Spoken within the range of our hearing recently were the words of one housekeeper who was complaining, because her sheets and pillow cases had come home with bed bugs on them. She knew that they had come from the home of her negro washwoman. What she didn't know was how many germs of various types of diseases were also on those sheets and pillow cases. Bed bugs are big enough to be seen, but germs are sometimes there when their presence is least expected.

This particular housekeeper has never taken the trouble to go into her washwoman's cabin home. The woman called for the wash and brought it back. The condition of the floor where the wash was thrown upon its arrival at the cabin, the dark and dingy corners where it sometimes lay for hours, the dirty tubs in which it was washed, the condition of the backyard where it was hung up to dry, and the filthy unkempt bed where it was laid after the ironing was over, were all a mystery to her.

We don't pretend that it is as important to have sterilized clothes to wear as certified milk to drink, and yet it does seem that the things which you put next to your skin, the pillow case on which you lay your head at night, should be reasonably germ proof. Of course you don't want bedbugs brought into your home, but you don't want contagious disease germs brought in either.

So what kind of a home does your washwoman have? Have you taken the trouble to see?

The Weight Of Gas Taxes

Florida motorists this year will pay $2,800,000 more in gasoline taxes than they paid in 1935, according to J. B. Anderson, of Jacksonville, Secretary of the Florida Petroleum Industries Committee, who says that motorists in Florida are the state's No. 1 tax payers.

"They contribute more tax money in special and general taxes to the state treasury than any other group, despite the fact that as a class they are not wealthy, or even well off," says Mr. Anderson. "Studies have indicated that more than half of the motorists in Florida earn less than $30 a week. Most of them have never owned a new car. They ride an average of 40 eight-hour days a year, much of that time being spent in going to and from work. The typical Florida motorist must work one to two weeks to pay the taxes on his annual motor travel. The typical Florida motorists own a car four or five years old, whose value is less than $200. The special automobile taxes that he pays to the state and federal governments are equivalent to 25 to 50 percent of the value of his car."

"Because so large a part of Florida's motorists are persons of modest, or small, incomes, with no great ability to pay high taxes, it is important that gasoline and other automotive taxes be kept as low rates as possible," said Mr. Anderson. "If gasoline taxes are too high, families with small incomes are unduly penalized, and the full enjoyment and comfort of motor transportation are denied to a substantial part of the motoring public—those whose income is $30 a week, or less."

"Last year gasoline consumption in Florida showed an increase of 12.3 percent. A comparable gain is taking place this year. For the first seven months of 1937, gasoline consumption in Florida shows a gain of 4.3 percent. With increasing gasoline tax revenue, the state should be able to revise its tax rate and give the motorists much needed relief in the form of lower gasoline taxes," continued Mr. Anderson.

"The principle underlying all taxation should be 'the greatest good to the greatest number.' Reasonable automotive tax rates tend to broaden automobile ownership and bring the comfort of motor transportation to families now in the income scale. Excessive automotive taxes, on the other hand, restrict automobile ownership."

Knotty Problems Confront Solons In Next Session

Members of the agriculture committee of both house and senate reported at the last session that they found disagreement among farm organizations on fundamental questions, chiefly whether the crop control features should be mandatory or voluntary.

Administration leaders have expressed optimism recently over prospects for removing these differences, but no definite agreements have been announced. In the meantime, the senate agriculture committee has been conducting regional hearings in various areas.

The house passed part of the president's governmental reorganization program at the last session, including a bill to give the chief executive six administrative assistants and another to give him authority to reorganize, consolidate, or abolish, executive agencies, excepting the independent regulatory bodies.

Two other phases of this program—a bill to place the civil service under a single administrator instead of the present three-member commission and another to revamp the comptroller general's office—were recommended by a special house committee but were not acted upon finally.

An omnibus bill on government reorganization is on the senate calendar and is reported ready for consideration.

Public hearings on the regional total federal debt in 1914 was only a little over a billion dollars. By the end of the World War it had risen to 26 billion. Now it is nearly 40 billion. What in the world will it be by the end of the next war?

If this country goes to war, and all the young men are drafted into service, and all the old men, a la Social Security, are retired on pensions, who in the world is going to do all the work?

Many people do not realize it yet, but during the past week, this country's foreign policy has undergone a drastic change. We still want to keep out of war at all costs, but now we are willing to fight to do it.

We are where Vittorio Mussolini who came to this country to spend three weeks studying movies is already flying back to Rome.

Probably wants to get back in time to join his brother in a bombing raid on Valencia.

Not everyone, we've found, believes that Sanford should try to induce tourists to come here. Not everyone believes that Sanford should try to grow, develop, and prosper. It used to be that way in the past. There were a few in the Civic City who liked it the way things were when it was a little fishing town with sand streets and ramshackle buildings. But, unfortunately, their ideas did not prove to be best advertised for tourists. And now one of the most popular tourist spots

Your Washwoman

Most housekeepers are very particular about the kind of milk which they give their babies. They demand pure food, clean water, and fresh air for their children. If the little boy has a slight cut, they disinfect it carefully with some proper disinfectant. Ordinarily they take all possible precautions in guarding their families' health. But do they know the kind of a home in which their washing is done?

There are hundreds of Sanford housekeepers who send their dirty clothes to negro washwomen. Some of these washwomen are clean, maintain neat and orderly homes, and do a good job of washing as anybody could want. But some of them are dirty, ill kept, natural breeding places for germs of all kinds, and the best source of contamination in the world for disease.

Spoken within the range of our hearing recently were the words of one housekeeper who was complaining, because her sheets and pillow cases had come home with bed bugs on them. She knew that they had come from the home of her negro washwoman. What she didn't know was how many germs of various types of diseases were also on those sheets and pillow cases. Bed bugs are big enough to be seen, but germs are sometimes there when their presence is least expected.

This particular housekeeper has never taken the trouble to go into her washwoman's cabin home. The woman called for the wash and brought it back. The condition of the floor where the wash was thrown upon its arrival at the cabin, the dark and dingy corners where it sometimes lay for hours, the dirty tubs in which it was washed, the condition of the backyard where it was hung up to dry, and the filthy unkempt bed where it was laid after the ironing was over, were all a mystery to her.

We don't pretend that it is as important to have sterilized clothes to wear as certified milk to drink, and yet it does seem that the things which you put next to your skin, the pillow case on which you lay your head at night, should be reasonably germ proof. So what kind of a home does your washwoman have? Have you taken the trouble to see?

SMASHING DOWN RISING PRICES

SMASHING DOWN RISING PRICES of meat was the objective of 5,000 butchers in New York who closed their stores in protest of high costs. Several persons were injured in rioting that took place outside stores which refused to close their doors. Picket lines were promptly formed outside butchers who chose to remain open. Here a picket carries a placard stiff during a fight at an open butcher shop.

Supreme Court Stamps Okey On Redemption Act

"In other words," said Justice Glenn Terrell who wrote the court's decision, "the statute does not attempt to deal with any tax certificates, except those in which the period for redemption has passed and title vested in the State."

Terrell called the act "nothing more than another step in what has been a consistent legislative policy beginning in 1929 to purge the tax rolls of delinquent property held by the State for non-payment of taxes."

Facts leading up to this policy, he said were that in the 1922 and 1924 boom years the Florida tax roll mounted to over $600,000,000. After the boom, the roll decreased, and millions of dollars of unassessed values were represented in tax delinquencies.

The court said it was not concerned with the wisdom of the Legislature's policy in passing the disputed act; gate property owners' liberal clauses for redeeming the delinquent properties, but in both Senate and House committees, A. Senate Agriculture sub-committee recommended its enactment but the full house group has not completed hearings. Officials said they would be resumed when Congress reconvenes.

Andrews Says Extra Session Unnecessary

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 8 (AP)—Senator Andrews of Florida here for conference with democratic leaders, considers an extra session of congress unnecessary.

"Despite the considerable amount of unfinished business, do not deem any of it pressing enough to call us weary congressmen back to Washington," he said. "For one, I'm tired."

Senator Andrews expects neither a Black impeachment bill nor a supreme court reform bill to be introduced at the next session.

"The last session," he said, "wasn't at all as unproductive as it looked on the outside. About three senators on each side of the chamber made all the noise act, known officially as "Committee Substitute for House Bill 156."

"This court," the opinion continued, "has reorganized the depreciated value of unassessed certificates, and the powers of the Legislature to make provision for the disposition of them, in every way it sees fit. All that occurs recognize the impossibility of framing a tax law, totally devoid of inequalities."

"The means provided (in the redemption) may have been shortsighted and some others may have been better."

"It may be that the Legislature did not accurately sense the number of tax dodgers that were with in the pale of the act. The facts show that something needed to be done and the experiment attempted was within the ambit of legislative power."

"This is the test of judicial interpretation rather than what the judge would have supported if he had been a member of the Legislature."

"Questions of economic policy are solely for the Legislature to determine."

"The fact that the scheme provided is obviously to that effect does not galvanize disengaged assault."

Justice Terrell pointed out the disputed act gave property owners liberal clauses for redeeming the delinquent properties, but in both Senate and House committees, A. Senate Agriculture sub-committee recommended its enactment but the full house group has not completed hearings. Officials said they would be resumed when Congress reconvenes.

"We have planted about 1,000 palms or Phoenix trees for beautification this fall in addition to approximately 100 crepe Myrtles and many other plants."

"The people of the County have been most generous in their donations and we have driven from one end to the other to collect them."

Old fences and unsightly things

Dowling Brothers Circus To Show Here Tomorrow

200 Artists And Many Animals To Perform Under The "Bigtop"

Dowling Bros. Circus. under management of Charles Sparks, is marking its grand and glorious tour of the continent and will exhibit here tomorrow on the grounds at First Street and Sanborn Avenue.

For a number of years back travelling circuses have been satisfied to continue in a more or less routine program. Manager Sparks decided last season that something new and of a startling nature was necessary to keep the Dowling Bros. Circus right to the slogan, "America's Great Circus," the show you know. With this in view, he comes here tomorrow with an entirely new program that includes European sensations, many of whom are making their first appearance in America, having been imported from the great European circuses. Following are some of the features of the Dowling Bros. Circus for the 1935 edition: a big new opening spectacle with several hundred performers taking part; Bob Russell, famed Western Movie Star and former all-American football player, with his wonder horse, "Rebel"; Al Hodges, Jr. and his European company of riders in a sensational exhibition of hazardous and unequalled feats of horsemanship; the lady riders have attracted attention by their daring, grace, youth and beauty; the Eno Japanese Troupe, two men and three ladies, direct from the Mikado land of flowers and sunshine; these wonderful artists perform many feats of dexterity, skill and daring; Aerial Roberts' mid-air marvels in an astounding and breathtaking series of sensational feats on the aerial bars; Butters Family, a vision of exquisite grace; In a sensational dancing exhibition upon a slender strand of steel; Captain Picard and his Frisco Seals, marvelous actors from the deep, performing feats of daring and skill with human like intelligence; Marion Shuford, the featured equestrienne star of the circus, a dainty Rider in a graceful offering acknowledged as one of the peerless equestriennes of the world; Larkins Trio, an unusually difficult perch and balancing act; and head and foot slides from the dome of the big top; the Aerial Ballet, beautiful acrobats in a thrilling display of strength and agility; Tudor European Acrobats; Dowling Bros., famous High School Menage, the finest array of super Educated, blue-blooded, High School Menage an Dancing Horses ever exhibited in America, ridden by their trainers in a superb offering; a delightful display of color and charm; four herds of Performing Elephants in many new and surprising feats of a character far superior to all others that have been seen in the past; twenty-five Clowns, ambassadors of fun, in their famous jeans, over elephants and horses; the above are some of the outstanding hits of the three ring circus featuring two hundred artists.

Performances at 2 and 8 P. M. Doors open at 1 and 7 P. M. to give ample time to visit one of the largest of traveling menageries.

Fires Cost United States Over $263 Million Last Year

Caution—From Fire. That's the main reason why great concentrations, such as the fabled Chelsea, Charleston, Atlanta, Birmingham, Jacksonville, and other fires that destroyed whole cities have occurred. Fire-resistant roofs do not spread fire but keep it from spreading. That's why many cities and towns in the United States require fire-resistant roofs by ordinance today. And it's no hardship on the homeowner because such fire-resistant roofs look just as well, often have more beauty, and cost no more.

"Well, for the lady of the house, there is the caution that the electric iron is a most dangerous implement if not carefully handled or controlled. Electric irons left connected when not in use cause more than a third of all fires attributed to electric wiring and equipment. I advise always an electric iron with automatic control. Let only professional electricians handle your wiring problems and always replace blown fuses with new ones instead of trying to patch them. Home dry cleaning and the use of kerosene and gasoline to quicken fires is most foolish. Remember that when the air conditions happen to be just so, a gasoline explosion can come with no warning.

"Just two other things. One, about hot ashes. On those chilly mornings that are ahead, never be so much in a hurry to get back to a warm room that you fail to put hot ashes from the furnace or stove in a metal container, never in a wooden barrel or on the floor. And when the holidays are coming along, Thanksgiving, Christmas and especially the Fourth of July, be careful of candles, fire works, decorations, etc. We dreamers have seen too many Christmas trees become the cause of death and suffering in the midst of merrymaking. Never put lighted candles on Christmas trees or on windows near curtains.

"I have given you lots of things to remember, and can help you to remember. The National Fire Protection Association has a little pamphlet entitled 'Keep Your Home From Burning.' Anyone who cares to write to the National Fire Protection Association, 60 Batterymarch Street, Boston, Mass., will receive one of those pamphlets free. I hope every one who has read this will write in for one of those booklets, which may be the cause of saving your home and keeping your children and yourselves from being one of that great army of 10,000 sacrificed to fire in this country every year."

New York city's tax collections exceed $600,000,000 a year.

NOTICE OF APPLICATION FOR TAX DEED

McLucas' Celery Feds Ready For Lake City Game Tonight

Seminole Will Meet Strong Opposition From Head Coach Howard Hooser's Gridusters

Local Mentors Will Use John Morgan, Darrel Ferguson, Leon Lawson And "Flash" Lawson As Backs

The Seminole High School Celery Feds are ready and in condition for their third grid game of the season tonight to be played on the new athletic field at Lake City against Coach Howard Hooser's Lions.

The Feds have been practicing very hard all during the week and held their tapering off drills yesterday afternoon and just ran through several plays but eliminated our strenuous work.

We have been studying the offensive system that the Lions will use, and, according to reports from Lake City, the Lions have been working upon a passing defense to stave off any likable Seminole aerial attack.

OTT DRIVES HOME GIANT RUN IN FIRST INNING

DeLand Bulldogs Down Palatka By A Score Of 6-0

Was 1st Win In Four Games For Coach Ed Sorings' Gridusters

PALATKA, Oct. 8.—DeLand's Bulldogs inaugurated night football at the Axene Bowl here last night and returned home with their first gridiron victory of the season after handing the Maroons a 6-0 defeat before one of the largest football crowds to appear here in many a year.

Both teams battled on even terms through the first three periods with the Maroons making game goal-line stands in the second and third quarters to withstand sustained Bulldog assaults.

A DeLand punt, which Palatka fumbled and DeLand recovered near the middle of the fourth quarter paved the way for the Bulldogs' lone touchdown which proved the margin of victory.

Starting at mid-field the Bulldogs drove to Palatka's 21-yard stripe on straight football, then pulled the ancient "Statue of Liberty" play from the mouth-tails and circled their right to the 2-yard line with left end Shadburne taking the pigskin.

From that point Jack Coggin plowed over for the only score of the contest. DeLand's attempt to convert through the line failed.

Late in the same period the Maroons drove to DeLand's 1-yard line for a first down but a pass by John Spender was intercepted by W. Higginbotham and DeLand carried the pigskin out of danger.

The Hatter team, which had Florida to an 18-0 score last Saturday, is in excellent physical condition for tonight's affair, but Coaches Brady Cowell and Chet Freeman are disatisfied with the pass offense. Long drill in this phase, in which the Hatters scored twice last week, was carried on yesterday in the final workout.

The Stetson line, which fairly well held its own against the Gainesville foe, is counted on for excellent offensive and defensive work tonight. Hall Godbold of Tifford and Vito Beach has rounded into form at tackle and should be a tower of strength.

W. Anderson, Gus Swanson and Ed Furlong are three other big fellows who will probably be useful tonight at the tackles. The Hatters are hoping that their forward passing attack will direct big quarterbacks to employ every type of strategy on the ground and in the air in order to bring scores.

The visitors will be outweighed nearly 10 pounds to the man. They lost to the Tampa Sparrows, 20-0, Monday night.

Stetson Hatters Meet Teachers In Battle Tonight

Will Be Third Team South Georgia Has Faced This Week

DELAND, Oct. 8.—The Stetson coaches are expecting a hard battle for their Hatters tonight in the opening game of the home schedule against the courageous team of the South Georgia Teachers.

The Hatter team, which had Florida to an 18-0 score last Saturday, is in excellent physical condition for tonight's affair, but Coaches Brady Cowell and Chet Freeman are dissatisfied with the pass offense.

The DeLand High School band paraded the downtown streets prior to the game and gave an excellent exhibition between the halves with their high-stepping drum majorettes, Miss Frances McGarrah, leading the sixty-five piece organization through a number of intricate formations.

Eustis' Panthers Meet Ocala Outfit In Battle Tonight

EUSTIS, Oct. 8.—The Eustis High School Panthers meet Ocala tonight on the Ocala field in what promises to be one of the toughest games of the Panther schedule.

Coach Memory Martin drilled the Eustis squad Wednesday night and yesterday afternoon on play assignments and pass defense. Martin said his boys were in "fair shape" but still a little fatigued from last week's tilt with Sanford.

Stanley Skinner, first string man, will be unable to play in tonight's game, as will Louis Marshall, Dick Tilley, unable to play last week, will assume his regular position in tonight's line-up.

The "Qads" game will be a tough one, Martin said. He announced the following probable starting line up for the Panthers:

Morgan, le; E. Wilson, ri; H. Watson, Ig; Andrews, c; Hunt, rg; Beckman, rt; Hays, rr; Hancock, g; J. Peterson, lh; Giles, rh; W. Peterson, f.

Martin announced that the Panthers would meet Ocoee here next Thursday night in a game which has been added to the original schedule. On Friday the squad will meet Winter Garden there.

The visitors will be outweighed nearly 10 pounds to the man. They lost to the Tampa Sparrows, 20-0, Monday night.

LOVERS SLAIN AND BRANDED ON FOREHEADS

Sprawled in a parked automobile in a woodland where they had gone for a tryst, the bodies of Frances Hajek, 18, and her sweetheart, Lewis Weiss, 20, were found near New York with red circles "branded" on their foreheads. The "branding" was done with the slain girl's lipstick. Police believe a jealous suitor followed them and shot them. The bodies are shown at the scene of the crime with police inspecting them in search of clues. Note the circles.

Panning Stars With 3 Hits In 4 Trips To Help Terrymen

POLO GROUNDS, NEW YORK CITY, Oct. 9.—King Carl Hubbell received his much wanted revenge on the New York Yankees this afternoon when he set them back in a 7 to 3 win for the New York Giants in a game in which he gave up nine well scattered hits while his mates collected 12 binges off the offerings of three of Joe McCarthy's hurlers for the Giants' first win of the 1937 World Series.

The Giants scored their winning runs in the second inning when they pushed across six of their seven tallies and knocked Bump Hadley from the mound.

Carl Danning, Giant catcher who is playing in the place of Gus Mancuso who is on the injured list, received the hitting laurels for the afternoon when he was successful in driving out two singles and a double in four trips to the plate.

Lou Gehrig connected for his first hit of the game in the ninth when he plastered one into the right field stands for a circuit blow, his first of the series.

The Yankees started the scoring hostilities in their half of the first inning when Crosetti flied out to second base but Rolfe tripled to center field and scored when DiMaggio flied out to center.

The National League Champs were held to bay in their half of the second to tally six runs in a great bombardment off Hadley. Hank Leiber opened the wild inning with a single to short center field. McCarthy singled to right and Leiber advanced to third base. Danning was credited with an infield hit, and Leiber scored on the play and McCarthy moved down to second base.

Whitehead hit a hot grounder toward second base, but the ball hit Danning and Danning was automatically out. McCarthy was ruled back to second as the ball was dead. Hubbell hit a grounder down to Lasseri and he relayed the ball to the plate in an (Continued on Page 8A)

Manager Sparks Says This Great Town With Fine Future

The circus came to town today and it was Downie Bros. Circus, the big show which has been attracting attention throughout the North this summer for its large number of unusually entertaining acts.

And along with the circus came Charles Sparks, manager of the big show, who likes Sanford and sees a big future in store for this city. Interviewed by a Herald reporter this morning, Mr. Sparks declared that he likes the looks of Sanford better than any other city he has played in a long time, and he says that Sanford will like the looks of his circus equally well.

"When chilly weather strikes the north, Mr. Sparks said, "It's back home for me" and that means Georgia and Florida. The show winters its stock and animals at Central City Park in Macon, Ga.

Mr. and Mrs. Sparks make for Florida to look after their holdings in the land of sunshine. Years ago Mr. Sparks said he invested in Florida's real estate, and when the depression came he was advised to sell, but always said "No."

It is estimated that 1000 members from the various clubs in the State, including many club celebrities and prominent guests will be present for the sessions to be held Oct. 10-12.

Details were withheld except that the condemned persons were members of a band of terrorists operating in the grain collection service.

Witnesses Say Cops Put Flog Victims In Car

Defendants Are Identified By Witnesses As Having Hand In Flog Kidnapping

BARTOW, Oct. 9.—(AP)—The State presented further evidence today intended to link six former Tampa policemen with the abduction, flogging, tarring and feathering of three political organizers in Tampa two years ago. The six now on trial are charged with second degree murder as the result of the death of Joseph Shoemaker, one of the three victims.

Judge Robert Dewell recessed the trial until Monday after the State this morning presented the testimony of Detective W. D. Bush of Tampa and John Riegel formerly of Tampa, who claimed they saw C. W. Carlisle and C. A. Brown, Jr., put the three victims in an automobile outside the police station. The surviving victim, Eugene F. Poulnot, and Sam Rogers, late yesterday identified three of the other defendants as they told of the flogging.

Judge Robert Dewell had moved the case toward a quick end by end of their case today. The case toward a quick end by ruling out all evidence of what happened before the three were seized at the door of the Tampa police station the night of Nov. 30, 1935.

Four of the defendants were identified by Eugene F. Poulnot and Samuel J. Rogers, flogging victims, as having a hand in the kidnapping. They could not say, however, who was at the scene of the actual flogging, in woods about 15 miles east of Tampa.

The four identified were C. W. Carlisle, John P. Bridges, and F. W. Switzer, former Tampa policemen, and Artie Gilliam, Orlando grove caretaker, who served as a special officer in the 1935 Tampa city primary. C. A. Brown and Sam E. Crosby, also former Tampa policemen, were not mentioned by Poulnot and Rogers.

As a result of Judge Dewell's ruling on what testimony may be offered, prosecution attorneys said they probably will reach the end of their case today.

A bitter wrangle between attorneys developed over the ruling, based on a decision of the state supreme court reversing the conviction last year of five of the present defendants on a charge of kidnapping Poulnot.

Judge Dewell, who agreed with the view of defense attorney, held the supreme court decision prohibited any evidence tending to show a conspiracy between the six defendants.

He thus ruled out evidence presented at the previous trial, showing that Poulnot, Rogers and Shoemaker were arrested on the night of the flogging at a private home while attending a meeting of the Modern Democrats, a political club; that they were taken to the police station and questioned briefly about communism; that they were soon released and led out to waiting cars.

Celery Growers Vote 9 To 1 For Marketing Pact

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—(AP)—Farm administration officials said today the federal farm marketing program for Florida celery growers will become effective as soon as the shippers of at least 50 percent of the crop sign the marketing agreement.

The Agricultural Adjustment Administration sold the growers voted nine to one in favor of regulating out-of-state shipments under a marketing agreement designed to increase the price received by the growers.

A heavy vote in favor of the program enables Secretary Wallace to issue an order making its terms applicable to all Florida celery shippers. The AAA said 316 growers voted in the referendum and they represented 75 percent of all Florida celery growers with 2,826 acres of celery and an annual production of 2,871,298 crates.

The AAA said 88.3 percent of those who voted the favored marketing program.
