Southeastern Power and Light Company Purchase Georgia Railway and Power Co. After Long Negotiations

Building Program Is Planned Under Merger

Thomas W. Martin Of Birmingham Heads New Firm; Officers Chosen Thursday

ATLANTA, Ga., Jan. 22.—(AP)—The Southeastern Power and Light Company of New York has extended its holdings in the South to four states, by acquiring the Georgia Railway & Power Company.

The merger of these companies was announced late yesterday afternoon at a special meeting of the board of directors of the Georgia Railway and Power Company.

Under the agreement, each stockholder of the Georgia Railway and Power Company will receive in exchange 1.533 shares of cumulative participating preferred stock and one share of non par value common stock of the Southeastern Power and Light Company.

The Southeastern Power and Light Company was incorporated in Maine in 1924, as a security holding company. It took over the Alabama Power Company on Oct. 10, 1924. The Southeastern controls also the Gulf Electric Company operating properties in northern Florida and southern Alabama, and the Mississippi Power Company which has properties in Gulfport, Meridian, Hattiesburg, Biloxi and other Mississippi cities. The Southern Fuel Company and Griffin Coal Company are other subsidiaries of the Southeastern Power and Light Company.

Physical Connection Exists

There is and has been a physical connection between the Alabama Power Company in Alabama and the Georgia Railway and Power Company in Georgia, the Southern Power Co. in North Carolina and South Carolina, the Tennessee Power Company in Tennessee, the Central Power Company of Macon, Ga., and the Columbus Power Company of Columbus, Ga.

Before announcement of the merger yesterday, reports and rumors had been circulated that negotiations were on between the Southeastern and the Georgia Company, and also the companies in Tennessee and the Carolinas. Denial, however, has been made of these reports.

The Georgia Railway and Power Company and the Alabama Power Company will continue as independent operating companies. The building program of the Georgia Company, involving an expenditure of approximately $4,000,000 a year for the next three years will be carried out.

Birmingham Man Is Head

The officers of the Southeastern Power and Light Company, are: Thomas W. Martin, of Birmingham, ham, who also is president of the Alabama Power Company, Sir Lawrence MacFarlane, vice president and secretary, and treasurer; Robert M. Maclechie, assistant treasurer; Stephen A. Dawley, assistant secretary and treasurer; John W. Muir, auditor.

Addison Mizner, Florida architect, is completing his eighty-fifth home in Palm Beach county. Average cost exceeds $100,000.

Australia and New Zealand have just finished a record year of agricultural output.

CASS LAKE, Minn., Jan. 22.—(AP)—Seventeen hundred Indians of the Red Lake Chippewa tribe are being governed by one of their own people. He is Mark L. Burns, now Red Lake Agency superintendent, a mixed blood of 20 years' service in the United States Indian Bureau.

Efforts of the new chief are directed at removing the last vestige of aboriginal customs still existing in this isolated section—the "medicine men" and the self-torture to appease the anger of traditional "evil spirits."

Burns has jurisdiction over the tribe's own councils, which still function as in days of old. He began his work as the Chippewa's first Indian superintendent.

MARKETS

NEW YORK, Jan. 22—(AP)—Reversal of selling pressure imparted a reactionary tone to stock prices at the opening of today's stock market. Bulls were again offered freely, presumably because car loadings in the first full week of January showed a substantial decrease below those of the corresponding week last year.

Jersey Central, which broke ten points yesterday on the sale, opened five points higher and Pennsylvania and Reading Coal and Iron showed an initial gain of one point.

U. S. Steel sagged to 10 1/4, a new low on the current movement. Trading appeared to be largely of a professional character. National Power and Light, which was listed yesterday, dropped 3 1/2 points to 32 and Hemington Typewriter, Sears Roebuck, Stewart Warner and U. S. Cast Iron Pipe sold off a point or more.

Dealers moved up fast on the announcement of the acceptance by President Lewis of the Miners' Union of the plan proposed by the Seranton Times for a settlement of the coal strike. DuPont and Hudson advanced 1/4; Lackawanna 1/4; Philadelphia and Reading 1/4; and iron 3/4. Lehigh Valley 3/4; and Ontario and Waters 2 1/4.

Other railroads also strengthened notably, particularly the Southern carriers, Atlantic Coast Line gaining 3/4 and Louisville and Nashville 2 points.

Specialties also turned strong. Dupont, General Electric, United States Industrial, and International Telephone and Telegraph rising 1/2 to 3/4. Some selling of the motors cropped out later especially in Hudson and Chrysler, call loans renewed at four per cent.

Supporting orders again made their appearance and another rally, led by U. S. Steel common, which snapped back to 132 1/2, under way before the end of the first half hour. National Biscuit, which sold off a point at the opening to 82, rallied to 85 a new high record.

Fisco common advanced 1 1/4, American Can and Marine preferred, Allied Chemical, U. S. Rubber, General Electric and Savage Arms advanced a point or so. Foreign Exchanges opened steady; demand Sterling ruling around $4.64 1/2 and French francs at 3.74 cents.

CHICAGO, Ill., Jan. 22—(AP)—Heavy selling pressure which developed on early return in the wheat market today led to a sharp break in prices. The increased selling was associated with an opinion from a trade authority here that wheat values in the United States would have to undergo a substantial decline before there would be merit on the buying side. He called attention especially to wheat shipments banking up in Canada not only at terminals but at country plants as well, and he also gave emphasis to reports of unexpected shipments from Germany and Russia.

The opening was unchanged to 3/4 cent lower. Demand 1.72 1/2 to 3/4 and July 1.49 1/2 to 1.50, was followed by a fractional advance and then by a sudden reaction that carried it down to 1.09 1/2 and July to 1.48.

Corn and oats were easily influenced by wheat.

After opening at 1/2 cent off to 1/4 cent up, May 83 1/2 to 1/4 cent the corn market scored slight gains, and then underwent a sug.

Oats started at 1/2 cent decline to an equal distance, May 44 1/2 to 44 1/2 cent. Later, all months showed some loss.

Higher quotations on hogs gave a lift to the provision market.

CHICAGO, Ill., Jan. 22—(AP)—Butter higher; receipts 8,554 tubs; creamery extras 43 1/2; standards 43; firsts 41@41 1/2; seconds 38@40 1/2. Eggs higher; receipts 8,719 cases; first 35 1/2; ordinary firsts 32@33c.

Dupont Heiress At Reno While Society Hears Of Divorce

NEW YORK, Jan. 22—(AP)—The possible end of a society romance was in slight today with news that Mrs. Alicia Dupont Glendinning, adopted daughter of Alfred L. Dupont, has established a residence at Reno, Nev.

She had been separated from her husband sometimes. Society today recalled her dramatic marriage in London in 1922 to Harold Glendinning, son of a Norwalk, Conn., postman, whom she met in her foster father's powder plant in Delaware during the war.

She first saw Glendinning, a chemist, in his shift sleeves, while making a tour of the plant. They were introduced and Miss Dupont invited him to spend the following week-end at Nemours, the Dupont estate near Wilmington, Del.

Glendinning, a college graduate, went to Oxford to continue his studies and she went to Europe on the same ship to study painting in Paris. Their marriage in London followed shortly.

First intimation of a rift in the Glendinning romance came a year ago when she won a suit at Bridgeport, Conn., for custody of their three year old son, revealing that they had separated.

FRANK P. FORSTER BEGINS HIS 43RD YEAR IN BANKING

Mr. Forster came to Florida on Nov. 27, 1876 soon after his marriage in Chicago.

He came from Jacksonville by boat and landed at the pier which stood within one half block of the present new Hotel Forrest Lake. The pier was used at that time by independent boat line for various purposes other than the unloading of passengers and freight.

The first Masonic Lodge in Sanford used the upper story of the pier, directly above the freight room as their quarters.

Mr. Forster, in an interview with a reporter from The Herald this morning, told many interesting facts about the early history of Sanford, in which he played a prominent part, being postmaster during the years 1880, 1881 and 1882, and councilman for a number of years.

He told of the building of the structure which today houses the Western Union Telegraph offices and said that at the time it was erected it was the only brick building in the state south of Jacksonville. The building was remodelled with stone veneered with Georgia marble in 1907.

Recalling the explosion of the railway locomotive "Seminole" during one of its first runs on this new track, Mr. Forster stated that a part of the bell from the engine was blown several blocks through the air and fell to the ground only a few feet from where he was standing, in the rear of the old bank building.

Mr. Forster stated that he derived a great amount of satisfaction in reviewing the past of Sanford and looking at the metropolitan city which stands here today. He has in his possession many old pictures showing scenes of various sections of the city in its early days.

The institution of which he is president has enjoyed a remarkable growth within the past 20 years and is now rated as one of the strongest financial houses in the state of Florida.

Mr. Forster is also a director of the Florida National Bank of Jacksonville, having been recently re-elected to this position for the nineteenth time.

TENTH SLUGGING CASE IS MYSTERY TO TOLEDO COPS

Latest Attack Occurs Around Midnight In Section Five Miles From Scene Of Others

TOLEDO, Jan. 22—(AP)—Toledo police today were confronted with a new slugging case.

The second attack on a woman this week and the tenth in the recent months occurred at midnight when Mrs. Dorothy Barton, 20, was beaten by a youth in front of her home.

The man had followed her to a show, seating her from behind and striking her with his fists. Screaming for help, the young woman fought back, but was knocked unconscious just as her father came to her aid.

Authorities were inclined to believe this latest attack has no connection with other recent assaults in which a club was used as a weapon.

The attack came while police still were attempting to solve the slaying of Miss Handley, 41, whose body was found in the rear of a yard next to her home early in the week. Her head had been crushed by heavy blows. Her attacker had dragged his victim with her own clothing. Miss Handley was the third woman killed.

The girl was able to make a statement to police and give a full description of her assailant. In none of the previous cases was the victim able to see her attacker sufficiently clear to give a description of him. The previous attacks were centralized in a small area of the western side of the city. Last night's was on the east side, fully five miles from the scene of the earlier "sluggings."

CHIROPAC

Nation-wide in its great work

Each hour to coast, from city to city, in every road and corner of the great land, the Chiropac is solving the riddles and problems of physical suffering. Politely, and with infinite wisdom, he seeks to re-create, as far as a humanly possible, bodies wrecked and racked by pain. Getting to the "heart of the trouble" is his dominating purpose. What follows is no more than the application of a fundamental science which is almost as old as the world itself.

This Chiropac should be so about a time, however, after world-wide recognition as one of the best and most effective principles of physical regeneration, is an interesting as it is important. While, naturally, people everywhere have come to place thankful reliance upon its beneficial and restorative effects.

BIBLE VERSE FOR TODAY

GOD RETURNS FULL MEASURE.—And the angel of Jehovah called unto Abraham a second time... and said, "In blessing I will bless thee, and in thy seed shall all the nations of the earth be blessed; because thou hast obeyed my voice." Gen. 22:18-19.

PRAYER.—Grant us Thy Spirit that we also may in fullest measure know by experience that it is more blessed to give than to receive.

VOICES OF THE NIGHT

Some few odd miles above the sky There seems to be a haunted attic, Where specters walk or float or fly And speak a curious tongue called "night"...

You'd think these ghosts, who once were men Before they from the earth were driven, Would want to listen now and then To what we mortal folk are saying.

You'd think that they would still be striving, In their ghostly way, To take a little interest in The planet that they left behind them.

But no! What we may want to do To these bold creatures is no matter, Though we must hearken all night through To their unmitigated chatter.

All vainly do we press our ear To the most delicate detectors, With hopeful hearts—we only hear The chit-chat of a bunch of specters.

We like to gabble, we concede— To drown the voices of our brethren, But very seldom do we heed Or listen to the speech of others.

To beat them at the talking game Is our chief joy—and how we love it, When we succeed—but just the same, You'd think that ghosts would be above it.

A Creditable Baseball Team

Now that the Atlanta "Crackers" have definitely decided not to train in Sanford, The Herald believes our thoughts should be turned toward perfecting a local baseball team to participate and represent this city in the Florida State League.

Under the terms of the association's contracts, all players with strings attached, automatically become free agents on March 1, if no definite league plans for the coming season have been formulated by that time. In this, as in so many other cases, procrastination is apt to play a part, and those clubs which delay reorganization meetings until the eleventh hour, may find that all good material has been spoken for, and only sandlot players remain to drag their team through the dust of an unsuccessful season.

Last year there was much talk of organizing an eight team league. Plans were discussed relative to bringing in Daytona, Fort Myers, Orlando and other towns in addition to those already in the league but so far little has been done toward this end. An eight-team league would bring many advantages to each club. Increased financial solidity, more and better games, and greater gate receipts should result if such a league is perfected. Those entrusted with the development of local baseball should get together now and set the wheels of reorganization in movement while there is still plenty of time to do so.

The long mooted question as to whether or not Sanford is a good baseball town was decisively answered by the large attendance that packed the grandstand last season on those occasions when anything like a well played game was expected. Sanford fans will turn out again to support a good team, but it is up to those in charge of the local team to take early action so that we have a good team.

In addition to offering clean, wholesome recreation, state league baseball is an effective medium of fostering community pride and spirit. The Herald hopes Sanford will be able to put a creditable team in the field this year.

Community Advertising

As business institutions all over the world have grown and prospered they have come to realize more and more that the success which has come to them has been the direct result of advertising. This has caused increased appropriations in order to keep before the public, and today the greatest sellers in all lines are by far the greatest advertised products. The investment of millions of dollars annually in advertising a single thing has come to be almost a common occurrence.

During recent years community advertising has been brought to the attention of the country. At first some doubted its efficiency. Just because business advertising paid was no reason why community advertising would bring the same results, it was argued. But a few of the more progressive cities and counties began to experiment with this form of advertising and found the results far greater than ever dreamed.

Today Florida ranks as a leader in community advertising. Huge sums are being spent in telling the world what this state has to offer. Intensive campaigns have been carried on not only in northern, western and southern publications but also in all of the newspapers within this state. As a result, Florida is the most talked of state in the country and countless thousands are flocking this way. Those communities that have advertised are the outstanding and most talked of points in the state.

An added testimonial to the value of community advertising has been offered by the Indiana State Chamber of Commerce, which plans an extensive campaign of this kind in which the advantages of Indiana will be given. In telling of the proposed campaign the Indiana organization had this to say:

"There are plans for doing some advertising to boost Indiana as a most desirable state in which to live and in which to make money. California pioneered in this kind of advertising through community units. With the $400,000 which her budget for 1925, San Francisco has invested $1,500,000 in the past four years to attract industry, retailers and tourists through the advertising of Californians, Inc."

Following are some of the things that have happened in San Francisco in the past three years: New water connections increased 96 per cent, new electricity consumers increased 87 per cent, new gas consumers increased 40 per cent, new telephone connections increased 37 per cent, property values increased 184 per cent, and building permit values increased 148 per cent.

Community advertising appropriations in the west for this year and the last two years total $4,810,731.98. This list includes Tucson, Ariz., California, Oregon, Colorado and Washington.

And now Florida is occupying the spotlight. You will be interested in following the following estimates on a partial list of community advertising appropriations in that state:

Table with 2 columns: City/State and Amount. Includes Coral Gables ($1,000,000), Hollywood-by-the-Sea ($900,000), Miami Shores ($500,000), Boca Raton ($500,000), Miami ($300,000), Clewiston, Ltd. ($250,000), Jacksonville ($150,000), Orlando ($100,000), St. Petersburg ($100,000), Lakeland ($75,000), Palm Beach ($75,000), Daytona ($60,000), Sanford ($60,000), Deland ($50,000), Miscellaneous ($1,000,000), Total ($4,740,000).

"The State Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring the plans for advertising Indiana and it is believed that they will work out some good plan. Indiana shouldn't be the last state to apply good, sound, business-building methods to capitalize on its opportunities and advantages."

MY FAVORITE STORIES

By IRVIN S. COBB

A green recruit was having his first experience at doing sentry duty at one of the Southern cantonments in 1917. Toward him through the darkness came a captain. "Halt! Who goes there?" demanded the greenhorn. "Officer of the day," came the answer. "Beat it, before I run you in," said the sentry. "What the hell would the officer of the day be doing hanging round at night?"

Slit Your Answer. 140 Deaths, $18,200 Profits. The Colorado Will Works. Pity the Poor Boleshevik. By ARTHUR BRISBANE Copyright 1925, by Star Co.

AT THE Pacific Coast theological society conference Professor Kofoid, head of the zoology department of the University of California, yesterday, told 300 clergymen that in some ways the higher apes are superior to man, and the descendants of some sort of life. The clergymen all listened politely and in silence. At the end of the monotonous lecture, they sang in sweet unison "How Firm a Foundation," and let that be their answer to the evolution theory.

Wise clergymen, to let the other man talk, and say what he thinks. Then you say or sing what you think. Everybody is happy and the right to free speech is upheld. JOHN HULBERT killed 140 human beings, his total profit on the killings being $18,200. His line is not that of the ordinary hold-up man, but he is a public killer, a public executioner, and each time he straps a man into the chair the state pays $130. It seems easy, $130 for work that lasts half an hour. But killing causes strain on the nerves. So Mr. Hulbert retires. Someone else can have the $130 job.

MEN OF other days were made of tougher fiber. The beautiful red haired girl who taught Heine the poems about her father's sword, when she was 16 and Heine was in love with her, was the daughter of a public killer, who never wearied of his work. Executioners and their victims are not what they were. The latter want drugs to quiet their nerves before they are killed. The old type of murderer wanted all his energy to curse the executioner and the crowd. Read about Ravallin.

HARNESSING FOR power and irrigation the waters of the Colorado river, seems assured, and will reflect upon the administration of President Coolidge, and all those identified with it, glory and praise be theirs. To the President, now behind the project, to Senator Hiram Johnson who has devoted years of hard work to reconciling conflicting interests, and to Secretary Hoover, whose technical knowledge and personal influence have been of the highest value, their whole country is deeply indebted.

THE COLORADO river, put to work and used, will add hundreds of millions yearly to the wealth of the United States. It will supply several western states with more than a million horsepower, and irrigation sufficient to provide food for tens of millions of human beings.

THE REAL wealth, and future happiness of this country, will gain from this single project of science and constructive statesmanship more benefit, than it would from finding gold mines unlimited.

ANNA LOUISE Strong, with a few other ladies and gentlemen in California, advocates a Soviet government like that of Russia, even suggesting violent revolution and "consolidation of property," if necessary.

There is no danger in such propaganda out here in Los Angeles. As soon as a "comrade" has finished his speech, if he had any money, some strong armed real estate man captures him, sells him a lot "only two miles from the center of the city by telescope," and takes all the bolshevism out of him.

THERE WILL be little room for bolshevism in the United States until all the lots are sold, from Portland, Maine to San Diego, California, from Seattle to Miami, An that's a long way off—18 lots to the acre, hundreds of millions of acres.

NEW LIFE insurance taken by Americans in 1925 totaled fifteen thousand six hundred millions of dollars, beating all records. That is important business news. And you need not be in a hurry to extend your mortgage. Interest rates will be no lower. Occasional charging of higher rates for stock gambling purposes, and raising the redoubtable federal reserve here and there are not important.

But for the income tax, money might again be borrowed at the comfortable old rate of four per cent. But the lender feels bound to make the borrower pay what Uncle Sam demands, which means the difference between four per cent and five per cent.

THE BATTLE PROGRESSES

POET AND PUBLIC

NEW YORK TIMES

These are the days when it is lucky to be a poet, and now is the time for a great good poet to emerge from the host of small good poets who sparkle in the pages of magazines and newspapers today. No longer is the poet known by a hungry look, a threadbare overcoat and an address under the eaves. The public is turning an appreciative ear toward the versifiers, and enough poetry is bought to provide profits for the publisher and author and even to necessitate the services of accountants.

In the Yale Review Agnes Repplier comments happily on the "amazing goodness of minor poets" whose work, finds a place in newspapers and periodicals today. She cites and quotes a dozen who are touched by inspiration, but she leaves to memory and imagination the rank and file of twenty-five years ago with whom she compares them. The higher quality of "fugitive verse" today does explain to some extent the improved status of the poets, particularly when one looks at selections chosen at random from papers of a quarter of a century ago. The old-fashioned verse of the daily paper aimed for lightness in such duties as "Under the Trees With Grandpa," which gives a jangling account of an inoperative wash; of wasted sonorous lines on titles like "Throw Your Bouquets at the Living." In considering the better verse of bygone days, Miss Repplier speaks of it as putting up a bluff "for profundity of thought." Some of it doubtless was pretentious, but much of it was simply doggerel.

A QUARTER OF A CENTURY AGO

MACON TELEGRAPH

It is interesting occasionally to roll back the scroll of history, as recorded in the sayings and needs of individuals, to find what the nation was thinking a quarter of a century ago. In the New York World of January 7, in the column headed, "Twenty-five Years Ago," we find this item:

Wall Street hears that Canadian Pacific has joined the Morgan-Hill-Rockefeller-Harriman syndicate, now controlling 76,224 miles of railway, with a prospect of consolidation of the great railways of the country into five harmonious systems.

The country just now is discussing railroad consolidation. Morgan and Rockefeller and Hill and Harriman failed in their attempts to make the borrower pay what Uncle Sam demands, which means the difference between four per cent and five per cent.

THOSE CHILDISH STATES

THE DAILY OKLAHOMAN

California newspapers were just as industrious in playing up the recent Florida floods as the Florida newspapers have been in playing up California earthquakes. To the disinterested people abiding in other states it seems as though the golden west rejoices when floods devastate the Florida beaches and Florida is gladdened by north-rocking stories from the Golden Gate. What the country generally is disposed to regard as a real calamity may be regarded as a positive blessing in Florida or California, depending on which state receives the shake-up or the washout.

This childish jealousy is laughable to people living in states that have something to brag about. It slides climate. The American people would get away from California.

Every business house in America possessing as much as a thimbleful of brains has long since learned the impossibility of building itself up by trying to destroy its competitor. The company that speaks reverently of its competitor is the one that grows continually and business volume and public estimation. While California and Florida, doubtless, will continue to quarrel, both will get farther from each other.

MESDAMES GONZALEZ, MILLER, RIDGE AND STAFFORD ARE HOSTESSES AT BRIDGE THURSDAY AFTERNOON

One of the most beautiful parties given in Sanford this season was that of Thursday afternoon when Mrs. Frank J. Gonzalez, Mrs. Frank Miller, Mrs. Denzil Stafford and Mrs. James Ridge were joint hostesses when they entertained at bridge at the Woman's Club. There were 30 tables of play.

The large club room was transformed into a veritable fairy bower with its decorations carrying out the color scheme of pink and green. Tall potes palms encircled the entire room, while tall pedestal baskets filled with pink gladiolus and ferns were effectively arranged at each corner.

The mantel was banked with feathery asparagus ferns studded with clusters of dombia. The stage was a perfect picture, with its airy screen of asparagus ferns, and myriads of sweet peas in the various shades of pink. The lights were covered with tulle and shades of pink and cast a soft glow over the pretty setting.

Greeting the guests upon arrival was Mrs. J. H. Tolari, who resembled a dresden figure in her exquisite French imported frock of soft pink satin, embroidered in chemise and velvet ribbon flowers, in harmonizing tones of pink, blue and green. She wore a writhing bouquet of sweet peas, violets and baby breath.

In the receiving line were Mrs. Frank Gonzalez, Mrs. Frank Miller, Mrs. Denzil Stafford and Mrs. James Ridge.

Mrs. Gonzalez was lovely in a becoming frock of apricot georgette beaded in self tones, and touches of turquoise blue. She wore a corsage of sweet peas, violets and maiden hair ferns.

Of brown georgette, a two-piece model beaded in iridescent beads was the smart costume worn by Mrs. Miller. Her flowers were corsage of sweet peas and violets.

Mrs. Stafford was roused in a dainty frock of peach georgette with trimmings of cream lace and velvet ribbons. In her hair was a bandeau of pearls. Her corsage was of violets, baby breath and sweet peas.

Mrs. Ridge was attired in a robe of ching blue beaded in steel beads. Her hair was confined with a bandeau of silver leaves. A touch of color was added to her costume with her corsage pastel, shaded with sweet peas and violets.

The tally cards, which were done in Spring flowers, were given out by Mrs. Joe Gonzalez, who wore a dainty frock of shell pink georgette and satin, with garlands of rose pink velvet flowers.

Of exceptional interest was the game of bridge played during the afternoon and after several progresses, scores were collected by Mrs. Edward Lane and Miss Martha Fox. The prize for top score, awarded Mrs. W. J. Tuppen. The low score prize, a green sugar and creamer, went to Mrs. June Rountell. In cutting for the consolation prize, a yellow and black flower bowl, Mrs. Harry T. Bodwell was the fortunate one.

Following the awarding of the prizes, the tables were laid with dainty covers and refreshments of chicken salad, sardines and pineapple were served by the hostesses, assisted by Mrs. Claude Herndon, Mrs. Allen Jones, Mrs. Hawkins Connelly, Mrs. Raymond Phillips, Mrs. Emmet Hunt, Mrs. Edward Betts, Mrs. Joe Gonzalez, Mrs. Eliza Wilkey and Mrs. J. N. Tolari. During the refreshment hour, the Seminoles Syncopators, stationed behind a screen of potted palms and ferns, rendered a pleasing musical program.

Mrs. Herndon's gown was of loast colored brocade velvet, draped and combined with self georgette.

Fashioned of rose georgette beaded in crystals, was the lovely frock worn by Mrs. Jones.

Mrs. Connelly wore a smart Spring costume of jade green crepe-Elizabeth with hat to match. Mrs. Phillips was attired in navy blue crepe satin and velvet.

Of crabsapple green georgette crepe and lace was the creation worn by Mrs. Edward Betts. A chic hat to match completed this attractive costume.

Mrs. Hunt wore an exquisite costume of orchid georgette combined with lace. Her hat was a picture model of yellow straw and velvet flower trimming.

Miss Wilkey was gown in a dainty frock of flesh pink georgette and satin.

SANFORD EASTERN STAR CHAPTER HOLDS AN ENJOYABLE MEETING

One of the most interesting and delightful meetings of Seminoles Chapter, Order of Eastern Star, was held in the Masonic Temple on Thursday evening.

During the business hour Mrs. Murray Jarvis, acted as installing officer and Mrs. Margaret Shoemaker as marshal. Two officers were installed for the ensuing year. Mrs. Alma D. Gibbs, Associate Conductress and Mrs. Elizabeth Huff, elected. The marshal then declared all the officers of Seminoles Chapter regularly installed.

In a charming manner, Mrs. Mary Kent presented Mrs. Jarvis with a vast matron's pin and expressed the Chapter's appreciation for her splendid work of last year. Mrs. Jarvis responded with words of gratitude.

Much praise is due Mrs. Grace Brockhoff, chairman of the Entertainment Committee for the program. All were amused and delighted with the readings given by Miss Virginia Jenkins. The vocal selections of Mrs. A. M. Phillips and the piano numbers by Mrs. Mary Malnes were unusually good and much enjoyed. By her winsome manner and well-delivered readings little Miss Cornelia McRae won every heart.

Among the large number present were several visitors from neighboring chapters, including: Gusie A. Livingston from Arcene Chapter No. 147, Tampa; Mrs. Hilda Clark and C. W. Clark from Vesta Chapter No. 233, Creston, Ia.

Mrs. Bills from Belmont Chapter, No. 108, Belmont, Mass.; Mrs. H. B. Gibbs from Victor

THOUGHTS-WISE AND OTHERWISE

A neighbor of ours spends an evening every week collecting recipes. When she started housekeeping she knew nothing of cooking and cared less. She could afford a maid and she felt that that solved the problem. She would employ a maid who cooked and helped out with the other work. But she soon learned that almost every girl who comes willing to cook, either cannot cook or cooks only certain things—the things that were liked by the family for whom she worked when she learned to cook. And this neighbor of ours couldn't teach a girl to cook, so because she didn't know how herself.

That is how it came about that she began to study recipe books. And then she began collecting recipes from her friends and from magazines and newspapers. And finally she became so much interested in cooking that she now employs a maid who can do all the rest of the housework—prepare the vegetables, wash the dishes, clean and sweep and wait on table—while she does the cooking.

It is this woman's opinion that often the best part of cooking is done out of the kitchen away from the stove. And the more time you spend cooking in the living-room the less time you have to spend in the kitchen. That is if your meals are all thought out and planned and the recipes are conveniently written on cards then the task of actual cooking is not so very lengthy. Moreover, this neighbor, after having thought out a meal beforehand and having studied the recipes, gets her maid of all works who cannot cook to get various ingredients ready, so that when she herself goes into the kitchen her work consists mostly of skillful putting together.

This neighbor has a number of little wooden boxes in which she keeps her recipes written out on cards. She devotes quite a bit of time to this but then she finds it a pleasure. If she clips a recipe from a paper or magazine she attaches it to a card with a paper clip. She reads it carefully to see if it appears to be good. But she does not finally copy it on the card until she has tried it out and possibly changed it here and there.

Recently she heard about a new Italian cook book published in this country in Italian, giving a great

All is Not Diamond That Sparkles. It may be Rhinestones, but it's probably Strass.

Many women have been wearing strass this winter and talking about strass who haven't a remote idea of what strass really is or why it is called "strass." As a matter of fact it was named after a German inventor, Josef Strasser, who as a patient researcher worked out a plan whereby he might make a very good imitation diamond from a mixture of quartz, red lead, potash, borax and arsenic. This was called "paste" and sometimes "strass" in honor of the inventor. Nowadays we usually apply strass to the dress trimming made of this material and "paste" to imitation diamonds and other precious stones.

We all know of the paste jewels used for exhibition purposes in some of the crowns of Europe while the real jewels are stowed away in safe deposit. They are actually "strass" as the straps of

"MY MOTHER'S KEEPER"

By FANNIE HURD

The World's Highest Paid Short Story Writer

Author of "Lumina"
"Humoresque"

YOU never knew the like of Mary Martin. She was wiry in the very literal sense of the word. A bundle of nerves that kept her dancing from dawn until dusk, on the balls of her tireless feet.

When Mary Martin was twenty-nine, she was already three years a widow, and the mother of six children. Steps.

When Mary Martin was twenty-nine, she weighed exactly what she had weighed when she was eighteen years of age. One hundred and six pounds.

When Mary Martin was twenty-nine, she was considered the best private dressmaker in Zenia. The smartest people in the town, even those who went to New York once a year, came to her. She was charging $15.00-and-findings, to make a gown, when no other dressmaker in town could command more than eight.

Mary Martin could stir her baby's gruel, coo an egg for her young son's breakfast, brighten up her little girl's school dress with a ribbon rosette, make six beds, and dye a bit of lace in coffee, before most of the women in Zenia were shaking the sleep out of their bobbed heads. Mary Martin's hair was bobbed, too. Although not exactly that. Mary had always worn hers short. It was part of her little personality.

So when Mary Martin was twenty-nine, and the town's best dressmaker, and her oldest child, a little girl with her mother's elish face, was twelve, a man named Walter Pulliam, said to have made $300,000 by cornering the sugar market, fell in love with her.

According to the law of opposites, it was rather natural that he should. Mary Martin had the bones of a little dove. She was fragile enough to seem almost transparent, and with all her amusing, wiry, incredible vitality, when Walter Pulliam looked at her, he was morally certain, as he stood there, six-feet-three, with a magnificent head on him that always seemed to be ready to charge at something, that he could have lifted her by one stroke of his arm. And he yearned, too. She was like something delicate and alien. He wanted to own her, and to dress her up and travel with her and to make her the little "Lady" of a big house. That's what he always called her. "My little Lady of a great big house."

He used to visualize her that way. Something tiny in the magnificence of a big setting. Something tiny in the magnificence of a big limousine. Her tinyness could sometimes seem to make him want to cry. Big Walter Pulliam and tiny Mary Martin.

And Mary, who was so tired—the six children, you see, and the dressmaking; and the running of the household; and the keeping her little girls happy; and the tending of the baby; and the strain of little boys—was ready for the big house. It was almost incredible that this great big man with the great big heart and the great big desire to make her happy, could really care for this tiny little mother of a brood of six.

But he did. Walter Pulliam loved the whole six of them.

It was curious, though, that from Virginia, the eldest, down to the tiny boy, the children were bitterly, angrily, incredibly jealous of Pulliam. Try as she would, Mary could never get them to be more than sullen, or to accept his gifts with more than a natural distaste. The little brood of Mary Martin, jealous of her, guarding her from her suitor.

And then one night when the brood was in bed, Walter Pulliam proposed. And for the first time in a life singularly devoid of it, ecstasy smote Mary. She could have cried of the magnificence of her fulfillment, and did. And did with her cheek against the roughness of Walter Pulliam's coat, and Walter Pulliam, who had yearned so to do it, had her on his knee with the joy of the heft of her which was like a feather, and the contrasting heft of him which was to guard that feather.

There was to be a white colonial house set in the middle of vast acreage and a sun parlor in which Mary was never to be allowed to sew, and playrooms clear across the top of the house for the children and a pony and cart for Melville, Mary's next to the oldest child, and a phaeton for Virginia, Mary's eldest child. There were to be nursemaids for the babies and a tutor for the twins and, all across the top of the house, playrooms and school-rooms, and a sleeping porch with six cots on it and six little sleeping bags, for the brood of them.

Lived, frail, exultant little Mary. When Walter Pulliam kissed her goodnight and held her to him, and puffed her, and adored her, and protected her, there seemed little left to desire.

It was at the breakfast table that Mary Martin told her brood. Virginia, aged twelve, was

When Mary Martin was twenty-nine she was already three years a widow and the mother of six.

Mary Martin was afraid of her children. Afraid of the way the flanges of Constance's nose could seem to turn green. Afraid of the white, rather sick look of her young son's face as he put down his egg spoon.

Mary was afraid of her brood. And so there was an eight-page letter to Walter Pulliam—eight tear-warped pages from little, delicate Mary Martin, who belonged as the little mistress to a great house.

Dove-like little Mary Martin. "My Little Lady of a great big House."

eating her gruel, and Melville his soft-boiled egg, which he liked, in a piggy little fashion, half buried in butter. Constance, the third girl, who was eight, had a sty on her eye to which her mother kept applying hot cloths. The twins were too young quite to know what it was all about, except to take their cue from the older children.

It was at this breakfast table in the cluttered little household of the dressmaking establishment, that Mary told her children—shyly, a little proudly, and yet a little beseechingly, that they were to have a new father. In her heart of hearts Mary was afraid. She was afraid of the clear, almost insolent eyes of Virginia, who remembered her own father even as he had used to come home, sometimes groggy.

She was afraid of the little way the flanges of Constance's nose could seem to turn green, and her face stiffen when Walter Pulliam tried to make up with her. She was afraid of the white, rather sick look of her young son's face as she beheld him put down his egg spoon, as she talked.

Mary Martin was afraid of her brood, and well she might be.

For three hours of that morning, when she should have been in school, Virginia lay in a stiff little hysterical huddle on her mother's bed and refused to be comforted or even approached. The twins, taking their cue, spent the morning howling. Her son went up to his room with the sick look on his face and did not come out that day. Constance, who was less given to repression, screamed openly and went into her room, and only the little flanges of her nose, which were actually green with temper and fear, showed.

The little Martins did not have a father.

Virginia went off into more than a mere mention of the phaeton and she sobbed that she would die sooner than see her father. Virginia said she hated Walter Pulliam, she trembled in the neck of Walter Pulliam, Adam's apple.

All morning, Mary Martin was adored and even in his childhood, Walter Pulliam, respected, remained up in his room, locked.

Poor Mary, her heart was in a cold, dead thing. That was the message in her letter to Walter Pulliam. Eight tear-warped pages.

When Mary Martin was sixty, she owned a double three-story house on a wide lot. By herself. Her brood was scattered. Every month the joint check sent by her children amounted to considerable sums she could spend. There were three motor cars and a landscaped park and an eleven-room house revolving around the figure of Mary Martin.

Sometimes at dusk, when it was quiet for Mary, she walked up the street and then down a little canyon to the best estate, the Pulliam Place. Walter Pulliam's wife lived in a house as big as the Pulliam Place. There were nine children, all of them home, four of them married, and Walter Pulliam was pleasant sitting there for an hour or so in the evening, in the warm glowing light of the Pulliams.

Promptly at nine o'clock Mary would take her as far as her door. Then she would lock it softly behind her, draw the curtains out the hall light, put out the light, and go upstairs to bed.

Lyrics of Life

By DOUGLAS MALLOCH

NIGHT THOUGHTS

Night thoughts, night shadows, when the day is done,
Around the house, around the heart of one,
And though the weary body cries for sleep,
Night thoughts, night shadows, their attendants,
Filling the garden with fantastic dreams,
Filling the mind with more fantastic schemes.

For now a tree becomes a fearful thing,
A wall a perilous, the children's wailing,
A gibbet in the gloom. And so our cares
Are with us even as we climb the stairs,
Some little loss, perhaps some sentence read,
Becomes a shadow of much magnitude.

Let not the things of day the night distress,
When God has given you forgetfulness,
Now close the curtains, close the weary eyes,
For not at night the answer you will find,
Yes, close your eyes and put your cares to rest,
And think them out in the day light of day.

cleared the way to the capital of the Confederacy. Many sections of the passage were found to be in place just as originally built here and there were discovered evidences of the men of the 48th Pennsylvania Infantry who dug them. Whether the parallel galleries were dug by the men under General Lee in an effort to locate the Federal's working underground or by the same men who dug their way 510 feet to the crater, remains undetermined.

Through Col. Pleasant's tunnel 4,000 pounds of explosives were placed under the Confederate works. While Grant's army waited the fuse was lit. After an hour's wait it was found necessary to enter the tunnel and relight it half way up. A few minutes later came the explosion, which sent 300 Confederates to death, caused confusion and delay to the waiting Federal troops, and paved the way for the rush of General Meade's men to their destruction.

A crossfire from Confederate batteries, placed advantageously after it had been learned that their position was being undermined, met the Federal as they charged through the opening made by the explosion. It was two hours before Meade penetrated the thin Gray line.

By that time Mahone had come up with his Petersburg brigade, and the celebrated 'Crater Charge' drove the enemy beyond the crater, leaving behind more than 5,000 Union dead. The hope of General Grant for the immediate capture of Richmond was wrecked.

Tennis Writers Think Susanne Lenglen Will Defeat American Star

CANNES, France, Jan. 22.—(AP)—Of 16 tennis writers here, 14 believe Susanne Lenglen will defeat Helen Wills. One American and one Englishman believe the Californian has a good chance. Should Miss Mills win her way to the final of the metropolitan tournament, now under way, she will be pitted against either Miss Vlasto, of France, or Mrs. Satterwhite, an English woman. Both women frequently have faced Suzanne across the net and neither of them have been able to wrest a set from her.

Indiana City Had First Speed Law

VINCENNES, Ind., Jan. 22.—(AP)—The first speed law in Indiana was enacted one hundred and eleven years ago by the Borough of Vincennes, patriarch of Indiana cities, and it said:

"If any person or persons shall gallop any horse, mare or gelding in any street within the borough, every person so offending shall on conviction forfeit and pay the sum of $5 with costs."

Until 25 years ago there were frequent convictions under the ordinance. Today the horse is forgotten in the press of automobile regulation.

DOCTORS

HON. ED. WALTHALL,
% Seminole Hudson-Emcox Co.
Sanford, Fla.

A friend of mine moved from a small country town, where the family doctor and general practitioner is not yet extinct to a large city.

He made his home out in a suburb next door to a doctor who, he was informed, was one of the leading physicians of the city.

After a few months he got to feeling out of sorts, having a little temperature, and having one of those morning-after tastes in his mouth all the time, so he decided he had better go to a doctor and get straightened out.

He called up the office of his doctor neighbor to get the doctor to come over to see what was the matter with him. The attendant at the doctor's office advised him that the doctor never made any calls, that he would have to come to the doctor's office during his office hours from 11:45 to 12.

When he called, the doctor's attendant came out with a little card. She asked him what doctor had sent him, what was the matter with him and if he really knew what he was doing.

He was then informed that the doctor only treated warts on the left ear—cases which had been sent him by one of the union diagnosticians.

"But I'm sick," the man said, "I want a doctor!"

"But," the attendant replied, "you must first find out what kind of a doctor you want."

"How can I do that?" the sick man asked.

"Go to Dr. Lukemova" he was advised.

When he reached Dr. Lukemova's office, the doctor was out for an operation—on a golf ball with a maahle—and would not return till the next Monday at 10 o'clock. This being Friday.

By Monday, my friend was really sick, and he got back. The doctor made short work of him. He gave him a list of 10 doctors.

"Go to see each one of these," he said. "The first will examine your stomach, the second your lungs, the third your heart, the fourth your kidneys, the fifth your liver, the sixth your glands, the seventh your skin, the eighth your teeth, the ninth your neck and the tenth your feet. They will report to me."

Then three weeks from next

Today at 2 o'clock, if you are still alive, call back. I will then be able to tell you what is the matter with you and will be able to send you to the doctor who knows how to treat what's the matter with you.

But, by the time my friend had seen the first four of the doctors both his pulse and his purse were gone.

The moral of this is, if you live in a city drive an Essex and stay out in the open air as much as you can, so you won't get sick.

Yours,
DILL.

"I would not change my Perfection for any other stove" writes Mrs. J. C. Caskey, 808 North Bay St., Tampa, Fla.

"I just swear by my Perfection. I've got a four-burner stove I've used for seven years and it still cooks perfectly. I can cook anything on my Perfection that can be cooked on any stove and with just as splendid results. I can broil steak, or fry fish just as brown. And as for my oven, everybody marvels at the brown biscuits I can turn out, and the angel food cake, not to mention apple pie."

Mrs. J. C. Caskey

You, too, can entertain as much as you like with a Perfection stove in your kitchen to lighten your cooking labors. You can complete your cooking so easily and keep your mind free for entertaining your guests. No more worry for fear things won't come out right!

Just touch a match to the wick and cooking starts immediately. Set the wick for any cooking process, and the heat remains steady and constant. If you set the flame very low for simmering, or very high, and leave your stove for an hour or more, the flame remains just where you set it.

The long, blue chimney sends intense, clean heat directly to your cooking. It makes the kettles and pans hot, but keeps your kitchen cool. There is no smoke or odor, and the bottoms remain shiny and free from stain. No other stove does the cooking day-in, day-out like the Perfection. Many last 15 years and more.

This Flame for Juicy Steaks

For the hottest flame be sure to turn the wick high enough to produce yellow tips 1 1/2 inches long above the blue flame. Each burner is independently operated and will give every range of heat—from a gentle, simmering flame to the very hot, yellow-tipped flame for frying steak.

NOTICE TO DEALERS: After January 1, 1926 the entire Perfection line will be sold direct to dealers by Perfection Stove Company from manufacturing plants in Cleveland, Ohio. Until that date, send all orders and communications to Standard Oil Company.

Story Of State Health Conditions Is Refuted

JACKSONVILLE, Jan. 22.—(AP)—Dr. E. L. Arms, State Health Officer, has written the editor of the New York Times a letter correcting misstatements in an article on health conditions in Florida published recently and in the course of which Dr. Arms was misquoted.

The article declared that "Seven men of the State Board of Health, with no funds, are ready when things break, to act."

Dr. Arms pointed out that the half mill levy for the State Board of Health amounts to approximately $340,000 annually and cited a list of thirty-five members of the staff exclusive of clerical employees.

SANFORD MANOR
Monday, January 25, 1926

Men, machinery, skill, material and money, all forming a vast unit of accomplishment, are speeding to the opening of Sanford Manor, Monday, January 25. This intensive campaign is not a matter of days; it has been going on for weeks. And for what purpose? To bring the improvement of Sanford Manor up to such a point that, on the day of its presentation to the public, the crowds which throng the property will be able to obtain some idea of the scope of its development.

Beautiful walks of coral, creating a splendidly unique color tone, are going in all over the property. Graded streets are waiting for macadam base and asphalt wearing surface, which is now being brought on the property. Ornamental posts, street signs and fixtures for Sanford Manor's White Way are enroute. The Manor Entrance, a gorgeous and imposing structure, thirty-five feet high, one hundred feet long, is rapidly nearing completion.

Every man concerned in the presentation of Sanford Manor is co-operating in an honest offering of homesites completely improved. Sincerity, made forceful by the expenditure of hundreds of thousands of dollars, is the basis of our operations.

Disturbed More Anxious Officials Players Fan Says

More did shots and had to go down in two more to stave off defeat.

It was a tense moment and the large gallery was a trifle restless, but made no unseemly movement or noise. Sweater set himself for the task of chipping up the grade dead to the hole thirty yards away. Just as he was ready, after carefully preparation, to hit the ball, an official yelled "fore".

The champion threw down his club and whirled around with a despairing look, as tho' he had been struck in the face by a friend.

He had been upset by a digestive disturbance during the round, but despite this and the act of the official, he composed himself, fought to make the shot and then sink a half stymied side-hill putt to carry the match to extra holes. It might have been the reflex of this mental jolt that caused him to misplay the 38th hole and yield the title to Maxton.

Professionals have a way of "raising" each other, the commentator said, but the players seldom resent such action although it is unethical and impolite. Mahlborn, he said, had become known as the "tarzan of the links," because he was always climbing a tree to watch the play of others after his match was over, it is said.

Two-Sport Star

Harry Wilson is one of those two-sport stars you hear about every now and then. In the fall he shines on the West Point football eleven, playing halfback. During the winter months he plays guard with the basketball quintet. But whether it be as a grizzer or cager, Wilson rates one of the best in the nation.

Macon Player Ties Record Of Speaker

CHICAGO, Jan. 21. (P)—Charley Morgan, a catcher on the Macon team in the South Atlantic League, put himself in a class with the best of them last season when he smashed the record for consecutive hitting which Tria Speaker hung up in 1920. Speaker's record was eleven straight and Morgan turned in an even dozen in a row.

The Macon backstop started his run in a game on May 31, when he hit safely in his last two trips to the plate. In his next game he got four hits out of four at-bats, duplicated the stunt in his next game, made a hit in his one time up in a fourth contest and then poled one on his first time up in the fifth game.

Jim Barnes To Return To England Next Summer For British Open Tournament

TAMPA, Fla., Jan. 22.—Jim Barnes, British open golf champion, will return to England next summer to defend his coveted title. The astounded linkman made this announcement here today. He will be accompanied abroad by Johnny Farrell, ranking medal player of America. Both Barnes and Farrell are representing Tampa in the various golf matches and tournaments in Florida this winter.

Barnes has brought the British open championship trophy to this city and showed it to local golf followers for the first time at a luncheon which followed the international match here Sunday between "Long Jim" and Farrell against Archie Compston and Arnold Massey, respectively British professional and French open champions.

The unveiling ceremony was witnessed by Compston with mingled regret and determination. Barnes defeated the Manchester giant by a bare stroke in the British open championship and the pair will likely meet again in Great Britain the coming Summer.

The decision of Barnes and Farrell to go after the British open did not enhance the chances of America winning the big title for the fifth time in six years. Arthur Havers has been the only Briton to score for his country in the last five years. Jack Hutchinson won in 1921. Walter Hagen came through in 1922 and 1923, while Barnes won last year.

Farrell played at Prestwick last Summer, but his chances were destroyed by an infected finger. Johnny has been showing astonishingly improved form during his stay at Tampa and will be a dangerous contender in the British open this year.

Tampa has given golf its greatest impetus through the decision of the local Board of Trade not to charge any gallery fee to any of the big matches played on local

Milligan To Meet Jack Zivic In Ten Round Bout In N.Y.

NEW YORK, Jan. 22.—(P)—Deprived of a world's title fight with Mickey Walker by a ruling of the State Athletic Committee, Tommy Milligan, English champion, tonight in Madison Square Garden will face the welterweight ranked by Tex Rickard as Walker's leading challenger in this country. The match, a 10 round pits Milligan against Jack Zivic.

Walker will have a ringside seat. Undeafated in 55 fights and victor over Morris Schaffer of Omaha, in an impressive first appearance here several months ago, Milligan is considered by boxing men to have handicapped himself in weight making. Both men have reduced to the welterweight limit of 147 pounds.

Two Californians will appear in course. Even the international tussle the other day was free to all who cared to witness it, and as a result the largest crowd that has ever seen a golf competition in the South followed the champions throughout the 90 holes.

Heads List Of League Stars Who Coming For Tryouts

Frank O'Doul, who will join the Chicago Cubs, traveled at a $75 clip for 128 games while with Salt Lake. O'Doul is an outfielder. Frank Brazill, once with the Athletics, was Brower, another former American Leaguer, hit .362 in 146 games.

Emmer, a Seattle infielder who is scheduled to join Cincinnati, hit .329, only four points better than the veteran Sam Agnew. Harry Riccard, who returns to the Boston Braves through the draft, hit .320. During his last year in the "big show" he hit .253.

Emmett McCann, purchased from Portland by the Boston Red Sox has a batting mark of .310. He once had a trial with the Philadelphia Athletics. D'Arcy Flowers, who goes to the Boston Red Sox, is another promising youngster, who once was with the St. Louis Cardinals.

Jack Warner, given a trial by Detroit in the closing days of the 1925 season, hit .295 with Vernon, while Clyde Beck, who goes to the Chicago Club, hit .273.

Chances Of Local Cagers Depend On Tonight's Game

Sanford High cagers will face one of the most grueling tasks of the season when they meet the strong Daytona quintet on the local court tonight at 7 o'clock, and all the artfulness and shooting skill that they are capable of producing will be necessary for the repetition of the locals overwhelming defeat of Winter Park accomplished last week in their opening game.

Coach Cecil Frisbie's youngsters are strong offensively, and strenuous practice during the past week has developed defensive tactics that are expected to enable them to cope successfully with the visitors.

If the locals emerge from the contest with the long end of the score, their chances at the league championship will receive a big boost. Daytona is credited with having the fastest aggregation in this section of the state.

Coach Frisbie's hopes are centered on the following men, who will be used in the fray tonight: Captain King, Spur, Duffin, Russell, Block, Cottingham, DuBoise, and last but not by no means least, the speedy "Luke" Thompson, flashy forward who contributed largely to Sanford's victory last week.

Write Home' Drive Of Orlando Club Is Called Big Success

JACKSONVILLE, Jan. 22.—(AP)—Carl Hunt, executive vice president of the Orlando Chamber of Commerce has reported to the Florida State Chamber of Commerce that his campaign to induce winter visitors and residents who come from other states to write letters to "back home" newspapers describing Florida conditions as they actually are, is meeting with unusual success. Mr. Hunt suggested the plan to the Chamber of Commerce as a means to counteract the anti-Florida propaganda in the north.

The State Chamber of Commerce, which is receiving clippings referring to Florida from all sections of the country, declares that within the last few weeks the number of letters written by visitors in Florida and published in newspapers in the north has grown steadily. Those newspapers which have not been deliberately misrepresenting conditions in Florida have declared frequently that there is so much being said for and against this state it is difficult to determine which to believe.

Mr. Hunt and the State Chamber of Commerce declare that a letter from a tourist sojourning in Florida carries great weight with the editor of his home town newspaper and almost invariably such letters are published.

Mrs. J. R. Dign had as her guest for several days Mrs. Worthington of Sanford.

Mrs. W. M. Hill, of Fort Lauderdale, visited her sister, Mrs. H. D. Durant, and brother, Mr. Bradock, recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Reeves and family of Orlando were the guests of Mrs. Parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Sjoblom, during the holidays.

Mr. and Mrs. William Evans and family of Tampa, returned to their home after spending a week with Mrs. M. V. Evans, mother of Mr. Evans.

Each boy puts about one-half of his land to wheat, one-fourth to oats and one-fourth to corn.

"We have found in years past that the Indian lacks confidence in his own ability to step out and compete successfully with the white man," Mr. Blair continues.

This lack of confidence is due to a combination of causes—pride, fear and timidity. He does not want to be humiliated, and for fear he will be sometimes, dares not try.

We hope and believe that, through the boy farm project as now maintained here, he will obtain confidence in his ability to manage his farm at home.

wood Jones, who have been guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Ferguson, returned to St. Petersburg last week.

Friends of Mrs. James Lane will be glad to know that she has recovered from her recent illness.

Friends of Mrs. E. G. Houghton will be glad to hear that she is fast returning to good health again.

A number of young folks enjoyed an informal radio dance at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Evans on last Wednesday evening.

Miss Amelia Wakefield arrived last week from Petascola to teach the Primary Grades in the Lake Mary school, and will make her home at Mrs. A. E. Cole's. Miss Wakefield takes the place of Mrs. Voorhees, who resigned at the close of the last term.

About 150 neighbors and friends of Mrs. M. V. Evans gathered at her home last Monday evening to honor her seventy-ninth birthday.

Mrs. Evans has lived in Lake Mary and Sanford for 45 years. A most pleasant social evening was enjoyed and Mrs. Evans was the recipient of many lovely gifts. Refreshments were served.

The attendance at the Presbyterian Sunday School last Sunday was 40. Rev. Allan Bowering conducted the preaching service at 11 o'clock and future preaching services will be in the morning instead of in the evening.

For those interested in Bible study, there will be a class Sunday evening at 7 o'clock, under the capable direction of Mrs. Katherine L. Watrous. Rev. Albertson was in attendance at the morning services on Sunday, Jan. 9.

The annual congregational meeting of the Presbyterian Church was called Monday by Rev. Bowering and the following trustees elected for the ensuing year: William Dunn, W. J. Hopkins, Jr., Floyd Sjoblom, William Ferguson, Donald Anderson, Frank Evans, C. H. Crosby, T. A. Greenleaf and A. E. Sjoblom. The budget for the en-uing year and other routine matters were taken care of at this time.

The remainder of the program was made up from local talent as follows: Reading, Billie Wright; selection, Lake Mary Boys' Club Quartet; shuffle dance, J. A. Peckham; black face artists, Hammond Dixon and Clarence Peckham; solo dance, Doria Hobart; vocal solo, J. A. Evans.

The comedy furnished by the Mary Minstrel Orchestra was highly amusing. Miss Miriam Bushnell was the accompanist of the evening.

Those present in the order of their age were: Mrs. Anna Farina, 85; John E. Ellis, 83; Mrs. Annie Fellows, 83; Geo. A. Jones, 81; Mrs. M. V. Evans, 79; Ambrose A. Silloway, 77; C. H. See What Is Taking Place--

LONGWOOD has been asleep a long time but its awake now! All the yawning and stretching is over with; LONGWOOD is up on its toes and seething with activity.

It is an inspiration to a person to take a drive to LONGWOOD and see what is taking place at the Seminole Race Track, where they expect to have the track in readiness for racing on Washington's Birthday. Hundreds of men and mules, many tractors and graders are now at work.

At the great poultry farm development, the Florida Golden Acres, there is more seething activity. Great improvements are being made.

These two activities alone assure LONGWOOD of a steady future growth, but LONGWOOD itself is soon to be the location of several large industries. Announcement of these will be made later.

Prices on property in LONGWOOD will positively advance 50 percent on February 1st. This should be a signal for buyers to take advantage of.

Motorists From Other States Are Urged To Get 1926 License Tags For Cars

JACKSONVILLE, Jan. 22.—The Florida State Chamber of Commerce is urging that motorists from other states now in Florida obtain 1926 license plates from their own states or obtain a Florida certificate of title and a Florida tag. Hundreds of foreign cars with 1925 tags are in Florida and the State Chamber declares it is to be expected that the county authorities will begin a check up within the near future.

Until January 1, 1926 Florida had required a non-resident license tag on all foreign cars which remained in the state more than thirty days. This provision was repealed by the Legislature last summer and the law now provides that Florida will treat the non-resident motorist as a Florida motorist would be treated in the visitor's own state.

For the information of visiting motorists the State Chamber has compiled a list of other states. Georgia, for example, allows a foreign tag to be used in that state only thirty days. Under the new Florida regulation a Georgia tag is good in Florida only thirty days. Louisiana grants 90 days; therefore, a Louisiana tag is good in Florida for ninety days.

Reciprocal Privileges
"Reciprocal" means that privileges are extended without time limit and under this arrangement cars from Ohio, Maine, Virginia, Alabama and several other states can carry license tags of those states in Florida twelve months if they are for the current year.

The list follows:
Alabama, reciprocal; Arizona, four months (must obtain operators permit within first thirty days); Arkansas, ninety days, provided statement is made within thirty days; California, six months, pro-

Gathering Of Moss Is New Industry In Dead Lakes Region

JACKSONVILLE, Jan. 22.—An industry operated on a large scale in Louisiana, but heretofore given little or no attention in Florida, is being established in this state, centering on the Dead Lakes. Wewahatcha, in Gulf and Calhoun counties, says the Florida State Chamber of Commerce. It is the gathering of Spanish moss and preparation and baling of it for shipment to manufacturers in the north.

The industry is being fostered by the Burgess Company of Florida, headed by Charles F. Burgess of Burgess Island, Lee county, an internationally known chemist, and it is understood that the work in West Florida is merely the beginning of several enterprises to be launched by the corporation.

The moss will be shipped only in carload lots to furniture manufacturers, the largest consumers of the product. It is used for stuffing couches, cushioned chairs and other upholstery. After being gathered from the trees the moss is treated in heat beds to eliminate the bark, goes through several other processes and emerges as a fine black fibre. It is this fibre which is shipped to consumers.

TO CONGRATS

A battle of styles and of temperament, as far apart as it could be from the west. It has the characteristics of the coming match between the French and the American champion after having for two days watched the two girl players on the courts here—Miss Wills in two matches singles and Suzanne in the woman's doubles and mixed doubles.

The French girl is vivacious, active and temperamental and without one single weakness, except, perhaps, speed of stroke. Miss Wills is almost stocial, never smiling whether winning or losing. She is considered as deserving of the nickname of "poker-face" by which she is known on the tennis courts in the United States.

Somewhat slow on foot and not possessing the variety of strokes of Suzanne but executing those she knows most perfectly, and having more speed than a majority of the men players, the experts here are of the opinion that the battle of the turban and the eye shade will be an epic one.

Building to endure

That phrase sums up the whole spirit of Druid Park's improvement and development activities. Building so that every resident in all years to come, will proudly point to the QUALITY of Druid Park improvements. There are no exceptions to this principle—every utility, water, lighting, streets, drainage and everything that enters into the making of a truly high-class development is being provided, but—

WITH REGARD ONLY FOR THE BEST AND MOST APPROVED

There is wide range in the cost of utilities—from the lowest to the highest, there are many opportunities to save. But at what cost is such a "saving." Druid Park is being developed with permanence ever in the minds of its developers.

STEWART'S WASHINGTON LETTER

By CHARLES F. STEWART

WASHINGTON—There really are too many lawyers in Congress. The Senate debate over the question of Gerald P. Nye's title to a seat in the upper house brought this out as it hasn't been emphasized in a long time—though Nye did win in the end.

The thing was one long wrangle over legal quibbles. It wasn't all pure politics, either. The division was not made along party lines. It was a disagreement between lawyers.

To the lay mind the proposition seemed simple enough.

Governor Sorlie of North Dakota appointed Nye to fill the vacancy caused by Senator Ladd's death until the next election.

Now, three men already occupied Senate seats by appointment, under similar circumstances, when Nye's dispute arose—William M. Butler of Massachusetts, George H. Williams of Missouri and Arthur R. Robinson of Indiana. It looked as if the governor of North Dakota ought to have as good a right to fill a Senate vacancy temporarily by appointment as the governors of Massachusetts, Missouri and Indiana.

But 64 of the Senate's 86 members are lawyers and they got into a technical squabble, which they argued—quite meaninglessly to a legally untrained intellect—to the tune of about 180 pages in the Congressional Record.

Sixty-four lawyers. Two of them, Senators Butler and Fess, are principally something else—respectively a manufacturer and a teacher—but on the side they're lawyers.

The rest are just plain, unadorned lawyers and always have been, with the sole exception of Senator Tyson, who was a professional soldier—a West Pointer—for a good many years before he hung out his legal shingle.

Mobile Patrolman Is Killed By Negro Who Flees After Shooting

MOBILE, Jan. 22.—(AP)—Patrolman Christopher Dean was fatally shot by a negro whom he attempted to search for concealed weapons early today. He died as he searched the automobile of a friend who went to his aid as the negro fired. Dean was shot four times in the chest and arms.

Officer Dean was in a restaurant in a thickly settled negro section of the city. Hearing a volley of shots some distance away, he was driven to the scene by a friend. He stopped four negroes whom he met and had searched three of them when the fourth backed away and opened fire on him. All four escaped after the shooting.

Officer Dean aided in the halting and killing of Bill Wright, negro bank robber and killer, here in January, 1935. He had been a member of the police and detective forces for 15 years. He is survived by a widow and three children.

Florida "Razorback" Prospers With Times

JACKSONVILLE, Jan. 22.—(AP)—Even the Florida razorback hog is prospering with the times, says the Florida State Chamber of Commerce. There was a time, and not so long ago, when the razorback was the butt of wit and sarcasm but that day seems to have passed.

E. J. Fitch, of Lawley, a farmer, who claims there is something good in everything, raises hogs, plain, everyday, garden variety hogs.

Water Circus Is To Feature Big Fair At DeLand January 28

DeLAND, Jan. 22.—The Volusia County Fair draws near and all preparations are nearing completion. From last reports there will be four bands in attendance, the fine New Smyrna Municipal Band having volunteered its services for Thursday, Jan. 28th, and will give concerts featured by two vocal soloists, the Johnny J. Jones Midway, will have some new features. Among them is the Atlantic City Water Circus, the fathomless ocean, Fairy Mynphs, ten in number, introducing unique aquatic sports, diving Venuses and marvelous mermals. The charming ladies tall, slim and danced as Neptune's daughters in a riot of gay festivity. The feature part of the entertainment is an exact reproduction of the New York Hippodrome sensation, the diving girls remaining under water for indefinite periods. The beautiful Estrie Kayle, a young and magnificently formed girl, will perform a 100 foot dive from a ladder into a tank of water only five feet deep. Every member of the company is a high diver, and two men, Captains Wildemier and Bostard, are both holders of many medals.

Virginia Lee, a little twelve year old school girl, will go up a ladder for a high dive. You must remember that she is under going a course in diving and every dive she makes is just a part of the education. The little Miss hopes before the end of the season to be able to make a dive from the top of the 70 foot ladder into five feet of water. This is her first year in the diving business.

Neither retail nor receive scandal willingly; defamation of others may for the present gratify the malignity of the pride of our hearts, cool reflection will draw very disadvantageous conclusions from such a disposition; and in the case of scandal, as in that of robbery, the receiver is always thought as bad as the thief.—Letters of Lord Chesterfield to His Son, October, 1746.

COLDS THAT DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified crocote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and loosens the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, crocote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to crocote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the crocote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Company, Atlanta, Ga. (ads.)

What a Paradise for Sportsmen!

The superb year-round climate, one of the chief attractions of Mount Plymouth, offers the outdoor devotee recreation unequalled in Florida. No sleet, nor snow, nor blizzard to interfere with his game, whatever it may be. And not only is it true in the winter months, but in summer also the temperature is exceedingly comfortable, as many have found to their great surprise, after spending a-twelve-months here.

The club house, golf course and lake are the pivotal points of Mount Plymouth, around which the greatest activity will center. This entire development, in fact, was conceived and landscaped with those things uppermost in mind.

The magnificent club house now under construction is situated on the loftiest elevation in this highland city. From its wide verandas you behold a distant panorama of semi-tropical grandeur to be found only in this notable orange region which ships one-seventh of all citrus fruits grown in Florida.

An 18-hole golf course, laid out by one of America's foremost golf architects, will be maintained from a special fund set aside from the sale of Mount Plymouth lots. Experts who have inspected this course pronounce it one of the sportiest in the state.

Truly it is a Sportsman's Paradise, which embraces within its own city limits, as Mount Plymouth does, the full complement of outdoor pastimes—Golf, Tennis, Fishing, Swimming, Rowing, and Motoring.

Mount Plymouth

A pleasure city in every sense, is Mount Plymouth, but not discriminating in its relation to the substantial environment of business activity and home life, which also are essential to the development of any prosperous community.

A large section of Mount Plymouth skirting the Atlantic Coast Line Railway, is reserved strictly for commercial use. Stores, shops, bakeries, gas stations and every other business pursuit will be provided for by those who planned this townsite.

The residence sections are ideally located. Hundreds front on the golf course. The entire 4½ miles shore line surrounding the beautiful lake is reserved for homes and pleasure-parks fronting on a magnificent body of fresh water, already stocked with the gamest of fish—the black bass.

Values Will Enhance Rapidly

It is a foregone conclusion that investment in Mount Plymouth lots at this stage of development, will net handsome returns—if you should desire to sell. But we counsel you not to buy with that intention, but to hold—and build. You want to live in Florida, and here is the opportunity to obtain one of the most charming home-sites in the state at a very nominal sum—if secured now.

Descriptive literature will be sent on request.
