Calls Khadafy 'Mad Dog Of Middle East'

Reagan Not Yet Ready To Retaliate

By Helen Thomas
UPI White House Reporter

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan, calling Moammar Khadafy "this mad dog of the Middle East," says there is considerable evidence that the Libyan leader is behind terrorism against the United States, but he is not yet ready to retaliate.

At a nationally televised news conference Wednesday — his first since Feb. 11 — Reagan also denied that U.S. naval maneuvers in the Gulf of Sidra were a deliberate attempt to provoke Libya into a military confrontation.

The president, appearing at ease in fielding questions, said the showdown with Libya, during which U.S. planes attacked and knocked out Libyan missile batteries and gunships beginning March 27, was "not a nose-to-nose confrontation you make just to show off."

The news conference occurred the same day U.S. officials said the orders for two aircraft carrier battle groups in the Mediterranean were changed to keep them in the area, with a port visit for one canceled.

Asked about the possibility of retaliation for two recent terrorist attacks — a bomb that exploded in a TWA airliner flying from Rome to Athens and killed four Americans, and the explosion in a West Berlin discotheque that killed a U.S. serviceman and a Turkish woman — Reagan made clear he was still gathering evidence before taking any action.

Reagan said there was "considerable evidence" that Khadafy was promoting terrorism but added, "We're continuing our intelligence work. ... We're not ready yet to speak on that. It depends on what we learn. We're gathering evidence as fast as we can."

However, CBS News late Wednesday reported that "High U.S. officials, who asked not to be identified, told CBS News tonight that what they called a 'surgical and proportional' military retaliation for possible use against Libya has been approved by President Reagan."

Asked about the report, administration officials cautioned that such action was not in the works at present.

Libya has "singled us out for more and more" for terrorist attacks, Reagan said, adding: "This mad dog of the Middle East (Khadafy) has a goal of world revolution. Muslim fundamentalist revolution, which is targeted on many of his own Arab compatriots. And where we figure in that, I don't know. Maybe we're just the enemy because — it's a little like climbing Mount Everest — because we're here."

When a reporter suggested that "you don't poke a polecat" on grounds that military retaliation only begets more violence, Reagan said: "Everyone is entitled to call him whatever animal they want, but I think he's more than a

Khadafy Set To 'Escalate' Attacks On U.S. Targets

TRIPOLI, Libya (UPI) — Libyan leader Moammar Khadafy said he is prepared to "escalate the violence against American targets" if the United States uses the recent bombings of a Berlin nightclub and a TWA plane as an excuse to attack Libya.

At a news conference Wednesday, Khadafy again denied any involvement in the two bomb attacks and warned that U.S. retaliatory strikes against Libya could lead to a U.S.-Soviet confrontation.

The Libyan leader, dressed in a black beret and full military uniform, said the Soviet Union would enter a U.S.-Libyan conflict, "depending on their evaluation of the situation."

"The Soviet Union will not stand by with its hands tied during a widespread war involving a superpower," he said. "We are friends of the Soviet Union. We have an agreement for consultation and to coordinate efforts during times of dangerous conflict."

Commissioner Makes Delivery

Lake Mary City Commissioner Buzz Petros was 40 minutes late to Wednesday's 5:30 p.m. work session between developers, commissioners, and county officials at Lake Mary city hall because he had to make a delivery.

When he finally arrived, his shirt pocket was stuffed with cigars.

He got a phone call from his mother at about 1:30 Wednesday afternoon. She said his sister had gone into labor. His sister, Melissa Georgiades had taken her husband, John, to a Sanford car, nose, and throat doctor for treatment of earache. She had to drive because her husband was unable to keep his balance due to his ear infection, Petros said. While at the doctor's, she went into labor.

Petros quickly drove to the Sanford office, and picked up the couple, for a trip to Winter Park Memorial Hospital.

Petros and the Georgiades arrived at the hospital at 2:30, about a half hour before 6-pound, 1-ounce Sophia Anne was born.

"I was tempted to honk at a couple of police cars I saw, and ask them to help us get to the hospital fast," Petros said. "She was laying on the back seat, and I was trying to coach her breathing. I don't want (Seminole County) Sheriff John Polk to know what kind of time I made on the way to the hospital," he said.

Mayor Dick Fess interrupted the meeting long enough to offer congratulations to Petros, who handed him a cigar.

"I have a new constituent," Petros beamed. — Paul Schoeber

Boulevard Widening To Pave Way For Developments

By Paul Schoeber
Herald Staff Writer

Seminole County's widening of Lake Mary Boulevard is expected to begin in the summer of 1988, which will pave the way for four planned Developments of Regional Impact, three of which will be within the Lake Mary City limits, while the fourth is outside but near the city. All will impact traffic in the region.

Lake Mary city commissioners, the developers and county officials attended the Wednesday evening work session at Lake Mary City Hall to hear Seminole County Engineer Jerry McCollum explain the county's plans for the boulevard. Widening of the road is a requirement for the developments.

The four planned developments include: Lake Mary Center, in Seminole County, a 300,000 square-foot shopping center located on the southeast corner of Lake Emma Road and Lake Mary Boulevard; Primera, a retail, commercial, and office development located on the northeast corner of Lake Mary Boulevard and Rinehart Road, near Interstate 4 in Lake Mary; Timacuan, a 643.8-acre golf and country club which will include nearly 1,100 residential dwelling units near I-4 between Crystal Lake and Paola Road in Lake Mary; and North Point, a 187-acre office complex site at the southeast corner of I-4 and Lake Mary Boulevard in Lake Mary.

According to McCollum's report to commissioners and developers, phase one of the widening of the boulevard is projected to begin in the summer of 1988. Phase one will include widening between Markham Woods Road and Country Club Road. The road will be widened to four lanes, with the exception of the section between Rinehart Road and I-4, which McCollum said will be six lanes.

In 1990, widening to four lanes will begin on the phase two section, between Country Club Road and U.S. Highway 17-92, McCollum said.

He added that the state Department of Transportation would widen the Lake Mary Boulevard-Interstate 4 exchange, which Lake Mary City Manager Kathy Rice said was expected to begin in December of 1988.

The entire widening project is expected to cost an estimated $50 million dollars, funded partially by impact fees assessed by the county on the four developers, McCollum said. He added that the cost to the county for design of roadways in the area will be $700,000.

Lake Mary commissioners expressed their wish that the transportation impact fees collected by the county would be used to improve roads that will be effected in the area by the increased traffic.

"The money (impact fees) collected here has to be spent here in the area impacted," Lake Mary Mayor Dick Fess said.

"That is the county's intention," McCollum responded.

Commissioners were also concerned with inequities in traffic each project will be allowed to generate during construction. Primera is permitted

Signal 3 Duck

Lake Mary's traffic homicide investigator probed a fowl crime Wednesday afternoon.

According to a police report, an object flew into and shattered the window of a small pickup truck at 2 p.m. on Lake Mary Boulevard, near the Lake Road intersection.

The driver of the car, William Franklin Fowler, 54, Casselberry was not injured, but called police. Patrolman David Preiser, also the city's traffic homicide investigator, was on duty at the time and responded to the call.

His report indicates the "instrument" used to damage the window was a duck. Feathers were found embedded in the windshield, the report says.

The duck did not appear to be seriously injured, and escaped capture, a department spokesman said.

"The duck just waddled away," Fowler told Preiser. There was no immediate word on whether a signal 3 (hit and run) bulletin was issued for the culprit.

Crew Cabin Intact After Explosion

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) — Challenger's nose section, including the crew cabin, emerged roughly intact from the fireball of the shuttle's exploding fuel tank and smashed into the Atlantic 9 miles below in a large chunk, officials say.

At the Marshall Space Flight Center in Huntsville, Ala., today, at least three members of the presidential disaster commission were expected to begin reviewing preliminary results of NASA's 2-month-long accident investigation.

A formal report to the whole panel is expected by April 18 and the commission.

In turn, is scheduled to report to President Reagan in early June.

At a news briefing at Kennedy Space Center Wednesday, Terry Armentrout, an investigator with the National Transportation Safety Board, said the forward section of the shuttle "was most likely broken off during the initial breakup that you've all seen."

Standing in front of a large piece of Challenger's outer skin that once surrounded the reinforced crew cabin, Armentrout said there was little flame damage and that the nose section apparently fell to the water in one large piece.

He said the forward fuselage wreckage did not "float down" from the sky like lighter pieces of debris.

"It indicates that the outer shell did not fall all by itself and strike the water and sustain the damage that we have," he said. "It had to have some mass inside. The obvious mass is the crew module."

But he did not discuss how intact the nose section and crew cabin may have been before smashing into the water after break-

Apartment Set Ablaze

Maitland Dad Shoots Son, 6, Then Self

A Maitland man and his 6-year-old son were found dead Wednesday of an apparent murder and suicide.

Maitland police spokesman Dave Robb said Jose Juan Del Moral, 39, set fire to his Maitland Shores apartment, 308 Lake Ave., shot his son, Andrea, and then shot himself.

Del Moral's breakup with his girlfriend and his losing custody of their son apparently prompted the incident, during which witnesses reported they heard two gunshots and an explosion after which they saw smoke coming from one of the apartments.

A large amount of flammable liquid and a gun were found in Del Moral's apartment, which fire officials described as heavily damaged. Firemen were called to the scene about 3 p.m. to fight the fire.

It appeared that Del Moral, who later died at Winter Park Hospital, had shot his son in the head and then fatally wounded himself, Robb said. The youth also suffered second-degree burns and was dead on arrival at Florida Hospital — Orlando.

The police spokesman said law officers were called to the apartments Saturday to stand by as Del Moral's girlfriend, Janice Locatelli, 28, moved out. She was not injured in the incident Wednesday.

Officials said the boy had recently moved with his mother to another apartment in the complex, but was staying with the apartment manager's family while she was at work.

Damage from the fire was confined to Del Moral's apartment.

Blacks Disavow Complaint About School Zoning

Black members of the county-wide middle school zone task force say concerns of the black community were raised and considered during the drawing of the new middle school attendance zones. They say a letter to Superintendent of Schools Robert Hughes from Lake Mary resident William Morris, signed by 18 others, claiming that the "quality of education at Lakeview (Middle School)... will be significantly downgraded" under the recommended plan, is the first they have heard of any black discord.

Morris' letter said, "The black neighborhoods assigned to Lakeview have been altered under the plan. This plan has shifted middle class blacks, as well as middle class whites, from Lakeview to Greenwood Lakes, leaving Lakeview to become a school for poor blacks and poor whites."

"The letter is a definite surprise, and not representative of the black community. Influential black leaders in the community have not expressed any problems with the plan," zone task force member and Milwee Middle School principal, Willie Holt said. "Lakeview will not be a school for poor blacks and poor whites. It's not true."

"I don't think it's a black-white situation at all.

We're concerned about the children and education, and what's best for the kids," he continued. "If there were a problem, the school board would have heard from the county's black leaders," he said.

"No one is happy when their children have to be bused," task force parent representative Phyllis Richardson said, "but we had to come up with a plan to meet the federal court's desegregation order."

"I would like to know where Mr. Morris was

NATION IN BRIEF

Lawsuit Delayed Against Genetically Engineered Virus

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Environmentalist Jeremy Rifkin has delayed filing a lawsuit against the Agriculture Department to allow the government to reconsider its decision to suspend a genetically engineered swine vaccine for only two weeks.

Rifkin, president of the Foundation on Economic Trends, said Wednesday that the two-week suspension is too short a time to conduct a full environmental impact study, which he will demand in his lawsuit.

But instead of filing the suit Wednesday, he said he will wait until Monday.

"We're going to give them a chance to reconsider," he said.

On Tuesday, in response to a Rifkin petition demanding the license be suspended or revoked, the department announced a two-week suspension of the vaccine's license in order to conduct an environmental impact study.

In January, the department's Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service quietly licensed the live virus vaccine for use against pseudorabies, a sometimes-fatal swine virus, without taking it to the department's Recombinant DNA Research Committee. Other department officials have criticized that action.

The licensee, Biologics Corp. of Omaha, Neb., voluntarily agreed to the temporary suspension.

Eased Gun Control On Way?

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House, ignoring warnings from police to keep guns out of the hands of criminals, defeated a measure banning the interstate sale of handguns and cleared the way for easing the nation's gun control law.

Voting 248-176, lawmakers rejected pleas Wednesday from supporters of strict gun control laws and laid the groundwork for another vote today on a bill that would ease federal statutes for the first time in 17 years.

Lawmakers were expected to vote on the bill sponsored by Rep. Harold Volkmer, D-Mo., and backed by the powerful National Rifle Association that would allow interstate sales of handguns, rifles and shotguns, and ease record-keeping requirements for 250,000 gun dealers. A similar measure was approved by the Senate last summer.

The bill would be the first change in the 1968 Gun Control Act, passed in reaction to the assassinations of Martin Luther King Jr. and Robert Kennedy.

In a daylong session Wednesday, the House became a battleground in an often bitter debate over gun laws with the NRA lined up on one side of the issue and police groups on the other.

Opponents of easing the gun control law said the NRA had often "bullied and pressured" members. In 1984, the NRA contributed $1.4 million to congressional campaigns.

Doctors Issue AIDS Warning

BOSTON (UPI) — The case of a man who caught AIDS through "traditional sexual practices" from a woman who lived next door prompted doctors today to repeat cautions that the deadly virus can be spread by heterosexual contact.

Dr. L.H. Calabrese of the Cleveland Clinic Foundation co-authored a letter to The New England Journal of Medicine detailing how a man developed AIDS after having sex with a widow who had caught the disease from her bisexual husband.

Calabrese said in a telephone interview the case was significant because it differed from others "that have been shrouded with doubt."

"There was always the question of the male being a closet bisexual or a drug addict," he said.

"Also, the nature of the contact has always been lacking. Was there any quote 'perverse' sexual activity going on? For those people who think it requires some extraordinary activity, this should serve as a reminder that the normal sexual activity is enough to transmit the disease," he said.

LaRouche Takes On Media

WASHINGTON (UPI) — After two decades of political obscurity, Lyndon LaRouche held perhaps the biggest news conference of his career — and he went on the offensive.

Standing before about 100 journalists at the National Press Club, LaRouche said Wednesday he represents "the forgotten majority" and is under attack by those who are pro-Soviet and linked to the international drug lobby.

At times bristling at questioners — he even cut off a few reporters — LaRouche also dismissed as lies charges by groups such as the Anti-Defamation League and the AFL-CIO that he is an "anti-Semite" and a "fascist."

He said, "I know of no case of any attack on me, which has been published or which I have noticed in the news media, which did not originate with the drug lobby or with the Soviet operation."

Committee Adopts Anti-Apartheid Bill

By Jane Sutton
TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — The anti-apartheid bill approved by a House committee will condemn South Africa's racist policy while protecting the state's obligation to seek maximum returns on pension trust funds, the committee chairman said.

The House Retirement, Personnel and Collective Bargaining Committee adopted a bill Wednesday requiring American companies doing business in South Africa to denounce apartheid and work toward fair employment or risk losing $2 billion in Florida trust fund investments.

The bill (HB59) is a watered down version of one that would have required the divestiture of all Florida trust fund monies in companies doing business in South Africa.

It would create the Florida Anti-Apartheid Act and also would apply to companies doing business in Namibia. A similar bill limiting state investment in Northern Ireland was sent back to a subcommittee on a technicality.

Under the act, American companies would be required to advocate the peaceful dismantling of the apartheid system and subscribe to the Sullivan principles, six employment-related principles calling for equal employment, nonsegregation, equal pay and other improvements in South Africa.

Companies would be encouraged to seek the highest compliance ranking under those principles, and those that fail to show significant improvement within two years would risk losing investments from Florida trust funds.

Even then, the state Board of Administration would be barred from divesting the money if doing so would lower the fund's worth. The board has authority over $10.5 billion in pension funds, and about $2 billion of that is invested in companies that do business in South Africa, said Dr. Jay Yelton, the board's executive director.

Rep. Walter Young, D-Pembroke Pines, the committee chairman, said the amended bill would preserve the state's aim of gaining the best return on its money while sending a message to the South African government.

"We ought to condemn them for what they're doing down there, but we have to watch what we're doing economically," Young said.

The only committee member to vote against the bill was Rep. Dorothy Sample, R-St. Petersburg.

The committee did not vote on the bill because it had not previously been voted on by a subcommittee. Although there had not been a subcommittee vote on the South Africa bill, the issue was not raised until after the committee vote was called.

Zoning Board Splits On 7-Eleven

The Southland Corporation's request for a proposed 7-Eleven convenience store subdivision review was approved by a 3-2 vote by Lake Mary's Planning and Zoning Board Tuesday night.

The subdivision review was for approval of the plan with additional land that has been purchased by Southland for the store, planned at the intersection of Rinehart Road between Lake Mary Boulevard and Sun Drive. Southland has purchased additional property for access off of Sun Drive, and that parcel needed to be subdivided from a larger piece of land.

Board Chairman Jim Talmadge, and members Clay Simmons and John Percy voted in favor of the sub-division of the land, while members Penny Gunn and Al Wichman voted no. Gunn and Wichman were concerned with the impact on traffic flow, water retention, and improvements to Sun Drive, issues which Talmadge feels will be addressed later in the permitting process.

The store has been planned for at least two years, according to city official Stanley Welling. He said the initial requested change of zoning for the property from agricultural to commercial use was in August of 1984, and the site plan was initially reviewed in March of 1985.

Several residents in the area were concerned about the proposed store.

"Why do we have to have so many convenience stores so close together?" questioned Marie Hooper, saying that there are several similar stores in the area.

"We're not here to decide if there should be another store," Talmadge replied. "We're here to see if the land is zoned properly and the project meets all the city's requirements."

"How will this subdivision affect the quality of my life?" nearby resident Lynn Taylor asked.

"It's an improvement over other things that could have been there," Talmadge responded.

"I would much rather like to pass an office closed for the day than a store when I come home from work," Mrs. Taylor responded.

Southland representative Rich Hall said the store would have no access on Rinehart Road, even though the store is planned to front on the road. Traffic will enter the property from Sun Drive, he said.

The request for sub-division will be sent to the city commission for official action.

In other board recommendations approved unanimously and sent to the city commission: Charles and Dorothy Swann's request for subdivision for a second parcel zoned single family residential, to build a second home; site plan review in an area zoned heavy commercial, and office and light industrial for construction of an industrial office and warehouse east of I-4 and west of Skyline Drive. The proposed four building Sun Tech complex will include 60,000 square feet of office space, and 70,000 square feet of warehouse space.

Requests for hearings on the proposed development orders for Developments of Regional Impacts North Point and Timacuan were delayed until April 16.

Trustees Approve Rich Plan Course

Trustees of Seminole Community College unanimously approved Tuesday a special course for the course was made by Suzanne Tesinsky, SCC dean of vocational education.

SCC will receive a $13,024 state grant from the Sunshine State Skills Act, and a matching amount from the Sanford-based wholesale food distributor, The Rich Plan, to present a course for Rich Plan employees.

The State Board of Community Colleges of the Department of Education recently notified SCC that the grant is to be awarded to the college. The act is designed to provide incentives for business and industry to move to Florida and expand operations, thus creating new jobs, or to diversify businesses into other fields, Ms. Tesinsky said.

SCC will provide instructors for the course, while Rich will provide a facility for the class, the food to be used in the training, and the students.

Ms. Tesinsky said the class will deal with salesmanship techniques, marketing, computer concepts, nutritional information, and effectively communicating with the public.

While an implementation date for the program has not been set, it will be completed by December. The board approved the program unanimously.

In other action taken, bids were awarded to the following companies for the purchase of equipment: D.C. Jaeger Corp., Winter Park, $17,575 for computer equipment; Bear Equipment, Longwood, $15,746 for an automotive engine analyzer; Technical Training Aids, Winter Park, $5,950 for an automotive trainer; Beroc, Inc., Nanticoke, Pa., $8,300 for reconditioned food service equipment.

The board approved the following personnel recommendations:

Part-time instructor appointments: Michael Aiken, Fire Science; David Faer, Fire Science; Loretta McAdam, Business; Ruth Matson, Leisure Program; Brenda Person, Social Science; David Rettig, assistant baseball coach.

Full-time staff terminations: Susan Donaldson, secretary, (instruction), resigned effective March 31; Kevin Wright, custodian (maintenance), resigned effective March 31.

Part-time staff appointments: Mary Brown, secretary, Nursing/Allied Health; James Hamilton, custodian, Developmental Division; Marguerite Johnson, clerk, business office; Mary Kristoff, custodian, community service; Wanda Middleton, custodian, maintenance.

Administrative personnel recommended for reappointment for 1986-87 under an annual contract: Fay Brake.

Full-time administrative personnel termination: Marvin Jones, supervisor, Community Services, resigned to retire, effective June 30.

Longwood Attorney Mum On City's Sign Ordinance

By Jane Casselberry
Herald Staff Writer

Longwood City Attorney Gerald Korman told the City Commission at Monday night's meeting it would be "bad procedure" to start talking about the legality of the city's sign ordinance since the mayor and code enforcement officer have been served in a suit challenging it.

Korman, who has been researching the sign ordinance to determine its legality, was scheduled to report Monday night. He said he would rather not get into it at this point because Mayor Larry Goldberg and city Code Enforcement Officer Ed Rossi have been served in a suit brought by Clarence A. Fisher, owner of Red's TV, Longwood.

Fisher is suing the city charging its regulations regarding temporary signs is unconstitutional. Other businesses have also threatened to file suit against the city.

The commission voted unanimously to advertise for a full-time city attorney to take the place of Korman, who has resigned and is filling in until a replacement can be found.

Korman is paid $60 an hour for his legal services. There is $30,000 allocated in this year's budget for legal expenses, but they are higher than anticipated and could amount to $40,000 this year, according to Goldberg.

According to Korman things could even be worse. "This may seem like a lot of money to you, but there are many, many things I don't charge the city for which I could, such as phone calls, if I kept better books," Korman said. "If you hire a (part-time) attorney who is a good bookkeeper, it could run into $60,000 a year."

The commissioners hope to find a full-time lawyer who meets the requirements spelled out in the city charter — five years experience and have lived and practiced in Florida for at least a year — for a lot less than they are now paying for a part-time attorney.

Commissioner June Lormann at first objected to hiring a full-time attorney at this time. "I am not totally against it, but at this time we don't have space or room for a secretary," she said. Commissioner Ed Myers said he agreed with her and added the charter would have to be changed.

Goldberg said, "I don't think we are going to violate the charter to find someone qualified and it will cost more money for a part-time attorney than a full-time one."

Commissioner Harvey Smerilson pointed out a part-time city attorney with his own private law practice might have conflicts, and would not have as much time to devote to city ordinances and government law. Smerilson said the attorney would not need a full-time secretary, just some one to answer the phone.

Bernard Linton, chairman of the city's Land Planning Agency, reminded the commissioners that there would be a "voluminous number of ordinances that have to be radically changed under the state mandate to change the land use plan."

Under other business, the commission:

• Voted to place ordinances increasing water and sewer rates and fees on the agenda for the April 21 meeting.

• Approved Dec. 13 as the date for this year's Christmas Parade at the request of Dale Lily of 415 Valencia Court.

• Set May 5 and 6 as the days city crews will pick up trash (appliances and items not normally taken by refuse collectors) and May 2 and 3 for residents to put their trash in front of their houses.

• Voted unanimously to settle with firemen and police officers on the issue of compensatory time from last year at the rate of 50 cents on a dollar with the payment to be made on Dec. 19 of this year.

• Agreed unanimously to put up street and traffic signs in the Harbour Isle subdivision at the request of residents.

• Voted to get three bids for moving the new city administrator and his family from Pennsylvania and accept the lowest. So far Ronald Waller, who is scheduled to report for work on April 21, has only submitted one bid and that is for $7,500.

Voter Drive Continues

The Voters League of Seminole County is continuing its 1986 voter registration drive which began April 1. The league will be offering opportunities to all of Seminole County's unregistered voters by bringing registrars to strategic locations throughout the county.

The drive is geared toward increasing the number of persons participating in the electoral process. Voter registration, education and transportation to polling places are the major focus of the league's efforts.

A non-profit, non-partisan organization founded in 1976, the league meets the third Wednesday of each month (except December) at 701 Pine Ave., Sanford.

The registration schedule in Sanford for April is as follows: April 12, noon to 6 p.m., 415 E. First St.; April 14, 10 a.m. to 2 p.m., 2460 S. Park Ave.; April 15, 10 a.m. to 2 p.m., 1201 S. Park Ave.; April 16, 7-10 p.m., 300 Sanford Ave.; April 19, 7-10 p.m., 621 Cypress Ave.; and April 25, 1100 W. 13th St., Sanford.

WEATHER

NATIONAL REPORT: Wintry weather returned to much of the nation today, forcing sun worshippers from the Plains to the East Coast who had begun working on their summer tans to haul out the blankets again. Snow mixed with rain stretched from the eastern Great Lakes across the northern and central Appalachians to New England today, and temperatures dropped to freezing or below throughout the Great Lakes. Readings in the 30s extended as far south as Georgia and the Carolinas. Hibbing, Minn., reported a chilly 25 degrees early today, and at Bradford, Pa., and Escanaba, Mich., it was 27. "Most of the nation will have calm, cooler weather," National Weather Service meteorologist Harry Gordon said. "It's just a general cooling trend from the unseasonably warm weather we saw last week. 'It's just nature's way of trying to return to normal.'"

In New Jersey, today's high was expected to reach no higher than the low 40s. Newark had recorded a high of 71 Tuesday. Forecasters predicted highs today in the 60s in Iowa, where less than two weeks ago the mercury soared to 91 in Des Moines and sunbathers flocked to parks hoping to get an early start on their tans. The area hardest hit by the return of the cold was West Virginia, where as much as 9 inches of snow piled up in Canaan Valley Wednesday. Total snowfall at Elkins for the season stood at nearly 112 inches, burying the old record 107.7 inches set in 1970-71.

FLORIDA IN BRIEF

Texas Police Claim Break-Up Of Cocaine Distribution Ring

TAMPA (UPI) — A seven-month investigation has resulted in breaking up an interstate cocaine distribution ring that operated between Miami, Tampa and Houston, according to Hillsborough County Sheriff Walter C. Heinrich.

Law enforcement officers arrested 10 people in Tampa Wednesday, five in Houston and were looking for three in Miami.

Heinrich and State Attorney Bill James said the operation had been based in Tampa since at least 1983 and moved at least $30 million worth of cocaine from Florida to Houston annually.

Heinrich said Spanish-speaking deputies using a court-authorized wire tap, intercepted more than 3,200 calls during a two-month period in which the suspects allegedly arranged cocaine deals between the three cities.

Investigators said cocaine obtained in Miami was transported through Tampa to Houston hidden in the door panels of cars.

Disney To Pay For Injury

WEST PALM BEACH (UPI) — The Walt Disney World Company should pay $64,500 in damages to a woman who claims she hurt her back when thrown from a mock racing car at an amusement park attraction, an appeals panel has ruled.

The 4th District Court of Appeal Wednesday upheld a decision by Broward County Circuit Judge Otis Farrington that Disney pay 86 percent of the $75,000 awarded to Aloyasia Wood Sept. 12, 1984, by a six-member jury. She had asked for $1.5 million in the civil trial.

But the three-judge panel has asked that the state Supreme Court review the case. John Ward, one of Disney's lawyers, said the high court could reduce the assessment against the amusement park company by nearly $64,000.

On Nov. 27, 1971, Wood was tossed from a simulated racing car when she was hit from behind on the "Grand Prix Race Track" ride at Disney World on a Thanksgiving holiday weekend outing with then-fiance Daniel Wood, court records say. She later claimed the accident caused a back injury.

Armed Students Focus Gun Bill

MIAMI (UPI) — In the past five weeks, two fourth-graders and a sixth-grade student have been caught with guns at Dade County schools, officials say.

School records show that police and school security officers have apprehended at least 10 other students with guns in recent months, they said Wednesday.

"South Florida is a virtual armed camp," said educator and former mayoral candidate Marvin Dunn, co-chairman of Dade Citizens for Homerule on Handguns.

The group is seeking to convince the Florida Legislature to retain gun control laws which could be under consideration during the current legislative session.

Lawmakers must decide whether to override Gov. Bob Graham's veto of a 1985 bill that would set up a state-run system of lax licensing and low fees for carrying concealed handguns.

SCC Gets Unusual Donation

Seminole Community College's Board of Trustees accepted an unusual donation from a Deltona doctor to the college's biology department during the board's Tuesday night meeting.

Accepted was a human skeleton, donated by Dr. Julius Sachs.

The bones will be studied by biology classes, conducted under biology department head Ken King, according to SCC President Dr. Earl Weldon.

"The bones have no history," Dr. Weldon said. "They probably came from a medical supply firm, and are marked to show bone structure."

The board also accepted the donation of a used refrigerator, to be used in refrigeration vocational studies.

Board member Garnett White said he hoped the college wouldn't become known for accepting used appliances. "Garbage companies won't even pick them up," he said with a smile. "People will start calling to say they'll donate an appliance if we'll pick it up," he said.

Both donations were accepted by unanimous votes.

Snake's Mistake: Caretaker Not Meal

EL TORO, Calif. (UPI) — Monty the python was "a very, very nice snake" but he made one mistake that cost him his head. He coiled himself around the throat of something smelling deliciously like rabbit — his dotting caretaker's neck.

Kathy Cramer, 26, said Monday the 12-foot snake apparently smelled fresh rabbit on her hands and mistook her for a meal.

"Monty was a very well-mannered, well-behaved, outgoing snake," she said. "He never did anything like that before. When I met Monty, he was a very, very nice snake."

Cramer said she had been handling live rabbits for Monty's dinner Sunday before she pulled the 9-year-old reptile out from under her bed. She was wrapping the snake around her shoulders when it clamped down on her neck with its rows of small teeth.

"I was panic-stricken. I was in the Twilight Zone," said Cramer.

Cramer pleaded with friends at her house not to kill the snake, but after several unsuccessful attempts to pry the reptile loose one of them grabbed a kitchen knife, chopped the serpent's head off and pulled it from her neck — leaving about 20 snake teeth embedded in her neck.

The python is non-poisonous and squeezes its prey — usually small rodents — to death before swallowing it whole.

Let's Clean Up The Air

"What did you do during the war?" That question, often asked of persons over the age of 60, has ominous implications for a 67-year-old man running for the presidency of Austria. That man, of course, is Kurt Waldheim. The former Secretary-General of the United Nations stands accused of a sordid Nazi past, including complicity in the mass deportation and murder of more than 10,000 Greek Jews.

These shocking allegations surfaced in March when incriminating German war documents were brought to light by the press and the World Jewish Congress. The documents contradict Mr. Waldheim's bland account of his brief service as an army officer in the Third Reich.

According to Mr. Waldheim's official biographies, his father was imprisoned in 1938 soon after Hitler annexed Austria. Whereupon young Kurt, a student at the Vienna Consular Academy, was drafted into the German Army and wounded on the Russian Front. Thereafter he was discharged in 1942 and then returned home to study law.

Yet the official documents show that he joined the Nazi student union three weeks after the Germans marched into Austria. Eight months later, he became a member of the Brownshirts, a paramilitary organization that specialized in terrorizing Jews and other victims of the New Order. Lieutenant Waldheim later served on the Russian Front and was wounded — but he was not discharged in 1942. Rather he was assigned as an intelligence officer to the notorious Gen. Alexander Lohr, who was executed in 1947 for war crimes.

The Nazi high command awarded Lt. Waldheim a medal for his faithful service in Yugoslavia and Greece. Mr. Waldheim now insists that he knew nothing of the partisans who were killed there in 1943; he professes ignorance of the trains that daily transported Jews to such death camps as Auschwitz and Bergen-Belsen.

His assurances might be more persuasive had he not omitted the fact that he served in the Balkans during 1942 and 1943. The omission is all the more damning inasmuch as a Yugoslav War Crimes Commission lists Mr. Waldheim as wanted in connection with "murder, slaughter, shooting of hostages and ravaging of property by burning settlements."

Mr. Waldheim dismisses this and other allegations as a smear tactic to discredit his presidential candidacy. To be sure, the timing is highly damaging and one wonders why four decades passed before these accusations finally became known. If a Waldheim file does in fact exist, why was he allowed to become Austrian Foreign Minister and then Secretary-General of the U.N. from 1972 to 1982?

Cynics suggest that the superpowers may have known of his checkered past and used it to keep him in line. That suggestion appears all the more plausible, given recent allegations that Mr. Waldheim's sealed dossier is contained among 40,000 U.N. files concerning war crimes. Meanwhile, U.N. and U.S. officials refuse to confirm or deny the existence of a Waldheim file.

Kurt Waldheim is the only person who can clear the air and, therefore, his name. He ought to be calling for the immediate release of all documents pertaining to his war record.

BERRY'S WORLD

DONALD LAMBRO

The Airlines Are 'Free' And They're Safe

WASHINGTON — One of the greatest myths being perpetrated by some of the Washington news media is that airline deregulation is undermining air-travel safety.

"I know of few issues that have been more misrepresented, misunderstood, demagogued and sensationalized than this one," says Jim Burnley, deputy secretary of transportation.

What must be emphasized in this debate, Burnley points out, is that "when we speak of 'airline deregulation,' we are talking about the elimination of economic regulation. Safety has most assuredly not been deregulated."

Though airline deregulation was strongly supported by congressional conservatives, it wasn't created by President Reagan and Barry Goldwater, as some might think. Actually, it was championed by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts, one of the most liberal members of Congress.

In the mid-1970s, Kennedy wanted to know why it was costing him and other consumers more to fly across state lines from, say, Washington to Boston than it cost others to fly intrastate from, say, Los Angeles to San Francisco.

The culprit, he found, was federal regulation, in the form of the Civil Aeronautics Board. Legislation that Kennedy spearheaded led to deregulation of the industry and the abolition of the CAB.

Pro-regulators warned at the time that airfares would skyrocket under deregulation and that the industry would be weakened.

Today, however, airline travelers are paying about $10 billion less each year than would have been the case under government-regulated air fares. "Only a tiny fraction of air travel takes place on routes where fares have increased," says Marvin H. Koesters, the American Enterprise Institute's regulation expert.

Supersaver fares and discounts brought about by a wave of competition have made flying affordable for millions of Americans. "There are more lower-income people flying now who never thought they had the means to fly," Transportation Secretary Elizabeth Dole said in an interview. "Deregulation has been successful."

Because deregulation has opened up the industry to more carriers, the skies are more crowded. But does that mean air travel is less safe? The answer, based on the best available evidence, is no.

While a high number of airline fatalities occurred worldwide in 1985, only about 10 percent of the total occurred on deregulated domestic airlines. Indeed, former CAB Chairman John Robson says that flying is safer now than it was during the five years before deregulation, when the fatality rate was substantially higher.

"Flying remains one of the safest forms of transportation," says Burnley, "and air travel in the U.S. is still the safest in the world."

Each day, about 15,000 scheduled airline flights carry about 1 million passengers, and 99.999 percent of them "reach their destinations without so much as a minor operational error," he says.

On March 17, Federal Aviation Administrator Donald Engen told the House transportation subcommittee that operational errors by air traffic controllers "were down a substantial 25 percent" in 1985. The most significant type of error, which the FAA classifies as "major," "dropped from 15 in 1984 to only one in 1985."

House Races To Watch

GREENSBORO, N.C. (NEA) — Representing North Carolina's 6th Congressional District in the U.S. House of Representatives provides numerous benefits to the officeholder — but job security surely is not one of them.

Fickle voters in the district — which includes the communities of Greensboro, High Point and Burlington — have sent a different politician to Congress in each of the last four elections. The Democrat elected in 1978 was succeeded by a Republican in 1980, a new Democrat in 1982 and a different Republican in 1984.

That makes the political venue here typical of the approximately 50 to 60 "battleground" districts that will be the focus during the next seven months of the two major political parties' struggle to enhance their power in the House.

Those House contests are likely to be almost totally obscured by Senate races for at least two reasons — statewide Senate elections traditionally are more glamorous and this year's Senate balloting could produce an important shift in the political control of the chamber.

With the Democrats dominating the House by a wide 253-182 margin, not even the most zealous Republican is predicting that the results of the November elections will give the GOP a majority in the chamber.

But there will be dozens of fiercely fought House races in locations stretching from the bayous of Louisiana to the beaches of Hawaii, with much of the action concentrated on the approximately 35 districts where incumbents are either retiring or relinquishing their House seats to seek other political posts.

Among the races worth watching in the months ahead:

— Louisiana Reps. W. Henson Moore, a Republican, and John B. Breaux, a Democrat, both are leaving the House to run for the Senate seat being vacated by the retirement of Democratic Sen. Russell B. Long.

— Rep. Cecil Hefelt, D-Hawaii, is expected to vacate his House seat, representing Honolulu and its suburbs, to seek his state's governorship. Hawaii long has been a Democratic bastion but has shown some surprising Republican tendencies in recent years.

Roadside Billboards: Taxes At Work

By Jack Anderson
And Joseph Spear

WASHINGTON — Probably few Americans are aware that $200 million in their tax money has been given to the billboard industry as compensation for removing its huge eyesores from the landscape under the Highway Beautification Act of 1985.

Nor do they realize that the House Public Works Committee — that openhanded custodian of the congressional pork barrel — has voted to boost the taxpayers' largesse to the billboard barons. In an unprecedented move, the committee proposes to raid the federal highway construction trust fund to finance its generous payoff plan.

The legislation as approved by the committee would raise the benefit ceiling from $10,000 to $20,000 for each billboard the government wants to remove. The bill would

ROBERT WAGMAN

Jackson Vs. CBS

CHICAGO (NEA) — Why is the Rev. Jesse Jackson's civil rights group boycotting the CBS-owned TV station in Chicago and its advertisers — to boost minority employment, or to obtain big-money payments?

Since October, WBBM-TV has been boycotted by Operation PUSH and its backers, ostensibly to protest the station's failure to hire enough minorities.

However, a leaked list of PUSH's purported demands casts the boycott in a much different light. It raises the issue of a big-money controversy.

The CBS television network owns and operates WBBM, which, for many years, topped all its other stations in profits and market dominance.

As with any local station, most of WBBM's profits came from its local news operation, which had long been No. 1 in Chicago. Then Bill Kurtis, its popular longtime anchor, left to anchor "The CBS Morning News" in New York. WBBM's local news ratings began to slip; then they slid. The station went from first to third in the market and profits plummeted.

After much market research, the station brought Kurtis back to his old anchor desk and demoted veteran anchor Harry Porterfield, WBBM's only black male anchor. Porterfield was understandably miffed. Eventually, he quit and signed on with the rival-ABC owned WLS-TV.

That started Operation PUSH's boycott — it asked blacks and other supporters not to watch WBBM or patronize the station's advertisers.

CBS said it was shocked by the boycott, since of the station's 19 on-air anchors and reporters, six (32 percent) are nonwhite, and 23 percent of its workforce is nonwhite.

Later, ratings showed that the boycott was cutting into the station's audience, and its advertisers became nervous.

So, in the past month, CBS acted. It brought in a new general manager for the station — Johnathan Rodgers, who is black, a rising light at CBS and the former executive producer of the "CBS Morning News."

Rodgers immediately began to talk with PUSH officials, saying that he felt "Harry Porterfield should be at WBBM." He said that he'd try to rehire Porterfield when his contract expired at WLS. PUSH said that it wouldn't extend the WBBM boycott to other CBS stations, a threat that it had made earlier.

Then the contents of a document — the "WBBM-TV Covenant" — was leaked to the press, and the dispute was cast in a different light.

The "Covenant" was reportedly a list of demands given to WBBM in December. No one on either side will say much about the list. However, a source close to CBS says that PUSH made it clear that if its demands weren't met, the boycott would expand to CBS stations nationwide.

The list demands that WBBM hire two male minority anchors for weeknight programs, plus additional black males as assignment editors, street reporters and producers; set a 40 percent employment quota for minorities; give 25 percent of its legal business and 35 percent of its accounting business to black law and accounting firms and do 25 percent of its banking with minority-owned banks.

Taking Out The Wrinkles

By United Press International

A surgical process in which fat is sucked out of one section of the body and injected into another has proved effective in raising depressed scars and smoothing out severe age wrinkles, doctors say.

The procedure, called micro-lipojection, is still in the experimental stages, said Dr. Samuel J. Stegman, president of the American Society for Dermatologic Surgery. But he said it is already popular in France and several South American countries.

The current method to plump up parts of the body that have been damaged by injury or surgery is to cut fat from a donor site then sew it into the damaged area. Stegman said this procedure leaves two scars and is costly.

Lipo suction, introduced several years ago, removes fat deposits by sucking them through a needle into a tube, he said. In the new procedure, this fat is simply injected back into the body where it is needed.

Once implanted, the new fat tissue continues to function normally, he said.

Sewage plants
Cornell University scientists have been cleaning up sewage with an army of plants and say their method works just as well as a traditional chemical treatment facility.

William J. Jewell, an agricultural engineer at the school, said cattails, carnations, petunias, tomatoes, wheat and a number of other plants grow well in troughs filled with sewage and water. The plants' roots suck out the organic and inorganic pollutants in the sewage and leave clear water that is run out of the troughs and back into the environment.

Traditional sewage treatment plants remove pollutants by letting them settle into a sludge which is later treated chemically.

Jewell says his plant treatment takes about the same time as a treatment plant, but at half the cost.

However, the plants need room to grow — about five acres for every 10,000 people in a community, he said.

Recycling blood
Doctors at a Virginia hospital have successfully recycled blood lost during surgery back into patients, lessening the need for donated blood.

The recycling technique, developed in West Germany, pumps hemorrhaging blood from the surgical cavity, passes it through a filter and back into the patient.

Work Release Inmate Gets Lost In Lakeland

A Seminole County jail inmate sentenced in June 1985, to a year in jail and 10 years probation for having sexual involvement with children failed to return to jail from his work release job.

Seminole County sheriff's deputies reported the man as an escapee at about 4 a.m. Wednesday. Deputies said the man's employer had called the jail at about 5 p.m. Tuesday to say he would be late returning, because on a job assignment drive to Lakeland he had gotten lost.

The inmate, Gregory Vincent Parrott, 34, of Altamonte Springs, had notified his employer via radio that he was lost and would be late. He reportedly said he was continuing on to Lakeland to pick up something that a co-worker had assigned him to transport. He wasn't heard from again until his boss at Highsmith Brothers Crane Company in Apopka sent workmen out to look for the man.

Seminole County sheriff's Capt. Roy Hughey said the lost prisoner was found by co-workers and returned to the jail at about 1:30 p.m. Wednesday.

His time "lost" was apparently unintentional, Hughey said. He added that work release prisoners who spend their nights at the jail, but their days working in the community are chosen for those assignments by parole and probation officers. Parole and probation officers also decide how far, if at all, the prisoners can travel from the jail, he said.

"CHEAP HIGH"
A 24-year-old Altamonte Springs man reportedly told a Seminole County sheriff's investigator he was getting a "cheap high" when the investigator stopped him after he was seen allegedly sniffing glue from a plastic bag.

The man was riding a bicycle on Carlton Street in Altamonte Springs when he was stopped at about 12:30 p.m. Tuesday. Investigator Scott Fyfe reported.

Joseph Vernon Johnston of 625 Dunn Drive, Altamonte Springs, has been charged with inhalation of harmful substances

Woman Pleads Guilty In Husband's Shooting Death

A Sanford woman who pleaded guilty to the shooting death of her husband was sentenced Tuesday to a year in the county jail and 15 years probation.

Mary Willie Steele, 54, of 1828 Knox Ave., who pleaded guilty in March to manslaughter in connection with the death of her husband, Will E. Steele, 54, was also ordered by Circuit Judge Kenneth M. Leffler to undergo mental health counseling, maintain full-time employment during probation, and not to own any guns.

Mrs. Steel was charged with second-degree murder but pleaded guilty to the lesser charge of manslaughter.

Steele was shot Oct. 27 but did not die until Dec. 27. Cause of death was hemorrhaging and infection caused by gunshot wounds.

The shooting occurred at the Steele home. The first deputy on the scene reported that Mrs. Steele said that prior to the 1:30 a.m. shooting she and her husband had been sitting in the kitchen. He was armed with a rifle awaiting the arrival of Aileen Patterson, Mrs. Steele's 18-year-old daughter, who was out on a date. Steele apparently did not approve of Ms. Patterson's dating of Leroy Young, 18, of Sanford.

When the couple arrived at the home, Mrs. Steele reportedly said she persuaded her husband to surrender the rifle and when he went outside to confront her daughter, Mrs. Steele hid the weapon in a closet and armed herself with a pistol, according to a deputy's report.

The dispute between Steele and Ms. Patterson continued after they entered the young woman's bedroom. Steele was reportedly cursing her and when he began to shake her, Mrs. Steele fired three shots at him.

Steele was taken to Central Florida Regional Hospital in Sanford where he later died.

Ranking Salvador Officers Implicated in Kidnap Ring

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador (UPI) — Four high-ranking military officers — one in a top combat command post — are under investigation in a kidnap ring that abducted wealthy businessmen and collected some $5 million in ransoms, sources close to the case revealed.

The sources, who asked not to be identified for their own security, said Wednesday the officers — three of them on active duty — were implicated in the most extensive investigation ever of clandestine violence by the far right.

The investigation, headed by Col. Carlos Reynaldo Lopez Nuila, undersecretary for public security, unmasked a ring of rightists who kidnaped wealthy right-wing businessmen and made it appear the abductions were the work of leftist guerrillas seeking the overthrow of the U.S.-backed government.

"It was apparently pure greed, with no political motives," said one source. "It worked, so they kept going back because they wanted more money."

The kidnaping ring collected some $5 million in ransoms during a three-year period, the sources said.

Kidnappers Hit Guinness Family

DUBLIN, Ireland (UPI) — The wife of a member of the Guinness brewing and banking dynasty — one of Ireland's wealthiest families — was kidnapped by three masked gunmen demanding a $2.6 million ransom, police announced today.

Police said they were not ruling out the possibility that the outlawed Irish Republican Army was involved in the Tuesday kidnaping but said it appeared more likely to be the work of a criminal gang.

After a two-day news blackout, police announced the gunmen abducted Jennifer Guinness, 48, from her luxury seaside home north of Dublin. The kidnappers pistol-whipped her husband, John Henry Guinness, chairman of the Guinness and and Mahon merchant bank, and told him, "Two million pounds ($2.6 million) or you will never see her again," news reports said.

The Guinness dynasty was founded 200 years ago by Arthur Guinness, who began making world-famous Guinness dark beer.

The family has since branched out into banking. Its members are at the center of Irish high society and the family is one of the richest in Europe, also known for introducing the now famous "Guinness Book of World Records" 30 years ago.

Exiled Daughter Welcomed Home

LAHORE, Pakistan (UPI) — Benazir Bhutto, the opposition leader whose prime minister father was hanged by President Zia ul-Haq, returned from self-imposed exile today to a tumultuous welcome by hundreds of thousands of backers to launch her campaign against Zia's rule.

Bhutto, who pledged Wednesday in leaving Britain to emulate Philippine President Corazon Aquino's rise to leadership by "people power," inched forward in an open truck along a 10-mile route from the airport to Lahore Fort to address her first rally against Zia.

Draped in the black gown of her Moslem faith and a scarf in the red, black and green colors of her Pakistan Peoples Party, Bhutto, 33, waved and clapped as her followers yelled "Benazir Zindabad! (Long Live Benazir!)" from atop trees, rooftops and on the sidewalk.

Bhutto's return came 100 days after Zia ended eight years of martial law that he imposed after ousting Bhutto's father, Zulfikar Ali Bhutto, in a bloodless coup in 1977. The elder Bhutto was hanged two years later for his alleged role in a political assassination.

Local observers said it was the biggest political gathering ever in Lahore, said Khan's second largest city.

S. Africa Official Accuses Libya

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (UPI) — A government minister accused Libya of training South African guerrillas, and residents of the Bophuthatswana tribal homeland said police killed three people protesting a ban on a mass funeral.

"Intelligence sources in South Africa have for some time been aware of the fact that one of the dictators of terrorism, (Libyan leader) Col. Moammar Khadafy, is trying to export his madness to South Africa," Information Minister Louis Nel said in Cape Town Wednesday.

He said police arrested two guerrillas of the outlawed Pan Africanist Congress and claimed they were among 150 black rebels South Africa contends received political and weapons training in a Libyan guerrilla camp.

He said the rebels allegedly planned to stir up violence among students and had a "hit list" of moderate black leaders they planned to assassinate. He declined to reveal the names on the list. Black extremists have attacked moderates for "collaborating" with the white-minority government.

'Ping-Pong Diplomacy' At 15

PEKING (UPI) — A Chinese newspaper marked today the 15th anniversary of "Ping-Pong diplomacy" — the 1971 table tennis exchange that signaled the end of 23 years of Sino-U.S. hostilities.

In an analysis of events leading up to the April 10, 1971, Ping-Pong match, China Daily said both Washington and Peking were looking for a way to break their diplomatic deadlock, and the table tennis solution was "very much an accident."

The paper noted that President Richard Nixon used numerous channels, primarily the leaders of Third World nations, to convey his desire for a high-level dialogue with Peking.

"On the Chinese side, amid the civil turmoil of the Cultural Revolution, Chairman Mao Tse-tung and Premier Chou En-lai were also trying to break the deadlock ... so the 'China could enjoy a better international environment," the paper said.

Bombs Blamed in Mexicana Crash

MEXICO CITY (UPI) — State-owned Mexicana Airlines ordered tough new security procedures as its pilots charged that bombs caused the crash of a Mexicana jet that killed 166 people.

Ten Mexicana pilots, invited in groups or separately at the Mexico City airport, told United Press International Wednesday the plane, which crashed in the Sierra Madre mountains March 31 — was blown up in a plot to collect life insurance.

In London, Capt. Reg Smith of Canada, president of the International Federation of Airline Pilots Associations, said he also believed the crash was caused by a bomb.

Officials of the state-owned airline and government sources vigorously protested the pilots' comments, calling them premature and unproven and saying the cause of the tragedy had yet to be determined.

All 166 people aboard the Mexicana jet were killed in the plane crash — the worst in Mexican history.

Spaceplane Project Takes Off

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Defense Department and NASA have awarded more than $82 million in contracts to develop a 21st-century aerospace plane, dubbed the "Orient Express," that could travel from the United States to Japan in about two hours.

The Defense Department and the National Aeronautics and Space Administration Monday jointly announced contracts for the first 42-month design phase for the new generation plane, which would take off and land at conventional airports.

Research and development contracts for the National AeroSpace Plane were awarded to four airframe and two engine firms to competitively work out their best concepts.

One airframe and one engine contractor will eventually be selected to collaborate and finish the job.

The "Orient Express," as President Reagan enthusiastically described the proposed craft, would fly at speeds of 4,000 to 8,000 mph in the atmosphere and 14,500 mph or more in space.

One expert on the project said operational cruising altitudes could range between 70,000 and 110,000 feet "but there's no limit on how high it could go."

The project, while having commercial and scientific applications, also would be of interest to the military.

"The aircraft is of interest as a long-range defense interceptor," one Air Force release said.

Unlike the space shuttle, the new space vehicle would not have to be launched vertically from an elaborate scaffolding but would take off and land as any conventional jet airliner.

"Such a revolutionary advance would be similar to that experienced in the leap from propeller-driven to jet-powered aircraft," the Air Force said.

The concept was first defined in 1982-1983 by the Defense Advanced Research Projects Agency and NASA.

The project calls for an approximate 80 percent-20 percent funding split between the Defense Department and NASA.

The Air Force has been assigned overall Defense Department responsibility at a program office at Wright Patterson Air Force Base, Ohio. The office will be staffed with Navy, Air Force and NASA personnel.

The first research and development contracts, worth a total of more than $82 million, were awarded to the Boeing Military Airplane Co. of Seattle, Wash.; the Fort Worth, Texas, Division of General Dynamics; the Aircraft Engine Business Group of General Electric Co. of Cincinnati, Ohio; Lockheed Corp. of Burbank, Calif.; McDonnell Aircraft Co. of St. Louis Mo.; North American Aircraft Operations of Rockwell International Corp., Los Angeles, Calif.; and Pratt and Whitney Aircraft Group of United Technologies Corp., West Palm Beach, Fla.

Jeno Paulucci, Paulucci has offered to pay for half the cost of such a study.

Assistant Superintendent for Business and Finance Carey E. Ferrell told the Evening Herald that data the district would have to provide to an analysis firm would take a year to compile. Once that data is compiled, Kroll has said the analysis could be done at the push of a button.

Task force chairman Sandy Robinson said Tuesday that 150 letters in support of the proposed zone plan have been sent to the U.S. Justice Department from Lake Mary area residents, to counter several letters objection which have been sent.

Meanwhile, a decision from the Justice Department following a two week review of the plan could come as early as this week.

If the plan is approved by the Justice Department, the school board is expected to consider the plan for final adoption on April 23.

She also said that the addition of black administrators at schools where black student populations are concentrated "so black students will have someone to relate to" were discussed in meetings.

Under the proposed plan, known as Plan 1 Modified, the percentages of black student population are as follows: Sanford, 39.5; Lakeview, 33.9; Greenwood Lakes, 20.5; Milwee, 16.4; Jackson Heights, 10; South Seminole, 7.2; Tuskawilla, 4.5; Teague, 3.5; and Rock Lake, 2.5.

Morris, in his letter, also favored a computer data analysis of student populations in the proposed zones, similar to the studies suggested by school board member Bill Kroll and developer

Reporters examining the wreckage were not allowed to view crew cabin debris and NASA refuses to discuss that aspect of the analysis or anything to do with the seven astronauts.

But sources close to the investigation said the cabin section hit the water on its left side and suffered massive impact damage, smashing into the ocean at 140 mph to 180 mph, with little of the wreckage clearly recognizable.

Six of the seven astronauts have been identified, but remains of one crew member apparently have eluded recovery.

Challenger's destruction was triggered by a rupture in the ship's right-hand solid-fuel rocket booster, which touched off the explosion of the shuttle's giant external fuel tank on Jan. 28.

What happened after that is the subject of an intense investigation.

Khadafy apparently was referring to a Soviet-Libyan agreement he signed during a visit to Moscow in October. The Military aspects of the treaty have not been made public. Most of Libya's military hardware comes from Moscow and there are between 4,000 and 6,000 Soviet bloc military advisors in Libya.

Khadafy spoke to reporters at his heavily fortified headquarters on the outskirts of Tripoli after meeting with his senior military officials.

"We have just finished military preparations in response to the latest American threats against us," he said. "It is axiomatic that America will be defeated militarily. It is axiomatic that if aggression is staged against us, we shall escalate the violence against American targets, civilian and non-civilian, all over the world."

His comments came amid signs the Reagan administration might be planning military retaliation against Libya for its alleged involvement in the bombing of a TWA jetliner April 2 that killed four Americans and the bombing of a West Berlin dance club Saturday that killed a U.S. serviceman and a Turkish woman.

Two U.S. aircraft carrier battle groups in the Mediterranean were given new orders Wednesday to remain in the area, and Reagan said Khadafy was "a definite suspect" in the terrorist acts.

But Khadafy dismissed the charges of Libyan involvement in the terror attacks as a pretense for an attack on Libya.

"The world has not heard any evidence or any proof about this old story," he said. "It is only an excuse for aggression against an independent state."

"If there is aggression against our homes and families, it should be clear from now on that the Reagan administration is responsible, and not us. If American security is threatened in American cities and all over the world," he said.

Khadafy said he would consider as military targets any country that assisted U.S. forces during a war with Libya.

He said the naval maneuvers that resulted in the shootout with Libya were not an "unusual thing," noting that the U.S. fleet had conducted similar operations seven times since he took office.

But once Libyan rockets were fired at American jets flying over the gulf, Reagan felt compelled to respond.

"It was not a deliberate provocation; not, 'Oh goody,' he's going to show his hand," he said.

Reagan said Khadafy opened the confrontation "and we closed it."

Anglers Can Catch 5 Times As Much Sun

Warm weather has arrived and more and more boaters and fishermen will be invading the waterways of Central Florida.

We all enjoy being out in the sun and the fresh air. Many Floridians also like to work on their tans while they are on the water. The cool breezes and the beautiful scenery often distract boaters and fishermen from the burning rays of the sun.

The symptoms of a sunburn do not begin to appear until at least two hours after exposure to the sun. Not until eight hours later is the burn fully evident. A sunburn can range from uncomfortable redness to sensitivity to a severe burn that could land a person in the emergency room.

The dedicated fishermen is regularly exposed to the sun's rays for extended periods of time and can receive up to five times as much sun as the average person. The reflection of the sun's rays off the water often magnifies and intensifies the effects of the sun.

The exposure fishermen receive is a problem because the harmful rays of the sun have a toxic effect that builds up year after year. Your tan may fade at the end of one sunny season, but the irreversible damage it has caused to your skin remains.

Prolonged and excessive sun exposure can lead to premature aging of the skin and in many cases to skin cancer. According to the American Academy of Dermatology, skin cancer is the most common form of cancer, with nearly 400,000 new cases reported each year. Most skin cancers are the easily cured basal cell carcinoma which has a 98 percent cure rate and never metastasizes (spreads through the blood stream).

Precancerous tumors and the potentially fatal melanoma are far more rare and can often be successfully treated if diagnosed early. Melanoma often emerges in pre-existing moles or brown spots. If a fisherman develops a growth the size of a raisin or larger that is enlarging or bleeding, it is imperative that he see a doctor immediately.

Jim Shupe
GOING FISHING?

Some people are more vulnerable to cumulative sun damage than others. The fairer one's complexion, the more susceptible one is to the hazards of sun exposure.

The simplest way to protect one's self from the sun is to wear protective clothing such as long sleeves and hats. Due to the heat, however, not many people use this option for sun protection.

The most practical choice for sun protection is the use of sunscreens. Sunscreens range in potency from total sun block (SPF 15 or more) to a mild protection barrier (SPF 4 or less).

Sunscreens should not be confused with suntan products that offer no protection from the sun's harmful rays. Mineral oil, baby oil, cocoa butter and emollients with no apparent SPF offer very little protection from the harmful effects of sun exposure.

Committed fishermen should wear a sunscreen product with a SPF rating of 15. They should get into the habit of applying sunscreen at the beginning of each trip and re-applying sunscreen at least once during each trip. This safety precaution will take only a few minutes each trip and may prevent some skin problems in later years.

SHUPE'S SCOOP — Always wear a hat with a wide brim and a quality pair of polarized sunglasses while fishing. It is a good idea to leave your hat and your fishing sunglasses in your boat at the end of each trip so that you always have them when they are needed.

WEEKEND FORECAST — Dell Abernathy at the Okeechobee Fish Camp reports that bass fishing has improved a great deal. The April Okeechobee Bass Tournament had 41 boats entered and 163 bass were caught that weighed a total of 220 pounds. Porter Adams and Bobby Braswell won the tournament. All bass were released alive except for a few fish that died. Spotted perch fishing has peaked and is starting to slow down. Bluegills are biting around the pilings of the new bridge near the fish camp. Grass shrimp is the best bait for these tasty panfish.

Ron Rawlins at Highland Park Fish Camp reports that speckled perch fishing has slowed down, but the bass are beginning to school on menhaden in Lake Woodruff.

Snook fishing has improved tremendously at Sebastian Inlet. Quite a few fish over twenty pounds have been caught recently. One ounce jugs such as the Red Tail Hawk and grubs have been the best producers. The north side seems to be providing the best fishing.

Captain Jack at Port Canaveral said that offshore fishing has picked up with the good weather. Dick Hayes had 19 dolphin in 115 feet of water. Cobia have slowed down, with most of the fish going north around Daytona Beach. Large flounder and bluefish are being caught in the Port. Trout and redfish are still slow in the Suwanee and Indian rivers, but fish should be moving onto the flats soon with the warm weather.

Fishing at the New Smyrna jetties has improved with calm weather. Redfish, bluefish, flounder, and sheepshead are being caught with live shrimp. Many sheepshead are being caught in the river around channel markers and bridge pilings.

First SAC Meet To Signal Start Of Last Tune-Up

By Chris Fister
Herald Sports Writer

The last tune-up for Seminole County's prep track and field teams will begin Friday night at the first Seminole Athletic Conference championships at Lyman High School.

Field events begin at 4, with running preliminaries at 5 and finals starting at 7 at the newly renovated Lyman facility.

Seminole High is the overwhelming favorite to win both the boys and girls divisions and that will be the case unless something drastic happens. While winning the first SAC crown is important for the 'Noles, Friday's meet will also be used as stepping stone toward the teams' and athletes' ultimate goal — the state meet.

"This is the first meet of the championship season," Seminole coach Ken Brauman said. "It's important for us to win conference because of the points that go towards the all-sports trophy and the guys really want to be conference champions."

The Seminole High boys team, the defending 4A state champions, will be without one of its leaders in senior sprinter Louis Brown. Brown was injured in an automobile accident on Monday and suffered bruised knees when he was thrown against the steering wheel and he also hit his head against the windshield. Brauman said Brown won't be available this week but should return for the district meet in two weeks.

"Without Louis (Brown), it forces us to look at other people in the relays," Brauman said. "We'd planned on him in three races and now have to re-structure things."

Another Seminole who has been hampered by injury this season, senior triple jumper Alvin Jones, will compete in the conference meet but Brauman said only in the triple jump.

Brauman said he is also looking for improvement in many areas.

"In some areas, we've kind of hit a stagnation and we need to get out of it and get a little better," he said. "One of those areas is the long jump. And (hurdler) Andre Jackson has been at the same plateau the last several weeks so he's due to come down again. We need to keep coming down in areas where we have the best chance to score in the state meet."

Track/Field

...Leaders, See Page 9A

Another of those areas is the open quarter where junior Eric Martin is the only runner in the county under 50 seconds with a time of 48.4. "Eric (Martin) has pretty much been running by himself," Brauman said. "He needs some competition so he can go faster."

One of the top areas of improvement has been the high jump where last week junior Jerry Parker and sophomore Walter Hopson both cleared 6-4 to equal the school record. Lyman's Ralph Philpott is the county leader with a leap of 6-10 and he looks to do well in what will be the last home meet of his career.

While Seminole should dominate the meet, the race for second place should be tight between Lake Mary, Lake Howell and Lake Brantley.

"Seminole should run way with it but second place should be very close," Lake Mary coach Mark McGee said. "It could come down to the mile relay."

In fact, McGee said that if Seminole dominates the meet the way it should, it would give the Rams a better shot at second place.

"The points that we're going to get, we're going to get anyway," McGee said. "But the points that Seminole drops will probably be picked up by Lake Howell or Lake Brantley. So it would actually be better for us if Seminole kills everybody."

athletes who have come on strong in the field events are Larry Stankovits in the discus, Danny Ferris in the shot put and Cecil King in the triple jump.

Lake Howell has probably the best collection of distance runners in the county with Anthony Howe, Chuck Buster, John Davis and Jeff Van Buskirk all among the county leaders in either the mile, 880 or two mile.

Seminole's Billy Penick, of course, is the man to beat in the mile. Brauman, though, said Wednesday he was uncertain whether Penick would compete in the two mile.

Lake Brantley's strength is in the field events with Bucky

Chambers, Andy San Angelo and Jim Conchelos in the shot and discus, Joel Miller in the high jump and Chris Derden in the pole vault. The Patriots also look for strength from senior sprinter Cornelius Friendly and senior hurdler Sam Sears.

Oviedo is the only 3A team in the conference and is not as strong as its 4A counterparts but the Lions have some talent in hurdler Karl Wright, sprinter Bubba Wright and sprinter Mark Stewart.

Like the boys meet, Seminole High is the dominant force on the girls side as well. The Lady Seminoles, though, have a unique situation where nearly the entire team consists of freshmen and sophomores.

"This is the week for all of our young people to come together as a team," Seminole coach Emory Blake said. "And we'll make the adjustments necessary for us to be where we want to be at this point in the season."

Last week, it was a group of freshmen that lifted the Lady 'Noles to the Seminole High Invitational title. It included sprinters Adrian Hillman, Tasha Wynn, Ramona Jamison and Tammy Scott along with hurdler Michelle Pearson.

Langer Dream: Repeat

AUGUSTA, Ga. (UPI) — Bernhard Langer enters today's opening round of the 50th Masters with a chance to become only the second back-to-back winner.

The only man to accomplish that feat was five-time champ Jack Nicklaus when he successfully defended his title in 1966.

"I'm quite happy with how I've been playing," said Langer, who is currently fifth on this year's PGA Tour money list with more than $160,000. "I hope I'll be up there Sunday (when the Masters is scheduled to end)."

Langer recognizes that last year's Masters is remembered as much as one that Curtis Strange lost as he won. Strange blew a four-stroke lead by hitting into the water twice in three holes.

"I can see why he felt like that," said Langer. "But I feel I won because I played the (final round) back nine in (3-under) 33. If he had still had that big lead going into the last few holes, things might have been different."

Play was scheduled to begin at 8:30 a.m. EST with the 88-man field playing in twosomes. Fifteen minutes before that, 84-year-old Gene Sarazen, who used a late double eagle to win 51 years ago, and 73-year-old Sam Snead, a three-time Masters champion, will play a few holes as honorary starters.

Today's weather forecast called for clear skies with the temperatures rising from near 40 overnight to about 70 and northwest winds of up to 20 miles per hour.

"As long as the wind keeps blowing," said 1982 champ Craig Stadler, "we're going to have trouble getting the ball on the greens."

"Wind is a big factor on this golf course," said two-time champion Tom Watson. "It's very difficult to judge here."

There are only three European professionals playing in this year's Masters — Langer, two-time champion Seve Ballesteros of Spain, and Scotland's Sandy Lyle, who picked up his first U.S. victory last Sunday at Greensboro, N.C.

"We are very, very short on European invitees in my opinion," said Ballesteros. "There are some very good players back in Europe who were not invited."

Masters chairman Hord Hardin said the limited foreign field was caused by an increase in the number of U.S. golfers who qualified under Masters rules.

Watson, who has been fifth or better seven times in the past nine Masters, including victories in 1977 and 1981 and a playoff loss in 1979, said his game is getting better with an improved mental outlook.

"It bothers me that I haven't won here of late," said Watson. "But, I haven't putted well enough to win. I didn't work as hard as I should have last year. I suppose I had a delicate attitude."

"I changed my attitude at the end of last year. I know I wasn't working hard enough and I was determined to do better."

Seminole Can't Cash In — Lady Pats Hold Lead

By Chris Fister
Herald Sports Writer

There was no shortage of opportunities for Seminole High's Lady Seminoles Wednesday, but when it came to cashing them in, the Lady 'Noles were a little closer to bankrupt.

In the last three innings, Seminole had five hits and DeLand's Lady Bulldogs committed four errors but two runs were all the Tribe could get out of it as DeLand came away with a 4-3 victory at Sanford's Fort Mellon Field.

The Lady 'Noles now stand at 7-11 and return to Seminole Athletic Conference action today at Lake Mary. Seminole is 3-4 in the SAC. DeLand now stands at 14-3.

"We just couldn't get any breaks today," Seminole coach Lenny Abney said. "We'd hit a real good line shot but it would be right at someone."

Behind a strong defensive showing, Seminole was locked in a 1-1 tie with the hard-hitting Lady Bulldogs after four innings. But DeLand scored three times in the top of the fifth on four hits and two

Softball

Seminole errors.

Seminole got one run back in the bottom of the fifth when Marcie Tooke singled and took second when Vikki Oliver reached on an error. Showanda Walker followed with a single up the middle and the bases would have been loaded but Oliver was thrown out at second on the play. Tooke scored when Bert Detreville reached on an error and Seminole had runners on first and second with one out. But Jackie Suggs' liner was snagged by third baseman Teresa Maggio who then caught Walker off second for the third out.

Seminole had runners on first and second with one out again in the sixth but came up empty after Buffy Osborne hit into a force play and Jackie Farr grounded back to the mound.

The Lady 'Noles pulled within 4-3 in the bottom of the seventh when Tooke led off with a single and went all the way around to score when the ball skipped between the outfielder's legs.

Oliver followed with a base hit to left center but she was doubled off first when Walker lined back to the mound, putting an end to Seminole's comeback hopes.

Seminole had just five hits in the game led by Tooke who was 2 for 3 and scored two runs. Wanda Whitmore, Shawn Lane and Michelle Eckman had two hits each for DeLand which had nine hits in the game.

BRANTLEY SQUELCHES OVIEDO
Lake Brantley's Lady Patriots kept hold of the top spot in the Seminole Athletic Conference with a 6-1 victory over Oviedo's Lady Lions Wednesday at Lake Brantley High.

The Lady Patriots, 22-4 overall, are 6-1 in the SAC and hold a one-game lead over Lake Howell (5-2). Brantley is at Lake Howell today in the biggest SAC matchup of the season thus far. The Lady Patriots have already beaten Lake Howell three times this season but only one of those was a conference game.

"If we can win this one, we'll feel pretty comfortable going into next week," Brantley assistant Debbie Frank said. "But beating Lake Howell for the fourth time will be tough."

In Wednesday's game, Oviedo took a 1-0 lead in the top of the first but Brantley got two back in the bottom half when Tracy Brandenburg's misplayed fly ball went for a two-run homer and the Lady Patriots never looked back the rest of the way.

"When she (Mikki Eby) misplayed that ball, it really deflated us," Oviedo coach Jackie Miller said. "We've got to start playing with our heads on straight."

Brantley added a run in the fourth on Angie May's RBI single, then picked up four more in the sixth. Dawn Gebhart, Mandy Mathieson and May had RBI singles in the sixth while Laura Davis' groundout also drove in a run.

Oviedo's only run came on an RBI single by Caroline Chavis in the first. Cathy Bergman, Eby and Jodie Switzer had two hits each for the Lady Lions.

For Brantley, May led the way with 3 for 3 performance while Heather Meyer was 2 for 3.

'Bedrock' Withstands Erosion, Halts Reds' Score

United Press International
The Reds chipped away at Steve "Bedrock" Bedrosian in the 11th inning Wednesday night, but the Phillies reliever stood solid when it counted.

The Reds loaded the bases against Bedrosian and Dave Concepcion singled in a pair of runs to cut the margin to 5-3. Then, with two on and none out, Bedrosian felled Bo Diaz' attempted sacrifice and threw out the lead runner at third base. Bedrosian struck out Ron Oester and Paul O'Neill to end the game.

"After they got those two runs, I started bearing down harder and concentrating more," said Bedrosian, who was acquired from Atlanta to solidify the Philadelphia bullpen.

"It was a tight situation I put myself in, but it sure feels great to get out of it."

The Phillies scored four runs in the top of the 11th to break a 1-1 tie. John Russell, who will share the catching duties this season with Darren Daulton, highlighted the outburst against Ted Power with a two-run homer.

The Reds received eight innings of brilliant pitching from Tom Browning and two good innings from John Franco before Power failed in the 11th.

Philadelphia starter Shane Rawley also was impressive, surrendering one run and four hits in nine innings.

Dodgers 1, Padres 0

At Los Angeles, Mike Marshall singled home Bill Madlock in the third inning to back the three-hit pitching of Bob Welch. Dodger pitchers have allowed only two runs in three games this season. Padres starter Andy Hawkins, 0-1, allowed seven hits and struck out five before being lifted in the eighth.

Giants 4, Astros 2

At Houston, Scott Garrelts and Greg Minton combined on a seven-hitter and rookie Will Clark doubled home a third-inning run to lift the Giants. Garrelts worked 7 2-3 innings, allowing six hits. Minton earned his first save. Mike Scott, 0-1, took the loss.

Slaton, Downing Key Angels' Win

SEATTLE (UPI) — California Manager Gene Mauch is not surprised by the performance of veteran righthander Jim Slaton.

"That's the way he pitched early in the year last year," Mauch said after Slaton turned in seven solid innings Wednesday night in the Angels' 9-5 victory over the Seattle Mariners.

"We need that bullpen down there, we need five guys. We're not going to have too many complete games, especially this early in the season."

Slaton replaced starter John Candelaria, who left the game after two innings because of a tender left elbow. Mauch said he was unsure how severe the injury was and whether Candelaria would miss his next turn in the rotation.

Slaton entered with California leading 6-4. He allowed just one unearned run while improving his career mark against Seattle to 3-0.

The Angels took advantage of 10 walks by five Seattle pitchers. The Mariners have walked 16 in two games after leading the league in that category the last two seasons.

"We're going to get a lot of walks," said Brian Downing, who hit a pair of two-run homers for California. "We've been doing it the past couple years."

Wally Joyner added a two-run blast for the Angels.

Downing struck out in his first at-bat but came back to hit his first homer in the third when the Angels scored five runs to take a 6-4 lead.

Seattle starter and loser Mark Langston failed

Brian Downing unloaded two, two-run homers in the Angels' win over Seattle.

IN BRIEF

Washington Hurls Perfect Game As TRC Exiles Prestige Imports

What the Tim Raines Connection did to Prestige Imports Wednesday night wasn't just your basic rout — it was a holocaust.

The 21-0 win for TRC in Sanford Men's Spring League play at Pinehurst Field, lasted just four innings and included a second inning in which the Connection scored 16 runs on 15 hits. But none of TRC's offense rubbed off on Prestige Imports as the Connection's Burnett Washington pitched a four-inning perfect game.

Levi Raines paced the TRC blitzkrieg with a pair of homers to go along with a single and he also drove in five runs. Sam Raines and Burnett Washington added three hits each while Doug Dowdy, Rodney Turner, Eddie Jackson, Fred Washington and Benny McGill all had two hits.

The victory also enabled the Connection, 5-0, to remain the only unbeaten team in the league as previously unbeaten Brown Boveri was zapped by Six Flags Nursery, 19-7. In Wednesday's other game, AJ's belted Central Florida Hospital, 13-5.

Jim Emmerson was 5 for 5 with a pair of home runs and drove in four runs to lead the way for Six Flags in its win over Brown Boveri. Buddy Stumpf and Ted Miller added three hits each while Scot Williams pounded out a two-run homer.

Bob Kuenkele, Manny Shiver and Juan Maldonado had two hits each for Brown Boveri and Oltis Raines belted a two-run double.

Mike Ferrell rapped out three singles and drove in two runs for AJ's in its romp over Central Florida Hospital. John Hill smacked a pair of doubles and Joe Liakos slammed a three-run double to highlight a eight-run fourth inning.

Birle Brothers Bury Tribe JV

Alex Birle tossed a one-hitter over five innings and Eric Birle blasted a three-run homer in the first inning as Lake Mary's Rams ripped Seminole High's Seminoles, 14-3, in junior varsity baseball action Wednesday at Seminole High.

It was the seventh win in a row for Lake Mary which now stands at 12-5. The JV Rams host Seminole today and close the season Tuesday at Lake Howell.

Alex Birle struck out seven and the only hit he allowed was a single by Joey Corsi in the bottom of the first. Eric Birle's three-run homer highlighted a four-run first inning and the Rams went to end the game early by the slaughter rule.

Aaron Iatarolo added a single and double and David Fencik a pair of singles for Lake Mary.

Citrus: High Noon On Jan. 1

ORLANDO (UPI) — The Florida Citrus Bowl will be played New Year's Day, and its noon starting time will make it the first of five college football bowl games broadcast that day by the television networks.

ABC-TV signed a contract Tuesday night with the Florida Citrus Sports Association to broadcast the bowl game for the next four years. Financial terms were not revealed.

"I can only say that it was a fair deal for both parties," said Bob Iger, ABC Sports vice president in charge of programming and acquisitions.

"Our TV revenues should enable us to pay more than we have paid in the past and over the four-year period get us to $1 million payoff per team," said Chuck Rohe, executive director of the Florida Citrus Bowl.

Bass: Guest Catches Onto Lead

LEESBURG (UPI) — Jerry Guest of Royston, Ga., took the lead Wednesday in the $667,315 Bass Anglers Sportsman Society's MegaBucks tournament on the Harris Chain of Lakes.

The field of 208 fishermen was cut to 50 after Wednesday's fishing as part of the elimination tournament that will be reduced to 10 after Thursday's round.

Guest has a three-day total of 14 bass, weighing 41 pounds, 6 ounces, and caught three fish Wednesday weighing a total of 12 pounds, 10 ounces.

Randy Noseley of Lake of the Ozarks, Mo., was in second place with 40 pounds, 10 ounces.

UCF Makes Rollins 39th Victim

Apopka's Lamar Chandler scattered six hits as the University of Central Florida zapped archrival Rollins College, 8-1, in college baseball Wednesday night at UCF. The Knights improved to 39-9. Rollins fell to 21-19.

UCF, which took care of Rollins, 8-2, Tuesday, received five shutout innings from Chandler as it built a 6-0 bulge. The Knights take on Florida tonight in Gainesville.

'Having Your Own' Brutal Words To Adoptive Parents

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: My wife and I are about to adopt a baby in the near future. When we tell friends and family this, the response is invariably the same: "Oh, that is wonderful! But I am sure you will have your own baby right after you receive the adopted one." This comment is absolutely devastating to prospective adoptive parents.

We understand that people mean well and are trying to say something supportive, but there are two reasons why this particular statement should never be made:

1. The subtle implication is that adopted babies are not as good as "your own," meaning one you bore yourself. My wife and I have many fears and apprehensions about adoption, the raising of an adopted child, and how that child will be viewed by others. This insensitive comment brings all of our fears to the surface.

2. Second, and even more important, friends and family often do not consider that the mother in question may not ever be able to bear a child of her own. My wife has been through many miscarriages, a tubal pregnancy, multiple surgeries, and she may never be able to bear our own child. We have many friends with similar tragic infertility problems and where the woman has no tubes, ovaries or uterus. Imagine the effect of this comment on them!

Please tell your readers that adoptive parents need to be reassured that their child is just as valued as the one they had hoped to bear themselves. Also, please avoid thoughtless and insensitive comments about "having your own" or "getting pregnant soon." They are brutal. I am a surgeon at a prominent medical school, but sign me...

EXPECTANT FATHER

DEAR ABBY: I dread going into public places any more because almost everywhere I go, video cameras are trained on me. I walked into a store the other day and was immediately confronted with myself on TV, and a large message that said, "Smile, You're on Video Camera. Shoplifters Will Be Prosecuted With Videotaped Evidence."

school's big dance is coming up. It's the only dance of the year so it's a big deal. I like to carry a purse with me in case I need money to call someone, or if I need to reapply eye makeup.

What do I do with my purse when I dance? Give it to my friend? Put it down and risk losing it? Should I shove the stuff in my pocket and forget the purse? Or dance with the purse on my shoulder?

R. IN LEVERETT, MASS.

DEAR R.: Carry the absolute minimum, and shove it in your pocket.

DEAR ABBY: Why does a woman sit around the house in front of her husband all day Saturday with a mud pack on her face and rollers in her hair just so she can look pretty for a bunch of strangers on Saturday night?

JUST ASKING

DEAR JUST: For the same reason a man shaves before going out among strangers, then comes home with a Brillo beard and nuzzles his wife.

MRS. L.M.S. MECHANICSVILLE, MD.

DEAR MRS. S.: I think it's a shame this method of discouraging shoplifting is used, but look at it this way: Although it is an invasion of privacy, stores that use this method are able to offer their merchandise at a lower cost because they will have fewer shoplifters. And shoplifters cost you and me money!

DEAR ABBY: I have a small but important problem. Our

Reagan Addresses Editors

By Sydney Shaw
WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Reagan promised newspaper editors Wednesday to investigate complaints that six reporters aboard the USS Saratoga were removed from the ship last month before Libya launched missiles at U.S. planes and the fleet fired back at Libyan targets.

"In response to reports that we deliberately went in there with provocation, that was the seventh such maneuver... conducted in that same area," Reagan told the annual convention of the American Society of Newspaper Editors.

"We knew that we were risking it, knowing the nature of (Libyan leader Moammar) Khadafi. But when they did launch the attack against us... we tried to round up the press and so inform them and make available to them the news."

Reagan was responding to a question from William Ketter, editor of The Patriot Ledger in Quincy, Mass., who asked him why a pool of six journalists covering the maneuvers in the Gulf of Sidra area were removed from the ship before it crossed Khadafi's so-called "line of death" and were not told a military encounter was imminent.

Reagan said the White House position on press coverage of military operations has not changed, but said the government must guard against leaks. "You'd be surprised how few people knew of that operation. Not even our press secretary knew."

"But I'm going to look into what you said about the six," he said. In prepared remarks, Reagan tried to drum up support for aid to the Nicaraguan Contra rebels and urged the editors to publish details of a State Department report on atrocities committed by Sandinista leaders.

Reagan denied he had been more critical of the media recently, invoking President Thomas Jefferson by saying, "I will protect and believe in a free press."

He then criticized media handling of the hijacking of a TWA plane last June in Lebanon, saying journalists at a news conference with hostage negotiator Nabih Berri, chief of the Shiite Moslem militia, should have asked why they were being allowed to leave while the American hostages were not.

The speech was Reagan's first to the American Society of Newspaper Editors since becoming president, although he addressed the group in 1980 as a presidential candidate. ASNE has been addressed by every U.S. president since its formation. Earlier Wednesday, sex therapist and columnist Dr. Ruth Westheimer urged newspaper editors to open their pages to frank examination of the nation's sexual problems and create a "sexually literate society."

"You have power because you have influence," she said. "We have a tremendous amount of sexual ignorance," Westheimer said during the panel discussion titled "What Editors Should Know About Sex." "We can send a man to the moon but we can't prevent 1.5 million unwanted pregnancies each year."

"You can create a sexually literate society. We have the data about human sexual function — what we don't have is the means to bring this to a wider audience."

Westheimer chided the group for overplaying a survey last year undertaken by columnist Ann Landers that said American women want to be hugged and caressed more than they want sexual intercourse. She pointed out that the survey, which she characterized as a step back to the Victorian era, was based on only 90,000 women, all readers of Landers' column.

"I'm old fashioned and square, rather conservative in my views — especially when it concerns research data." Hite held up a recent issue of USA Today sporting the headline "Dolly Parton gets in Shape."

"A woman is either a b o d y o r a grandmother," Hite said.

Rich Oppel, editor of the Charlotte (N.C.) Observer, said some editors have problems with Westheimer's column because they view it as entertainment rather than scientific fact.

"I wonder if we owe our readers a sex column," said panelist Jim Jacobson, editor of the Birmingham (Ala.) News.

Jacobson said his newspaper also doesn't print X-rated movie ads. If readers want sex information, they can buy books and magazines that address the issue or watch Westheimer on television, he said.

Other speakers at the 86th annual convention, which continues through Friday, include Chrysler Corp. chief Lee Iacocca, Transportation Secretary Elizabeth Dole and Chief Justice Warren Burger.

ASNE represents 900 editors in the United States and Canada. This year's convention is the largest, with 1,050 participants.

Frequent Headaches May Be Very Serious

Dr. Gott

DEAR DR. GOTT — My daughter, 17, seems to get a lot of headaches and she tells me that at least twice a week everything goes black. One of my other children died recently of congenital heart disease, and towards the end, that poor child really had it rough from seizures, although all the tests showed no sign of epilepsy. Could the headaches be the start of something serious?

the vein. The incisions are then closed and allowed to heal. Infection and swelling are complications. The blood trapped in the leg must find alternative pathways to the heart. Therefore, until new channels open up to accept the flow of blood, the patient may experience pain and edema (fluid accumulation) of the leg. Unfortunately, new varicose veins may form.

performed by most qualified general surgeons. However, before you opt for the operation, first try elastic stockings (which are heavier than support hose) and leg elevation; this approach is safer and cheaper.

Send your questions to Dr. Gott at P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, Ohio 44101.

DEAR READER — Headaches can indicate a serious condition. More often, however, they are self-limited and do not reflect a serious underlying disorder. Because your daughter is suffering from frequent, severe headaches, I think she ought to be examined by a neurologist who can diagnose the cause of her headaches and suggest appropriate treatment.

DEAR DR. GOTT — Do you know what Sweet's Syndrome is? My doctor says I may have the start of it, but admits he knows little about it. DEAR READER — I can find only one entry in my resource books, acute febrile neutrophilic dermatosis of Sweet. What this mouthful describes is a rare skin disease characterized by fever and painful nodules occurring on the extremities, face and neck. It may follow an ordinary upper respiratory infection and is thought to be due to an allergic reaction. Unfortunately, the condition may also be the first sign of an unsuspected malignancy, like leukemia, or a severe malfunction of the immune system. It occurs most commonly in middle-aged women and usually requires a biopsy for diagnosis.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I'm a healthy female, 26, with varicose veins. I wear support hose and exercise three to four times a week. Could you please explain the process of stripping the veins? What kind of doctor should I see? What are the pros and cons?

DEAR READER — Varicose stripping involves an incision at the bottom of the swollen vein, an incision at the top, introduction of a long instrument into the vein and a procedure to pull out

Answer to Previous Puzzle

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby

An opening weak two-bid in a major suit shows a six-card suit with the high-card strength concentrated in that suit. North reasoned that if South could take five spade tricks, his cards would somehow produce five more for a game contract. It was wise of North not to bid three no-trump, since in that contract the spades would give no more than two tricks.

After the king of hearts lead, there were various ways for declarer to approach the problem of taking 10 tricks. He could, of course, play the 10 of spades and overtake with the jack, cash the spade ace (hoping for the king to drop) and play another spade. Later if the club king did not drop after two ruffs, he would fall back on the diamond finesse. That's not a bad plan, but South did better.

He played the spade 10 from dummy and played low. When that held the trick, he played club ace and ruffed a club. Back to the ace of diamonds and another club ruff. Then to the king of diamonds and another club ruff. He now had eight tricks in and was left with the A-Q of spades. He exited with a red card and waited to take two more tricks with his two spades over the king in the East hand. Well played, South! Well bid, North!
