Morris turns over 3,300 petitions with minutes to spare

By Ruse White HERALD STAFF WRITER

SEMINOLE COUNTY - At precisely 11:11 a.m. Monday. Seminole County Commission Chairman Randy Morris came into the Supervisor of Elections Office with his hands full. He was carrying two boxes of qualifying petitions.

"How many do you have," Sandy Goard asked.

"There are 3,300," he said, 'exactly 3,300."

Noon was the deadline for

Morris to qualify by the petition route. He was more than satisfied that he not only had collected a sufficient number of signatures but that during the one-month process he had added 80 more campaign vol-

Morris, 42, is taking nothing for granted in his race against Bob West, a political newcomer who is counting on a successful grass-route campaign to dethrone the man who has chaired the county commission for 3 of the past 4

"I take Mr. West very seriously," Morris said Monday. "At the same time I am proud of my performance and extremely pleased that so many important people in government are supporting me and that so many people have volunteered for the campaign."

U.S. Rep. John Mica, Seminole County Shertff Don Eslinger. Tax Collector Ray Valdes, Seminole County Clerk of the Court Maryanne Morse, Property Appraiser Bill Suber and 6 of 7 county majors are mipporting Morris.

There is little doubt that Morris has been the key player on the commission the past 4 years. He's been enormously effective creating govern-ment/private partnerships and pacts with the 7 cities. He has pushed for economic development, a better transportation system and better roads and SEMINOLE COUNTY - Fireweary Florida can't seem to get a break. What little rain that has fallen has been accompa-nied by lightning strikes that started more than 12C wildfires in the last 4 days.

Historically, June has been the state's rainlest month - the average being 3 to 4 inches each June. But this year there has been only fractions of inches of rain and the conditions have caused wildfires in all but one of Florida's 67 counties. Monroe County in the Florida Keys is the only county to be spared.

SANFORD - Anthony M. "Tony" Vanderworp has been officially selected as Sanford's new city manager. Following an extensive series of interviews, he was chosen from what was originally more than 130 applicants.

The last move was an agreement on a contract between the city and Vanderworp. He agreed to an annual salary of $98,000. plus $450 per month as automobile allowance and an additional 10 percent of his salary, in addition to the salary, to be laid aside each year for retirement. The total annual expense involved is $113,200.

The contract was discussed during Monday afternoon's commission work session. City Attorney Bill Colbert explained that the contract was closely patterned after the International City Manager's Contract agreements, although there were come minor differences.

The only hesitation came when Commissioner Whitey Eckstein asked Vanderworp if he would be immediately asking the city for a deputy city manager. "In time, I expect to ask for a deputy city manager," Please See Manager, Page 2A

Longwood man charged with attempted murders of man, ex-girlfriend

By David Frazier HERALD STAFF WRITER

SANFORD - A Longwood man was charged with the attempted murders of an exgirlfriend and a Sanford man on Saturday, June 20.

Louis Schmidt, 55, of 961 First Place, Longwood, alleg-edly went to the home of James A. Mason, who resides at 3535 South Sipes Avenue, to confront his ex-girlfriend, Patricia Bieger, and Mason.

Around 2:15 p.m., Bieger was at Mason's home.

She went to retrieve her purse and lock her car when a black Mercedes pulled into Mason's driveway.

The report, written by Seminole County's Sheriff Investiga-tor Andrea Slaby, said that Schmidt exited his car and started towards Bieger uttering expletives and brandishing a 9 mm, semi-automatic handgun. Schmidt allegedly threatened to kill Bieger when Mason stepped outside to intervene. Shots were fired towards Mason and his home by Schmidt.

Mason returned fire with his

.22 caliber revolver which he voluntarily turned over to po-

Schmidt supposedly fired off two rounds which Mason returned with three or four rounds of his own.

According to the report, no one was injured yet casings were recovered around the crime scene.

In a sworn statement given to police, Schmidt said he carried the gun because he though that Bieger's new boyfriend wanted to kill him.

He later told investigator Slaby that he was unsure if he had threatened Bieger. He admitted to coming back by the house after fleeing and fired a shot into the air. Police stopped Schmidt at the corner of 14th Street and 2nd Place.

He was then transported to the John E. Polk Correctional Facility, where he signed a statement waiving his Miranda rights. He then gave his account to deputie.,

His car was impounded and

A week after my husband's sister and her france announced their wedding date, we had to call and tell them I was pregnant and due right around the date of their wedding. When's the last time you've heard about a woman named Emogene? Maybe that's why Emogene Cosmato prefers to be called, "Enunte"."

She says the nickname came from her late brother. Ralph 'He couldn't pronounce Emogene," Cosmato said. "It's not a name you hear very often. My mother choose it and the only Emogene I really heard of is the entertainer Imogene Coca."

For 14 1/2 years, Cosmato has been answering the call of duty at the Seminole Services Building. She served the past 10 as Administrative Aide to Commissioner Jennifer Kelley and as Executive Assistant to Commissioner Daryl McLain

Today, the county commissioners are going to recognize her performance by presenting a resolution of appreciation during their afternoon meeting. Cosmato is retiring on June 30. She hopes to travel with her husband, retired Baptist minister, Dr. Ted Cosmato and feast on Reese's Pranut Butter Cups.

The Cosmatos, who celebrate their 45th wedding anniversary on July 10, will be going to her native North Carolina and to Virginia to celebrate both the anniversary and her retirement. 'My husband has been waiting for me," she said.

"It has been a pleasure for me to work with this fine Christian woman," McLain said today. 'She's made my job as a commissioned. I wish her well."

*Anyone who ever called Commissioner Kelley or McLain had to realize what a nice person Emmie is," said Diane Merkt, Executive Assistant to Commission Chairman Randy Morris. *She puts everyone at case. She is so homey and hospitable."

Fired officer speaks

I would just like to comment about the firing of myself Inv. Terry L. Mullins and Officer Arthur Barnes from the Sanford Police Department.

I was fired back on Feb. 9, 1998 without any pay or insurance pending the final outcome of the appeals process and I am the first and only officer to be treated this way. I have since learned that Arthur Barnes was fired with full pay and his insurance pending his outcome of appeals process.

Both of us have the same amount of time with the Sanford Police Department, 11 years of outstanding service, doing a job we both love and were proud to do.

At a recent commission meeting last Monday evening. I was present and listened to the voice of the people wanting to know from the commissioners and city manager and the mayor, why this has taken so long to be resolved and why has it happened in the first place. Why wasn't it stopped before it went this far. All the answers were the same to everyone who asked, and all the answers given were just a dance around the real issue. They were all told of how the process has to run its course and it takes time and they the commissioners, mayor and city manager have to let it run its course and at the end they will get a final package explaining the findings.

This is true to some extent, but the fact of the matter is, it does not have to be dragged out over several months of hearings and findings. The police chief is the person who can stop this now. All he has to do is tell city hall he no longer wishes to have this type of punishment implemented against us and its then over. We would be called back to work and be allowed to continue to protect and serve the citizens again as we were hired too.

I was fired over 4 months ago for smoking a cigarette on duty and was asked not to light it and because I did light it anyway, it was called insubordination. Arthur was fired for bad conduct and insubordination. Tell me where is the justice in this type of treatment of veteran officers. This is to say the very least cruel and unusual punishment.

If we had committed a crime or had been bad officers with a history of bad conduct I could see a form of punishment, but this is not the case at all. It is simply a case of us not being one of the good ole' boys and telling those who are what a good job they are doing and how much we admire them.

This is where the whole problem lies. It is because we refuse to kiss up to them and pat them on the back and want to be like them. It is because we refuse to do this is why we have become the target of such harsh and cruel punishment. I am talking about Chief Joe Dillard. This is a man who comes to work and makes comments about how he hates it and is only there to collect a pay check.

What kind of leader is this. No wonder the officers have the attitudes they do, when the top man hates being there. This comment can be backed up by several inside the department who can testify to him saying it. So why don't you just go then Joe, and let the police department be taken by a man who loves doing the job and will treat the men and women right and with respect. The officers do the job because they all have the same idea myself and Arthur have, that is they want to do the right thing to protect and serve the city. Just because you don't want to work Joe, is no reason to fire all of us who do.

I think you should be faced with the stress and heavy heart of being fired. I think it's time you were put in our place, then you will see how it feels. So before you get put into this place why don't you do the right thing and bring Arthur and me back to work and put a stop to this once and for all. You have the power. All it takes is a phone call. Why not be a man and show the people you do care and let 2 good officers return to do our jobs. Remember kindness begets kindness, compassion begets compassion, forgiveness begets forgiveness.

Preserving Fort Mellon Park

At the City Commission Workshop last month you presented Agenda Item Number 8C "Facts About the Proposed Hotel/Conference Center at Ft. Mellon Park." You indicated at that meeting that you would be distributing this fact sheet to all citizens of Sanford. At the same meeting the city attorney. Mr. Colbert, reminded the commission that the City should not give an opinion or take an official position on this issue. By excluding the fact The Society for the Preserva-tion of Fort Mellon Park opposes the use of the park for development, as well as naming a specific site, constitutes the city having taken an official position in favor of "the proposed Hotel/Conference Center at Ft. Mellon Park."

With that in mind, as well as my third-hand understanding that approximately $2,000 in tax revenues was spent on the printing and distribution of this fact sheet. The Society for the Preservation of Fort Mellon Park requests that a fact sheet from The Society be provided to the same citizens at city expense equal to that expended on the city's fact sheet. In lieu of this request we would ask that equal dollars be set aside for The Society so that we can distribute our own fact sheet independent of yours.

The Summer Olympics in Orlando??? We better think twice about it

SANFORD _ What's all this about the Olympics coming to Orlando?

There is no way this town can be ready to host an event on that scale, whether it be 16 years or 116 years from now.

Where do we start? First off of all, how is anyone going to get anywhere?

in 1998, the transportation system in Central Florida is awful. During rush hour, it's impossible to get from Point A to Point B and during an Olympics, every hour is rush

So the obvious solution is to build a light rail or a subway system.

Great, except that, unless there's an Olympics in town, there's very little reason to go to Downtown Orlando. What will the system be used for except for two weeks that won't come around for 14 years?

Next, It's just too darned hot in Orlando. In 1996, the world almost melted in Atlanta. Can you imagine Orlando in the middle of the summer, trying to host anything in the middle of the afternoon? The ambulances that will be needed for the passed-out fans won't be able to get anywhere because of the traffic from the people that don't want to get on a subway that goes to nowhere.

Next up, where will you put everything? The ugly dome that is already the laughing stock of major league baseball over in St. Petersburg will host gymnastics, basketball and baseball, but what about the opening

If the games are in Orlando, that means fixing up the Citrus Bowl. Why?

Except for the Olympics, the place is used on New Year's Day, Central Florida home games (hopefully by 2012, they'll have an on-campus facility) and soccer.

How many millions will it cost Orlando to fix up a stadium that is hardly ever used? Of course we wouldn't have to think about it if Jacksonville hadn't outsmarted Orlando in the NFL expansion derby five years ago.

Next up, how much will Orlando lose in its regular summer tourism revenue? Won't people shy away from Orlando as a summer vacation destination with the Olympics in town?

Where are the positives in all this? Orlando doesn't need to improve its image as a worldclass travel destination. It's already number one in the world for tourists, so why take a chance that visitors from all over the world will get a bad impression of The City Beautiful? Standing in lines waiting for transportation while baking in 105 degree temperatures and traveling all over Central Florida to get from venue to venue won't create the best impressions.

Also, remember, cities like Montreal in 1976 have nearly gone bankrupt trying to host the games. Of course you can do what Atlanta did in 1996 and turn itself into a living billboard of corporate sponsorship, but we wouldn't want Florida to look tacky. would we?

People talk about the civic pride It' would bring to Orlando, but people are forgetting one thing: nobody is actually from Orlando. Ask 100 people on the streets where they are from and 95 will mention someplace other than here. Shoot, we don't even play state income tax. The Olympics was a nice idea. Let someone else have the headaches.

Last Second Shot: I know America lost to Iran in the World Cup Sunday. Aren't I supposed to be depressed or something?

p.m. on WESH channel 2. Kuchar, who has made the cut in all four professional tour events he has played in and was also the low amateur in The Masters, was outstanding in the first two rounds, shooting an even-par 70 in the first round on Thursday and a now-under-par 69 on Friday, a score that left him in fourth place after two rounds. On Saturday, Kuchar was not ESPN Sports Center in the playing his best, but he made several good shots to save par and was at even-par for the tournament at the turn and was tied for second place, just three strokes behind leader Payne Stewart.

But the unbelievably tough Olympic course finally got to Kuchar, who bogeyed four straight holes and finished at six over par for the day and five over for the tournament. On Sunday, Kuchar and his father Peter were featured on morning and then he went out and shot one of the better rounds on the day, a four-over-par 74, to finish tied for 14th and ahead of Tiger Woods and Emie Els.

After being on Leno tonight, Kuchar plans to return home to Lake Mary for a rest before traveling to Europe to play in the Loch Lomand Invitational, the British Open and the Palmer Cup before defending his 1997 U.S. Amateur title at Oak Hill in New York.

Hyperventilation can be scary

By Peter H. Gott. M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: My wife was taken to the hospital because she felt she couldn't get enough air into her lungs. This caused her to breathe rapidly. Soon thereafter, she became all tingly and numb

After testing her heart and lungs, the ER physician told her to breathe into a paper bag. What on earth is this all about?

DEAR READER: From your brief description, I conclude that your wife suffered from "hyperventilation syndrome." For some reason (perhaps stress or anxiety), she began to overbreathe. As she expelled more and more carbon dioxide, the normal acidity of her body fluids fell. Her system became too alkaline. This, in turn, resulted in the strange feelings of tin-gling and numbness. Lightheadedness is also a common sensation.

The treatment for hyperventilation syndrome is easy and cheap. By breathing into a paper bag, the patient recycles carbon dioxide and maintains a normal body acidity.

This syndrome is not harmful, but it can be frightening. If your wife experi-ences another episode, she should be able to overcome the attack by using a paper bag for a few minutes. This is, believe it or not, standard medical therapy for this condition. And it works.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I suffer from a terrible bladder condition called "interstitial cystitis." Nothing my doctors have done relieves my pain. Is there any help for me?

DEAR READER: Interstitial cystitis is a chronic, painful, debilitating inflammation of the bladder wall. leading to extreme discomfort, urgency and frequency. The cause is unknown

To a degree, the diagnosis is one of exclusion; infection, cancer, endometriosis and a variety of other conditions must first be ruled out by appropriate testing IC is associated with multiple, punctate hemorrhages of the bladder lining, which are easily seen during cystoscopy

Until recently, therapy for IC was often ineffective. Now, however, a new drug has been released. Called Elmiron, the pill must be taken every day for several months. Ask your doctor about this breakthrough.

DEAR DR. GOTT: Ten years ago, I had a routine chest X-ray that was reported to show emphysema. I was not a smoker. My doctor ordered pul-monary function tests, which were normal. Two years ago. I had a repeat film that was again interpreted as emphysema. Why does this happen? Are the radiologists wrong?

DEAR READER: Apparently, they are.

In its early forms, emphysema is difficult to diagnose on chest X-ray exams. Some radiologists overread the films if they see evidence that the diaphragm muscles are flat and the lungs appear overexpanded. Remember, these doctors are looking at shadows, and shadows can be misinterpreted.

If you have no history of respiratory symptoms, exposure to industrial pol-lutants, cigarette smoke, asthma and so forth, you can safely ignore the X-ray readings. Before doing so, however, make certain that your family doctor agrees with my position.

Benefiting from reader comment

By Phillip Alder

Britain's best player, Tony Forrester, writes for The Daily Telegraph. He has put together a collection of his columns, "Vintage Forrester" (Batsford). There is advice on all aspects of the game, with a wide variety of subject matter and complexity level. In particular, Forrester's recomm tions are practical. He describes only conventions that he feels are useful.

Forrester admits that the articles' quality has been improved by taking advantage of suggestions from readers. Here is one of the easier deals, featuring a defensive play that has been highlighted many times in the literature, but is often missed by players below the expert level.

South's jump to four spades is a overbid, but if he made a game-try North would accept with his near max

In answer to his partner's opening bid, West leads the heart seven, East winning and playing two more rounds of the suit. When South ruffs the last of these with the spade queen, what should West do? There is a natural reaction to overruff, but it's wrong. South will win whatever West returns, draw trumps and claim. His losers are one spade and two hearts.

Note the difference if West discards at trick three. South's remaining trumps are headed by the ace-jacknine. Sitting over him, West has the king-10-two. West must collect two trump tricks, to go with East's pair of heart winners.

The book is $22.95 postpaid from Baron Barclay Bridge Supplies. Call (800) 274-2221 to order.

HOROSCOPE

Tuesday, June 23, 1998

In the year ahead, you may become involved in an ambitious project. Success is in the offing if you're dedicated and consistent — the size of your payback will be based on the effort you expend.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Be mindful of how you interact with others today. Your patience could wear thin, and if someone does something you dislike. you might respond unbecomingly. Trying to patch up a broken romance? The Astro-Graph Matchmaker can help you understand what to do to make the relationship work. Mail $2.75 to Matchmaker, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 1758. Murray Hill Station, New York, NY 10156. LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Assistance you've been hoping for might not be forthcoming today. To be on the safe zide, have a back-up plan prepared. VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Your objectives may not be handed to you on a silver platter today. Be prepared to put out ASTRO-GRAPH BERNICE BEDE OSOL additional effort to fulfill your aspirations. LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Today you might relegate logic and objectivity to a back bench and resort to the luxury of emotionalizing. You won't find your answers in that venue. SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nev. 22) If you're not careful today, you could be drawn into an undesirable arrangement and obligate yourself to engage in something you'd normally avoid.

SAGITTARIUS (Nev. 23-Dec. 21) It's necessary today that you do all you can to be cooperative. An important relationship could be jeopardized if you're self-

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Sys-natize your work today and establish a realistic agenda. If you don't, you could become uninspired and disorganized. AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Strive to keep everything out in the open today. Tricky or petty political maneuvers could be interpreted as deceitful and cause you PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) The best way to defuse the domestic crisis that may occur today is to keep your temper from taking over. A cool head will calm everyone down. ARIES (Merch 21-April 19) It's important not to judge the behavior of associates before you understand their motives today. Rushing to conclusions could create unnecessary problems.

TAURUS (April 20-Mey 20) There's a possibility you may be denied something you desire today due to past extravagance. This is a lesson you'll have to learn the hard way. GEMINI (May 21-June 20) If you sulk around the house with a cranky disposition today, don't expect family members to cater to you. They won't be in the mood to deal with your irritability.
