

Personal Will in Pulpit.
The pulpit is not infrequently taken in our own day, but seldom taken the personal form of a sermon divine who, preaching a university sermon at Oxford, ended abruptly by remarking that he "saw it was time to shut his books because the doctor's men had now come, wiping their beards from the alabaster," referring thus to the custom of the mace bearers, who were wont to wipe to a neighboring public house during the preaching and returning only when they thought it was nearly over.

Get Sugar in Other Ways.
It is significant that the nations who consume the most of and light wines, all of which contain greater or less amounts of compounds of carbon and water, consume the least sugar per capita. The natives of China, Greece and Turkey, for example, consume annually but one-twelfth of the amount of sugar per capita that is consumed by the natives of Great Britain.—American Food Journal.

Knew His Master's Politics.
During a general election in England a canvasser called at the home of the late Prof. Froude, the historian. Mr. Froude was out, so the canvasser interrogated the butler as to how Mr. Froude would vote. The butler, an old servant who understood his master well, replied: "When the liberals is in Mr. Froude is sometimes a conservative. When the conservatives is in Mr. Froude is always a liberal."

Limoges, China, Industry.
Limoges has a world-wide reputation for its china. The industry has been carried on in this city for over a century. The excellence of its ware, its hardness, fineness of texture, perfect vitrification and translucency make it unsurpassed in the estimation of connoisseurs.

Success in Many Fleishy Roots.
Sugarbeets are found in the fleshy roots, such as the beet, carrot, turnip and sweet potato, but thus far it is only from the beet that it has been obtained in quantities commercially profitable. The beet root today yields by far the greater part of the world's sugar supply.

Tasmania's Great Reservoir.
The island of Tasmania is located south of Australia. Its area is a little over 28,000 miles and it has a population of 191,000. In the middle of the island at an altitude of 3,400 feet is the Great Lake, a storage reservoir provided by nature.

BULKHEAD STARTS; DREDGE IS WORKING ON THE LAKE FRONT

GREAT WEEK OF BEAUTIFYING LAKE MONROE HAS BEGUN

DREDGE BEGINS WORK NEAR THE CITY DOCK

CONTRACTORS HAVE A YEAR IN WHICH TO MAKE CONCRETE WALL AND FILL

The bulkheading of the lake front has started. The dredge boat arrived at the docks from Jacksonville last week and made ready for business last Saturday and pumped for some time to get the machinery in working order. Yesterday morning the dredging began in earnest and crowds of interested citizens were at the dock to watch the work.

The dredge boat is fitted up with sleeping and dining accommodations and the force is prepared to stay with this big contract until the work is finished and Sanford's lake front is furnished with a concrete retaining wall and filled in level with the end of the streets leading north.

The dredge is not moving much soil at present as the soundings did not disclose the sort of soil that the suction pipes will encounter and yesterday the sand pumped from the river bed did not materialize as fast as the anxious watchers wished but the work is satisfactory to the contractors who have learned to encounter all manner of surprises on the river bottom. A lot of poles, blocks and tackle and other wreckage was brought to the surface yesterday after the pumps had started and this kind of refuse interferes with the work to some extent.

The contract was made by the city with the Seminole Dredging Co., of which firm Messrs. C. R. Walker and F. W. Mahoney of this city are members and the work will be executed not only in first class shape but in record time and when finished will add greatly to the appearance of the city.

The bulkheading and beautifying of the lake front will not only be a great benefit to the city from a civic point of view, but will be of incalculable value from a health standpoint. The water hyacinths, weeds, old wrecks and sheds will now be destroyed forever and the lake front will take its place in the city life as one of the most valuable assets. The lake front has been neglected for years and the dreams of those who have longed for this great improvement have at least come true.

Various city councils have contemplated this great improvement but it required for the present council to start the work and the thanks of the citizens of Sanford are due to them for their united stand upon this question.

There is nothing that the city has needed as much as this bulkheading and now that the work has actually started there is great rejoicing among the people of Sanford and the many winter visitors who in their northern homes learn of this fine improvement at Sanford.

The bulkheading of the lake front means that our tourist hotel will be built and many improvements will follow. The many acres of worthless river front will now take on a new and added value and Sanford should start many improvements this summer in line with the new lake front.

The sewer pipes will be extended and instead of being out of the water in the summer, unsightly and unhealthy, these pipes will be extended to the limit of the bulkhead and will be under the water at all times and another menace to the health of Sanford eliminated.

Let the good work go on.

Want Stockton to Speak The many admirers of John Stockton in this city and in Seminole county are anxious to hear him speak and a date is being arranged for him to be here in Sanford before the election. Mr. Stockton is strong here and will be stronger after the people have the chance of hearing him discuss the issues of the day in his most convincing manner. The date of his appearance will be announced later in The Herald.

HUERTA MAY BE BLUFFING UNTIL CAPITAL FORTIFIED

STORES WILL CLOSE

And Everybody Will Attend Picnic and Fish Fry of Eagles The Big Picnic and Fish Fry of the Sanford Eagles that will take place on Thursday May 28th at Woodland Park promises to be the big event of the season, not only for the good time promised everybody, but the crowd promises to overflow the beautiful Woodland Park. The good ladies who have worked so hard to make the affair a success have induced all the merchants of Sanford to close their stores at noon and everybody will take the boats for Woodland Park. The following merchants have signed a petition to close on that day and many who were overlooked have also signified their intention to close:

- T. K. Bates, Dymon & Haynes, Secondhand Furniture, Mrs. S. M. Overman, Singer Sewing Machine Co., Sanford Electric Co., J. T. Allen, Albert Gramling, W. R. Pell, J. E. Pace, Fernald Hardware Co., Sanford Coca Cola Bottling Co., W. W. Long, Hill Hardware Co., Theo. Schaal, E. E. Brady, G. W. Spencer, Sanford Shoe & Clothing Co., Chas. Kanner, Irwin & Giles, M. Florida Medical Association

The doctors from all over the state will gather in their first annual convention here on the 15th for a three days session. The meetings will be in Elks' home and at 2 o'clock Wednesday, the following program will be rendered: Invocation, Rev. J. W. Stagg, Address of Welcome on behalf of Orlando, M. J. C. Long, Address of Welcome on behalf of the Board of Trade, W. M. M. Chrus, Address of welcome of behalf of the County Medical Association, Dr. C. D. Christ, Response, Dr. J. J. Dupuis, followed by scientific sessions. The same evening a reception will be given by the County Medical Society at the Elks' home to the visiting doctors and their wives, to which the citizens of Orlando are invited. Thursday evening, Dr. W. H. Warren of Key West will deliver an oration, which will be followed by a barbecue for the visitors at the Country Club. Reporter Star.

Big Barbecue at Chuluota

The people of Chuluota are planning a big barbecue at that place on Thursday, May 21st. Although the complete arrangements have not yet been made it is an assured fact that the barbecue will be given and when the people of this growing little city make preparations for such an event it is not without saying that the town will be spared to give their visitors on that day a fine time. Chuluota is famous for its barbecues and there is no doubt that the people of Seminole county will be there in force. Further details will be announced later.

Electrical Inspector Hired

Mr. J. L. Orr, electrical inspector for the Southern Underwriters, with the aid of local electricians, Jno. Gillon and W. H. Howell has just completed a very thorough inspection of the electrical work of the city. Mr. Orr reports that the work in Sanford was found to be in good shape and far above the average work throughout the county. It is a credit to the city as well as to the local electricians for a report as good as that of Mr. Orr's to go in, as it has a tendency to lower insurance rates and also means the liability of fire.

THEN THERE WILL BE NO ADJUSTMENT OF THE MEXICAN TROUBLE

DELEGATES LEAVE FOR TREATY PLACE BUT NO ONE HAS HOPES OF ANY PEACE PACT

Washington, D. C., May 12.—Details of the killing of C. H. Hoadley, American, and G. E. Willingham, British, by Mexicans at El Favor mine near Guadaluajara, Mexico, were given in a dispatch from the British vice consul at Guadaluajara, transmitted today through the British embassy. The dispatch said that Hoadley and Willingham were stabbed to death and horribly mutilated by enraged Mexicans, after the foreign staff, in charge of the El Favor mines had endeavored to search native laborers for silver bars stolen from the mine.

The two victims, he said, had given up their weapons believing they would be spared. All the other foreigners, according to the report, were placed in jail but later were released.

Foreign Mexico, May 12. Taking of Regata by the constitutionalists clears this line of communication between this city, Matamoros, San Antonio, and gives the constitutionalists complete control of the railroad to Eagle Pass.

Great satisfaction has been expressed by the constitutionalist government over the news of about 200 Americans had returned to Guzman, Sonora, to open the mines and smelter there.

Consular Agent Williams has received orders from the United States State Department to secure the names and addresses of all American citizens who have refused to leave Mexico. He also has been ordered to use all possible means to get word to Americans to leave Mexico in peace, has been restored.

Vera Cruz, May 12.—Emilio Rabal, Augustine Rodriguez and Luis Figueroa, the three peace commissioners appointed by President Huerta to represent him at the Niagara Falls conference, who will sail later today for Havana en route to Key West are clothed with full powers, nominally at least, to sign any agreement or convention.

The Mexican senate in approving Huerta's nomination of the commissioners, conferred full power and ample authority to judge, counsel, carry on business and sign any agreement or treaty whatever.

Many prominent Mexicans, however, do not regard this broad authority as real. Others believe that Huerta has instructed the commissioners to place insurmountable objections to any amicable adjustment, believing that failure of the negotiations might result in pushing American intervention. They feel that this, however, would not unite factions but would force Huerta to fight alone. It is the general opinion that Huerta fears no American advance until the mediators have concluded their work. Many Mexican leaders Huerta clothed commissioners in the broadest powers to make show of having done all in his power to reach a settlement.

Mexico City newspapers continue their bitter attacks on the United States. Alleged copies of the American articles of war are being published in the capital to inflame the public. They represent military officers as most cruel.

Four schools opened here today with native instructors. If the experiment is successful General Funston plans to re-establish the entire school system.

The reason trouble caused by foreigners who continued to Mexico City has resulted in tightening all export lines. Only those foreigners having urgent business will be permitted to pass from the city into the interior.

Rumors of all sorts of a great rebel attack upon Tampico are in circulation, but naval officials are withholding all information received by them.

As many more would be held tonight. The ingress of the steamers began early yesterday. From that time on special trains arrived at short intervals, and with scarcely a break the air was filled with the blare of trumpets, and the roll of drums as visiting patrols paraded through the streets to headquarters.

William W. Irwin, the imperial plantier of Wheeling, W. Va., was expected to arrive during the day. He will be greeted with a salute of 21 guns. Many of the visitors are living in the special trains that brought them here. The hotel accommodations of the city have been reserved for months, and the railroads have arranged to park the trains for the accommodation of the overflow.

Miss Hawkins Entertains Miss Annie Hawkins, entertained pleasantly a few friends at auction bridge on Tuesday afternoon at her attractive home on Celery avenue the party going out in automobiles. After several rounds of the game were played, the first prize was awarded to Mrs. W. P. Carter. The consolation prize was captured by Miss Wheeler. WILL REDUCE TAX

Governor Trammell Thinks State Can Cut Millage

Tallahassee, Fla., May 12.—Under the law which provides that the Governor may order a reduction in the tax millage for state purposes, Governor Park Trammell several months ago after some preliminary investigation, was impressed that it would be practicable for him to order a reduction in the millage for pension purposes for the year 1914. He followed up his preliminary consideration of the matter by addressing a letter to Hon. W. V. Knott, Comptroller, asking for information upon this subject. The Comptroller last week replied to the Governor's letter of February 23rd, asking for information. In this reply the Comptroller expressed the opinion that the millage can be reduced one mill. This information agrees with the views of Governor Trammell, as he took the position when he began the investigation that the status of the pension fund was such that he could not justify reducing the pension tax millage from two to one and one half mills. The Governor says that he will unquestionably make an order reducing this tax at least one mill, and that he is further considering all the information which he has before him, and it is possible will make the reduction even more than one mill.

Under the law the Governor also has authority to reduce the two mills tax for general purposes if he finds it practicable to do so. The Governor has for several months been considering the advisability of also reducing this millage. He is asking for information from the Tax Commission, the Comptroller, and the assessing officers, and says that while he cannot at this time say definitely that a reduction can be made but from his investigation thus far he is hopeful that he will be able to make a substantial reduction in the two mills tax for general state purposes.

FIRST AND SECOND CHOICE

What Appears to be Complicated Is Simple Enough

The law is very plain, and in a few words simply means that in case no candidate receives a majority of first class votes, then the candidate receiving the lowest number of first class votes is dropped, and the two candidates receiving the highest number of first choice votes are to determine who is the nominee by adding the first and second choice votes together and the one receiving a majority is the nominee. If a candidate fails to receive a majority of the first choice votes, the two highest first choice candidates are to receive all the votes cast for them, both first and second choice votes. Read the law, Section 30.

If any candidate for an office shall receive a majority of first class votes he shall be declared nominated for such office. If no candidate shall receive such a majority of first choice votes, then the nomination for such office shall be determined by excluding from further consideration the candidacy of all except the two candidates who shall have received the greatest and next greatest number of first choice votes, or the greatest and equal number of first choice votes, and by adding to such first choice votes of each of said two candidates the second choice votes cast for him by those voters whose first choice votes shall have been cast for any of the candidates excluded as herein provided.

The Junior Civic League's meeting last week was especially interesting. A large number of the members being present. The committee from the Welfare Department in charge are much gratified at the progress made, and have many excellent plans for work. The League will plant a large number of rose bushes in the parks very soon, and large beds of colums are to be planted as soon as the plants arrive. The children have already raised some money by a candy sale and during July will give a play, including about one hundred children.

Old Citizens Here. A. C. Martin, one of the original settlers of Sanford and long time resident of this city is here on a visit to his daughters, Mrs. J. C. McDaniel and Mrs. George Fox. Mr. Martin is a survivor of the Seminole war and the Civil war and is en route to his home in Miami after attending the reunion at Jacksonville. He is among the few surviving Seminole war heroes having been a member of the cavalry in those stirring times of the early days. He will be here for a week or more and his many friends are giving him a warm welcome. Mr. Martin sees many changes in this city since the early days when he built the first store room at the Melbyville dock.

Cafeteria Luncheon Saturday afternoon and evening the ladies of the Methodist church will serve a Cafeteria supper in the Duckywork store. Delicious home cooked foods will be on sale and everybody is invited.

ONE GREAT PAPER WILL BE THE HERALD OF TUESDAY, MAY 26

WILL FEATURE SCHOOLS OF SANFORD AND SEMINOLE COUNTY

ALSO CANDIDATES AND DELINQUENT TAX LIST

ONE OF THE BEST BOOSTING AND ADVERTISING MEDIUMS THAT HAS EVER LEFT THE PRESS

The Herald never attempts to hold up the advertisers. We prefer to let them come in each issue and make their advertising pay because every issue of The Herald is better than the last. But there are times when special advertising is needed and holds their attention better than the regular issue or rather a special edition of the regular paper is better than it would be ordinarily because it contains special features.

Such an edition will be the big educational number of The Sanford Herald that will be issued on May 26th and will contain the commencement exercises of the Sanford High School and all the other schools of Seminole county. If the teachers can be interested in the work and will let their schools of the various districts. The schools of Seminole county are said to be the best in the state. We have enjoyed that reputation in the past and should continue to enjoy it in the future but the work at large will never know of our educational advantages if we sit idly by and never let the world know about our schools. This we propose to do in the Special Educational Edition of Tuesday, May 26th if we can get the cooperation of the merchants of the county and the teachers.

The big edition will also contain the platforms and aims of the various candidates. This was granted them because they did not desire open meetings and speeches, many of them prefer to talk to the people through the columns of The Herald and the big edition will give them this chance. All the candidates will have their pictures and their advantages set forth in letters to the people. The special edition will also contain the first installment of the Seminole county delinquent tax list, something that every man in the county wishes to read. This item alone will make the special edition very valuable to the advertisers and the man who misses this great opportunity of getting before the people of the county is missing the chance of his life.

The big edition will be a booster paper in every respect and aside from going into every home in Seminole county will also be well distributed all over the state and in many parts of the north and west and any one interested in the future growth of Sanford should send a dozen copies of this edition of The Herald to their friends in other parts of the country, for it will contain much that is of interest to a future investor.

This edition will appeal more to the advertiser than any similar edition that has ever been compiled in this city and now is the time to contract for your space.

Old Citizens Here.

A. C. Martin, one of the original settlers of Sanford and long time resident of this city is here on a visit to his daughters, Mrs. J. C. McDaniel and Mrs. George Fox. Mr. Martin is a survivor of the Seminole war and the Civil war and is en route to his home in Miami after attending the reunion at Jacksonville. He is among the few surviving Seminole war heroes having been a member of the cavalry in those stirring times of the early days. He will be here for a week or more and his many friends are giving him a warm welcome. Mr. Martin sees many changes in this city since the early days when he built the first store room at the Melbyville dock.

Cafeteria Luncheon

Saturday afternoon and evening the ladies of the Methodist church will serve a Cafeteria supper in the Duckywork store. Delicious home cooked foods will be on sale and everybody is invited.

The Klansville board of trade is going to offer prizes for the best kept yards in that city. It is understood that there are a number of pretty yards and lawns in Klansville, but the board of trade thinks this will stimulate even greater interest in the keeping of pretty places.

Senator N. P. Bryan is not in favor of primaries for postmasters. Why not? Are primaries for all other offices "progressive," and a primary for postmasters "reactionary"? Why do these two terms have so many different definitions?—Orlando Banner.

As the time for June nuptials approaches we are reminded that matrimony is what it used to be. For instance, they don't have the bride and groom like they formerly did. Nowadays they leave that to the priest and the butler, and the landlady that owns the dove cote.

The coming Orlando-Orlando River road is looked forward to with much interest. It has been repeatedly needed for many years. This new road will connect with the Mims road to Southmere, by way of Geneva. We are told that nearly $2,500 have been subscribed towards the fund for building this road in Orange county alone.—Titusville Advocate.

Mr. Forrest Lake, that hustling resident of Sanford is a candidate for the Florida legislature, and we hope to see him nominated and elected. He is generally conceded to be a good man for Sanford and Seminole county, hence his again sitting in the house is pretty well understood to be a foregone conclusion.—Titusville Advocate.

The Press Association made a good choice when it picked Bob Holly for president. He is "all wool and a yard wide," and some day we hope to vote for him for Governor. We regretted the retirement of Hon. W. A. Russell, who made a splendid president of the association, but under the constitution of the organization, no president can succeed himself in office.—Eaton's Eagles.

Congratulations to Bob Holly. He is the president of the two largest and important bodies the Florida Press Association and the Lake Region Press Association. Next thing you know Bob will be starting a bank, or something like that.—Orlando Sentinel.

The editor of the Lake Region nominated Holly for both the positions referred to and stands ready to nominate him for president of a bank, the natural promotion for a newspaper president. Rustic Lake Region.

You will have to go some, Charlene, if you pull off the latter stunt. At the present moment we have more popularity than money.—Orlando Sentinel.

HERE'S GOOD NEWS!
Congratulations to Robert J. Holly, president of the Florida Press Association. He did it! He is proud in electing you to preside over it, which you will do with honor and credit to all concerned.—Reporter-Star.

TALE OF A SHIRT
The Tampa Tribune prints a picture of New President Marshall wearing bands with Tommy Tigertail of the Seminoles. There was another Indian shown in the background of the same picture but the Tribune fails to give his name, supposing, of course that the reader would readily recognize the nameless one as Ruben Shittail, chief of the Sarasotas, who frequently gets off the reservation and commits depredations upon the outposts of the Tampa Brewing Company. Chief Ruben is not afflicted with hydrophobia, as the picture would indicate, although he has a great abhorrence for water. While he does not object to its use in case of fire he would not turn on his heels for the gulf of Mexico for drinking purposes. He belongs to one of the great "savage bands," known as the "white apron bunch" and frequently mixes medicine with the gang in his favorite ill-borough haunts. So deep is his devotion to the white apron clan that in the absence of the proper insignia of the tribe he has been known to flaunt the lower part of his shirt in lieu of an apron. Hence his name Chief Shittail. He is friendly to the pale face (and red nose) warriors and spends many happy hours with his chums A. Chohpl, Bud Witsack, Ann Heiser, "Red" Ebb, Rbl Whlgh R. G. Booz and others of like notoriety. The Tribune is right. It were a waste of words to name the great chief of the Sarasotas when the humblest gink in all the land could identify his hide if he should find it in a tanyard. Arcadia Enterprise.

NO DEBATE COMING

Senator Duncan U. Fletcher and Hon. John N. C. Stockton will not engage in a joint debate over this senatorial contest. The following is the correspondence which passed between these candidates:

The letter of Senator Fletcher to Mr. Stockton is as follows:
Dear Sir:—It is my purpose to hold a public meeting at the Duval theater next Saturday evening, beginning at 8 o'clock promptly, at which I propose to throw all the light I can on my record as senator. You have criticized that record and raised objections to my reelection. I take pleasure in extending to you this invitation to take equal part in that meeting, and present as fully as you like, any points you may claim to exist, your reasons why you should be elected, and why I should not succeed myself.

These matters we can submit to our home people on such a division of time and of such terms as you prefer, with the one condition that whoever opens the discussion shall have twenty minutes to close.

I will be glad to have your reply as soon as possible.

(Signed) DUNCAN U. FLETCHER
Mr. Stockton's reply to the challenge to meet Mr. Fletcher is as follows:

Dear Sir:—Your letter of April 27 has been received by me today. I can see no necessity for a joint debate between us. You admit that you voted for Lorimer twice, and that you signed the Bailey telegram. You have not denied that you opposed Woodrow Wilson in his candidacy for President of the United States. You do not deny that you voted several times with Aldrich of Rhode Island, on items contained in the Payne-Aldrich tariff bill. If an explanation of these things is due to any one, it is due to the Democrats of Florida, not to me.
(Signed) J. N. C. STOCKTON

BIG SPECIAL EDITION

In a few days the Sanford schools will close and The Herald will feature this part of our educational life. The Sanford schools have a nation wide reputation and this commencement will mark the close of one of the most successful terms of our school life. In the eye of the departure of Prof. N. J. Perkins The Herald thinks it right and proper to give the Sanford schools something better than we usually give them. Although they have never been neglected in this paper.

Acting upon this idea we will issue on Tuesday, May 26th a big educational edition and it will contain besides the commencement of the High School a general description of our city and county schools, articles upon education by contributors and as a side issue the candidates will also occupy the center of the stage in several pages devoted to politics. The candidates have pledged that they did not wish meetings and discussions and therefore will give the voters their ideas through the pages of the Herald and there is no better time than in the Big Herald Special. The merchants of Sanford also wish to give in this edition and talk to the community. A special will be a big inducement to them that they will give very valuable information of Seminoles and other things that will add to the interest of the community throughout the whole county. The time to get in this edition is right now while the getting is good and the solicitor will pass your way but later. Already the space is being contracted by many advertisers who recognize the value of this edition. Another thing. This big edition will contain the first installment of the Seminole county delinquent tax list which of itself is enough to make it the greatest advertising medium of the year.

Get your space now for it will be some paper.

SCHOOL DAYS

With seeming swiftness, especially to the older heads, the time has again arrived when, in the lives of some of our young people, they are to sever their connections with the regulation school days and enter upon their several careers. Some, of course will go further and will enter college to better themselves for whatever selling they may choose, or have already chosen, but for the most part this is the time for the real commencement of their efforts that are to make for the real business success of the young man or young woman. It is the real turning point in life, especially for the majority, and it is largely upon those principles that have been instilled during the high school term that character is based, although, of course, the primary teaching in this greatest of all basic feature begins in the home, long before the new cerebral climber began to delve into the great store of knowledge hidden away in books.

To those who are starting out on life's rugged pathway, we wish you a pleasant and profitable journey, trusting that you have made the very best of the opportunities offered, and that when, after having gained experience as the years slip by, you will have no regrets for the time spent in studious application to those things which have fitted you for the responsibilities now confronting you.

To those who have yet before you this final preparation, we admonish you to leave no stone unturned that may have under it something of knowledge, keeping ever before you the success attained by others, and the steadfast determination that whatever there may be of success, it shall be yours.—Fort Myers Press.

A COMMERCIAL HOTEL

Whether the present plan for a tourist hotel in Sanford materialize or not the business men of Sanford should organize and put up a good fifty room commercial hotel in the business portion of Sanford. Just twenty-five business men of this city putting up one thousand dollars each can start a good fifty room, up to date hotel that will take care of the transient trade in the summer and winter and the overflow tourist travel in the winter months. There are many fine locations that would answer this purpose and the best and cheapest way to get a tourist hotel for the men of this city to erect a commercial hotel and do it now. The time to wait for some thing to happen has passed and it is the opinion of the Herald that when the people of Sanford wished to accomplish anything they had to do it themselves and not trust to any outsiders to promote the object. It is a foregone conclusion that Sanford needs a real hotel and needs one right now and the way to get it is for the people of Sanford to start it. A fifty room hotel with stores on the first floor will pay the interest on the investment from the start and after the hotel is started the balance of the money to finish will be easy to find. Too long have we waited for the miracle to happen and the good Samaritan to come along and build us a hotel commensurate with the other improvements of this city and now is the time to demonstrate the Sanford spirit and get busy on a Sanford hotel built by Sanford money. Other cities have accomplished this much and Sanford can do likewise. There are plenty of locations and as soon as our people realize that a commercial hotel can be built in the center of the city and made to pay from the start right then we can have our real hotel and ask favors from no one.

Let us build a commercial hotel this summer.

Up-to-Date German City

Furt, a Bavarian city of 100,000 population, a suburb of the city of Nuremberg, has had in operation for more than two years a municipal garbage incineration plant that is regarded as a model of its kind, and which, in connection with a modern system of garbage collection, makes the disposal of garbage of this city not only the least offensive and most sanitary possible, but also a matter of actual, although small, profit to the municipality.

To Exploit Brazilian Forests.

The immense forests of rosewood and other hard and valuable woods found in the southern part of the state of Bahia, Brazil, which have never before had a thorough trial in commerce, have tempted three American companies to begin exploitation. Concessions have been obtained from the Brazilian government and operations begun on forest land, abutting on small rivers flowing into the Atlantic.

Osage Orange.

The osage orange is a native of North America and is generally used as a hedge. In some instances it attains a height of 60 feet. The fruit is not poisonous, but is seldom, if ever, eaten, being filled with a woody fiber and a milky juice which is far from attractive to the taste.

Curse of Luxury.

The most judicious historians, the most learned philosophers, and the profoundest politicians, all lay it down as an ascertainable maxim, that wherever luxury prevails, it never fails to destroy the most flourishing states and kingdoms; and the experience of all ages, and all nations, does but too clearly demonstrate the truth of this maxim.—Charles Rollin.

Palms Grow Over Buried City.

Over the site of the ancient city of Memphis, once the fair city of the world, now buried by a thick deposit of Nile mud, stand stately palms, which yield a delicious fruit. Over the city the peasant Egyptians carry on their agricultural pursuits, and the palms yield the entire food of the peasants during large parts of the year.

Condition of Literature.

Literature may be overrated, as a contemporary claims, but the modern output is decidedly undermanned at the Washington Post.

Humility Much the Same.

There is not much difference between the various races. If you went into a gymnasium, for instance, where men from all the civilized white races were dressed alike and none of them spoke a word, it would be hard to distinguish the men from England and America from those from France, Germany or Italy. The clew we have now to the different races is mostly in the clothes and manners and language.

Miss Mahel Bowler of Jacksonville is expected to arrive in Sanford within the next few days. Miss Bowler is gifted with a beautiful voice and is coming to this city for the special purpose of singing at the annual retreat given by the piano pupils to Mrs. F. S. Munson on the evening of May 18th. She has many friends in Sanford who will gladly welcome her visit to her former home.

The Sanford Fire Department was called out Saturday night to a fire which entirely destroyed the home of Mrs. Thompson on North street near the Union station. It is not known how the fire originated and it is thought that it was of incendiary origin as the whole upper part of the house was in flames before it was discovered and the fire department was prevented from extinguishing the fire before the building and contents were entirely consumed.

Mrs. Thompson has the sympathy of the entire community in the loss of her home and household goods.

In another part of this issue will be found the advertisement of F. F. Dutton who has a fine line of stationery, printing and book binding.

Mr. Lantz has the old passenger depot for a "store house" and it is his intention to utilize every foot of available floor space by carrying a full line of grocery supplies. His line now covers crates of all kinds, seed, spraying materials, etc. and all other kinds of store and poultry food.

The Book Circle was charmingly entertained at the home of Mrs. D. L. Thrasher on Park Avenue last Thursday afternoon. The time was pleasantly spent discussing and selecting the new books for the coming year. Mrs. Henry Wight and Miss Laura Fish were elected to fill vacancies caused by the resignation of two members. Delicious tea cream garnished with cherries and cake were served by the hostess and her charming daughter, Miss May Thrasher.

Those present were Mrs. R. A. Newman, Mrs. A. P. Connolly, Mrs. G. A. Speer, Mr. M. S. Dickins, Mrs. J. W. Dickins, Mrs. Henry Wight, Miss Laura Fish, Mrs. R. R. Deas, and Mrs. Fernan of Eustis, and Miss Lucy Mills of Chester, S. C.

Notice to Tax Payers. The 1913 assessment on your property was made by Orange county officials. The completed books were delivered to Seminole county in October, 1913. If the assessments in your neighborhood were not equalized, come in and talk to me about them and we will get them on the 1914 rolls as they should be.

For Sale at a Bargain. A new piano, finest tone, only used about six months. Party going away. Snap for some one. Call at Herald office.

The Junior Civic League held their business meeting Monday afternoon in the Woman's club rooms.

The meeting was called to order and the minutes of the last meeting were read and approved. A report was made telling of the progress of the Civic League during the past month. Ruth Hand explained about the play to be given on July 4th. As there was no further business the League adjourned.

Every Week Bridge. Mrs. S. E. Barrett was the charming hostess of the Every Week Bridge Club at their last meeting. Several pleasant games of auction were enjoyed. Mrs. J. W. Holden receiving a prize for highest score, a handsome wicker sandwich basket. The hostess then served delicious tomato sandwiches, olives and coffee to her guests who were Mrs. W. D. Hobbs, Mrs. G. E. Smith, Mrs. C. O. McLaughlin, Mrs. C. M. Vorce, Mrs. T. A. Neal, Mrs. C. Barnes, Mrs. Forrest Lake and Mrs. S. Poleston.

Picnic Party. The Junior Brotherhood of St. Andrew, accompanied by their regular, Rev. A. H. Peck went on a picnic Saturday to Silver Lake, where they spent the day most delightfully rowing and bathing and other sports of the country. The boys carried a bountiful luncheon to which they did full justice, and returned late in the afternoon sunburnt and tired, but happy. Those who made up the party were Sidney Cross, Alfred Robson, Johnnie Munson, Lee Park and Arthur Dickins.

County Teachers' Examination. Notice is hereby given that the Florida Uniform Examination for county certificates will be held at Sanford, Seminole county, June 2; for white teachers, in the Sanford High School, colored teachers, in the Hopper Academy.

D. L. THRASHER, Superintendent.

The Florida Breeze. The breeze wafts over orange groves which have just been covered with perfume laden bloom. It is cool with the heat of the sun that beats with our outer protecting robe a gentle, refreshing breath, sweet as a maiden's kiss soft as a mother's tender sigh. It blows us courage to resist to cheer to invigorate. Whether from east, west or south, it is full of vigor and sparkling with tingling fragrance, lifting suggestions of love, of spiritual rest and tranquil seas, urging the poet to glorify the work of God and the artist to glorify the world.

Florida Products. Far cry from sunny Florida to cold Norway and Sweden, yet the demand for 2,000 pairs of socks is met annually from the land of flowers for use on the snow and ice of these northern countries of Europe.

A correspondent of the Industrial News states interestingly in this issue of a plant at Gainesville, Fla., which prepares the material for the manufacture of socks, and which is the largest of its kind in the South.

It furnishes the raw material for the manufacture of socks and most of the socks made in this country are made from the material which is manufactured at the plant.

All of these are made from Florida white cotton, which is said to be the best in the world. The night, from 50 to 60, is very fine to be prepared in the factory.

The slugs at the Florida plant which cannot be made up into any marketable product together with all the other by-products of the building company are sold in large quantities to the rubber and paper industries.

Florida has a large number of cotton plants and the cotton produced in this state is of the highest quality. It is a question of time when the man for the job will be found.

For County Treasurer. I am in the race for County Treasurer subject to the Democratic primary. I am running on my record as a business man of experience and will look after the best interests of the county just the same as I have my own business.

This is not a question of one who needs the office. It is a question of the man for the job.

GOOD FARM FOR SALE. Comprising ten acres, four of them cleared. In flowing well district. Ten acres all fenced. Good building site. On brick roads and traction line and railroad, near loading station and store and church. Good location about three miles from Sanford. Going at a bargain as owner has other matters claiming all his time. Inquire at Herald office for particulars.

Buttons Deliberately Came Off. Harry, age four, was inventing mother's sewing basket while he was busy. Mother told him not to take the buttons off the card, as they would be lost. The little boy continued to play with them, however, and some of the buttons came off the card. "Harry, I told you not to take the buttons off the card. Now you have disobeyed me." "But, mother," said Harry, "I didn't take 'em off. They just thaliberty came off!"

Meeting of Stockholders. The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Southern Pine and Lumber Corporation of the State of Florida, and having an office, New York City, N. Y., will be held on June 5th, 1914, at 2 p. m. in Room B, 39, 4th Avenue, New York City, to elect officers and to act upon amendments to the Articles of Incorporation and on an increase of the capitalization. By order of the president, F. A. SWARTZ, Secretary.

Open Letter to The People of Sanford. When your committee of 100 has passed the country precincts for county display one of their main arguments was that Orlando did not treat the county fairly in the distribution of the county offices. THAT SANFORD DID NOT WANT THE OFFICES. You only wanted the county seat and the benefits it would bring the result you know. Again we find THAT SANFORD MEN DO NOT WANT THE OFFICES. I believe that this attitude is representative of only a small number of Sanford people. To prove my position I am a candidate for the office of County Treasurer, subject to the Democratic voters. I am in every way qualified for it, and I have one extra qualification, viz. I NEED IT. With every confidence in the fairness and justice of my claims, and your desire to do what is right to redeem the promise made by your representatives I solicit your vote and influence for this office.

W. R. HEALEY, Longwood, May 8, 1914. (Advertisement)

WOMAN'S CLUB

The Welfare Department of the Woman's Club will meet Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the club rooms. All members are requested to be present.

Club Business Meeting. The business meeting of the general club was held in the club rooms Wednesday afternoon, Mrs. J. W. Dickins presiding. In the absence of Mrs. R. E. Tolar Mrs. Moughton acted as secretary.

Interesting reports were heard from the various departments making in all a most gratifying closing of the club business for the year. The Welfare Department, Mrs. Terjeun chairman has been very active and has been instrumental recently in bringing the well known lecturers, Marcus Fagg and Richard Watrous to this city, whose visits and lectures were much appreciated and helpful to the best interests of the town. With a committee Mr. Watrous visited the Sanford schools, both white and colored and was very enthusiastic in his praise of the splendidly equipped school buildings, and the order and discipline that was noticeable among the pupils.

Mrs. Terjeun reported the Peter Pan Minstrel show, given by the ladies of the club a decided success, financially and otherwise. After all expenses were paid $114.25 was added to the treasury from this entertainment. Total amount raised by Welfare Department for club year including "red room" receipts $4,200.00. On motion the club gave a vote of thanks to Mr. R. J. Holly, editor of the Sanford Herald for many courtesies extended, as well as space in the columns for club news and notices. Plans for the next year were discussed, and the president closed the meeting with a wish for a pleasant summer for all and a return in the fall with renewed enthusiasm for club work.

Florida Products. Far cry from sunny Florida to cold Norway and Sweden, yet the demand for 2,000 pairs of socks is met annually from the land of flowers for use on the snow and ice of these northern countries of Europe.

A correspondent of the Industrial News states interestingly in this issue of a plant at Gainesville, Fla., which prepares the material for the manufacture of socks, and which is the largest of its kind in the South.

It furnishes the raw material for the manufacture of socks and most of the socks made in this country are made from the material which is manufactured at the plant.

All of these are made from Florida white cotton, which is said to be the best in the world. The night, from 50 to 60, is very fine to be prepared in the factory.

The slugs at the Florida plant which cannot be made up into any marketable product together with all the other by-products of the building company are sold in large quantities to the rubber and paper industries.

Florida has a large number of cotton plants and the cotton produced in this state is of the highest quality. It is a question of time when the man for the job will be found.

For County Treasurer. I am in the race for County Treasurer subject to the Democratic primary. I am running on my record as a business man of experience and will look after the best interests of the county just the same as I have my own business.

This is not a question of one who needs the office. It is a question of the man for the job.

GOOD FARM FOR SALE. Comprising ten acres, four of them cleared. In flowing well district. Ten acres all fenced. Good building site. Buttons Deliberately Came Off. Harry, age four, was inventing mother's sewing basket while he was busy. Mother told him not to take the buttons off the card, as they would be lost. The little boy continued to play with them, however, and some of the buttons came off the card. "Harry, I told you not to take the buttons off the card. Now you have disobeyed me." "But, mother," said Harry, "I didn't take 'em off. They just thaliberty came off!"

Individual Styles in Hair Dressing

SOME women discover after a while that a certain definite shape of a small hair roll, allows the hair to be brought down over the forehead at the sides. The back hair may be placed anywhere; in a coil at the crown of the head, as shown in the picture at the nape of the neck, or on top of the head, without changing the becomingness of the coiffure.

Nearly all youthful faces of what type, find the coiffure parted at the side a becoming arrangement for the hair. It is shown in the left hand picture adorned with a hair ornament for evening wear. The style is so plain that it needs the addition of an ornamental band, or two bands in the Greek fashion, at any time. Also, it is next to impossible to keep the hair in position at the front without the aid of these bands or ornaments. No support can be worn under the hair in this style, and the natural hair is, like its owner, "proud to waver."

Small essentials of various shapes are really essential to successful hair-dressing, except when nature has been exceptionally bountiful in the matter of a natural growth of hair.

Softening Effect of Sickness. There is something in sickness that breaks down the pride of manhood; that softens the heart, and brings it back to the helplessness of infancy. Who that has languished, even in advanced life, in sickness and dependency; who that has pined on a weary bed in the august and loneliness of a foreign land, has not thought of the mother that looked upon his childhood, that smoothed his pillow and administered in his helplessness, Washington Irving.

Masterful Blue-Eyed Women. Blue-eyed beauties are known for their self-control, coldness, austerity and precision. They are severe and unyielding, and demand the continuous homage of those about them. Moreover, they are dominating and masterful and wherever possible will be found to rule the roost.

NO DEBATE COMING

Senator Duncan U. Fletcher and Hon. John N. C. Stockton will not engage in a joint debate over this senatorial contest.

The letter of Senator Fletcher to Mr. Stockton is as follows: Dear Sir:—It is my purpose to hold a public meeting at the Duval theater next Saturday evening.

These matters we can submit to our home people on such a division of time and on such terms as you prefer.

I will be glad to have your reply as soon as possible.

(Signed) DUNCAN U. FLETCHER

Mr. Stockton's reply to the challenge to meet Mr. Fletcher is as follows:

Dear Sir:—Your letter of April 27, has been received by me today. I can see no necessity for a joint debate between us.

BIG SPECIAL EDITION

In a few days the Sanford schools will close and The Herald will feature this part of our educational life.

Acting upon this idea we will issue on Tuesday, May 26th a big educational edition and it will contain besides the commencement of the High School a general description of our city and county schools.

Get your space now for it will be some paper.

SCHOOL DAYS

With seeming swiftness, especially to the older heads, the time has again arrived when, in the lives of some of our young people, they are to sever their connections with the regulation school days.

The osage orange is a native of North America and is generally used as a hedge.

ing point in life, especially for the majority, and it is largely upon those principles that have been instilled during the high school term that character is based.

To those who are starting out on life's rugged pathway, we wish you a pleasant and profitable journey.

To those who have yet before you this final preparation, we admonish you to leave no stone unturned.

A COMMERCIAL HOTEL

Whether the present plans for a tourist hotel in Sanford materialize or not the business men of Sanford should organize and put up a good fifty room commercial hotel.

It is a foregone conclusion that Sanford needs a real hotel and needs one right now and the way to get it is for the people of Sanford to start it.

WOMAN'S CLUB

The Welfare Department of the Woman's Club will meet Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the club rooms. All members are requested to be present.

Club Business Meeting. The business meeting of the general club was held in the club rooms Wednesday afternoon, Mrs. J. W. Dickens presiding. In the absence of Mrs. R. E. Tolar Mrs. Moughton acted as secretary.

Interesting reports were heard from the various departments making in all a most gratifying closing of the club business for the year. The Welfare Department, Mrs. Ternehan chairman has been very active and has been instrumental recently in bringing the well known lectures, Marcus Egg and Richard Watrous to this city, whose visits and lectures were much appreciated and helpful to the best interests of the town.

With a committee Mr. Watrous visited the Sanford schools, both white and colored and was very enthusiastic in his praise of the splendidly equipped school buildings and the order and discipline that was noticeable among the pupils. Mrs. T. Egan reported the Peter Pan "Whiffel" show given by the ladies of the club a decided success financially and otherwise.

Florida Products. A far cry from sunny Florida to the Norway and Sweden yet the cry for 25 million pair of stockings annually from the Land of Fables for use on the snow and ice of the northern countries of Europe.

The slugs at the Florida plant which cannot be made up into any marketable product, together with all the sawdust, as purchased by packing companies and used in curing meats, and the ashes of the material burned under the boilers of the plant are sold for fertilizer.

Individual Styles in Hair Dressing

SOME women discover after experimenting that a certain definite style of hair dressing suits them better than any other. When this discovery has been made it is a mistake to adopt every new idea that comes along at the expense of becoming ugly. The lady with serene, broad, low brow and straight eyebrows may emphasize these gifts of nature by a coiffure like that portrayed in the lower one of the three pictures given here. It suits the character of her face exactly, and suggests a serene and beautiful personality. Besides, it is a style that is good for a lifetime. If Fashion demands a high coiffure, she may vary the arrangement of the back hair, but preserve the front parting and uncovered brow, with small change in the general effect.

Small supports of various shapes are really essential to successful hair-dressing, except when nature has been exceptionally bountiful in the matter of a natural growth of hair. JULIA BOTTOMLEY.

HUSBANDS WHO LIKE CHILDREN

All nature is but Art, unknown to the Att'ning chaff, direction which they cast - not yet - All indeed, but many, not understood. All faithful, but many, not understood. And despite of pride in erring reasons spite, One truth is clear - WHATEVER IS, IS RIGHT.

It is naturally supposed that when a couple marry and start a home, as time rolls on there will be little folks aplenty to dance merrily through its halls. But, ah me, "The best laid plans of mice and men gang aft a-gley!" In other words, that which they set their hearts upon may not materialize. It is little short of an affliction for a good, loving childless wife to have a husband who is passionately fond of children, and takes every occasion to lament over the fact that his life lacks the interest which they would ation to lament over the fact that his life lacks the interest which they would bring to him. The wife is too proud spirited and sensitive to admit her own yearning and whisper of her hopes which have gone astray.

There are other husbands who look upon the matter philosophically. In their pleasant conversations they try to make up to her in as many ways as they can, for the joys which might have been hers. They are sufficient. Such a one tells his wife he does not miss what he never had, that he is content to take all things as they come. The husband who adores babies never lets an opportunity pass to make it apparent to his wife.

She sees a baby on the street, and they are going for a walk, he stops short, gazes at it in rapt attention, his heart in his eyes. If he observes another man dangling a baby on his knees, the sigh he utters pierces his wife's soul. "If the dangled youngster pipes out, 'Papa!' 'papa!' he turns and looks at his wife with grieved eyes. He knows just how many children every man has in his family. He would rather talk on this subject than eat. He even hints it wouldn't be amiss if they were to adopt a couple of babies. The best hearted of wives may hesitate over mothering another woman's children by adopting them, though she feels that the world is full of dear little kiddies who need homes.

She weighs the matter carefully. Would it bridge over the coldness, so like a chasm, deep and wide, that has pushed her little by little out of her husband's heart? If, at such a crisis, business reverses should come to him, she feels it would not be right to bring him additional cares to contribute to. She looks the matter straight in the face, realizing she should not murmur against the Lord's decree that whatever is, is right. The day comes when such husbands realize the truth of this.

"LIVING UP ALL HE MAKES.

"The man who builds and lacks where-with to pay Provides a home from which to run away. Dreading the climax of all human ills, The inflammation of his weekly bills."

It is always the people who have had few if any burdens and no one to support who advocate large families. It is generally the man who works hardest who is blessed with a baker's dozen of little ones around his dinner table.

The Lord is usually kind in dividing up the children - not giving him all boys or all girls. It keeps father's nose pretty well to the grindstone to provide for them. He has no fear for the boys; they will strike out for themselves at an early age and be self-supporting. He has no such reassuring contemplation regarding the girls. This is especially the case if the mother is ambitious, and declares she wants her girls to marry, have homes of their own, husbands to support them, rather than working for careers, which might end in blighted hopes.

One by one, the boys fly the hope nest. The girls, she figures, rather will work from daylight to dark. He is a good, frugal man, but he is not able to lay aside a penny for the rainy-day future. It all goes for the upkeep of the family.

Extravagance, he points out to his wife, should be cut out. There's no use of having dancing parties one-half of the week and card parties the other half, he says. The spreads for these affairs, no matter how inexpensive, are a great drain on a poor man's purse, he adds.

The wife declares emphatically: "The poor things must entertain if they expect to be invited out anywhere by others." She calms his anxiety by adding: "There will always be a home for you and me at any one of our daughters' firesides."

This reasoning satisfies fathers. They plod on, giving all with that assurance in mind. The daughters wed. By that time, younger workmen have elbowed father out of the business. One son-in-law looks askance at bringing the old couple to his house, flinty refusing. Another throws up house-keeping and boards rather than to be saddled with his wife's family to support. Another couldn't crowd them in their small flat. There's no room for them. Not one of the daughters on whom he spent his life's earnings will pay the debt in part. A man should insist upon keeping a small portion of his earnings to ward off need in his old age.

They sit closely side by side - slight makers knew a thing or two when they made their jaunty little sleighs so compact, soft and cozy. But at just about the time when the all-important question of Dobbin kicks up the heels at the sleighbells, encircling all of the young man's attention up to the moment they reach home. More probably than elsewhere, especially if the young man is lucky enough to have a his beat girl all by himself there.

"KINDLING USELESS HOPES.

"God grant that you may never know A winter when a fallen bird A garden where no flowers are heard Nor even that I once saw you. Good night, dear neighbor."

Many a girl has wondered why the young man or that one seemed studiously to avoid her, although at their first few meetings each seemed pleased with her society.

She should not disparage her own powers of attraction. In each instance there is probably a very good reason why the young man is so situated that he could marry if he so willed. He considers the wisest and best policy is to keep away from the girls, especially those he is too deeply interested in. And in this he acts wisely.

There are men who call upon young women simply to while away the time. There are others who would not think the hopes which they saw no way of realizing. It is said that the man who truly loved will go through all obstacles, no matter how serious, to block his way.

If any nice girl would do to pick for a wife a man might stand by watching her nonchalantly while the girl who had intended as his real heart mate would pass him on life's ocean. But as this cannot be, he makes every effort to graze and win the prize that another should gain it.

The man who is a lackard in this respect evidences the fact that he is still watching.

He must look carefully over the garden of fair women to find the flower which blooms for him alone. It is a credit to a man that he leads no girl to believe he has serious intentions regarding her when his own heart does not beat with the dread of losing her when he sees her with some other man. When a girl finds that a man is not eager for an invitation to call she should let him have his way. There is no use in forcing an irksome duty upon him. No whip or goad is needed to send a lover along the love route. There are plenty of Bess Brummels about who flatter girls into the belief that they are in love with them.

These are the kind that kindle a woman's hopes only to see them crushed at last. It takes time and serious consideration for the girl to know the difference between the noble young man who will not let his purpose to destroy them and the man in pursuit of his own pleasure, regardless of injury to others.

WHY WOMEN LIKE RESTAURANTS.

There I only I sought thee. There only I found thee; Here I was the best Of the ways that surround thee; Where I sparkled o'er aught that I had; It was love; I felt it was glory."

If a young man were to give his best friend the choice of a long, hard, five-mile walk with him, a ride or a dinner at a fashionable restaurant, none but the world would choose the latter. Not but that walking is very pleasant and altogether delightful, but there is a charm about the restaurants which overtops them all.

To the girl who is not used to dining out there is a wonderful glamour about it. She can wear her prettiest gown and loveliest picture hat. The lights and the music charm her. And among all the lovely gowned women she knows that her companion will be none fairer than she. The luscious dances provided bring a happy exhilaration to her. It seems as if she were almost transplanted into a different world. Then the merry dancing between the courses of the dinner is enough to turn almost any girl's head whose heart and soul respond to the strains of the music and whose feet fairly must keep time to its alluring melody and wild delight. The very atmosphere breathes of romance. She is in a complacent mood to make love to.

There's coquetry and flattery in the perfumed air from the vases of the exotic flowers that are on every table. Even the girl with homely features is transformed into a beauty by the rose-tinted lights. What is the young man who whispers words of love and asks her hand in marriage on such an occasion.

Her answer is almost certain to be yes. Seldom, or never, no. The fellow who is taking delight out of a walk is at a disadvantage. What girl can give thought to love or romance when she can scarcely keep her hands, her fingers of her toes warm. The girl who chooses a sleigh ride is at an equal disadvantage. Of course, she feels it would not be right to bring him additional cares to contribute to. She looks the matter straight in the face, realizing she should not murmur against the Lord's decree that whatever is, is right. The day comes when such husbands realize the truth of this.

"LIVING UP ALL HE MAKES.

ACTED AS PENDULUM

SOLDIER'S LIFE SAVED BY HIS QUICK WIT AND NERVE.

Remarkable Story, Long Current in North of England, of How Sir John Macdonald Escaped After Disastrous Culloden Battle.

A story is told of an old clock which may very likely be true, though the hero of it must have been very slightly built, says the Young Woman.

After the fatal day of Culloden, a famous battle in Scotland, the soldiers of the defeated army fled in all directions, and one of them took refuge in a small farmhouse, where he found sympathizing friends. They gave him food in the kitchen, while some one watched in case he was pursued. He had finished his meal, and hoping he had escaped notice, was just preparing to set off again when there was a cry: "The soldiers are coming!" He attempted to make off by the back way, but it was seen that the party had divided, and were approaching from both directions.

There was a hurried look around for a place of refuge. "Into the clock with you, lad," said the farmer, and into the door came the fugitive squeezed. But there was not room for him and, for the pendulum to swing. "You must pull on this wheel yourself," said the owner, and the clock responded with a steady tick! tick!

"Has Sir John Macdonald passed this way?" demanded the captain, as the troop entered the kitchen, and, hardly waiting for a reply, began a thorough search upstairs and down. They were soon satisfied that he whom they sought was not there. "Well for you, farmer, he said," said the captain grimly. "Give us some food before we start off again. We shan't lose him in half an hour, as he's on foot and we ride."

How slowly the seconds seemed to pass while the men ate and drank, till at last the welcome sound of pushed back stools scraping on the flagged floor told the human pendulum that his task was nearly done.

"Good-by, farmer. Your clock warns me we must be off," and at last the captain marched off with his men. Tick! Tick! Tick! Hardly had the last man gone when the fugitive fell in a dead faint. The strain of keeping the clock going at an even pace had been terrible. He got safely away, but it is said that to his dying day the ticking of a clock in a quiet room made him feel faint.

Was a Fine Course.
Donald Brian, the musical comely star, gleefully chuckled the other night when the conversation in a theatrical club turned to golf. He said he was reminded of an incident that happened at a country club in New England.

"One day a member of the club was entertaining a friend, and after considerable persuasion induced him to take a turn at golf. The friend was just about as familiar with the game as a golden harp tuner is with a blacksmith tongs, and naturally the fuss he made was certainly some show.

In trying to make a brassie shot he tore up considerable turf, which struck him fairly in the face. This happened twice, and just at that moment another club member approached.

"Mr. Jones," he said, as the visitor paused to scrape his complexion, "what do you think of our course?" "It's fine," was the prompt response of the visitor. "As a matter of fact, I think it is the very best I have ever tasted," Philadelphia Telegraph.

Ingenious Defense.
At the Investors' league dinner for New York the speeches were made between the courses—a new invention as President George Whigell pointed out, for saving the time of banquets.

"Their defense," President Whigell later, apropos of a notorious firm of patent infringers, "their defense reminds me in its absurdity of Jackson's."

Jackson, a rough, sued a man for assault, and yet, when the man appeared in court, he was bitten all over the face and ears horribly.

"How about this?" the judge said to Jackson sternly. "Here you sue a man for assault, and he comes into court marked all over with your teeth?"

"Well, judge, your honor," said Jackson, "he pounded me so hard while he was assaultin' me that I had to have something to bite on, or else I couldn't have stood it."

Novel Street Lighting Plan.
In the little city of Leontonia, Ohio, the street lamps are controlled by a home-made time switch operated by an ordinary alarm clock. A circular piece of metal soldered to the alarm winding key wraps a heavy cord about it as the alarm-rings and is attached to a lever. This withdraws a sliding bar from beneath a weight, which in falling jerks a rope attached to a circuit breaker. Once a day the superintendent winds the clock and sets the alarm at the proper hour for switching the lamps into the circuit. By reversing the hooks and setting the alarm the lamps are extinguished at daybreak.—Electrical World.

Added Zest.

Marjorie—But, my dear, I happened to know the co-respondent.—Judge.

Japanese Titular Honors.
There are four degrees in the Japanese peerage—marquis, count, viscount and baron. Admission to the last degree at the present time costs about $500,000 and to the next another $250,000. Only the son of a baron or viscount can be raised to the higher degrees of the peerage. A commercial aristocracy has thus arisen in Japan. By many of the old feudal lords the new aristocracy is detested, but the commercial aristocracy in Japan have become economically the dominant class and with their development the old aristocracy are ultimately bound to disappear.

"Eat Less and Be Happy."
Mr. and Mrs. Thomas A. Edison eat about half the amount of food now that they did formerly, and both claim to be much the better for their reduction of diet. Mrs. Edison says she even gains in weight under the new system and says that she hates to think what her weight might be if she had continued with her old methods. The lowest estimate she made was 350 pounds.

When she first joined her husband in curtailing her diet she found great difficulty in subduing her appetite, but now that she has won the battle she says she feels better, sleeps better, can think more clearly and is twice as active.

Certainly her reward is greater than her sacrifice.

Called for Blood.
Sandy looks as if he had been fighting. "He has been fighting, a fellow said something in his presence about 'musicians and bladders,' and Sandy sailed into him."

Result, However, Is the Same.
Occasionally a man finds himself in debt not because he is dishonest, but because he is a bad hand at mental arithmetic.

Senatorial Saying.
"Let me go on the jinkets of a country," says Senator Wombat, "and I care not who makes the laws."

Really the Whole Thing.
All one woman cares in her criticism of another is that she looks well.—Manchester Union.

Unreasonable.
Irate Customer—"You said this cloth was a fast color, yet it faded in two weeks after it was made up." Draper—"Well, I don't think you ought to expect it to fade any faster than that."

There's a Middle Ground.

Tampico Now In Hands of Mexican Constitutionalists

May Make Work of the Peace Congress Difficult

Said To Be No Fear On the Part of American Forces in Vera Cruz

Washington, May 14. Evacuation of Tampico by the Mexican federal garrison began at 12:50 p. m. today, according to a reliable dispatch to the Navy Department from Rear Admiral Mayo. The federal troops were leaving by the railroad.

That the Rebels encountered desperate resistance in their final attack and that they were compelled to carry their fight to the heart of the town was indicated by Rear Admiral Mayo's report. He reported that at 1 o'clock today, when it was reported the Rebels had occupied Tampico, there was heavy rifle firing in the plaza and that big gun firing continued.

Advices received by Constitutionalists and the Federals were evacuating Tampico, but details were lacking. The Federals were retreating by way of the railroad leading to San Luis Potosi and it was assumed they hoped to reach Pachuca, the terminus of a railway line that leads indirectly to Mexico City. The railroad out of Tampico to Monterrey is held by the Constitutionalists.

Vera Cruz, Mexico, May 14. General Huerta need fear no trouble along his outer lines, a letter sent into the city last night by General Rubio Navarrete, in command of the advanced positions of the Mexican army, indicated the Mexican attitude.

General Navarrete addressed the letter to the editor of a local paper, Los Suesos, regarding the reported movement of his forces against Vera Cruz.

I beg of you deny this news, said General Navarrete, since in accordance with orders which we have received, all offensive moves have been stopped while the armistice lasts.

The Americans are informed regarding the position of the Mexicans in the vicinity of their outposts and know reasonably well their strength. So weak are they at present that the staff has felt no uneasiness. There exists, however, a vague apprehension of important developments at the capital. This is intangible to any specific information, but staff officers and many others are convinced that Huerta must face a severe struggle in a few days. It is impossible that the Rebels will be in a position to attack the capital for many days, but there is a growing feeling of unrest among the residents and a few army officers stationed at Mexico City are said to have been manifesting signs of unwillingness to continue supporting a man whom they regard as already defeated.

Stops that Huerta is strengthening the city against attack continue to arrive and some are of the belief that certain positions and crevices were entanglements. He has withdrawn to the capital more men of his army, taking troops, it is said, even from the districts between the capital and Vera Cruz.

Mexican outposts, while mostly of a detached character, are almost to the north of the American lines. It is reasonably certain that the bulk of Mexican troops, being striking distance, is less than 3,000 miles. In view of the undeniable fear of sharp developments at the capital, Consul Cananda has renewed his efforts to get out as many Americans as he can.

FOUR THOUSAND HEAD OF CATTLE PURCHASED TODAY

SANFORD MEN WILL STOCK THEIR NEW RANCH

WILL BRING INDUSTRY TO THE SANFORD SECTION

THE TOSAHATCHEE RANCH COMPRISHS TWENTY THOUSAND ACRES ALL UNDER FENCE

Florida is destined to be the cattle State.

This may sound strange to people who have not been keeping up with events in Florida, but to any one reading the paper or any one who is engaged in the cattle business in Florida will agree to our statement.

Large cattle ranches of the west have been in Florida for the past few years and have shipped them to the large ranches of the west to fatten them and then sell them again to the packing houses. The west is no longer the cattle country. The southeast is coming into its own as the place where cattle can graze the ranges summer and winter and if fed at all will bring the owner large returns.

Many large cattle deals have been recorded during the past winter. Kissimmee people have sold more cattle than any other part of Florida as Kissimmee has more prairie lands and pastures than any other part of Florida. But second to Kissimmee ranches is the new Tosahatchee ranch near Sanford, owned by Sanford men that now comprises some twenty thousand acres of fine pasture lands under fence and containing lakes and streams and many flowing wells furnishing abundant grass and plenty of land in cultivation for forage crops, corn and hay and that will in a few years be the show place among all the cattle ranches of the country.

Tosahatchee Ranch this week purchased four hundred head of stock cattle from the John Lee place at Kissimmee and they are now being shipped to the new feeding grounds. Thoroughbred bulls have been purchased for some time and the ranch will be equipped with dipping vats and everything necessary for the raising of the best of stock cattle for the south.

The Mexican war, the opening of the Panama Canal and the new trade with South American ports make Florida the natural markets for cattle and aside from this the western markets are now the largest buyers of Florida cattle.

The owners of Tosahatchee ranch are E. O. Chase, Joe Cameron, J. N. Whitner, Alfred Foster and several other prominent Floridians who recognize the possibilities of Florida cattle and they are putting their fine property in shape to raise only the best and get the best market prices. The cattle will not be allowed to wander over the state of Florida to scrap for a living as formerly but the finest of pasture and stock feed and water will be supplied and the cattle will receive the attention that they deserve.

Mr. Whitner has been busy for several weeks at the ranch getting everything in first class shape and will driving machines are now on the ground to place flowing wells at every point where there are no lakes or streams of water.

This is one of the largest deals of cattle made to home people in Florida and this great cattle ranch will add another industry to this part of the state that already holds the record for fruits and vegetables.

Spring Term of Court. The spring term of Circuit Court for Seminole county will convene here Tuesday, May 26th and promise to be a most interesting meeting.

Being the second term of court in the new county of Seminole it will be well attended and people from far and near will be in Sanford for several weeks, "court week" as witnesses, jurors or spectators. The murder case of the shooting of the negro detective at Oviedo by beatfeggers several months ago will probably be the only murder case. The civil docket will be a large one, several land cases coming up that will occupy the attention of the court for some time.
