Hussein: I'll Study Pact From Summit

AMMAN, Jordan (UPI) — Secretary of State Cyrus Vance held a last meeting today with a still-undecided King Hussein of Jordan and then flew off to Saudi Arabia for the difficult task of selling the Camp David peace accords to an equally skeptical King Khalid.

Vance had two powerful means of persussion against Hussein — the arms and menetary aid the United States has given to Hussein over a period of years. But the only official word on their meeting was that Hussein had chance the secretary of state could persuade King Khalid and Crown Prince Fahd to give even lukewarm endorsement to the Camp David agreements — at least publicly. But their tacit approval could enhance President Carter's peace initiative.

The United States is Soudi Arabia's largest supplier of arms and Vance presumably would try to cash in on the good will created when Congress gave approval of the U.S. sale of 60 super-sophisticated F-15 jet fighters to the

Before leaving Amman, Vance held a final informal meeting with King Hussein in a bid to press the skeptical but still-undecided monarch to join the Camp David peace

After Vance fielded a battery of questions from Hussein at a formal session Wednesday, a spokesman said, "It is clear that the king and the government are giving the entire matter serious consideration." Jordan, which stayed away from the Cairo and Jerusalem conforences between Egypt and Israel that broke up in January, was under strong pressure from Syria to denounce the Camp David accords, which envisage a Palestinian self-ruled government of the West Bank of the Jordan River. Reporters were told Vance was ready to bring whatever pressure he could to get Jordan's backing for the

But Vance also made clear in his public statements that he felt the best argument for Jordanian participation was that it was in Hussein's own interest to have a voice in an arrangement that will intimately involve his country. Vance described Jordan as a "key" to the current peace process and termed his Arab tour a "crucial phase" in the Comp David agreements.

Army Ousts Israeli Settlers

JERUSALEM (UPI) — Army troops began evicting religious radicals today from an unauthorised settlement established on a mountain in the occupied West Bank of Jordan to protest the Camp David peace accords. The troops moved in at 12:30 p.m. (6:30 a.m. EDT) after the squatters, members of the ultranationalist Gush Emunim, ignored a noon deadline for leaving the camp. A Gush Emunim spokesman in contact with the en-campment by two-way radio said the troops took down barbed wire fencing and the 20 tents erected by the squatters on Mount Gezirim outside Nablus, the largest city on the West Bank.

He said squatters sought refuge in two wooden shacks there, men in one and women in the other. The spokesman said the soldiers were using restraint in evicting the squatters because two members of the Knesset (parliament) who support Gush Emusim were on

The momentum of the peace agreements was being maintained as the White House promised a release today of some nine letters exchanged by Israel, Egypt and the United States concerning ticklish, still unsettled, issues. But language in one letter dealing with the controversial subject of the Israeli settlements on the West Bank is being disputed and may be held up until the problem can be worked out.

State Department officials said they are discussing the issue with Israeli diplomats. The disputed letter stated that "during the negotiation no new Israeli astilements will be established in this area." The letters were to supplement the two accords signed by Carter, Israel's Menachem Begin and Egypt's Anwar

Was President Briefed On Fugitive Vesco Matter?

WASHINGTON (UPI) - In the first disclosure that President Carter may have been involved in an attempt by fugitive financier Robert Vesco's representatives to seek top-level White House contacts, deputy press secretary Rex Granum said Wednesday Albany, Ga., lawyer W. Spencer Lee IV, had approached presidential special assistant Richard Harden on Feb. 8, 1977, and told him "people involved with Vesco had offered him a large sum of money to arrange a meeting with (White House aide Hamilton) Jordan."

Granum said Lee asked Harden to tell the president about the scheme, and Harden briefed Carter about a week later. Granum said Carter does not remember discussing the Vesco matter with Harden. Administration sources said it appeared likely the FBI would question Carter about the incident.

Hooray For Teachers, Board

We congratulate the Seminole Education Association and the Seminole County School Board on ending four months of hectic, sometimes intense, sometimes strident, contract negotiations. : And we congratulate federal mediator Margaret Rose whose presence apparently was the magic itouch that brought the two sides together.

The contract, of course, still must be ratified by the county's 1,755 teachers and the board itself but we are certain this will be but a formality. The main ingredient of the new contract is the raising of the base salary of teachers from $8,700 to $9,100 — with similar raises for teachers with more experience up the line. Granted, at times during the negotiations, voices were raised, threats traded, charges made. This is to be expected in such bargaining processes.

But it is to the credit of the teachers that business went on as usual in the schools even while the talks went on and on and on.

The education of our county children was not interrupted, as it has been in so many communities across the nation.

This means that now there are three other unions awaiting contract settlement with the school board: the bus drivers, clerks and noninstructional personnel.

If those too can be brought to a swift conclusion, we'll all be the better for it.

The only effect the prolonged negotiations might have had on the educational process in Seminole County might sometimes have been seeen in the faces of some of the teachers directly involved in the negotiating project, who surely could not have been at their educational best after long and late hours of bargaining sessions. But they, too, survived.

And now they can look to a little more rest and And the community can look to continued and uninterrupted programs of learning.

The More Workwife Gives, Ixora Club Sets The Happier Her Husband Unique Boutique

UPI Family Editor

A new survey on the home front indicates a husband's approval of his wife's working is closely related to the amount of money she brings in. "Happiness over his wife's working crossed all lines of occupations and all income levels," says Suzanne McCall, who conducted the study. Mrs. McCall is an associate professor of marketing and management at East Texas State University in Commerce, Texas. She coined the term "workwife" in an earlier study, as the opposite of housewife, a married woman who does not hold an outside job. Mrs. McCall found that the more income the workwife contributes, the happier her husband is about her outside job. He also thinks she is happier in the work role.

"If she contributes 40 percent or more to the family income, regardless of the amount, he is extremely happy she's working," she said in a telephone interview. "We used to think he worried about the family if the wife worked." It now appears he may worry if she doesn't. A summary of Mrs. McCall's findings was released Wednesday at a seminar in New York City co-sponsored by Kentucky Fried Chicken and Ladies Home Journal magazine, It was part of the fast-feed company's public service program to study the

she said. It used to mean actual necessities — food, clothing, shelter. Now a person who speaks of need may be talking about the need for a better lifestyle or to keep up with inflation, she said. "For years, sociologists and textbooks have said a woman gets her social class from her husband,"

Mrs. McCall said. "We found an astour dingly high number o workwives get their social class from their workplace. It's a new source of consumer behavior patterning." She said her survey suggests that many workwives with white collar jobs have blue collar husbands: she may be an office clerk, he may be a spouses' education levels, but mainly the husbands. Mrs. McCall's survey was conducted in the Dallas-Fort Worth area among families with median incomes of $7,000-$15,000. She said that geographic area is within 2 percent of the national average in percentage of women in the work force.

All of the 216 husbands who completed the telephone interviews had been married to their present wives three months or longer, and the wives were either working at the time or had worked within

The September meeting of Ixora Garden club was held at the Golden Lake home of Mrs. Robert McCaskill who was assisted by Mrs. Fred Ganas. Announcement was made that the club has planned "Treasured Traditions," a unique botique, on Dec. 8, at Sanora Club House. Mrs. John Mercer presented items made by members during the summer months for sale at the boutique.

President Mrs. John Wimbish reminded members that boutique workshops will be held every Thursday at the home of Mrs. Clyde Long.

Members brought plants to the meeting for a plant auction which was conducted by Mrs. William Rape. Others attending were Mmes. If you want to use splinter bids decide just which of your jumps will be splinters.

The most general rule and the one we use is that any time you bid in a new suit and bid one more than necessary for a regular forcing bid you are using a splinter, showing a singleton in the splinter suit and forcing to game in the last bid suit.

North and South were playing that a simple reverse bid was forcing so that a two-diamond rebid would be a ferce in diamonds. Hence, when North bid three diamonds he was shewing a standard notrump opening bid.

It is a raise to three notrump. You don't use Stayman to try to find a 4-4 spade fit, the odds are that this hand will produce as many tricks in notrump.

For City, County, No Full Moon...But What A Day

For sheriff's deputies and police in Seminole County, it was the kind of day usually associated with a full meen.
FOR EXAMPLE: A man with a knife spent more than three hours on the roof of his home threatening police and throwing shingles at them.

A SANFORD policeman passed out in the station after being hit in the groin by a juvenile.

A SEMINOLE COUNTY woman went into shock after a "friend" said the woman's two children had been in an accident. The children had not been in an accident. A WINTER SPRINGS man who was hit and choised at a public meeting, found parts of a fish in his mailbox.

Three juveniles tried the rip-off clothing of a woman who was walking on a public street.

Roberts Parks, M. The house is located at Meserce Read and Harcison Street, just west of Sandard.

Parks had climbed a tree to get to the reef on the singlestory house at 4:30 p.m. Thursday, deputies said. He was threstoning to kill everyone, including himself, because he was despendent over his wife leaving him.

About six deputies including some off duty, arrived at the scene during negatiations with the man, who at one point threatened to throw the built at them, according to Finally, three of the deputies led the way for the other

He was charged with aggravated assault and resi arrest without violence and initial bond was set at 25.20

Patrolman Jerry Gongwer, M, of Sanford is being kept at Seminole Memorial Hospital for observation after he passed out at the Sanford Police Station. Gongwer has just returned from taking a 13-year-old Sanford youth into custody near the Elk's Club at Seventh Avenue and Cyprons Street, according to acting

The youth was ordered into custody by the Division of Youth Services and Gongwer and Lt. John Parter arrived

The youth fought with the officers who handcuffed him on the ground, Butler said. The youth came off the ground nd was transported to the hospital by Hernden mbulance Service, Butler said.

Loser Holman Filing Vote Suit

the Republican nomination to the Seminole County Commission, will file a lawsuit today in the circuit court of Seminole County seeking a judgment invalidating the results of the Sept. 12 primary and calling for a new election, according to Woodrow Storey of Storey, a Democrat, who has been working in concert with Holman gathering inormation to determine if grounds exist for the court challenge, said today he has not decided whether to join with Holman as a party plaintiff or to file a suit of his own. Storey lost his bid for the Democratic omination by little more than 70 votes for the state House of Representatives.

The deciding vote was in Seminole County, wen by a large margin by Gless Turner of Goldenrod. Turner came in second in the primary battle, edging out Storey. Turner will be in the runoff on Oct. 5 with Bill Beck of ided to go to court over the matter. he will file the suit today, the last day for contesting the election, according to law, announcing instead that he would have a press conference this afternoon and reveal his plans at that time. Holman, a Winter Park dentist, has said that the goal of his challenge is not only to overturn the election, but to expose the political parties did not fulfill their duty by being present when the voting machines were sealed; that changes in polling places, such as in precinct 66 were inappropriate because alley to get to the voting place and voters were not notified of polling place changes; machines were supposedly opened, closed and checked two days before the election and yet did not function election. yet did not function election day; and there is no guarantee that votes cast in some areas were recorded, he said.

Holman in official election results lost his first bid for elective office by more than 900 votes to Altamonte Springs City Commissioner Sandra Glenn. Meanwhile, Storey said today that in any suit with which he is involved he will charge that voting machines were tampered with.

He said it is not statistically possible for as many voting machines to malfunction as did election day in Seminole County. Reports of the number of machines that malfunctioned for a variety of reasons ranged from 40 percent-to-80 percent. A county commission purvey of the problem indicated that six polling places were closed down on election day for a total of eight hours. None of them was closed all day or for longer periods Storey said that two days prior to the election, the voting machines were certified by the county's maintenance department as operable. "I'm doing this as a public serquestion of whether joining Holman's lawsuit "will acquit my interest." He said he has

Herald Staff Writer There is no evidence a Sanford city official tried to fix a traffic ticket for Orlando City Commissioner Robert Keith. That is the finding, released today, of County Court Judge Alan Dickey. State Attorney Douglas Cheshire initiated a probe of the incident and other allegations made by former police chief Wallace Lallstern after the chief was fired July 17.

Cheshire responded by providing a signed, detailed affidavit of the allegations.

Dickey's latest ruling came in response to that affidavit from Cheshire incident and other allegations made by former police chief Wallace Lallston after the chief was fired July 17.

The person investigated by Cheshire on the alleged traffic ticket fix attempt has never Aug. 10 news conference the state attorney did say he was a Seminole County official. At that news conference,
