

City Police Plead Guilty To Burglaries

intent to commit petty larceny at the store building. He faces a maximum sentence of five years in prison on the plea.

Magner, now working at a tire store, told Judge Johnson that the other three officers were inside the building when he arrived and, that he only took a soldering gun.

Assistant State Atty. Charles Gordon dropped a grand larceny charge against Magner. He told the court, Sessions, 22, of 428 Scott Ave., an auxiliary policeman and city building inspector when the break-ins occurred, pleaded guilty to buying, receiving and concealing stolen property as a misdemeanor (punishable by a maximum of one year in county jail).

Assistant State Atty. Claude Van Hook said the charge against Sessions was added yesterday. Van Hook dropped charges of breaking and entering with intent to commit a felony and grand larceny against Sessions.

Sessions' attorney, Newman Brock, told the court that his client will pay the District School Board $99 in restitution for meat stolen in a break-in at the Seminole High School cafeteria Dec. 1, as part of the negotiated plea.

Sessions, now working for a local construction firm, told the court he was "sitting" with Bennett when the school was entered. "We got a call while we were inside," he said, "and left but we later returned and the meat was taken."

Sanford police, in addition to auto radio units, are also equipped with personal belt-type radios that operate on another radio frequency. Larry Payton, 36, of 1809 Madeira, had been charged with breaking and entering with intent to commit a felony and grand larceny in connection with the school food theft. He pleaded guilty to the lesser charge of attempted grand larceny and the state dropped the other charge. Payton faces a maximum jail sentence of one year on the misdemeanor plea.

The former patrolman, now working for a real estate firm, said the cafeteria door was unlocked when he entered and the group removed hamburger meat and food items valued at about $400 to $700.

State Attorney Abbott Herring's office said it will stand mute on sentences for any of the six pleading guilty yesterday but Assistant State Attorneys Van Hook and Bill Heffernan said conditions of the plea negotiations included agreements that the defendants will testify for the state against any suspects that go to trial in the burglary ring case.

Herring's office said the six who pleaded guilty won't be prosecuted in any other burglary cases that occurred before their arrests.

Gerald Rubberg, lawyer for Hamilton and Magner, told the court he feels culpability of the defendants should "exempt them from prison" and that they should get probation according to the degrees of culpability established by the court.

Campbell's attorney, Terry Ackert, said, "They shouldn't be thrown to the wolves because they've been police officers."

Auxiliary policeman Robert A. Shaw, 29, of 3409 Decottee Ave., and Michael Panko, 26, of Colonia, N.J., are still slated for trial in the police burglary ring case.

Defense attorneys and prosecutors took sworn statements from the six men who pleaded guilty yesterday immediately after their appearances in court.

Heffernan later told Judge Johnson that the statements make it obvious that the state has several other pending and pending grand larceny cases (as charged) against Shaw."

FP&L Customers Slated For Adjustment Decrease

MIAMI (AP) — Customers of the Florida Power & Light Co. can expect a 2.46 reduction in the March fuel adjustment surcharge for every 1,000 kilowatts of power, utility officials say.

Lloyd Williams, rate director of FP&L, said Monday that the utility is asking the Public Service Commission to approve the decrease from $7.84 to $5.38 per 1,000 kilowatts of electricity.

Williams said the company's Turkey Point nuclear plant produced 34.9 per cent of January's output, with residual fuel oil producing 34.7 per cent, natural gas 29.9 per cent and gas turbine fuel 0.5 per cent.

Tax Change Approved

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Three-year license tags now on Florida autos should be able to last until 1979, the Cabinet says.

Cabinet officials approved on Monday the Highway Safety and Motor Vehicles Department legislative package, including a proposal to extend tag life to five years, setting the expiration at July 1, 1979.

The cabinet also approved another department proposal to require renewal of license plates during the owner's birth month, thus establishing a year-around renewal period for tags.

Old Food Declared Safe

MIAMI (AP) — After munching on a 13-year-old cracker, Rep. William Lehman, D-Fla., has decided that $500,000 worth of food stored in fallout shelters is safe for the elderly poor to eat.

Lehman said Monday that the crackers were hard, tasteless and difficult to swallow.

Lehman has asked Dade County officials to "order the destruction of this food to the county's elderly poor," in conjunction with the county's hot meal program.

The cracker — a high protein biscuit — and a variety of hard candy that Lehman sampled for dessert are part of 600,000 pounds of food in storage in Greater Miami. The supplies were stockpiled in 1962 by Civil Defense officials to support 125,000 people for 14 days.

Power Plan Explained

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Sen. Richard Stone, D-Fla., says the Federal Energy Administration has a plan to help pay for floating nuclear power plants.

Stone said Monday that the plan was presented to him, Sen. Lawton Chiles, D-Fla., and Rep. Charles Bennett, D-Fla., by Duke Ligon, assistant administrator of the FEA.

Stone said the plan involves general plants in a factory located in Jacksonville, could benefit if the FEA proposal to pay up to 75 per cent of the costs of first-of-its-kind components is adopted by Congress.

He said the proposal resulted from a Jan. 30 meeting with the congressional staff of Sen. Robin Askew and Jacksonville Mayor Hans Tranter.

Sanford Votes Support Of City Court Plan

By MURKEY LOCHRIDGE, Herald Staff Writer

Sanford City Commissioners yesterday afternoon unanimously passed a resolution to support action by the Florida League of Cities (F.L.C.) in preventing the abolition of all municipal courts in the state.

The F.L.C. is seeking to amend Article V of the state constitution, which calls for abolishing the city courts in January of 1977, to make the establishment of municipal courts made optional to the cities.

Sanford was one of the first cities in the state to abolish its municipal court in 1971, in order that Seminole County would be eligible to receive two county judgeships.

But, according to City Manager 'Pete' Knowles, the change has been costly and time consuming to the city because cases were heard quicker in municipal court than they are heard in county court.

Knowles also indicated there was "very remote" chance that Sanford someday would be able to reinstate its municipal court.

City commission also passed a resolution requesting that the Seminole County Commission install a sidewalk on 27th street, from a Sanford Ave. to U. S. 17-92.

Meany Says Jobless To Reach 10% Mark

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — AFL-CIO President George Meany says a 10 per cent unemployment rate by mid-summer is inevitable, regardless of what action Congress and the Administration take in the coming months.

"No matter what they do, they will not turn it around," said Meany, who added that his forecast may be optimistic.

He told a news conference Monday as the AFL-CIO Executive Council opened a week-long meeting that the jobless rate might go even higher, but he declined to provide a calendar.

Meany said he is not a pro-nominator like President Ford's economic advisor, Alan Greenspan, and other advisors of the Ford and Nixon Administration who "were always seeing the light at the end of the tunnel in the third quarter."

Despite several upward revisions in its unemployment forecast, the Ford Administration has maintained the recession will bottom out in midsummer.

Payne Enters Guilty Plea After Death Of Witness

Benny Payne, 20, of Sanford, pleaded guilty to compounding a felony yesterday in circuit court at Sanford in connection with a May 1 firebombing incident at the home of Seminole Sheriff's Deputy Luke Stallworth.

Assistant State Atty. Bill Heffernan said charges of attempted murder, first degree arson, throwing a destructive device and conspiracy were dropped following the misdemeanor plea by Payne.

Payne was allowed to remain free on his own recognizance pending a pre-sentence investigation ordered by Circuit Court Judge Clarence T. Johnson Jr. Date of sentencing wasn't set on the compounding a felony count.

Attorneys said the charge related to knowing about a felony and refusing to give assistance in prosecution and is considered a lesser and included offense to conspiracy.

A sixth man charged in the incident, Nathaniel Lee Williams, 22, is being sought by authorities after he apparently jumped a $10,000 bond in the case.

When firebombings occurred in May at the homes of Stallworth and Sanford Policemen Eugene Foyle and Tony Brooks, Sheriff John Polk said he believed the incidents were in retaliation for a drug and gambling crackdown in Sanford black community.

Winter Springs' Expense Stipends To Remain Same

WINTER SPRINGS — Following a public hearing last night City Council defeated a proposed ordinance that would have increased an expense stipend for the mayor and council members that went into effect Jan. 1.

In the 3-2 vote, Councilmen Irene Van Espeol and John Daniels favored returning the allowance to $100 a month for the mayor and $25 a month for the council members.

Browning and Hunter maintained monthly expense stipends for their council duties usually exceed the amount reimbursed by the city, while Durand compared the stipend with higher pay given council members in other area municipalities.

At a public hearing, it should be increased as the city grows," Browning said. A city resident in the audience, Mrs.

Mary Burnzer, told the council, "Your expense stipend is refreshing."

Mayor Troy Piland's appointment of Ernest Hendrix, of 18 Gumtree Court in The Terraces, to fill a Planning and Zoning Board vacancy was unanimously approved by the Council. Hendrix, who is employed by Chelsea Title and Guaranty Co. of Sanford, was appointed to complete the term of Mrs. Betty Eastham, which expires in July 1976.

The former P&Z Board secretary resigned to run for a council seat in the December municipal election.

Named by the P&Z Board to represent the board on the proposed city planning commission were Mrs. Sharon Patrick and John Newsum.

Council gave Mrs. Patrick the go ahead to proceed with updating of the official zoning map with the help of the county planning office. She displayed the latest official map — the 1967 version — which has been missing.

Cabinet OKs Guideline To Buy Endangered Land

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — The Cabinet has adopted a plan to guide the purchase of environmentally endangered lands, but some members question whether the Cabinet is adhering to it.

More than six and a half hours after unanimously adopting the lengthy plan on Monday, the Cabinet approved, 4-3, a nearly $4 million purchase that opponents and some members said didn't qualify as environmentally endangered lands.

Under pressure from hunters and ecologists who were concerned about a large deer herd in the area, the Cabinet agreed to purchase 6,248 acres of the so-called Roterberg area of southwest Palm Beach County for $3.9 million to use as a wildlife preserve.

The land has been in dispute before the Cabinet for nearly a year in a fight between the Florida Wildlife Federation, which wants to preserve the deer herd, and sugar cane growers who want to farm the rich Everglades muck land.

The Cabinet vote came over the objections of the growers who contended that purchase of the 10 parcels of Everglades land scattered throughout the Roterberg township did not meet the new criteria for such purchases.

The Cabinet agreed to pay A. Duda and Sons Inc. of Oviedo, a sugar cane firm, $3.7 million from funds set aside for environmentally endangered lands, to turn over to the company 200 acres of state-owned land appraised at $24,000 in another area, and to renew for five years an agricultural lease on another 5,762 acres of state-owned land.

Valuing for the purchase were Atty. Gen. Robert Shevin, Comptroller Gerald Lewis, Education Commissioner Ralph Turlington and Insurance Commissioner Thomas O'Malley.

Opposing the purchase were Gov. Reubin Askew, Agriculture Commissioner Doyle Conner and Secretary of State Bruce Smitthers.

Woman Happy With Commission Job

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Anabel Mitchell, a Parole and Probation Commission secretary 28 years ago, says her appointment as the first woman member of the commission is a "signal honor."

Mrs. Mitchell, 50, of Tallahassee and Charles Scriven, 42, of Jacksonville, were appointed Monday by the Cabinet to two new $27,800-a-year seats on the commission.

Scriven, the first black named to the commission, is director of community relations for the Duval County Sheriff's Office. He has no commission experience.

Mrs. Mitchell worked for the commission as a secretary in 1946 and 1947, and has worked closely with the commission staff, she said, "but I certainly don't have the solutions."

Corrections officials and commission members have frequently been at odds in the past. Commissioners are fighting plans by legislators to merge their field staff with the Division of Corrections in the Department of Offender Rehabilitation.

But Mrs. Mitchell, who observed commission workings when she was superintendent of the state prison for women at Lowell, declined to comment on her goals.

"I think you really have to sit in the seat or walk in the shoes before you can make any kind of statement," she said. "It would be really easy to be critical of policy without having benefit of the information on which that policy was based."

Mrs. Mitchell said she first observed commission workings when she was a secretary sitting in on parole interviews.

Selection of a successor sparked a dispute between Chiles and former Sen. Edward Gurney. Chiles wanted to see the nominating commission method which has been used for several years in the selection of state judges.

Alien Control Is Imperative

The high unemployment rate in the United States of America, and the prospect that it may remain high for another year or two, make it all the more imperative that effective measures be taken to check the flow of illegal aliens into this country.

Immigration Commissioner Leonard Chapman now estimates there may be as many as 12 million aliens living illegally in the United States, and that at least one million of them are holding jobs.

It is easy enough to say that aliens who have entered our country illegally should not be competing for scarce jobs with U.S. citizens or legally admitted aliens. It is more difficult, however, to establish a procedure to correct the problem.

It would hardly be unfair to require that employers obtain some form of proof from job applicants that they are in fact legally qualified to obtain employment in the United States.

These points to a more basic issue — whether the United States can afford to go on being so reluctant to inquire into the status of persons applying for Social Security, welfare, schooling or other public programs.

It should not be offensive to our neighbors or to any ethnic group that our employment and income security system should recognize a distinction between legal and illegal residents.

The Immigration and Naturalization Service is asking for a $50 million increase in its $175 million budget in order to intensify its efforts to detect and deport illegal aliens.

Federal Judge Charles R. Richey's ruling that all the documents and tapes amassed by Richard M. Nixon in the White House are government property will probably be appealed, and it should be.

There should be a definitive ruling in Mr. Nixon's case before Congress makes any move regarding disposition of the evidence in the hands of the special Watergate prosecutor, Henry S. Ruth.

Washington — The Navy's helicopter carrier fleet is in such poor condition that it is a greater threat to the men on board than to potential enemies.

Yet the Navy would have to depend largely on the seven helicopter carriers to break a stranglehold on oil supplies. As a last resort to prevent the strangulation of the West, Secretary of State Henry Kissinger has warned that the United States might use military force.

Vice Admiral Frederick Turner, the Sixth Fleet commander, backed up Kissinger's warning with a statement that the Navy didn't want to invade any oil sheikhdom but was "prepared" to do so.

Around The Clock

It didn't take Sanford Southern Bell Manager Tom Hunt long to come forward subsequent to an earlier Clock Column in which I wondered what effect it would have by charging telephone subscribers 20 cents when calling for directory assistance?

First of all, I can now better appreciate why the phone company wants to have this charge approved by the Public Service Commission.

It is not intended as a "money-maker," either. It would simply assess those who are constantly in need of directory assistance to pay for that aid.

I was informed there was a used car dealership (NOT in this area) which instructed its sales force to verify credit on a potential customer by calling the phone company (under the guise of directory assistance) to help evaluate if a customer has some sort of credit.

This particular dealership had 1,000 directory assistance calls in ONE MONTH'S TIME!

It is also important to remember all phone subscribers would be entitled to three free directory assistance during a given month.

The invitation did not arrive until Monday, Feb. 17. (George Washington's birthday; and I'm not telling a fib, either.)

RAY CROMLEY Unhealthy State Of U.S. Health

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — In Sweden, a 35-year-old woman can expect to live four years longer than her male cousin. But American men die six-and-a-half years younger than women.

Something obviously is wrong with the American health system — or the way we live — or both.

Per person, we spend more money on health than any other nation. As a people, we will put $100 billion this year on our health, or $500 for each man, woman and child. There will be a billion physician visits, 2.6-million hospitalizations and 2.5-billion drug prescriptions filled.

Yet our health, as measured by Federal data, is not up to that of a clutch of western nations, especially for whites and blacks, whether male or female. And we die earlier.

Especially distressing is the poor distribution of our doctors. There are, as President Ford notes in his budget, about 2,000 physicians per million people in New York and 1,800 in Massachusetts, but less than 800 in Mississippi.

Even more appalling are the statistics which seem to indicate little or no relationship between the number of doctors available and the health of the local population.

Federal, state, local government and private medical research and development hit $4.3 billion last year, 15.5 times what was spent in 1955. Despite this sharp 95-year increase, the death rate per 1,000 population declined only from 9.6 to 9.5 between 1950 and 1970.

For 1976, Mr. Ford is asking $5.3 billion for health research, development, construction and education and $1 billion for Medicare, Medicaid and associated health services. There is no evidence these huge expenditures will turn the tide.

Now it is certainly true that medical research is complicated and takes years for fruition. It is equally true that some tremendous discoveries have been made and some diseases virtually eradicated in this country. It is clear also that health is related to a good many things unrelated to the number and quality of our doctors and the efficacy of our medicines.

There should be a definitive ruling in Mr. Nixon's case before Congress makes any move regarding disposition of the evidence in the hands of the special Watergate prosecutor, Henry S. Ruth.

RALPH NOVAK Can You Spare A Tank?

"Excuse me, Miss, but things sure are boring waiting here on the unemployment line, aren't they?"

"Yes, they are, sir. I usually try and pass the time by reading a newspaper. I was just noticing here where the Defense Department wants a budget of $100 billion for next year."

"That's hard to say. I'd kind of like to buy one of those smart bombs. It doesn't have to be a real genius bomb, mind you — just a nice smart one, that can tell the difference between an enemy airfield and the Astrozone, for instance. I wouldn't even mind if it got a little rambunctious. Bombs will be bombs, I always say."

"Well, yes, Miss, but I wonder how we go about letting the Pentagon know what we'd like to do with our money?"

"You don't think we could just call Secretary of Defense Schlesinger and give him our list?"

"I have an idea. How about if we write in and ask him to let us have our $200 back so we can decide how we want to use it? That way, while we're thinking it over, we can have the money to pay the rent and things for the time being."

DON OAKLEY This Zoo Story From 'Hunger'

It isn't just the barred housewife who is being hit by rising food prices. Zookeepers across the country are also feeling the shopping pinch where groceries are concerned.

For example, hay now costs $100 a ton, where not long ago it was $35. An elephant can shovel in 75 pounds of the stuff a day, along with eight quarts of oats and eight quarts of bran.

Horsemasters, which used to sell for 24 cents a pound now costs 57 cents, and your average tiger considers 22 pounds of it a good meal. Meat by-products once available free from slaughterhouses now carry price tags because of the demand.

At any age or size, there are few letters in the zoo. A hippopotamus regards four heads of cabbage, five pounds of hay, half a bushel of potatoes and a few quarts of oats and bran as an adequate dinner. It now costs about $1,250 a year to rear a lion, and at anyone would try to eat down, and discuss the situation with one of these hungry fellows — lotsa luck.

This year, as every worker knows, the Social Security tax bill has gone up again — to a maximum of $25 on the first $14,100 of wages or salary. This is in addition to the federal income tax.

It's reached the point, says the Tax Foundation, Inc., where this matter of being hit twice on the same income is beginning to involve a stable sum of money.

Consider a married man with two children who will earn exactly $14,100 this year. If his federal income tax were figured on the amount left after his $25 Social Security tax had been withheld, he would pay $154 less in income tax.

Or the other way, if his Social Security tax were based on the income remaining after the federal income tax was withheld, that would be $93 less.

The federal government, of course, doesn't see it that way in applying both taxes to the same income. It has always taxed as "income" the Social Security tax.

Most state and local governments extend the tax-on-tax process a step further by not allowing the deductibility of either federal income or Social Security taxes when figuring income.

Obstetricians Assail Edelin Verdict

By The Associated Press The adversarial system of the criminal courts is not the place to define abortion, say 225 members of the Association of Professors of Gynecology and Obstetrics.

The resolution expressing support for the Supreme Court's 1973 decision legalizing most abortions was approved at New Orleans on Monday, two days after the Boston manslaughter conviction of Dr. Kenneth C. Edelin in the death of an fetus during a legal abortion.

The resolution also says the criminal courts are not the place to "define viability, or to define the moral issues of abortion." The resolution was authored by Dr. Kenneth J. Ryan, chief of staff of Boston Hospital for Women and chairman of the Department of Obstetrics and Gynecology at Harvard Medical School.

Ford Plans China, European Visits

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford will step up his foreign travel schedule later this year with trips to Europe and China, White House sources say.

Ford is likely to visit Europe around September and probably will make his planned trip to Peking in October or November, a source said Monday.

The President hopes to time his European trip so that he can attend a projected Helsinki summit conference on European security and be on hand to sign any agreement resulting from the meeting. However, that would depend on progress in current 25-nation talks on a new security system for Europe.

Ford already has accepted in Helsinki invitations to visit Britain, West Germany and Yugoslavia and is considering an invitation to travel to Romania. Other capitals likely to be on his itinerary are Rome and perhaps Paris and others, as well as the Brussels headquarters of the North Atlantic Treaty Alliance and European Common Market.

White House Press Secretary Ron Nessen flatly denied a published report that Ford would travel to Europe in April. It was understood a spring trip was considered but was dropped about a month ago because the news of European security negotiators was not close enough to being completed.

The chief purpose of the European trip would be to try to spur trans-Atlantic cooperation in trade, energy and monetary matters. The China trip is intended to build on the results of former President Richard M. Nixon's 1972 journey to Peking that began a process of "normalization of relations" between the two countries.

Soviets Assured Of Role In Mideast

ZURICH, Switzerland (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger gave a public assurance today that the Soviet Union will not be excluded from his efforts to achieve a Middle East truce.

"I hope the Soviet Union will understand that any step toward peace is in the interest of everybody," Kissinger told reporters at Heathrow Airport outside London.

"We have always asserted that a balanced participation will secure the participation and cooperation of the Soviet Union," he said.

Kissinger then flew here for lunch with Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlavi of Iran.

Two columns of police, with dogs, checked all roads of access to the hillside hotel where they met. Police took positions six hours before Kissinger arrived.

The Shah interrupted a four-week skiing vacation in St. Moritz to meet Kissinger. A private jet took him to Zurich airport where he climbed into a beige Mercedes which he drove to the hotel.

The Middle East and Prime Minister Harold Wilson's trip to Moscow dominated Kissinger's talks in London. He told reporters that "we consider the British visit extremely successful and a contribution to the relation of tensions."

However, a Lebanese confidant of Egyptian President Anwar Sadat reported in a Beirut newspaper that Kissinger had reached a "dead end" in his efforts toward a cease-fire in the Middle East next month.

Bassan Freha, editor of Al Anwar, said in a dispatch from Cairo that Kissinger might call off his scheduled trip to the Middle East next month. Freha is regarded as an authoritative voice on official Egyptian thinking.

Thatcher, Kissinger Hold Talk

LONDON (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger had breakfast with the new woman leader of the British Conservative party today and said he was "impressed."

Margaret Thatcher, the first woman to head a major party in Britain, arrived beaming and alone to breakfast with the secretary of state at Claridge's Hotel.

She posed briefly with her host for photographers and then talked with him for 30 minutes over orange juice, scrambled eggs and bacon, muffins and French rolls.

Kissinger's wife, Nancy, who accompanied her husband on his Middle East tour, was in Paris, and Kissinger was to join her there after lunch with Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlavi of Iran in Zurich, Switzerland.

ries are also lowered." This was a variant of the Shah's proposal that the price of crude oil rise and fall in accordance with an inflation index.

Kissinger and the Shah at their luncheon meeting in Zurich were expected to discuss oil prices and the possibility of an Iranian guarantee to continue shipping oil to Israel if the Israelis return the Abu Rudeis oilfields in the Sinai Desert to Egypt.

"The Iranian oil price reduction is a very important step," French President Valery Giscard d'Estaing at lunch Tuesday and told newsmen afterward that oil prices could be reduced if "prices for agricultural and industrial products needed by oil-producing countries are also lowered."

"This was a variant of the Shah's proposal that the price of crude oil rise and fall in accordance with an inflation index."

Lions Thump 'Fat' Vanguard

By LEE GEIGER
Herald Correspondent
OVIDEO — The Ovidio Lions basketball team tumbled up for this week's District Eight AAA Tournament by routing Ocala Vanguard, 75-58 before a sparse gathering at the local high school last night.

though game in Starke for our conference championship and it was a long ride down here. We were just flat and I have no excuse," Haley said.
"Ovidio is a good team and you can't play them the way we did and expect to win. If we meet in the regionals I hope we will play up to our potential and not like this," Haley concluded.

In the third period, with the score standing at 44-11 in favor of the Lions, Ovidio took complete control of the game when, according to some of the fans in the stands, the Running Knights, "seemed to give up."
Clemmie Patterson, the Lion's sensational first man, took complete control of the boards, enabling Ovidio to fast break the Running Knights to death.

By the end of the third period the Lions were ahead by five, 49-44, and a few minutes later the game was blown wide open as Ovidio had jumped into a 62-49 advantage.
From that point on it was no longer "who," but "how many?"
Patterson improved his 23-points per game average by leading all scorers with 27. Considering all the easy lay-ups he missed during the fourth period, Patterson easily could have finished the night with 40 or more.

Navy Juniors Sink Mt. Dora

The Sanford Naval Academy Junior School basketball team routed three regular season defeats to Mt. Dora Bible, downing Mt. Dora 42-27 Monday afternoon in the finals of the Lake and Hills Conference Junior School basketball tournament.
"The kids played superb," Navy Coach Bobby Williams said. "They played superb defense, superb offense. This was their best game of the season. It was a sweet victory."

In Navy's 37-28 win over Montverde Saturday, Marjune paced the midshipmen with 19 points and Bitzer sank 10.

With a season like this I'm elated," Williams said. "The team isn't big and it isn't particularly high scoring, except for Bitzer. But what the kids lacked they made up in speed, defense, hustle and desire."
The loss left Ocala Vanguard with a still respectable 19-9 record while Ovidio now stands at 15-11.

Ovidio's Robert Borkoski (25) goes high in the air to spear a rebound against Ocala Vanguard.

Sanford Naval Academy Warned By Fire Marshal

By ED PRICKETT
Herald Staff Writer

The State Fire Marshal's office slapped Sanford Naval Academy last September with 18 violations of fire codes, and a state official yesterday gave school officials 90 days to get the deficiencies cleared up.

Following a tour of the senior school, Deputy Fire Marshal E. V. Fretwell warned school officials to get both the senior and junior schools into compliance with state law.

If not, Fretwell told The Herald that a "notification of violation" will be submitted, the school will be allotted a certain number of days to get in compliance and operations will be closed down if safety deficiencies aren't brought up to existing standards.

The school's administrator, Jesse Harry, told Fretwell and Fire Chief George Harriett that school maintenance crews "are working" on correcting the violations and that he hopes to have them cleared up within the time allotted by the fire marshal's office.

Harry presented Fretwell with a 17-item list of measures already completed by school officials in an effort to comply with Fretwell's September recommendations, which were presented in writing and copies mailed to the parent corporation — Bernard MacFadden, Foundations, Inc., of Larchmont, N. Y.

The senior facility is attended by about 140 students, according to Harry. And Harriett said the facility's rating was "poor, a very poor rating." The saving element at the senior facility, Harriett said, is an automatic sprinkler system.

"Without the sprinkler system — you'd strictly have a fire hazard," the chief said. One reason is the building was constructed in the mid 1920s and wasn't built to comply with the stringent fire codes that are in existence today.

Over at the junior school on Celery and Mellenville Avenues, it's a slightly different situation since that facility was constructed with fire resistant material, Harriett said. The junior facility also got a number of black eyes from the fire marshal's office.

Yesterday, police arrested a 14-year-old juvenile on arson charges after a fire was set for the second night in a row at the junior facility. The fire was the second at the facility after a fire in the school's cafeteria destroyed draperies on the second floor. Damage estimates were about $4,000, Harry said. Deficiencies listed by Fretwell at the junior school included:

—Flags are provided on certain exit doors. Fretwell recommended they be removed. Harry says that item has been complied with.

—No floors are provided for the sleeping rooms. Harry, calling it "a big money item" said no action has been taken yet.

—Open stairways are provided for exits in the building.

—No fire alarm is provided for the facility. Dormitory is not equipped with automatic sprinkler system. Fretwell recommended an automatic sprinkler system or a manually operated, electrically supervised fire alarm system. Harry promised one in 90 days.

—The north-west exit door was stuck and could not be opened. Harry says all exit doors are now repaired.

At the senior school, 1000 E. First St., Fretwell listed the following deficiencies:

—Automatic sprinkler system is not electrically supervised. A maintenance contract has not been provided by a properly qualified company. Harry says sprinkler company has completed survey and a contract is in the making.

—All exits were not properly marked with approved exit signs and no emergency lighting was provided. Harry says fire exit signs have been installed.

—Doors to sleeping rooms are provided with metal louvers. The louvers should be removed. Harry said louvers have been replaced in some instances.

—Stairs are unprotected at each floor level and the

Rosenwald Probe In Doubt

The much-heralded investigation of the hotly contested school board decision to phase out Rosenwald Elementary School may not take place at all, a U.S. Justice Department official said today.

"I suspect we'll know today whether or not we're gonna make an investigation and the form it might take, but right now I just don't know," said Burt Dougherty, the Justice Department attorney who is trying to decide whether or not to look into the decision to bus students to Casselberry Elementary.

Last week, Dougherty was quoted as saying the department would investigate the controversial Rosenwald switch which has precipitated a boycott at the Altamonte Springs facility as well as a threatened countywide boycott of Seminole schools.

Dougherty said he is meeting today with his superiors to decide if the probe will even take place. If it does, he said there's a possibility the FBI could be utilized by the justice department to do the leg work in Seminole County.

"The basic alternatives are to do nothing, let the people resolve the problem — or come in and investigate and try to do something," Dougherty said in a telephone interview from Washington.

Meanwhile, protesting parents at Rosenwald continued their boycott there, with regularly attend classes in kindergarten through fifth grade.

Black community leaders are still meeting this week in reference to a countywide boycott, and a flyer is being circulated which calls for the countywide boycott to begin on Monday.

The flyer lists meeting places and times for the remainder of this week where people can gather to discuss the planned black boycott of Seminole schools.

The on again countywide boycott apparently now is in. Last week, black spokesman James Gadsden said Rosenwald marchers were urged to get their children back in school. But then at a Saturday meeting, black leaders decided to continue the Rosenwald boycott of the state.

Suit Asks Smoking Area At School Be Disbanded

Merle E. Parker of Sanford has filed a petition in circuit court seeking a court order doing away with a student smoking area at Seminole High School.

Parker named as defendants in the civil action, assigned to Circuit Court Judge William G. Akridge, County School Supt. William Layer, school board members Robert Feather, Davis Sims, Alan Keith, E.C. Harper Jr., and Pat Telson, as well as Seminole High Principal Don T. Reynolds and Assistant Principal Wayne Epps.

No date has been set for a hearing on Parker's petition.

Parker is asking the court order the defendants to "cease and desist to operate a 'smoking area' on public school property and 'encouraging, advising and counseling juveniles, 15 to 17 years of age, to smoke cigarettes and to openly flout the criminal law'"

THIRTY members from Seminole High School will attend the YMCA sponsored Youth Legislature in Tallahassee, Feb. 20-22. They will serve in the House of Representatives and Senate composed of students from throughout the state. From left, Karen Corley, a senior; Kathy Koschitz, sophomore, both of Sanford, and Pam Morgan, a senior from Lake Mary. Tina Porzig of Sanford will also be a delegate.

Teacher Rebuked For 'Mock Holdup'

School Supt. Bud Laver has reprimanded the Lake Brantley High School teacher whose students last week pulled a "mock holdup" at a convenience store.

"The situation that existed there had a potential danger," Laver said. The "robbery" was part of a civics class project in which students participate in simulated social situations as a learning experience.

Laver said these learning experiences vary from teacher to teacher, but are similar to a biology class going on a field trip. Lake Brantley Principal Bill Daugherty said the experience was a "project the youngsters took on."

The experience almost backfired when someone forgot to notify a deputy that the "robbery" was to be filmed by one of Mrs. Carol Kline's civics students. An unformed deputy, B. L. Thompson, saw the students stage the robbery and swooped down on the "getaway" car.

Apparently, the students had contacted the deputy on duty before Thompson. That deputy was in turn supposed to have filled Thompson in — apparently he didn't.

But Thompson checked the youths' identification, heard their story — then let them go.

The incident enraged Sheriff John Polk, who said he's "the only one in the department who can agree" to a staged robbery. Polk wasn't notified. Also, he said he still hasn't located the deputy who was "in" on the entire fiasco.

"I haven't found that deputy yet. I just haven't had a chance," Polk said. The sheriff said when the deputy is located, he, like Mrs. Kline, will receive a reprimand.

Daugherty said the incident wasn't just an off the wall project but had been planned weeks in advance. He said the students had coordinated the entire event and had contacted the deputy — whoever he is who agreed to allow the students to stage the event.

'Fired' Employees Paid Unemployment

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

Seminole County's governing mental units are being hit where it hurts — in the pocketbook — for unemployment compensation by former employees under a new state law adopted last year and officials are complaining.

Many officials in the cities and county government do not object to paying the compensation to employees who have been laid off, but are protesting vigorously the method of payment they are being required to make and that persons who either quit their jobs or were fired for cause are also collecting the weekly checks.

State Rep. Robert Hattaway (D-Altamonte Springs) was to hear the complaints at a meeting at Altamonte Springs city hall at 2 p.m. today.

Altamonte Springs Mayor Norman Floyd began complaining weeks ago as seven claims were filed against his city. He and the city commission objected that while private enterprise can pay a percentage of payroll in the form of insurance, governmental bodies must pay dollar for dollar the amount paid to former employees.

Floyd also noted that none of the claims filed against Altamonte were for employees actually laid off. In all cases, he

Bundy: No Suit Planned
By BOB LLOYD
Herald Staff Writer

Altamonte Springs public works director Donald Bundy today was looking forward to his second paycheck in 22 weeks and said he isn't planning any lawsuits following dismissal in circuit court of election law violation and conspiracy to commit perjury charges against him.

State Atty. Abbott Herring's office said the charges, brought by a grand jury last year, were dropped Friday because upholding by an appeals court of suppression of statements in the case left the state with no case against Bundy.

Bundy, contacted today at his Altamonte Springs city hall office, where he'd continued to work without pay while on suspension pending outcome of the case, said, "I was innocent from the start. They didn't have anything to convict me on."

"I'm very happy about it," Bundy said, noting that he got a paycheck Friday but wasn't told until Tuesday that the charges had been dropped.
