of $154 was presented from the Altamonte PTA to help get the new group started.

It was noted that meetings will be on the fourth Tuesdays in November, January, March and May, all at the Altamonte school. Members also voted to sponsor a Field Day for the children next year instead of having a carnival.

Mrs. Slama appointed Mrs. Janet Stubbins and Larry Stravens as county council delegates and Mrs. Pauline Sikes, Mrs. Connie Galloway and Mrs. Peggy Hartwell, alternates.

Prater, in a brief address to the some 300 parents and teachers, reported there are 292 students enrolled at Spring Lake. He advised there would be four first grades and four second grade classes furnished in order to relieve overcrowding. Third through sixth grades will have two classes each and there will be combination third and fourth and fifth and sixth classes. Students presently are taking placement tests. Classes will be for a minimum of 24 students, with the largest for 31.

All youngsters are housed to the school, including those in the adjacent communities of Weatherfield and Briarwood.

Prater stated it is expected a permanent building will be ready for school opening in September, 1968, to accommodate 735 pupils. He also advised that Spring Lake has a pupil-teacher ratio as low as any in the county.

New Law On Voting Explained

Under a new Florida law, newcomers to the state who have registered in another state and who will not have been residents in Florida a year prior to the general election, may vote here for presidential and vice presidential candidates in November.

W. Wayne Sharp, president of the Delbarton Republican Club, which is conducting an all-out campaign to get as many residents as possible registered, has advised of steps taken in order to vote in the general election.

Those wishing to register must go to the Supervisor of Elections at the Deland courthouse and fill out a form to be mailed to the supervisor of elections in their former state, requesting cancellation of their registration there.

Upon receipt of this cancellation, the supervisor of elections in Volusia County will notify the voter to come to the courthouse and cast a provisional ballot prior to election day. This application for the presidential ballot must be made prior to Oct. 6, Sharp cautions.

"Taking advantage of this new provision for voting for presidential candidates is especially important in retirement communities, such as Delbarton, since many new out-of-state families arrive each year," he notes.

Checks can attain a speed of 70 miles per hour but only for a short time: they have very little endurance.

Neutral DMZ Demanded

WASHINGTON (AP) — Key U.S. military leaders say true neutralization of the demilitarized zone is the absolute minimum condition for a total halt in the bombing of North Vietnam.

Along with this, say high ranking officers, must be an agreement that neither side would fire across the buffer zone or mass troops and supplies near the six-mile-wide DMZ separating the two Vietnams.

"If we stopped bombing without that, I don't believe we could hold the area," one top general said in an interview.

"They could mass their artillery on the other side and shell the hell out of us."

So far, Hanoi has insisted on an unconditional halt in U.S. bombing, which for nearly five months has been restricted by President Johnson to the lower 25 per cent of North Vietnam.

Administration spokesmen have never been very specific about the reciprocity expected from Hanoi before the bombing can be ended.

But top ranking American military leaders are specific in private conversation about what conditions would make a bombing halt acceptable to them.

It is quite clear that U.S. military leaders want actions that show tangible and measurable results.

Therefore, they do not put much stress on winning agreement from North Vietnam to halt or curtail infiltration in general. They know it would take months to verify whether North Vietnam was wishing on an agreement to end infiltration.

But they believe it would be very easy to detect North Vietnamese violations of agreements to neutralize the DMZ.

The six-mile wide buffer zone was established under the 1954 Geneva accords which split Vietnam between the Communist North and the non Communist South.

Russia Operating Chopper Carrier

WASHINGTON (AP) — Adm. Thomas H. Mooters, chief of Naval Operations, says the Soviet Union's first helicopter carrier is operating in the Mediterranean and is "visible evidence of Russian's announced intention to become a modern major offensive seapower."

The new 150 foot ship, named Moskva, arrived in the Mediterranean via the Dardanelles Straits over the weekend escorted by two destroyers.

Navy men view her arrival as a significant step in a Soviet naval buildup in an area once dominated solely by the U.S. Sixth Fleet.

The admiral said in an interview: "I think the real significance of the Moskva's deployment is not so much in the fact that she gives the Soviet navy a new capability, but rather that she is a manifestation of the continuing effort on the part of the Soviets to deploy a modern force into all of the oceans of the world."

The admiral didn't say so but there has been speculation the Moskva's deployment was timed to give Egypt moral support during a period of tension with Israel.

The Soviet Union has more than quadrupled its fleet of military ships in the Mediterranean since the first of August and has about 40 vessels in the area, compared with 35 to 40 for the United States.

U.S. intelligence credits the Moskva with the ability to haul as many as three dozen helicopters, but no jet fighters.

Jelly-Jam Tasting Preserve

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
 Associated Press Food Editor

Over 100 years ago Concord grapes came on the market and American cooks have been making jelly from these grapes ever since.

If you want to go traditional, here's a recipe that uses the tradition but uses the help of a modern food mill. The friend who gave us the recipe—selected also in our kitchen—calls this jelly-jam because along with the juice some of the pulp goes through the mill. It's a delicious tasting preserve with an interesting texture.

GRAPE JELLY-JAM
 3½ pounds Concord grapes
 Water
 3 cups sugar

Wash grapes and remove from stems; crush with a potato masher or other tool. Measure crushed grapes into a kettle and add ½ cup water for each quart of crushed fruit. The water helps extract the pectin necessary for jelling.

Over medium heat, simmer—do not boil—grapes for 16 minutes. Turn into a food mill placed over a bowl and extract juice and some of the pulp. Every few turns of handle of mill, reverse directions to lift seeds from bottom. To avoid crushing seeds and having them go through mill, press lightly on handle.

In hot soapy water, wash ½ pint wide-mouth jars with their accompanying lids and caps with hot water.
 Measure one quart of the pulp, grape juice and pour it into a heavy 6- to 8-quart kettle; heat to boiling. Add the three cups sugar (¼ cup for each cup of juice); stir to dissolve. Cook rapidly, stirring the bottom of the kettle to prevent sticking, until the jelly reaches the jelling point by the sheet test or thermometer test or both.

HARVEST TIME was bryde time when most Americans lived on a farm. Everybody pitched in to gather in the hay, then rode home on the load singing beneath the harvest moon. With crabs full of corn, apples in the cellar, root vegetables bedded down to dry sand, and shelves loaded with jars of fruit preserves, it was a time of festivity. You'll find this beauty at Publix now, as if your basket with Autumn's best. Here are some tips on storing and handling.

Fruit should not be washed until ready to eat. Dampness hastens mildew. Apples, grapes, and plums keep best in the refrigerator. Peas and paches are picked at maturity, but not fully ripened. Fully ripened, they'd never survive the trip from orchard to you. Ripen at room temperature, away from light, and microwave on a dry or individually wrapped wax paper (so that one mildewed fruit won't infect the others.) When they yield to slight pressure of thumb and finger (at stem and of pears), they're usually ready to eat. Refrigerate to slow further ripening.

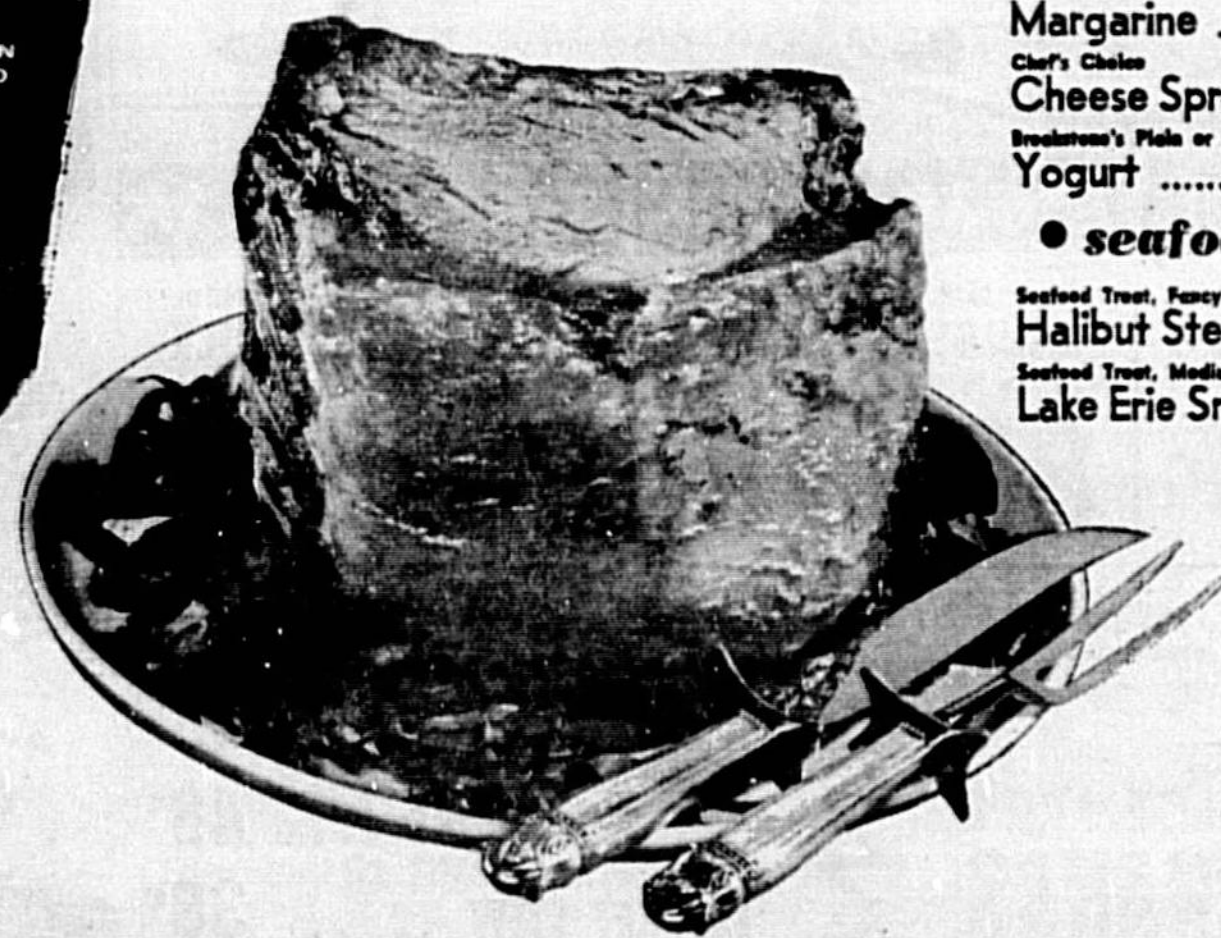

Root vegetables keep for months in a cool, dry, dark place. Turnips, parsnips, rutabagas (yellow turnips), and white turnips are often coated with wax to prevent dehydration in the refrigerator. The wax comes off with the paring. Ascorbic acid with its dark green rind and butternut squash with its hard orange rind also keep well in the refrigerator. Carrots, beets, and onions should be refrigerated in plastic bags to keep them from drying out, but should be dry before bagging. (Use best greens promptly.) Keep these old-fashioned "winter vegetables" on hand as you'll always have a fresh vegetable to serve.

Publix, supermarkets, with plastic wrap, fragile vegetables — yellow and Italian fenchilli squash, green beans, etc., etc. to keep them crisp and flavorful. Remember we'll gladly break packages to give you a smaller amount.

Matlock Glazed Pork Butt

By CECILY BROWNSTONE

AP Food Editor

A good man cook prepares pork butt this way.

Allen Matlock's Glazed Pork Butt, Green Peas Salad Bowl, Bread Tray Fruit and Cheese Beverage

ALLEN MATLOCK'S GLAZED PORK

Smoked, boneless pork shoulder butt, 2½ to 3 pounds

Light brown sugar

Prepared mustard

Choose a butt of a shape that will fit into your steamer; remove all wrappings from butt. Place it in steamer's top insert—it can have perforations on bottom or sides. Fill bottom of steamer with boiling water, but if perforations are on bottom of top insert do not have water touch meat. If insert comes too low to make this practical, improvise by placing a metal bowl half full of water in steamer insert, then place a round rack on top of bowl and put butt on rack.

Cover tightly. Bring water to a boil; boil gently, replenish water if necessary, until meat is tender when a fork, inserted in center, can easily be turned—35 to 45 minutes per pound. Drain butt and slice ¼ inch thick.

For each six slices mix one tablespoon brown sugar and one tea spoon prepared mustard; spread a little over each slice. Place on broiler pan, without rack, on heavyweight foil and broil a few inches from high heat just until bubbly—a minute or so. Watch carefully.

FAMILY LUNCH

This dressing perks up good old egg salad.

Lettuce and Sliced Egg Salad with Ripe Olive Dressing

Buttered Toast

Fruit and Cookies Beverage

RIPE OLIVE DRESSING

1 cup mayonnaise

1 cup catsup

1 cup lightly packed chopped ripe olives—12 large pitted olives

2 tablespoons minced parsley

In a small bowl or jar, with a fork, thoroughly blend mayonnaise and catsup. Mix in olives and parsley. Makes about one cup.

DINNER FOR FOUR

An easy-to-prepare chicken dish made with one of the new sauces.

Chicken and Artichoke Skillet

Mixed Rice Salad Bowl

Coffee Butterscotch Cream

CHICKEN AND ARTICHOKE SKILLET

2 pounds chicken parts

2 tablespoons shortening

1 can 1½ ounce, skillet-type chicken sauce

1 teaspoon lemon juice

1 package, 9 ounces, frozen chicken hearts

With paper toweling, dry chicken. In a large skillet, melt shortening; add chicken and brown on both sides. Pour off fat. Add chicken sauce and lemon juice, mixing well. Cover and cook over low heat, stirring occasionally, until chicken is almost cooked through—about 30 minutes. Add artichokes; continue cooking until chicken and artichokes are tender—about 15 minutes. Makes four servings.

Turkey A La Self Basting

Associated Press Food Editor

Well, there is something new under the sun. Under the turkey, that is, a special basting process. It is a new process. But we do know that in total, we found the turkey to be a beautiful gold and brown around a single wing from us.

This new turkey comes from and directions for preparing are on the wrapper as well as in a leaflet inside the package. And there's no missing necessary because there's a special stamp holding down the wing. You'll find you like the basting on the wing.

The turkey is coming to market now and it's quite a bird. It's got better inserted inside the breast, legs and joints and that little trick makes basting unnecessary. Don't ask us how the turkey is prepared. It's a great process. But we do know that in total, we found the turkey to be a beautiful gold and brown around a single wing from us.

RATATUILLE STUFFED TOMATOES

1 cup chopped onion—1 large 1 medium green pepper, seeded and minced 1 medium eggplant, 1½ pounds, peeled and cut into 1½ inch cubes 2 cups unpeeled nectarine, cut into 1½ inch slices and quartered 2 medium, each about 8 inch x 4 inch 1 medium green pepper, cut into 1½ inch strips 1 medium tomatoes—2½ pounds Salt and pepper 1 teaspoon oregano

In a 18-inch skillet, heat olive oil. Add onion, garlic, eggplant, nectarine and green pepper. Cover and simmer until vegetables are softened—about 15 minutes. Cut a thin slice from stem end of each tomato and scoop out pulp, save pulp and juice. If necessary to have tomatoes stand straight, cut a stem into slice from bottom. Turn tomatoes upside down, cover with transparent plastic wrap and refrigerate.

Add scooped out tomato pulp, and juice, one teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon pepper and 1½ cups oregano to the skillet, simmer uncovered until liquid has almost all evaporated and vegetables are very tender, but still hold their shape. Add extra salt and pepper to taste. Turn into a refrigerating container, cover and chill.

A serving time spoon insert the mixture into tomato cups. Serve any extra vegetable mixture in a separate bowl. Makes eight servings. Note: Scrub nectarine well with a vegetable brush before cutting as directed because the squash is coated with wax and the wax sometimes holds dirt.

The male wood duck glows with brilliant iridescent shades of green and purple set off by rusty white stripes. The drake's male is greatly distinctive. Her iridescence is grayish and she wears white around the throat and eye.
