THREE MASSACRED IN GANG WAR

Reminiscent of Chicago's St. Valentine's Day massacre, several years ago, three men were lined up against the wall in a garage at Brooklyn, N. Y., and mowed down with bullets. Police attributed the massacre to rivalry between gangs. In the foreground is the body of one of the victims, Morris Kay, in a chauffeur's uniform, and just behind it lies the remains of his employer, Joseph Amberg. (Associated Press Photo)

"Brain Trust" Appellation Disliked By James M. Landis, Chairman Of SEC

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3. — (AP)—A brain that functions with the smoothness, speed and sureness of an electric motor is the major quality which associates give James McCauley Landis, new chairman of the securities and exchange commission, succeeding Joseph P. Kennedy. In his new position, they find him moving quietly among the vast intricacies of the stock exchange wilderness, indefatigable, tremendously interested, and acutely aware of the economic implications of the securities business from which emerge the funds that build America. He is publicity-shy, no radical in the ordinary sense of the word. He dislikes the term "brain trust" exceedingly, regarding it as bad taste. Landis is the son of a Presbyterian missionary. He was born in through Congress. His economic doctrine is not an absolute theory. In one speech he said the Administration and business both were seizing the same ends on the market, and that the only interference of the government was that which would make the markets fairer. In essence, his associates say, he believes the capitalistic system may be preserved if it is operated in the public interest. This means supervision by the public, but not intrusion. He regards economic activity as a changing thing which must be worked out in detail for specific instances, not as a scientific system which may now be accurately described in generalities. Chiropractors Meet In State Conclave Here

Two Day Convention Opens In Mayfair—Mayor Welcomes To Group To Sanford

Sanford today is host to the Florida Chiropractors Association, meeting in state convention in the Mayfair Hotel. Sessions will continue through the day and tomorrow, with the election of officers scheduled for the last session Saturday afternoon.

The convention got away to a late start this morning, Dr. C. H. Gatchell of Orlando, president of the association, having difficulty in breaking up committee sessions of the practitioners and assembling the delegates in the convention hall for the opening ceremonies. The Rev. Martin Bram, rector of the Episcopal Church, offered the invocation, and then Mayor T. L. Dumas delivered the address of welcome.

The mayor told the chiropractors he was "happy to welcome this group to Sanford" which, he said, "has been preparing for a long time for conventions of this sort." Because of the lateness of the hour Mr. Dumas said he would not take up the convention's time in telling about the advantages of Sanford and its contiguous farming section, but would simply express the hope the delegates would thoroughly enjoy their stay here and would want to come again.

Various committee reports read at the morning session, nominating and resolutions committees were named, and a memorial service for three members of the association who died during the year was held. The memorial service was for the late Dr. Francis Mayo of Tampa, Dr. Walter Bohra of Barlow, and Mrs. George W. (Continued On Page Four)

AN UNLIMITED SUPPLY:— If ye abide in me, and my words abide in you, ye shall ask what ye will, and it shall be done unto you. —John 15: 7.

Before he gets through with this new potato contract act Wallace will probably admit he has picked up a hot potato.

A New York furniture store manager calls it "hotitis" that is, the bad taste in home furnishing which so many women have.

If the recently enacted slot machine law does not raise sufficient revenue, perhaps the next Legislature should legalize highway robbery and levy about a three percent tax on it.

Ten years ago Florida was enjoying the peak of the boom. But why discuss that? —Titusville Star Advocate. And we've been paying for it ever since.

"We used to call it patronage," said Senator Pat Harrison. "Now we call it projects." —Fort Meyers News-Press. Is that the same thing as pork?

The St. Petersburg Independent suggests that the national anthem for Jamaica, following that which became the other day, should be, "Yes, we have no bananas."

There is so much local interest in this coming municipal election that the other day someone actually recalled that Mr. Lehman's and Mr. Speer's terms of office expire this year.

While embargoing munitions of war to Italy it might be well to embargo army mules as well. Since last December no less than 192,000 Missouri mules have been sold to Mussolini for use in Ethiopia. What's the difference between barring the mule which carries the ammunition and barring the ammunition?

In spite of the success of the now famous "G-men" in eliminating gangland leaders, private executions still take place in this nation's larger cities. In New York the other day three gangsters stood up two racketeers against a stone wall and mowed them down with machine guns in St. Valentine's Day massacre.

It's difficult to figure why Putnam county's unemployed have shown little eagerness to accept canal jobs, now that they have been provided. Probably some of them have reached the conclusion that Uncle Sam will maintain them in idleness. —Palatka News. Maybe they're afraid of getting salt water on the brain.

Wall Street stocks hit the toboggan as war news comes from Europe. It will be recalled that the same thing happened for three days at the first of the hostilities in 1914 and then the Stock Exchange was closed for four months. Why stocks should have gone down when the war was to mean so much to both agriculture and industry and was to bring about the greatest period of profiteering in the history of this country is hard to understand. But it goes to show how badly wrong people can guess.

The ante for the cross-state canal will have to be upped from five million to twenty-five million. If the present tempo is to continue, engineers on the job have warned Washington PWA officials. As the main purpose of constructing the canal is to put people to work, the additional grant will probably be made available in very short order. That congressional authorization of the project was to be required before construction, seems to have been forgotten.

American Neutrality

Speaking in San Diego only a few hours after Premier Mussolini had explained his African intentions to the world, President Roosevelt proclaimed for the United States a policy of neutrality toward whatever foreign conflict may break out. Americans generally will applaud his frank assertion that "the people of America and the government of those people intend to remain at peace with all the world."

There is, however, something about the President's speech which reminds us strangely of a similar speech made by a former president in the summer of 1914. There was no question about the sincerity of Woodrow Wilson's intentions of preserving American neutrality in the World War which was just then beginning. He simply found it a bigger job than he anticipated. He simply couldn't keep America out of the World War.

So it is not the government which the people have to watch if they are to avoid foreign conflicts; it is the people themselves. The government will keep us out of this war if it is in any way possible to do so. But the government cannot keep us out if the people demand that we go to war. Any president and any congress would do just what the government did in 1917 if there should develop a sufficient demand for it.

To think of the people of America demanding war at this time is almost too absurd to consider. It seems almost ridiculous to say that the American people would ever consider sending our young men to Africa or to Europe to fight some strange people that most of us never heard of before. But in 1914 it was just as incredible to say that we would soon be going over there to fight the Germans.

If America is to remain neutral in any war which may occur abroad, it is necessary that the people themselves remain neutral. Already there is apparent a feeling of sympathy among us for the Ethiopians because they are the underdog. This attitude is bound sooner or later to incur the hostility of the Italians. There is also evident among large groups of our people a more or less latent animosity against the Italians because of their fascist type of government and their militaristic characteristics which are so different from ours.

If America is to remain neutral, the people must have neutral feelings toward the belligerents. The people must concede to the Italians the same right to conduct their lives and their government in whatever manner they please just as they concede that right to the Ethiopians, or demand it for themselves. It must be no business of ours how much Mussolini rattles his sabre, how many little boys are drafted into the service, and how much freedom is suppressed over there.

And yet to maintain this personal attitude of neutrality is going to be difficult. The course of war is not one contemplated to quiet emotional feeling, or to promote disinterestedness. It is a very human characteristic to take sides. When we read that Italian bombing planes have blown up a Red Cross hospital and thrown hundreds of terrified women and children into the streets to be mowed down by machine gun bullets, our neutral attitude is apt to suffer a severe shock. Or, if we should read that Ethiopian women rushed on to the field after the battle was over and mutilated the wounded Italian soldiers, while the captives were boiled alive, we are apt to be prejudiced against their cause.

These are but very meagre illustrations of the tests to which our neutrality may be put in the event of a long drawn out conflict. American Red Cross nurses may be killed. Carcasses of American tractors bound for Egypt may be seized. American ships may be sunk. American diplomatic protests might be followed by American consulates in Italy being stormed and American citizens and government agents being attacked.

When such things happen neutrality becomes not a pious hope and the most pacific government on the world is helpless.

A Creed For Buyers

At the fourteenth annual Woman's Exposition of Arts and Industries in New York City this week, the best way for women to aid business was discussed. Among other things it was stated that the women of the country do most of the buying, spending $11,000,000,000 every year for food alone, not to mention $4,000,000,000 for ladies' wearing apparel, and $700,000,000 for cosmetics.

In view of this enormous spending power of the ladies, the following creed for conscientious buyers was offered at the conference in the hope that it might stimulate better buying conditions:

- "I shall assume responsibility as a citizen and fight for fair play in civic and political affairs.
"I shall co-operate with my leaders, criticizing constructively.
"I shall investigate before I invest.
"I shall read before I sign.
"I shall not neglect my just obligations.
"I shall co-operate by reporting fraud and unfair practices to the proper authorities.
"I shall patronize reputable and legitimate business, demand fair treatment, but shall not abuse the privilege.
"I shall prevent the return of the sweatshop by refusing to buy its products.
"I shall select purchases carefully for my own protection and thus cut down the economic waste caused by returned goods.
"I shall plan a safe and sound personal money management program.
"I shall co-operate with agencies working in the consumer interest, so that my own power may be effective."

Alliance between labor and the American Legion to combat the spread of communism and to urge the recession of American recognition of Soviet Russia, Commander L. P. Boyle of the Sanford post of the Legion asserted today that the veterans are "absolutely opposed" to communism.

Mr. Boyle called attention to the fact that the American Legion in its national convention held in St. Louis a fortnight ago went on record in four different resolutions as opposing communism, and in one for "immediate recession of recognition of Soviet Russia by the United States."

The other four resolutions opposed the communistic youth movement, pledged the Legion to combat communism in all other organizations, and its co-operation with all organizations fighting communism, and declared against Nazism, Fascism, communism or any other "isms" contrary to fundamental principles of Democracy.

Mr. McKay brought out the fact that in 1880 only three percent of high school age children attended high school while in 1935 over 50 percent are in school and that in the same early period there was a choice of only nine subjects as contrasted with 48 subjects at the present time.

It was announced that a $10 attendance prize will be awarded to the class having the largest number of mothers present at this year's meetings. ON DISPLAY AT ALL BUICK SHOWROOMS

"BUICKS THE BUY!"

TWO years ago Buick deliberately leveled its sights on 1936. It coolly set its aim on bringing to market for that year a line of motor cars that would startle the world. It purposed to do that, not by freak or superficial design, not by skimping quality to make a price, but by sheer merit as expressed in automobile beauty, value, ability.

It submits to you now the eminently satisfying results of that fruitful two years of concentrated endeavor.

Here are four separate series of sensational new Buick cars — cars called phenomenal by experts in the trade who previewed them.

Each is a feast to the eye schooled in mature modern styling, as you can see. Each has under the smooth flowing planes and surfaces of its smart exterior, the solid, tough, durable, beautifully engineered chassis that underwrites Buick dependability.

And each offers you from the stepped-up power of its big thrifty valve-in-head eight-cylinder engine such safe, thrilling performance as you have never known.

These cars are big cars every one — built to almost lavish dimensions of body room and leish clearances — yet they handle with the fingertip lightness of small cars.

They are literally breath-taking in power and speed and take-off, yet under their new tip-top hydraulic and easy-steering knee-action they are almost as manageable as a telephone.

They are thowed and absorbed by that quality which springs from Buick's third of a century of manufacturing experience, advantaged by $14,500,000 worth of new tools, dies and factory re-equipment devised for these cars alone.

These things are so true and so obvious that every where you will soon hear the motor-wise saying, "BUICK'S THE BUY!"

Cocoa Beats DeLand, 2 To 1, With Sensational Rally In Final Inning Of 2nd Game

COCOA, Oct. 4.—Cocoa went in to the ninth inning here yesterday trailing the DeLand Reds, who had them down 1 to 0, but they won the second game of the Central Florida League pennant series, 2-1, in a whirlwind ninth inning rally, which saw them make two runs of out two walks and two hits.

Lefty Jake Baker, for Cocoa, and Gene Fisher, Red left-hander, pitched lean ball, but Fisher was withdrawn in favor of Porter as a pinch hitter in the eighth and Porter went to pitch the eighth and ninth innings for DeLand.

Baker was at his best and allowed only one run, a looping Texas leaguer by Cuban back of short in the third inning, until the eighth, when the Reds scored their lone run.

Lacroux pitched for DeLand in the eighth and the Red's second hit, which proved a sizzling single, came off him.

'ASSURANCE' OF NO CANAL HARM IS DISCOUNTED

He stated that it is entirely reasonable that "pretty soon we'll pump this underground reservoir dry and in its place we'll have nothing but salt water."

He appeared more concerned with this possibility than the one that is being warned against by the Water Conservation Committee.

That there is a tremendous waste of artesian water in the Sanford district alone is generally acknowledged by most growers.

The volume of water pumped in the earth during three months of the year at 10 celery wash houses on the East and West Side is far in excess of the average of 20,000,000 gallons consumed in the city each month.

It was learned today that a survey made last year revealed that the flow of artesian water pumped from the earth at the Dutton Pre-Cooling Plant on the East Side was about 285,000 gallons per hour.

Operating over a period of approximately three months, and estimating an average day's operations at 10 hours, it is entirely possible that this one wash house alone might use nearly 3,000,000 gallons of underground water daily, or as much in one week as is used by the entire City of Sanford in one month.

It is agreed that artesian water once pumped from its underground sources never returns there, but coming instead surface water, most of which reaches the St. Johns River.

In addition to the 10 wash houses in the Sanford district, there are two at Ovidos, and at least half a dozen citrus washing places around the county.

It is estimated that there are nearly 500 flowing wells in Seminole County, a great number of which are pouring off water unchecked.

Efforts at conserving this tremendous supply of the district's most valuable natural resource at home, were first impetus in July, 1924 when Major W. A. Lott, working with the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce and through the Board of County Commissioners, instituted a drive which ended in the Legislature this spring with the passage of a bill giving the Board and Sanford E. McLelland the power to shut down wells and arrest owners of the property where they are situated.

The bill requires owners of artesian and flowing wells to control the flow of water; declares what is meant by waste water; declares persons known to be wasting this water as being guilty of a misdemeanor subject to a fine of not more than $500, a prison sentence not to exceed six months, or both; authorizes the sheriff to stop the flow of any wells owned by persons he has found in violation of the Act as a public nuisance, and empowers the board of county commissioners to institute such proceedings as are necessary to abate the waste of water, and warns that each day's continuance of waste of water...

Commission Levies 30-Mill Tax Rate For 1935-36 Year

Homestead Owners Must Pay 15 Mills For Debt Service; $10,000 In Treasury

The Sanford City Commission last night adopted a 1935-36 budget which anticipates total expenditures of $139,613.90 for general operation and debt service expenses during the year which opened on last Tuesday.

The commissioners also fixed at 30 mills the levy for the new year, the same as that effect last year.

The 30 mill levy will apply to all owners of property which does not come under the terms of the Homestead Exemption Amendment.

Property owners who are affected by the amendment will be required to pay a 15 mill levy on their assessment, the entire levy to be used for debt service.

By resolution, the commissioners also approved the payment to DeCelles and Borgs, attorneys who handled the Chase National Bank litigation, of $8,000 in full settlement of a balance of about $9,500 due them on a $45,000 contract for services begun shortly after the closing of the Seminole County Bank.

This resolution also provided for the payment from funds collected as delinquent taxes of approximately $1200 to the bondholders' protective committee.

This payment will bring to $65,000, the sum promised the committee for 1934-35. Only a little more than $51,000 was collected during the year.

The city enters its new year with a cash surplus of $10,000 which has been appropriated for operating expenses for the new year.

The commissioners anticipate revenues as follows:

CITY BRIEFS

Local weather yesterday. High 84, low 66.

Tides at the beaches Sunday. High at 1:01 A. M. and 1:42 P. M.; low at 7:24 A. M. and 8:26 P. M.

The weather outlook generally fair but cloudy tonight and Sunday.

The City Director attempted without success this morning to confirm a rumor told at a city commission meeting last night that unknown persons who had been prowling around the old William Tuggle property on Laurel Avenue at 3rd Street had located a strong box which was believed to have contained the life savings of Mr. Tuggle, eccentric Englishman who died here some years ago.

According to the rumor, someone used a form of "dynamite" in locating the box which was dug from the earth, broken open, and left near the hole. The Tuggle estate has been estimated as having been worth a considerable sum, most of it represented by cash and bonds.

The City Director offers congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Howe (nee Ruby) Hettel on their 20th wedding anniversary, to be celebrated Sunday and to Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Washburn (nee Lucille Garcia) on their 15th, and Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Hucheliff (nee Annie Whittier) on their 16th wedding anniversaries to be celebrated Monday.

The City Director offers many happy returns of the day to Mrs. E. B. Fries who celebrated a 70th birthday anniversary today, to Charles Whitten, Julia Higgins and others celebrating birthday anniversaries Sunday, and to R. H. Washburn, Thelma Jack

Selassie Demands Armed Authority Of League To Halt War With Italy As City Of Aduwa Falls To Invader

THE BATTLEGROUND IN ITALY'S UNDECLARED WAR ON ETHIOPIA

Economic Sanctions Brushed Aside By Ethiopia's Ruler In Latest Appeal

Italy Objects To League's Report

Exceptions Taken To Statement From Committee Of 13

Adowa, city of vengeance, but without an Ethiopian soldier in its streets, was reported today to the Italian army while Ethiopia formally appealed to the League of Nations for immediate enforcement of military, naval and aviation sanctions against Italy.

It was stated unofficially at Addis Ababa that Italian forces moved into Aduwa without opposition to find the city populated only by women, children and such infirm men as had been unable to join Emperor Haile Selassie's armies. It was indicated that Ethiopian forces had fallen back behind Aduwa into the hills where their brothers-in-arms fought desperately to block the westward march of Italian troops.

At London, authoritative sources said Premier Mussolini has his simultaneous cancellation of Anglo-Italian preliminary military measures in the Mediterranean, but the proposal was greeted with silence by the British government. Further Italian approach toward suspension of its power, its reasons to clean up the Italian-Ethiopian conflict was made on behalf of Mussolini, but likewise was greeted negatively.

Selassie's appeal to the League was made under Paragraph Two of Article XV of the League Covenant which provides that it is the duty of the council to take such action as may be necessary to bring about a cessation of hostilities and to prevent the recurrence of such hostilities.

By the appeal Selassie was regarded as having brushed aside talk of economic and financial sanctions against Italy with the demand that the council on its mountainous realm be halted by armed authority of the League.

A squadron of Italian planes was reported officially at Addis Ababa to have shot down women

Townsend Club Members Heartened By Newspaper's Poll On Pension Plan

Asserting that a recent poll taken by the Christian Herald on the Townsend old age pension plan gives "most conclusive evidence as to the real desires of the people," Secretary G. M. Douglass of the Sanford Townsend Club expressed interest at last night's meeting when he read results of the poll.

The Christian Herald, Mr. Douglass said, asks its subscribers (1) if they favor the principle of pensions for the aged, and (2) if they favor the Townsend plan. The religious publication reported the poll as follows:

"We were flooded with votes, 80,172 having been received. The results on the first question are—66,599 votes, 97.4 percent 'Yes'; 2,4 percent 'No'. On the second question 'Do you favor the Townsend Plan?' 66,566 votes were cast. Of these 98.5 percent were 'Yes' and 2.4 percent were 'No'."

Secretary Douglass also spots of the recent letter of President Roosevelt to the clergy asking for their counsel and advice in the securing of information about the conditions prevailing among the people whom as ministers of the Gospel they know so well and particularly with regard to their possible reaction to his social security provision.

Last night's meeting was held in Townsend Hall in the Arundel building and was largely attended by R. A. Howard, president of the Club, president C. H. Baker, and Secretary G. M. Douglass.

A short musical program was given. Mrs. Julia Takach sang "The Builder" and "I Love Life" and Miss Daphne Takach played "Berceuse" and "Perpetua Motion" on the violin.

Glenn Elected Chairman Brotherhood Of Locomotive Firemen And Engineers

Another local resident who has recently and conscientiously applied himself to an important task has been recognized with a signal honor.

It was R. L. Glenn, general chairman of the Atlantic Coast Locomotive Firemen and Engineers since 1924.

Mr. Glenn was elected chairman of the Southeastern Association of the R. L. F. and E. an honorary position which will find him traveling into every section of the southeast during the coming year.

His duties will include personal contact with nearly 400 lodges east of the Mississippi and south of the Potomac River, including a membership of 70,000 persons.

Mr. Glenn has been out of the city for the last three weeks, attending to his duties as general chairman of the Coast Line division, and looking also after the interests of Jacksonville, Terminal City and Charleston and Western Carolina railroad company employees.

He was enthusiastic in his description of conditions in the southeast and the nation, declaring himself as firmly convinced that we are a long way around that corner that President Hoover used to talk about.

"We are most definitely on the upgrade," he stated in a short review of conditions as he has noticed them during the past few months. "No much so that I predict a very marked improvement even by Jan. 1 over present day conditions."

He accredited this change to an increase in the volume of business and orders of the "heavy" industries. Railroads are planning of it in the middle of improvement.
