SATURDAY, MAY 7, 1932

Tomorrow is Mother's Day. Wonder why they don't let Lake out so he could run for something or other?

And 1932 certainly looks like a big year for the treaty-repair shops.—Judge.

In Al Capone's case it might be said that bars for the public brought bars for Capone.

Considering its impartiality on the question, we might call it the Liquorary Dry-gest.—Tampa Tribune.

There are Lloyd Georges in this country too—optimists when in office and pessimists when out.—Tolledo Blade.

"Prices Stiffen on Stock Exchange." Good news, if it's not rigor mortis.—Dunbar's Weekly (Phoenix).

How strange that everybody can get along on less except those who live on tax money.—Publishers' Syndicate.

Many movie magnates, says a report, are now millionaires. For which, of course, they should thank their lucky stars.—Lits.

Advice from abroad indicate that the dollar is sinking. If it keeps on it is going to get down to the level of some of the rest of us.

Mr. Roosevelt made two nominating speeches for Governor Smith. But, something convinces us that he isn't to make another.—Tampa Times. We wonder.

Now that Clara Bow is off the unemployment list and has signed a contract for around $150,000 a year, the depression can safely be said to be waning, at least for her.

Some of the speakers out at Chuluota stood so far away from the microphones you'd a thought they were scared of it. You could have heard some of 'em better if they'd stayed in Sanford.

Ruth Bryan Owen is coming back to Florida to make her campaign for re-election to Congress. And when she gets through with Mark Wilcox, he'll wish he'd never heard of light wines and beer, Gordon's Gin, or any of the other brands.

The word "mother" takes rank with several other superlative varieties, says the Miami Herald. The tenderest word is "love"; the sweetest word is "home"; the broadest word is "truth"; the greatest word is "God"; and the dearest word is "mother."

Sanford has a new industry in the form of a cold storage plant for pea-cooling gladioli bloom and bulbs. At present there are some 125,000 blooms in the plant waiting for shipment to northern markets. This is another sign that Sanford is making some headway in spite of the depression.

The "society mayor" of blue-blooded Palm Beach was not only dismissed by the court when charged with speeding, but his name added the dictum that the mayor had a right to "go it." The mayor can do no wrong.—St. Petersburg Independent. It used to be like that over here, but we're becoming people nowadays.

We don't touch for the accuracy of the following story, but according to the Sarasota Democrat, a negro was descending Mark's Ark, when one of them asked the other, "Who does built this Ark?" The other negro replied, "New Ark, New Ark never built this Ark." Another negro, John Smith built the Ark. After word of John Smith's name was passed on, they say he

The Lakafrent Boulevard

It is difficult to conceive of anything at this time which would have been more encouraging to the people of this community than the information received yesterday that bids have been advertised for in connection with the construction of the Lakeshore Boulevard from the Lake Monroe Bridge into Sanford.

For years this project has been discussed, promoted, agitated and delayed. For months it has hung in the balance and for a while it appeared that, although it had been included in this year's budget of the road department, funds might not be available for its construction within another year.

Now that bids have actually been advertised for, there can be no further delay, and the actual construction work will begin before the end of June. Requiring as it will some four or five months for completion, it is evident that the work will be in progress throughout the dull summer months when its stimulus to business will be most badly needed.

The difficulties in obtaining this piece of construction have hardly been realized by the rank and file of our citizens who recall the dispatch and facility with which road building progressed during the boom. However, this short stretch of road was one of the pieces left unfinished when business collapsed and it has required the constant endeavors of an influential group of men and five years of time to reach the point where the actual construction is about to begin.

After the road, a new bridge is sure to come, and the much discussed dream of a beautiful boulevard completely encircling the lake appears now to be not far from realization. The people of Sanford owe a debt of gratitude to Senator Parrish, George McRory, Harry Papworth and the Chamber of Commerce officials, as well as the city and county commissioners and those others who have given unsparringly of their time and efforts in order that this road could be built.

The Murder Of Doumer

Assassin bullets yesterday claimed the life of Paul Doumer, 74-year-old president of France, whose name is little known in the directory of statesmen. The president of France, like the king of England, is a figurehead, the chief responsibilities of government resting upon the premier.

At the very time of the attack upon him, Doumer was occupied in performing one of the characteristic functions of his office, attending a war veterans charity exhibition. Not far away at his office in a government building was M. Briand, premier of France, the man who is the real "gun pointer" of the French Republic. But with the mental reactions of so many radicals, the murderer picked on the old, venerable Paul Doumer, who lost four sons in the World War, as the object of his discontent.

It is peculiarly significant that most assassinations of public men have been particularly without justification. We can cite the cases of Julius Caesar, Lincoln and McKinley, all public benefactors who were slain because of some fancied grievance. George the first, of England, Louis the sixteenth, of France, and the late Czar of Russia were put to death, and while they were not benevolent rulers they were at least not vicious and were not deserving of their fate.

All civilized nations will grieve with the French people and will extend sympathy in the death of their president, whose slaying will have little significance politically but will help arouse public feeling against radical assassins whose bullets almost invariably penetrate kindly old gentlemen rather than tyrants.

SANFORD, TWENTY YEARS AGO

Mrs. E. S. Keeler entertained the Auction Bridge Club in the hospital home of Mrs. C. O. McLaughlin Monday afternoon. Two tables of bridge were played. Mrs. O. W. King made the highest score and was the lucky winner of the first prize, a very pretty vinaigrette. The second prize, a sterling silver tape measure, was won by Mrs. O. W. Brady. When the enthusiastic games of cards were concluded delicious ice cream and cake were served. Mrs. Keeler's guests were: Mrs. C. O. McLaughlin, Mrs. O. W. Brady, Mrs. F. J. Gonzalez, Mrs. S. O. Chase, Mrs. E. F. Whitner, Jr., Mrs. O. W. King, and Mrs. Robert Newman.

A splendid audience greeted Hon. J. N. Whitner at the Star Theater Sunday night in the monthly union meeting of the men and Religion Forward Movement for Sanford. The meeting opened with the singing of several of the old familiar hymns of the church. Scriptures was read by Rev. C. H. Summers and prayer was offered by Rev. J. W. Wildman.

SOLDIER BONUS BACKERS WONT STOP EFFORTS

(Continued From Page One) The tariff rates. In the two amendments at the income schedule yesterday, the committee knocked out completely the big 1931 schedule adopted Thursday on motion of Senator Connally, Democrat, Texas. It returned to the original schedule adopted on motion of Senator Harrison, providing rates of three percent on the first $4000 income; six percent on the next $4000 income, and nine percent of income over $8000.

The full program as outlined by Mills follows: Elimination of the 1-1-8 percent added tax on consolidated returns of corporations. Reduction of the exemption on dividends to include 10 cent shares in the 10 percent tax. Approval of the committee's rate on stock and bond transfers of 4 cents. Reduction of five from the automobile necessary tax of 1 percent. Approval of the increased

Government To Seek Action On Gaston Means

They are, in the following order: Mrs. Emma Woodruff, W. T. Deane, Mrs. W. W. Long, Mrs. J. N. Whitner, Miss Alice Caldwell, Henry McLaulin, Mrs. Corneilia Deane, Mrs. A. P. Woodburn, Mrs. D. C. Robb, R. C. Maxwell, Mrs. Alice Harrold, and Miss Besale Long.

When Dr. Brownlee enters into his historical resume tomorrow morning, he will tell his hearers that since the church was organized, 1853 persons have joined it. Of that number 623 persons made confessions of faith, while 930 entered by letter from some other church. He will say that the present membership is 739, and that the first children baptized in the church were: Bart W. Harndon, Charles Herndon, and Robert Herndon.

He will describe the administrations of the following 13 pastors who served the church since its organization: Rev. H. C. Kewling, state supply, 1852-54, deceased; Rev. A. L. Loder, pastor, 1854, deceased; Rev. J. A. Kinnison, pastor, 1854-58, deceased; Rev. J. B. Morlan, state supply, 1859, deceased; Rev. H. W. Burwell, pastor, 1859-62, now living at Dallas, Tex.; Rev. A. R. Caldwell, pastor, 1862-65, now living at Davidson, N. C.; Rev. F. D. Hunt, pastor, 1865-67, deceased; Rev. W.

What was testified was not known. Hartson, however, is represented as having made a report to the justice department which resulted in a warrant for Means' arrest. The butler is alleged to have witnessed the transfer of money.

Persons expected to have been called to testify included Father Francis J. Hurney, pastor of the Immaculate Conception Church, of Washington, and George W. White, president of the Metropolitan National Bank. Mr. McLean conferred with Father Hurney during the negotiations. White is said to have taken the $100,000 to Mrs. McLean.

During the day, Means was visited by Mrs. Means, and by his attorney, J. William Tomlinson. Leo A. Rover, United States district attorney, ordered yesterday afternoon that no one else be permitted to see him.

He readily admitted receiving the money, and said he had worked for Mrs. McLean before "in Palm Beach and other places." He termed her a "fine woman and very motherly."

There was no larceny involved in the case, he said, explaining that when Mrs. McLean's attorney demanded he return the $100,000 he gave it to a mysterious "Number 11," who, he said, was an agent for Mrs. McLean.

"I didn't solicit employment, in this case," he added. "She came for me and even had trouble locating me for my telephone isn't listed in the book."

A reporter asked if he knew where the Lindbergh baby is now. He replied: "Now that's confidential."

Besides Mrs. McLean, others who testified in the secret session were Nelson T. Hartson, one of her attorneys, and Gustav Griffon, an Italian who has been her butler for

50th Anniversary Of Church Will Be Celebrated Sunday

They are, in the following order: Mrs. Emma Woodruff, W. T. Deane, Mrs. W. W. Long, Mrs. J. N. Whitner, Miss Alice Caldwell, Henry McLaulin, Mrs. Corneilia Deane, Mrs. A. P. Woodburn, Mrs. D. C. Robb, R. C. Maxwell, Mrs. Alice Harrold, and Miss Besale Long.

When Dr. Brownlee enters into his historical resume tomorrow morning, he will tell his hearers that since the church was organized, 1853 persons have joined it. Of that number 623 persons made confessions of faith, while 930 entered by letter from some other church. He will say that the present membership is 739, and that the first children baptized in the church were: Bart W. Harndon, Charles Herndon, and Robert Herndon.

He will describe the administrations of the following 13 pastors who served the church since its organization: Rev. H. C. Kewling, state supply, 1852-54, deceased; Rev. A. L. Loder, pastor, 1854, deceased; Rev. J. A. Kinnison, pastor, 1854-58, deceased; Rev. J. B. Morlan, state supply, 1859, deceased; Rev. H. W. Burwell, pastor, 1859-62, now living at Dallas, Tex.; Rev. A. R. Caldwell, pastor, 1862-65, now living at Davidson, N. C.; Rev. F. D. Hunt, pastor, 1865-67, deceased; Rev. W.

What was testified was not known. Hartson, however, is represented as having made a report to the justice department which resulted in a warrant for Means' arrest. The butler is alleged to have witnessed the transfer of money.

Persons expected to have been called to testify included Father Francis J. Hurney, pastor of the Immaculate Conception Church, of Washington, and George W. White, president of the Metropolitan National Bank. Mr. McLean conferred with Father Hurney during the negotiations. White is said to have taken the $100,000 to Mrs. McLean.

During the day, Means was visited by Mrs. Means, and by his attorney, J. William Tomlinson. Leo A. Rover, United States district attorney, ordered yesterday afternoon that no one else be permitted to see him.

He readily admitted receiving the money, and said he had worked for Mrs. McLean before "in Palm Beach and other places." He termed her a "fine woman and very motherly."

There was no larceny involved in the case, he said, explaining that when Mrs. McLean's attorney demanded he return the $100,000 he gave it to a mysterious "Number 11," who, he said, was an agent for Mrs. McLean.

"I didn't solicit employment, in this case," he added. "She came for me and even had trouble locating me for my telephone isn't listed in the book."

A reporter asked if he knew where the Lindbergh baby is now. He replied: "Now that's confidential."

Besides Mrs. McLean, others who testified in the secret session were Nelson T. Hartson, one of her attorneys, and Gustav Griffon, an Italian who has been her butler for
