Party Leaders Tell What Congress Is Likely To Do

By Joseph T. Robinson Democratic Floor Leader, United States Senate

The Democrats will undertake to bring about a tax reduction in the present session of Congress

Among the other principal questions which probably will come before Congress in which Democrats are most interested are:

Reduction of the tariff. Measures to curb corruption and "slush fund" irregularities in senatorial primaries.

Consideration of farm relief should follow disposal of the appropriation bills.

Members of the American Legion are to meet at the hut tonight at 8 o'clock to discuss plans for the opening of the Legion's membership drive

The Senate today stands at the crossroads inasmuch as concerns its prestige of the immediate future

By James E. Watson Administration Leader, United States Senate

The short session of Congress will be an extremely busy one for the Senate

Whether any of the contested election cases—the Vero and Smith cases and others—will be officially considered is problematical.

Officially four of the party had expressed publicly an intention to appear. They were Carr McCormack and Jack Daniels, of Birmingham, and C. P. Anderson, brother-in-law of Governor-elect Bibb Graves, and Atticus Mullin, newspaperman, both of Montgomery.

The dress rehearsal will be held Wednesday evening. From tonight until the curtain rises, intensive work is said to be the order for all connected with the 1926 minstrels.

EAST WRAPPED IN SNOW WHICH STOPS TRAFFIC

Six Deaths Are Reported In Snow Fall Ranging From Seven To Fifteen Inches Northern N. Y. Hardest Hit

Northfield, Vermont Has Coldest Weather

Nearly 400 Sufferers Are Given Food And Lodgings In N. Y. By Salvation Army

NEW YORK, Dec. 6.—(AP)—East ern states from Maine to West Virginia were digging out today from one of the heaviest early season snowfalls on record

Ten thousand men were working in 12-hour shifts for the street cleaning department of New York City today to prevent a general tie-up of traffic

The coldest weather was at Northfield, Vermont, 12 below zero. Carleton, Maine, reported 10 below and Burlington, Vt., 8 below

In Philadelphia the snow was lighter and was followed by sleet. Sanbury, Pa., had a foot of snow. Hundreds of deer hunters in Pennsylvania, where the season opened last week, had to break camp on account of deep snow.

Delegation At Geneva Meet Will Seek Definite Agreement Upon Early Date For Closing Of Military Period

GENEVA, Dec. 6.—(AP)—Germany will make a determined effort before her delegates leave Geneva to secure a definite agreement upon an early date for cessation of the inter-Allied military control.

Dr. Stresemann's particular complaint is that there still are eighty thousand Allied troops in the Rhine land and that the Allies continued to insist on inter-Allied control of German armaments.

Young Woman Held For Taking Machine

STRANGER NOW PLAYS PART IN MURDER PROBE

Unidentified Man Had Large Part In Events Which Led To Murder Of Clara Olson State's Attorney Is Told

Blood-Stained Letters That Were Written To Girl Are Under Guard Of Prosecutor

PRAIRIE DU CHIEN, Wis., Dec. 6.—(AP)—A mysterious stranger entered the Olson murder case today.

On the eve of the inquest into the death of Clara Olson, Norse farmer's daughter, whose body was found in a shallow grave on a lonely hill top near her sweet-heart's home, District Attorney Earl obtained statements indicating the participation of an unknown individual in the events of the night of Sept. 9, when the girl disappeared.

Merle Murray, a farmer of Mount Sterling, told the district attorney that on that evening he had met Erdman Olson, sought as the girl's slayer, at a Soeven dance and had taken a drink with him and a stranger at 11:30 o'clock, after which the youth and his companion departed together.

The prosecutor also was informed that Park Morris, proprietor of the Mount Sterling Hotel, who was at a dance, saw Erdman and the stranger drive away in Erdman's car in the direction of Clara's residence, which she left at midnight.

Farm folk from 60 miles around trekked through a blizzard today to this little town of 3,600. Their objective was the court house, scene of the inquest for the girl, whose head was crushed, probably by a hammer or a blunt object of an axe.

In addition to the information obtained from Murray and Morris, District Attorney Earl has a closely guarded blood-stained letter written to Clara by Erdman the day she disappeared. The letter was taken from the girl's clothing by autopsists.

It also was reported that a second letter, the writing of which was only partly legible, had been found.

Erdman's father has continued to express faith in the innocence of his son, and in a message which he asked radio stations to broadcast, asked the youth to return, saying he would stand by him to the last.

Seminole County Representatives Return From Successful Gathering Friday And Saturday In City of DeLand

Members of the Seminole County Y. M. C. A. returned home Saturday night from DeLand bringing with them high honors to show for their part in the first annual state pioneer round-up staged Friday and Saturday under the auspices of the state organization.

Invitations to the gathering were extended to all Pioneer Boys in the state and 235 boys were present including 103 from Seminole County. Sixteen towns were represented, five of them being in Seminole County.

Arriving at DeLand the boys were fed at the Wisconsin Avenue Public School cafeteria, this school being the headquarters for the round-up.

Following the supper were the song contests and stunt programs. In the song contest, led by Robert Mell, Y. M. C. A. Secretary of Daytona Beach, the Pioneers of Daytona Beach won first prize.

Next came the stunt program by different groups. The DeLand boys won first prize. Following the stunts program, the Sanford Y. M. C. A. Secretary demonstrated the Pioneer Ritual, using his full notch of 15 boys from the Methodist Church of Sanford.

Saturday Morning Program The boys were up bright and early after a night's rest rolled in their blankets on the schoolhouse floors. At 8:30 o'clock they were

Vice President Dawes And House Speaker Longworth Come To Sanford Two Bodies At A Time

Holiday Crowd Hand For Open

Committee Named To Inform Coolidge Congress Open

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—(AP)—Congress began today a new session today faced a mass of uncompleted legislation impossible enactment in the months before adjournment in March.

Sharply at noon President Dawes and Speaker Longworth rapped the House to order and the membership that the business of legislating was under way.

The holiday-like atmosphere which usually attends the opening of Congress crowded the galleries, and the snow covered the plaza and grounds gave Christmas tones to the occasion.

As is the custom, the only for action in order during the session of the opening of the appointment of committees formally notify the President Congress was in session and to receive his annual message. The executive's annual message will be read tomorrow and will begin the real work of session, with appropriation holding the right of way.

The procedure in the two houses today was virtually identical. Opening prayer was followed by roll call, and by the seating of new members. Then the session of the House and Senate with parties to go to the House at 3 o'clock and in the Senate at 4 o'clock.

Officials Of House Report Condition Hayes As Very Good

E. G. Hayes, who was slightly injured by an automobile today afternoon, near the location of the Sanford-Oviedo road, was reported to be recovering at a late hour tomorrow by authorities of the Fernald-Laughton hospital, where he was brought immediately after the accident.

MOVES POPULAR DRAMATIC GROUP

40-Jewish Band of Players
Said To Have Worked Small Number Of Plays To State
Of Perfection In 20 Years

By The NEA Play Jury
NEW YORK, Dec. 6.—The dramatic imports of the past several seasons, none of which with romance and adventure, and Theater Habima, the group from Moscow for a season in Italian and, finally, way points.
Here, we are told, is a group of players that do something in 20 years in bringing to perfection a repertoire of a half dozen plays. Weigh this against the fly-by-night of Broadway production and draw your own conclusions.
Perhaps there has been no similar demonstration of art for art's sake in theatrical history.

THEATER HABIMA, a Russo-Jewish band which recites its lines in the ancient Biblical tongue, was the mid heat of the historic revolutionary tempest of 1905.
Its birthplace was a tiny house on an obscure Moscow cross-street, an first audience less than a hundred people. One N. L. Zemich had the idea of a theater in Hebrew. Anna Rovina, a school teacher, was the "leading lady." Vachtangov, who directed "The Dybbuk," was carried to final paralysis on a stretcher, within a few weeks of his death.

Six years after its birth, the group began to feel the heat of the czar. In 1911, the persecutions were such that they presented plays in an underground theater, attended only by a few friends.
The great Stanislavsky came to was attracted to the genius of the performer and the theater became known throughout Europe.

Visiting critics from France and Germany went back to shout their praises of the great Anna Rovina.
None since Sarah Bernhardt has been so greeted.

For six years it grew and flourished, playing "The Wandering Jew," "The Dybbuk," "Jacob's Dream" and one or two other classics. Their stage art upset all traditions and their mass movement on the stage was hailed as a new revelation, particularly "the raggar's dance" in
"The Dybbuk."

When came the rule of the Soviet. Again the theater faced persecutions. The Soviet ruled they could not play in a language not understood by the mass of the people. Again the great men of Russia came to their defense, headed by such as Chappalin, Ivan-off, Dantschenko.

The fight was made on the ground of art, untouched by tongue or place of circumstance.
The theater was continued. Such struggle was certain to bind the little company as none has ever been bound in the history of the theater.

Europe has called it the world's greatest theater.
And, finally, it has been brought to America to cast its mystical glow over the commercial theater and, perhaps, to teach a much-needed lesson. It is quite the most interesting and important event of the theatrical year.

LOVE, accustomed to triumph loses out in Henry Flisk Carlton's Harvard prize play, "Up the Line."
Inevitably, love's loss leaves one down with the inescapable sense of disappointment inherent in the ending other than happy. There is no compensating gain for realism,

Here is "Slug," inveterate vagabond, roustabouting through the North Dakota grain fields at harvest time. At Jarnigan's ranch he finds Effie, the hired girl, dreaming unfulfillable dreams of freedom from her environment.

For a year "Slug" endures accidental married life with her, ac-cumbent to his wanderlust just before the birth of their baby of whose coming he was not not informed. When he returns eight months later Effie has just resigned herself to Sweden with Nels, the hired Swede. And although he plans to leave her, he is half-hearted, the open road calls "Slug" to his own abandoning her to the life she abhors.

As Effie Florence Johns, an accomplished tragedienne, shares the honors with Louis Calhern,
"Slug" J. Malcolm Dunn's characterization of the heavy-headed, imperturbable Nels, who can't forget the life of him, pronounce "J" is superb.

THE season's first version of "Mozart," with Irene Bordoni, nono other wearing the scarlet breeches and powdered wig of the composer, makes us eager for the Guitry production of the same play before we believe the worst. It is promised for early appearance.
Guitry, the author, played in the French version as Baron Von wife, has played the role of Mozart. We shall not turn against them until we get their side.

As for Irene Bordoni as Mozart
—we'll remember her kindly as Naughty Cinderella or Little Miss Blue Beard, or any of these I'm just a-naughty-little French girl trying to get-along roles. She and Mozart missed each other by several generations and this play couldn't bring them together.

There is a thinness in the translated and much adapted, elegant and denatured version which cannot be disguised in a little of as lovely costumes as have ever been seen on any stage. The exquisite dancing of Martha Kober, the haunting music of Mozart—
and fine acting of Lucille Watson, and a harpsichord de luxe.

We are given to understand that the young musician who came to Paris to learn about life accomplished his mission in record time.
His success with ladies would give movie sheiks something to think about—if we could have believed it. But we didn't.

However, we reserve decision.
The production rests and awaits the defense.

Voters Will Go to the Polls Tuesday

Before the day is over Sanford will know there has been a real election!

VOTE FOR THE PEOPLE'S CANDIDATE FOR CITY COMMISSIONER. He represents no group, no clique or faction. He stands for a constructive administration. He has always been in favor of a bigger and better Sanford.

Sanford faces many vital problems that must be solved in the coming few months. A man is needed on The City Commission who has a mind of his own, who does his own thinking.

Volie A. Williams is in a position to devote the necessary time to the office of Commissioner and is the man best suited to serve the rank and file of our people in a way they wished to be served.

Volie A. Williams has lived in Sanford for 18 years, knows the city's every need and believes that the time has come when a City Commissioner should represent all the people and not a chosen few. He represents no group, clique or faction and will have no political debts to pay.

Volie A. Williams believes Sanford needs a board of five Commissioners. If placed in office he will exert all his power to give Sanford a larger Commission.

10 Reasons Why We Should VOTE FOR S. O. CHASE

1. A sound practical business executive.
2. Thoroughly experienced in handling large affairs. Sanford has an assessed valuation of $20,000,000—therefore needs the experience of one accustomed to handling large affairs.
3. Six years splendid achievement to his credit as a city commissioner.
4. Not a wild optimist nor a sordid pessimist—just a well balanced man of mature mind and judgment—dependable to the last degree.
5. For six years he has been solving community problems—he knows governmental machinery and how to get things done—he has done them.
6. His statewide reputation as a man of unimpeachable character and sound business judgment has given the city standing among the financial markets of the country.
7. Because a community is rarely privileged to commend the public service of a man like S. O. Chase.
8. Because Sanford can absolutely count upon not being led astray by some new theoretical fetish that will prove costly to the citizenship.
9. A man seeking results rather than limelight—giving service and not selfishness.
10. An honest Christian gentleman.

HALF OF DODGE PAY CASH

Applied By Official Show Growing Of Buyers To Pay Automobiles Outright

Dec. 5.—Nearly half of purchasers of Dodge cars pay cash, according to a statistical study by Dodge Brothers, Inc., after a statistical study of practically 40,000 recent sales by dealers throughout the United States.

An average of the previous installment buying, Mr. Fohey, "We took 39,095 cars made by our company during a period of several years and analyzed them. We found that 17,829, or 45.1 per cent, paid down the full price when they took delivery of their cars and trucks.

Exact figures are available for the industry as a whole but are commonly accepted estimate that only 20 per cent of motor cars are paid for in full at time of purchase. For this reason I think our analysis will give a good many people, particularly bankers."

Not a single district through the U. S. and Canada did the percentage of cash transactions fall below 25 per cent, and in some districts cash sales amounted to more than 65 per cent of the total business.

Installment buying was found to be more prevalent in the New York district, with its large urban population, than in the Omaha district, which includes much small and rural territory. The percentage of cash sales reported by dealers was 61 per cent.

about 6 per cent higher than the figure for the U. S.

"The conservative policy of Dodge Brothers dealers requiring a large down payment and not more than twelve monthly installments has contributed to sound expansion of its business," said Mr. Fohey. "Dealers' total sales have in the first nine months of this year increased 41.6 per cent over the same period last year. True enough, if easier terms were permitted this increase in sales might have been larger. But the risks involved in a too-loose credit policy are not worth taking.

"Theoretically, Dodge Brothers, Inc., has no interest in whether the dealer sells for cash or on installments; or whether the installment contracts are paid. This is because Dodge Brothers, Inc., gets its money from its dealers before cars are delivered. Out of sales exceeding a billion and a half dollars, its loss from bad debts has been less than $33,000. Nevertheless, under practical conditions the company has a vital interest in the installment plan methods adopted by its dealers; for if the dealer obtains volume sales by un-sound credit extensions it would eventually result in losses and curtailment of sales affecting both dealer and manufacturer.

"All of our studies indicate that properly safeguarded installment selling has a real place in the automotive industry," continued Mr. Fohey. "Our cars are today utilized by owners to such an extent in their business and have become so essential that the employment of conservative credit extension by dealers is both constructive and fundamentally sound."

English is being taught over the radio in Japan. Recently the instructor, in a lecture on politeness, said the best way to learn such expressions was to bump into English speaking persons in the street, then bow smilingly and remark, "I beg your pardon."
