Clementel, Finance Minister Of France Offers Resignation

Herriot and Ministers Decide To Carry on Arrangement Policy At Least for Present

Confidence Vote Given To Herriot

Government Against Scheme To Increase Bank Bills Output

PARIS, Apr. 3.—Having given overboard finance minister Clementel, his resignation will be carried out at least for the present. This decision was reached at a conference with Premier Herriot at 5 o'clock this morning.

Finance Minister Clementel, explaining the Government program for the solution of French financial difficulties, touched upon vaguely the different projects in view and in this respect the Senate was disappointed.

However, he made it clear that the Government realizes the necessity of an early funding of war debts. Once again he declared that France will pay.

U. S. Knows We Will Pay "Americans know we mean to pay," he said. "We have so assured Mr. Hughes and Secretary of State Kellogg. We have found in considering the matter with them that the old fraternity of arms has not been forgotten, and we are confident of a satisfactory arrangement."

The explanation for his lack of precision regarding the financial program was found during the afternoon when it became known that the Socialist wing of Premier Herriot's majority had sent a delegation to the Premier this morning to express the dissatisfaction of the group with the projects as unveiled yesterday evening's official communiqué.

The Socialists demanded that the Government substitute a capital levy for the increased taxation project vetoed. The group did not veto increased circulation, but declared it could not vote for it, or for an amended budget when it comes back from the Senate, unless the Socialist reforms incorporated in it by the chambers were left virtually intact, and unless the new proposed taxation was replaced by a capital levy.

Dodge, Dangerous Points Consequently M. Clementel was obliged to tack around these dangerous points involved in the Government program. Ex-Premier Herriot, however, made such an impression on the senators that the upper house after his speech was in a state of effervescence such as has been rarely witnessed since the days of the Bourbon monarchy.

Premier Herriot, informed of the fact created by M. Clementel's announcement, hurried to the Senate and conferred earnestly with the Finance Minister, M. Beaumais, Minister of Justice, M. Chauvière, Minister of Interior, and other Cabinet members who were present during the debate. Later he held conference with Senate leaders.

LEON TROTSKI MAY RETURN TO POLITICAL LIFE

Former Leader Now in Exile Has Patched Up Compromise With Stalin of Tri-Umverate, May Return Soon

Compromise Made At Zenoviev Cost

Trotsky's Return Expected To Close Party Breach His Removal From Office Made

BERLIN, Apr. 3.—Leon Trotsky's return to Moscow and his resumption of political activity are expected shortly, according to authoritative information available here. According to information Trotsky has patched up a compromise with Stalin, who, with Zenoviev and Kamenev, forms the triumvirate, that has been serving Russia since the same information has it, that the compromise is at Zenoviev's expense.

Trotsky's return from exile is expected as a result. No serious consideration is given reports that have been circulating about Trotsky's "death."

Will Close Breach Trotsky's return is expected to help close the party breach his removal from office provoked. It is declared the party strife in Russia has become so threatening since Trotsky's deposition from his high office, that serious considerations have been compelled to postpone until autumn the congress of the Russian Communist party, scheduled originally for this month.

Trotsky's return to office and his reconciliation with his party will be, it is hoped, help improve the party atmosphere and avoid a more serious split. Several months' time is considered necessary, however, for the healing process to produce the desired result.

Zinoviev Is Better Vorwaerts, in its correspondence from Moscow today reports a serious conflict between Stalin and Zinoviev over Trotsky and the third international. "Vorwaerts," says Zinoviev has never forgotten Stalin for his refusal to agree to Trotsky's expansion from the party instead of his mere removal from office. It is said that in this matter Zinoviev suspected Stalin of a plan to use Trotsky as a reserve card for future dealing.

Stalin insists upon clipping the wings of the third international, which, with other soviet leaders, he considers an unavoidable step if the soviet government is to obtain wider foreign recognition and credits. This proposal, to Zinoviev, the chief of the third international, appears a direct attack for the purpose of undermining his position in the communist hierarchy.

The "Wassche Zeitung" reports peace has been patched up between Stalin and Trotsky as the result of a visit to Trotsky by Rykoff and other members of the government, where they attended the sessions of the central executive committee of the soviets. Rykoff and his companions are reported as having called on Trotsky at Moscow, where he lives now, and offered him the compromise already mentioned.

Plans For Student Band Are Launched By Sanford Teacher

Preparations to organize a student band, the financing of which, with the exception of purchasing instruments, was authorized when the special committee of the Chamber of Commerce raised approximately $4,800 by subscription for a Municipal Band, have been started by Joe Reizenstein, local music teacher and bandmaster of the organization now existing.

It is the plan of Mr. Reizenstein to enroll 50 boys and young men as members of the student organization or junior band as it is to be called. Members of the student band will be called upon to bear no expense save buy their instruments. The salary of the bandmaster and other expenses are met from the sum raised by the Chamber of Commerce.

The organization and training of such a musical unit, it is declared by Mr. Reizenstein, will be of benefit to the district of the band here. It is the plan to graduate, as soon as the students have progressed sufficiently, members to the junior band into the senior organization where to avoid regular places.

Mr. Reizenstein has asked that anyone desiring information relative to the band communicate with him.

Orlando Gives Up Claim To State League Berth To Local Club Thursday

Sanford will be the fourth entrant in the Florida State Baseball League. This was decided upon at a conference last night at Orlando of representatives of the Sanford and Orlando clubs.

Wishing to have no strings attached to the Sanford franchise, Charley Britt, vice-president of the Sanford club, and spokesman for the local delegation, stated that Sanford desired the exclusive management of the club. Orlando will have no interest in the Sanford club other than a friendly one.

Franklin D. Kline, president of the Orlando club, then formally withdrew his entry in favor of the Sanford team, explaining that approximately $1,000 has been spent in preparation for the season by local enthusiasts, whereas a street appeared to be larger in Orlando. Sanford was represented at the conference by five officials of the club. In addition to Mr. Britt, they were V. E. Chittenden, business manager; V. E. Douglas, secretary; Nick Carter, club manager; and Frank Meisen, one of the directors.

The Florida State League will be composed of Sanford, Tampa, St. Petersburg and Lakeland for the opening half of the season, with the probability that Orlando, Palatka, West Palm Beach and Miami will join the circuit after the closing of the season.

Orlando is considered a certainty to enter the league at the opening of the second term of the season, and if it is decided to form a six-club circuit, Palatka, West Palm Beach and Miami will fight it out for the remaining berth.

President King of the Orlando club offered to donate $250 towards the support of Sanford's entry, which was promptly accepted by the Sanford club.

BREWERS LOSE IN COMEDY-DRAMA LAST CONTEST ON CHAUTAUQUA MUNICIPAL FIELD BILL FOR FRIDAY

Milwaukee Team Loses In Last Practice Game On Local Diamond to Reading Club of the International League

Playing their last practice game here this winter, the Milwaukee Brewers lost to the Reading team of the International League at the Municipal field park yesterday afternoon by a score of 4-3.

Manager Harry Clark used Sandors and Bell against the Pennington team and despite the hitting of Richmond and Melillo, the Brewers were unable to shove over the necessary tallies to chalk up a victory.

Reading knocked out ten safely yesterday afternoon at the Municipal ball park, while the trio of International League twirlers, Howe, Catley and Lynch allowed eight hits, five runs and three errors, which, in addition to the hitting of Richmond and Melillo, and other members of the government, where they attended the sessions of the central executive committee of the soviets. Rykoff and his companions are reported as having called on Trotsky at Moscow, where he lives now, and offered him the compromise already mentioned.

Sanford's big league practice games are over with the departure this morning of the Brewers and the Reading team to Leesburg where a fine Florida spring training camp will be played, prior to the club's traveling to their respective cities to open the regular season.

Following the game this afternoon at Leesburg between the representatives of the two Class AA teams, the Milwaukee squad will return to Sanford where they will be making a short stopover for a few days before traveling to Nashville for a practice game and thence to the Wisconsin metropolis for the opening game of the season. The team will arrive at the Municipal ball grounds early next week.

Throughout the week here the chautauqua tent has been well attended and arrangements are now underway for additional seats for the play Friday night.

"Adam and Eva," is not, as one would suppose from the name, a burlesque dramatization of the old saying: "The woman did it." It is, instead, a rather satirical presentation of the extravagance of the younger generation of America. Although it rises to rather lofty heights in portraying the follies of young America, it tones down to the conventional sugar coated ending.

NOTE OF PERU IS PRESENTED TO PRESIDENT

Communication Makes Several Requests for Greater Protection and Extension of Rights in Coming Plebiscite

Duplicate Is Sent Chili Government

Coolidge Asked to Replace Chilean Troops in Tacna-Arica With U. S. Marines

WASHINGTON, Apr. 3.—The expected Peruvian communication relating to the Tacna-Arica arbitration award by President Coolidge was delivered here Thursday afternoon by Mr. Starnes, state department official.

The communication, which is in the form of a memorial addressed to the arbitrator, makes several requests looking to greater protection and extension of the rights of Peruvian nations to vote in the plebiscite which is to determine sovereignty of the two provinces under the award.

Among the steps the President is asked to take is the replacement of Chilean military and police units in Ataca and Arica, preferably with American troops or marines. Should such action be undesirable to the American Government, however, the memorial is understood to say, in effect, that the Peruvian Government would be satisfied if a native constabulary was established in the two provinces to supplant the Chilean troops and police forces.

Only Residents May Vote. Another point taken up is the question of the right of Peruvians now residing in the two territories to cast their ballots in the plebiscite. The award makes only those nationals of other Peru or Chile in the territories for a period of five years and were subsequently expelled by the Chilean authorities should be granted the right to vote in the plebiscite.

The memorial also asks for a modification of the conditions fixed by the arbitrator deals with a stipulation which excludes from the voting all persons found guilty of criminal offenses. The Peruvian Government is understood to argue that a number of Peruvian nationals, resident in the territories, have been convicted from time to time during the period of Chilean occupation of the territories of criminal charges, and on their conviction many of these are said to have been expelled. On this ground, request is made that re-trial under conditions that will insure fair verdicts be granted to such Peruvians as fall within the classification for which the memorial pleads.

Government's Case Against Fall Gets A Serious Setback

WASHINGTON, Apr. 3.—The Government's effort to secure criminal convictions against Albert Fall and the oil magnates who negotiated the celebrated western oil leases with him encountered a serious setback today when all the indictments were thrown out of court, because of the present in the grand jury room of the assistant attorney general while the indictments were being drawn up.

Last summer the District of Columbia supreme court held that neither Fall, Edward Dohney, Harry F. Sinclair nor Edward Dohney Jr. had been legally indicted. The bill charging Fall and the Dohneys with criminal conspiracy was first dismissed on the ground that the assistant attorney general's presence in the grand jury room was contrary to law, then the court proceeded in another opinion to apply the same rule to the Fall and Sinclair conspiracy indictment.

Judge of Dennistown Case Voids Verdict

LONDON, Apr. 3.—Justice Sir Henry McCardie delivered his verdict this morning, holding that the alleged claim by Mrs. Dorothy Muriel Dennistown for support by her former husband after divorce was void on account of her persistent refusal to testify.

The judgment sets aside verdict of a jury last month awarding her damages.

Arguments In Case Of Gerald Chapman To Be Ended Today

Fate Of Famous Bandit Will Rest In The Hands Of Jury Before Court Adjourns

Chapman Insists He Is Innocent

Defense Says State's Star Witness Is A "Piker and Rascal"

HARTFORD, Conn., Apr. 3.—Gerald Chapman on "trip" for his life will stand in the power of a Connecticut jury some time today. Evidence in the case in which Chapman is accused of the murder of a policeman was completed yesterday.

The arguments will be completed today said Judge Jennings in charge of the jury which will retire probably before noon. Resuming his argument in behalf of Chapman, Frederick J. Groehl again attacked Walter E. Shean, the state's star witness characterizing him as a "soaking piker and a rascal." Groehl attacked the state's methods of permitting identification witnesses to take many looks at the prisoner before taking the stand to swear to identification. "I will live or repudiate," declared Groehl in closing the summation.

Gerald Chapman Thursday laid claim to his title of extraordinary criminal. State's summation, Hugh A. McCormack, opened his summation with a characterization of Groehl's plea that Chapman be permitted to live to represent as a defense counsel's confession of guilt. He characterized the defense as a "rascal's frequently he bent forward and down the land pillaging and murdering." The case was given to the jury early this afternoon.

He took the stand as the last witness in his own defense. For more than an hour he strove by every face of his persuasive voice, the seeming sincerity of his manner, and the ingenuity of his explanations to shift from his shoulders its tremendous burden of evidence which the state believes proves him a murderer.

Not once did he lose hope. Most of the time his head lay capped indolently on one long, white hair. Frequently he bent forward and down the land pillaging and murdering. The case was given to the jury early this afternoon.

Frequently Interrupted Alcorn Alcorn, with hard clipped words, tried to shake Chapman from his story. Chapman would not be shaken. Frequently he interrupted Alcorn with additional details for which he had not been asked, as if he were trying to be certain the whole and not partial truth would come out.

He took the stand and admitted crook. He spoke languidly of changing names.

"Names don't mean anything," he said significantly to an indignant question from Alcorn. "They were changed just as easily as a collar or anything else."

Alcorn, who has a fearsome reputation among criminals in this region as the prosecution's chief counsel, finally gave Chapman up as a bad job. Then Chapman at his own request, twice returned to the stand. It seemed there were some additional facts he wished the jury to understand.

During the last few minutes, when he turned his long, tightly drawn face full upon the jury, Chapman seemed to take command of the court room. The crowd which had fought with police, and deputy sheriffs, until two women were painfully injured, to get into the courtroom, craned for forward. Even Judge Jennings watched the prisoner as if fascinated.

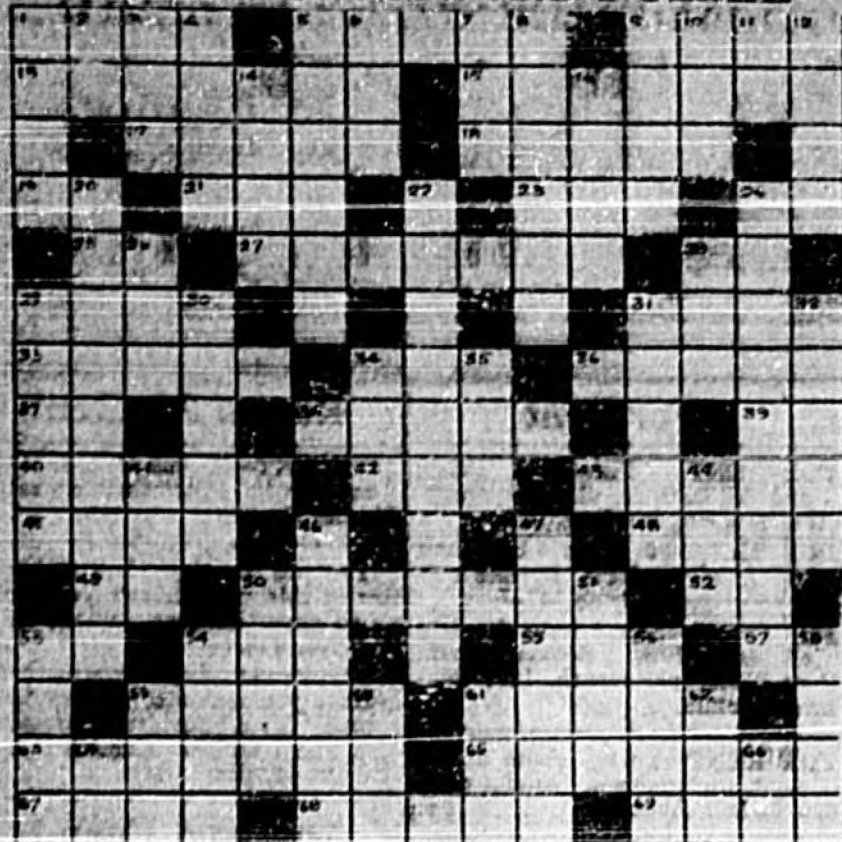

The twelve jurors, most of them white-haired, unemotional Yankees, asked him to tell the jury that the burglar's tools found in the Shean advertising agency in Springfield, Mass., after Shean confessed to taking part in the robbery of the New Britain, Conn., department store, in which Police man James Skelly was killed. He explained the sledge hammer, found where it had been abandoned in the department store, was the property of "Dutch" Anderson, his partner.

He told that he had come to Shean as a bootlegger and had brought him the nitroglycerine—soup, as they call it—and burglar's tools at Shean's persistent request. He told of Shean's "mob" and how Shean had access to the Lincoln car Chapman and Anderson brought from the west, and used it to make his persistent request for "trips" with the boys. The car was a 1914 Ford.

He told of bootlegging with "Dutch" Anderson and two other men, known as "Tripp" and "Sully" and the boys of the jury listened with excitement.

"Tripp and Sully," he said slowly, "were really just employed by us."

VOTE HUNTERS IN ITALY LIKENED TO ANCIENT BORGIAS

Italian Proponents of Equal Political Rights For Men And Women Angered at Fraud They Say Practiced

ROME, Apr. 2.—Angered by the suspicion that they have been the victims of political game and indignation at the idea that the government has openly broken its promise to grant women suffrage in municipal elections, Italian proponents of equal political rights for men and women have begun anew and vigorous campaign to win public opinion to their side of the case and to make the government change its stand.

The decision of committee of the Senate and Chamber of Deputies, rejecting woman's suffrage as a step too inopportune to be taken at this time, was a particularly bitter one for the suffragists because it came but a short time after they had been never before by the declaration of Premier Mussolini before a congress here of women from all parts of the globe that intended to grant the vote to its women.

ANDREWS MADE CHIEF OF DRY FORCES IN U. S.

Through the concentration of all prohibition enforcement work under one head, the treasury hopes to make no immediate change; either in personnel of policy, but he has authority, after a study of the situation to take such action as he sees fit to improve enforcement conditions.

Some details of the jurisdiction which Mr. Andrews will exercise over the office prohibition commissioner has not been worked out, but Mr. Winton is hopeful, that a few months experience will enable the authorities to determine more closely the division of authority over the unit between the assistant secretary and internal revenue commissioner, Blair.

INDIAN RULER CHARGED WITH LATE MURDER

The murder of the century even without its religious and political significance, what can only be described as the "state execution" of a Bombay industrial magnate would be that.

When at a preliminary hearing Muntaz declared vehemently that her baby was murdered, the attorney prosecuting for the British government remarked to the magistrate, "I think it well to record it that the child died," and the British semi-official news agency did not cable to the outside world the charge by Muntaz against her royal master.

Unwelcome Riches Drive Modest Vet To Lone Star State

EL DORADO, Apr. 2.—Oil, the liquid gold of fiction, is a fugitive among minerals and more often than not eludes man, but not "Uncle Nap" Brown. "Uncle Nap" is the fugitive. Twice oil has overwhelmed him with added riches and now he has what he hopes is a haven, a farm in Texas, where oil has not been struck, yet.

Napoleon Bonaparte Brown, 80 years old, a veteran of the Confederacy, worth $500,000, and owner of nine automobiles, has been trying desperately to escape the "flowing gold" by moving from farm to farm.

First "Uncle Nap," as he is affectionately known, moved from the old homestead in the south oil field. Twenty wells, with as many shrieking and pumping engines, drove him to seek peace and quiet on another farm four miles east of this city.

Then he chose Gaines county, Texas, near the Seminole reservation, as a haven. Here with 800 acres of land on which oil has not been struck, as yet, he wrote away from "civilization," as he whimsically calls that which striking oil brings to people.

In the Land of Let's Pretend. In the Land of Let's Pretend, Ah! what magic hours we spend!

In the Land of Let's Pretend. Boy and I great journeys wend; A row of clouds becomes a train.

In the Land of Let's Pretend. The witchery of elfland falls Upon those mod. st. nursery walls.

In the Land of Let's Pretend. Some folks spend so much time sharpening their saws they never have time to saw anything.

According to the latest statistics an ounce of spider web if fully extended will stretch from Sanford to Atlanta.

The main trouble with some organizations is that they have too many generals and not enough privates.

If Brisbane knows anything about it, we will lose our next war on account of the "overhead."

No, Wood didn't lose all his money. We Americans are extending too cordial a welcome to him for that.

The trouble about this "Smile Week" which Canada has, is that down here everyone would think they were being laughed at.

Did you ever hear this story before? Three years ago he bought five acres of land for five hundred dollars and sold it the other day for thirty thousand.

A nature magazine figures that there are only two birds to every acre in the United States. He didn't include the birdies on the golf links—Tampa Tribune.

Tennessee's legislation against the teaching of evolution seems to indicate not only that man rose from lower forms of animal life but also that a few outstanding characteristics of our anthropoid ancestors still prevail among the inhabitants of some of our more backward communities.

"Her Own Self A-Croppin' Out"

Sanford's "meanest" woman was seen in the post-office a day or so ago. She was all dressed up and she greeted a number of acquaintances with winning smiles.

In charming fashion the woman stopped for a few gracious words to a beaming old man and then tripped daintily down the steps when a ragged little boy rushed up, his face alight with loving admiration.

The young woman had the flower in her hand seemingly before she knew it, but she quickly let it drop, and with quite the ugliest look ever seen in Sanford, exclaimed, "You ought to be killed for a trick like that. Filthy little varmint."

But, somehow, we cannot let that story have a place today without recounting another "to take away the bad taste" it leaves. This one cannot be so specific as to locations because there is a chance that a certain fine girl might be annoyed if her identity were disclosed.

In this instance the "gracious woman" also was all dressed up, and the youngster had grimey hands in which were clustered a sticky ball of candy which had been in and out of his mouth many times.

With one quick, stern glance she squelched the titter of some lookers-on as she took the sticky gift, and her low voice sincere and sweet said, "Oh, thank you, dear. I adore bon-bons."

A Study In Forestry

Along with the preparations for "Forest Week", which will be observed this year April 27 to May 3, sharpen your wits answering these rhymed questions prepared about twenty years ago by Charlotte E. Stimson for the Delineator.

- 1.—What tree a kissing game could play? 2.—And which its father's name could say? 3.—Which shall we wear to keep us warm? 4.—And which do ships prefer in storm?

MY FAVORITE STORIES BY IRVIN S. COBB

On the historic afternoon when Jack Johnson fought Jim Jeffries in Nevada for the world's championship there was a baseball game at the old Polo grounds.

Several hundred spectators, drawn by the fact that telegraph instruments were clicking in the press stand, packed themselves solidly behind the wire netting in the hope of hearing tidings from Reno over the wire.

Now it so happened that Adams had a bet down on the negro to win, and accordingly favored the black contender. In his turn to "read" a round, he would depict Johnson as hammering Jeffries into a pulp.

Dramatically Mercer raised his hand for silence, and a deep hush befell. "The dispatches did not state," he said, simply, and sat down again.

As Brisbane Sees It

Calvin "Bear Ribs." The Diamond Trust. Wall Street Doesn't Know. Ford's Flax Mill.

THE INDIANS in North Dakota to make President Coolidge a member of their tribe and confer upon him the name of "Bear Ribs."

ONE OF the tightest trusts in the world is the big diamond trust, managed by owners of South African diamond mines. Just now that trust is bothered by over-production of diamonds.

A FEW years ago Thomas F. Ryan, of New York, who isn't the easiest man to deal with in a financial fight, bought African diamond mines. He sends his diamonds out by flying machine.

HERBERT HOOVER tells his fellow citizens not to pay attention to the Wall Street slump, and not to believe that it means anything serious as regards business prosperity generally.

It only means, says Mr. Hoover, that Wall Street is a poor barometer. That may comfort you, although it won't comfort some of the geese that gambled in the highly speculative stocks and have now gone back to work to earn some more money.

COTTON STATES will be interested in the news that Russia is increasing cotton acreage this year by 300,000 acres.

More interesting to cotton growers are experiments that Henry Ford is making with flax. He believes that flax can be produced at a price lower than the price of cotton.

MR. FORD plans to use flax instead of cotton in the material used for covering seats of Ford cars. He believes that machinery, working at low cost, will replace nearly all hand labor that has made linen so expensive.

DONALD McMillan, arctic explorer, urges President Coolidge to raise the American flag over more territory near the North Pole. We ought to get all the land we can up there, if only for landing airplanes, says he.

THERE IS wealth up there under the ground, if it ever seems white to go after it. The Rockefeller family, patiently plodding toward financial prosperity, has set out prospectors up there, struck oil, and plenty of it, inside the Arctic Circle.

IN A FEW thousand years, as the Pole swings slowly around, pointing to the different stars, which in turn become our "north star," the climate up there will change and the land might be very valuable.

A YOUNG Swedish lady with a fine figure, who has come here to dance for a living, says she drinks only champagne. Champagne, and nothing else, "preserves a beautiful, slender figure," so that young woman says.

IT MAY be that, but plenty of men and women with figures far from slender may be seen drinking plenty of champagne.

WHATEVER champagne may do for the figure, it is death on the kidneys and other parts of the man's internal machinery.

THE POSTMASTER-GENERAL punishes six employees, reducing them to a lower rank, because of their activity in getting more money for post office workers.

It is a queer trick of their own increase? The public doesn't object to their having it, any more than it objects to the pay of the post office employees being raised. But you can't help noticing a certain difference.

THE PLEASURE IS ALL OURS, MADAM

BOOKS AND THE UNDERGRADUATE MIAMI TRIBUNE

The opportunity offered for cultivating acquaintance with good books is not the least reason for spending four years in a college atmosphere.

In the year 1700, when William and Mary were on the throne of England, James Pierpont selected eleven trustees, nine of whom were graduates of Harvard, who, it is recorded, met at Branford, Connecticut. Each of the eleven brought a number of books for the foundation of a college in this colony.

Many a man has discovered in his youth that the greatest pleasure he wrote to his mother in 1852. "I used, you know, to hanker after Parliament, police magistrates, and so forth; but no occupation I can devise is so profitable as that which I have at my hand in that old bookstore."

Robert Louis Stevenson—and who can forget him in thinking of books?—said twenty years after his schooldays, "I have really enjoyed this book as I—almost as I used to enjoy books when I was going twenty to twenty-three; and these are the years for reading books," he continued, "were the proper remedy; books of vivid human import, forcing upon the minds of young men the issues, pleasures, business, importance, and immediacy of that life in which they stand; books of smiling, or heroic temper, to excite or to console; books of large design, shadowing the complexity of that game of consequences to which we all sit down, the hangarback not least."

Some critics tell us that the undergraduates of today reads only their required books, and talks nothing but athletics. One gets the impression that the average college man feels about his prescribed work in literature much as D. G. Rossetti felt about his father's heavy volumes. "No good for reading."

Emphasis is needed on a few great books, not upon everything. The student is often discouraged by long list of books, and it frequently happens that he reads without assimilating. A college friend became an example of devotion to the under-graduate's reading may be made pleasurable instead of being a painful duty. Books ought to open new rooms in his house of thought; start new trains of ideas and action; help him to find his own lines; impart a mental tonic and give a real taste for literature. Reading should also awaken the soul of the student and attach his faith to the loyalties of life.

BLOW YOUR OWN HORN ST. PETERSBURG INDEPENDENT

In St. Petersburg where there are so many real estate developments that are shouting their virtues from the housetops and where heavy advertising is used to further business interests, an article in last week's issue of Liberty Magazine is of special interest.

Copybook maxims inculcating modesty and self-effacement come in for several severe jolts at the hands of Heywood Brown, noted critic and author. After studying and watching the careers of humbly in dramatic and literary pursuits he has decided that the world gives "appliance" to these virtues, but gives his money and acclaim to those who capture its attention by tooting their own horns.

"The world has rather a fondness for discovering genius, after it is dead," he says. "Cheer leaders have a habit of visiting the tomb of this or that great man rather than his garret. The noise ought to come immediately after the sermionage. Each one of us can rest assured of some recognition approval to themselves. I don't know why. It seems silly and hypocritical to me. "Who, that man talks about himself all the time," says somebody, as if this were necessarily a reproach. For my part, I can imagine no topic of conversation more suitable to the average individual. It is the topic which he knows best and the theme in which he is most interested.

DAN DOBBS SAYS. This is the season which has no reason. Another sure sign of spring is when gas prices go up. Two may not live cheaper than one, but they may live mber. Whether it like time. We have so much of both, it all can't be good. The worst thing about being a grouch is he thinks everybody else is grouchy. Only a few more weeks now until it is safe to predict a mild winter. There's one thing about poison booze, few people buy it twice. The early bird may get the worm. The early bud may get the frost. A wise man is merry one too sensible to act foolish. Being married doesn't worry a married man any more than being single worries a single man. A bachelor is a man who is afraid of conversation. The modern dance floor needs both a speed limit and parking regulations. And maybe the early bird doesn't enjoy the worm as much as the late bird enjoys the sleep. And maybe the early bird doesn't enjoy the worm as much as the late bird enjoys the sleep. A New Jersey woman who had her husband 60 years should write a book. If she isn't too busy. Being married doesn't worry a married man any more than being single worries a single man.

Taxes And Wages Are Chief Telephone Expense

MORE than 60 per cent of the entire cost of your telephone service is represented by the two items of taxes and wages.

During the year 1924 the wage and tax bill of the Southern Bell Company amounted to $10,640,819.

The company's tax expense in five States amounted to $1,675,092, while the wage bill of 7,725 employees totaled $8,965,727.

In Florida the tax expense reached a total of $216,520, or at the rate of $5.15 per telephone.

In Florida the wage bill of 1,022 workers amounted to $1,024,600, or more than $1,000 per employe per year.

Although taxes form such a large part of telephone operating expenses, the Telephone Company has no objection to paying its just share of taxes, and pays cheerfully.

The cost of rendering telephone service, like the cost of all forms of government, has increased, but the rates for telephone service have not increased in anything like the same proportion as taxes, wages and other expenses.

These facts are published so that telephone users may know the details of some of the major expenses which are reflected in the cost of their service.

British Refuse To Recognition Service Quit Smokes Under Threat Of Baldness

LONDON, Apr. 3.—Assertion by H. J. Harper-Roberts, a Manchester scientist, that smoking is one of the causes of baldness, which he said, was greatly on the increase, has caused much comment throughout England. If the spread of baldness was not checked, said Mr. Harper-Roberts before members of the London College of Physiology, the result would be a race of hairless people throughout the civilized world.

Baldness, the speaker averred, was more pronounced in cities than in the country. There were three classes of baldness, namely, congenital, senile and premature. In ten per cent of the premature cases cures could be effected at a definite age by proper treatment. In cases of feverish illness or poisoning of the system, the blood pressure and low condition of the patient brought about baldness. Smoking, said the speaker, which introduced poison into the blood, was also unquestionably a cause of it.

Commenting upon the foregoing, the Telegraph says: "Europe has only known tobacco for some 400 years. There were bald men before that. Caesar, for instance, and Aeschylus. One heavy smoker, like Tennyson, goes bald; another, like Carlyle, keeps his hair on. But even if it were proven that tobacco causes baldness, we doubt whether 100 smokers in England would give up the weed."

Statistics

Hon. Ed Witham,
Care of Seminoles Hudson-Deery Co.,
Sanford, Florida.

Dear Ed—

Some man has said you can prove anything by figures if you just know how to figure your figures. I was very much interested the other day to see the statement that statistics proved that every eighth marriage was a failure.

This is right in line with that other important statistical information that every third baby born in the world is a Chinese baby, which occasioned an unsolicited young bride to blushing remark to what she had gazed back from the altar: "Well, it is worse if Clarence, darling, we simply can't have more than two children."

Now, these statistics about marriages might lead a man to figure that he could marry seven times with impunity, but that the eighth voyage on the sea of matrimony was sure to be disastrous, if not even worse.

Of course, the statistics do not go into those details about the other seven marriages that would prove what constitutes success or failure in the supposedly happy conjugal state.

My observation has been that many a marriage, which never reaches the divorce courts, could not be called happy unless your imagination is made of rubber or some other substance which you could stretch over an area as large as the state of Texas, or larger.

Now, I do not misunderstand me to be saying anything against marriages. There are many married people who are happy. Nothing seems to affect some people's happiness. I know of men in the Atlanta penitentiary who are happy.

So we must concede that people can be happy, though married. But the thing I can't understand is that so many people who get the order of their marriages, even after marriage has been right on matrimony in spite of their unfortunate experiences. A man ought not to go in to lay his hand on a red hot stove more than once to learn the lesson it teaches.

And yet there are many of our artists and temperamental eccentrics who have to keep the records of their marriages with a card index system and the assistance of an expert filing clerk.

It is a pity that so many people who see her happy then he can know why she is not so happy. No. 2, even if it happens to be No. 1, or vice versa.

SILVER SHOVELS, GOLDEN TROWELS GO INTO STORAGE

Commemorative Tools Of Corner Stone Layings and Ground Too Valuable To Throw Away or Re-melt

NEW YORK, Apr. 3.—What becomes of gold trowels after use at cornerstone layings, or of silver picks and shovels after being used to break ground for some new fane or public works? These commemorative tools almost invariably end up in the archives or strong rooms of the institutions concerned, where they are carefully preserved, say manufacturing jewelers in answer to questions arising since Mayor Hylan recently used silver to turn the first earth for a new subway division.

Jewelers say these implements de luxe could scarcely be thrown aside or melted up again, their material and artistic, as well as sentimental value, being too high. A gold trowel, for all it has but a few brief minutes of actual use, costs as much as $1,500, according to the price lists. Silver trowels command $150; silver-plated, $50. A pick or shovel fashioned out of solid silver would stand any committee on opening day arrangements a good $800, even a plated tool costs $150.

Though the metal itself might be reclaimed, jewelers say, not so the art work the best of these souvenirs represent. The chased work and engraving, the latter names of dignitaries and an inscription of the event, reveal workmanship of a high order and would make them prized among collectors.

As proof of sentimental worth, jewelers report that gold trowels used at laying of cornerstones of churches are usually placed afterward with the old communion sets. Sometimes, in cases of establishments which outgrow a first expansion and have occasion to solemnize a second cornerstone, the first trowel is used again to re-echo the blessing it seemed to have bestowed originally.

Why I'm Glad I Bobbed My Hair

By ALLEN PHINLEY. DON'T suppose any other girl ever had her hair bobbed for the same reason that prompted me to submit to the barber's ministrations.

I have been bobbed several years. When one has reached the "barber" stage, as the boys call it, the director orders each to be shaved over the top. There's no more hair to speak of, and the hair that grows back is so soft, so manageable.

Of course I know, too, that short hair is a comfort in dancing. It stays put. While you are waiting for a perfect favor of that sort, your hair is a perfect favor of that sort.

When I was bobbed I was in a perfect favor of that sort. I was in a perfect favor of that sort. I was in a perfect favor of that sort.

Just as I was about to go to bed, I received a letter from a friend who had been bobbed. I was in a perfect favor of that sort.

And I am glad to say that I have not been bobbed for nothing. I am glad to say that I have not been bobbed for nothing.
