County OKs Sidewalk For Eastbrook

By MARION BETHRA
"I can't understand why the School Board doesn't take the initiative in areas like these . . . It is the School Board's job to get the kids to school not the Board of County Commissioners . . . The School Board should acquire the 'right-of-way.' These were the words of County Attorney Harold Johnson during discussion of a resolution to the problem of sidewalks at Eastbrook Elementary School.

County Engineer William Bush told the board that he had surveyed the area with the possibility of erection of curb and gutters and a widening strip and sidewalk. He went on to say that while the road equipment is in the area it would be advisable to widen both sides of the road to make a 24-foot strip along Eastbrook Boulevard and Tangentine Drive.
Commissioner Greg Drummond moved for authorization to construct the sidewalk but Commissioner Robert Parker objected, with the statement that there is another solution which should be pursued before a decision was made. Drummond injected that the sidewalks are "a standard solution to the problem" . . . they are safe from highway traffic and from the standpoint of entry from motivation. He went on to say that Parker's solution was, in effect, encouraging school children to remote areas where there would be no sidewalk. (Parker has suggested using a pasture route to the school.)

Commissioner Sidney Wilson Jr. remarked that he disagreed with Parker but that the decision would not be served. Commissioner Chairman John Alexander told the board that "I get chills when I think of those kids walking through the area . . . across a drainage ditch . . . in an isolated area, I don't have to look at the area." (This remark was in answer to Parker's suggestion that the roads look at the east side.) Wilson also said that approval of the area would only add several months delay.

ON THE WRONG SIDE . . . HEAD-ON
INJURIES were sustained by two persons last night after a head-on collision involving two cars traveling in opposite directions on Highway 17-92 near the SR 454 intersection. Furnie Rowell, 17-year-old Ocala youth, is listed in "serious" condition at Florida Sanatorium's Intensive Care unit with stomach injuries which resulted after his car going south in the north-bound lane was struck by a car driven by Clair A. Norman of Deltona, who was traveling north. Rowell's car, left, was listed as a total loss and the Norman vehicle was heavily damaged in the incident which happened around 9 p.m. Norman was also treated for injuries, according to the report filed by Deputy W. H. Robbins of Seminole Sheriff's Department, who was on the scene.

Rich Haul Made From Two Homes

South Seminole burglars have struck again and two homes have suffered large property losses as the result of Wednesday burglaries.
The John Williams home in Longwood's Knollwood subdivision was entered and household items with a total $4,000 estimated value were taken, according to a complaint filed with the sheriff's office.
The Williams residence located on Roxborough Road was entered and a milk stove valued at $1,500, a TV set valued at $375, $310 in cash, a coin collection of unknown value, pearls, silverware and other assorted items were removed by the thieves, Deputy E. M. Mauder reported. The robbery occurred when the Williams family was away.
A thief that "has a liking for chandeliers" last night hauled off three of the fixtures from the Harold Herschfeld home at Winter, Spring subdivision, near Tulewilla and Red Bug Lakes.
Other household items also were removed by the intruder, who entered the house while everyone was away.
Total value of the Herschfeld loss is estimated at near the $400 mark, according to the sheriff's office report.

Ah, the power of the press. Following yesterday's comments on the election, we were indirectly involved in two (no, not from Mama, either . . .) calls.
What do they say? You win a few and lose a few . . .
A considerate lady (when they agree . . .) was most appreciative of acknowledging that I did cast a vote for Eckard.
And then there was that stomach "kick-out" who blistered our telephone operator about that S.O.B. Spolski!
Now hold on . . . no offense; it's happened before.
Remember when Ole Harry Truman tagged Drew Pearson with the same initials and the clever Pearson dubbed it "Ole Harry of Brotherhood" . . . and was responsible for collecting food and clothing for the destitute in Europe . . . a couple of hot-cakes fell . . .
I suppose the only thing I'd be able to put into empty cars now would be those "pocket" signs of the defeated candidates, eh?
Nothing desder, so we're told, that yesterday's news or worn-out, faded signs of candidates who came in second.

Enticing New Firms To County

SIC Director Kelley 'Busy Man'

By BILL SCOTT
Sanford Industrial Commission Director David F. Kelley has been a busy man since coming here from Hollywood, Fla. five months ago.
The smiling, affable Irishman arrived to head up the industry seeking arm of the city after that office was left vacant for several months by the resignation of the previous consultant.
Kelley found no lack, no suitable office and few prospects when he arrived and set up temporary shop in the office of the Sanford Airport Manager J. S. (Red) Cleveland.
Since that meager beginning, he has established a list of 38 prospects of which 17 are considered pending.
At the present time, Kelley is working with Kosco Interplanetary Cosmetics of Orlando, looking toward the lease of a facility in Sanford.
Kelley has set about his chores by fashioning an index publication for prospective industries, which lists the city's attributes and persuades in a most obvious manner why it is wise to locate that plant or office in Sanford.
LIST OF 38
While setting up an office and preparing his merchandising matter, Kelley has not neglected his industry recruiting chores and let people know what he is doing. Kelley has to be sought out and persuaded to talk about what he is doing, and this is no unlike most of the persons who are employed in the same endeavor, and never miss an opportunity to climb up and crouch at the drop of camera lens or a reporter's notebook.
Termed by many people a "nice guy," Kelley has been persuaded by The Herald to put aside his unassuming style and relate for the benefit of readers each week the life and times of an industrial recruiter. Watch for his "Kelley Comments" starting next week as a one time per week feature in The Herald.

'Correct Information' Requested By County

The county's garbage collectors were given 15 days to submit correct information in their application for certificates of convenience and necessity which are now mandatory under the newly enacted garbage ordinance.
Some controversy has arisen over the fact that County Commission Chairman John Alexander has favored a written contract between the refuse collectors and the customers, whereas County Attorney Harold Johnson has contended that the contract is executed when the customer accepts the first pickup, and all that is necessary is the customer's name and address on the agreement with a facsimile signature of the company.
Alexander said that he had met with representatives of the refuse companies, who remarked that Johnson's proposal would be administratively feasible. He contended that in the applications that of Central Service Company came the closest to "an acceptable service agreement."
Road Supt. J. C. Lavender and County Sanitarian Val Robbins were requested to notify the collectors that they have not met all the county requirements as far as the contracts are concerned, and to give the correct information in the 15-day period.
Also relative to the garbage situation in the county was a bill which was submitted to the county from the consulting engineering firm of Clark, Dietz and Associates for studies of the use of Onasole Air Bins as the county's central sanitary landfill. The bill to date is $2,546 and will be paid from the contingency fund.

Pollution Control Pondered

A general briefing, held in Sanford yesterday, was designed to acquaint the local pollution control board with the powers — local and state — that are available in the field. Ralph Malloy, head of the state agency on air and water pollution control, visited Sanford and informally addressed the members of the Seminole County Water Control and Conservation Advisory Commission.
"Up until last year there has been no air and water pollution control, except through the state level," explained County zoning director, Robert Brown. Legislation was passed about five years ago which enabled the counties to form some of their own control. A nine-man board was set up last year under this law. "The State Board of Health also has authority, in some areas, and is now working on taking full advantage of that authority," added Brown.
The role of the state and local agencies in various situations was discussed.
The state agency representative spoke of the future laws which will greatly strengthen the powers of the department.
Two controls which will be effective in the future according to Malloy, will be a law, effective Jan. 1, 1973 requiring that treatment of sewage be 80 per cent or better pure; and of primary concern here, a law effective March 3, 1971 requiring operating permit for all sources of pollution. This will be a flexible legal tool, working much like the drivers' license, with a point system, that will have the power to close businesses.
Malloy, upon the request of the local board, agreed to make tests of the county's lakes or streams before permits are issued so that these samples can be used for comparison at various points during the dredging operation.
Thus the possible source of pollution would be caught immediately, and action could be taken to regulate that pollution before the problem became more intense.
Presently the state has power to take action only after the fact — that is, after the pollution has resulted. By taking samples before and during operations, such as dredging, that pollution could be stopped in the shortest possible amount of time.

GI Deaths In War Top 43,000

By GEORGE ESPER, Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP) — American combat deaths in the Indochina war rose slightly last week to 65, and the number of American wounded went up to 344, the U.S. Command reported today.

The battle deaths for the week were 11 higher than the previous week, as were the number of wounded. Since Jan. 1, 1961, 43,737 Americans have been killed in the war.

Collector To Attend Convention

Tax Collector G. Troy Ray Jr. will attend the Florida Tax Collectors Association convention in Key West Oct. 7-10. Most of the state's 67 county tax collectors are expected to attend the annual convention.

Prior to the convention, said Ray, he will study information gathered on the possibility of permanent motor vehicle registration so that he may present that information to the convention. "I want to lay the groundwork for some legislation that would put registration on a year-around basis. Renewal periods would come up at various times of the year, similar to the drivers license renewal, thus eliminating tag rash each year."

Local Merchant Brands Comm. Report Erroneous

A recent report to the County Commission by Road Superintendent J. C. Lavender that Miracel Concrete Company had delivered 65 yards of concrete to various county schools and which Lavender purchased elsewhere, was termed incomplete by J. E. Terwilliger Jr.

Terwilliger told The Herald that Miracel Concrete Company had delivered 65 yards of concrete on Thursday of last week for a tennis court at Oviedo High School on Friday at Jacksonville Heights Elementary School, on Monday of this week at South Seminole Junior High and Tuesday at Lyman High School.

THE ARAB WORLD

GAMAL NASSER'S death leaves a void in Arab leadership which he held through Egypt's importance as the largest Arab state and the strength of his own personality. Kings Hassan, Hussein and Faial and President Bourguiba have Western ties which hurt their mass popularity. Leftist Bourguiba, Al-Badr lack Nasser's charisma. Ali-Fatih, largest Palestinian guerrilla group, has mass appeal which crosses borders.

Arabs Supervise Jordanian Withdrawal

Freed Guerrillas Fly To Cairo

The seven included Leila Khalid, a pretty, 24-year-old Palestinian who failed in an attempt to hijack an Israeli El Al jetliner near London Sept. 6. Her companion was killed in the attempt, but Miss Khalid, who had participated in an earlier, successful hijacking, became a hero to the guerrillas.

High School Coed Shot Standing In Lunch Line

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Police said they were questioning two suspects in connection with the shooting of a 16-year-old Vivian Redick, who was injured Wednesday while standing in line in Stanton High School's cafeteria.

The bullet from a small caliber pistol struck the girl in the chest and entered her head, police said. She was taken to Duval Medical Center where she was listed in "serious" condition today.

Investigators said witnesses told them a boy standing outside the building fired a shot through the window. Two boys were seen running from the school after the shooting.

A 16-year-old boy was arrested, wanting a fight to stop the shooting, but officers said he was not in connection with the shooting. Night they had not made specific charges.

COURTS in about 15 states disqualify the testimony of an admitted atheist. . . . ONE IN SEVEN unmarried divorcees at some time winds up expecting. . . . THE RECORD shows that only 24 people who claim to own the original pistol that killed Abe Lincoln. . . . THAT PROFESSIONAL WOMAN least apt to get divorced is the schoolteacher, statistics show. . . . PLEASE NOTE also approximately 100 lightning bolts strike down somewhere on earth every second.

It is shocking to note the lethargy and apathy which exists in the parent vs. the schools, and I find it is surprising that considering a child is the single most important factor in the life of a parent, that most do not care nor demand the best. It would be rare to find a person who called a TV repair man to his home and paid him who would not expect satisfaction for his money. . . . or if he enjoyed the services of a physician would not expect a cure to be effected. Yes, with a child's education they are not pleased.

Education is big business, and you the taxpayer are picking up a large share of the tab. Therefore, you should demand quality in payment. The cost of education is going up, up with the quality deteriorating. The opinion is apparently shared by others as regards the lack of textbooks in a county which has a total budget of $22,500,349.33. The budget has increased over $2 million since last year's figure of $20,500,000.25. Incidentally of the amount $4,305.88 comes from state free textbooks.

Income from local sources amounts to $12,445,434.03. Total anticipated receipts for 1970-71 is $14,311,462.42. Total appropriation for 1969-70 was $212,731.04. . . . in 1970-71 it is $338,731.15. This goes toward salaries for board members, appointments, legal services and other administrative expenses.

Total budgeted amount for instruction is $9,726,459.88. In 1969-70 it was $7,814,288. This item includes salaries of consultants and supervisors, principals, teachers, other instructional staff, vocational and adult education personnel and other expenses.

A REQUISITE "Quality" should be a requisite with this increased budget. . . . The purpose of this opinion has been to rouse public opinion to demand that with this increase and with administration employees being constantly added, that every child receive that to which he is entitled. Therefore, if your child is short a textbook, or if he is hindered due to lack of discipline, or if you're not satisfied with his progress. . . . please, please, don't be one of the silent majority. . . . speak up, you have the right and your child's future is at stake.

What is the solution to some of the ill? As regards the PTO, attendance at meetings, make your feelings known. . . . stop this organization from being just a project for board members, appointments, legal services and other administrative expenses. Many parents do not attend because they are weary of going to hear about their child's progress and instead are "treated" to a session of money making.

Discipline should be returned by having more student monitors in the halls and peepers teachers as was formerly the case. Teachers are on duty in elementary schools to prevent alterations, and it would appear to be the same in the secondary schools. True, they are there, but I have witnessed such alterations when a teacher stood by doing nothing to "cease and desist."

I also maintain that instead of the superintendent and school board making out-of-county "junkies" as has been proposed to the tune of $5.35, that they acquire the situation, if hand by periodic visits to the local schools to "look-see."

The lunch program has apparently found resolution in that a uniform menu is being published weekly in the Herald and presumably will be utilized by all county schools with a few modifications.

These solutions, etc. of course, personal observations. . . . the ultimate solution rests with you, the parent. Consider that an investment in your child's education today is a dividend in what this country will be tomorrow.

The importance of education was well understood by President James Garfield when he said, "Next in importance to freedom and justice is education, without which neither freedom nor justice can be permanently maintained."

Who's Fault . . . What To Do? Education Is Big Business; Taxpayers Pick Up Tab

By MARION BETHRA (Last of a series)
During this series we have presented problems in the school system dealing with discipline, students, teachers, administration, schools and textbooks. Where does the fault lie that these problems exist? With the parents, in my opinion, with the parents. It is shocking to note the lethargy and apathy which exists in the parent vs. the schools, and I find it is surprising that considering a child is the single most important factor in the life of a parent, that most do not care nor demand the best. Also on the program are those vying for election from District 14. Democrat Bob Milburn, Winter, and E. Pope (Sandy) Bassett, Republican, of Altamonte Springs.

The short formal presentation will be followed by a question and answer period. Chamber members and guests are urged to get in early reservations by calling 674-4741.

Peninsula, State Sen. Askew held a news conference before his hometown press and a half-dozen traveling newsmen. He said he was relaxed and refresh after six hours of sleep. Askew said he would continue to discuss tax reform, the main element of his primary campaign, in his general election of the very beginning. It is our intention to carry on.

Askew picked a couple days off, then meeting with advisors, and to hit the road about a week. He envisioned a "four-week campaign." The general election is Nov. 3.

Charter Revision

The City of Sanford Charter Revision Committee has set a four-hour work session at the First Federal Savings and Loan Association to review portions of the model charter, now being used by the City of Maitland, for possible adoption for use by Sanford.

An October 14 meeting to start at 1 p.m. was selected during Tuesday night's meeting of the group. Revision members were each given copies of the model charter and they are expected to study the governmental outline for possible changes before submitting a final recommendation to the city commission for still further review and possible approval.

Candidates Taking 'Breather'

Newly nominated Republican Gov. Claude Kirk and Democrat Reubin Askew took breathers today from their intense gubernatorial campaigns, and indicated they would begin stumping again next week.

Kirk, 44, arrived in Tallahassee Wednesday from Fort Lauderdale, where he had celebrated his primary victory over Jack Eckert with aides and supporters.

The governor appeared at the Capitol bright and early in the morning after a few hours sleep, but left around noon on what an aide described as "personal business."

No news conferences were planned. A spokesman in Kirk's Orlando campaign headquarters said the governor probably will set out again on the campaign trail next Monday, after the weekend strategy sessions with his advisors.

In Pensacola, State Sen. Askew held a news conference before his hometown press and a half-dozen traveling newsmen. He said he was relaxed and re-

Democratic Nominees invigorate Florida Politics

Resounding victories by two young, vigorous and forceful Democrats - Senator Roubin Askew and Governor Claude R. Kirk Jr. - have invigorated Florida politics...

Looking at the decision of the Republicans to nominate Governor Kirk for a second term and turning their back on Jack Eckerd, successful business man, there can only be deep regret for many who, like we did, surveyed the Kirk record and character and wanted Eckerd to win the GOP nomination.

When long-legged, long-thinking and long-acting Lawton Chiles set out on his winning campaign to win the United States senatorial nomination on the Democratic ticket, few observers gave him a chance to win.

Not at all! Not if the Chiles example is depicting a national change. For what this attractive, modest, frank and outspoken Democrat did was, to be sure, walk the length of the peninsula.

"Keep Informed" - Voters' Duty

By LOUIS CASSELS, UPI Senior Editor. WASHINGTON (UPI) - Millions of Americans are too lazy to do their civic duty.

The information isn't all that hard to come by. It is available to anyone who will spend a few minutes a day reading the news pages of his daily paper.

Voters who won't take the little bit of trouble involved in keeping themselves reasonably well informed about their elected representatives have no right to complain about taxes, inflation, foreign policy, pollution or anything else.

SCL Train Proposal Opposed

Letters To The Editor

Editor, Herald: Seaboard Coast Line Railroad has posted notices that it wishes to discontinue operation of its every-other-day passenger trains South Wind which connect Sanford with Miami, Louisville, Nashville, Montgomery, and other cities. These trains are the last rail links between Florida and those cities of the central South.

Because of the importance of good transportation to the tourist industry, and our state (and tourism is everybody's business) and because of the great and growing need for good, dependable mass public transportation, these trains should be continued. SCL should not be allowed to kill this needed, well-patronized service.

'Peace' Sign

Editor, Herald: I am deeply concerned over the ever rising crime being committed in our country. I have my own views on Viet Nam and war. But even more concerned am I about the youth my age that don't know what they are being led to do.

Student Speaks

I am a student at Seminole High School and I am writing you to give my opinion on the U.S. involvement in foreign countries. I feel that for a long time that the United States has been acting like big brother to all the other countries of the world. Every time one gets in trouble it comes crying to big brother, namely the United States, and, of course, we go sticking our big noses in their business and getting ourselves in hot water and I am sure other countries feel that we have been acting the same way.

The V sign is flashed by millions of youth thinking it means peace. But the radicals, Leftists, revolutionists and Communists know otherwise, because it was they who popularized the sign.

Everywhere you turn these days, someone is shouting a 'peace' sign or has inscribed a 'peace' symbol on an article of his. Yet many youth don't even know what it means!

The peace symbol that is often found desecrating our flag or name means simply that the door is anti-Christ. Communist inspired, many teenagers, children and not so young people are pushing this thing like there is no tomorrow.

Florida Motorists Get Hike In Coverage Cost

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — More than a half-million Florida motorists will be affected by a price hike put into effect today by the state's largest auto insurer, State Farm Insurance Co.

The huge firm, which has 526,000 policyholders in Florida, announced a 22.9 per cent overall increase in prices.

Five days before that Liberty Mutual Insurance Co., with 45,000 customers in Florida, made operational an increase averaging 23 per cent.

Lingerie Workshop

A lingerie workshop is now being scheduled for Monday and Thursday, Oct. 8, to be held at the Agricultural Center in Sanford. Women who are interested in learning the techniques of constructing basic lingerie garments, and who would like to participate in this workshop, are requested to contact the Seminole County Extension Home Economics office for additional information.

The Monday session will be from 10 a.m. to 12 noon, and will be devoted to a demonstration of techniques. Thursday's session, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m., will deal specifically with the actual construction of lingerie garments.

Due to space limitations, this class will be restricted to 10 persons.

Hardest hit by the State Farm increases are motorists in high-density areas such as Miami and Miami Beach, Fort Lauderdale and Tampa. More modest increases will be felt in towns such as Tallahassee and Orlando and most rural areas.

Commissioner Williams promised a thorough investigation of the State Farm hike and said if it were unjustified he would order the firm to make refunds.

Clarence C. Priest Honored

Pioneer Observes Birthday

Mr. Clarence C. Priest was honored Sunday afternoon, Sept. 20, at an open house at his home on Sanford Avenue. The occasion was his 94th birthday.

MR. CLARENCE C. PRIEST ... on his 94th birthday, Sept. 20, 1970.

Having served with the First Florida Volunteer Infantry, Company G, in the Spanish American War in 1898, he had on display some of the mementos of that time—his picture in uniform, Company G picture, service medals, ribbons and honorable discharge.

Mr. Priest related the story of how he volunteered. When he told his father of his intention to join the army and asked if his brother, John, could use their buggy and the family mare, "Old Jess," to drive him to Ocala, his father, a veteran of the Civil War, said, "No."

After Clarence returned, "I can walk it by 10 o'clock," his father retorted, and John drove him the ten miles to town.

Expert Points Out How Americans Are Overfed And Undernourished

By AILEEN CLARKE
NEJ Food Editor

NEW YORK — (NEA) — A former newspaper food editor, I did writer of cook books became so furious with "getting bad food and being told it was good" that she took on the multibillion-dollar industry with a scathing new book.

At least, Cecil Dyer says she wrote "The Back to Cooking Cookbook" (Price/Stern/Sloan) because she likes good food and wants others to get a taste of it, too. The book's subtitle pitifully outlines her view of what's going on: "How to Save Time and Money by Not Using Chemicals, Preservatives, Canned, Processed, Dehydrated, Convenience Foods."

She points out that home-cooked meals "made of honest ingredients are far less expensive, taste better and are more nutritious than those made from ersatz concoctions."

Like so many women she is constantly on a diet. This is difficult for her, she explains in a tone still touched by the Louisiana bayou, because eating was a treat back home in Franklin. As a blossoming young girl, Miss Dyer and the other children were consoled by her southern belle mother into doing a lot of cooking.

"Mother loved to give proper tea parties," she says, "but she didn't like to do the work."

Cecil Dyer

Feeding the family also was a normally had 20 or 22 at the table. Her at-home experience was strengthened by home economics studies at Louisiana State.

She also took a swipe at home cooks.

"The vast majority cook badly and don't make a meal enjoyable for the family. A child can know good food but a hot dog and coffee in a paper cup doesn't make for enjoyable ambience."

Her hope is that more men and women will look for good old recipes using fresh ingredients and not those whose directions start with "take two cans ..."

"Solid dressing mixes are made for and bought by the same people who buy pre-iced bow ties and order their flowers arranged by the florist? How too sad. Besides the money wasted, think of the fun they miss."

Cynthia Tripp Bride Of W. A. Gracey

Miss Cynthia Ann Tripp became the bride of William A. Gracey, Friday, Sept. 25, at 7:30 p. m. in a lovely candlelight, double ring ceremony at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lowell H. Tripp.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Gracey, 2551 S. Palmetto Ave., also of this city.

Rev. James R. Wilkins, Educational Director, First Baptist Church, officiated at the ceremony before a white arch which was entwined with lily-of-the-valley and greenery, accented by two baskets of mums, glads and gypsophylla and seven-branched candelabra with glowing tapers. A large cupid in the foyer was arranged with all-white blossoms.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose for her gown a white organza over bridal satin. The gown was fashioned with a modified full skirt, natural waistline and lace-trimmed bodice, embellished with tiny rosebuds accenting the bodice front. Seed pearls accented the stand-up collar, lace trim of the leg-of-mutton sleeves and bodice.

Her shoulder-length veil of imported silk illusion was accented to a satin rose crown and she carried a white Bible at stephanidos and white satin ribbons. Miss Janet Tripp was her bridesmaid.

Mr. William Gracey served his son as best man and Thomas Gracey, brother of the bridegroom, lighted the candles.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Tripp chose a turquoise polyester knit dress highlighted with beige embroidery and complemented with matching accessories and a white orchid corsage.

Mrs. Gracey, mother of the bridegroom, was attired in a blue crepe embroidered dress, fashioned with an accordion pleated skirt and a stand-up collar. Her accents were matching and her corsage was a white orchid.

A reception followed in the home family room.

The bride's table, overlaid with white lace over white taffeta, was centered with an arrangement of white carnations and greenery. All silver appointments flanked the three-tiered wedding cake.

Grandma's An Engineer!

By JO WERNE Miami (AP) — Peg Blatt is a hard hat.

A 48-year-old grandmother, Peg is a field engineer for a construction company.

Motorists drive by the torn-up streets, get a gander at Peg out there working with all those heavy men, and do a double take.

"Sometimes women come up to me and ask what I'm doing," said Peg, who wears rings in her pierced ears at feminine touches to her work gear of sneakers, jeans and blouse.

"Sometimes they ask where they can get a job like mine," said Peg, who said her responsibilities include using surveying equipment.

"The job requires patience. There's a lot of standing around and waiting," she explained. "But I do a lot of walking, too."

"I lost 40 pounds on this job"—Peg can operate the huge earth movers and loaders as well as the men. But she usually stays off the machines.

"I've run a ladder, but just cut in the hoedocks where I couldn't hit anything," she said. On wet days or when there's a hill in her work, Peg helps out with the bookkeeping in the portable office near the construction site.

"I didn't know either when I came. I learned that on the job too."

for Dargel Construction Co., Inc. of Fort Lauderdale. For three years, a Fort Lauderdale resident, she got the job in a round-about way.

Her daughter, Mary, who is Mrs. Bob Pezza of Miami, was offered a job as field engineer for another construction company a few years ago. She took it, but later decided it wasn't her cup of tea.

Harold Dargel, owner of the construction company, learned that a rival company had a woman field engineer. He met Mary and asked her if she knew any other woman who would like a similar job for his company.

Mary suggested her mother. "I thought I'd give it a try," said Peg. "But I had no background in engineering at all, and no education beyond high school. I was scared and nervous."

"Mr. Dargel agreed to train me on the job. He gave me the rule—'You don't hang around the men, and the men don't hang around you. That was fine with me because I've been a happily married woman for over 30 years.'"

Some of the men objected to having a woman on the job at first, Peg remembered, her grey eyes crinkle. "But now they miss me when I'm not around."

Peg thinks the men treat her "like one of the guys," but there are some concessions to her femininity. They call her "Peggy," tease her, scold her for carrying her surveying equipment on her shoulder, and sometimes buy her lunch.

Some of them even blush and apologize to Peg when a four-letter word slips out in her presence.

And they respect her for holding her own in the construction crew.

"She does a good job," said construction worker Keith Jones. "When I first saw her I thought she might be one of the guys" wives. Then I learned she was here on her own. We like having her around."

Peg, whose husband, Robert, owns a machine shop in Fort Lauderdale, has worked at a variety of jobs during her married life. The mother of three children with four grandchildren, she's worked as a waitress, in a chair factory, and for an entering firm.

NEW YORK (UPI)—As a result of disinflation measures, the bond market has been enormously strengthened. Argus Research Corp. says. The huge volume of long-term borrowing anticipated for this year "will go a long way toward improving the liquidity position of non-financial corporations, it adds. Over the long run interest rates should continue to drop, the firm says, but "the heavy volume of new issues may lead to occasional traffic jams and temporary increases in bond yields."

NEW YORK (AP)—Proper treatment of thyroid deficiency, or hypothyroidism, can prevent premature heart attacks in people suffering from a lack of thyroid hormones. It can also improve the life span of post-victims of coronary disease, a report to the Federation of American Societies for Experimental Biology has revealed.
The scientific study of 125 men and 84 women with hypothyroidism showed that only four new cases of heart disease developed instead of the expected 72. This 94 per cent reduction was achieved without changes in diet, exercise, or smoking habits.

Juvenile, Mental Centers Outlined

The Juvenile Detention Facility and the Mental Incompetency Facility, which will be among five issues for referendum on the Nov. 3 election ballot, were explained by Judge Wallace Hall to interested citizens at a meeting of the Lake Mary Chamber of Commerce.
Judge Hall explained that the bond issue will feature two columns on the ballot, one for freeholders and one for non-freeholders, as a result of a pending court decision on who is eligible to vote in a public referendum.
Judge Hall said that the Juvenile Detention Center would be used for youths under 17 years of age; would have a school and work program. He cited that facilities in Orange, Volusia and Brevard Counties were not available to this county due to overcrowding, and that the only facility available in the county jail. Judge Hall stated that the jail is "no place for 12-15 year-olds and is analogous to solitary confinement." He continued that this would "drive an immature person psychotic." Cost for the facility is $200,000 and is $100,000 more than the estimate given two years ago.
Judge Hall mentioned that the impact of Disneyland in Orange County, Calif., increased the juvenile cases from 50 to 500 per day in a two-year period. Relative to the increase in ad valorem taxes needed to fund the bond issue, Judge Hall said that it would approximate 80 cents per year. The jurist said, "I wouldn't ask for the taxes if I did not feel that it is a needed expenditure... I don't think we can afford not to do it."
Citing the facility for Mental Incompetents, Judge Hall said that the cost of placing the mentally disturbed in Florida Sanatorium amounts to $35 per day, and that when there is no longer any funds, they must be placed in the county jail.
Judge Hall continued that it would be two years from the date the issue is adopted until it could be in operation due to the validation and sale of bonds and construction. If the issue does not pass, Judge Hall said, "I don't know what we'll do... we may have to go to a barbed wire encampment thing."

From the EDA—Economic Development Administration comes this word, "Southeastern States Get $37.2 Million in EDA Funds in Fiscal '70."
The projects and the total dollars which this state will receive in comparison to others in the South is ridiculous. "EDA approvals for the southeastern states in fiscal 1970 were as follows: Alabama—20 projects, $7 million; Florida—3 projects, $218,254; Georgia—11 projects, $11 million; Mississippi—48 projects, $27.21 million; South Carolina—14 projects, $6.21 million; Tennessee—6 projects, $5.56 million."
Do you really know what EDA is?
This assistance is available to help communities with severe unemployment problems provide public facilities essential to industrial and commercial growth. The agency makes grants and long-term loans for projects designed in local overall economic development programs.
EDA planning funds encourage adjacent counties to unite in their efforts to overcome mutual, area-wide problems.
Would someone please follow through? Refer to United States Department of Commerce News Letter EDA 70-461.

Residents of Lake Mary fire a barrage of questions to Mrs. William Burckett, representing the county's long range planning committee for parks and recreation, at a meeting last night of the Lake Mary Chamber of Commerce.
Mrs. Burckett gave a presentation of the seven park areas which will be placed on the ballot on Nov. 3 for public referendum on a 20-year bond issue. These areas include Wekiva-St. Johns, 500 acres at a cost of $162,500; Lake Monroe, 105 acres costing $189,250; Lake Monroe, 85 acres costing $104,750; Island Pond, 230 acres at a cost of $247,500; Big Tree, 895 acres costing $489,750; Sand Lake, 100 acres costing $384,000; and Lake Howell, 80 acres at a cost of $100,000. Total estimated acreage is $1,122 at a cost of $1,700,750.
The speaker showed several slides and transparencies delineating the areas and gave an impassioned plea for passage of the bond issue by the statement that the county is becoming an "asphalt jungle" and needs retention of a "green belt" and park area. Mrs. Burckett further cited that the tropical swamp aspect of the Wekiva-St. Johns should be kept intact, since this is a disappearing scene and many children of the future will not know how a Florida swamp appears.
Preservation of nature in the parks, especially for the nesting osprey, now facing extinction, also was elucidated by Mrs. Burckett. Citing one park as a water recharge area and others as being utilized for bike, nature trails and swimming, Mrs. Burckett said that there is no longer any place for children to swim in the county.
Regarding the Big Tree Park, the speaker said that it is hoped that federal matching funds could be secured to purchase the additional lands which were eliminated from the original package due to the excessive cost. Mrs. Burckett said that this bond issue would meet federal criteria in that it is a unique area. If the bond issue fails, according to Mrs. Burckett, it will be two years until another election can be held and there is a possibility that the lands will no longer be available.
Mrs. Burckett continued that if the $1 million bond issue added to the taxpayers' bill the first year.
During the questioning, one resident queried whether the court where the suit was filed or from Hill that the suit had been dismissed before he could advise the City Commission that it would be proper for them to proceed with paying the north-south streets in the Georgetown section.
Mayor Moore explained that this meeting was set so officials could answer questions from the people living in the area and he did not know the court suit had been dropped.
A group known as the Georgetown Taxpayers Association, consisting of Aurelia M. Davis, Rev. John T. Owens, Raymond R. Fields, Thomas Ashley, Rev. H. Kim Brewington, Pearl Tapper, Willie Brown Jr., Bertha Chandler and Rible Lee Hunter had filed the action after being notified that they would be assessed at a cost of $118 a running foot for each foot of their property that abutted the streets.
City is borrowing the money from local banks at six per cent interest to be repaid by affected property owners over a five-year period. City Manager W. E. Knowles said the total project cost including all engineering, legal fees and financing amounted to $311,300.
Contractors will bid on the project and Knowles estimated bids could be advertised immediately and the project could start in about 90 days, since all engineering has been completed. Completion time is estimated for six months, Knowles stated.

Police Academy Decision Due

Local Men Will Push City Site

By BILL SCOTT
A group of Sanford and Seminole County officials are expected to leave for Tallahassee Monday afternoon to attend a Tuesday morning session of the Florida State Cabinet at which time a decision on selecting a site for the proposed State Police Training Academy is expected to be made.
This was confirmed in a letter from William Kittle, director of training and inspection for State Department of Law Enforcement, to David F. Kelley, Sanford Industrial Commission director.
Kittle's letter arrived at the industrial director's office yesterday afternoon and the trek to Tallahassee was arranged to include Mayor Lee P. Moore, Sheriff John Polk and Kelley.
These three men will appear before the State Cabinet, for the second time in three months, and attempt to persuade the officials to locate the training academy for police at Sanford Airport's building 310 on a $20,000 annual lease.
Local groups have attempted since an Aug. 4 meeting of the Cabinet to convince members that a savings to the taxpayers could be realized in placing the academy here instead of Tallahassee as has been recommended by William Reed, State Law Enforcement commissioner.
A Sanford location also would mean that state lawmen would have a more centrally located place to train and this would, save South Florida municipalities and counties from additional costs involved with sending men to north areas of the state.
At the present time, the training is being conducted in rented space at a state building. Reed desires a Tallahassee location because other crime fighting apparatus, including a computer, is located there at the capital.
Cabinet members have toured the Sanford site and all have been impressed with the facilities offered by a former Navy barracks building.
