

NEVADA DIVORCE COURT CANNOT COFLICT HERE ---DUVAL CIRCUIT COURT

Action Brings Up Question of Law in Tampa Divorce Case

NO JURISDICTION

TO GRANT RESIDENT OF FLORIDA A DIVORCE AT RENO AND IS FRAUD

(By The Associated Press)
CARSON CITY, Nev., May 3.—The action of the District Court of Nevada in granting a divorce was questioned by the Circuit Court of Duval county, Florida, which annulled the divorce granted Dr. Charles C. Blake, of Tampa, from Lillian C. Blake, at Reno January 5, 1921, according to notification received by attorney general Fowler. The Florida court held that the Nevada court had no jurisdiction to grant a divorce to a resident of Florida against a resident of that state. Florida court also held the divorce was obtained through fraud, asserting Mrs. Blake believed her husband to be in Chicago until after he had submitted the divorce.

JACKSONVILLE, May 3.—Circuit Judge Simmons April 19th approved the report of Cromwell Gibbons, special master, declaring the Blake divorce void. After the divorce Blake married a girl from Tampa in Jersey City. Under the special master's ruling Blake is required to pay Mrs. Lillian Blake $150 monthly from January 9, 1922, together with attorney fees and costs. Blake is said to have left Florida.

NAVY BOARD RECOMMENDS SCRAP SHIPS

WANT $70,000,000 FOR UNFINISHED WORK AND OTHERS SOLD FOR JUNK

WASHINGTON, May 3.—Recommendations that capital ships to be scrapped under the naval limitation treaty be disposed of by sale on the stocks in the case of those under construction, and by sale for junk or sinking by gunfire in the case of completed ships, are contained in the report of the board of naval officers appointed to consider ways and means of carrying out treaty provisions. A preliminary estimate of $70,000,000 as to the cost of the operation is included in the report.

The board recommends that the battle cruisers Lexington, under construction at Fore River, Mass., and Saratoga, building by the New York Ship Building Corporation at Camden, N. J., be converted into airplane carriers under the treaty terms, the other four battle cruisers to be sold on the stocks to the highest bidder. The board in its request made public today urged that the $70,000,000 be made immediately available, stating that a considerable saving on ships building under contract and to be scrapped could be made if the terms of settlement were worked out promptly with the contractors. It was pointed out at the navy department, however, that the figure of $70,000,000 was purely tentative.

BIG BATTLE BEING FOUGHT NEAR PEKING

TWO THOUSAND DEAD AND WOUNDED FOUND ON BATTLEFIELD

(By The Associated Press)
PEKING, May 3.—Heavy cannonading was in progress yesterday at various points along the front extending from Machang, south of Tientsin, across the country to the vicinity of Peking. Severe fighting occurred at a point along the Hun Ho river thirty miles south of this city, where 40,000 troops of General Wu Pei Fu, the central Chinese leader, endeavored to force a crossing in order to gain control of the Peking-Tientsin railroad.

General Chang Tso-Lin, governor of Manchuria, and head of the opposing forces, from his headquarters near Tientsin, ordered trains to convey the main body of his 100,000 soldiers to the front south of the great wall. Two Manchurian airplanes flew over Tientsin and proceeded westward.

Later airplanes dropped bombs near the station at Hwangtsun, only a short distance from here.

Advices received by military attaches here said that Wu Pei Fu was sending troops northward at the greatest possible speed.

Fifty thousand of his troops, concentrated at Paotingfu, are being reinforced from the Yangtze provinces. Twenty thousand others, recruited from Shantung, are marching against Chang Tso-Lin's southeastern stronghold at Machang.

Two thousand dead and wounded were found on the field after the battle of Changsintien, outside of Peking. The booming of cannon was heard in Peking all last night, but the cannonading ceased this morning. Despite the continuation of trench warfare, many foreigners, including legation guards, went outside the city to view the hostilities.

Corporal Mason, an American marine from Colorado, was shot in the arm, but was not seriously wounded. French employees at the locomotive works at Changsintien, narrowly escaped when a bomb, dropped from an airplane, destroyed the works.

General Wu Pei Fu is continuing to send troops west of Peking in an endeavor to envelope General Chang's northwestern wing. This precipitated fighting which lasted all night at Fengtai, ten miles from Peking.

Rear Admiral Joseph Strauss, commander of the United States Asiatic fleet, was due to arrive in Peking last night to confer with Jacob Gould Schurman, the American minister, regarding the protection of foreigners. Peking is considered thoroughly protected, since the city's gates are closed at night and the streets are patrolled by Chinese troops.

FIRE IN TREASURY BUILDING GIVES CAPITAL FIRE DEPARTMENT MUCH TROUBLE TO QUENCH

Second Time in Three Months That Fire Has Occurred in the Building

(By The Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, May 3.—The second time in three months firemen early today battled with fire on the roof of the treasury department which for a time assumed menacing proportions as the flames leaped high in the air. The fire was discovered at 1:45. Unofficial estimates place the damage at not more than $75,000.00.

WASHINGTON, May 3.—Flames which burst from the roof of the treasury department shortly after 1:30 a. m. today eating their way through a superstructure and spreading to the central portions of the roof were brought under control after threatening heavy damage to the building.

Leaping thirty feet or more in the air, the flames lit up a large part of the downtown section and sparks were wafted across the street to the White House lawns. Awakened by White House attendants President and Mrs. Harding, dressed and watched the progress of the flames at a window.

Following an explosion of chemicals stored where the fire originated, the flames appeared to be rapidly gaining headway. Four alarms had been turned in 15 minutes after the fire was discovered.

Several smaller explosions occurred in quick succession as the flames rose to a height of thirty or forty feet and appeared to be enveloping the entire central portion of the roof. Sparks from the fire were being swept by a light southeast wind in the general direction of the White House, but it was believed that the structure was in no danger.

Thirty minutes after the fire began the glow from the leaping flames was lighting up the entire downtown section of the city, casting a dull light over the White House and the Washington monument.

As the first streams of water were played on the flames it appeared that they probably would be confined to the central portion of the roof to which they had spread from the superstructure.

The treasury officials later put the total loss at $15,000.

WATER THROUGH CREVASSE SPREADS OVER COUNTRY WHICH PREVIOUSLY HAD ESCAPED

Flood Waters Now Reach Point Sixty Miles From the Mississippi River

(By The Associated Press)
NEW ORLEANS, May 3.—Reports from Central Louisiana indicate water is escaping through crevasse in levee at Ferriday continuing to spread into sections previous year escaped inundation and flood now reached point sixty miles away.

NEW ORLEANS, May 3.—Disquieting reports from flooded areas of the Atchafalaya river basin, especially from St. Martin parish, in southern Louisiana, were received by Red Cross officials here yesterday. A committee was dispatched at once to investigate conditions there.

The Atchafalaya river flood, which already covers large areas on rich farming land by back waters, threatening to break through the levees at a number of places, especially at Melville, is being augmented by flood waters from the Ferriday, La., crevasse.

What will develop when this added volume of water reaches the lower river basin, where unconfirmed reports placed the number of homeless at 6,000, is only a matter of conjecture.

The flood situation at the Louisiana refugee camps, which had become critical through the practical depletion of all food supplies, was relieved yesterday with the arrival at Rhinehart, La., of provisions sufficient to provide for six thousand persons for ten days.

In addition two carloads of food were yesterday dispatched to LaSalle parish, where several hundred refugees were reported in need.

Dr. Jesse Sanders was second and three other candidates trailing.

PREDATORY INTERESTS HAUNT COMMITTEE ROOM TARIFF BEING FRAMED

(By The Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, May 3.—Charges that predatory interests day after day week after week, month after month, haunted the senate finance committee room where republican committeemen were framing the administration tariff bill were made yesterday in the senate by Senator King, democrat, Utah.

The Utah senator declared that on one occasion when he visited, the committee quarters to obtain copies of public hearings, the anti-chambers and corridors were so crowded with "these representatives of the predatory interests and other beneficiaries of the high rates in this bill that I could scarcely effect an entrance to the room."

"Why were they there? The public hearings had closed, the committee majority was in executive session to frame the bill, the democrats had been excluded. For what purpose were they there? I leave it for the senators and the public to determine what their purpose was?"

FILES PETITION FOR A REHEARING OF THE GASOLINE TAX CASE

(By The Associated Press)
TALLAHASSEE, May 3.—Setting forth that the Supreme Court in its recent decision declaring the gasoline tax act invalid "overlooked and failed to consider the fundamental difference between the effect of a demurrer to allegations of traversable facts and that a demurrer to nontraversable allegations of facts," Attorney General Buford yesterday filed a petition for a rehearing of the case.

The opinion handed down several weeks ago was dissented to by Justices Whitfield and West.

Mr. Buford in his petition yesterday quotes from the majority court opinion in which it was assumed that the allegations set forth by S. J. Gunn who brought the suit attacking the validity of the tax act, were uncontested. Mr. Gunn alleged that the act passed by the last legislature levying the tax on the wholesalers had been signed by the presiding officers of the legislature after it had adjourned.

In assuming that these allegations had been established as a matter of record, Mr. Buford set forth, the court did not take cognizance of the nature of the case before it, in that the allegations presented "purely a non-traversable question of law, instead of a traversable question of fact."

The effect of the court's decision, Mr. Buford set forth, is that "conclusions of law are admitted by demurrer to the pleading in which they are set forth."

ACCUSE DAUGHERTY

(By The Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, May 3.—Reports that Harry M. Daugherty, now attorney general, had received a fee of $25,000 from Charles W. Morse, New York shipbuilder for obtaining Morse's release in 1915 from the Atlanta federal penitentiary were repeated by Senator Caraway, democrat, and denied by friends of the attorney general.

The Arkansas senator said the report was based on "public information." Senator Watson, republican, Indiana, said he had talked with Mr. Daugherty about the report and it was untrue. Senator Moses, republican, New Hampshire, broke into the discussion to say that William G. McAdoo, former secretary of the treasury had received "large fees" from Mr. Morse in connection with shipping contracts recently made the base of indictments in federal courts here.

O, you City Substantial. Visitors to the city say Sanford is outgrowing them all.

Stick to the Chamber of Commerce and you will have a city here of 25,000 in the next five years.

All it takes to make a city is men of broad vision who will rise above petty stuff and keep their heads above the stars.

Some big fighting going on in China and we hope that when the smoke has cleared away that the right army will be victorious. China is like Russia—peace will only come when Christianity rules the country.

Orlando, you are all right. You are going after that canal into the Indian river, you are going to build our trolley lines to the beach, you are going to have cheaper rates in spite of all the railroads can do. We are with you to a cold finish. You have the right idea.

The latest move in Genoa looks like it has simmered down to a fight of the big European powers for the right to control the trade of Russia. It was ever thus and the United States will do well to stay out of the foreign muddles altogether. America is big enough. Stay at home.

It looks suspicious that the second fire in the last two months should break out in the Treasury building at Washington. Just why these fires should break out in the Treasury building is something that we hope the few remaining Democrats in Washington will investigate for the Republican watch dogs of the treasury seem to be asleep except when the bonus question is mentioned. Better let the ex-service men have the money than to let it burn up.

CANNED EDITORIALS

In these days of great issues political and economically, when the foundations of the economic and political systems of every government in the world are being put to the test, men think for themselves. Especially those who assume to be leaders in thought and are in a position to shape public opinion.

Newspapers and magazines have a powerful influence in both business and politics. Politicians and great business leaders recognize this fact and use every means possible to influence the press. Some of the means are laudable, others are damnable. The worst interests of the country seek to control the editorial columns of the press by the use of money. They seek to buy either directly or indirectly the editorial columns. Many of the great newspapers and magazines are controlled today and breeches by the money interests. Papers of lesser importance are influenced indirectly. There are a score of concerns engaged in writing editorials of a colorful character, ingeniously worded to hide the influences that prompt them. These are sold at a nominal price to newspapers where editors are willing to feed their readers on canned goods, and thus the doctrines of the interests back of the editorials trickle down through society influencing the voter. The editorial bureaus do not count much on the price they get from the buying newspapers; they have a better source of revenue from the interests they serve.

This has been one of the favorite means of exploiting the public by high tariff advocates, trusts and combines, packers and politicians. Lately the number of canned editorials that have appeared in some newspapers favoring the dye trust would indicate that this combination of multi-millionaires who have exploited the American people for years and who now propose to do it again, are making use of the old familiar means of appealing public wrath.

The country press—the small city newspaper has more powerful influence than is generally accredited to it. It gets a closer reading. It is supposed to reflect the sentiment of the community through its editorial columns. It goes into the home and is read by all members of the family. What appears therein is discussed, re-discussed and diagnosed with great minuteness. It is re-discussed, caused and diagnosed in the offices and business houses. The great metropolitan daily may be more flashy and bulky, but it is the small city daily that reaches into the homes and the business rooms and take hold of the minds of people and shapes their thinking whether they realize it or not. This is the rank and file of which we talk.

In view of the great influence of the country press and their powerful influence over business and politics it is but fair to the reading public, that this press be bold and fearless for the right and that they scan closely everything that comes for publication by way of "ready-made editorials." Be it said to the credit of the country press, that there are few who allow their editorial columns to be influenced by ulterior interests.

Going into the great newspaper offices of the large cities one is surprised to find so many of the best editorials written by men who come from the country newspapers. But few editorials are written by the man whose name appears at the top of the editorial column. He simply directs; the writing is done by corps of men and women unknown to the public. Some of the finest editorials that appear in one of our great metropolitan papers, are written by a woman in her sixties, who formerly wrote for a country weekly when her husband was living and operating a country office. That woman draws on a rich experience and a close observation of human nature and human affairs for her inspiration, and she rarely misses the mark.

A united, well organized country press is the anchor of society, of business, of our political, educational and religious institutions. Let us keep it clean, forceful and above all free from jealousy and undignified rivalry. —Reporter-Star.

FLORIDA WOMEN HAVE AMBITIOUS POLITICAL PROGRAM

Florida women, as indicated by a program set forth by the legislative council made up from members in the various clubs of the women in this state, have a most ambitious aim.

Included in this program we find such things as: "Effective and state-wide tick eradication, local option stock law by which residents of any given locality may have their property protected from the ravages of marauding cattle and livestock, forest protection and reforestation, conservation of Florida game and fish, with other matters likely to be added to the list between now and the assembling of the next legislature."

With that program prepared, and with the knowledge that the women will be a factor in carrying out that program only as they vote and as they are able to legislate, it is surprising that more women have not announced their candidacy for the legislative positions to be filled in the coming primary and general elections.

Pinellas county, so far, is the only one to come forward with a woman for the legislature. That she is one of the most active workers in the county and state federation of women's clubs is most significant. It is especially significant. It is especially significant that she should receive the official endorsement of the department of civil service reform of the Florida Federation of Women's clubs.

In a letter to Mrs. Katherine Tippetts, Pinellas county's woman candidate for the legislature, Mrs. Florence M. Cooley, chairman of the Federation's Civil Service Department, writes from Jacksonville as follows: "Congratulations and all good wishes for your election to the legislature. As a native Florid-

I am proud that the first woman to offer for our legislative halls is a womanly woman, a woman of personal charm, and of such level judgment and conservative mind, as will make her acceptable to her co-legislators.

"The time is past for the women to be outside the rail and just lapel the man and say, 'will you please do this' or 'will you please do that.' We need a few women inside the rail on an equal footing, privileged to enter debate, and consider all public matters.

"You have my personal support and best wishes for success."

IT IS A GENERAL PRIMARY

Mr. M. H. Porter of Kissimmee writes The Tribune asking:

"Is the June primary a 'general' primary, or is it a 'Democratic' primary?"

"If 'general' then should a Republican candidate announce himself as 'subject to the Republican primary'—the same one? "What puzzles me is the papers almost universally call it the 'Democratic' primary."

It is a general primary, to be participated in by all parties which at the next preceding general state and county election, polled more than five percent of the entire vote cast in the state at that election.

No party in Florida having polled over five percent of the vote cast in an election but the Democratic party, no other party is eligible to participate in the primary.

The Republicans having never polled over five percent in any election have to get their candidates before the people in the general election through nominating conventions, the results of which are certified by the proper convention officials to the secretary of state who then orders them placed on the official ballot. Or, like the prohibitionists when Mr. Catta was placed in nomination, they may by petition signed by a certain number of voters, have the secretary of state place their candidate's name on the official ticket.

We are not quite sure whether Mr. Porter is asking for this information, or whether he merely wants to know if a Republican candidate can "run" in the Democratic primary. He cannot. The law requires him to secure his party nomination either in a convention, or by petition, until his party has grown to where it polls over five percent of the vote cast in any general state and county election.—Tampa Tribune.

THE MANIFEST DESTINY OF FLORIDA

For many years the people of Florida have been endeavoring to impress upon the northern mind that the summer season in Florida is as delightful and comfortable in its way as the winter, but so far the effort has met with scant success. They simply refuse to believe. You may deluge them with facts and figures taken from the records of the United States weather bureau, comparing temperatures in Florida with those thousands of miles to the north, all ways to the advance of this state, and they greet you with an incredulous smile showing plainly their belief that the records have been "doctored" for a purpose.

Many good people come down here for the winter, and finding the climate so soft and balmy and summery so vastly different from the winter of their northern homes, that they jump to the hasty conclusion that there must be an equal difference in the summer climate; that while they are sweltering in heat, with the mercury standing at 100 degrees or above the people of Florida must be sizzling and broiling in unbearable heat. Tell them of the number of heat prostrations in the northern cities during the hot months, and point to the fact that such casualties never occur in Florida, and again you find an unbeliever. It is not possible, they say.

But public opinion in that respect, is gradually undergoing a change. Constant iteration and reiteration of the facts regarding Florida's summer climate is beginning to have its effect. While it has not yet come to the point of absolute belief in our claims, it has succeeded in arousing curiosity which demands satisfaction. An ever-increasing number of people remain here through the summer to test the climate, and see if life is possible here in summer time. They visit our magnificent beaches and enjoy the bathing in the ocean waters; they sit on their porches in the cool evenings, and later retire to refreshing sleep, untroubled by torrid heat, and as they have been accustomed to in their northern homes. The "rainy season" is one long delight. The sandy earth driks in the rain and there is neither mud nor dust. The frequent rains temper the heat, and are followed by a refreshing coolness.

The few venturesome ones who have experienced the delights of the Florida summers, become enthusiastic boosters, and spread the news among their friends, so that the number increases from year to year. The demand for summer rates has reached the ears of the railroad managers, and they have responded favorably, by granting such rates. This will greatly stimulate travel in this direction, and Florida will yet come into its own as an ideal winter and summer resort. It is manifest destiny, and as certain to come as the sun is to continue to shine.—Tampa Times.

POWERFUL PICTURE STORY

Cecil B. DeMille's Paramount Production "Fool's Paradise" is Excellent

Like so many other successful Cecil B. DeMille successes, the story of "Fool's Paradise" which comes to the Princess Theatre next Friday and Saturday has a two-fold source. The basic theme was suggested by Leonard Merrick's short story, "The Laurel and the Lady." This theme was developed and elaborated, the scene of the action transferred to an American setting and a tremendous dramatic moment constructed by the authors, Beulah Marie Dix and Sula Cowan. The combined efforts of the several writers has produced a story that boasts of both power and originality, the theme—a problem of love and sacrifice as old and as new as the human race—has been presented and solved with the vividness and sharply drawn characterization that is typical of Cecil B. DeMille productions alone. The principal roles are played by Dorothy Dalton, Mildred Harris, Conrad Nagel, Theodore Kosloff, John Davidson and Julia Faye. The cast is large and capable.

USE CHEAPEST POWER

(By The Associated Press) WASHINGTON, May 3.—Henry Ford's offer to develop the government's nitrate and power projects at Muscle Shoals, Ala., was modified again yesterday by W. B. Mayo, chief engineer for the Detroit manufacturer.

Announcement of the new change was made before the senate agricultural committee following the request of Chairman Norris, made at yesterday's hearing, that the language of the proposal clearly state what priced power would be used in the making of fertilizer.

When Mr. Mayo resumed his testimony on the Ford offer yesterday he called attention to modification made over night, by which it was agreed to operate nitrate plant No. 2, using the most economical source of power available, throughout the peace period.

FAVORS FREE TEXT BOOKS IN SCHOOLS

(By The Associated Press) JACKSONVILLE, May 2.—Distribution of text books by the state free of charge to the school children was advocated as an important need of Florida's educational system by Fred Noble, chairman of the Duval county board of public instruction, in addressing the annual meeting of the Florida Congress of Mothers and Parents-Teachers Association which opened here last night.

Mr. Noble urged better salaries for school teachers, declaring that although the people had been generous in almost every other line of public need they have been "niggardly" in the matter of providing funds for educational purposes. He asserted that the average monthly salary of school teachers is $100, yet their responsibility is that of the welfare generations. He gave an annual salary of between $1,800 and $2,000 as a goal for which those interested in school work should strive to pay the educators.

Spencer W. J. Jennings, of the Florida house of representatives, outlined the financial history of the state's educational system in bringing his theme to what he described as the system's two greatest problems; that of adequate funds for the support of the schools and efficiency in their instruction.

DISMISS DAMAGE SUIT

(By The Associated Press) JACKSON, Miss., May 3.—The $100,000 damage suit brought by Miss Frances C. Birkhead, a stenographer, against Gov. Lee Russell, of Mississippi, her former employer, alleging seduction, was dismissed in federal court here yesterday by Judge Edwin Holmes, on the ground of lack of jurisdiction. Attorneys for Miss Birkhead announced that they would refile the suit immediately in the Oxford division of the federal court. Gov. Russell said his home was in Oxford, Miss., and he could not be tried in Jackson.

ANCIENT WRITERS AS MODELS

Moderns May Learn Much From Authors Whose Works Are the Greatest in Literature.

Whatever our conjectures may be, we cannot be sure that the best modern writers can afford us as good models as the ancients; we cannot be certain that they will live through the revolutions of the world, and continue to please in every climate, under every species of government, through every stage of civilization.

HEAD AND HEART OF LONDON

Great Financial Area is One and Trafalgar Square is Undenably the Other.

There can be little doubt that London's head is that area of the city which contains the Bank of England, the stock exchange and other great financial and business houses.

But London's heart is not there, says London Answers. There is a coldness about the city which does not appeal to the stranger. He stands in awe of it. He looks upon the teeming traffic and the hurrying folk with a feeling of unrest.

Put that same stranger in the neighborhood of Trafalgar square, where he catches a glimpse of the houses of parliament, the towers of the ancient abbey, and sees England's great sailor on the summit of his lofty monument, guarded by Landseer's wonderful lions, and he will expand at once and say: "Now, this is a bit, all right!"

In Trafalgar square there is a sense of companionship and merry comradeship. That is probably why so many folk congregate there with apparently nothing much to do. Even the traffic seems to be playing a game of puss in the corner or general post.

Revealed Genius in Youth. Gainsborough's mother encouraged her son's first attempts at drawing. At twelve he was filling books with sketches of flowers and clumps of trees in the Suffolk lanes and woods.

His work became so much the rage that his friends jovially punned upon his name and dubbed his house "Gainsborough." Though he disagreed with Reynolds and others of his famous contemporaries, they all saluted him as a brilliant man and a great painter.

Signs of Splendor. In a Richmond household a negro woman by the name of Charissa comes in occasionally to help for the day. She had been clearing the dinner table one day after a plentiful repast, which, among other delicacies, included a huge watermelon, and as she passed through the doorway carrying in each hand a well-filled can of the glistening melon rind, she rolled her eyes at the lady of the house and asked:

"Scuse me, Mrs. Alice, but would you all mind if I carried home one of dem cans?"

"No, Charissa," was the reply, "but what on earth do you want with it? You don't keep pigs or chickens, do you?"

"Laws, no, Mrs. Alice, I don't keep no animals. What I wants to do is to make dem neighbors of mine jealous. They don't never have sich things as dis wuttin' outside dere front steps!"—Harper's Magazine.

Voices of the Dunes. The voices of the dunes are in many keys. The cries of the gulls and crows—the melodies of the songsters—the wind tones among the trees—the roar of the surf on the shore—the soft rustling of the loose sands, eddying among the beach grasses—the whir of startled wings in the ravines—the piping of the frogs and little toads in the marshy spots—the chorus of the katydids and locusts—the prolonged notes of the owls at night—and many other sounds, all blend into the greater song of the hills, and become a part of the appeal, in this land of enchantment and mystery.—Earl H. Reed.

Pending. "Well, want to marry my daughter, I suppose," snapped the grouchy old millionaire as he glowered at the fluid youth before him. Then, adjusting his glasses, he added: "By the way, aren't you one of my daughter's former suitors?"

"N-no, sir," faltered the cheerless one, "but I expect I soon will be one."—The American Legion Weekly.

AN ARTIST AS WELL AS A FILM PLAYER

Forrest Stanley Proves He Can Paint in "Beauty's Worth"

One sees so many musicians on the screen who really cannot play, so many Frenchmen to whom French is a mystery, so many sculptors who cannot sculpt, so many soldiers who have never fought except over their salaries, that it is a real treat to find an artist who CAN paint, who does paint and who paints well.

This is the case with Forrest Stanley, leading man with Marion Davies, in her latest Cosmopolitan Production, "Beauty's Worth," which will be presented at the Princess Theatre Thursday (tomorrow). Mr. Stanley is cast as a noted artist, Cheyne Rovein, who is staying at a fashionable summer resort—not for its social advantages but solely for the gorgeous views.

For most other actors the property which offer many subjects for his canvas would have to provide a painting on which the player could pretend to be working. Forrest Stanley needed no "proj." He selected a fine vista and painted his own picture of it. Mr. Stanley's art was so good that Director Robert G. Vignola claimed the canvas as his own on completion of the photoplay, and it now adorns his New York home.

Mr. Stanley is one of the several interesting and distinctive characters in this fascinating Sophie Kerr story. Assuming the other roles are: June Elvidge, Truly Shattuck, Lydia Yeamans Titus, Hallam Cooley, Martha Mattox, Aileen Manning, Antrim Short, Thomas Jefferson and John and Gordon Dooley. It is a Paramount picture.

Not a Bite of Breakfast Until You Drink Water. Says a glass of hot water and phosphate prevents illness and keeps us fit.

Just as coal, when it burns, leaves behind incombustible ashes, so the food and drink taken day after day leaves in the alimentary canal indigestible material, which if not completely eliminated from the system each day, becomes food for the millions of bacteria which infest the bowels. From this mass of left-over waste, toxins and ptomaine-like poisons are formed and sucked into the blood.

Men and women who can't get feeling right must begin to take inside baths. Before breakfast each morning drink a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash out of the bowels the previous day's poisons and toxins, and to keep the entire alimentary canal clean, pure and fresh.

Those who are subject to sick headaches, colds, biliousness, constipation, others who wake up with bad taste, foul breath, backache, rheumatic stiffness, or have a sour, gassy stomach after meals, are urged to get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from the drug store, and begin practicing internal sanitation. This will cost very little, but is sufficient to make anyone an enthusiast on the subject.—Adv.

URGE CO-OPERATION SECURE CHEAPER FLA. FREIGHT RATE

GOVERNMENT MAY SPEND FOUR MILLIONS IN GIVING FLORIDA
AN INLAND WATERWAY

The fight of the Central Florida Water Traffic League to secure cheaper freight rates through the development of water transportation was carried on today in the meeting of the Orlando Chamber of Commerce when President S. J. Sligh of the league and Judge W. T. Bland, former member of congress from Kansas and president of the First National Bank of this city, made stirring appeals to secure the endorsement and support of the local commercial organization in the most vital movement afoot in the Peninsular state today.

The recent survey authorized by congress for the purpose of determining the cost of an inland Florida waterway system to reach as far south as Miami and the subsequent calling of a meeting by the engineers in charge of the survey at Titusville on May 16th, for the purpose of hearing from those sections of the state interested in the proposed route, was responsible for the activity manifested at this time by the Central Florida Water Traffic League.

Utilization of the great natural waterway of the St. Johns river and connecting with the Indian river by canal at a point between Cocon and Titusville by the government for the proposed inland water route is advocated by the Central Florida Water Traffic League. This route would reach from Jacksonville to Miami and could be tapped by a railroad to be constructed from Central Florida to the point where the canal would connect with the Indian river.

Judge Bland estimated that the expenditure by the government for the deepening of the St. Johns and the construction of the canal connecting with the Indian river would not exceed $4,000,000.

"And I can go out in four weeks and raise the capital to build a railroad from Central Florida to connect this section up with this waterway," he said.

President Sligh stated that the tonnage from Central Florida, if such a route were chosen, would triple that coming from any other section which another route might serve.

In opening his address Judge Bland said: "I am here today because this is the most important subject before the people of Florida today. Transportation is the lifeblood of a nation. If Florida is to reach its commercial destiny it is through economical transportation."

Furnishing as a contrast the rates enjoyed by Sanford over Orlando, less than half because of available water transportation, he stated that there was never a more psychological time to get favorable legislation from the federal government than now.

"We need water transportation, not to replace railroad transportation, but to supplement it," he said.

Calling attention to the expenditure of the government in the Ohio Valley, along the Illinois river and the lower Mississippi, Judge Bland said that the expenditure to improve the water transportation facilities of Florida would be a mere bagatelle in comparison.—Orlando Reporter-Star.

ICE CREAM THEIF

MUST HAVE SWEET TOOTH
ST. PETE POLICE SAY

(By The Associated Press)
ST. PETERSBURG, May 3.—The local police are looking for a thief who specializes in the theft of ice cream from the back entrances of homes. The thief has been at work some time but the straw that broke the camel's back was the theft of a quantity of cream from the home of Sam D. Harris, representative in the legislature from Pinellas county, the other night while Mrs. Harris was entertaining several friends. When the time for refreshments came it was discovered that the ice cream thief had walked off with the supply which Mrs. Harris had left on the back porch. The thief has been so active that the police have advised residents to keep their ice cream in their houses.

LONG CONTINUED DROUGHT IS BROKEN IN FLORIDA— RAINS SCHEDULED NOW

(By The Associated Press)
GAINESVILLE, May 3.—The long continued drought is broken over most of the state and dry weather damage has been heavy for truck crops and is beginning to effect citrus fruits, says the semi-monthly crop report of the Federal Bureau of Crop Estimates here, issued under date of May 1. Local showers were falling in some sections Sunday and Monday, however, with prospects at that time of general relief through Central Florida. Staple crops have suffered little from the drought and although growth has been slow prospects continue good.

Irish potato harvesting is well advanced and the yield and yield of early plantings are showing up well. Late plantings, however, have felt the effects of the dry spell. Sweet potato planting is waiting on rain.

Watermelons are ripening in South Florida but when the report was issued rain was needed immediately to prevent serious damage. Production of beans, cucumbers and other spring truck crops has been heavily curtailed by dry weather.

WHITE BRUTE GUILTY SENTENCED TO DEATH AT DELAND YESTERDAY

Judge Perkins sentenced Aubrey Lee Nichols to death by hanging and committed him to the county jail for safekeeping. The governor will set the date for the execution which will take place in the jail yard.

His trial yesterday at court was kept a secret until the very last minute and it was after three o'clock when he was brought by six heavily armed deputies of this county and Jacksonville from the jail to the court room. There was no semblance of violence, threats or anything of the kind to be heard. Nichols was heavily handcuffed but had a composed demeanor. He was rearraigned and changed his plea from not guilty to one of guilty and in doing so was warned by the court that his offense, that of rape, was punishable by death.

In the taking of evidence the court ruled that all minors and women leave the court room and Judge Perkins stated that he did not want anyone present who came with a morbid interest in the case. When the taking of evidence commenced the court room doors were closed and none could leave or enter. The details of the evidence were then gone into and Nichols was faced with his victim who positively identified him. His written confession was submitted also.

At the conclusion of the taking of evidence the court room doors were opened and Judge Perkins passed the following sentence on Nichols: "It is the sentence of the law and such is the judgment of the court that you, Aubrey Lee Nichols, be removed hence by the sheriff of Volusia county to the jail of said county and there to be safely kept until such time as the governor of the state of Florida may by his warrant appoint, at which time, within the enclosure of the jail of said county, you shall be hanged by the neck until you are dead, and may the Lord have mercy on your soul."—DeLand News.

SAW PHONE AS PLAYTHING

President of Boston Bank Resented Its Installation Into His Institution and Ordered it Out.

E. T. Holmes of Boston, who was the first man to establish a telephone exchange, in his interesting book "A Wonderful Fifty Years," tells of an incident that occurred when he was trying to make the telephone known to the business men of Boston. He says: "One of the most amusing experiences I had at this time occurred a few days later. One afternoon they sent me another telephone and after thinking where I would put it, decided to place it in the Revere bank. After banking hours were over and nearly every one had left the bank, I took a man with me and we went over and connected up. Our burglar alarm department carried keys to all of our banks. Until this time every one had been greatly pleased to be selected as a telephone station, but the following morning a messenger from the Revere bank brought word that the president would like to see me.

"I hastened down there expecting to receive the thanks of the president; instead, in a much injured tone, he said:

"Mr. Holmes, what is that plaything you have taken the liberty of putting up out there in my banking room?"

"That, Mr. Walley, is what they are going to call a telephone," I said.

"What's a telephone?" he replied.

"Well, Mr. Walley, you can ring the bell in my office giving a certain signal, and throw a switch and you can say to my office that you would like to talk with Mr. Ripley at the Elde & Leather, or Mr. Boyan at the Exchange bank, and we will quickly signal them and tell them that Mr. Walley would like to talk with them; and you will immediately be able to talk with them."

"Mr. Walley simply gave a grunt and quickly said:

"Mr. Holmes, you take that plaything out of my bank and don't ever take such liberties again."

"The plaything was quickly removed and the Revere bank went on record as the first telephone disconnection."

How They Feel.

Tall men are constantly questioned by other persons as to "how it feels to be so tall." The correct answers came out recently in a conversation between men of various statures. They were foregathered to partake of the sirenical subtleties of tobacco, but before many clouds of smoke and words had penetrated space the inevitable query was spoken by a Lilliputian:

"Say, how does it feel to be so tall?"

Two of the giants smiled and the third was about to commit such a stereotyped reply as "It's convenient at parades. I can see over the heads of the people in front of me." But he didn't.

"Although I'm six feet three inches in height I never feel any taller than the people I am with," he said. "This probably seems strange to you, and it does to me, for I never thought of it before. I am conscious of being a giant only when I am among giants, and not always then unless somebody calls my attention to it. When I am among people about 5½ feet tall that's how high, or rather low, I feel." The other giants agreed with the interpretation.
