ZR-3 IS LARGEST AND BEST AIRSHIP IN WORLD TODAY

Hangar of This "Queen of the Air" is Largest Known and Could Accommodate Woolworth Building, then Some

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 13.—A rigid airship of about 70,000 cubic meters capacity was awarded to the United States by the Council of Ambassadors in Paris in 1921 as reparations due the United States in connection with the distribution of German rigid airships to the Allied governments. The Navy Department was authorized to undertake the negotiations in connection with the construction of the ships. The ship is to be delivered to the United States with the one objection that the obligation that Germany should not build airships of a gross capacity greater than 30,000 meters.

The airship was to be delivered at no cost to the United States Government, and the terms of the agreement required that it be delivered in this country by a German crew.

Navy Men on Duty.

Since July, 1922, inspectors representing the Navy Department have been on duty at the plant of the Zeppelin Company, in Friedrichshafen, and three American observers will accompany the ship on its delivery to this country. They are Captain G. W. Steele, U. S. Navy, Lieutenant Commander Sydney M. Kraus, U. S. Navy, and Major Frank M. Kennedy, U. S. Army.

The ZR-3 is the largest airship in the world today, having a gas capacity of 2,400,000 cubic feet, and will include the very latest knowledge of the German practice. It is subject to the condition that it is not to be used for military purposes, and designation of the Navy Department charged to receive the ship was made because the Navy is charged with the development of rigid airships.

ZR-3 is a Navy contract designation. Z indicates "lighter than air craft"; R, "rigid type of construction, and 3, type number. The present Shenandoah was known as ZR-1 while under construction.

The Navy Department had full confidence in the recognized ability of the Zeppelin Company, but in order that the Navy Department might be convinced that the ship would represent the art it studied these representatives at the Zeppelin works to follow the construction day by day. The Zeppelin Company was anxious to demonstrate its superior knowledge of the airship building art, and cordially received the Navy Department's representatives.

Description

The size of the ship is the same as that of the latest airships built by the Zeppelin Company at the end of the war—namely, a gas capacity of 70,000 cubic meters. The ZR-3 has, however, been designed specially to accommodate passengers, and special attention has been directed to all factors involving convenience, strength and safety.

The general dimensions of the ship are as follows:

Overall length	200
Maximum Diameter	27.64
Maximum Width (propellers horizontal)	27.64
Maximum Height (including landing buffers)	31.00
Hangar Can House U. S. Capital.

More figures, however, do not give an adequate conception of the tremendous size of this great aerial liner. Nothing like the ZR-3 has ever been launched. A better idea of the ship's dimensions may be obtained by considering the size of the hangar at Lakehurst, which will eventually house this "Queen of the Air." This hangar is the largest in the world and is of such enormous size that the National Capitol Building could be placed inside except for a small portion of the dome. The Union Railway Station, at Washington, could be placed inside this structure, without touching it in any place. The Woolworth building, if placed on its side, could be put inside the hangar, with plenty of room to spare. It is such a building that will house the ZR-3 upon her arrival in the United States.

Passenger Train Hits Rear Freight Train

NEW MILFORD, Pa., Oct. 13.—The engineer and fireman of a pusher engine in the rear of a freight train were killed and three other trainmen injured when a Buffalo passenger train on the Lackawanna Railroad running through a heavy fog crashed into a slowly moving freight a mile west of here. The passenger train was struck to death. Two passenger cars and a baggage car left the rails. The passenger car was shaken up but none injured.

YEGG ESCAPED FROM ATLANTA PRISON IS SEEN

Gerald Chapman Recognized During Attempt to Blow Up Department Store Safe as Policeman Skelly is Killed

Wounded But Made Good His Escape

CHAPMAN WAS SENT TO FEDERAL PENITENTIARY FOR CONNECTION WITH $1,000,000 MAIL THEFT

NEW BRITAIN, Conn., Oct. 13.—Yeggen discovered attempting to blow open the safe of the Davidson and Leventhal department store here Sunday shot and killed policeman James Skelly and escaped.

The police recognized one of the youngsters as Gerald Chapman, who recently escaped from Atlanta prison, where he was sent after a $1,000,000 mail robbery in New York. Walter E. Shevan of Springfield, Mass., said to be a member of a prominent family there is under arrest charged with being an accomplice in the shooting of Skelly.

Seek Man's Photographs

ATLANTA, Oct. 13.—Officers at the federal prison Sunday said they had received a request from the police at New Britain, Conn., for photographs and other data regarding the Gerald Chapman, who is believed to be one of the slayers of a New Britain policeman.

Chapman escaped from the prison here on the morning of March 27, 1923, in company with another prisoner named Gray, who was released shortly afterward. Chapman, with George Anderson, was serving a term for a $1,000,000 mail robbery in New York at the time of his escape. Anderson escaped from the prison in December following Chapman's escape in March, and has not been recaptured.

Deputy Warden Fletcher of the prison Sunday night said Chapman and Anderson were snatched by officials to be operating together.

At the time of his escape Chapman made his way to Athens, Ga., where he was captured by police there and wounded so badly in a gun fight incident to his capture that he had to be taken to a hospital. In his wounded condition he escaped during the night by means of a rope ladder made from bed clothes.

Deputy Warden Fletcher tonight said dispatches from New Britain was the first news the prison has had of Chapman since his escape.

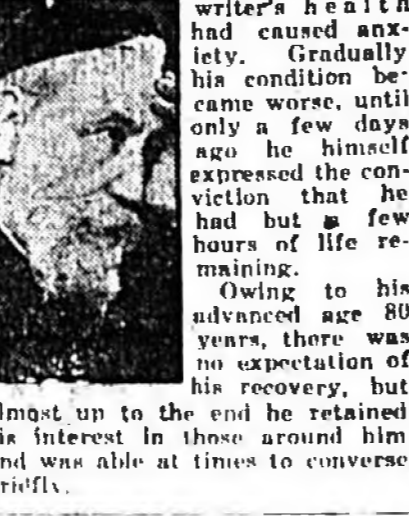

Sought in New York

NEW YORK, Oct. 13.—Gerald Chapman, escaped mail robber, was sought here Sunday night, in connection with the killing earlier today of a policeman in New Britain, Conn., where Chapman and another man were said to have been surprised in the act of blowing up a safe.

A close watch was maintained over railway station, hotels, ferry houses, after Chapman, who is also known as "Hyce" and "The Night Owl," was believed to have been in the "beating" behind the $1,000,000 robbery of a registered mail truck in Lower Broadway three years ago this month.

Anatole France, Eminent French Writer, Succumbs At Age of 80 After Illness

World Loses Genius. In the passing of Anatole France, there is lost to France and to the whole world the genius of a man who, as interpreter of the French spirit during the past 50 years, has been without a rival.

TOURS, France, Oct. 13.—Anatole France is dead. His end came peacefully Sunday. From August last the state of the great French writer's health had caused anxiety. Gradually his condition became worse, until only a few days ago he himself expressed the conviction that he had but a few hours of life remaining.

Owing to his advanced age 80 years, there was no expectation of his recovery, but almost up to the end he retained his interest in those around him and was able at times to converse briefly.

World Loses Genius. In the passing of Anatole France, there is lost to France and to the whole world the genius of a man who, as interpreter of the French spirit during the past 50 years, has been without a rival. He wrote for France, but the whole world has read him, and the world united in commending him in heartfelt phrases on the occasion of his 80th birthday, April 16, 1924.

HOSTILITIES IN CHINA MAY END BY RESULT OF TARIFF BILL OF G.O.P. ATTACKED BY JOHN DAVIS

Democratic Nominee Declares Fordney-McCumber Measures Not Unconstitutional

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 13.—The Fordney-McCumber tariff bill violates the constitution is the opinion of John D. Davis, Democratic nominee for president and former President of the American Bar Association. In support of the contention the candidate cited a clause in the constitution which gives the president unrestricted discretion to raise rates on income tax or lower them as much as 50 per cent.

The law not only violates the Constitution of the United States, but also violates one of the deep traditions of a liberty loving people," he said.

Mr. Davis declared the result of his legislation has been to "put your necks back under the yoke that we shook off centuries ago."

Confidence that the November election will be decisive and the Democratic party will win in the electoral college without reference to congress was expressed by the nominee.

Answer to Butler?

The candidate's statement was made to newspapermen in conference here and was said to have been founded upon reports given him by Democratic leaders in the middle-west. It was intended, he said, to answer the statement made recently by Chairman Butler of the Republican National committee in which he was reported to have declared that it would be disastrous if the decision on the election should be thrown into congress and Charles W. Bryan, Democratic vice-presidential candidate.

Mr. Davis announced Sunday a revision of his itinerary for the remainder of his two weeks tour in middle western states. He will leave Indianapolis at noon today, making brief addresses at Lebanon, Lafayette and Green Castle and in the evening at Terre Haute.

On Tuesday Mr. Davis will visit the tomb of Abraham Lincoln at Springfield. It was announced and arrangements made for the candidate to deliver three addresses Friday evening in three sections of the city principally tenanted by citizens of foreign extraction. The first will be held in the Bohemian quarter, the second in the Jewish quarter, and the third in the Polish district.

From Chicago the Davis party will go to St. Louis, Mo., arriving there Saturday morning. It is planned to motor to East St. Louis, Ill., for a noon speech there and return to St. Louis, Mo., that night for the principal address of the day.

Mr. Davis will arrive in Nashville, Tenn., Sunday, the day being set apart for church and rest and on Monday evening he will speak there at Louisville, Ky., which was designated for an address Tuesday night. From there the candidate will go to Evansville, Ind.

CITY IS ALMOST ISOLATED FROM NORTH FLORIDA

Survey of General Road Conditions Show Sanford Is Practically Cut Off From Jacksonville By Bad Roads

Chamber Commerce Issues Road Bulletin

Roads to Be in Better Shape in Few Days; Recent Rains Cause Scores of Washouts

Sanford is practically isolated from the northern part of the state both by the east coast route and by way of Leesburg, Ocala, Gainesville and Lake City, according to information received in a score of telegrams sent to the secretary of the Sanford Chamber of Commerce in answer to a request for general conditions in this part of the state.

The Orange Belt Line, it was announced, is running buses to DeLand and there transferring passengers to lighter cars for Palatka but that point is as far as they can be transported by car, it is stated.

A telegram from Charles E. Harris, secretary of the St. Augustine Board of Trade, stated that the road south of Jacksonville is impassable with the aid of tractors while the highway south of St. Augustine between Elkton and Hastings is closed and may remain so for two or three days.

From New Smyrna came a dispatch stating that high water has not seriously damaged the Dixie Highway into that city and that the road to Titusville is passable. The message further stated that all detours maintained by the state are in good condition. The road from Daytona is said to be passable with traffic being diverted to each peninsula at Port Orange because of a washed out bridge. The message said that the Sanford DeLand and Daytona DeLand roads are both impassable.

The DeLand Commercial Club wired that the road to Daytona was impassable and had been closed by order of the county commissioners.

From Kissimmee came word that the Melbourne ferry will be in operation tonight with regular schedule effective tomorrow. The bridge between Melbourne and Vero is out, the message further declared.

Because several bridges are out, the road between Daytona and St. Augustine, Orlando and New Smyrna are impassable, the secretary of the Daytona Chamber of Commerce wired.

Another message from the Union Express Company at Hopkins, stated that on account of high water, ferry service from Inoa Park to Melbourne has been discontinued at that point.

The road between the city and Mount Dora is impassable, the local secretary is reliably informed. The water is up to the fenders of cars, it is declared.

Between this city and Tampa the road is said to be in very good condition with but a single washout large enough to stop traffic. Because of this washout, cars are believed to be diverted via Orlando, Winter Garden, Clermont, Groveland and Auburndale.

County Roads Have Been Obstructed By Refuse and Trash

That many roads throughout the county have been made unsightly and in some cases obstructed by trash and refuse thrown or dumped along the highway, was declared by Sheriff C. M. Hand in a statement to The Herald this morning when he further declared his intention of using every effort to prevent this practice in the future.

"It has come to my attention," said the sheriff that some citizens are persisting in using public highways as dumping grounds for all kinds of trash, which during the recent rains caused the ditches along the road to become stopped up and causing the roads to become covered with water."

"Recently I have had numerous complaints about this matter and I have sent warnings to all parts of the county that the practice must cease. At the last meeting of the Board of Commissioners, those gentlemen encouraged me to put a stop to the practice," the sheriff said.

"I believe that those people guilty of such practice do not realize what harm comes from it or they would not do it and I am now calling on the citizens to co-operate with and assist me in every way possible to rid our county roads of this menace," the sheriff further declared.

"There are state statutes which make it unlawful to dump trash of any description on public highways because it obstructs travel, declared Sheriff Hand and unless this law is adhered to, I must use means to prosecute the offenders."

The sheriff deplored the condition which recently caused several roads to become flooded which might not have been so had not the ditches been stopped up with all kinds of refuse.

Sanford Elks Home Destroyed By Fire Early This Morning

Fire of Unknown Origin Burns Lakefront Home and Furnishings; Winds Aid Fire

Caretaker Only Occupant of House

The Sanford Elks' clubhouse together with all of its furnishings, sad razed by fire early this morning. The loss is estimated to be between $18,000 and $20,000, and is partly covered by $10,000 insurance.

C. T. Smith, caretaker of the club, who was the only occupant of the building when it caught fire, stated to a representative of The Herald this morning that earlier in the night he had been away from the club but had returned about 12:30 o'clock. Shortly afterwards he retired and was awakened about 3:30 o'clock by the noise of burning timbers. His room was filled with smoke.

Without stopping to investigate for the fire had gotten under good headway, Mr. Smith said he started for town to turn in the alarm at the fire department. When aid was finally secured, the flames, being fanned by a stiff breeze from the lake, had secured such headway that efforts to extinguish them were futile and within a short time the building was a smoking mass of ruins.

According to some spectators, who reached the scene of the fire shortly after the alarm was turned in, the fire apparently started on the west wing of the building in the lodge room. None of the officials or the caretaker could advance a probable cause of the fire.

The clubhouse has been the property of the Elks for about two years, being acquired at that time from the Sanford Rod and Gun club. Since that time the property has been improved considerably and at the time of the fire, construction work was in progress for the erection of three additional rooms in the basement and altogether there had been authorized expended for repairs the sum of $5,000, according to an announcement made by one of the officials of the club.

During the past two years since the organization acquired the clubhouse, its membership has been increased from approximately 200 to 400 and much progress has been made, stated another official.

It is stated this morning that efforts will be made to start the construction of another clubhouse of larger and more commodious accommodations within a very short time. It is understood that a special meeting of the organization will be held within the next few days to consider this matter.

Scores of citizens visited the scene of the fire during the morning. The remains of the winter's supply of wood was still blazing at 9:30 o'clock, while the place was still smoking. The home of J. S. Wilson, adjoining the clubhouse, was scorched by the fire slightly, as was a Reo sedan belonging to Mr. Wilson.

Coincident with the burning of the local clubhouse was the burning of the Orlando clubhouse on Friday night, and the reported loss of the Gainesville Elks' home during the past week.

MISS WILLIAMS IS WINNER SPECIAL CONTEST AWARD

Third High Contestant Is Winner of Ten Dollars Given to One Turning in Most Money in 3rd Period

The $10 cash prize goes to Miss Nell Williams, who turned in the most cash subscriptions during the third period of The Herald's contest which ended at 10 o'clock Saturday night.

Despite the steady rain which made it practically impossible for any contestant to accomplish much, Miss Williams was able to secure 26 subscriptions and to turn in a total of $161.30.

The second best record was made by Miss Vera Woodcock, the third by Miss Velma Shipp and the fourth by Miss Naomi Fellows.

The entire third period of the campaign was a hard one for contestants, due to weather conditions. Hardly a day passed but what the rain would make it practically impossible for work. And to secure subscriptions it is necessary to be on the outside a great portion of the time interviewing prospects.

Last Half Starts Today.

Today marks the beginning of the last six weeks of the contest. This will be the most exciting period of the campaign because of the fact that contestants will doubt their efforts to secure votes. While the last two weeks will be the busiest it is thought that the fourth period which gets under way today will see many changes in the standing of contestants.

The city of Sanford has been the field of the contestants up to this time, but small effort being made in the outlying sections of the country. Contestants have spent much of their time enlisting the support of their friends in the close in territory, the neglect of widespread opportunities among the people residing in the country.

County Will Be Covered.

Saturday night one contestant made the statement that she expected to start Monday on making a systematic effort to get every available subscription from people who live outside the city limits. She said it was her intention to either cover the ground herself or get friends to do it.

However, other contestants are not as up to these exceptional opportunities and they are themselves laying their plans so that all the votes that can be secured will come to them.

Weekly Counts as Well as Daily.

Contestants are reminded that when working in the county they should make an effort to secure subscriptions to the Weekly Herald from people who do not wish to subscribe to the daily issue. Voluntary issues on weekly subscriptions as well as on daily subscriptions. The Weekly Herald is issued every Thursday and contains all the news of the week from Seminole county. It is delivered through the mail, and reaches readers in the county on Friday.

Automobile delivery to practically all points in the county is maintained for the daily issue and persons residing in many parts of Seminole county get their afternoon paper the same day it is published.

Another Vote Reduction.

With the beginning of the fourth period in the campaign another reduction has been made in the voting schedule. Subscriptions do not count for as many votes as they did in any previous period nor does the ballot published in the Herald each day bring as many votes to the contestant.

The new schedule will be found in another part of this issue and will be effective until Saturday night, October 25.

French Find Way To Beat Inheritance Tax

PARIS, Oct. 13.—A law was passed in France recently making the legal adoption of children relatively easy of accomplishment, and the new measure is resulting in loss of revenue to the government.

Inheritance taxes in France are heavy. On a fortune of 1,000,000 francs a nephew who inherits must pay 400,000 francs to the state, a grand-nephew 441,000 francs, an unrelated inheritor 482,000 francs, but a child pays only 123,000 francs.

Adopted children rank as real children, so it has become the habit for testators to adopt distant relatives and friends to whom they desire to leave money.

Big Events During Centennial Week Tallahassee Plans

TALLHASSEE, Fla., Oct. 11.—A home improvement contest has been inaugurated by the home demonstration forces working in Florida. Five state prizes will be given to those making the best record in improvements, and additional county prizes may be obtained locally, according to plans outlined for the contest.

The contest is designed to influence many women and girls of Florida in regard to: Give more thought and time to the improvement and beautifying of the home. Make the home and its premises as sanitary as possible. Procure with the smallest outlay of money possible the most convenient kitchen, with labor saving devices, the most charming and artistic dining room, bed rooms or living room.

Create a sentiment in her family that the home is the most hallowed shrine on earth, and that each member may have a part in helping to make it a place that will ever draw the family.

Any member of the Girls' or Women's Home Demonstration club may become a contestant. The contest is to cover a period of time from November 1, next, to June 1, 1926, and contestants may enter one or all of the following classes:

- Class 1. Kitchen making the most general improvement.
- Class 2. The most sanitary and most beautiful living room according to expenditure of money.
- Class 3. The most sanitary and most beautiful bed room according to expenditure of money.
- Class 4. The most sanitary piazzas.
- Class 5. The most artistic planting.

Registration cards and score cards will be furnished the county agents by the state headquarters office.

Midday Shopping Sought To Relieve Traffic In Cities

ATLANTIC CITY, Oct. 9.—A nation-wide movement to induce more shopping between 10 a. m. and 4 p. m. with electric railways and merchants taking the lead, is to be inaugurated soon, it was announced today at the session of the American Electric Railway Association convention. All of the five thousand electric railway persons attending the convention will be asked to co-operate.

The slogan "Shop more from 10 to 4 and you'll avoid the crowds," is to be used in newspaper advertising, car and show window posters and in other forms of publicity. Advantages of the 4 to 10 shopping pointed out are these: More passengers can get seats on street cars if they shop during these "off-peak" hours; clerks in stores can serve customers better if trading is scattered through the day.

Street car companies can make the most economical use of their rolling stock. Every street car company must add materially to its cars early in the morning and after 4 p. m. The rest of the day many of these cars stand idle.

A test was given the plan in a few cities during the holidays last year and it proved so successful that a national movement now has been decided upon. The most intensive test was made in Connecticut. Virtually every merchant's organization, and many newspapers there joined with the electric railways in the movement.

feet level of Lake Okechobee is hardly higher than last June at the beginning of the wet period and water everywhere is being carried off by the canals.

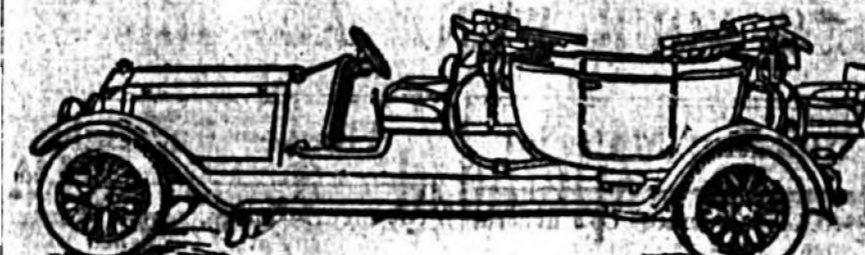

This was the observation Thursday of Fred C. Elliott chief engineer of the Everglades Drainage district after an inspection trip yesterday. Mr. Elliott, probably the foremost authority on Everglades drainage, declared that with the lake at its present level, the few remaining weeks of rain could not make material changes in the outlook and suggested well for fine winter conditions.

"I saw more dry land in the Everglades than on most of my trip down," said the engineer who had come here via Haines City and the Kissimmee valley, much of which he said was inundated.

Mr. Elliott admitted, however, that in some spots considerable damage had been done by recent rains. The worst instance, he said, was near Twenty-Mile Bend of the West Palm Beach Canal, where apparently the rains had been light and where water had run out into a lake almost 25 miles across. The canal, however, was functioning well he said, and the water there lowered four inches yesterday. The water is draining off three ways, in both directions through lateral canals into the Hillsboro canal.

Auto Replaces Royal Coach for Maharajah in India

Mounted on a chassis that has a wheelbase of 170 inches, one of the world's most luxurious automobiles has been delivered to the Maharajah of Alwar. It is designed after the pattern of the formal horse-drawn limousine used by the ruler and takes its place as a state coach.

The body seats four persons and is suspended on C-springs, the lowest construction of which are arranged to meet the underside of the carriage and thus prevent excessive swing or rolling while giving complete isolation from road shocks and jern.

There is said to be no sense of mechanical propulsion, the feeling being more that of floating than of riding on wheels. Four side lamps are lighted by electricity.

Suggests Hole Ten Miles Deep to Utilize Earth's Heat

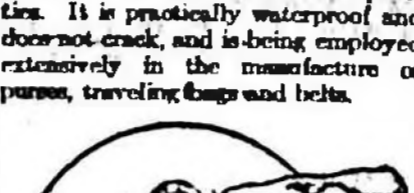

Utilization of the internal heat of the earth as a source of power is worth considering, says an international scientific enterprise, according to E. W. Rice, Jr., honorary chairman of the World Power conference in London. He suggested the boring of a great hole, ten or twelve miles deep, in some convenient or suitable place to use this heat.

The cost of this experiment, he said, would be small compared with the amount of the possible information which might be gained by the investigation into this unexplored region of the earth.

Making Use of the Shark

Formerly regarded as an undesirable inhabitant of the deep, shark skin is now being used in commercial circles. Oil from its liver is said to have the same medicinal qualities as that from the cod, shark's eyes are appreciated by the Chinese and its teeth, after they have been boiled and treated, leave a hard residue which forms a sort of opalescent substance for making ornaments and jewelry.

The outer skin is used for polishing handwoods and ivory, while the inner layers are tanned into serviceable leather of different shades and qualities. It is practically waterproof and does not crack, and is being employed extensively in the manufacture of papers, traveling bags and belts.

A Broom and Brush Holder for the Kitchen Porch

Brooms and brushes are usually set up in a corner on the porch when not in use, but this causes the bristles or hairs to bend over permanently, which greatly impairs the usefulness of these articles. This can be prevented by providing a brush and broom holder of the kind shown in the drawing. This holder adds considerably to the neat appearance of the porch and provides an orderly arrangement so that any broom, broom or mop can instantly be found when needed. The construction of this holder is clearly shown in the drawing. It is made of

The worst trouble with wash-out on the railroad was reported between here and DeLand, although there were several reported in the vicinity of Kissimmee. These, however, railroad officials reported, have been repaired already and that through train service is now in effect.

Streets Show Damage.
A tour of inspection of West First Street and the residential section late yesterday afternoon by a representative of The Herald, showed many streets to be entirely under water varying in depth from 2 to 14 inches. At the peak of the rains last night the center of West First Street was three inches deep.

Many cars had been abandoned because of "drowned" engines. The rushing waters had washed gullies along the edge of the street where several cars were ditched while trying to pass other cars. The bridge several blocks out could be traversed but it was in bad condition. Many yards were filled with water several inches deep. Nothing could be seen of celery and lettuce fields but water, the entire tracts being covered. Third Street from French Avenue to Oak Avenue was one sheet of water for several hours. It was seven inches deep in places.

Stores Damaged.
Several stores suffered losses by having their stocks damaged. The store suffering the most was probably the Florida Cash Salvage Co. on First Street, where from two to four inches of water covered the entire place of business. Manager Steeper of the store this morning estimated the damage at several hundred dollars.

The Seminole Furniture Company, next door to the Florida Cash Salvage Company, also suffered from the water but very little damage was done. On Sanford Avenue several stores reported that they had been inconvenienced by the water, but had suffered little loss.

Stokes' Grocery incurred a slight loss when the warehouse was flooded with water two inches deep. The loss will not be much, though, Mr. Stokes declared. Other stores reported some water but with no loss of money.

They are able to place their fruit in the east which territory geographically, should be supplied by Florida, at rates nearly as low, or quite as low, as our Florida fruit, and yet the distance of haul is twice as great.

"The railroad executives entered heartily into the discussion and I feel are going to co-operate with the growers in the development of the industry through proper adjustment of freight rates and co-operation also with us in the necessary co-operative marketing.

Bubuyan Island May Be Deserted, Reported

MANILA, Oct. 8.—The entire population of Bubuyan Island, one of the 100 miles north of Luzon, may be transferred to another island nearer the coast of Luzon. An active volcano has driven the 250 inhabitants from their homes down to the water's edge, and frequently they are compelled to take to their canoes to escape the showers of cinders and the lava which stream down the mountain side.

An American Red Cross investigator who is now on his way to the island with relief supplies will ascertain if the inhabitants want to move to another island where agricultural conditions are better. If the people are willing to move the Red Cross will assist them in establishing homes on another island.

Famous English Vine Yields Big Harvest

LONDON, Oct. 9.—Six hundred bunches of black Hamburg grapes, some of them weighing more than two pounds each, have just been cut from the great vine at Hampton Court Palace.

The grape vine, like Ephraim Bull's original Concord vine, which still flourishes in the Massachusetts town, is one of the most famous in the world. It is more than a century and a half old, having been planted in the reign of King George II, and its enormous yield is a matter of great interest in England. This vine requires constant pruning else it would exhaust itself in bearing more grapes than it would be able to nourish.

The sale of this vine's enormous yield provides a tiny sum for charity, as the grapes fetch $1.50 a pound.

JACKSONVILLE, Oct. 9.—The Florida State Fair Association has adopted a policy this year, it is announced, which excludes the use of signs, banners, tack cards, and the like, in the campaign advertising the fair this fall. In line with this policy the fair association announces that only the regulation billboards placed at advantageous points throughout the state will be used this year in the advertising campaign.

MIAMI WANTS TIGERS

MIAMI, Oct. 9.—E. G. Sewell, president of the Miami Chamber of Commerce, has sent an invitation to the Detroit Tigers to train here next spring. If the invitation is accepted, the Tigers will arrive in this city in March and remain here for four or five weeks, it is expected. During their stay a number of exhibition games will be arranged. Mr. Sewell announces.

AUSTRALIA WOOL PLENTIFUL

SYDNEY, Oct. 6.—With a clip estimated at 3,150,000 bales of wool, a record figure due to an exceptional season, the Australian Woolgrowers' Council and the National Council of Woolselling Brokers of Australia have decided means for disposing of the product. With sales held in Brisbane, Sydney, Melbourne, Adelaide and Perth, to be attended by purchasers from all over the world, it is expected that 2,000,000 bales will be offered by Christmas time.

PERCENTAGE DEMANDED

LISBON, Oct. 9.—Lisbon hotel and restaurant employees have gone on strike to force their employers to grant them a percentage of the customers' bills, instead of the tipping system. The employees claim that this method is being used in all the other countries of Europe, and that it has proved beneficial to the employes and is approved by the traveling public.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

SIN SEPARATES:—Your iniquities have separated between you and your God, and your sins have hid his face from you, that he will not hear. Isaiah 59:2.

THE HOUSE MADE UGLY

"I want a home of loveliness," he told the architect; "I want the finest building which your workmen can erect; Let every window seem to smile to greet the morning sun, And let there be no jarring note when once your work is done."

The house was built. No cost was spared. No jarring note was there; That which the eye finds beautiful was smiling everywhere, And when the decorator came, and once again the man, Said: "Furnish now this home for me as richly as you can!"

They tapestried his stately walls; They stretched upon the floor Such rugs as kings of Persia knew, they searched the country o'er For treasures rare with which to grace each room and when 'twas done

And when he came home at night he sneered at her who smiled, He had an ugly temper and spoke harshly to his child; And none beneath that roof was glad where happiness should be.

Sometimes a "flush" fund in inquiry looks like a mud bath. This burning of Elks Clubs is getting to be a passion. Say it in whispers, but it looks as if it were about rained out.

New York World tells of two girls who were injured by an empty train. When you get run over by a train it doesn't make much difference whether it is empty or not.

There is approximately $250,000,000 worth of pencils sold each year, but so far as we have been able to discover none of our associates has ever contributed to this worthy cause.

It was indeed unfortunate that Governor Smith of New York should be stricken sick with rheumatism just as he was about to undertake a speaking tour in behalf of Davis' candidacy for president.

If you don't say "No" it means "Yes" appears as an original editorial in any number of our exchanges—Ocala Banner. We have noticed that, too. As a younger man speaking to the ancient editor, how do they get that way?

When Thomas Harris, father of "Bucky" Harris, manager of the Washington Senators, got the news over the radio of the Giants' defeat, he wired his son, "Atta Boy! Just those two simple words. But what a lot of meaning he has there! What more could he have said in a hundred words?"

Charles G. Dawes begins a speech in Nebraska by prescribing a "dose of common sense" for the ills of the country. A prescription of mineral oil would have been more in keeping with Republican ways. We can't see how the people with the use of any "common sense" at all can vote for continued sickness in government.

A sick man in a Brooklyn hospital, desirous of doing his duty, tried to get the Registration Board to bring the books to his bedside so that he could be enrolled as a voter. He recalled that the courtesy had been extended Mayor Hylan a year ago when the Mayor was sick in his home. But you see that was different. The ordinary citizen was refused the registration favor.

Mrs. Thomas Hitchcock, a grandmother, and mother of Tommy Hitchcock, international polo player, recently qualified in every class in the annual Piping Rock Polo Show and rode two big jumpers to victory in the high hurdles, in which she competed against the best girl riders of the East, most of them barely out of their teens. The younger generation will have to go some to keep up with their grandmothers.

"To Hang At Nineteen"

Under the caption, "To Hang At Nineteen," the Dearborn Independent publishes an editorial which should be read by every American citizen.

The Loeb-Leopold case in Chicago is once generally followed by the American people to be at once forgotten. Everybody will remember for awhile that the only excuse the court could give for not ordering the degenerates hanged was their youth. Now another nineteen-year-old boy is about to be hanged in Judge Caverly's and Mr. Darrow's town.

But read the Independent's editorial, and pass it on to your neighbors to read. That paper says:

"Complications have already arisen in the Loeb-Leopold case, as far as it affects public opinion. A boy from 'back of the yards,' poor and friendless and not a 'super-intellect,' who has not even pleaded guilty as Loeb and Leopold did but who strenuously asserts his innocence and who has been exculpated by the criminal who first implicated his name—this boy is sentenced to hang in October.

"Every argument made in behalf of mercy for the Leopold-Leopold duet applies with manifold force to Bernard Grant. The sons of the two richest Jews in Chicago confessed they were guilty; this son of a Christian mother 'back of the yards,' who has supported his family since he was fourteen, has always protested his innocence. Yet the rich men's sons go to prison and to eventual parole, while the poor woman's son goes 'into the night,' to quote Clarence Darrow.

"Leopold and Loeb will be paroled as surely as the sun shines. Any governor of Illinois can pardon them. In the not distant future a man will be made governor of Illinois on the specific promise to pardon them. By that time the public will have forgotten. But, if October's sentence is executed, Bernard Grant will be beyond the reach of human mercy.

"Where are the alienists at this juncture? Where is Clarence Darrow with his long and moving pleas for mercy? Where are the millions of the Loeb and Leopold families? Where is the judicial decision that set forth the points in Bernard Grant's case?

"All three boys are of the same age—nineteen—but Loeb and Leopold were too young for hanging!

"This is no plea for hanging anybody. Hanging is far too final a thing for man to take in his hands for the horrible for anyone to plead for.

"But who will plead for Bernard Grant? Again, where is Clarence Darrow? He has defended poor men before, but for rich retainers from unions and other organizations. What can he do, for the sake of the public conscience, in Bernard Grant's case, without a fee?

"It is a queer turn of fate that the whole stability of the Loeb-Leopold sentence in the public mind is going to turn upon the fate of a poor boy from 'back of the yards.'"

Manners By Precept And Example

One of the syndicate writers uses the subject, "Suggestions On Manners" as a theme for an interesting article. "Manners are worth dollars and cents," he begins. "They make or mar a career."

And he closes the article with a suggestion that might be followed in Sanford, and in every other town in the country. The suggestion is that a Parent-Teacher program be made up of papers and talks of the following topics:

- 1. What is "Manners"? By a mother.
2. Why teach Manners? By a business man.
3. How teach Manners? By a preacher.

Just why the writer named these particular persons to discuss the subjects he assigns them is not altogether clear, unless, as he indicates elsewhere in the article, manners are taught "by precept and example" and since it is the parents of children who are to be taught, it is the parents who should discuss them.

The last statement is especially true. We thought of something like that not long ago when we saw a laughing-eyed boy charged into the main street of our little town. He was about eight years old. He was wearing a hat who undertook to teach him a lesson in manners. He had neglected to "take" with him at home.

They came into the restaurant, the mother and the little boy, both smiling. It was only a plain restaurant. The boy had dressed in his Sunday best, and if ever a child tried to "make" his mother, he did it at that strategic moment. But he drank his soup noiseily. His mother took a look at him all over the room, scolded him for that. His face flamed and he "ate" no more soup. Next to put his feet into his mouth on his knife. His mother talked loudly again about how he was failing to show his "train." A dozen other things he did wrong, and his mother scolded him roundly. His eyes brimming with tears he kept steadfastly turned down to his plate, and he ate nothing. Finally the pair left the restaurant, his mother evidently believing she had done her duty by her child.

Had the boy been taught "the precept and example" at home, his manners in the restaurant would have been all right. The mother, by her nagging, exposed her own inefficiency, and her own mean spirit. She was cruel. She tortured that little boy. And she wore so self-righteous an air, so smug, and so disgusting to the others in that restaurant pitying the ill-treated child!

Precept and example, especially example, that is the best teaching of manners. And as the syndicate writer says: "Happy is that home and school in which children are taught and shown in love, and in which every member treats the others as its honored guests."

COOLIDGE FORGOT HARDING

KNOXVILLE SENTINEL

Mr. Coolidge took over the administration of Mr. Harding with the good will and all of its assets. When he succeeded him in the Presidency, adopted his cabinet, and I pledged myself to carry out the Harding policies, and yet in his acceptance speech he neglected to mention Mr. Harding's name. Did Mr. Coolidge come to be ashamed of his predecessor or was it merely his aim to appropriate all the boasted achievements of the administration for himself?

Mr. William J. Bryan calls attention to this singular omission. "Mr. Davis paid an eloquent tribute to Mr. Wilson" in his acceptance speech, Mr. Bryan says, while Mr. Coolidge made no mention whatsoever of the man whose tragic death opened the door of the White House to its present occupant. Why this unexpected slight? The Republican convention paid its compliments to Mr. Harding, as did both the Temporary and Permanent Chairmen." Mr. Bryan quoted the Chicago Herald-Examiner's criticism of Mr. Coolidge's silence as to Mr. Harding as a "strange and ominous omission."

He Didn't Kill Her. Japan Ready in 3 Years. MRK Staff. BY ARTHUR BRISBANE (Copyright 1924)

AFTER SIXTEEN years of happy married life, I allowed my wife to join the other man without trouble, because I loved her.

So says Dr. Alfred Lawrence Hall Quest, an educated, civilized man. What he does now was done years ago by Roskin.

MANY "THE MEN" in our land will denounce such a course as pusillanimous, beneath the dignity of a two-blooded American.

Such forgiveness should seem strange also to the old-time Indian war. He, according to Montezuma, started his faithless wife to an extent to be tortured.

THE BALANCE of American manly opinion, probably, would be in favor of the gentleman that "killed" his wife, as Orbelo did on mere suspicion, or the energetic gentleman that hit her over the head with an axe when his sacred duty so demanded.

It is not easy to decide what civilization and right conduct really mean.

THE JAPANESE look ahead. Mr. G. Grey, manager of editor of the Asahi, a world British newspaper, said yesterday: "The Japanese near to the Pacific."

And they know that it can be done through the air. Several years ago they had a number of "Engagement" papers and "Wedding" papers, and now they are "Engagement" and "Wedding" papers.

The Japanese are not only the most advanced of the world, but they are also the most advanced of the world.

HEARD AT THE CHURCHES

GRATITUDE

At the Presbyterian Church Sunday morning the subject was "Gratitude," and the Scripture lesson was selected from Luke 17:11-20—the Healing of the Ten Lepers. Dr. Brownlee said in part: "In this lesson from the Berean Ministry of our Lord Jesus, the Healing of the Ten Lepers, the central teaching is the grace of gratitude. When these ten were commanded to start to the priests to be declared clean and well, when they began the journey they were lepers still, but they knew enough to obey what Jesus said. When he said 'go show yourselves unto the priests' they each obeyed. And their bodies were made clean and well. Due to a custom which obtained at that period a leper was required to keep away from all other persons not so afflicted, and could not approach nearer than 100 cubits, or about 200 feet to any clean person, without crying, 'unclean.' And when a leper had been healed of his disease, it was required that he present himself before the priests and be declared by them as well and fit to again mingle with his family and other associates. So, when Jesus commanded the Ten Lepers to go to the priests they went, and as they went, their bodies were made well and clean. They were healed by obeying. It's that way always—we can't expect blessings unless we obey and act on the word.

But of the Ten Lepers, nine went on their way after being healed, and only one returned to display real gratitude. Now the beauty of gratitude as a virtue has impressed man in every age, not alone Christian people but even the pagans. Cicero declared gratitude to be the mother of the virtues.

Perhaps most of us are familiar with the story of Androcles, the Roman slave who escaped from bondage and secreted himself in a cave. He fell asleep and was awakened to discover a grown lion entering the cave. Androcles expected the lion to devour him but was surprised when the great beast held up a paw in which was a thorn. This thorn the slave removed. The story continues to the effect that the lion made no move to attack Androcles but that they lived together in the cave until one day the slave was recaptured by his former owner who decided to feed Androcles to the wild beast in the arena, in accordance with the ugly custom of that day.

A cage was opened and a monster came upon Androcles. Instead of devouring the man, the lion leaped upon him, licking his hands and feet. It was the lion of the cave, and out of gratitude toward Androcles for his help, it would offer him no harm. And, of course, do not know whether this is a literally true story but it serves powerfully to illustrate this particular virtue.

On the steamship Paris, after a perilous voyage and narrow escape from destruction in a violent storm, the passengers assembled and passed a resolution extending their thanks and appreciation of the courage, skill and devotion to duty of the captain, officer and crew of the steamer. They were profoundly grateful to these for their safe passage. A few among the passengers finally rose and said: "Follow passengers we did well to commend these men as we have done, for they denied themselves rest and sleep and even food, in our behalf. They did nobly and well. But it seems that in expressing our gratitude for our preservation, no thanks have been extended to the chief one to whom thanks are due. No one is true to God if he does not give thanks for blessings enjoyed. This Jew on the steamship, rather than the Christians present was the one to remember God.

One of the colleges at Oxford has managed to inculcate something of this Grace of Gratitude among its people. In accordance with an ancient custom, in vogue when the college was founded, all banquets are eaten from wooden plates. In this way do the students show their remembrance and appreciation of the sacrifice and self-denial of those who established the college.

Although the life of the poet, Burns, leaves much to be desired from a Christian viewpoint, he has left us many good thoughts in his works. I am reminded of what Burns said about his subject of Gratitude in his "Lament for James, the Earl of Glencairn": "The bridegroom may forget the bride. Was made his wedded wife yesternight. The monarch may forget the crown. That on his head an hour has been. That smiles so sweetly on her knee; But I'll remember thee, Glencairn. And a' that than hast done for me!"

The latter years of the life of Robert Louis Stevenson, the novelist, were spent on Vailima, Samoa, and he was buried there, on the island he loved so well. He had a great love and a great friendship for the natives and many times befriended them when they needed help. When certain chiefs of the natives who had been in prison and who had been befriended by Stevenson were given their liberty they set about building some kind of a memorial to testify to their love and esteem for Stevenson. They constructed a road and at a certain curve in it they erected a sign, or tablet, on which was written: "The Road of the Loving Heart. In Remembrance of the Great Kindness and Love We Have Felt This Road as an Age Long Rememberance of His Kindness."

Now all this is in direct contrast to the actions of the nine lepers who went on their way healed but not expressing their thanks. But these nine men were not like the most of us. In the first chapter of Isaiah we hear "The ox knoweth his owner, and the ass his master's crib, but Israel doth not know his people, neither hath he called on his name." Now, why do we all have to fight this thing, "gratitude"? Why are we ungrateful?

I think we can divide the answer into two principal reasons. The thoughtlessness. In so many cases it is nothing but sheer thoughtlessness. But the matter goes deeper,—the reason the nine failed was. (Continued on Page 4)

HIGH SCHOOL GRID COACH DEPLORES LACK EQUIPMENT

Coach Kenneth Hait Declares Situation is Serious and Calls Upon Citizens For Support High School Team

Deploing the lack of uniforms and proper equipment for the Sanford High School football team, Coach Kenneth B. Hait, today issued a statement regarding the very serious condition which the local team faces today.

The coach's statement was as follows: "Sanford has no cause to be ashamed of the football team that represented its high school last Saturday. The score, 106 to 0, sounds and is big but it gives no idea of the fight that the Sanford boys put up."

"Many do not know the team that was sent out and its comparative size with the team that represents Bartow. The average weight of the Sanford eleven, will reach 113 or 150; that of the Bartow eleven reaches 176 or one pound more than the Stetson Varsity. In the first quarter two of the main backfield men were injured. Both men were to have done the punting for Sanford and Peck, the quarterback and Captain left the team almost without a leader."

"It was an uphill fight and the boys stayed in the game until they had to be carried out. Outweighed and outplayed they fought until the last whistle blew."

"Sanford should be proud of her boys. They are as eager to try again as though never defeated. Their spirit is to stay with it until material can be trained for a championship team. It may take a few years but each wants to be here when it takes the field against the whole state. In the meantime Sanford must back the team. Perhaps few know what the High School Athletic Association faces this year."

"The Association took over old equipment that had not been paid for and was worth about $125 and at the same time took over the bill for the extent of $500. Without enough equipment for a team it came necessary to order some new material. Even then, through the necessity of economizing in sufficient shoes, pants and some other material has been produced. The team went on the field Saturday with misfitting shirts, torn, wet breeches and sweat shorts for jerseys in some cases."

"Has Sanford backed its team? The question can be answered by the business men and people. Meet men turn beggars in order to make people provide their own children with protection and equipment? Sanford must back her boys. They are boys to be proud of."

TRAIL BLAZERS AT CAPITAL

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., Oct. 13.—The Tamiami Trail Blazers' party from Fort Myers, a score or more strong, which has been planning for some time to visit the capital city and take part in the centennial celebration, is expected to reach here on Sunday, Nov. 9, according to word received from the City of Palma. The party, it is stated, plans to leave Fort Myers Friday morning, Nov. 7, spend the night at Sulphur Springs, and on the second day go as far as Lake City where the second night (Saturday) will be spent, and the remainder of the trip made Sunday morning.

Miss Blanche White Assisting In Work At Special Meetings

The coming of Miss Blanche Byrd White of Birmingham is regarded as epochal in the women's work of the First Baptist Church.

Miss White's time is claimed very largely by the colleges, universities and the associates of the of her time in the Southern Baptist Convention. Some of her time is also given to addresses and conference work in state conventions. The First Baptist Church feels fortunate to be able to secure Miss White for this week.

There will be two classes conducted by Miss White. One will be conducted each afternoon 3.30, and the other each evening 6.45. Mothers who contemplate attending the afternoon session are asked to have their children come direct from school to the church. Miss White will give some time each afternoon to the boys and girls.

The First Baptist Church invites the women and girls of the city to meet and hear Miss White.

GENIAL AND SAFE

(From the Washington Star) "Do you think a campaigner should be expected to shake hands with the crowd?"

"For my own part," answered Senator Borah, "I do. I'd rather shake hands than go on making speeches. It's just as friendly and more non-committal."

The Davenport Board of Trade won the John L. Wallace cup for the largest number of points per capita in the post card campaign sponsored by the Florida Development Board and the Florida Association of Real Estate Boards with an average of 125 points per capita from a population of 328. The Clermont Chamber of Commerce who won the Wallace cup last year was second with an average of 109 points per capita from a population of 866.

The Orlando Realty Board won the Florida Development Board cup for the largest total number of points with 152,341. A large number of the commercial organizations and realty boards throughout the state sponsored local post card campaigns during the week and each of the communities will receive the full benefit of advertising accruing from the mailing of those post cards bearing invitations to people in other states to come to Florida.

The Florida State Hotel Association heartily endorsed the post card campaign and urged their members to co-operate in the various communities.

Boxer-Jockey Makes Good at Recent Races

CINCINNATI, Oct. 13.—From the squared arena to the sporting silks of a racetrack is the route taken by Dannie McAuliffe, the Louisville, Ky., boxer-jockey who is riding at the Latonia racetrack.

McAniffie decided the thrills derived from the galloping of thoroughbred horses more interesting than the thumps received in the ring. A year ago he laid aside the gloves that fitted a bantam-weight and entered the Kentucky plant as stable boy.

McAniffie's first big chance came at the recent Raceland meeting. He was one of the outstanding riders and scored an average of more than two winners duty with a record of 70 places in 120 starts. On one occasion he rode in all seven races, finished first four times, placed in two and finished third in the other.

He is only 21 years old and in ten fights around Louisville gave a good account of his ability and was known as a heady performer in the ring. His headwork already has displayed itself on the track.

Mary Pickford Will Be Seen Here in "Rosita"

Mary Pickford, "America's Sweetheart," will be seen today and tomorrow at the Princess Theatre in her greatest triumph, entitled "Rosita." Many local admirers of the noted screen actress, will welcome her in the role, said to be peculiarly fitted for her.

Miss Pickford spent months in filming "Rosita" and the production has cost thousands of dollars, it is said. The star is supported by a cast that was especially picked for this picture.

The Princess is also offering a Harold Lloyd comedy, "Let's Go," which is said to be a scream from start to finish.

NORTH FLORIDA CITY IS ALMOST ISOLATED FROM

According to a report issued by the Good Roads Committee of the local Chamber of Commerce, the way to reach the lower East Coast from Sanford is by way of Orlando, Winter Garden, Clermont, Groveland, Auburndale thence to Haines City. From Haines City travel is directed to Sebring. Two routes lead from that place to Okeechobee City. It is reported that both routes are rough, but county officials have maintenance crews at work, keeping the roads in passable condition.

The only way to get to Jacksonville, the road bulletin said, is via Orlando, Apopka, Leesburg, Gainesville and Lake City.

Gun Schmah has returned from an extended trip to New York. He was accompanied home by Arthur Hechman, son of the late John Hechman, prominent real estate man of New York City, and William Hunter of Mount Vernon, N. Y., who will make Sanford his future home.

PRISON FARM AT RAIFORD HAS 1,400 PRISONERS

Over Three Hundred New Prisoners Received During First 9 Months of Year; 94 Prisoners Are Released

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., Oct. 13.—Ninety-four more prisoners left the state prison during the first nine months of this year than were received, according to state prison records. This number includes escapes, discharges and pardons and paroles, while those who were received were new prisoners and recaptures.

The records show that the total number of discharged on account of the prisoners having served their time was 279. Seventy-five others were granted conditional pardons and paroles, while 83 more escaped from the various road camps and from the state prison farm.

On the other side of the ledger, the figures show that 323 new prisoners were received for the first nine months of the year. Twenty more who escaped in previous years were recaptured, bringing the net total received up to 343.

There is a total of approximately 1,400 prisoners confined at the State Prison Farm at Raiford and in the thirty odd camps where the No. 1 (those in best physical condition) men are sent to work on the state's rapidly growing state-wide road system.

It was stated only a few days ago that September was one of the best months the prison department has experienced for sometime in the matter of escapes. Only four prisoners got away during that month and to offset these escapes there who had previously escaped were recaptured.

ANATOLE FRANCE FAMOUS WRITER, PASSES AWAY

The writings of Anatole France are known for their imaginative and delicate grace, the simplicity of his style and its beautiful transparency. Of imagination France once said: "It is the imagination with its lies, that sows all the beauty and the virtue in the world. We are great only through our imagination."

France was a great French literary buster, yet at the same time a very human man, given to gossip, serene, hearty about weighty matters, to talk about small things, light-hearted, kindly and just and a most charming conversationalist. Thus he came to be called "le bon maitre" by his friends.

France achieved his wonderful mastery of the French language by hard work. It is related of him that his first proofs, from the printer were only the beginning. He rewrote his matter time and time again, "weeding" as he called it, and changing sentences, paragraphs, and with the shears changing the position and sequence of sentences. It is a matter of fact, said to a friend, "of tearing up the copy that," which "whores" it of which, "of whom?"

"There, my young friend, give a stiff-necked man to the best styles. Banish also the semi-colon, that bastard period which is neither period nor comma. It was exactly the thing for an age of comb-musts, harangues, and funeral orations. It marked a rest before the period. Now we are in the age of telephone and the telegraph. Shorten a sentence whenever you can. And one always can. The most beautiful sentence" The shortest!

selfishness. They suddenly found themselves restored in body and all their temporal hopes and ambitions were at once revived.

Self dominated them and they returned not to Jesus to express their gratitude.

I think when we enthroned Jesus Christ in our hearts we go a long way toward destroying ingratitude. The second reason is, Pride—of the ten, only one returned, and he was a Samaritan. Remember, these Jews looked upon themselves as the children of Abraham, as the chosen of God, and they were filled with spiritual pride. This pride caused them to feel they were worthy of every blessing. But one was not so proud. He was the Samaritan. These people had no right to enter the synagogue, nor did they enjoy many of the privileges of the Jews. This all engendered a spirit of humility which in turn caused this Samaritan to turn gratefully to Christ on being healed—to Christ the Great Physician.

I think pride is a great bar to us today. I heard of a certain self-made successful man who made a statement concerning himself and which throws some light on this matter of pride and ingratitude. He said "In all my life I have become indebted to no man in my progress and success." Such a man is a fool if he is telling the truth, which is doubtful. For no one can succeed to a position of prominence or influence without the co-operation and friendship and help of other men. No man succeeds alone.

There is and has always been a certain penalty for this failing. The time were made well and strong of body they received great blessings, blessings money could not buy—but their ingratitude robbed them of the supreme gift, and which the Samaritan received. He not only was restored in his physical body but experienced the joy of fellowship and comradeship with the Lord Jesus. The time received the gift of abundant life—their both this and a blessing in addition infinitely greater.

Paul understood this penalty. We find in Romans 1, he says, "They knew God but acknowledged Him not as God, neither gave thanks, and their senseless hearts were darkened, and they became as the four footed beasts and creeping things."

This penalty has existed in every age in man, ingratitude causes us to miss the first and finest blessing.

My friends, I think one reason the Lord Jesus has given us the record is so all those who are trying to live a Christian life may recognize our opportunities and our obligations, and may cultivate and practice the spirit of thanksgiving.

In the life of our contemporary journalist, Edgar A. Guest, we have a striking example of a man appreciative of his friends. He himself says they have enriched his life. We can show more of a spirit of thankfulness at every turn. He gives them full appreciation of gratitude to those to whom it is due. You children of the congregation, you will never realize how appropriate the sacrifices made in your behalf by your parents, and you are grown and have families of your own. Take this word from your pastor and remember it.

We cannot repay God for what

BE PRETTY! TURN GRAY HAIR DARK

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray.

Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this famous old recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, at a small cost.

Don't stay gray! Try it! No one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy and attractive.
