Voter registration planned

SANFORD — A voter registration will be held this Saturday at the West Sanford Boys and Girls Club.

The registration will be held from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the club, 919 S. Perimmon Ave. The registration is sponsored by the Seminole County Supervisor of Elections Office.

Police investigate shooting

LONGWOOD — Longwood police are searching for clues — and suspects — in a shooting that left an 18-year-old student wounded Wednesday.

Hector Rosato, Jr. was taken to South Seminole Community Hospital with a wound to the thigh, said Longwood Lt. Butch Yelvington. Rosato, whose address was unknown, was in good condition, said Yelvington.

Yelvington said descriptions of the shooting vary with the individuals interviewed. What is known is a group of four Sanford youths were involved in a fight earlier in the day, with four youths believed to be Lake Mary High students, he said. Seminole County sheriff's spokesman George Procheil said a fight among several youths was reported in The Crossings area at about 4 p.m.

Yelvington said the Sanford youths followed the others to 1600 Orange Circle, where the scuffle resumed in the back yard. The fight moved into the residence where an unknown individual fired a .357-caliber Ruger handgun, wounding Rosato. Yelvington said there are some indications the events were gang-related, but gang connections have not been confirmed.

Toll-free service to be tested

ST. PETERSBURG — Sunshine State voters will be the first in the nation to try a service that offers information about candidates for Congress and the presidency, a newspaper reported today.

Starting Monday, Floridians can dial 1-800-786-8885 to learn more than they have from stump speeches and attack advertising, according to a story in the Tampa Tribune.

And for $3, residents can get a booklet and printout full of details about congressional incumbents' records, their campaign finances and how they're rated by interest groups.

The booklet and printout can be ordered by calling 1-800-786-8885; the $3 helps pay printing and mailing costs.

Florida is the first state offered the service by the non-profit, non-partisan Center for National Independence in Politics, which is testing its project for popularity and to determine the type of information voters want.

The service will be expanded later this year to all 50 states.

Duany hits city's lax ordinances's

SANFORD — Andres Duany told Sanford people how to improve the appearance of the city last night. He presented a master list of changes in regulations, standards and codes.

"Nothing I am suggesting will require government money," he said. "It would all be by private enterprise, and that's the only way it can be done."

If enacted, the Duany's recommended changes would greatly alter the way refurbishing and rebuilding of old homes can be done. His suggestions call for strict restrictions in the sizes, shapes and colors of such items as roofs, doors, windows, porches, and exterior materials.

"Some people may not like these restrictions, and I expect some toes will be stepped on," Duany said. He projected, "But Sanford should give it a try and see how it flies. Don't try to bash each section to bits, just get it enacted by the City, then if you

Supt. Wells not among final five

By VICKI DeBONNEN
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Acting Seminole County school superintendent Richard Wells continued with business as usual this morning though he knows he will not continue in that position through the summer.

Last night, Wells did not make the cut by the citizens committee charged with choosing a new superintendent.

"It was not a vote against him (Wells)," said Larry Strickler, chairman of the citizens committee. "We voted for our top five and he wasn't among them. That's all."

Wells, in a series of meetings at district schools this morning, was not available for comment.

In addition to serving as interim superintendent, Wells is continuing in his position as assistant superintendent for facilities and transportation. He is expected to return to doing a single job once a new superintendent is in place.

"We just didn't feel that he was qualified for the top five," Strickler reiterated. "We turned the resumes and applications inside out and the top five we selected are definitely in a separate group as far as their qualifications are concerned."

Wells, who has been with the Seminole County school district since 1983, served for four years as director of transportation before moving up to the assistant superintendent. Prior to coming here, he served as the superintendent of schools in Flagler County from 1980 to 1983.

Dr. Wayne Blanton, the executive director of the Florida School Boards Association who has been hired as a consultant by the district to assist in the national search, said he believes the committee has selected the best candidates from

Sanford Avenue widening revived

By J. MARK BARFIELD
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — Seminole County is moving towards the widening of Sanford Avenue between Lake Mary Boulevard and Airport Boulevard, a project delayed for seven years.

Construction on the $3.6 million construction project is now slated to begin by May 1993 and be completed by the end of 1994. The project to widen Sanford Avenue to four lanes was originally to be financed by the 1987 county road impact fee at a total land and construction cost of $4.8 million.

But cities' refusal to impose the countywide fee resulted in county lawsuits delayed county construction projects for two years. The project will now be financed largely through the penny sales tax approved by voters last year. The total cost has since increased to $6.1 million, largely due to the increase in land costs from $1.5 million to $2.5 million.

Also during the next five years, the county will begin construction to widen County Road 427 between U.S. Highway 17-92 to Lake Mary Boulevard. The 3.4-mile project is expected to cost $15.5 million.

Appraisals of the approximately 70 bits of land needed for the wider road are expected to begin soon. Commissioners hired an appraisal firm last week to begin the property value assessments.

Churches join together in food project

SANFORD — Call it compassion or cooperation, but the "Grace 'n' Grins Coalition" is ready to roll. Several Sanford area churches are banding together to provide a weekly food ministry for the hungry, homeless and lonely.

So far, three churches are involved. Holy Cross Episcopal Church, First Presbyterian Church, both of Sanford, and St. Peter's Episcopal Church, of Lake Mary. Holy Cross Senior Warden Bill Sonnenberg explained, "It's just the three churches right now, but hopefully we will eventually get more to join us."

Lake Mary mulls moratorium

By NICK PFEIFAUF
Herald Staff Writer

LAKE MARY — If an ordinance to be presented tonight passes, Lake Mary will impose a rezoning restriction on a portion of Lake Mary Boulevard. The moratorium would last until the end of this year.

The portion of Lake Mary Boulevard to be placed on the restriction will run on the north side only, from Rinehart Road to County Club Road. No restrictions will be placed on the south side of the highway.

According to City Manager John Litton, "The north side of Lake Mary Boulevard borders on residential areas, and the City wants to do whatever possible to preserve and protect their neighborhoods."

The Commission discussed the matter during its last meeting. At that time, the consensus was to allow only professional office devel-

"The one major problem that may come up is whether or not the city can legally make such a restriction stand up."

-John Litton, city manager

opment in the area. "The one major problem that may come up," Litton said, "is whether or not the city can legally make such a restriction stand up."

Lake Mary City Attorney Ned Julian is expected to report on the legality of the moratorium this evening.

One of the main questions tonight will concern changes that may be needed in the Land Use Element and Future Land Use map of the city's Comprehensive Plan. If the restriction is approved by the Commission.

Questions over the rezoning along Lake Mary Boulevard prompted a delay during the March 19 City Commission meeting. The second reading of an ordinance to rezone 3.86 acres on the south side of the boulevard was temporarily tabled. Dr. Brannen Murphy had requested a rezoning from PO, Professional Office, to C-1, Commercial. The matter is expected to be re-scheduled for the April 16 meeting.

Tonight's ordinance presentation will be on first reading, with the second reading expected on April 16. If it passes both readings, it would become effective immediately.

The Lake Mary City Commission meeting is scheduled to begin at 7 p.m. tonight, in the commission chambers of the Lake Mary City Hall.

Commission: Income tax option alive

TALLAHASSEE — An income-tax backer proposed keeping a personal income tax off the Florida ballot, but other members of a tax review panel said let the voters decide.

The Florida Tax and Budget Reform Commission voted Wednesday to keep the income tax among tax changes it may propose writing into the Florida Constitution.

"If the people don't want it they can vote against it. Why are we so afraid of letting the people of Florida make up their minds," said commission member Allan Katz of Tallahassee.

Yahweh trail witness dies mysteriously

BOCA RATON — The death of a government witness who testified at Yahweh Ben Yahweh's federal racketeering trial appears to be accidental, but foul play hasn't been ruled out, a coroner said.

Alton L. Bonaby, 23, was run over by a train March 8 while lying on the tracks in the early morning darkness. In January, he had testified that Yahweh members firebombed his house after a dispute with his neighbors.

Police found no evidence of foul play, but Bonaby's body was too badly mangled to tell whether he had been attacked or was just sleeping on the tracks, Boca Raton police spokesman Mike Genay said Wednesday. Bonaby was legally drunk.

Religious broadcasting pioneer dies

JACKSONVILLE — Wendell Zimmerman, a Baptist missionary and pioneer in religious broadcasting who died Sunday, was honored for his skills at the pulpit. He was 75.

Zimmerman, pastor of the Sun Coast Baptist Church in Jacksonville for 19 years, had a career that spanned 58 years. He traveled worldwide as a missionary and gave evangelist Jerry Falwell his first ministerial position.

Wells received four votes from among the committee members last night. The four who cast positive votes are all employed by the school district.

Strickler and Blanton agree that the top five candidates have the right mix of educational experience and business know-how that sets them apart from the rest.

Neither would comment on which areas Wells is lacking.

Blanton will present the committee's selection to the school board next Tuesday. If they chose to do so, board members could place Wells' name back into consideration for the position.

engineer, said the land purchases will take about a year to complete. An estimated $2.5 million will be needed for the land, VanPelt said. Most of the land purchases will be from the east side of the road.

Most of the parcels needed will be strips of land in front of homes and businesses. One house, located southwest of the Sanford Avenue-Airport Boulevard intersection, will be taken to make way for the improved intersection, said VanPelt.

About half of the parcels whose owners will receive a county check will be used for construction equipment during construction. Full use of the property will be returned to their owners when construction is complete by end of 1994, said VanPelt.

Sonnenberg said, "What we need most right now, are volunteers to help in this project, and for those who can't give of their time, donations will be a big help."

According to present plans, teams of 12 will be responsible for the preparation and serving of the food, as well as clean-up. The evening meals will be served from 5:30 until 7 p.m. each Wednesday evening, in the Parish Hall of Holy Cross, at 410 S. Magnolia Ave.

The meals will consist of soup, bread, dessert and drink. Each team will sign up for four Wednesdays for an entire month, with the fifth to be served by the youth of the community.

Sonnenberg says he hopes at least six teams can be established, to avoid an overload for any one group. "If other churches, or groups from them, want to join us," he said, "we'll be glad to have them, and maybe we can really make this a community wide church involvement program."

For all persons already in the "Grace 'n' Grits Coalition", as well as any church or person interested in joining the activity, a special meeting has been called for Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in the Parish Hall at Holy Cross Episcopal Church. For information contact Bob Sonnenberg at 322-4611.

NEWS FROM THE REGION AND ACROSS THE STATE

Atlantis back home in Florida

By MARGIA DUNN
AP Aerospace Writer

CAPE CANAVERAL — Atlantis glided through the dawn and landed in Florida today with seven astronauts who spent more than a week in orbit studying Earth's atmosphere.

The shuttle touched down at Kennedy Space Center at 8:23 a.m., its arrival heralded by the customary twin sonic booms. Commander Charles Bolden Jr. brought the spaceship to a clean stop on the concrete runway.

"Welcome back to the planet, Atlantis. Congratulations on an outstanding flight," Mission Control's Sidney Gutierrez told Bolden.

More than 150 people gathered at Kennedy's landing strip to welcome Atlantis home, including NASA's new chief, Daniel S. Goldin.

About 300 guests, including the astronauts' families, had to watch from eight miles away because of the wind direction — officials feared shuttle fumes might blow toward the crowd. The sky was hazy at landing time.

Atlantis circled the world 143 times during its nine-day voyage and traveled 3.7 million miles.

The shuttle streaked across central Florida on its way to Kennedy, passing just north of Tampa and over Orlando. It was a rare event — shuttles have landed at Kennedy only eight times before and generally come in from the north.

The mission was to have ended Wednesday after eight days, but NASA added a ninth day for more experiments — only the fourth time a shuttle flight has been prolonged for scientific purposes.

Noriega: Stink, lies and politics

By RICHARD COLE
Associated Press Writer

MIAMI — The case against Manuel Noriega stinks of politics and is based on the lies of drug traffickers, defense attorneys for the ousted Panamanian leader charged in closing arguments.

The government's own case showed Colombia's Medellin cocaine cartel was operating in the United States, even as it flew drug-out of Panama, defense attorney Frank Rubino told jurors Wednesday.

"Why only in Panama do you have to have the leader's permission" to smuggle drugs, he asked. "Why don't you need the leader's permission here?"

The indictment, he contended, was really a political instrument, as shown by prosecutors' constant references to Noriega as a military dictator.

The case "stinks like dead fish. It smells all the way from here to Washington," Rubino said.

Prosecutors, meanwhile, pointed to the weight of evidence and asked jurors to return a guilty verdict.

"It is over, ladies and gentlemen. Now is the time that Manuel Antonio Noriega must be held accountable," prosecutor Myles Malman said. "The plotting is over, the deception is over."

The defense closing was to continue today, followed by a short prosecution rebuttal. The jury is expected to get the case late today or Friday and will be sequestered tonight in either case, U.S. District Judge William Hoeyveler said.

Noriega, in U.S. custody since he surrendered to invasion troops in January 1990, is accused of turning Panama into a way station for Colombian drug cartels to smuggle cocaine into the United States.

He faces up to 160 years in prison if convicted on all 10 drug and racketeering counts.

Much of the defense closing was aimed at the credibility of witness' testimony, with Rubino showing a chart illustrating the reduced sentences, dropped charges, and even direct U.S. payments to drug traffickers who took the stand against Noriega.

Charities and for-profit bingo decry bill in House

By GUY ANDERSON
Associated Press Writer

TALLAHASSEE — The disabled and disadvantaged would be the real losers if the House passes a bill regulating bingo, according to a coalition of commercial bingo operators and charities.

The House sponsor, meanwhile, claimed the group was throwing up a "smokescreen" to protect the profits of bingo halls that sometimes have links to organized crime.

People representing 16 charities ranging from veteran's groups to the American Red Cross appeared at a news conference Wednesday with Florida Bingo Association officials to argue that the bill would prevent them from holding games.

The laws authorizing bingo are set to expire June 1 unless the Legislature re-enacts them.

Figuring out a solution will be left for a planned May special session on the budget.

In a recent special session, the House and Senate could not agree on what to do.

The Senate favored a measure with virtually no regulation. The House bill, sponsored by Democratic Rep. Ed Healey of West Palm Beach, sets up a series of new bingo regulations and fees

Lawmakers re-drawing districts

By GUY ANDERSON
Associated Press Writer

TALLAHASSEE — State lawmakers gave Gov. Lawton Chiles what he wanted, so they get what they want: a little extra time to draw their new district boundaries.

Chiles, who has sole power to call a special session on legislative redistricting, insisted that lawmakers first pass a merger of two remote government housekeeping agencies in a three-hour special session Wednesday.

The Senate, which deadlocked Tuesday as Republicans resisted the governor's demands, finally voted 30-10 to pass a bill merging the departments of Administration and General Services. Nine Republicans joined 21 Democrats in favor.

The House quickly followed suit 81-27, reading the bill for the governor's signature.

In return, Chiles agreed to call the legislative redistricting special session to begin today. Democratic leaders optimistically hope to have a plan on the 120 House and 40 Senate districts ready for a final vote by Friday.

Lawmakers want to pass a plan as quickly as possible to meet a federal court deadline to submit a proposed map. They hope the three federal judges might accept their plan for the state Legislature, if not the 23 congressional districts.

"I think everybody understands the urgency of moving forward at this point," said Senate President Gwen Margolis, D-North Miami Beach.

But House Speaker T.K. Wetherell, D-Daytona Beach, was skeptical of finishing the work by Friday.

"I hope we'll stay here until we get it done," Wetherell said. "I wouldn't make a reservation to go home Friday."

Burglary suspect nabbed

Seminole County Sheriff's deputies arrested Darrin Andrew Waters, 22, 408 Tangelo Drive, Sanford, Tuesday night. He was wanted on a charge of grand theft, in the taking of $35,000 worth of baseball cards and $1,700 in cash, from a residence at 120 Dublin Drive, Lake Mary, on March 25. He has also been charged in connection with a burglary of the residence of Ray Adcock, 107 Pine Lake Drive, Sanford. Deputies reported Waters "did assist as a lookout and in sharing the profits from the burglary, ($200). He was charged with burglary and petit theft in the latter case.

Drug seller flags police car

A Sanford Police officer reported an incident at 11th and Bay Avenue Tuesday night. He said while he and another officer were in an unmarked police vehicle, a man "yelled at his vehicle in a manner consistent with drug sellers." When they exited the vehicle and the person saw them in complete uniform, they report he first attempted to escape on a bicycle, then threw the bike at one of the officers, injuring his leg. The other officer reportedly wrestled the man to the ground. Willie Whetstone, 25, 2104 Summerlin Ave., was charged with battery to a law enforcement officer, and loitering in a drug area. The officers report finding a suspected crack pipe in his pocket, and also charged him with possession of drug paraphernalia.

Dog finds drugs

Sanford Police found two men in a park, at 24th Street and Chase Avenue early Wednesday morning. They called for assistance, and when a K-9 unit arrived, the dog reportedly indicated the presence of drugs. A search of the men and their vehicle uncovered what was later proven to be cocaine. Tim B. Hampton, 19, 2371 Center St., Sanford, and Brandon William Cash, 20, 108 Ellen Place, Sanford, were both arrested and charged with possession of a controlled substance.

Longwood man charged with violence

Alvin Royce Henderson, 31, 305 E. Palmetto Ave., Longwood, was arrested by Longwood police at his home Monday night and charged with domestic violence. A woman told police Henderson pushed her into an ottoman, bruising her thigh.

DUI charged in Casselberry

Ismael Pito Diaz, 25, 229 Coachman Court, Sanford, was charged with drunken driving, driving with a license suspended 18 times, and failure to stay within a single lane of traffic by Casselberry police Monday morning. A policeman reported stopping Diaz after watching him drive for a tenth of a mile on U.S. Highway 17-92 straddling two lanes.

Lake Mary woman arrested

Rita Veronica Scott, 39, 408 Sun Lake Circle, Apt. 108, Lake Mary, was arrested by Seminole County deputies Monday evening and charged with domestic violence. Deputies report Scott used her car to ram a car driven by her former fiancé at a Lake Emma Road convenience store.

Disturbing the peace charged

Edmund Gerard Djeridi Jr., 28, 986-100 Helmsly Court, Lake

Mary, was charged with disturbing the peace early Monday morning.

Seminole County deputies report a woman living at Djeridi's condominium reported he called her numerous times and threw objects at her window. After Djeridi was warned by deputies, they later reported seeing him throwing objects at her building and arrested him, reports state.

Warrant arrests

The following wanted persons have been taken into custody:
 • Willie Lee Gainey II, 22, 380 Snow Hill Road, Geneva, was arrested by a Seminole County deputy Monday. Gainey was wanted in Orange County on charges he violated the terms of his probation on a concealed firearm conviction.

• James Mason Murphy, 21, 204 Meadow Hills Drive, Sanford, was arrested at the Seminole County jail Monday after being delivered there from the Volusia County jail. Murphy was wanted on charges he violated the terms of his probation for a theft conviction.

• Michael James Dorn, 23, 1822 Landing Drive, Sanford, was arrested by Seminole County deputies Tuesday at his home. He was wanted for violation of parole on a conviction of resisting arrest with violence.

• Tammy Maria White, 24, 70 Seminole Gardens Apartments, was arrested by Sheriff's deputies Tuesday at her home. She was wanted for failing to appear to answer a charge of retail theft.

• Mary Evelyn Helshman, 1120 Florida St., Sanford, was arrested by Seminole County deputies at her home Tuesday. She was wanted on a warrant charging her with failing to appear at the probation office, following a conviction of battery.

• Raymond L. Smith, 24, 1900 W. 18th St., Sanford, was arrested by Seminole County Sheriff's deputies at his home Tuesday. He was wanted on a warrant charging with carrying a concealed firearm.

Sanford, Seminole crimes reported

The following crimes have been reported to Seminole County deputies and Sanford police:

• Two women reported being robbed at gunpoint Tuesday night. Carlate Franchesca Montgomery of Sanford, and Marie Elizabeth Rankin of Casselberry, told Sheriff's deputies they had stopped their car at the intersection of Southwest Road and 18th Street, when 12 to 14 males jumped in front of their car. They reported that several of the men had guns pointed at them. After robbing the women of 10 rings and assorted jewelry, they told deputies the men fled in several cars.

• A radar detector and other items valued at $450 were reported taken from a vehicle parked in the 100 block of Dunshce Drive near Markham Woods Road. The theft occurred sometime between 2:00 p.m. Saturday and 5 a.m. Monday.

• Antiques and collectibles were reported taken from a home on Banana Lake Road in Paola. The burglary occurred sometime between 11:30 a.m. Saturday and 11:40 a.m. Monday.

• Several customer and company autos in the body shop of Aristocrat Volkswagen, 4175 S. Orlando Drive, were reported vandalized or burglarized sometime between 8 p.m. Sunday and 7:15 a.m. Monday.

• $592 in cash was reportedly taken from the cash box at Texaco Express Lube Center, 2710 S. Orlando Drive. Sanford Police report the incident occurred Tuesday afternoon, while employees were in the shop area.

Eslinger graduates from FBI Program

By VICKI DeBORNER

Sheriff Don Eslinger

SANFORD — Sheriff Don Eslinger was among 248 law enforcement officers to graduate from the FBI National Academy Program in Quantico, Virginia last month.

The three-month program offers advanced investigative, management and fitness training for "selected officers having a proven record as a professional within his or her agency," according to information provided by the FBI.

Training in the program is provided by FBI Academy, special agents holding advanced degrees, many of whom are recognized internationally in their field of expertise. The course work can be used as credit toward a degree at the University of Virginia.

Eslinger has a high school degree from Warren, Mich., and has taken some community college classes at Seminole Community College in Sanford and in Michigan.

He took his police academy training at Seminole Community College.

Eslinger was appointed to fill the post of sheriff after John E. Polk, whose health was failing.

retired last year. Previously, he had served as head of the City-County Investigative Bureau.

He is presently campaigning to keep his job as Sheriff. He is being opposed in that quest by Republicans Harvey Morse, a private investigator; former Seminole County sheriff's captain Harold "Beau" Taylor; former Seminole County deputy Larry Conniff and Orange County corrections officer Steven Durkovic; and Democrat David Locker, a former investigator for the Orange County State Attorneys Office.

Sewage treatment plant startup is delayed again

By J. MARK BARFIELD
Herald Staff Writer

YANKEE LAKE — The startup of Seminole County's Northwest Area Regional Wastewater Treatment Facility, better known as the "Yankee Lake sewage treatment plant," has been delayed again.

Hugh Sipes, manager of the county Utilities Division, said the 2.5 million gallon per day facility west of Interstate 4 should fully operate by May. Sipes said an earlier target of a March start had to be set back due to a last-minute permit snag with the Florida Department of Environmental Regulation.

DER is seeking more data regarding the facility's operations, said Sipes. The DER permit is needed to actually operate the facility.

Sipes said construction of the $3.2 million wetlands disposal system is nearing completion, but has not been tested. The $10 million treatment facility has been operable since April 1990 but only wellwater is periodically circulated through the plant.

The facility was originally intended to be opened in January 1990 to treat wastewater from Heathrow, Lake Monroe and the northwestern areas of the county.

Two schools set graduation in Orlando

By VICKI DeBORNER
Herald Staff Writer

LAKE MARY — The pomp and circumstance surrounding the Lake Mary High School graduates will take place at the Orlando Arena on June 9 this year.

Though the graduation ceremony has traditionally been held in Don T. Reynolds Stadium on the campus, principal Don Smith said the seniors and their parents think it's time to try something new.

"We've polled the seniors and involved the parents in this decision," said Smith. "We no longer have adequate seating and we've been fighting the weather."

Smith said that rain has been a part of graduation exercises for at least the last several years. He noted, however, that the weather has never caused a delay in or a cancellation of ceremonies.

The Lake Brantley High School graduation will also take place at the Orlando Arena on June 9. Their ceremony will be at 3 p.m. and Lake Mary's will begin at 7 p.m.

Smith said that his school and Lake Brantley will share the cost of renting the arena. The money to pay for the rental will come from the graduation fees normally charged to seniors.

Smith said that the cost of using the arena is approximately $5,000 for the day. The final cost has not yet been agreed upon.

John Durman, event coordinator at the Arena said $5,000 is the top cost for rental, for payment of ushers and police guards and for clean up after the ceremonies.

Smith said that the seniors tried to find a Seminole County location for their graduation, but couldn't find a place that was large enough to accommodate the 550 or so graduates and their families and friends.

District proposes Wekiva rules

By J. MARK GARFIELD
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — In what is being described as state-of-the-art water management, the St. Johns River Water Management District may adopt minimum levels for the Wekiva River and the discharge from springs that feed it to regulate well pumping and other river system impacts.

"This is water management at its best," said Cliff Neubauer, the district's manager of the project. "It will allow us to protect the system from ecological harm and aid us in managing water usage."

The water district governing board will take public comment on the proposal April 8 in the district's Palatka offices.

If approved, the water management district may begin using a computer model of the Wekiva River and Blackwater Creek Basin by early September to determine the impacts from groundwater pumping, drainage systems and other water uses.

The regulation will ultimately assure the river environment and nearby wetlands environment will be protected throughout periodic fluctuations in water levels, said Neubauer.

The computer model will provide data that be used to restrict well pumping, determine drainage requirements or even declare localized water shortages. The water use restrictions might be imposed in the river basin area and nowhere else. Such water shortages lead to irrigation and other household use restrictions imposed by the district two years ago.

The Wekiva River basin includes most of the areas of Seminole County west of Interstate 4. Blackwater Creek is located in Lake County and is crossed by State Road 44.

District scientific staff have spent about two years compiling data of the river level at State Road 44 and the flow rates of the eight springs that feed the river, said Neubauer. The groundwater levels have also been monitored throughout the basin.

All of the information has been "crunched" together to determine the effect of pumping on the amount of flow from the springs and ultimately, the level of the river. Neubauer said the study found that the river can fluctuate among several different levels and still maintain the plant and animal species supported by the river and neighboring wetlands.

If the river reaches a level that district scientists expect will occur once in less than 100 years, the water use restrictions would be put in place.

Also, if pumping reduces the spring flow below the established levels, pumping restrictions and limits may be imposed on pumping permits.

Neubauer said the Wekiva model will eventually be used for other basins feeding lakes and rivers.

Seminole school bus problem less severe than neighbors'

By VICKI BOEDERMAN
Herald Staff Writer

WINTER SPRINGS — Discipline problems on school buses in Seminole County are relatively minor, according to Jerry Klein, director of transportation for the school district. The drastic measures taken to curb problems in some districts are not necessary here.

School authorities in Orange County are videotaping student misbehavior on school buses, but they are keeping the kids guessing as to which vehicles actually have the cameras on board.

In a pilot program, a black box sits above the bus driver's rear view mirror on 14 buses. A sign next to it warns students that they may be videotaped at any time. The catch is that only two of the boxes actually contain cameras.

"We are committed to safety and the students arriving to school ready to learn," said Joseph Wise, school district transportation director. "If they have a bad experience on the bus, their mind is elsewhere."

Klein said that he doesn't believe it would be cost effective to take up a similar program in Seminole County.

"I don't think our problems are severe enough to warrant the purchase of $1,000 worth of equipment per bus," Klein said.

Last year, county bus divers referred more than 9,600 students to principals after trouble on school buses.

PUBLIC HEARING NOTICE COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT BLOCK GRANT PROGRAM SEMINOLE COUNTY

Prior to September 1, 1992, Seminole County will submit its Final Statement of Objectives and Projected Use Funds for its Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) Program for 1992-93. The U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) has set aside approximately $1,968,000 to use in activities in lower-income neighborhoods throughout Seminole County and the cities of Altamonte Springs, Casselberry, Lake Mary, Longwood, Oviedo, Sanford and Winter Springs.

The grant funds may be used for a variety of activities, but each activity must predominantly benefit low and moderate income persons. Eligible activities include, but are not limited to, capital improvements such as street paving, water and sewer lines, real property acquisition, relocation, rehabilitation of buildings, economic development, public facilities and public services.

A public hearing will be held on Thursday, April 9, 1992 in order to provide information about the program and to obtain the views of citizens on Seminole County's housing and community development needs. The hearing will be held at 7:30 p.m. in the Commission Chambers of the County Services Building located at 1101 E. First Street in Sanford.

All interested Seminole County residents are encouraged to attend and participate in this public hearing. For more information please call Buddy Balagia or Matt Kane in the Seminole County Planning Office at 321-1130, extension 7384.

No changes foreseen in new ambulance services

By J. MARK BARFIELD
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — The manager of Atlantic Ambulance Services in Seminole County says the public and employees will see no changes next month when the company is acquired by a Pinellas County ambulance company.

"We'll have the same staff, the same management, the same services," said Walt Eismann, county manager for the Fort Lauderdale-based Atlantic. "The ambulances will even have 'Atlantic Ambulance Service' on the sides, the same as they do now."

Eismann said Atlantic customers who have a discount service subscription will also see no change in service.

Eismann said the new company, LifeFleet Ambulance Service, is owned by Seccomerica, which in turn is owned by Seccom, a Japanese company.

Gary Kaiser, director of the county Public Safety Department, said county officials will meet next week with staff from Atlantic and LifeFleet. Kaiser said LifeFleet will have to produce financial statements and service information but does not anticipate a problem in transferring the county contract from Atlantic to LifeFleet.

"LifeFleet at one time was Medic One," said Kaiser. "They've been a very good company for many years."

In 1990, the county awarded a three-year contract to Atlantic, dropping American Medical Transport after three years. County officials decided Atlantic could offer the same level of service to residents for a lower rate. The contract change angered AMT employees who feared layoffs. Most of the AMT personnel were hired by Atlantic.

Debt's shadow

This year's projected federal deficit of almost $400 billion will set another record. But it certainly will not be the last.

According to the latest estimates by the Congressional Budget Office, astronomical deficits are in prospect for at least the next decade. By 2002, in fact, the deficit will be much higher than today, climbing to $432 billion, if the CBO's projections are correct.

The hard fiscal reality is that the White House and Congress have practically capitulated in the battle against the deficit. Moreover, the presidential candidates of both parties have essentially ignored this growing long-term threat to the American economy.

Washington's deficit spending corrodes the economy's vitality in a multitude of ways. By soaking up private savings, the deficit limits the amount of capital available to modernize business and industry and thereby increase U.S. productivity. And by restricting the availability of capital for the private sector, the deficit drives up long-term interest rates and therefore the cost of doing business. All of these factors weaken America's competitiveness in the global economy.

According to a study by the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, the U.S. economy grew by 3 percent less during the 1980s than it would have without the deficit. By 2000, the nation's economic growth will be 6 percent less due to the deficit, the study concluded.

The reason the government is losing the fight against the deficit is that President Bush and lawmakers virtually have exempted from cuts the huge entitlement programs that account for half of all federal spending. Deep reductions in defense outlays have been more than offset by the rapid growth of such middle-class entitlement programs as Social Security and Medicare.

During the last four years alone, federal spending on domestic programs has surged by 24.5 percent after adjusting for inflation. Domestic spending this year will consume 14.8 percent of the nation's gross domestic product, up from 12.2 percent in 1989.

Steep increases in health care costs borne by the government are among the largest contributors to the deficit. And the CBO estimates these costs will continue to rise much faster than the rest of the budget through the end of the decade.

For example, if present trends continue, the Medicare program for the elderly will soar from $128 billion in 1992 to $301 billion in 2000. The Medicaid program for the poor will jump from $68 billion this year to $180 billion in 2000. These two programs alone will account for 5.3 percent of gross domestic product in 2000, compared with 3.4 percent today, according to the CBO forecasts.

Over the long term, such increases in government spending on medical care are simply not sustainable. The CBO projections highlight the critical need for fundamental reforms to contain health care inflation for both the public and private sectors.

For more than a decade, Washington has been living beyond its means on an alarming scale, piling up ever-higher levels of debt for future generations to repay. Unless the President and Congress begin to make the hard choices required to bring the deficit under control, the inevitable consequence will be reduced living standards for our children and grandchildren.

WILLIAM A. RUSHER

This election is year of outsider

Political observers agree that 1992 is the Year of the Outsider: one of those times when the national gorge rises and conventional politicians are in danger of being hunted down and beaten up in dark alleys.

This popular mood is bound to harm George Bush and Bill Clinton to some degree, for both have been on the political scene too long to escape being labeled Insiders. That fact has given rise to two fascinating candidates for the presidency, both of whom are positioning themselves as quintessential Outsiders.

Jerry Brown, of course, was practically born an Insider, being the son and namesake of a Democratic governor of California and having twice held that office himself, as well as serving more recently as chairman of the Democratic state committee. But Brown is coming on this year as a born-again Outsider, running in revulsion against the whole system that nurtured him.

What's more, Brown's life to date makes this sea-change entirely plausible. With no money worries and an inquisitive mind, he has just about nailed down a reputation as the National Flake, interrupting his off-and-on political career to study Zen Buddhism in Japan, go on a safari in Africa with Linda Ronstadt, and spend a couple of weeks cleaning bedpans for Mother Teresa in Calcutta. If he says he's now a political Outsider, who dares to contradict him? Next year he may be living in a tree.

Of course, he has about as much chance of getting the Democratic nomination as I do. But every vote he gets in the primaries — and he's getting quite a few — testifies to the readiness of many voters to try anything this year as long as it smacks of novelty. Brown is peculiarly well fitted to benefit from such a mood, since he has no more settled principles than a pain-crazed rattlesnake. Once, back when he was governor, he even accidentally made some remark (I have forgotten what) so sensible that I tried to interview him about it. But by then he was off on some new, typically cockeyed tack.

This popular mood is bound to harm Bush and Clinton.

Then there is H. Ross Perot, the self-made Texas billionaire, who says he doesn't want the presidency but will stretch a point and run for it if his supporters can get him on the ballot in all 50 states. In addition to doing extremely well in business, Perot has shown a flair for taking direct and forceful action in a good cause, by staging a wholly private and successful effort to spring two of his employees from an Iranian prison back in the days of the late Ayatollah.

That sort of thing, plus a knack for simplistic but colorful pronouncements on various issues, is of course exactly what a lot of folks think America needs, and Perot's phone banks are ringing off the hook with people who want to help. Money, of course, is no problem; Perot has said he would be willing to spend $100 million of his own on the campaign, which is about what Bush and Clinton (or whoever) will spend combined.

If Perot does run, however, the remorseless processes of a presidential campaign will excavate his personal life and business career with unpredictable results, and the questions he will be forced to answer on the issues will get more and more pointed. Are you going to retain all those middle-class entitlements, Mr. Perot? And if so, how are you going to pay for them?

JOSEPH SPEAR

Bush's Rushdie snub a shame

From time to time during the past three years, I have tendered the opinion that when it comes to matters of principle, George Bush and his minions dwell in a dimly lit mansion.

Recent circumstance has forced a re-evaluation, and I now report the situation is even worse than suspected. When it comes to morality in the conduct of public affairs, the Bush White House is a black hole. There is no visible light in it.

The event that brought me to this bleak conclusion was the recent visit to Washington by Salman Rushdie, the British-born author who has been living underground in the United Kingdom since the late Ayatollah Khomeini commanded his followers to kill the author in 1989. Rushdie's sin: His novel, "The Satanic Verses," allegedly blasphemed the Islamic religion.

Said the mad imam: "All those involved in (the book's) publication are sentenced to death. I ask all Moslems to execute them quickly wherever they are found so that no others dare to do such a thing. Whoever is killed doing this will be regarded as a martyr and will go directly to Heaven."

It was a barbaric act and an intolerable affront to the rational world that should have been condemned by every authority on the planet, communist or capitalist, secular or cleric. Civilized people do not murder other people for writing books, however distasteful. They just don't.

But most world leaders, caught up in the lofty affairs of state and afraid of terrorist attack, looked the other way. George Bush, president of the nation where the beacon of freedom once burned its brightest, intrepidly pronounced the death threat "deeply offensive." Like littering, for instance.

And that brings me to the reason I now believe the Bush White House has become barren of principle. What Bush said in 1989 was downright gutsy compared to what his spokesman had to say during Rushdie's recent journey, when the beleaguered author was looking for a signal that the leader of the world's greatest democracy might have a modicum of interest in his plight.

Said Marlin Fitzwater: "There's no reason for any special relationship with Rushdie. I mean, he's an author, he's here, he's doing interviews and book tours and things that authors do. But there's no reason for us to have any special interest in him."

I say without equivocation, I cannot recall hearing a public official utter a more craven statement. As an American who believes in the basic right of all human beings to speak their minds and who proudly regards my nation as an asylum for those who defy the world's despots, I am ashamed.

Rushdie was brought to Washington clandestinely by the American University School of Communication (with which I am proud to be associated) to speak at an international conference on free expression. The professor who arranged the visit, Scott Armstrong, was so concerned about possible retaliation that he moved his family to a secret location. If professors can stand up and be counted, why can't the president?

Rushdie was invited to Capitol Hill for a luncheon with members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, many of whom had their pictures taken with the author. If legislators can stand up and be counted, why can't the president?

It could have been such a simple thing — say a private meeting in the Oval Office — that would've spoken volumes. It could have been a tremendously courageous thing — a photo-op in the Rose Garden and a statement: "Mr. Rushdie, I have not read your book and I probably would not endorse it if I had. But I do endorse the fundamental freedoms, and you will find sanctuary in this nation any time you wish to seek it."

But our president said no such thing. Instead, he had his prolocutor issue a spineless statement about having no special interest in a book peddler.

Perhaps George Bush and his factotum spoke for you. They did not speak for me.

Civilized people do not murder other people for writing books.

Clinton should call Colin Powell

A campaign of tumult and tribulation simmers in mid-year hiatus, in the heat of summer. Now the action is in the back rooms. Sweating it out in Little Rock, Bill Clinton makes his final bid to convince the party pros — the super-delegates — to stand firm and make him their Democratic presidential nominee.

He decides to seal his nomination by disclosing the identity of a bold choice for a running mate. And so, over the Fourth of July weekend, Clinton dials the private number of the one person who will impress us as not just supremely qualified but in stark contrast to the incumbent job-holder) as the most qualified individual to lead our nation, if tragedy strikes.

Clinton offers the vice presidential spot on his ticket to Gen. Colin Powell, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff. Powell tells Clinton he is flattered — frankly, stunned — by the offer. Clinton is relieved that Powell doesn't dismiss his offer with a thanks-but-no-thanks.

Clearly, a selling job must be done. Clinton knows this son of Jamaican immigrants may have risen to be President Reagan's national security adviser, but that doesn't mean that he is a Republican. In 1984, young Powell was driving near Ft. Benning, Ga., when he was stopped by a state trooper handing out campaign bumperstrips for Republican Barry Goldwater. The trooper wasn't pleased; this black soldier's Volkswagen had New York plates — and even worse, it had this bumperstrip: "All the Way With LBJ."

Clinton knows too that Bob Woodward's insightful book, "The Commanders," discussed the significant concerns Powell had about George Bush's 1988 presidential campaign. Woodward, who had extraordinary access to officials whose thinking he chronicled, added: "The race-baiting Willie Horton television commercial especially bothered him.... Did the people around Bush really believe that stuff belonged in the campaign?"

Let me note: I haven't had access, extraordinary or otherwise, to firsthand accounts of any concerns about Bush that may linger with Powell today. But I believe he'd have similar distaste for Bush's divisive attempt to lure middle-class whites by driving a wedge labeled "quotas" between America's races. Insisting Democrats are "pro-quotas" (translation: "pro-blacks").

I'd expect Powell to be troubled by Bush's inaction on the exploding problems of crime and life in our cities, especially the guns and violence that turn school days into nightmares for kids like those in the South Bronx, where Powell grew up. He should view with contempt Bush's policy on assault weapons: Ban guns made overseas but don't ban identical weapons made in the USA. So too, Bush's three years of say-nothing/do-nothing about our national health crisis.

But Powell may be troubled about being vice president to a President Clinton. On the Vietnam War, Powell, who served with honor, may find it hard to accept the fact that Clinton's early explanations for how he missed serving had a different tone before his controversial letter to the ROTC colonel was leaked. (But he may be impressed by the thoughts of a young Clinton, genuinely distressed by U.S. war policy.)

And that may get Powell to the larger issue: Is he worried Clinton may be too fond of shading truths to suit exigencies? We just don't know.

Can Powell see himself as Clinton's vice president?

Clearly, a selling job must be done.

Duany

need to make changes, you can do it later."

He suggested the City appoint the Historical Trust to approve requests for homes being rebuilt, and inform the city of problems or violations as they are noted.

"You probably would do well to require the homes to meet all of these standards at the end of possibly a two year time period," he said. "Of course there should be time extensions given in cases of economic hardships."

The plan in written form won't be available for study until early next week. The suggested rules were presented in slide form, with no copies available. Sue Olinger, president of the Sanford Historic Trust, indicated she would have copies made and placed for public distribution at the First Street Gallery in downtown Sanford next week.

From that point on, Duany suggested the master list be studied, then presented by possibly the Historic Trust, to the City for consideration and approval.

Duany's plan does not call for modernization, rather for returning the old structures in the city to their original but improved state.

Duany and several members of his staff arrived late, but spoke before an enthusiastic, standing room only gathering, in the commission chambers at the Sanford City Hall.

"What I am presenting here," he said, "is a master plan on how to go about preserving and improving the residential areas of Sanford." He pointed out, "This plan does not deal with the downtown business area. That's something we should consider later."

He said he felt comfortable with his decisions and with presenting them to the people. "We are not locals," he said, "so we are not concerned with the political complexity of the city." He added, "When I make a recommendation, it's based on what I believe, not necessarily what the City might want."

His presentation started with a double slide show, most of which depicted what he saw as good and bad sides of the residential sections of the City.

He covered many points:

• House appearances — Duany's slides showed a small cement block construction home in a suburb and a 1920's era three story structure in Sanford. "Why would anyone buy this house in the suburb when you could get this beautiful older house in Sanford," he asked, then explained, "The only difference is the amount of money you can get on a loan. The money will not include refurbishing costs for the older home."

• Residential fences — Slides showed two homes. One with a chain link fence, the other with a white picket fence. "When I look at a chain link fence," Duany said, "I think of a prison camp or a place to keep dogs. Doesn't the picket fence give a much better appearance?"

• Schools — One slide showed a group of portable classrooms, the other showed the historical but now demolished Sanford Middle School. Pointing at the portables he said, "Why would you go here to school, when you could go to this beautiful old structure?" Duany's slides were taken last year, prior to the demolition. Regarding schools he suggested, "Rather than spend money building new schools, why not concentrate on refurbishing the old ones. After all, it isn't the building, it's the level of education that's important."

• Streets — Duany showed several close-up slides of street surfaces. Regarding a brick street he observed, "Look at this, doesn't this look just beautiful. They just don't build streets like this any more."

Regarding a slide showing a brick street that had been paved over but with the paving breaking open, he commented, "This is the damage you have been doing to your streets. They have been treated poorly by Public Works Departments in past years."

• Commercial buildings — While Duany did not specifically present plans for the downtown commercial area, he showed slides giving examples of the many historic buildings along 1st and 2nd Streets, as compared to more recently constructed buildings which had flat roofs, and little beauty. "When you put a newer building next to an old historic structure," he said, "you are really ruining the identity of each of them." He added, "this kind of thing will have to be stopped."

The "Duany Project", as it is called, is sponsored by the Sanford Historic Trust, with financial assistance from the City as well as private donors and fund raising events. It has been underway since February of last year.

The first meetings were held Oct. 11 and 12 at the Civic Center, when Duany and his staff conducted a two day charette during which citizens and officials had their opportunity to describe what they conceive to be the future of the City.

Since that time, he has been developing the total master plan presented for the first time during last night's meeting.

Following the slide presentation, Duany fielded many questions from the packed audience, most of which he referred to the plans. "Wait until you see the entire written master plan," he said a number of times, "then you'll know exactly what will have to be done to revitalize the city."

In response to one citizen comment about cleanliness Duany said, "In order to be great, there are two things cities must achieve, safety and cleanliness." He suggested, "While I think Sanford is a clean city compared to many I have seen, you may just feel as though it's time to do better, so get out there and start to work on it, don't wait for some action by the City."

One comment that drew applause was made early in the evening, Duany observed, "There was a time when the people of Sanford were proud of their city and gave it their very best in building construction and up-keep. I believe it's time to start putting it back that way again." He added, "And you don't have to wait for the City, you can start doing it yourself. Maybe just one person, and soon a group will form, then more groups, and finally, you'll have everything underway."

Duany pleased with block party

SANFORD — Following a lengthy presentation at the Sanford City Hall, Andres Duany was the guest at a local neighborhood block party. Three dozen guests extended Sanford hospitality and gave him a brief tour of homes.

The party was hosted by Rob and Beverly Elliott, at their 1928 era home, at 110 W. 19th St. A majority of persons attending were neighbors who live in surrounding homes, many of which were built in the early to mid 1920's.

Rob Elliott commented, "He seemed to really enjoy the event, and spent time sitting on the porch under the large tree talking about the future of the city with various people."

"During the evening," Elliott said, "a number of our neighbors took Duany on a tour of their homes which are all remodeled to depict the early years. He seemed to like the homes as well as the furnishings a great deal, especially the porch areas, which he highly favors."

He added, "Duany told us that the block party atmosphere was the type of cohesive unit that will keep neighbors together, and help everyone."

Although it was planned to begin an hour earlier, because of the length of the presentation earlier in the evening, the block party didn't get underway until 9 p.m. "Everyone was so interested in hearing what Mr. Duany had to say about the historical refurbishing of Sanford," Elliott said, "that we all sat around and talked until almost midnight."

Both of the Elliotts are members of the Sanford Historic Trust, which sponsored Duany's visit to the Sanford area, and helped finance the extensive plans he has presented for a return to the past with a revitalization of the residential area.

Andres Duany, right, discusses historic architecture with Sanford resident Karl Schneider during an old-fashioned block party at 110 W. 19 St. Party host Rob Elliott said Duany loved the porch-sitting atmosphere in front of his restored historical home.

Superintendent candidate list down to five

By VICKI DeGORMAN
Herald Staff Writer

SANFORD — The names of five finalists were selected last night to be presented to the Seminole County School Board by the citizens committee called upon to help them fill the position of superintendent of schools.

According to Larry Strickler, chairman of the committee, the diverse group of business leaders, educators, parents and school district administrators, came together easily when it came time to make the decision about who should get the nod.

"I think the process worked great," Strickler said. "We built more and more consensus each time we met with this diverse group."

On Monday, the group selected their top 14 candidates and consultant Wayne Blanton presented his list of who he believed were the top 15. There were nine names on both lists.

From those nine, these five were selected as the top candidates.

• Paul Hagerty, who has been superintendent of the Springfield (Missouri) School system since 1981, received 20 votes from the committee.

He also served as superintendent of Bibb County (Macon, GA) Public School system from 1977 to 1981.

Hagerty, who is a strong advocate of the strategic planning techniques of Dr. Bill Cook that are being implemented in the Seminole County schools was also among the top candidates in superintendent searches in Tennessee and in Texas.

Hagerty served as a school board member in Germantown, Wis., from 1988 to 1971.

• Dr. Gary Mathews, who has served as associate superintendent for instructional services with the Spring Branch of the Houston Independent School District since 1967, got 17 votes of approval from the committee.

He also served as assistant superintendent for curriculum with the Jackson (Miss.) Public School District from 1984 to 1987.

Mathews is in favor of the school-based management techniques being studied by the Seminole County schools.

• Dr. Diana "Dick" Cabbage, who has served as area superintendent of the Wichita (Kan.) Public Schools, received 14 positive votes from the committee.

She has worked her way up through the ranks in the Wichita public schools where she started her career as a high school teacher in 1963. She has served as a principal at several schools in that district in addition to serving as divisional director of junior high schools.

She was praised by referees included with her application for her ability to integrate instructional integrity with financial success.

• Dr. Phillip J. McDaniel, who has served as superintendent of the Washington Township school system in Indianapolis, Indiana since 1982, got 13 votes from the committee.

He also served as superintendent of schools for the Crown Point Community School Corporation in Crown Point, Indiana from 1976-1982.

McDaniel has also done research and presentations on a variety of topics, including community involvement in schools and school funding alternatives.

• Dr. S. Gene Denisar, who has served as superintendent of the North Kansas City (Missouri) Public Schools since 1984, received 10 nods of approval from the committee members.

He also served as superintendent of schools in Reynoldsburg, Ohio from 1979 to 1984 and as superintendent of the community unit school district in Tolono, Illinois from 1977 to 1979.

Blanton will present the list, in alphabetical order, to the school board on Tuesday.

Candidates will be visited in their home districts and invited to Seminole County for interviews.

The board hopes to make a final decision by May 5 and have the new superintendent in place by June 15.

Lions trump Tribe ace

Werner gets drop on Chunut

By BILL KERNIS
Herald Correspondent

OVIEDO — In attempting to fulfill the promise posed by an 18-0 start and a No. 1 ranking in the Class 3A state polls, the Seminole High School varsity baseball team suffered its third straight loss Wednesday night 2-1 to Oviedo at Oviedo High School.

Winning pitcher Rick Werner overpowered Seminole, striking out 13 and allowing one hit. Only two Seminole hitters reached scoring position, both in the fifth inning when the Tribe scored its only run.

In improving to 6-1, Werner outpitched Seminole's ace Jeremy Chunut.

"We're not playing badly," said Seminole head coach Mike Powers. "We've just faced three teams' best pitchers. When you've got that tag saying No. 1, everybody's after you." Werner pitched a great game and struck out our team. Jeremy Chunut also did a great job out there, as did Phillip King and Anthony Roberts in the outfield.

With the win, Oviedo moves into a first-place tie with Seminole in the Seminole Athletic Conference standings at 5-2. Now 15-7 overall, the Lions have won six straight games.

Both teams have three conference games remaining. Seminole plays at Lake Mary this Friday (7 p.m.), hosts Lake Howell next Wednesday (April 8) and travels to Lake Brantley the following Friday (April 10). Oviedo is at Lake Howell this Friday (3:30 p.m.) before hosting Lyman on April 8 and Lake Mary on the 10th.

"We've been cheating all year to be in this position with the conference lead," said Oviedo head coach Mike Ferrell. "I have nothing but respect for Seminole. We've played them three times and it's always been decided by one run. God, what a team they have. I told them that I hope they make state."

Oviedo jumped on top in the first inning as Twiggs singled home Timmy Slavik. After that, Seminole's Jeremy Chunut held the Lions in check until tiring in the sixth inning.

Werner held Seminole hitless through four innings, recorded seven of the first 12 outs by strikeout. But Anthony Roberts reached second base on a throwing error to start Seminole's fifth inning and John Lugerling singled him home.

Unfortunately for Seminole, Roberts sprained his ankle after crossing home plate and had to leave the game.

Kevin Twiggs and Todd Bellhorn led off the sixth inning with doubles to give Oviedo the 2-1 lead. Twiggs went 3-for-3 in the game for Oviedo while Adam Coleman went 2-for-3.

Chunut (6-1) allowed seven hits, struck out four, and walked one intentionally. He had to pitch out of a pair of jams, leaving a runner on third base in the third and the bases loaded in the fourth.

"I just laid the first pitch of the sixth inning in instead of going in-and-out," said Chunut. "In other words, I did tire. I did pitch well, but Werner pitched even better than I did. He was throwing hard."

Rams end four-game skid by beating 'Hounds

From staff reports

LONGWOOD — Turnabout's fair play. On Tuesday night, Lyman High School needed nine innings to pull out a 4-3 baseball victory over the host Lake Mary Rams.

Wednesday night, the Rams visited Lyman and struck early, scoring nine runs in the first three innings on their way to a 10-7 Seminole Athletic Conference victory over the Greyhounds and a split of the regular season series between the two conference rivals.

The victory snaps a four-game losing streak for Lake Mary (10-15 overall, 2-5 in the SAC) and was just the Rams' second win in their last 10 games. Lyman, which lost for just the second time in its last six games, is now 11-11 overall, 2-5 in the conference.

Lake Mary only collected six hits during the contest to Lyman's 11. But the Rams, who collected the half dozen safeties in the first two innings, got the most out of them, stranding just six base runners all game long. By comparison, the Greyhounds left 11 men on base.

Five of Lake Mary's six singles came during the Rams' five-run second inning. T.J. Hamilton drove in two runs with a bases-loaded single. Chad Ebbert also singled home a run. Dave Hudick, Brian Moratta and Jason Rasmussen added singles during the rally while Scott Johnston delivered an RBI sacrifice fly.

Trailing 6-1, Lyman struck for four runs in the bottom of the second to pull within one run, 6-5. But the Rams retaliated by scoring three runs without the benefit of a hit in the top of the third to take control of the game.

Ben Rovito, who relieved Lake Mary starting pitcher Moratta in the third inning, scattered six hits while allowing two runs to earn the win. Todd Herrbach was the starting and losing pitcher for the Greyhounds.

Pacing the Lake Mary attack were Ebbert (2-for-2 with a double and two RBI), Hamilton (1-for-2, one run scored, three RBI), Rasmussen (1-for-4, two runs, one RBI), Moratta (1-for-1, two runs) and Hudick (1-for-2, one run).

For Lyman, Kevin Stuckey was 4-for-5 with two doubles, three runs scored and two RBI. Chad Beland 3-went-4 with a pair of RBI. Will Ramirez had a 2-for-4 day. Shane Odom singled and scored a run. Naki Roberts also hit a single.

Lake Mary will play again Friday night at home against Seminole in a 7 p.m. contest. Lyman is off until Saturday, when the Greyhounds host Lake Brantley at 7 p.m.

IN THE SERVICE

MICHELLE R. HOPKINS

Airman 1st Class Michelle R. Hopkins has graduated from Air Force basic training at Lackland Air Force Base, Texas.

During the six weeks of training the airman studied Air Force mission, organization and customs and received special training in human relations.

In addition, airmen who complete basic training earn credits toward an associate degree through the Community College of the Air Force.

Hopkins is the daughter of William R. and Becky L. Hopkins of 256 Maureen Drive, Sanford.

She is a 1986 graduate of Seminole High School, Sanford.

JASON D. WEAVER

Pvt. Jason D. Weaver has completed basic training at Fort Knox, Ky.

During the training, students received instruction in drill and ceremonies, weapons, map reading, tactics, military courtesy, military justice, first aid, and Army history and traditions.

He is the son of Linda L. Luther of 450 Lakeshore Drive, Lake Mary, and Dale E. Weaver of 10600 Summertime Lane, Royal Palm Beach.

Weaver is a 1990 graduate of Lake Mary High School.

LARRY R. HOLT JR.

Larry R. Holt Jr. has been specially identified for early promotion to senior airman in the U.S. Air Force.

The airman was awarded the new rating ahead of other Air Force members by a "below-the-zone" promotion that which considered job performance, military knowledge, bearing, and self-improvement efforts. Holt is an apprentice inventory management specialist at Carswell Air Force Base, Texas.

He is the son of Larry R. Holt Sr. of 2028 Lighthouse Circle, Orlando, and Phyllis Staloway of 452 MacGregor Road, Winter Springs.

Tobacco advertising aimed at youth

DEAR ABBY: This letter is in response to "Former Smoker." You said, "Please don't blame the tobacco companies; we live in a country where people have the right to choose."

Abby, surely you are aware that the tobacco industry entices "replacement smokers" from our youth. Please note the following:

Tobacco advertising is aimed at kids. The tobacco industry needs 5,000 children to begin smoking every day to maintain its current market. Statistics show us that 60 percent of smokers begin by age 14, and 90 percent begin by age 19. Children do not have the cognitive ability that adults have and are easy prey for the tobacco industry. Nicotine, the addictive substance in cigarettes, may be more difficult to quit using than heroin.

Our kids get hooked at an early age, then many spend the rest of their lives trying to stop using tobacco. Yes, we make our own choices, but it takes more than one school health-education class to counteract the tobacco industry's multibillion-dollar blitz. We believe that every child has the right to be protected from exposure to advertising which promotes smoking as part of the good life, or connects smoking with sports or other health-giving activities.

CONNIE ACOTT, PROJECT DIRECTOR, TOBACCO-FREE SCHOOLS, COLORADO STATE UNIVERSITY

DEAR CONNIE: Thank you for some startling facts. I hope my young readers see your letter and take it seriously. It could add years to their lives.

DEAR ABBY: Your response to "Needing an Answer" fell short of the mark. A woman so incredibly shallow that she would turn down a date with a gentleman because he had a tooth missing needs a new value system — not dental referrals. But assuming you have more balanced standards, did you ever consider that the gentlemen with the missing tooth may not have been able to replace it?

A number of years ago, after 20 years of struggle — which included repeated pin implants, three crowns, oral surgery, major infections and thousands of dollars — a dentist extracted one of my teeth because there was nothing left to save or to use as a bed for another crown. The adjacent teeth were too weakened from cysts in the jaw to be used as anchors for a bridge, and my sinus canal was too low to accommodate an implant. I investigated every alternative. I even offered to test experimental procedures.

I detest not having a tooth, but if a solution is ever found, I will be the first to take advantage of it.

Until then, I will count myself fortunate never to have met a man so appallingly superficial as to reject me because I have a missing tooth.

I'm surprised you didn't give "Needing an Answer" more mature advice. Either that, or suggest she become a horse trader, where her ultra-strict criteria would be more appropriate.

MARTA GOOSEY, OREGON CITY, ORE.

DEAR MARTA: Thanks, I needed that. I confess, it did not occur to me that there could be legitimate reasons for a person to be walking around with a conspicuous gap where a tooth should be. I had assumed it was due to neglect, ignorance or a lack of pride.

DEAR ABBY: What is the proper wedding gift? If you hear via the grapevine that the meal is costing $40 per person, should the monetary gift be $80 or more per couple? Of can you give $40 or $50 — or a gift worth $25 or $40? In most instances, the bride's parents are footing the bill. Are the guest expected to "pay" for their meal, or should the gift be given as a remembrance from the guests?

WONDERING IN ELLDON
DEAR WONDERING: What you spend should be determined by the size of your budget, not the price of the wedding dinner. Spend only what you can afford on the wedding gift.

Get a straight answer on leg, arm numbness

MEDICINE

PETER GOTT, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: Every morning when I wake up my right arm is asleep, and it stays that way until I get up. My doctor says this happens to all pregnant women. I'm 83.
DEAR READER: Well! ... I gather you'd like a more definitive answer.

circulation through arteries in the pelvis. You're to be congratulated on having a doctor with an unusually bizarre sense of humor; he sounds like a real sketch. Now tell him to get serious and examine you to discover the reason for your paresthesias. He Paresthesias (tingling and numbness) commonly affect the extremities, giving us the well-known "falling asleep" sensation. Usually, this phenomenon is the result of insufficient oxygen supply to a nerve, as happens when we cross our legs and shut off circulation to the foot. When a nerve is deprived of oxygen, it lets us know there is a problem by tingling. Nighttime paresthesias occur when, during sleep, we place our arms (or legs) in positions that temporarily impede circulation. We usually stay asleep until the paresthesias become extreme enough to awaken us. These symptoms are not dangerous, but they certainly can interfere with sleep.

Of course, a person your age has a degree of arthritis, which could also cause paresthesias. This age-related affliction is frequently associated with bony outgrowths that can press on nerves, causing symptoms identical to those from poor circulation. Finally, for the sake of completeness, I should mention carpal tunnel syndrome. The nerves in the hands pass through the wrist under a thin band of tissue. For unknown reasons, this wrist-band may tighten and shrink, putting pressure on the nerves, resulting in paresthesias that may be more pronounced in certain positions and during certain hand movements, such as flexion. Pregnant women can experience paresthesias in the lower extremities, as the uterus enlarges and may retard

Answer to Previous Puzzle

WIN AT

By Phillip Alder
There is one instinct that is almost subconscious among defenders. If they see a chance to give their partners a ruff, they go ahead and do so. Rarely do they stop for a moment to consider the hand as a whole and the way the play will develop after the ruff. Cover the West and South hands in the diagram. Against the four-heart contract, your partner leads the spade five: three, ace, seven. How do you plan the defense? Two no-trump was the best opening bid with that South hand. It was too strong for one heart, yet not strong enough for another action. Stayman then uncovered the heart fit. East, knowing his partner had led a singleton, returned the spade two at trick two. West ruffed and switched to a club. Declarer won in the dummy and played a trump. East put up the ace and led another spade, but declarer ruffed high and claimed. East was unrealistic in expecting West to be able to overruff South on the third round of spades. South had to have all the missing 21 points as East could see the four jacks. East should have considered his target. Four tricks were needed, not three. East had to organize his club ruff before giving West his spade ruff. At trick two, East should have switched to the club seven. Declarer will win in the dummy and play a heart. But East wins with the heart ace and leads the spade two. West ruffs and, reading East's card as a suit-preference signal, returns a club. East's ruff defeats the contract. To slow down your play, consider sitting on your hand.

HOW TO

By Bernice Bode Goal
YOUR BIRTHDAY
April 8, 1992

The course you're presently steering looks good, and there are indications of rewards when you reach your port. However, if you make unwarranted changes, it could be another story.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Today could be a rather unusual day for you; you can be easily inspired yet easily disenchanted. This might hamper you from being consistently effective. Get a jump on life by understanding the influences governing you in the year ahead. Send for Arise's Astro-Graph predictions today by mailing $1.25 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Astro-Graph, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428. Be sure to state your zodiac sign.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Your hunches and perceptions could do you a disservice today, so don't react impulsively or prematurely in situations where your intuition dominates.

GENIE (May 21-June 20) If you've been borrowing things from friends lately, such as tools, materials or small amounts of cash, try to clear up these debts and put your books back in balance.

CANCER (June 21-July 23) Taken alone, your judgment isn't that bad today. But you could be easily swayed to alter your decisions based on the poor advice of counselors.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 23) If fellow workers do not grasp the essence of ideas as quickly as you do today, be patient. It won't hurt to repeat what you understand for their benefit.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 23) Usually, you're a rather prudent and pragmatic person, but today you might become intrigued by something that's a very risky financial involvement.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) If you're indecisive about making a major household purchase today, walk away and dismiss it from your mind temporarily. It could mean your need for this item is not urgent.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 23) It's best not to make assignments you feel are distasteful today. This is one of those times when you might benefit from putting off until later what you don't feel like doing today.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) If you're handling the resources of another, be extremely cautious today. And be doubly diligent when managing your own money. Indifference could be costly.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) You're a good salesman up to a point today. Just when you're ready to close the deal, you might say or do something foolish that will cause your prospect to back off.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Keeping secrets might not be your strong suit today. There's a chance you may reveal something to the wrong party that you promised to keep confidential.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Guard against the inclination today to reward the undeserving while overlooking the virtuous. There's a possibility you may do this in two separate cases. (C)1992, NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.
