Told To 'Destroy Everything' Lt. Calley Pleads 'Follow Orders'

By H. D. QUIGG
FT. BENNING, Ga. (UPI)—Lt. William L. Calley Jr., whose defense is grounded in the tenet that a good soldier must carry out any order in combat, has conceded on cross-examination that he didn't get too angry with a private who disobeyed one of his commands at My Lai.

Better Program For Youth Urged

Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce committee on youth is expected to make requests of the city regarding the use of city-owned and operated facilities. Headed by Dr. Luis Perez, one of the persons instrumental in the founding of Half-Way House, a youth facility on First Street, the committee outlined the following:

Open the city swimming pools with life-guards and set up times separately for different age groups; allow a street dance each month with concessions sales to fund the costs of providing a band; open the youth wing at Civic Center and provide proper supervision for different age groups at separate times; form volleyball leagues for boys and girls; help in the formation of a Boys Club; utilize the former USO building as a "coffee house" for youth; set up a youth advisory recreation committee to work with city.

City, Cobia Continue At Odds Marina Question Still At Stalemate

By BILL SCOTT
If Sanford is to go into the marina business it will have to buy the dry storage building located at the city-owned island along the lakefront.

ON THE OTHER SIDE OF THE 'ZOO CURTAIN' WORK CONTINUES on the Seminole County Court House, located on Park Avenue in Sanford. The $4.2 million structure is scheduled for completion April 1972. Herald Staffer Bill Vincent took this shot from the top floor of the Sanford City Hall, located directly across the street from the present construction site.

Sanford CofC To Enter Zoo Controversy

By BILL SCOTT
Like it or not, the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce is going to have to take a stand on the expected demise of the Sanford Municipal Zoo. This was recommended by the Chamber's projects committee, which requested the organization's executive committee to voice some words on the controversial matter.

The Sanford zoo is to be phased out after Sept. 30 by the City Commission, unless a suitable organization can be found to finance and operate the attraction on its specified new site along the lake front. Robert Shelden, committee chairman brought the subject before the group and Harold Rowland, vice chairman, quipped, "This is somewhat of a political issue but the chamber has been amiss for not expressing an opinion before now." Rowland said he didn't believe controversy could be avoided and the group would have to become a part of it. On a motion by Thomas Freeman, committee member, the members voted to ask the Chamber executive committee to take a stand on the zoo question and that motion was further amended by A. B. Peterson Jr. to have the executive committee pursue the position. John Krider, chamber manager, looking at numerous colored brochures about Sanford, commented, "They all have the zoo in them and we will have to do something about that if the zoo is phased out."

Freeman also brought out that such a project would also serve to stop the division now obvious in county politics. Freeman said he would contact other chambers to see what could be worked out on a common ground.

Sanitary Landfill Pilot Study Urged

By MARION BETHEA
Road Supt. J. C. Lavender plans to initiate this week an application for a federal grant in a pilot study of solid waste disposal as utilized in the county's new central sanitary landfill at Oviedo Airfield. County Commission Chairman Greg Drummond said that the operation is a model one, and that the government may be interested in utilizing the information for use at future plants throughout the country. Lavender had been reported as to stockpiling and applied as this was done in front of the hopper, and later fed into the hopper. The county is using a payloader already at the site, he said. Lavender said that he intends to improve the landfill with several modifications.

In another matter, Zoning Director Robert Brown announced that the Planning and Zoning Commission had reviewed a proposed earth removal easement on property owned by Jene Paulucci on Rinehart Road since the removal will improve the property for future development. The county plans to lease the property for clay deposits for a two-year period at a cost of $20,000. It was announced that the county water conservation and control advisory commission had requested that letters be sent to mayors of the county's six municipalities asking that they send representatives to meetings of this commission. Also relative to the water conservation and control advisory commission, reimbursement of expenses and per diem was authorized for City Manager W. D. Knowles, who will represent the county at a meeting of the state commission in Tallahassee. The meeting will be upon classification of surface waters and will be held March 4. Included in the classification will be the St. Johns River basin. The water conservation and control advisory commission has recommended an amendment to dredging operations with regard to weed removal at lakeshores. Some discussion arose among county commissioners as to the depth of operation, with 10 inches having been recommended.

Commission Split 3-2 In Favor

Huge Apartment Near Florida Tech Wins Okay

By LARRY NEELY
Oviedo developer Douglas Jackson succeeded in convincing a majority of the Seminole County Commission to change the zoning on two parcels of land on SR 520 between Oviedo and Florida Technological Uiversity, removing the only remaining obstacle for the construction of a 166-unit apartment complex. Jackson had requested the zoning on the parcels be changed from R1AA residential housing to R3A multiple family housing. The final vote was 3-2 in favor of authorizing the change with Commissioners Al Davis and John Kimbrough opposing the change.

Before the final vote Commission Chairman Greg Drummond queried Jackson as to whether he would, in the future, consider hiring a security guard if problems in security arose. Jackson said that he would be willing to commit the money of his backers as he had not anticipated such a question being raised at the zoning hearing. Jackson went on to say, "Whatever is necessary, I feel we will approve."

Passion Play In Progress

LAKE WALES (Sp.)—No actor or actress in the history of the theater has even appeared in the same play or taken the lead role more times than J. Meier, portrayer of the Christus in the Passion Play.

The history of Meier's role did not begin in Lake Wales. The Passion Play is one of Europe's oldest productions. A native of Luene, Germany, he studied and began to prepare for the principal role many years ago.

The drama was first presented on the American stage in 1932. It became a permanent institution in the New World in 1939 when the company settled in the Black Hills of South Dakota. It has been presented there every summer since that year.

In 1952 a second amphitheater was completed by the people of Lake Wales, in which it is now presented each winter from mid-February to mid-April.

The Passion Play in Lake Wales is sponsored by a non-profit organization and has wide community backing. Many of the performers are volunteers and have participated in the cast of 150 for 19 years.

The schedule this year began Feb. 14 and continues through April 18. There are performances Sundays at 6 p. m., Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays at 7:30 p. m. and matinees on Wednesday at 3 p. m. on March 3, 10 and 17. During Holy Week, there will be an added presentation on April 9, which is Good Friday. It will be at 7:30 p. m., and normally attracts a capacity audience of more than 3,000 persons.

School Adds Rock Course

NEW YORK (AP)—The New School for Social Research is beginning a course in the rock 'n' roll phenomenon.

Guest speakers will be disc jockeys, performers, pop critics and festival organizers.

Discussions will be held on the controversy over the profits of music festivals, the relationship of rock to drugs, protest, the theater and the record industry. Also to be explored is the aesthetics of rock, regulation of radio stations, the life of stars, the difficulty of new groups breaking in, technical aspects and rock journalism.

Eye-Opening TV Program On Pentagon Timely

In a powerful, responsible, informative and alarming TV presentation, CBS has earned the thanks of millions for airing the vast, enormously expensive propaganda of the Pentagon in an hour-long program masterfully conducted by Roger Mudd.

The word that needs to be kept in mind is "propaganda." This is a direction of information with the aim of promoting a single pre-determined policy.

Propagandizing is not an evil practice. Indeed, it is the parent of much public relations activity. It is in this instance there were shown operations by the Pentagon which appeared to this reporter to be much more the selling of policies than the informing of the public as to the accomplishments of the military in terms of defense.

Our viewing of this program was not inspired by any professional sense of reporting or commenting. But as a writer who had been a participant in armed forces junkets wherein one or another of the branches—Army, Marine, Navy or Air Force—had trotted out their wares for favorable "backgrounding," we wanted to see how this was being done now.

Dream Lives On

James Cash Penney rode the free-enterprise system from a farm in Missouri to acclaim as a retailing wizard.

As a symbol of the system on which America prospered, he was the recipient until his death last week of inquiries from young people on how to succeed in life.

He insisted on honesty and service. His dedication to those principles never wavered, nor did his belief in the American business system.

Where Is "What To Do Until?"

By DICK WEST WASHINGTON (UPI) — The bookshelves of the average American home are awash with emergency manuals. "What To Do Until The Doctor Comes," "How To Survive Atomic Attacks," "Coping with Crocodiles," etc.

But No Solution

By DON OAKLEY NEA Editorialist The story is told in academic circles of the college marketing professor who asked one of his students how he would produce and consume.

There is no lack of examples of countries where some central planning authority decides what people can buy or not produce. In some of these, the people are lucky to have toothpaste at all, let alone an array of competing brands.

Political Notebook

S. Viet Elections - "As Laos Goes"

By BRUCE BROSSAT Washington Correspondent WASHINGTON (NEA) — The South Vietnamese incursion into the Laotian panhandle is not an election campaign, but it has a bearing on one.

It is taking time for old images which do not fit the new reality to be thrown aside and replaced. The old ARVN was riddled by desertions, starved for real firepower, undertrained and badly led from top to bottom.

Those fatalities, officially, come to 126,000 for the entire war—more than twice the total deaths we suffered in World War I in 36 months of real combat. They are a mark of resolve and resistance.

As noted in a prior report, the military situation in South Vietnam is relatively quiet and stable, even as Laos and Cambodia flare. ARVN forces in 1971 elections will be well indoctrinated. The next dry season along the trail begins a month after the voting.

Hello, I'm A BIGOT

(Ed. Note — At a recent meeting of the Kiwanis Club, Associate Editor John A. Spolski was invited to address the group. Included in his talk was a message entitled, "Hello, I'm A BIGOT," which was as fearfully received, we reprint the article or all of our readers, which originally appeared in the February issue of FUTURE Official Publication of the U.S. Jaycees.)

Hello, I'm a bigot. . . species American; strain prejudicial. I am a blindly prejudiced against many things. And, I do not care to try to overcome my prejudices. I am, of all species, the most cantankerous — a confirmed, unchangeable bigot.

I am prejudiced against Negroes—against those who tell me society owes them something; whose major efforts seem to be directed toward meaningful attempts to establish their equal position in society, but toward getting all the financial and philosophical concessions possible from the entrenched white society.

I am prejudiced against those Moslem-Americans who shout equality and equal opportunity, but upon closer examination seem only to mean the old "Robin Hood" principle of taking from the haves and giving to the have-nots.

I am prejudiced against those Indians whose only slogan seems to be "We were here first!" The buffalo and deer were here before that, but what relevance does that have for "New"? . . .

I am prejudiced against Catholics who preach violence and action against the sins of today's world and condemn birth control.

I am prejudiced against Protestants who kneel under the absurd demands for money from minority groups; count a rock concert as being a worship service; devote most of their energy to social involvement, and then wonder why church attendance is declining and people are saying, "God is Dead."

I am prejudiced against politicians who spend years snickering at patriotism and loudly denouncing virtually everything America stands for, then 6 weeks before election begin wearing American flag pins and projecting the conservative loyalist image.

I am prejudiced against Rhodes Scholars who don't understand simple Senate Resolutions until years later.

I am prejudiced against a generation which has embraced materialism, abandoned idealism, shunned discipline, buried religion under a mountain of trivia, and then condemns a new generation for not clinging to the precepts and principles of their elders.

I am prejudiced against those who can only call names and criticize and not offer constructive solutions.

I am prejudiced against those who bomb buildings to protest violence.

I am prejudiced against those who feel their "cause" justifies violation of the law, but who scream in disbelief when they suffer the consequences of law enforcement.

I am prejudiced against colleges run by Jewish administrators and wild-eyed students.

I am prejudiced against parents who have liquor in the bar, a pack of cigarettes in their pocket, tranquilizers, sleeping pills, and pop pills in the medicine cabinet, and don't understand why their child is smoking pot.

I am prejudiced against civic groups with high sounding creeds who, once a week, paint their concerned expressions on their faces, recite the creed, and then go back to their social activities.

I am prejudiced because, to be alive, to be concerned, to be relevant, is to be prejudiced.

Letters To The Editor

Make Parents Liable

Editor, Herald: Your editorial and the comments in "Around the Clock" in Tuesday's paper reminded me of a chapter on the home in Dr. H. A. Overstreet's "The Mature Mind" (1949). He said, "No social institution is more fateful for the human race than the home, and 'if homes are psychologically sound there is hope for our culture. If . . . psychologically unsound there is little hope."

You're Welcome

Editor, Herald: On behalf of the entire Deltona Open Committee, I wish to thank you as a Gold Sponsor for your financial support of our recent endeavor.

Charged With Larceny, Forgery

Citrus Commission Chief Indicted

BARTOW, Fla. (AP)—A Polk County Grand Jury has indicted a former Florida Citrus Commission employee who supplied information that led to forgery and grand larceny indictments against Commission Chairman O. D. Huff.

In a report issued with the indictments, the grand jury charged Patricia Dorri of Winter Haven for bringing the matter to light. Mrs. Dorri, a former secretary in the commission's advertising department, told Tampa Tribune reporter Charles Hendrick about purchases of personal gifts with commission money. Hendrick wrote about the actions in a series of articles that triggered the probe.

School Aides Fear Prayer

The volatile school prayer issue has put the fear of God into Florida school administrators. With a suit pending on the matter in Orange County, Florida public school officials today are quick to defend that any classroom reference to any God, but we have to be sure it's not tied down to any religious instruction.

Reaction, he says, has been mixed. "But we have gotten some against our Christmas program, against songs like 'Onward Christian Soldiers' and 'Silent Night'."

Newspaper Serves As Textbook At School

By MICHAEL WIDMER
BOSTON (UPI)—Most people read their daily papers to find out the news of the world, but for the pupils at the William Monroe Trotter Elementary School the newspaper serves as an instruction book in all sorts of subjects.

"We use the papers for everything," said Mel Conroy, a young third, fourth and fifth grade teacher in this experimental school in Boston's black Roxbury section.

Get Them Thinking
"The idea is to encourage them to read the papers at home and get them thinking about anything that interests them," Conroy said.

Conroy, 27, who is in his first year at Trotter after teaching around them, or maybe they'll only learn how to shop—but in either case the newspaper will bridge the gap between school and life at home, and they'll be better for that."

President Nixon Warns Congress

Middle East Conflict Threat To World Peace

By EUGENE V. RISHER
WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Nixon today warned Congress that the Middle East conflict is the most dangerous in the world and said Soviet attempts to dominate the area "must and will be resisted."

But, when challenged, the United States will defend its interests and those of its allies.

He put the Soviet Union on notice that despite America's unhappy involvement in South-east Asia, the United States was not relinquishing its role of world leadership.

The base is named for its height in meters.

Improved road patching methods in the county have been reported by Road Supt. J. C. Lavender.

Gardener Wins Blue Ribbons At Show

DELTONA — Azalea Garden Circle met at the home of Mrs. Ruth Boggs last week with most of the membership present. Mrs. Carl Posey conducted the meeting.

This is the newest of 13 Garden Circles and the president, Mrs. Posey, stressed the need to do things correctly, as the Garden Club of Deltona wants things done, because only in that way can the Circle contribute the best to the Club.

Mrs. Lacey, secretary, had her mother from England with her at this meeting. Mrs. Patricia Blackmore of Barnstable was introduced, and several members enjoyed talking with her. She is here for three weeks and says she loves Deltona!

Mrs. Florence Durand, District Director and vice president of the Deltona Garden Club, attended the Azalea Club meeting. She congratulated the circle on their serious approach to the Garden Club work and on hearing that Mrs. Herbert Roes, publicity chairman of the circle, had won two blue ribbons at the Deland Garden Club Show. She said it pleased her that the newest circle entered the Deland Show and won two prizes.

So What Else Is New? Women Control Family $$$

By AILEEN SNOODY

NEW YORK — (NEA) — Another myth surrounding the male-female role within a marriage has been exploded, and few husbands are being hurt by the shrapnel new research has thrown out.

For example, the assumption for years was that since a husband was the very vocal breadwinner he also bent his back over the family books. This is far from true. And this has been false for at least 40 years in millions of families.

A recent survey of more than 2,000 women east-coast by a business machine company reveals that women keep tabs on inflow and outflow of family money in 80 per cent of the families.

Some women replying to the questionnaire had always worked. Others were housewives since the trip down the aisle, were retired or in-between jobs.

What tension has doing this bookkeeping brought to bed-and-board activities? Very little.

Again a contradiction in dissecting what makes a marriage tick. For example, studies of marital problems (normally based upon those seeking counseling) usually put disagreements over money and household management high on the aggravation list. A recent study by the University of Pennsylvania put the two conflicts at the very top, ahead of personality disagreements and sexual adjustment.

A New York wife feels such strife isn't necessary. She wrote on her questionnaire, "It is my belief that it matters little who handles the money in a family if there is sufficient (money) to meet the family's needs. . . . When expenses are greater than income there is trouble regardless of who pays the bills or who controls the pursestrings.

A North Carolina comment—"My husband is most cooperative and we make all major monetary decisions together. I am very careful not to abuse his confidence in my business management."

Many wives did say they would appreciate more cooperation from their husbands and most felt the job was dumped in their laps without offers of help or any training.

Length of time married for those who handled the family's weekly and monthly bookkeeping, purchasing, bill paying and other fiscal affairs ranged from

Miss Maureen Scott Bride Of James Lee Robinson III

MRS. JAMES LEE ROBINSON III

Miss Maureen Scott and James Lee Robinson III, were united in Holy Matrimony, Feb. 13, 1971, at 7:30 p. m., at First Presbyterian Church, Sanford.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Duncan Scott Sr., 447 South Ave., Sanford, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. James Lee Robinson II, and the late Dr. Robinson of Lake Summit, Zirconia, N. C., and Naples.

Rev. Virgil L. Bryant Jr. was the officiating clergyman at the "and I do" and double ring ceremony before the altar which was accentuated with two triangular arrangements of white gladioli, carnations and baby's breath in white pedestal urns on white Grecian columns.

Adding to the nuptial background were seated palms, four nine-branched brass standing candelabra and one 14 branched arched brass candelabra. A melange of fougères and candelabra centered each window and family trees were identified with salal foliage and baby's breath with long satin streamers.

Mrs. George Touhy, church organist and minister of music, presented the traditional wedding Processional and Recessional. She also played "Recessional"—Godard; "Elegy"—Mussart; "Ave Maria—Stella"—Gail; "Little Bell Song"—Stoughton; "Jesus is My Precious Treasure"—Moravians; and "Communion"—Nielsen.

Given in marriage by her father, the radiant bride chose for her vows a formal gown of silk organza over peau d' ange, fashioned along the Empire silhouette with a high neckline and bell sleeves. Re-embroidered Venise lace medallions lavishly embellished the entire gown with rows of narrow lace encircling the yoke-effect and loose sleeves. A cloud of cascading organza formed her Watteau train.

A pillbox secured her finger-

the veil of imported illusion which was highlighted with an exquisite handmade mantilla adorned with Venise lace. She carried an Edwardian bouquet of ivory Tiarra roses and stephanotis with variegated natural foliage and a shower of ribbon streamers.

Miss Sallie Peterson attended the bride as maid of honor. She wore a floor-length gown styled with a red velvet skirt and wide cummerbund. The dainty Victorian-inspired long sleeved bodice was trimmed with rows of narrow lace and her headpiece was a red velvet pillbox. She carried a circular floral crest of deep red sweetheart roses, miniature cranberry carnations, white carnations and long satin streamers.

Mrs. Glenn Greenwood was the matron of honor. Her gown and flowers were identical to the maid's of honor.

The base of the punch table was a Colonial bouquet of deep red sweetheart roses and baby's breath ornamented with the bride's wedding. Decorating the center tier was a similar arrangement with white sugar doves.

The candelabra, Belgian lace table cloth and cake knife were also used by the bride's sisters at their wedding reception, Orange Park, Winter Park and Maitland.

Assisting at the reception were Mrs. A. B. Peterson Sr. and Mrs. Harry Robinson, greeting the guests; Mrs. M. F. Johnson Jr., Atlanta, and Mrs. Richard Cobb, Orange Park, sisters of the bride, bride's book.

Also, Mrs. Celia Higginbotham, Mrs. John Crawford, Mrs. W. M. Phillips and Mrs. A. B. Peterson Jr., cutting and serving the cake; Mr. Frank D. Scott Jr., champagne fountain; and Mrs. Donald Gorsay, Mrs. Bruce Doughton, Mrs. James Koerner and Miss Patricia Schaeffert, floating bottles.

For her going-away outfit, the bride wore a Winter white coat-dress complemented with red, white and blue accessories and a corsage of white and red roses.

Following a wedding trip to Florida West Coast, the newlyweds will make their home at Zirconia, N. C. where the bride will continue her education at the University of North Carolina, Asheville-Biltmore. The bridegroom is teaching and pursuing a writing career.

Out-of-town guests were from Naples, New Jersey, North Carolina, Ladenton, Atlanta, Orange Park, Winter Park and Maitland.

The World in '70

The first year of our new decade will always be remembered for the early trends and circumstances that helped shape today's world. It was a year filled with every stage of emotion, fear, tragedy, expectation, and elation marked its course and once again, The Associated Press has recorded it all, as only their unique services can provide.

This handsome, colorful news annual is now yours for the asking. THE WORLD IN 1970, HISTORY AS WE LIVED IT, will prove to be the most informative news volume on your bookshelf. Reserve your copy by filling out the coupon below.

Garden Circles

HIBISCUS CIRCLE
 Hibiscus Circle of the Sanford Garden Club held its February meeting at the home of Mrs. Donald King with Mrs. David Fauver co-hostess.

Very attractive and delicious cherry tarts, minis nuts, and coffee were served to seventeen members and one guest. The meeting was opened with the Lord's Prayer, after which Mrs. Albritton, president, turned the report from from the board meeting over to Mrs. Brissson since she was unable to attend. It was announced there will be a meeting of Sem-

The one-piece swimsuit plays an important role in resort fashion this season. A sensational way to turn one's back and still attract attention is Cole's low-down back, buckle-strap in the front, boy-leg mollor (left). Fashion focuses entirely on the figure because it's sheathed in a comfortably controlling sort of Antron nylon and Lycra spandex. A tie-dye print adorns an up-to-the-minute version of the minimum mollor (right) by Speedragon. Brief cut, both in front and to the barest back, it's in wispy weight unrestrictive knit of nylon and Lycra spandex.

Environment Education Begins At Home

By MARLENE DAVIS
TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Mary is a nice little girl. She makes her own bed. Helps with the dinner dishes. Brushes her hair 100 times every night. A living copy of her mother. The only problem is her mother's problem. She doesn't seem to understand her daughter imitates everything she does. Not just the priming of the house-keeping. Everything. Like throwing the milkshake sipp out the car window when nobody is looking. Or leaving the lights on in the back of the house when everybody's in the front. Or just not thinking about trees and birds and aluminum cans. And what happens to them. It's not that Mary's mother is a bad mother. It's just that she like many parents, doesn't recognize her role in producing a better environment for her children by producing better children for the environment.

Parents Should Set Example

Donald C. Riblet of Bradenton, an environmental education consultant based at the Education Research Center at the University of Florida, thought about these parents and came up with some simple suggestions to help them help their children develop proper attitudes and values about their environment. But first a parent has to know what "this environmental thing" is all about. And according to Riblet it's quite simple. "All our environmental problems trace back to two things, overpopulation and excessive consumption per person. And anything we do to reverse these trends is good." Parents, he said, should realize Americans consume so very much. A child born in America will consume, during his lifetime, 25 times as much as a child born in an underprivileged country, he explained. He said the definition people usually hear of environment is "everything other than one's self." But he feels parents should learn environment is

Computers Enter The Diet Scene

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsweek's "Weight Watchers" column says that a community health spa may become the new way to shed excess pounds, predicts Sheila Bond, a former Miss Maryland. Women will visit health centers as they do shopping centers, she says, and eventually these will become beauty resorts. The pretty, size-eight, 28-year-old brunette is Woman's Program Coordinator for the Holiday Spas, a fast-growing chain of metropolitan fitness centers in the east. They offer everything from figure control to karate instruction at their 14 centers, and are now bringing the computer into the diet picture. Mrs. Bond foresees fitness and beauty becoming a hand-in-glove venture, with hairdressing establishments, luncheon fashion shows and exhibitions as all part of the spa scene. And if one wants to enjoy, but doesn't want to reduce, she sees programs here to keep everything in status quo. Health spas are a growing idea in the United States. Many physical fitness centers are springing up in cities, but they are different from early Roman and modern European spas in that they don't concentrate on the bath, although there are saunas, steam and whirlpool baths and swimming pools. Computers now being programmed for use at these spas will provide overweight members with the piece de resistance in dieting, Sheila explains. You eat foods you cannot resist, and you can lose weight, providing you also exercise. Before she joined the spa movement, Mrs. Bond conducted fashion shows. She is eager to bring them to the centers, along with good hairdressing and makeup experts. She visualizes a place where they may get a special makeup before they dress for dinner at the spa. Exercise is anathema to many women because they think of it as hard work, she says. But one of the simplest exercises—the squat—is the greatest for hips and thighs, that along with the midriff, are the overweight woman's biggest problems. To squat, you stand with legs apart so that you are balanced with a straight back, hands on hips, feet flat, and then you take the three-quarter squat position by bending your knees slightly. You squat to the level of a chair, not all the way. Being overweight is not limited to the 30 to 50 set, although that age group constitutes their largest membership. Young people are beginning to show the effects of sedentary life, she says. One of her youthful clients, at 264 pounds, just kept thinking it would go away some day. "They can't seem to realize that five pounds rolls into ten," she quips, "and then they have trouble losing."

The spotlight is on Mickey and Minnie Mouse in pinafore dresses and pant outfits in easy-care cotton. Patchwork, print dress (left) with Peter Pan collar and bobbed sleeves is teamed with a blue pinafore trimmed in the print fabric. Minnie holds a big print heart. Mickey and Minnie Mouse wave to each other from opposite pant legs of solid blue (right) which are topped off with a patchwork print blouse. Fun Frills designed these machine-washable outfits in Springmold 100 per cent cotton.

Simple Pattern For Uniforms

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — a basic simplicity pattern was agreed upon. The result is a three-piece combination skirt, pants, and vest in black, washable polyester knit. The outfit is worn with a white turtle neck blouse. Materials are described as having year-round capabilities for Florida wear.

"The nice thing about it," said Mrs. Forbes, "is that I have a cocktail date (with my husband, of course) or if we are invited to dinner and I haven't time to go home and change, it's smart enough to wear anywhere."

Mrs. Sicoouty added: "Not only is it practical, it's economical. The fact that it can be washed and is self-pressed... well, with just a little touch-up means saving on cleaning bills. All the girls seem to like them. After all, we can't complain. The Bank left it up to us. We hope the customers like them, too."

The ensembles were produced locally, so you might say the new costume is a Seminole County creation. Well, that's the way the new Barnett Bank of Seminole County would want it to be. The Bank opened Monday for any who are interested in viewing the new uniforms, the girls, or in just opening an account with the Bank.

Open House Attracts Big Crowd

By GLENDA BRADFORD
 ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — Approximately 1,000 visitors attended the open house at the Barnett Bank of Seminole at Altamonte Springs on Sunday. The guests were each given a potted plant compliments of the bank.

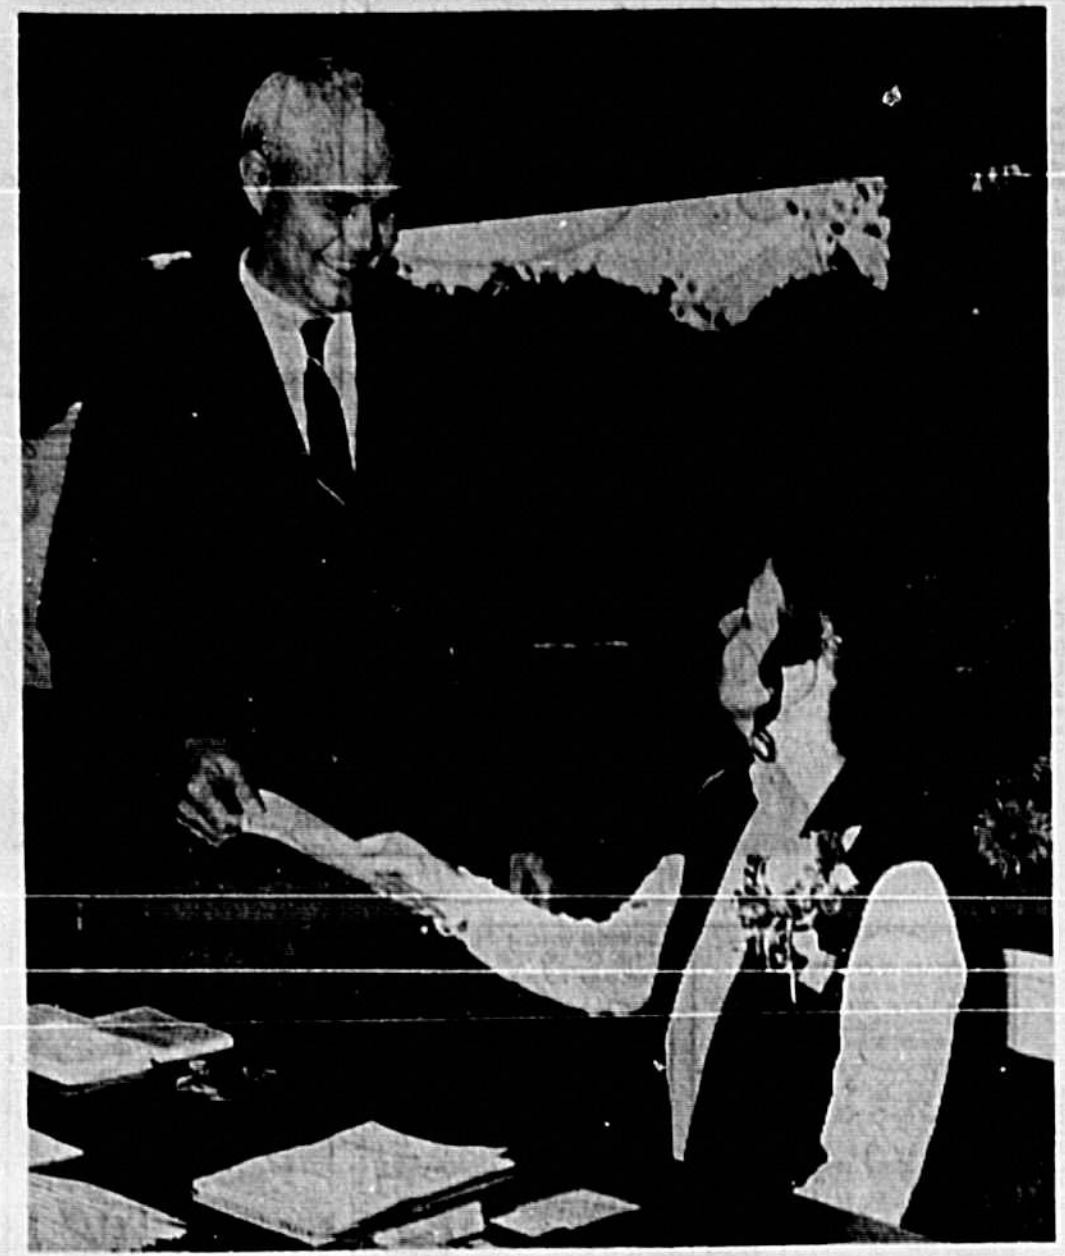

Refreshments of orange juice and assorted cookies were served amid a "George Washington" motif. Table arrangements of cherries, tory, and small hatchets continued the theme of the decorations. Washington style hats were given to the younger visitors.

Many floral bouquets of orchids, tulips and other spring-time flowers were placed throughout the bank. The officers of the bank, George Foster, president; Mrs. Ellen Sicoouty, cashier, and Mrs. Gwendolyn O. Inness, assistant cashier greeted visitors at the door.

H. Alger Comes To Life

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — There's a bit of Horatio Alger in the story of the opening of Barnett Bank of Seminole County on Monday.

Guy Bots, chairman of the board of Barnett Bank of Florida, was there. So was Charles Rice, president, First National Bank at Winter Park and chairman of the board of the Seminole Bank, and Mayor Lawrence Swofford, of Altamonte Springs, where the new Bank is located on West Semoran Boulevard between 14 and 17-92.

Bank Linked With History

ALTAMONTE SPRINGS — Making history as the first president, George Washington Foster of the new Barnett Bank of Seminole County at Altamonte Springs opened the county's newest banking institution yesterday.

Charles Rice, chairman of the Seminole board and president of First National Bank of Winter Park, observed that the opening was scheduled for Washington's real birthday and noted that the bank is next door to Valley Forge.

Robert Schick, dressed in Colonial costume, greeted guests at the door and handed out Washington hats to the children. With appropriate ceremonies, Mr. and Mrs. James Foster, parents of the president, came all the way from Bishop, Ga., to be with their son bringing with them shears (a family heirloom) with them to cut the ribbon.

Guy Bots, chairman of the board of Barnett Bank of Florida, reminded his audience that the Seminole Bank has behind it the three-quarter billion dollar resources of the Barnett organizations. Mrs. Helen Keyser, vice mayor of Altamonte Springs, participated in the opening ceremonies in the absence of Mayor Lawrence Swofford.

Mr. and Mrs. James Foster, parents of the president, came all the way from Bishop, Ga., to be with their son bringing with them shears (a family heirloom) with them to cut the ribbon.

Charles Rice read a telegram from the Federal Reserve Department in Washington indicating that the bank's charter was approved and that Barnett Bank of Seminole County becomes the 15,588th bank in the United States.

Civic leaders and business men from both Orange and Seminole Counties were on hand to wish the new president success. When the new bank opened for business depositors were already opening accounts. The bank is located on SR 436 between 14 and 17-92 directly opposite the site of the new mammoth shopping center soon to be built.

NOW OPEN!

A Brand New Bank With 106 Years Experience!

That's right. Because 106 represents the total number of years our staff at the new Barnett Bank of Seminole County, N.A. has been in the banking business. You'll find this kind of knowledge helpful when you come to us for your personal and business banking needs.

More than four years ago, Altamonte Springs was selected to become headquarters for this newest of the Barnett Banks of Florida because it's a great and growing community. With Barnett Banks of Florida, Inc., resources of over $800,000,000 behind us, we have tremendous capabilities.

We chose Washington's Birthday as an appropriate opening date so you could come in to meet our President. By coincidence, his name really is George Washington Foster. How can you go wrong with a name like that... and a Barnett Bank?
