Scouts Live A Story To Tell Their Children

By BOB ORRELL, Herald Correspondent

Five brightly colored puppets lived up to the ethereal gloomy landscape at Wekiva River Landing as Boy Scouts from Troop 31, Mattland, camped in the rain May 15 and 16. The intrepid youngsters launched their canoes at Wekiva Springs State Park, paddled 13 miles downstream to Wekiva Landing and set up camp in the rain.

Wet clothes and wet tents failed to dampen their enthusiasm—the camp management offered the use of a clothes dryer, and five minutes later all the youngsters were soaking wet again. Concerned parents contacted one of the scout leaders who drove to the camp to "rescue" the wet kids, but they refused to be "rescued" and continued their activities as though the sun was smiling on them. Some even tried the fishing and reported three bass caught. Late Saturday afternoon the scouts were standing around in the rain, eating pork and beans straight from the can, accompanied by gobs of potato chips and waiting to cook their supper.

Scoutmaster Robert Voke, Scott Belflower, Bob Anderson, Tom Gerbach, Norman Page and John Hillbrandt composed the group who failed to let adverse weather stifle their long awaited camping trip. An interested bystander remarked, "You boys are sure brave to be out in weather like this. To which one of the scouts replied, 'Not brave—just dumb!'" Supper over and camp chores completed the group adjourned to the camp recreation room, which contained a piano. The room was soon crowded with other campers as the strains of Chopin, Mozart, Beethoven and Bach filled the night air. Scout John Hillebrandt, "though only 14 years old, has been playing the piano for nine years and his music kept the entire campground entertained for hours.

Congress Has Good News For Overburdened Budgets

Income Tax Cuts May Be Extended Another Year

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress is taking steps to head off a tax increase scheduled for July 1 that would cost a typical four-member American family earning $15,000 an extra $180 annually.

The Senate Finance Committee voted unanimously Thursday in favor of extending current tax cuts. The House has approved a similar bill.

If the antirecession tax cuts enacted last year are allowed to expire as scheduled on July 1, it would mean a $145 tax increase for a family of four earning $6,000 a year; a $204 hike for a couple earning $10,000, and a $151 increase for a single person with adjusted gross income of $10,000.

The Senate bill also has good news for wealthy investors and some good news for housewives and working parents.

Some of the provisions that have been used by investors to shield their incomes from taxation would be tightened, but not as much as by a bill passed by the House last year.

Working parents would be allowed a tax credit of up to $800 a year for certain childcare and household expenses necessary for both parents — or the sole parent — to work.

And for the first time, a housewife could qualify for tax-exempt treatment of contributions to a pension fund. This would be available only to persons whose spouses are not covered by a company retirement plan but who contribute to an Individual Retirement Account (IRA).

At a cost to the U.S. treasury of $40 million a year, the spouse's maximum IRA contribution of $1,500 a year could be increased to $2,000 for a joint retirement fund to cover husband and wife.

Extension of the tax cuts will allow current withholding rates from paychecks to continue. Here are the tax cuts that would be extended:

- Increases in the standard deduction, used by taxpayers who do not itemize, would be made permanent at a cost of $4.1 billion a year. The minimum is $1,700 for single persons and $2,100 for joint returns; the maximum is $2,400 for singles and $2,800 for joint returns.
- A $35 credit — which is subtracted directly from taxes owed — is provided for a taxpayer and each dependent at a cost of $9.6 billion. This would be extended through June 30, 1978, to allow the new Congress and the next president to gauge the economy before determining whether it should be renewed again.
- As an alternative, a taxpayer could have a credit of 2 percent of the first $9,000 of taxable income, or a maximum credit of $180.
- A "work bonus" for poor, working families with children would become permanent. Under this provision, costing $4.1 billion a year, a family is given a tax credit of up to 10 percent of earned income up to $4,000. The benefit phases out at $8,000 income.
- Also made permanent are reduced corporate taxes to benefit small business. The rate is 20 percent on the first $25,000 of taxable income, 22 percent on the next $25,000 and 48 percent above $50,000.

'I Can Type' Claim Capitol Hill Buttons

WASHINGTON (AP) — A woman's political caucus says the Rep. Wayne Hays affair shows there is a feudal and discriminatory job situation in Congress, which always exempts itself from the civil rights and equal pay laws it imposes on others.

"This is still a very traditional, chauvinistic world where there are no rules" on employment of women, said Miriam Dorsey, coordinator of the 200-member Capitol Hill Women's Political Caucus.

Meanwhile, some women at the Capitol were wearing buttons assuring anyone who might have an interest: "I can type."

"Congress is not covered under any civil rights laws or equal pay laws, so something like this can exist because each member has his own little fiefdom and what one member does with his employees is no other member's business," Ms. Dorsey said Thursday.

She said the revelation that Hays had an affair with Elizabeth Ray, who contends she was placed on the government payroll to be Hays' mistress, "really damages the image of women on Capitol Hill." Miss Ray says she was unable to do office work and couldn't even type.

Ms. Dorsey said, "An incident like this just perpetuates the myth that women are not here just for work."

Ms. Dorsey, a legislative aide for Rep. Richardson Preyer, D-N.C., says she believes there is a "definite problem" of male bosses pressuring women employees for special favors at the Capitol.

"Mainly this is because the members are so enamored with their own power," she said.

"People in their offices wait on them hand and foot, going to get their laundry or whatever. They just get carried away by their power. There are many young women who come to the Hill looking for a glamorous experience who don't realize what they're getting into in some cases."

The group, a branch of the National Women's Political Caucus, has conducted various surveys of sex discrimination in Congress. A study it released a year ago said few women were in top-paid jobs in Senate offices and that those who held such jobs were not as well paid as men doing the same work.

Lake Monroe Drive Could Be Darkened

By ED PRICKETT, Herald Staff Writer

Anyone out for a nighttime drive or stroll along scenic Lake Monroe may find themselves in the dark unless county government agrees to pick up the electric bill for 52 street lights.

"I'd like to turn them off as far as the city is concerned. I don't see any reason to burn 52 lights in the county," Sanford City Commissioner A.A. McClanahan said this morning.

The problem, as McClanahan sees it, is that taxpayers living in Sanford are paying $1,092 yearly for 52 lights that are located in the county.

Twice McClanahan has asked the city commission to turn the lights off. So far, however, the city commissioner said he hasn't received a majority vote from the county. After his second attempt, Sanford City Manager Warren Knowles wrote a memorandum to county Executive Assistant Roger Neiswender, asking the county to pick up the bill.

"My recommendation is for the commission to take the item outside city limits could be used to provide lighting for a city park, or for other city functions. Unless Neiswender changes his mind, the cost of the lights will be plugged into this year's county budget. Of course county commissioners have the option of deleting those funds. McClanahan said he is waiting only for an answer in writing from Neiswender before taking the matter before the full city commission for a third time.

"The commission as a whole can do whatever it wants, but I'm for turning them (the lights) out," the commissioner said. "I just maintain that $2 lights that could be burning on land that was later annexed.

Burial Plots May Cause Lawsuit

By DONNA ESTES, Herald Staff Writer

LONGWOOD — A dispute involving the city and two couples over the ownership of cemetery lots in Longwood Memorial Gardens may wind up in the Seminole County circuit court.

William Leffler III, attorney for Mr. and Mrs. James McEvers of Magnolia Avenue, said today, "We've tried to negotiate this long enough. A decision has to be made about whether to go to court."

The problem came to light after McEvers complained to City Council Chairman J.R. Grant about the problem and Lormann assumed the action would be taken to honor his ownership of the lots. He added, however, that instead of the city wanted to trade other lots for the two he had purchased.

"I was given a deed and that proves the property is mine," McEvers said today. "I shouldn't have to accept other property. It's a matter of principle."

McEvers said he complained to Herrig's office under the state's consumer fraud laws. A spokesman for Herrig's office said, however, that investigation has shown that no fraudulent intent was involved and the matter is a civil one.

McEvers attorney said it appears that the problem is another of government becoming involved in too many businesses.

The original cemetery, founded by Grant, Rosedale and Longdale Avenue, which dates from the late 1800's, was acquired by the city in the late 1950's from a cemetery association headed by a group of citizens.

Since that time the city has included additional property. There are currently more than 1,000 lots in the cemetery and less than one-third of the lots are occupied.

"I wish I knew how to solve the problem," said Mrs. Shomate, one of whose organizations includes selling the cemetery lots.

"We have offered Mr. McEvers other lots, offered to give him his money back. I don't know what to do," she said.

In late March, another mixup occurred where the two different parties had ownership of a cemetery lot and a body was buried there.

At that time, Mrs. Shomate said, permission was gained to move the body to another site.

Drug Force Eyes Move To Seminole

By BOB LLOYD, Herald Staff Writer

Sources close to the controversial Central Florida task force of the federal Drug Enforcement Administration (DEA) said today that the unit is expected to move its headquarters from Orlando to Seminole County and that a DEA agent from New Jersey won't take over the local operation as previously announced.

Seminole County Sheriff John Polk and Sanford Police Chief Ben Butler declined to comment today on the possible replacement of Carlo Boccia who is slated to take over the local task force about July 1, but both officers reported they had a productive meeting Thursday in Washington with DEA head Peter Benninger.

Polk said he said Butler flew to Washington as representatives of nine local law enforcement agencies working in the task force not to scuttle Boccia's appointment, but to straighten out a communications breakdown.

Amid controversy over previous task force operations under DEA agent John Lepore, Boccia was announced Monday as the new task force director.

Then news media reports surfaced that Boccia was supervisor of a DEA stakeout in Kearney, N.J., two years ago in which a school teacher was shot in the head when agents mistook him for a fugitive wanted for four murders.

Boccia was cleared in probes by state and federal grand juries, officials said, but $2.3 million in lawsuits filed by Carmine Ricca Jr., 25, a vocational education teacher, are pending in court.

"Boccia was caught in the middle," Polk said today. "He wasn't told of the Central Florida task force controversy. And we weren't made aware by DEA of the New Jersey incident. We went to Washington to discuss the situation and how effective Boccia would be here since all the publicity."

"I'm very optimistic that DEA in Washington will make the proper decision within the next 10 days," Polk said, but he declined to say what he thinks "the proper decision" should be. Polk and other members of the advisory board for the local DEA task force are known to have recommended that interim task force director Don Harper, a DEA agent from Miami, be selected to take over the task force operation.

"There's no rift between the local law enforcement agencies over the task force," both Polk and Butler told reporters.

They said the problem is the previous leadership of the unit under Lepore.

Ironically, Lepore flew to Washington on the same airliner as Orange County Sheriff Melvin Colman, Orlando Police Chief James York and Orlando Public Safety Director Robert Cheeming. Their agencies pulled out of the task force in the controversy over Lepore, who now has been assigned by DEA to New Orleans.

Sources said Lepore had been summoned to the Washington DEA headquarters on undisclosed business.

Colman, Cheeming and York met with Benninger after Polk and Butler met with the DEA chief and then later both Central Florida delegations got together for what Polk and Butler called a "productive discussion."

Sources close to the DEA task force said today that authorization to move the task force headquarters from Orlando to Seminole County is pending an approval by the federal General Services Administration which handles leasing and rental of office space for the DEA operations.

NATION IN BRIEF

Rep. Hays Returns To Ohio Farmlands

BELMONT, Ohio (AP) — Rep. Wayne L. Hays, back home in the settling quiet of his Ohio farm, is preparing his defense against allegations that he put booby Elizabeth Hay on the congressional payroll as his mistress.

The Democratic chairman of the House Administration Committee said Thursday he stands by a statement issued earlier by his press secretary, Carol Clawson. In the statement, the 65-year-old Hays said he has no intention of resigning, and "will stand and face the facts that will vindicate him."

Hays and his bride of six weeks, Pat, arrived in the picturesque farmlands of eastern Ohio late in the day after a six-hour drive from Washington. Hays declined to talk to waiting reporters and went immediately into the big red truck house.

His 21-year-old daughter, Geta, and her husband, Paul Steiner, were waiting there.

Hays scheduled a campaign appearance today near Steubenville, the largest city in his eight-county congressional district and the home town of two of his opponents.

Nuclear Treaty Signed

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford and Soviet leader Leonid I. Brezhnev today signed a precedent-setting treaty that will open some Russian nuclear test sites to American inspectors for the first time.

The simultaneous ceremonies here and in Moscow followed 18 months of complex negotiations and may, according to U.S. officials, spur negotiations in Geneva to reach a long-delayed agreement limiting strategic nuclear weapons.

Terms of the five-year treaty permit American inspectors to visit sites when the Russians conduct certain underground blasts that have potential for changing the levels of rivers or excavating for minerals.

Years ago, American scientists abandoned the idea of experimenting with underground nuclear explosions for those purposes.

New Amendment Sought

WASHINGTON (AP) — As the United States celebrates its Bicentennial, an organization that ferrets out government waste is pushing for a second constitutional convention that would amend the Constitution to require balanced federal budgets.

The National Taxpayers Union says 12 states have approved the call for a new constitutional convention. The approval of 14 states is needed before such a convention can be created. It would be the first convention since the founders met in Philadelphia in 1787.

The seven-year-old NTU says that before it came along there was no one to look after the interests of the average American and the way was open for a "system of lots of special interests jugging at government to see who gets to divide up the boodle."

Cuban Connection Studied

WASHINGTON (AP) — Shortly before the assassination of President John F. Kennedy, U.S. officials secretly studied the possibility that Fidel Castro might retaliate against American leaders for their attacks on Cuba, according to informed sources.

Existence of the study was kept secret from the Warren Commission, which investigated the possibility of a Cuban connection in the Kennedy slaying, until recently, from the Senate Intelligence committee.

Court Asked To Intervene

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal court is being asked to stop the Ford administration from initiating new regulations that would eventually remove more than 1.6 million families from the food stamp program.

U.S. District Court Judge Howard F. Corcoran was to hear arguments today from groups seeking a temporary injunction to stop the new regulations from going into effect next Tuesday.

Dispatcher Charged With Desertion FBI Arrests Sheriff's Employee

By BOB LLOYD
Herald Staff Writer

FBI agents have arrested a Seminole County Sheriff's Department radio dispatcher on a charge that he is a U.S. Marine Corps deserter.

Ricky Darrell Sheaffer, 25, Sanford, was being held today for military authorities.

Sheaffer, who is now married, allegedly came home from the Marine Corps after being in the service for a short time in 1969 and didn't go back.

Sheaffer had worked for nearly two years as a sheriff's dispatcher and for five months before that as a Winter Springs policeman, Polk said.

Routine fingerprint checks and background investigations when he was hired failed to turn up the allegation that he is a deserter, Polk said.

An FBI spokesman said agents weren't notified until several months ago that Sheaffer was wanted on the desertion charge.

Polk said the statute of limitations on desertion is 15 years and apparently the Marine Corps didn't notify the FBI until a recent clearing up of old records.

Agents Make Arrest
In other arrests, Florida Department of Criminal Law Enforcement (FDCL) agents jailed the manager of a Fern Park nightclub Thursday afternoon on charges of buying, receiving and concealing stolen property and carrying a concealed firearm.

Bond was set at $10,000 for John Williams Scaasfero, 36, of Orlando. Seminole County Jail records indicate Scaasfero is the manager of the Circus A-Go-Go Lounge, U.S. 1742, Fern Park.

Sanford Man Jailed
Sanford police jailed Irvin Malcolm, 71, of 169 Vine St., Oviedo, on a charge of aggravated battery with use of a deadly weapon.

County jail records indicate bond for Malcolm was set at $10,000.

Action Reports

Police reported that the saxophone was last seen by its owner on Tuesday at the band room.

Auto Buried
John C. Wick Jr., of Orlando, reported to sheriff's deputies that four radial tires, wheels and an electronic calculator were stolen from his auto while it was parked on Magnolia Ave., Forest City, on Thursday. The stolen items were valued at $322, according to Deputy P.J. Higgins.

22-Foot Pipe Stolen
R.C. McDowell of the State Department of Transportation reported that a 22-foot-long pipe valued at $250 was stolen from 401 N. Orlando Ave., in south Seminole. Sheriff's Detective Sgt. W.L. Vinton said the 24-inch-diameter pipe was galvanized and tar coated.

The grand prize will be a 24-channel CB mobile transmitter complete with antenna.

Club officials said all CB radio fans are invited to attend the coffee break and trophies will be given for the largest attendance by a club and for the oldest person attending.

Grady Sees No Conflict In '76 Campaign Filing

BELLE GLADE (AP) — Dr. John Grady says he sees no conflict in declining to pay a $1,275 qualifying fee for his 1976 Senate campaign, but doubts if they'll find it today.

That apparently means the panel will not meet the goal set by its chairman, House Appropriations Chairman Edmund Fortune, D-Pace, to complete a compromise spending bill before the weekend.

Fortune said he is confident other issues would fall into place if the House uses its $1.3-billion extra for schools by about $18 million.

An additional $18 million for schools would nearly split the $39-million difference between the House and Senate on public school spending.

However, Rep. William Andrews, D-Gainesville, chairman of the education conference subcommittee, said "there ain't no way" he would agree to cut the education spending approved by the House.

He said it's possible to find an additional $18 million for education by adding up budget savings already approved by the panel, reducing spending for vocational education equipment and enacting some tax collection bills passed by the House.

Andrews said he has instructed the House Appropriations Committee staff to run a computer search for additional education funds, but doubts he'll get the information before Monday.

Meanwhile, conferees continued Thursday to make steady progress in resolving key differences between the $4.88-billion House bill and the $4.94-billion Senate spending bill.

A dispute over state employ pay raises was settled when conferees agreed on a 70-million plan. The compromise tops House pay spending by $5 million but falls $13 million below the Senate position.

House members gave in on cutting 72 more Department of Health and Rehabilitation Services positions than the Senate position.

Professional and occupational regulation: The Senate has rejected a House move to abolish the Department of Professional and Occupational Regulation and transfer 12 of its 41 positions to the Department of Business Regulation.

Community Affairs: A subcommittee has agreed to slash the Department of Community Affairs budget by $9 of 300 posts and $1 million, but the agency's supporters, including Gov. Reubin Askew, are fighting to restore the funds and jobs.

Committee Says $18 Million More Needed Search For Education Funds Continues

He said it's possible to find an additional $18 million for education by adding up budget savings already approved by the panel, reducing spending for vocational education equipment and enacting some tax collection bills passed by the House.

Andrews said he has instructed the House Appropriations Committee staff to run a computer search for additional education funds, but doubts he'll get the information before Monday.

Meanwhile, conferees continued Thursday to make steady progress in resolving key differences between the $4.88-billion House bill and the $4.94-billion Senate spending bill.

A dispute over state employ pay raises was settled when conferees agreed on a 70-million plan. The compromise tops House pay spending by $5 million but falls $13 million below the Senate position.

House members gave in on cutting 72 more Department of Health and Rehabilitation Services positions than the Senate position.

Professional and occupational regulation: The Senate has rejected a House move to abolish the Department of Professional and Occupational Regulation and transfer 12 of its 41 positions to the Department of Business Regulation.

Community Affairs: A subcommittee has agreed to slash the Department of Community Affairs budget by $9 of 300 posts and $1 million, but the agency's supporters, including Gov. Reubin Askew, are fighting to restore the funds and jobs.

WORLD IN BRIEF

Telephone Lines Used To Carry Radiation

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. ambassador in Moscow, Walter J. Dole, Jr., has been accused of radiation carried into his Embassy office over his telephone line, according to a State Department source.

The phone-wire radiation was discovered several weeks ago, the source said, by a team of Central Intelligence Agency technical specialists dispatched to Moscow to investigate microwaves apparently being beamed at the Embassy by the Soviets.

The CIA's tests showed radiation considerably higher than indicated by earlier tests by the State Department's bureau of security, the source said.

CIA personnel operate much of the Embassy's highly sophisticated communications equipment, housed in upper floors of the Embassy structure. These same floors which also contain the offices for Stoesel and other top U.S. diplomats — have been the main target of the searchlight-like microwave beams.

Murder Mics Peace Talks
BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — President-elect Elias Sarkis' efforts to launch peace talks between Lebanon's warring Christians and Moslems have been set back by the murder of leftist Moslem leader Kamal Jumblatt's sister.

A band of gunmen burst into the apartment of Linda al-Atrash on Thursday in an area of Beirut controlled by the fighting Christian Phalange party. A hail of bullets killed Mrs. alAtrash, 55, and wounded her two daughters, police reported.

The daughters, Noha, 7, and Samar, 18, were reported in critical condition. A report Thursday from Jumblatt's office said Noha was dead, but the hospital said she was alive.

Peacekeeping Force Extended
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The Security Council meets today to extend for another six months the life of the U.N. peacekeeping force separating Israel and Syria.

Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim received high praise Thursday night on his return from Damascus after obtaining Syria's unconditional consent to extension of the mandate for the 1,194-man U.N. Disengagement and Observer Force.

Area Death

Mrs. Elisabeth Britt
Mrs. Elisabeth Britt, 66, of Mobile, Ala., died Wednesday in West Florida Hospital in Pensacola. A member of a pioneer Seminole County family, she was born in Sanford, moving to Mobile over 30 years ago. She attended local schools and was a member of First Baptist Church.

Survivors include her husband W.N. Britt, Mobile, Mo.; two granddaughters, Mrs. Sanford F. Doudney, Sanford and Miss Adele Rines, Tampa; brother, Cecil Rines, Naples; one niece and one nephew.

Gravestone services were held today at Memorial Gardens, Mobile, with Rev. Robert A. Graves in charge of arrangements.

Education And TV Are Compatible

One of our least favorite organizations is the National Education Association, especially since it has gone militant in its willingness to impose a coercive national school system on Americans (itself a fascist proposal) and militant in its attitude against taxpayers. The NEA is founded on the wrong premise of coercion — on which to build genuine movement of education for a majority of Americans.

We were intrigued therefore by a statement NEA president John Rorke made in debate with Rep. Albert H. Quie, R-Minn., at a National Town Meeting. To the question, "Is today's education relevant?" Rorke had this betraying reply: "I don't believe we can talk about relevance in education without talking about the impact of television — one of the most pervasive educators in all contemporary life."

Stop right there. Rorke laments television intrusions, as well he might be expected; and he faults it for gobbling up students' precious time. Young people, he says, want to be entertained, and education is not entertainment. It happens to be a gross rationalization for the bureaucratization of teaching. Actually, "to entertain" means to consider an idea or to harbor it in one's mind. If a teacher is not inducing entertainment he or she has failed precisely as an educator. Learning comes about only, repeat only, following the volitional use of the mind.

In which case the entire tax-supported, compulsory school system operates on an incorrect foundation. Students learn things because they want to learn them — an act of volition — whether the information is furnished inside a classroom or out of it.

In recent history students do seem to be learning more outside the classroom, beyond the berms of the campus. That is what the late Paul Goodman meant when he referred to "incidental education"; it is what Governor Brown means when he speaks of the vast market for paperback books, movies and so on filling in for conventional pedagogy. And it can only be what John Rorke touched on when he mentioned television.

If that is the case, then learning is something the free marketplace should, and will, supply. Information as a growth industry has grown staggeringly in recent years, in no small part owing to the liberal of traditional, pedagogical modes. In the future arts lots of students are finding it more profitable to make a weekly trip to the paperback shelves than to spend a semester in Eng. Lit. or West. Civ. In technology more and more industries find it simpler to train people than to wait for the seasonal crop system and high schools.

If schools are failing there is every reason to be optimistic about the educational future. What the marketplace provides is a kaleidoscope array of both information and methods of teaching. To rely on the tax-supported system, on which the National Education Association is the chief parasite, is to freeze our conceptions of what schooling actually can become. It is moreover to pinch American taxpayers and widen the already agonizing social schisms that have developed over the schooling old dinosaur of a school system, John Rorke should be more cautious in identifying as "problems" technological developments which really prepare a breakthrough in the way we instruct the rising generations. Such a breakthrough, after all, would render the National Education Association infinitely more useless than it already is.

Voters

Want Less

Red Tape

WASHINGTON — The attention nationwide is centered on the presidential candidates. But the questions asked, the issues raised, the challenges generated sparks among the voters are matters which, in the main, must be answered by the next Congress.

They are matters over which a president, young or old, vigorous or moribund, charismatic or analytical has little say unless the majority of Congress is with him. He can veto repeatedly, does President Ford and as did Presidents Truman and Roosevelt before him. But he cannot get his programs through — except by means of the Senate and the House of Representatives.

There are signs in the primary votes in one state after another, that the voters want one kind of a president — perhaps a composite of several of the candidates. But the presidential characteristics voters seem to want are considerably different than those dominant in the present Senate and House majorities.

Over all, with some notable exceptions, there seems by comparison to be much less critical voter questioning in the congressional primaries. Does this mean that we shall again see in November a president of one philosophical persuasion and a Congress of another whether of the same party or not?

One presidential candidate and another in making much of reports that sizable numbers of the well-to-do do not pay federal taxes, or do not pay their full share. But it is Congress, not the president, who decides the tax laws. Congress has repeatedly ignored or watered down the recommendations of presidents on these tax matters.

Whether this country is becoming, or has already become number two in military strength has become a major campaign issue. But it is Congress which has regularly cut back the peacetime military budgets — not presidents. The energy program has bogged down — not because it hasn't been strongly pushed by two presidents, but because the Congress has been making up its collective mind.

Now for the bureaucracy. Every non-incumbent candidate from George Wallace to Jimmy Carter to Ronald Reagan has been making much of the inefficiency, the waste, the overlapping, the overstaffing of the federal government's myriad departments and offices and the costly overregulation of our lives and business. Changes here cannot come from the White House.

The past several presidents have bent their backs to the development of government simplification programs, the elimination of overblown bureaus, the eradication of overblown regulations and in plans for returning more federal revenue and more programs to state management.

For the above reasons, I, for one, much as I'm interested in who becomes president of the United States, am more interested in who is elected congressman from my district and years, and who is elected senator.

Thurmond has a strong whip hand over both the Army and Justice, it's worth noting, as a power on the Senate committees that oversee the two departments.

The events that led to the document tampering began as an exercise in Pentagon politics. A brilliant young lieutenant colonel, Wilfred Ebel, became a leading contender to head the 100,000 strong Reserve Officers Association.

Stern old Strom, a past president of the association, looked upon it as his private preserve. He fully intended to install his own protégé, a lackluster World War II irony, Maj. Gen. Milnor Roberts, as the new president.

But the 46-year-old Ebel had an awesome record, complete with medals and citations for "tremendous service" and "personal integrity." His name was also one of the 403 on a promotion list that had been drawn up by the Army's most respected officers. It had been approved by the Pentagon and, on Jan. 14, 1975, had been signed by President Ford. A Pentagon memo dated that Ford had "forwarded (it) to the Senate on 15 January 1975."

But a funny thing happened to Ebel's name on the way from the President's desk to Capitol Hill.

First, Ebel's rivals in the reserves, Thurmond and Roberts, got together for a little chat. Although the President already had signed Ebel's promotion and had readied it for the Senate, the Army's irrefragable political boss, then-Secretary Howard "Bo" Callaway, suddenly tried to recall Ebel's nomination.

It appeared that Callaway was too late, that the nomination was out of his hands. Nevertheless, he had his special assistant, Col. Peter Kempf, write to the White House asking that Ebel's name be stricken.

Nowhere in this memo, which was obtained from White House sources, does Callaway's office warn the President that the venerable Strom was behind the eleventh-hour move.

Instead, Callaway simply sent Ford a new promotion list. Incredibly, Ebel's name had been cut out with a razor-blade artery aridary around the way from the President's desk to Capitol Hill.

First, Ebel's rivals in the reserves, Thurmond and Roberts, got together for a little chat. Although the President already had signed Ebel's promotion and had readied it for the Senate, the Army's irrefragable political boss, then-Secretary Howard "Bo" Callaway, suddenly tried to recall Ebel's nomination.

For instance, the documents sent to the Senate are highly unorthodox. The final page of the new list is fine bond paper, with Gerald county government and the result could be remarkable. Also, most women are more concerned about holidays, birthdays, etc. than men. In other words, as a general rule, women care more than most men and are capable of showing that caring.

Imagine, if you will, what present county commissioners might say if asked their reaction to the eyeopening fact that a female is joining their ranks.

Commissioner Richard Williams: "I, eh, welcome a woman on the board. Does she love nuzzling? If so, she might vote for my $100,000 lake cleanup program I've been trying to sneak by the commission for months."

Commissioner Harry Kwiatkowski: "You gotta be kidding. Is she a Democrat or a Republican? Is she good looking? She is. Oh Boy."

Commissioner Chairman Mike Hattaway: "Does she like bluegrass music? She does. WOWEEEE. Seriously, though, I welcome a woman. Does she know anything about clay pits?"

Commissioner John Kimbrough: "I don't care if she's a woman or not, as long as she'll vote with me to get rid of County Attorney Tom Freeman."

Commissioner Sid Vihlen Jr.: "Well, I'll be. Wonder how she'll vote on the impact fee situation. I'll get my secretary to give her a call — right away."

Oh yeah, I can just see the new lady commissioner now. Slitting back in that cushy commissioner seat. Offering office secretaries to bring her morning coffee. Flirting with all the talented and good-looking newsmen in the audience. She would be the center of attention all right.

It wouldn't be fair, really, not to hypothetically ask the county attorney for a legal opinion. After all he is in charge.

"What about Tom, old writer, old lawyer, old politician, old everything and all at one time?"

"I'm sorry, but I'll need that in writing. I only answer written questions."

TOM TIEDE

Big Ed's Plan May End Voting

NEW YORK — I am standing in front of the Commodore, watching the beautiful girls who are accompanied by their fathers, when I am slapped on the back by Big Ed. Big Ed is not exactly a friend, since he is a Republican and I am in the racket's bear, but I am smiling because my back has been broken. Big Ed is 6 feet 4, which does not include the puffing of his head hidden by hair, and I forget my suffering in order to be happy to see him again.

On behalf of my mother and ask where I have been keeping myself. I am worried I may owe him money for which I have forgotten, but I say I've been living in Washington. He puts his hand on my shoulder, and I am concerned what comes next when he says I am just the man he wants to see. Me? See I Yuh! see he. It comes to pass the bum has disturbed to read the papers and he says there is a disturbance in the Bronx over what is happening to Gerald R. Ford.

"You know Jerry?" he asks.

Well, I reply, turning away from his cigar, "a little." Which is not a lie because last year I got a Christmas card from him and his wife, Mrs. Ford. Big Ed is now frowning — which means I am too — as he talks about Gerald R. Ford in terms with which I am not accustomed. He is using such words as "reains" and "knowhow," and I am wondering if he has changed subjects. Brains? Ha, ha, ha, I am arguing under my breath, for I know the Chief of Executives as a loser. I have it in my mind to get authority that ever the case on his teeth have cavities.

But I am not about to argue with Big Ed while he wears a size 46 long which is too tight. I am agreeing with him for the President. I got so far as to raise the name of Ronald Reagan in vain. I had a football player and Reagan was president, the best policy in politics, and once he learns how to be a politician he'll get it made. I am smiling again, but only I notice Big Ed is still on the back.

It turns out Big Ed is in no mood for levity. And he puts the wind on me regarding a plan he has worked out for the benefit of Gerald R. Ford and the future of America. His head is going up and down like the elevator at the YMCA. "The primaries ain't solvin' nothin'," he says, while scratches under his arm with a racing form.

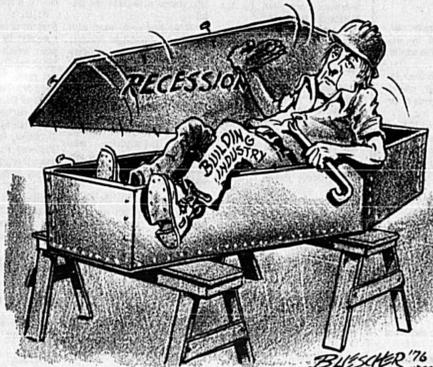

"What we gotta do is get these guys in the ring, fight to the finish."

I am amused at this suggestion, but only somewhat since Big Ed is looking at me slowly, and he has stopped chewing his cigar. He says he is serious and has got it all mapped out. Madison Square Garden, 50 a seat, winter takes all. He says the joint would be packed, and the television ratings would be high. He says he has a plan, and he says he has a plan, and he says he has a plan.

She's Concerned

This is in regard to your "Around the Clock" column on Monday, May 3, 1976. I would like to remind the voters of Seminole County that the election of school board members and the superintendent of schools will be on a non-partisan basis this year. The results of a straw ballot in 1974 showed that there was overwhelming support in this county for such elections and our legislative delegation responded by sponsoring a local bill in the 1975 legislative session.

Completely, it may take a few elections to realistically remove party labels from candidates and incumbents, but I think it is important that a conscious effort be made on the part of the public, the press, and the candidates to make

These elections as nonpartisan as possible.

I would also like to urge interested citizens who may or may not be active in their school boards to consider running for political board seats. The best qualification you can offer is a sincere concern for the quality of education in Seminole County.

Sincerely yours,
Marilyn J. Crotty

Neglected Wife Has Liaisons

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am not trying to justify my getting involved with another man, but maybe if you know what my husband was like, you wouldn't blame me.

I have been married less than five years, and my husband stopped paying attention to me about two years ago. His whole life is sports and running with his unmarried pals. We have used to be sentenced to clean the cages of the Duluth zoo. Last winter they started something new: instead of cleaning cages, shopholders were sentenced to 40 hours of shoveling snow outside the residences of elderly citizens.

Now the city gets free labor by putting the law violators to work doing something useful.

DIZZY DZZY IN

DEAR ABBY: I work in a two-story office with a woman who is very pleasant, but she talks too much. Every morning she regales me with stories about what her daughter's boyfriend said or the details concerning her husband's stop-smoking clinic. She talks endlessly about her relatives and neighbors. I've never met, and it's all very boring.

I've tried to act interested, but I am bored still and resent being kept from my work. I work with figures, and it's not fun.

DEAR ABBY: Three cheers for the city of Duluth, Minn. Persons calling shophopping

Entries are now being accepted for Winter Park Mall's 11th Annual Photography Print Show, July 16 & 17.

The show, contact Winter Park Mall Merchants Association, in collaboration with the popular evening daily France-Soir, will feature the countryside, talking of love to compatriots in every walk of life.

Surprise, surprise. It was clear from the replies to the interviewers' questions that, for a great majority, marriage and love were at once a refuge and a remedy.

DIZZY DZZY IN

DEAR ABBY: I work in a two-story office with a woman who is very pleasant, but she talks too much. Every morning she regales me with stories about what her daughter's boyfriend said or the details concerning her husband's stop-smoking clinic. She talks endlessly about her relatives and neighbors. I've never met, and it's all very boring.

I've tried to act interested, but I am bored still and resent being kept from my work. I work with figures, and it's not fun.

DEAR ABBY: Three cheers for the city of Duluth, Minn. Persons calling shophopping

Entries are now being accepted for Winter Park Mall's 11th Annual Photography Print Show, July 16 & 17.

The show, contact Winter Park Mall Merchants Association, in collaboration with the popular evening daily France-Soir, will feature the countryside, talking of love to compatriots in every walk of life.

Surprise, surprise. It was clear from the replies to the interviewers' questions that, for a great majority, marriage and love were at once a refuge and a remedy.

DEAR ABBY: I am not trying to justify my getting involved with another man, but maybe if you know what my husband was like, you wouldn't blame me.

I have been married less than five years, and my husband stopped paying attention to me about two years ago. His whole life is sports and running with his unmarried pals. We have used to be sentenced to clean the cages of the Duluth zoo. Last winter they started something new: instead of cleaning cages, shopholders were sentenced to 40 hours of shoveling snow outside the residences of elderly citizens.

Now the city gets free labor by putting the law violators to work doing something useful.

Basis Of Nationhood Man's God Given Rights

By GEORGE W. CORNELL AP Religion Writer. Attachment: God's truth and justice set the taproots of these United States. It generated the ideas, seasoned the deliberations, interwove the speeches, letters, papers. It nurtured the character and spanned the deeds. It inspired that singular, revolutionary manifesto, the Declaration of Independence.

Oral Roberts Angry Words Regretted

Question: Sometimes I lose my temper and say and do things I hate in myself. I know exactly what you mean. I don't think there's a person alive who hasn't thought, "I wish I hadn't said that" or "I'd give anything not to have acted that way." The reason I know is because I'm the kind of person who wants things done yesterday.

Raley Unveils 'New' Brantley

FOREST CITY.—Talking with new head football coach for Lake Brantley High School, Jim Raley, one gets the eerie feeling that he is listening to a reincarnated Bear Bryant.
"We're young, small, do not work a lot of experience, but as far as desire and work, I've never had a group to work any harder. We're young and learning and definitely willing to work. We'll be fundamental and we won't do anything fancy," Raley said.
Raley had applied for the head coaching job with the Patriots last year, but it didn't materialize. Lake Brantley finished the season 7-4 and Ocala Forest, where Raley was an assistant coach, repeated as state champions in Class AAA, the only team to do so in the eight years the playoff system has been in effect in Florida.
"We're trying to build Lake Brantley, not Ocala Forest," Raley said strongly. "We have our own identity to build. Why, some day some of these people on the state level may even know where the school is located."
Raley is a strong believer in the young people of today. "Kids still want the same thing they did years ago—they want to mean something and accomplish goals. Maybe some of the parents have changed. But here we're going to build. A good athlete has to be citizen number one. Off the field they have got to be winners. We'll give guidance and direction and we'll build self discipline. We stress a strong discipline program. We want them to achieve the things they are capable of achieving," Raley said.
Raley is a no frills fundamental football coach who is opposed to teaching deception as a basis for team strength. Offensively he will go with the I formation. "You can utilize the personnel better," he contended. "We don't base our offense on tricks. Offense is very simple. In high school you have to keep it simple." He will run the plays in a series, keep the element of surprise and throw the ball when the situation arises. "We'll throw the ball," he said. "We're adequate passing. We're not blessed with the speedy receivers but we'll throw the ball."
On defense Raley will go basically with an odd man front with some movement. "We haven't really stunk, it's just that we're so little we can't sit still. Our guys are a little timid on defense right now."
Raley is totally non-specific, but one gets the feeling that one is talking with a man of destiny and purpose. His quiet decisiveness is uplifting, as witnessed by the more than 100 players who finished the spring, 65 for the varsity and 40 for the junior varsity and another 20 who want to come out in the fall.

Keen Opens Hawk Offense

OVIEDO.—On his first year as head football coach of the Lake Howell High School Silver Hawks, Curtis Keen promises a gambling offense to try and break loose some of his tiny, speedy backs.
Although Class AAA, Lake Howell will be the only school in Seminole County that can match the tremendous team speed of Sanford Seminole. The problem is that the backfield is very small and the line is just as small, only slower. "We're small, we're small as can be," Keen muttered over and over again. There is not a 200-pounder on the team.
Lake Howell will have some backs that can score on any play once they can get past the line of scrimmage. The biggest player is also an outstanding athlete, fast, and is a fine college prospect already being sought after by many colleges. Jim Pritchard is just off an outstanding season, winding up as the first team all-state punter last fall. At 6-2 and 190 pounds, Pritchard handles himself well, and quarterback, has good moves and 4.9 second speed in the 40-yard dash.
Up front, Keen's guards weigh in at the 150-pound level while his tackles go only 170. His light ends are also 150. Keen must compensate for size through formation, surprise and momentum and he is gearing his team to be a big break offense. He feels he can hold

Alpha-Omega Story For Metro Softball

SEASIDE COAST LINE already has the first-half crown secured with a 16-2 record, three games ahead of Eldridge Standard in the league rankings. But Lake Monroe is a mere half-notch behind the Fuelmen and could tie for second by dunking Gregory in the opening game, first-half final.
Starting with its 9-4 triumph over the Outcasts April 21, Lake Monroe went on a spree that saw it sweep eight of nine games, second only to the skein of eight straight victories with which Seaboard opened the season.
Coming into last Wednesday's clash with Eldridge, the only club in Lake Monroe's blazing streak had been a 12-7 loss to the Fuelmen May 5. But Eldridge had been surprised, 11-9, by second division Patrick's and had dropped its third decision of the season and Lake Monroe in the meantime, allowing the Inkeepers to climb into second place by a half-game.
It marked the first time this season that Eldridge had fallen lower than the No. 2 slot and the Fuelmen quickly corrected things by dumping Lake Monroe again, 12-4. This set up the current situation with which Seaboard opened the season.
White's steal had been preceded by a theft and an easy throw by Charlie Scott, and those two plays unglued the young, inexperienced Suns, who have not beaten the Celtics in 12 games on Boston's home court.

No. 1 Away, Church Mice Will Play

IT'S going to be a case of the mice trying to play while the league leader is away Saturday in the Sanford slow-pitch softball Church League.
Pinecrest Baptist is the current front-runner, holding a half-game edge with a 9-4 slate. But snapping at the pacesetter's heels are First Baptist and First Methodist to catch up. A 18-9 triumph over First Assembly last Tuesday was all that allowed Pinecrest to nose back in front of the group clumped atop the circuit standings.
Victories by the challengers Saturday would thrust the triumvirate back into a deadlock based on records, but First Baptist would extend its percentage-point margin to 12-30 with an 8-3 ledger compared to 9-4 for Methodist and Pinecrest.
At the opposite end of the spectrum is Sanford Christian, trailing in the other eight entries by a game and a half and dangling six notches below the leaders. But things have turned around for Christian, who launched its schedule with nine straight failures — some of them coming after victories were all but in the bag.
The cellar-dwellers kicked off their winning streak by beating First Assembly, 18-4, two weeks ago then followed up with a 12-0 conquest of Holy Cross last Saturday.
Assembly and Holy Cross are currently tied for eighth spot on the league chart and one of them must come out of their Saturday meeting with a 4-9 mark. A victory by Sanford Christian would enable it to climb to 3-9 — one game back — the first time the Christians have sighted daylight since about their third game of the season.

Celtics Dim Sun, 105-90

BOSTON (AP) — Boston's pro basketball fans are used to watching the Celtics destroy rivals before registering a 198-90 victory and assuming a 2-0 lead in the nationally televised best-of-seven series.
"The crowd really got psyched," Phoenix' rookie center Alan Adams said afterwards.
"What really set the crowd raring was a deliberate foul called against former Celtics' backcourt man Paul Westphal with Boston leading 51-41 early in the third quarter.
Westphal was called for the rare infraction when he grabbed Boston's Jo Jo White from behind as the Celtics' guard headed for what appeared to be an easy layup after he had stolen the ball from his ex-teamsmate.
"When they sent their beloved Paul (until then still a favorite of the Boston fans even one year after his trade to Phoenix) doing something they didn't like... it got the crowd rocking," too," said Adams.

The trick here is to keep your eye on the ball, not the kangaroos. Unusual spectators are commonplace in Grafton, Australia, where some 30 kangaroos live on the golf course. For the years, they have become accustomed to golfers, and vice versa.

Laura Eyes First Win

BALTIMORE (AP) — "I'm tired of saying, 'I'll win and then not doing it.' It's time I got that first one," Laura Baugh said after taking the first-round lead in the Ladies Professional Golf Association Championship.
The attractive 20-year-old Delray Beach resident, who joined the tour at 18 with much fanfare but has since managed only runner-up finishes, conceded she was feeling the pressure of seeking her first tour victory.
In taking a one-stroke lead Thursday over Hollis Stacy with a five-under-par 68, however, Miss Baugh showed no signs of uneasiness. She opened Roger Muesel's, the 1973 national champion, who has been here 15 times now, led the race twice but never come away better than third.
McCluskey is driving the fellow who laid out the specifications for Dan Gurney's fabulously successful Eagle a few years ago, and this new machine ap-

Favorite's Nod To A.J. In 500

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—A.J. Foyt, the seemingly ageless speedster who has been looking for nearly a decade for a record fourth victory here, gets the nod as a slight favorite over a quartet of former winners for victory in Sunday's 60th annual Indianapolis 500.
The fifth annual Associated Press poll of drivers, mechanics, officials and newsmen resulted in his qualifying, with odds on pole position starter Johnny Rutherford, Gordon Johncock, Al Unser and Mario Andretti.
Defending champion Bobby Unser, with a new team this year, was listed at no better than 11-1.
The 29-year-old Foyt, who has had more than his share of troubles this month, reportedly has solved the problems that have troubled him in the past, a relatively poor fifth in the 33-car lineup.
If there is a dark horse in the field, it figures to be veteran Roger McCluskey, the 1973 national champion, who has been here 15 times now, led the race twice but never come away better than third.
McCluskey is driving the fellow who laid out the specifications for Dan Gurney's fabulously successful Eagle a few years ago, and this new machine ap-

Janet Qualifies For World 600

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — "I think she realizes now that I'm not bulling her," engine-builder Ralph Moody said Thursday after Janet Guthrie became the first woman to qualify for a major stock car race.
Miss Guthrie, foiled in her recent attempts to make the Indianapolis 500 field, averaged 125 m.p.h. in the car's handling as she gets experience." Miss Guthrie, a 38-year-old physicist from New York City, helped bump the likes of veterans Buck Baker, Bobby Isaac and David Sisco from the field. Her two-lap qualifying sprint around the 1.5-mile super speedway was the 17th quickest of the day as 15 drivers made the 40-car field and 18 others were left to vie for 10 spots Friday.
"She has proven she can drive a Grand National car and that will help her confidence," said Moody, who built Miss Guthrie's engine. He was half of the former Holman-Moody team whose cars dominated the sport for so many years. "She will get faster and be able to tell the difference between the car's handling as she gets experience." ## Golf's Hotshots Lose To Course

DUBLIN, Ohio (AP) — Muirfield Village came to grips with pro golf's hotshots for the first time Thursday. With few exceptions, it was no contest. The course won.
Jack Nicklaus' 57 million project even turned on its creation, depriving it of a share of the lead with Don Bies with a bogey-double bogey finish.
Shortly after his 68, four under par over the 1,072 yards that once served as Nicklaus' Hale Irwin and Roger Maltbie. Caught in the course's treacherous, lake-filled vices were some of the game's biggest names: Bruce Crampton had 77, So did Tom Weiskopf. Lee Trevino needed a 15-foot par putt on 18 to crack 80.
"I hit every fairway, had no three-putt greens, but the balls brought today were thirsty. I hit four of them in the water," cracked Trevino.
The scores were so high — 16 at 80 or higher — in the warm, sunny weather that a 157 was the projected cut figure today. That would be a whopping 10 strokes higher than the year's highest high, 147 at the Heritage.
Bies, 38, said his was a shaky lead, considering the new course's toughness. "Look at Jack today. That can happen if you get three or four under. You don't feel very secure. You have to work all the way."
"I hit every fairway and missed just two greens." The score was great, but it was not a fantastic round," said Nicklaus.
Nicklaus' erratic performance was spiced with one double bogey, five bogeys, six birdies and an eagle. In one eight-hole stretch, he had no pars.
"All the mistakes were made by me, not something else," said Nicklaus. "It was a lack of concentration. I rarely play a round like that."
The final rounds Saturday and Sunday will be televised nationally (CBS-TV).

Bassett Captures Tournament, Car

DENVILLE, N.J. (AP) — Richie Bassett of Miami, won the $25,000 Dodge Open at the Rockaway River Country Club here with 73-hole total...

Bassett walked away from the tournament Thursday with the short but tough 6,355-yard Rockaway course.

Carlton White of the Washington Valley club finished in a fourth place tie with Jack Kiefer of the Emerson golf club.

He received a late challenge from Jimmy Gleason of the Shackamoon golf club, who shot a 72 and a final 58. But Gleason fell two shots short and finished with a four-round total of 284.

Art Silverstone of the Pike Brook club and veteran Don Massengale of Onowoc, Tex., tied for third at 285. Silverstone won a sudden death playoff on the third hole.

Bassett, a PGA tour player until four years ago, also won twice in 1974 when he finished third in the Dodge and the next year when he won the pro-am event.

It was up to the 35-year-old former New Jersey assistant pro at Shackamoon to hold the lead, as Gleason sat in the

Jenkins Has Pain, But Brewers Feel It

By The Associated Press Ferguson Jenkins is suffering from a back back, but he's been no pain in the neck to American League hitters.

Despite pitching with a "sharp, nagging pain like a toothache," the Boston Red Sox pitcher won his third straight game Thursday, a four-hit, 2-1 beauty over the Milwaukee Brewers.

"On a couple of plays I thought my back would fall off," said the right-hander.

Jenkins has been pitching with violent muscle spasms in his back for a couple of years and in 1974 and 1975 before he made his way to the Red Sox.

While Jenkins provided the spark for the Red Sox, Doug Griffin provided the legs and Cecil Cooper the bat. Griffin scored the winning run on Cooper's seventh-inning sacrifice fly.

"I'm saying to myself, 'don't try and pull him. Just try to get the other way,'" said Red Sox pitcher Griffin.

Broberg and continued to third when first baseman George Scott was unable to retrieve the ball near the grandstand railing.

After an intentional walk to Rick Miller, Cooper followed with his pinch-hit sacrifice fly to center. Jenkins, 45, struck out eight and allowed only three runners to reach scoring position after serving up Darrell Porter's first home run of the year in the first inning.

"A 5-2, Twins 3. Pitcher-turned Larry Lintz stole second and then scored the tie-breaking run on an error in the seventh inning, as Oakland defeated Minnesota. With the score tied 3-3 going into the seventh, Lintz continued home and Broberg gave up a leadoff single to Larry Haney. Lintz ran for Haney and stole second.

Bill North bunted third to center, and when third baseman Steve Braun made a wild throw from North moved to second. Bert Campaneris sacrificed North to third and Don Baylor got the insurance run home with a sacrifice fly.

by, admitted McGraw, working in comes the fastball. CRUNCH goes the fastball. Three runs score and Garrett winds up on third with a triple. Mets win 5-2.

"My eyes really lit up when I saw that fastball," said Garrett.

"Sometimes they pop 'em up, sometimes they hit a line drive, sometimes they miss it," said McGraw. "It's a round ball and a fastball...and anything can happen."

longest since 1967. Tanana struck out nine to take over the major league strikeout lead from teammate Nolan Ryan with 82.

Rangers 5-4, Royals 4-4. Jim Sundberg singled with the bases loaded to score Bob Howell in the bottom of the fifth inning and give Texas a victory over Kansas City in the completion of a suspended game.

The game was suspended after the score tied 4-4 early Thursday morning when Kansas City had beaten Texas 14-2 in the first game of a doubleheader.

There were only two other games played Thursday in the National League. Chicago beat St. Louis 3-1 and San Diego topped San Francisco 3-1.

The Phils built their 2-1 lead against Jerry Koosman on the strength of Bob Boone's RBI single in the fourth and Ollie Brown's homer in the sixth.

Dave Kingman's 17th home run of the season, tops in the majors, accounted for the New York offense until the ninth.

Stroke Causes Behavior Change

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D. DEAR DR. LAMB — My dad had a stroke five years ago when he was in his latter 40s, and he spent almost three months in the hospital.

He had lost control of all his limbs, but since he regained all of his physical capacity, he can walk, talk, eat, and in fact, I think he is physically stronger now than before.

His problem is mental. He has a very unbecoming, unfair attitude toward members of his family. He hasn't been able to hold a job since his stroke because he has lost all his self-respect and his perpetual irritation and it was thought unsafe for him to return to his old job.

He is easily irritated and complains about things that are false statements and is unbelievably rude at times.

He has seen a few doctors for his personality changes and certain areas of depression, and certain areas of depression, and certain areas of depression, and certain areas of depression.

HOROSCOPE

By BERNICE BEDE OSOL

For Saturday, May 29, 1974

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Normally you are sharp and perceptive. Today, your thinking tends to be a little fuzzy. Perhaps you're too much of a dreamer.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Guard your possessions carefully today. Don't leave anything lying around that someone unscrupulous might take a fancy to.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Avoid people who do things in a devious or underhanded way today. Though your motives are honorable, you'll be identified with their devious characters.

CANCER (June 21-July 21) Rely solely on your logic and reason today. Your intuitions, which are usually reliable, may play cute tricks on you today.

LEO (July 22-Aug. 22) Meet people around you today who are straight away and honest. Avoid those who are pretentious or crafty, or you'll have to put them down.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Don't debate subjects you're unsure of with friends. It would be wiser to say nothing than to defend doubtful premises.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) You can see things today that another can't and can help her sort out her affairs. However, don't let her believe she can get more than she's entitled to. SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Be wary of doing business with those with whom you are not familiar. If you get careless, someone will grab you, but it won't be you.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Your indecisiveness could be irritating today. You will say one thing, but mean something else. Your friends will recognize this.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) If you have little aches and pains, don't bother others with them today. Recounting them will only bore your listeners.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) A member of the opposite sex could be particularly flattering to you today. It may inflate your ego a bit, but don't take it too seriously.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) You're not a good doctor today. This could be a disadvantage. Don't demand what you're not something finalized.

YOUR BIRTHDAY May 29, 1974 Projects that you have sole control over this coming year could be successful. However, if you seek help from the wrong person, it could all go down the drain.
