

Inertia In Taft Wing Of Republican Party Making Campaign Of Rep. Bender Hard

Editor's Note — This is another of several stories by roving Associated Press reporters analyzing the campaign in key states.

By DON WHITEHEAD
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Sen. Robert A. Taft has been dead for 14 months but the dry, Midwestern twang of his voice still echoes across this state today in the bitter political campaign being waged for control of Congress.

It is almost as if Taft himself were taking part in the fight, helping to shape the arguments and issues and the emotional content. The weight of his influence is being felt through the followers he left behind him and their conservative political philosophy which may or may not accurately reflect the thinking of Taft.

Only enough while Taft seemed able to put his presidential disappointments behind him and to emerge as President Eisenhower's staunch supporter, a number of his followers haven't been able to do it. Many of them aren't reconciled yet to "that man Eisenhower," in his policies, and to the loss of Taft's leadership.

Taft was known as an "organizational man" but some of those he spoke for are making it more difficult for a Republican candidate to be elected.

The reason lies in the inertia in the Taft wing of the Republican party, an inertia that is an acknowledged problem of those trying to get Rep. George H. Bender elected to the Senate seat held so long by Taft.

One Republican leader who is working hard in the campaign said:

"The world has moved on since Bob Taft's passing. We've got to face the facts of life in which we are dealing with new personalities and new problems in our party. Too many of the Taft people still are living in a dream world, thinking of what would have been done if Taft had been here.

"The truth is that Taft would have been right out there fighting for Eisenhower and I what he's trying to do. We've got to get griping about the small parts of the Eisenhower program we don't like—and look at over all program, which is good."

Bliss said in an interview he should have had his campaign organization rolling as far back as last February, but that the primary fight between Bender and William Saxbe of Mechanicsburg for the nomination delayed things.

"Now the trick is to tie the party together and get the Taft people into the fight," Bliss said. "We're making progress. I've been able to do more in the past week than in the previous two months and our situation is looking good. Some of our people who didn't think Bender had a chance two months ago now say he's a certain winner. The winning psychology is at work."

The key to the Bender-Burke contest may well be in Cuyahoga

(Cleveland) County, which casts about one fifth of the state's total vote. Both Burke and Bender come from the Cleveland district.

Eugene H. Hanhart, Democratic state chairman, said: "The race could be decided by the workers' and farmers' pocket books. The average person is bound to be influenced by the size of his take-home pay, and the take-home pay has dropped. Farm prices have dropped and the workers aren't getting the overtime pay they once did, while a good many of them are out of work or working only three or four days a week. This situation is working in our favor."

At this stage, the Bender-Burke race looks like a ding-dong fight with no definite opinion appearing to favor Bender slightly in a jumble of unknown factors that might swing the election in either direction. Both sides are "running scared" and aren't inclined to make any sweeping victory claims.

Galley 2 (Ohio) Bender's name is better known throughout the state than Burke's. He has made his name known to the voters in his former campaigns for the office of representative-at-large, a post since abolished. Bender now represents the 25th District in Cuyahoga County outside of Cleveland.

Also, Bender's name and face became familiar to Ohioans as the ever leader and song master for Taft at the 1952 GOP National Convention. Whether he won or lost friends by his television antics is a debatable point, but at least many voters know him.

Bender is working hard to get the support of both the liberal and conservative wings of his party. He is campaigning as an Eisenhower supporter with the reservation that he's no "coastal rider or yes man."

"I've been for what Eisenhower stands for for years," Bender said in an interview. "I'm no reactionary or me-too candidate and I didn't have to do a flip-flop to support Ike. I go for Eisenhower's philosophy of being liberal in matters dealing with human rights and being conservative in economic affairs."

On the other side, Burke is best known in Cleveland, where he was mayor until he accepted the short-term Senate appointment. He has been a good vote getter in his home town, but just how far this popularity extends into the state is a question.

Burke is working hard to make his name better known throughout the state, particularly in Southern Ohio, where he hopes to offset Bender's expected strength. Some think he might do it with a strong Democratic vote in Dayton.

"The situation looks good," Burke said during a swing through the downstate area. "I would say unemployment in the state is the big issue. It's true that unemployment may be no worse than it was in 1949 during the Truman administration, but that's not much of an argument for the Republicans in influencing the man who's out of a job right now."

Another thing in Burke's favor is that he will be running alongside Gov. Frank J. Lausche, the popular Democratic governor, who is seeking an unprecedented fifth term. Lausche's opponent is State Auditor James A. Rhodes, former Columbus mayor.

In the House races, some veteran observers say they wouldn't be surprised if there should be no net change in the House delegation which is now composed of 16 Republicans, 5 Democrats, 1 Independent and 1 vacancy. The Democrats are inclined, however, to be considerably more optimistic than the Republicans in predicting House gains because they claim a strong Democratic trend has set in.

Soil Conservation District Gives Free Technical Advice

By Ben Wiggins, Soil Conservationist, USDA

Several pastures have been checked with ranchers of this district during the past few days. By observing the grasses and the livestock feeding on the various grasses, and from results of soil analysis the majority of these pastures were low in both pH and plant food elements.

A few farmers have made the statement that because of the low pH of their soil, they can't afford to lime and fertilize their pastures. A farmer does not intend to lime his soil, or to fertilize his pasture, he is wasting his money, effort, and time in attempting to clear land and establish improved pasture. The general demand for the poor, scrubby, range cows which dominated Florida 10 years ago has practically ended. However, the demand for a good grade of high quality beef continues to increase each year. If high quality beef is to be produced, the diet must be provided with a high quality forage.

Most of the soils of this district are very infertile and are lacking in many of the plant food elements that are necessary for vigorous and nutritious plant growth. The majority of our class IV and V soils or pasture lands require two tons of lime or dolomite per acre immediately after the land is cleared and prepared, and approximately one ton per acre every three years thereafter. A complete fertilizer should also be applied on improved pastures at the rate of approximately 500 lbs per acre at least twice each year.

Maximum production of high quality forage is the objective on each pasture acre. Such can be had when the plant combination that fits the capability of the land is used, and the proper treatment and management is given. Grass or fertilizer, in order to obtain the maximum production of high quality forage, it is necessary to practice rotation grazing, apply liberal and frequent applications of lime and fertilizer materials, and mow or chop periodically to control noxious weeds.

The Seminole Soil Conservation District will provide technical assistance to any farmer or rancher in this district in determining the capabilities of his land. Several factors are considered in determining the capability of land, such as slope, fertility, type of underlying material, structure and water holding capacity.

The district will also assist in designing a plan or program whereby each acre of land will be used to produce the crops it is best capable of producing. Last month, conservation plans, based on land capability, were worked on (Continued on Page Two)

Superior Judge Rules Mixing Should Proceed

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A pupils' mass meeting at Anacostia High School in Washington ended in confusion today with the accomplished toward ending protests of mixing whites and Negroes in classrooms.

Some 200 to 300 gathered in the athletic stadium of Anacostia High and heard pleas that they go back to school while their leaders met with school authorities to discuss the situation.

They first reached a decision that a committee of pupils would meet with acting Principal Eugene Griffith. But then some of the youngsters who have been striking over the integration program. The session broke up with the strikers saying "no" to Griffith's plea for the conference.

Griffith told those who wanted to attend classes to come in and the others to go home.

At other Washington schools where disorders and demonstrations have occurred in recent days the tension eased.

Anacostia High has been the scene of the biggest demonstration against the three-year-old program of racial integration in the District of Columbia schools. Yesterday Police Lt. William T. Murphy said he felt "the peak of the disturbance is past" at Anacostia.

The police officer made the statement at day's end after more than 2,000 students were reported absent at one time or another from three high schools and six junior highs. Six persons were arrested near Anacostia High. Two men were held on charges of (Continued on Page Two)

No Second Election Needed

Victors Give Statements

Douglas Stenstrom and Judge Ernest Housholder yesterday captured the offices of State senator and County judge, respectively, at the special Democratic primary election. Their margins of victory eliminate the need for any runoff.

Stenstrom garnered 1,200 votes, more than his nearest opponent, J. J. Parrish, Titusville, received, and 931 more than Parrish and the third candidate, E. E. Brady Sanford, received together.

Housholder gathered 2,176 votes, 788 more than his nearest opponent, Gordon Frederick, garnered, and 181 more votes than received by Frederick and the third candidate, Hugh Dunn, together.

Each election was held in full compliance with the provisions of the Florida Constitution, left vacant by the death of Sen. Fred E. Ballew and the judge's office, by the resignation of Stenstrom to become a candidate for a second term from which he will take office immediately following the general election Nov. 2, today made the following statement:

I am humbly grateful for the confidence expressed in me by the people of the 27th senatorial district in yesterday's election.

I am indebted particularly to the people of my home county and my friends and supporters who worked so faithfully in my behalf.

I consider the vote given me a challenge to do the very best I can as your senator. To justify the trust you have placed in me, your district has many problems to face, and I deeply appreciate the expression of good wishes and offer of cooperation extended by Mr. J. J. Parrish Jr. for whom I have the highest respect and esteem.

I shall strive to work fairly and impartially for the best interests and the needs of both Bradford and Seminole counties.

May I thank the people of our district for the privilege of public office, and I sincerely trust that my conduct as your senator will be such as to merit your confidence.

A telegram was sent by Parrish at 9:32 p. m. yesterday, conceding the election to Stenstrom.

Stenstrom answered by wire as follows:

Honorable J. J. Parrish Jr. Thank you for such a thoughtful message of good wishes. You know that I hold you in the highest esteem and I appreciate deeply your offer of cooperation for the good of our district. Douglas Stenstrom.

The following statement was received by Parrish late last night:

I became a candidate for State senator at the request of many friends and neighbors in the 27th district. My only wish was to be of service to my fellow citizens in Bradford and Seminole counties.

I am grateful to those who supported me, worked in behalf of my candidacy, and voted for me.

For the rest, I believe my sentiments are best expressed in the following telegram which I have sent to my opponent in the campaign just ended. My heartfelt congratulations on your victory. I am certain you know I shall be happy to cooperate with you in every way possible for the good of our district. Gerald J. Parrish.

According to the official return of the votes cast in the election yesterday, my fellow citizens have given their approval to my appointment as they judge by electing me to office for the additional two year term. For this I want to thank each and every who had a part therein. I shall always be grateful for the privilege of being able to continue in my service as your County Judge.

School Enrollment For First Week Reaches New High

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. — Florida's first week school enrollment reached an unexpected new high of 602,657 children this year, surpassing even State School Superintendent D. Bailey.

Bailey said today reports from the 67 county school superintendents showed 57,377 more children enrolled during the first week of school than the first week of school the preceding year.

That was an increase of 10.2 per cent in enrollment.

First week enrollments generally were higher than last year, with an 8 per cent higher each year over the previous year.

The increase of 57,377 children in September is more than the 48,000 increase originally predicted by Bailey for the entire school year.

Bailey reported 50,340 pupils in double sessions, an increase of 3,809 over last year. Its double sessions are running in 15 counties.

There were 101 teaching positions still unfilled during the first school week. Most of these are in elementary grades. The staff in classrooms, Bailey reported, comprises employed 1,319 teachers who hold temporary teaching certificates or who have less than four years of college training.

The unexpectedly high first week enrollment figures make it necessary for Bailey's office to revise upward all estimates of future enrollment, and the number of teachers and classrooms needed for the coming year.

Bailey said that based on 10 children to a teacher this year's first week enrollment increase calls for 1,012 new teachers and the same number of new classroom rooms.

A building program already under way will fall short of the need, despite the over 50 million dollars worth of construction being undertaken by the counties with state funds.

Biggest enrollment increase this September is in Duval County.

There enrollment jumped 19,344 pupils from 78,315 in 1953-54 to 97,659 this year. This amounted to an increase of almost 25 per cent.

Bradford County had the next largest percentage increase, with 20.1 per cent more pupils. This year's enrollment was 23,997 and compared with last year's figure of 19,982.

Seven counties showed small decreases in enrollment, ranging from less than 1 per cent to 6 per cent. They were Bradford, Holmes, Liberty, Oklawaha, Suwannee, Union and Washington.

The enrollment and percentage increases included:

Alachua, up 783 pupils, 7.40 per cent; Bay, 535, 5.13 per cent; Leon, 648, 6.30 per cent; Manatee, 241, 2.56 per cent; Marion, 599, 6.01 per cent; Monroe, 270, 6.02 per cent; Palm Beach, 2,441, 11.44 per cent; Pinellas, 2,415, 9.72 per cent; Polk, 2,201, 8.77 per cent; Putnam, 418, 8.07 per cent; St. John, 41, 1.07 per cent; St. Lucie, 422, 10.02 per cent.

Sarasota, 561, 9.53 per cent; Seminole, 306, 5.79 per cent.

New Justice Department Unit To Handle FHA Scandal Cases

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6. — A new unit in the Justice Department's criminal division to handle a mounting number of cases arising from scandals in the Federal Housing Administration.

At the same time, the attorney general said by establishing Max H. Hollibaugh, a top criminal prosecutor in the department, to assist U.S. Atty Gen. Tom C. Clark in prosecuting housing matters before a special grand jury opening here today.

The department said the special grand jury will inquire into bribery and other criminal conduct in the Federal housing program, and especially into the scandal of Elias F. Powell, ousted assistant FHA commissioner.

Meanwhile, Powell sought a court order to block the grand jury investigation.

Justice Dept. attorney David M. Maher, Powell's chief counsel, challenged the validity of the grand jury. He had been scheduled to appear before it this morning.

Maher's petition asked the U.S. district court to take judicial notice of continuing conditions in newspapers and political forecasts that there would be political indictments returned against Powell and the former administrator of a Washington FHA insured loan in an apartment project here.

The committee did not find it necessary to hold a trial, but it did find that Powell had been in contact with three times last year, over a period from 1945 through last April, although he reported only his salary as federal employee.

The Banking Commission planned more to finance today on alleged small profit made by private promoters on apartment projects built with government insured loans.

Medical Effort Being Set Up Against Danger Of Poisoning

CHICAGO, Oct. 6. — A new medical effort is being organized against the potential danger to your own home of the accidental poisoning of children by a shoving costume bottle.

The effort is being organized by the American Academy of Pediatrics, and is being supported by the National Consumer Council, New York, Chicago, and Washington, D.C.

The idea is to have a nationally coordinated effort to have a city-wide survey of children's homes to see if they have any shoving costume bottles.

The survey is being conducted by the Chicago Board of Health acting as a clearing house for information and follow-up action. Some 20 hospitals in the Chicago area have been supplied with a set of pamphlets on the dangers of poisoning children, and the pamphlets are being distributed to all homes in the city.

Individual doctors who might be contacted for a home visit are listed in a "Chicago Council on Child Health" directory.

Storm Hazel Lashes Isles, Heads To Sea

MIAMI, Oct. 6. — Hurricane Hazel was gaining in strength and speed today as it whirled through the Windward Islands and headed westward toward the Caribbean Sea.

The Miami Weather Bureau's 11 a. m. advisory said Hazel would reach a velocity of 105 miles per hour over a small area near the center of the storm, with gusts of 125 miles per hour.

Small craft warning was issued for the Dutch island of Curaçao, Bonaire and Aruba north of the Venezuelan coast but the hurricane is expected to pass to the far north of these islands, cause no serious winds or tides in the vicinity.

A Navy hurricane hunter plane that flew into the storm this morning estimated the location of the center at latitude 12.4 north, longitude 63.2 west, or about 375 miles south-southeast of San Juan, Puerto Rico.

It was moving at a forward speed of 15 miles per hour to the west-northwest over a course that pointed across open water.

The Watkins Report

The special committee investigating charges against Senator Joseph McCarthy has issued a report critical of the junior Senator from Wisconsin and recommending his censure on two charges. Attempts to poll various members of the Senate as to their stand on the issue reveals a split. Some favor censure, some oppose it and a considerable number consider discretion the better part of valor and refuse to take a stand at this time.

In the heat of the difference of opinion over the question of censure several recommendations made by the committee investigating charges should not be lost. The committee recommended that rules be changed to prevent one-man hearings, except by authorization of a majority vote of all the members of an investigating committee. It also recommended that a rule be adopted preventing the disclosure of testimony taken in closed sessions except by a majority vote of the committee concerned.

When the Senate re-convenes after the election to hear the censure charges there will be a great deal of debate on the Watkins committee report. It is difficult to predict whether the Senate will bury the report, refuse to censure McCarthy or vote to censure him. But regardless of how that vote goes the recommendations of the committee in regard to the rule changes should

Being Funny Has Its Grave Side

NEW YORK (AP)—What would happen if you put the nation's 10 leading television comedians at the same dinner table?

Would everybody be laughing? "No, you'd probably just have chaos," said Red Buttons.

It is unlikely that the comedies would try to top each other with fresh gas. They would be more likely to mention their tension, and all break out crying at once. For being funny on television today is a gruesome game industry.

The red-eyed TV camera is a monster that eats up fresh material so rapidly the one-show-a-week comedian is never quite sure of his audience. He carries a little small gnawing doubt at the back of his brain, wondering whether his next wisecrack will turn out to be his epitaph.

"You can only hope you have something funny—but you can't be certain," said Buttons. "You don't have to have any out-of-town try-outs. If you do, you show a year, that means you face the strain of 30 opening nights."

The wear and tear was so rough on Red's nerves at the start of his TV career that he fainted one night and the program had to be canceled. Luckily, the show wasn't sponsored then. You don't faint before a sponsored show in television. You either go on or you die.

"TV is a terrific challenge—much more than any other medium," said Red. "The lack of time is the biggest hurdle. Time is everything in comedy. You need it to polish your material, to perfect your performance. If you don't put the time in, you end up with a lesser product."

Red Buttons, who has a boyish face but a wrinkled mind, was born Aaron Chwatt on the lower East Side 36 years ago in a neighborhood so tough he spent most of his boyhood with his hands knotted into fists.

"I was 13 before I really knew I had fingers," he recalled wryly. He started at 16 as a singing bellhop—that's how he got the name Red Buttons—and learned the comic's trade in burlesque, musical comedies, night clubs, and thousands of club dates.

Now he's in the top financial brackets in television, but he still looks wistfully back to the days when he did sketches in burlesque and vaudeville.

"Burlesque was a great training ground," he said. "They let you alone. You had to find your own laughs, build up your own sketches. You had a chance to be personally creative."

"In vaudeville I took from one to three years to put together a really good act, but then you had something solid that could last you for years."

"Look at Smith and Dale and their 'Doctor Krockle' skit. They've been doing it for 50 years—and it's still funny."

But Red feels the day of comic sketches and the great sketch comedians is slowly coming to an end. Among the artists of this craft he listed Willie Howard, W. C. Fields, Bert Lahr, Bobby Clark, and Olsen and Johnson.

"In television the only way you can live is to follow a story line and develop a situation comedy. Sid Caesar, Milton Berle, Imogene Coca, and Jackie Gleason had to switch to situation comedy. I've had to, too. It gives you the advantage of having familiar characters to build up week after week."

"Television uses the same technique as the movies. People won't go to the movies any more just to see a man telling jokes. They want a story situation with their humor. They want it on TV, too."

ANT — A small insect which is always at work but still finds time to go on picnics.

RETIREMENT — No official word has come through yet but old age pensions for farmers and survivors insurance for their families now are expected to take effect next year. Little opposition was apparent in the Senate after overwhelming House approval of the President's proposal to ring in 3.2 million farmers on the Federally-sponsored retirement plan. Social Security will mean retirement benefits plus a new mandatory 3 per cent tax on farm earnings.

Assuming the House-passed bill went through without major change, here are facts farmers will need: Upon retiring at age of 65, a farmer would receive a monthly income ranging from $30 to 108, depending upon his average monthly earnings prior to retirement. His wife and children under 18 each would get half of the farmer's pension, with a ceiling of $200 per family. Widows would receive three fourths of the farmer's pension.

FARMER COOPERATIVES in the United States now have a membership of 7,400,000, an increase of 4 percent over a year ago and a record high.

SCHOOL DAYS — Seminole County schools serve many hundreds of pupils from grades one to twelve in an accredited program, recognized by the standards of our state and by the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools.

The curriculum is a well rounded one, including college preparatory courses, a general high school diploma, athletics, music, library, science, dramatics, shop, agriculture visual instruction by use of films, testing, home economics, commercial guidance, plus a full extra curriculum and club program.

HEAR! HEAR!

My New York

By MEL BEIMER

NEW YORK — There are few Marlene Dietrichs and Deborah Kerrs to be found in the city rooms of New York's newspapers, so it is small wonder that one of the handful of local reporters were turned loose to interview "Miss America" the other day, their pent-up emotions burst through and they sang of her in the calls of the birds. "She has a laugh," one of them wrote dramatically, "like the sound of a meadow brook running between banks of violets." Scratch a reporter and find a broken-down romanticist, every time.

What disturbed me, however, were the continual references to "Miss America," who is Lee Ann Meriwether of San Francisco, as being just like the girl next door. These references were made with obvious admiration. "Gee, she's just like the girl next door!" the ink-stained wretches wrote rhapsodically. One of them even praised the way she wrinkled her nose, a trait which Miss June Allyson of the movies one day will get her head handed to her. This diagnosis upset me on two counts: (1) I grew up with the girl next door, and she was a pretty sorry sight, and (2) "Miss America" clearly is the opposite of the New York girl, who is the world's most attractive woman, so what has become of the taste of Manhattan's fourth estate?

"Miss America," for instance, weighs 124 pounds, wears dresses made by her mother, was gowned during her press interview in white chintilly lace and nylon tulle and has, if the stunned newsmen's estimate may be taken at face value, "the wonder of Cinderella still in her blue eyes."

The New York girl would rather be dead than weigh more than 115. Chintilly lace and tulle would dismay her almost into speechlessness; she would draw back as from a poisonous reptile, and reach quickly for her black dress and pearls. If her mother tried to whip her up a little frock in dimity or some other light, airy fabric, she'd head sadly and say, "Ma, that thing is just too square." Her blue eyes are just as clear and lovely as "Miss America's," but they contain appraisal instead of girlish wonder. In the immortal words of Edgar Allan Poe, the New York girl is a sharp cookie.

Miss Dietrich has been mentioned. This wonderful old warrior of sixties is well into grandmotherhood at this point and when I caught her in Las Vegas last year there appeared the first small signs of peeling in her spectacular shell of timelessness. However, Miss D. is about as typical as New York glamour girl as there is—and I would like to stack her up against "Miss America," side by side, and ask the American man to run up quickly to one or the other.

This timeworn shalalalalal about men preferring the simple, fresh-faced, gingham-clad girl next door, with her laugh like the sound of a meadow brook nudging the violets, I hold to be so much booby. I am a man and I have talked at length with other men about women, ever since, as Jack Teagarden used to sing, I jumped my cradle and began to walk. The only time they will give the time of day to the girl next door is when she happens to be Hedy Lamarr.

Being a girl in New York is to be swept up in the toughest man-catching race on the earth. To compete evenly with the others, the New York woman makes herself stick, slim, poised, well-informed... and above all, as glamorous as Max Factor and Mainbocher can make her. She forsakes the dreadful gurgle of girlish laughter. Above all, she makes herself a person, with a mind and thoughts of her own. I hold that the New York girl is womanhood at close to its peak. Generally speaking, she makes the girl next door look like an old tramp in a potato bag.

And the New York girl is ever so slightly neurotic as a result of wedging herself into this fascinating mull, and visits her head doctor twice weekly, and takes oh, maybe one or two sleeping pills weekly, well, what is that. There's nothing like a good, solid neurosis to attract a man. A New York man, anyway.

Mendes-France Is Sharp Gambler

WASHINGTON (AP)—From what can be seen of his tactics, Pierre Mendes-France, the French premier and foreign minister, has proved himself a superb gambler. At the nine-power London conference which agreed to let West Germany rearm, Mendes-France played one of the toughest, shrewdest and most daring games of diplomatic poker in recent years. France could have come out of that game discredited, isolated and perhaps forced to watch her allies let the Germans rearm, whether the French liked it or not, and without any French say about how much rearming Germans could do.

The result could have swept the French into a backwater of history, reducing them to the status of a truly second-rate European power.

But at the same time, Mendes-France knew the enormous stake which his allies, particularly the Americans and British, had in this game. They wanted quickly a real, and not illusory, defense against Russia.

To make it real called for a Germany rearm in alliance with the French, not a Germany rearm at the expense of an angered France.

So, a little though, Mendes-France knew how much France could lose if he lost, he knew also that his allies would have to choose between losing the chance for a firm defense or making concessions to him.

He went into the London conference with the United States, Britain and Germany more than a week ago demanding concessions. One of the biggest concessions he wanted was from the British.

He wanted the British to reverse an age-old policy and promise to keep British troops on the European continent as a guarantee against the day when perhaps a re-armed Germany might turn on her French ally.

The old British policy had been to make alliances with European nations, balancing one off against the other, while never committing her own troops to service on the Continent.

The United States and Britain had both tried to push the French into joining a single European army with rearmament. This would have meant, for the French, giving up their own national army. That was one of the reasons the French Assembly voted down the single-army idea. Among other reasons was the British refusal to keep the French request that they keep troops in Europe permanently.

The British might have saved the single army if they had given that promise. Instead, they sat on their hands.

Mendes-France sat on his hands too while the Assembly did its work. He didn't lift a finger for the single army. He must have known the Assembly action would create a Western crisis.

The Allies would have to seek an alternative fast or face the prospect of a hollow defense against Russia. They did seek the alternative in a hurry. They called the London conference.

In 10 years of active duty the battleship Missouri steamed half a million miles.

Softball Title Won By Wilson-Maier; Game Is Protested

Wilson-Maier won its third straight city softball championship last night by beating Robson Sporting Goods, 7-6, in a game which was protested by both managers.

According to H. O. Bagwell, manager of the losing team, he protested the use of new men on the Wilson-Maier club, while Fred Allred, pilot of the winners, entered a protest against the umpiring.

It was the climax of an uphill climb last night for the Wilson-Maier outfit in the double elimination tournament. The furnituremen could have been knocked out Monday night, but captured a 5 to 3 victory over the Robson team.

Wilson-Maier drew first blood in last night's game, scoring two unearned runs in the first inning with the aid of a single hit. Robson tied the score in the second inning, only to have the furnituremen go ahead with a single in their half of the inning.

Wilson-Maier left nothing away at the offerings of Robson pitcher Burgess, and aided by untimely errors, built up a 7 to 4 lead going into the seventh and final inning.

However, Robson came roaring back in the first half of the seventh and scored three runs to tie up the ball game.

Wilson-Maier won the game and the championship in the last half of the seventh with two men out. Gene Nichols was resting on second base when Robert Samuel put one into center field which Strutton, making a hard try for a putout, got a glove on the ball but did not hang onto it.

Walter Graham pounded out two doubles in the game for Wilson-Maier, while a teammate, Samuel, also got two bingles. Two players on the Robson team snatched two hits each, Strutton and H. Turner.

Wilson-Maier garnered seven runs on eight hits and committed two errors, while Robson Sporting Goods made six runs on 11 hits and were credited with seven errors.

Batteries were Hires and Johnson for Wilson-Maier, and Struggles and Lesman for the Robson club.

UofM Coach Calls For Scrimmages

MIAMI — Coach Andy Gustafson yesterday called off scrimmage drills for the football team at the University of Miami prepared to meet Holy Cross here Friday night.

He said the team, after getting into offensive and defensive scrimmaging Monday, will work on polishing up plays and go through dummy defensive scrimmaging. The Hurricane will also concentrate on their aerial attack which has spluttered during the last two weeks.

Gustafson said "We'll end our scrimmaging on Monday each week from now on in. I learned a lesson on that last week where we scrimmaged Tuesday and lost Tom Pepin."

Sports Scribes Make Selections Of Outstanding Gridders In SEC

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

On the basis of early season performance, there appears to be a shortage of outstanding ends and centers on Southeastern Conference football teams.

With the season three weeks old, sports writers around the conference have nominated only six ends and three centers to the weekly Associated Press SEC checklist of stars. Eleven tackles, 11 guards and 20 backs have been singled out for top-flight performances during the same period.

Two flankers made their first appearances on the checklist this week—Eddie Bravo of Tulane and Jimmy Durham of Georgia Tech. Durham, chosen for fine defensive play and offensive blocking against Southern Methodist, had not played in Tech's first two games because of illness.

Auburn's All-America hopeful Jim Byburn made the list this week for the second straight time for his performance against Florida. No other end has received two nominations.

The three centers singled out so far are Steve DeLaTorre of Florida, Hal Easterwood of Mississippi State and Larry Morris of Georgia Tech. Easterwood has made the list all three weeks, Easterwood twice and Morris once.

Players nominated this week:

BACKS — Freddie Wilson and Bobby Saxe, Tulane; Charlie Horton and Steve Pepoy, Vanderbilt; Corky Tharp, Alabama; John Major and Tom Tracy, Tennessee; Bobby Freeman, Auburn; Bobby Lance and Jackie Simpson, Florida; Dickie Prescott, Louisiana State; Dick Rushing, Kentucky; Earl Blair, Mississippi; and Jim Tall and Frank Sabatini, Mississippi State.

ENDS — Eddie Bravo, Tulane; Jimmy Durham, Georgia Tech; and Jim Byburn, Auburn.

GUARDS — Tony Sardone, Tulane; Bob Scarborough, Auburn; Franklin Brooks, Georgia Tech; Buddy Allison, Mississippi; and Jim Dudley, Mississippi State.

TACKLES — George Mason and Sid Youngleman, Alabama; Darrin McCord and John Gordy, Tennessee; Sid Fournet, LSU; Harry Kirk, Kentucky; and Rex Boggs, Mississippi.

CENTERS — Steve DeLaTorre, Florida.

Crooms Will Face Haines City Friday

By ROSETTA DAVIS and MARION HULTER

The Crooms 11 will be seeking for its first victory when it clashes with the Haines City Panthers in the Memorial Stadium on Friday night at 8 o'clock. The Crooms' coaches expect better playing out of the Panthers this week after last week's loss to Melbourne, O. D. Joe Straws was chosen as captain of the team for 1954. The Crooms gridders will be trying to put forth their greatest strength and ability to make up its loss to Melbourne. The coaches will expect good blocking and tackling out of the team, when they take the field for scrimmage practice this week in preparation for the game Friday night.

The cheerleaders, drill team, Crooms Band and majorettes will be on hand to "assist that Old 'A Spirit" for the Panthers. The band, under the direction of E. H. James will present a program during the halftime. A large crowd is expected out to see the game between the Panthers and the Gridders.

Fight Results

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. — Battle between 111 Phoenix, outpointed Mike Vernon, 10, Havana. BOSTON — Ed Sanders, 218, Boston and Her Washington, 188 1/2, Baltimore, drew, 10. DETROIT — George Powell, Detroit, outpointed John Sumner, 10, 2nd Detroit, 10. MEMPHIS, Tenn. — Killer Jackbo, 121 1/2, New Orleans, knocked out 121 1/2, Matthews, 121, Fort Benning, 10, 2. SEATTLE — Pat McMorris, 128, Tacoma, knocked out Gene Britton, 121, Sandpoint, Idaho, 2.

Two Heavyweights To Battle Tonight For Sho: At Title

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Spurred by the announcement that the winner will be considered a contender for a shot at Rocky Marciano's title, heavyweights Charley Norkus of Port Washington, N. Y., and Charlie Powell, San Diego, battle it out here tonight in a scheduled 10-rounder.

It promises to be a brawl. The pair are swiftness with not much in the way of ring science.

The fight will be nationally televised from the Civic Auditorium, starting at 10 p.m. EST, over CBS network.

At Well, manager of Marciano, announced here yesterday he would consider the winner a contender for a possible crack at the crown next summer. Marciano is here to referee one of the preliminaries and will take a good look at the main eventers.

Powell, a 6-foot-3 fast puncher, will make his TV debut after scoring knockouts in his last 10 bouts. He's strictly on the green side, with only 33 rounds of fighting behind him, but he throws leather swifter than any heavy seen around here in years.

Norkus, 6 feet 1 1/2, will give away height and weight but it doesn't bother him. He's had a lot more experience and has faced better opposition than Powell. The Easterner is expected to weigh between 190-93 and Powell, 212.

The new Army uniform will be issued in the winter of 1955, he said. The recruiting sergeant is at the post office each Wednesday.

Kader Announces Candidacy Today For Re-Election

SANFORD—City Commissioner John Kader today announced his candidacy for re-election to the city commission in group one. Kader is concluding his first term as a member of the commission, having been elected in November, 1953.

In making his announcement, Kader said, "During my first campaign, I promised the people of Sanford only that I would make every effort to inform myself of the many ramifications incident to the efficient operation of our city government, and that, based upon the knowledge thus acquired, I would lend my efforts to the improvement of city services. I believe I have fulfilled that promise."

JOHN KADER

He continued, "It has been my pleasure, in conjunction with the other commissioners to embark upon a program of improvement for our city government. I feel that I can continue to be useful to the citizens of Sanford as a member of their city commission. I have made some small contribution to Sanford that I announce for re-election."

Kader is married to the former Nellie Cunningham of Sanford. They live at 601 Colonial Dr. with their two children, Sandra and Patry. Kader is a veteran of World War II, a member of the First Baptist Church of Sanford, and the following organizations: Junior Chamber of Commerce, American Legion and Disabled American Veterans.

H. E. Dean Jr. Is Candidate

H. Ewing Dean Jr., who is connected with the Petite Paris Lingerie concern, qualified today as a candidate for the city commission in group two, according to H. N. Sawyer, City clerk.

Library Survey Results Told

TALLAHASSEE—The most recent survey of Florida libraries shows about half of the state's population is served by public book lending institutions. State Librarian Dorothy Dodd reported the state has about half a library book a person on its public shelves and spends 56 cents a person a year on library service. Florida has some 230 libraries including collections at colleges and universities and technical and law libraries.

Picayunish Traveler Fails In Try At Trip

CLEVELAND—A landlubber who says he doesn't like railroads, is angry at buses and won't fit out for Nova Scotia in a homemade boat yesterday. He got lost two miles before he was up to his ankles in water. But Howard A. Tattlin vowed he would try again. He spent three months and $2,000 on his boat. Only 45 minutes after he set out, the 53-year-old novice seaman was back on the shore of Lake Erie, rescued by Coast Guardsmen. His more cautious friends had alerted him. "I guess it had a few leaks," the former bus, railroad porter and laborer said sadly of his boat. "Does anybody know where I can get it fixed?" Tattlin, who came to Cleveland three years ago, wants to visit his

Says Education Provides Means For Improvement

TALLAHASSEE (AP)—Speaker-designate Ted David of the Florida House of Representatives told Parent-Teacher Assn. leaders today representatives in introducing bills in the 1955 legislative session will be required to explain exactly what they do.

He told P.T.A. members attending a legislative workshop here too many bills have often slipping through without anyone knowing their provisions with sponsoring members explaining they "just make a few administrative changes."

Such measures sometimes have turned out to have important effects.

"I'm going to expect a member who reads a bill on the floor to know the subject matter throughly," David said.

He said the 1955 Legislature must look far into the future to cope with such problems as sex crimes and child molestation. Through education, he can reduce crime, raise productivity, reduce slum areas and reduce welfare and correction programs," he said. "A strong education program can do much to reduce child molesters and sex offenders."

The incoming House speaker said Florida's gradual shift from a rural to a more metropolitan economy and its growth in population has brought the problem of sex offenders and child molesters to the fore.

Rural areas have fewer sex offenders, he said, possibly because everyone knows everyone else. The anonymity of a big city makes it less dangerous to give way to depraved impulses, he said.

State School Supt. Thomas H. Bailey urged educators to work as a team in seeking legislative action on school matters. He said he had been told by a legislator of one instance in which a group of teachers, board legislators invited to speak to them on school matters and the lawmakers "found out the only thing in the world they were interested in was more teachers' salaries."

Bailey declared these teachers represented a minority but "it's going to take some time to heal the wounds of the legislative delegation if it happened as he described it."

Bailey predicted Florida school enrollment "could easily reach one million by 1959-60." Present enrollment is over 600,000.

Age Limit Change Will Be Discussed

TALLAHASSEE—A proposed change in the age limit for state wildlife officers will be one of the matters to be taken up by the Florida Game and Fish Water Fish Commission meeting here Oct. 18. Director E. B. Jones announced today.

Present regulations require that newly hired wildlife officers be between the ages of 21 and 45. Jones said there had been some discussion for revising policy in the case of wildlife officers who leave the service then seek to return after age 45.

Among other topics are proposed additions to three wildlife management areas—St. Marks in Wakulla County, Aucilla in Taylor, and Hendry in Hendry County—and closing a portion of Brainerd County to commercial fishing. The closing program for Lake Maggiore, St. Petersburg.

Shrine Club To Meet

The Sanford Shrine Club will meet in the banquet hall of the Masonic Temple tomorrow night at 8 o'clock for the annual election of officers and business meeting, according to A. F. Ramsey, secretary.

NBC-TV Will Show Local Film Soon

Forrest Breckenridge announced today that the Chamber of Commerce has received word from the Hel Lechon agency of New York that NBC-TV will soon schedule a showing of "The Sanford and Seminole County Story," a recent local film on the county.

WORTV of New York has scheduled the film for a Mar. 27 showing, and WMBR-TV of Jacksonville has been sent a copy of the film and is expected to broadcast it within the next several weeks.

REPORTED ILL

PARIS—Fashion designer Jacques Fath is reported seriously ill. A spokesman for the stylist's house said yesterday his favorite showings left him "very tired" and he is recuperating from an earlier attack of jaundice. Other reliable sources, however, said the designer's condition was much graver than was admitted.

Red Bid Received Coldly

BONN, Germany (AP)—Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov's new bid for four-power talks aimed at unifying Germany won support from German Socialists in Parliament today. But Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's government coalition parties spurned it.

The Molotov proposal also got a cold shoulder from British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, and a French Foreign Office spokesman said the United States, Britain and France had left the door open to constructive Russian proposals on Germany, but that no such proposal had been found in Molotov's speech last night.

In the United States, V. K. Krishna Menon of India called on leaders of East and West Germany to get together on unification. He said the Soviet Union had recognized the sovereignty of East Germany and the Western powers were preparing to do the same in the West.

Therefore, he said, leaders of the two sections should be able to set together and work out unification.

"It appears to us that it should be possible for Germans to talk to Germans in order to find ways—or at least the beginning of ways—to establish the unity of their own country," Krishna Menon said, adding that Germany was a big nation.

Eden expressed his views at a Conservative party conference in Blackpool, England.

"They (the Russians) have made every effort to drag Germany to their side and to present us with drawing Germany to ours," Eden said. "They have created German armed forces in their sector long before we have consistently refused to agree to Germany being reunited, except on terms which would result in the Communist party being given the power to convert the whole state."

This is the Communist plan and it is still their plan, which you can read in your papers this morning."

Eden said he expected the next national conference decision reached in London last week on the rearming of Western Germany to be ratified by the various Parliaments because the consequences of rejection are "so fearful to contemplate."

There had been some fears in Bonn that one of the coalition parties—the Free Democrats—might follow the Molotov bid, but the government coalition closed ranks today.

Sanfordite Member Of Site Committee

LAKELAND—A committee has been appointed to study possible sites for a new Florida citrus Commission building.

Chairman J. J. Parrish said yesterday the committee will consider all sites available in any community.

Committee members are Robert C. Moore of Tampa, Thomas Swann of Winter Haven and Harry Tooke of Sanford.

The commission also will look into the possibility of shifting from the present one and three-fifths bushel box to one and two-fifths bushel box for shipping citrus. California now uses the smaller box.

The commission also voted to spend $2,000 to bring Miss America (Lee Ann Meriwether of California) to the Orange Bowl, Gatorland Carnival, Citrus Exposition and General Florida Exposition.

Also approved was a proposal to spend up to $3,000 to finance broadcasts by Tom Moore, radio showman, at the Florida State Fair in Tampa.

The commission voted to pay $200 top of Cypress Gardens. $200 has advanced to defray costs of the 1954 season's baseball dinner in St. Petersburg.

A proposal that the commission take over sponsorship of Santa Claus football games played at Lakeland during the Christmas holidays was presented. The commission decided to consider the proposal which would cost $13,000.

Johns, Health Officer Meeting On Polio Situation In Capital

FIRE DEPARTMENT INSPECTION—Sanford fire Chief Mark Cleveland, Sr., today inspected the Fire Department of Commerce on the two points of fire prevention and the use of the equipment the department carries on its trucks. The Fire Dept. luncheon meeting today was as a part of Fire Prevention Week, the 10th anniversary of the fire department. In the past years, there has been a steady decline in the per capita fire loss in Sanford, he said. (Staff Photo)

Aid Asked Of Federal Government Physician III

TALLAHASSEE (AP)—Acting Gov. Johns scheduled a conference for 3 p.m. today with State Health Officer Wilson Sower to discuss the polio outbreak in Tallahassee which now numbers 227 cases.

Leon County Health officer Joe Bistowich will sit in on the meeting.

Johns yesterday asked the U.S. Public Health Service to immediately step in to help with the outbreak.

Dr. Sower said the chief need from the federal health service was for advice rather than arms and ammunition.

He said he did not believe the polio situation here was "any worse" but it is "no better" than when he was in Tallahassee last week.

Normally, the polio virus does not thrive in cold weather, Dr. Sower said and a break in spread of the disease could be expected with the coming of fall.

But we do not have enough cold weather in Florida to make the change in seasons an effective aid in fighting the disease," he said.

Dr. Sower said he had asked the Board of Health's regional engineer, who covers all of West Florida, to drop his other work temporarily and concentrate on a check to try to determine whether there is any contamination problem in Tallahassee that could be responsible.

Informed by reports that Johns had said he was ready to ask the Federal Public Health Commission for a check to try to determine whether there is any contamination problem in Tallahassee that could be responsible.

Dr. Sower said in the governor's office with a delegation from Citrus county in Franklin County to discuss the polio situation there.

An infant died Monday night at Carabelle and an adult died last night of what doctors said might have been polio.

Among the latest on the sick list is Dr. Bernard Rosenblum, a pediatric physician who had been doing polio prevention meetings here. He and three children also have been stricken, making the Rosenblums the largest polio family group to come down with the disease.

Dr. Rosenblum is the second doctor to contract polio here.

An effort is being made to help to stop the rapid and spreading epidemic of polio here in Tallahassee, Johns said in a telegram to U.S. Surgeon General Leonard Scheele. He said that doctors and other specialists be sent here to help untreated local physicians. A dozen nurses already have come here from other cities.

Though the outbreak has caused six deaths and has had comparatively mild effect on most patients, it has taken an unprecedented number of Leon County citizens to the hospital.

The large number of cases ever recorded here in any previous year also has been noted.

Internal Revenue Commissioner Optimistic About Getting Taxes

WASHINGTON (AP)—Internal Revenue Commissioner T. Coleman Andrews said today the government has better than a fighting chance to collect additional taxes on "unfair" profits from postwar housing projects.

Andrews gave this appraisal to the Senate Banking Committee, which in months of hearings has exposed millions in profits by builders who got government insured loans in excess of their construction costs and pocketed the difference.

"Without disclosing exactly what we propose to do," Andrews said, "we think there are aspects of all these cases that give us better than a fighting chance to get at this income."

Chairman Caphart said he had a question repeatedly asked by the average person as a result of the committee's investigation was "are we going to be able to get any of this money back?"

The senator said he didn't know whether any tax laws had been violated, but called Andrews to see what might be done.

Andrews assured the committee he was just as anxious as anyone to collect any additional taxes possible on the housing projects. He said the builders' methods, as outlined to him, were apparently followed in the expectation that the inflated hopelists in the tax laws would be a lot less hopelists than most people think.

William Simon, counsel for the committee, said in a statement of the Senate Fiscal Authority, "The question of how to foot the bill for the operation of a special five-member advisory committee opening two days of hearings today witnesses from 27 organizations are scheduled to testify."

Eisenhower named an old Army associate, retired Gen. James D. Clay, to head the committee. It has instructions to come back with a report for submission to Congress in January.

Work Is Starting On Highway Plan

WASHINGTON—Sparks work begins today on President Eisenhower's "grand plan" to modernize the nation's highway system at an estimated cost of 50 billion dollars over the next 10 years.

The question of how to foot the bill for the operation of a special five-member advisory committee opening two days of hearings today witnesses from 27 organizations are scheduled to testify.

Eisenhower named an old Army associate, retired Gen. James D. Clay, to head the committee. It has instructions to come back with a report for submission to Congress in January.

Daughter's Slayer Killed By Father

DE FUNIAK SPRINGS—A drunk driver killed his estranged wife and then was shot to death by her father near here yesterday. Wilton County Sheriff Aubrey McDonald said.

Dead were David Sobles, 22, and Anita Kemp Nobles, 22. No charges were filed against Mrs. Nobles' father, Charlie Kemp, the officer said. The shotgun slaying occurred at Kemp's home at Paxton about two miles below the Alabama line.

Leaders Of P-TA Open Workshop

TALLAHASSEE—Florida Parent-Teacher Assn. leaders opened a three-day workshop in the House chamber of the Capitol today.

Mrs. C. D. Johnson of Quincy, state president, said the purpose of the workshop was to train teams of lay and professional people who will arrange and conduct county institutes for legislative chairman, officers and leaders. The objective, she said, is to stimulate and guide support of legislative programs for services for children.

Laffmore Indicted On Purgery Counts Relating To Reds

WASHINGTON (AP)—Louis Laffmore, a prominent Louisiana lawyer, was indicted today on charges of libelous denials he had been a follower of the Communist line and a promoter of Communist interests.

The most recent purgery indictment was returned by a federal grand jury before U.S. District Judge Edward A. Tamm in effect of a subpoena for purgery in another indictment which had been thrown out by the courts.

U.S. Atty. Gen. Ladd said the new indictment would be filed with the federal grand jury in New Orleans in December 1952.

Two of the seven counts of the original indictment were dismissed by the grand jury.

One of the dismissed counts, the key one alleged Laffmore had denied before the Senate Internal Security subcommittee that he had been a Communist sympathizer or promoter of Communist interests.

The count held the word "sympathizer" was libelous. The new indictment specifies the word "sympathizer."

The new allegation is that Laffmore "knowingly and intentionally followed the Communist line in public and private statements, in printed matter, and in any other way, in the United States and other parts of the world."

The indictment further charges that he "intentionally and knowingly followed the Communist line in public and private statements, in printed matter, and in any other way, in the United States and other parts of the world."

Experts Tell Property Owners About Danger Of Big Explosion

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—A 10-acre residential area in southeast Tulsa is located over abandoned oil and gas wells that are capable of blowing up at any time, gas and petroleum experts told a gathering of property owners last night.

Lee Miller already has abandoned his home because of "an overpowering odor of gas" that filled the house. He told the meeting of more than 100 persons the trouble was not in gas lines but from a well drilled in 1913 and plugged four years later.

Also located in the Loma Linda development is the Eisenhower Elementary school.

Eisenhower principal Vernon Jackson told the group: "I am not an alarmist. I do not plan to take my own children out of school."

At that, another father spoke up. "You can count mine absent now."

Available records showed that six wells were not capped, but filled only with mud and sand. The task of beating all the wells was said to be almost impossible.

Oil company geologists said the recent drought possibly might have let the underground gas escape through cracks in the ground.

Storm Hazel Increases In Intensity

MIAMI—This advisory on hurricane Hazel was issued at 11 a. m. (EST) by the San Juan, P.R. Weather Bureau.

Naval reconnaissance aircraft penetrated the eye of hurricane Hazel this morning and found a somewhat intense center of the storm reported in the 6 a. m. advisory. This indicates that the hurricane has been moving in a more westerly path at a speed of about 10 miles per hour.

At 11 a. m. (EST), the hurricane is centered at latitude 12.9 north, longitude 82.4 west, or about 50 miles north-northwest of Curacao, D.W.I. It has increased in intensity and is now attended by winds of 115 miles per hour within 65 miles of the center in the northern and eastern semicircle and within 25 miles of center to south and west.

Gale winds extend outward 250 miles to the north and east and 50 miles toward the west. Further increases in the area of hurricane and gale winds is expected during the next 12 hours with continued westward movement at about 10 miles per hour.

This is a very dangerous storm and vessels are advised to exercise caution during the next 24 hours. Precautions should be taken against possible hurricane winds on the land of Aruba this afternoon and early tonight.

Twelve Iranians Sentenced To Die

TEHRAN, Iran (AP)—A military court handed death sentences today to the first 12 Iranians brought to trial in the current drive against a Soviet spy ring in the armed forces.

The defendants—10 army officers and two civilians—were tried in secret sessions. They said they would appeal the sentences.

Captain Charged With Wife's Death

ORLANDO—James O. Bagnas, captain of the state road camp at Osteen, was arrested yesterday on a charge of investigation of murder.
