Area United Way Campaign Halfway To Goal

With only three more days to go until the "Victory" Dinner. United Way of Seminole County is slightly less than half way to reaching Its record goal of $500,000, when the reports were in at Monday's report luncheon.

Joswick reported a total of $239,268 in gifts and pledges had been turned in as of Monday noon or 47.8 percent of the goal.

Although he admitted he had been discouraged at the apparent apathy in the county toward the drive to this point. 1984-85 campaign chairman Dave Joswick said he is confident the goal will be met. If not by Thursday night, then by the time some late starting firms complete their in-house campaigns and turn in their reports next month. Joswick said the main drive will be officially completed this week and not be extended through November in any case.

"I have 200 hours of my time invested in this campaign and we are going to reach the goal." said Joswick. "It is my expectation we will do it." Robert Blumentritt, director of South Seminole Community Hospital, heads up the Medical division. He reported a total of $13,781. Ken Cone, chairman of the Commercial Division, reported a total of $10.718 has come in as the result of the appeal mailed to county businesses and individuals who had given in the Special Gifts division in the past.

Barbara Rambo of the Education division reported the United Way drive in the schools is 25 percent and there is a total of $5,336.

Gary Earl, chairman of the Government division, said a total of $8,572 has been received in pledges or gifts from the following: Altamonte Springs, $1,351; Casselberry, $667; Lake Mary. $260; Sanford, $1,002; Winter Springs, $1,006; Seminole County, $2.020; and Sheriff's Depart-

Religious Sect Dealt Setback In Voter Push

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI) - A federal judge has turned back an attempt by followers of an Indian guru to quickly register hundreds of homeless atrect people for what opponents fear will be an election day takeover in a central Oregon county.

U.S. District Judge Edward Leavy Monday rejected the sect's request for a temporary order that would have banned the special voter registration hearings for many of the homeless bused into the Rejnecshpuram commune in recent weeks.

Hearings for about 300 of the street people were scheduled to begin today in The Dalles, the scat of Wasco County.

The sect, led by Indian guru Bhagwan Shree Rajneesh, has brought in about 3,500 street people from the nation's urban ghettos, swelling the population of the commune to about 5,500.

Angry local residents say the mass immigration is the prelude to registering the newcomers in an effort to increase the political clout of the commune, which announced recently it will run two write-in candidates for the governing three-member Wasco County Commission.

Voter registrations were halted in the county Oct. 10 and state officials, citing a threat of lawicasness in the coming election, ordered qualification hearings must be conducted before any new voters are registered.

Leavy's decision to uphold the hearings brought an angry reaction from the Rajneesh sect, whose members have said they would like to control all of Oregon.

"That's so outrageous," said Ma Prem Isabel, a spokeswoman for the sect. She said Leavy's decision was "against this particular community, largeting this community."

Investigators today were still trying to determine the cause of the blaze that gutted the Shiller's Furniture and Appliance Store in Dundalk, a suburb of Baltimore,

But they said witnesses reported welders were attaching signs to the outside of the store when the blaze broke out.

About 150 firefighters battled the five-alarm blaze, which broke out about 1:30 p.m. and was brought under control about 3:50 p.m. In addition to the fatalities, eight firefighters sustained minor injuries.

Initial estimates set the loss to the furniture store and its contents at more than $750,000,

Marcos Appears To Be Off The Hook

Blame Fixed In Aquino Murder

MANILA, Philippines (UPI) - The head of a civilian panel investigating the assassination of opposition political leader Benigno Aguino told President Ferdinand Marcos today a general and six soldiers are to blame for the murder.

Marcos, after accepting the report, ordered the seven suspects confined to barracks and announced an "Immediate trial," although the four other panel members said they would issue their own report Wednesday.

The report by Chairwoman Corazon Agrava traced the alleged assassination conspiracy as far as Brig. Gen. Luther Custodio, 50, who was assigned to protect Aquino on his arrival at Manila airport. where he was killed.

Splitting with the other four panelists, she cleared Armed Forces Chief of Staff Gen. Fabian Ver - regarded by many as the most powerful man in the country - of complicity in the Aug. 21, 1983 slaying.

Agrava's report said the other four panelists "took the position that General Ver should be identified as a member of the group."

"The chairman could not conform to that proposition," it said. "It was then agreed that the four members will prepare and submit their own report."

But, she wrote, all five panelists agreed that Custodio had to be in on the conspira-

"The criminal plot could not have been planned and implemented without his intervention," the report said.

The report said the panel unanimously rejected military claims that Aquino was shot by alleged communist assassin Rolando Galman, who was cut down by military gunfire moments after the slaying.

"Senator Aquino was not shot by Galman but by an unnamed member of a group which had plotted his assassination," she

The report made no mention of Marcos who appointed the commission - or his powerful wife, Imelda Lawyers said there was no evidence to link them to the slaying. Named in the report, in addition to Custodio, were six soldiers who escorted Aquino from his jet: Sgts. Claro Lat, Arnulfo de Mesa. Filomeno Miranda and Armando de la Cruz, and Constables Rogelio Moreno and Mario Lazaga. Moments after the findings were announced, state-run television reported Marcos ordered the general and the six soldiers confined to barracks.

Aquino was gunned down at Manila International Airport as he returned from three years of self-imposed exile in the United States to lead the opposition against Marcos. He was under military escort when

Congress Got Sanitized Versions Of CIA Manual

All References To Political Assassination Were Deleted; U.N. Staff Tied To Handbook

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Sen. Sam Nunn, D-Ga., says the CIA toned down its final version of a manual on guerrilla warfare written for Nicaraguan rebels. but said it still contained the word "neutralization" and should not have been distributed by the agency.

The handbook, prepared for use by the so-called contras fighting the Sandinista government of Nicaragua, emerged as a major political issue when a version advocating political assassination was circulated in Washington.

Nunn and another member of the Senate Intelligence Committee, Malcom Wallop, R-Wyo., told reporters Monday the word "assassination" was not used in the copies of the book shown to them during a closed briefing by unnamed CIA officials.

"Most of that offensive language was deleted from our version," Nunn said.

State Attorney Steve Plotnick. A charge of robbery against Lynch was dropped in exchange for the guilty plea.

Lynch was arrested May 8 along with two Sanford youths, a 17-year-old and a 15-year-old.

The older boy has reportedly pleaded guilty to sexual battery and is awaiting sentencing and the 15-year-old was convicted and sentenced in juvenile court for sexual battery.

According to court records, the attack occurred at about 1 a.m. May 8 on the railroad tracks at 6th Street and French Avenue.

The girl told police a 15-yearold boy was walking her home when they were joined by Lynch and the 17-year-old.

The girl was threatened, hit with rocks and raped by the three assailants, a police report said. Lynch reportedly stole a necklace from her.

Should We Give More To Israel?

Israel wants an increase in American aid from the current level of $2.6 billion to more than $4 billion.

It should not be given without strict conditions relating to Israel's foreign and domestic policies.

Because of the high level of American aid to Israel - since 1948, Israel has received $28 billion, more than any other recipient nation in our foreign aid program - the United States is held responsible throughout the Middle East for all of Israel's actions and policies.

Thus the United States was seen as sharing responsibility for the Israeli invasion of Lebanon. Secretary of State Alexander Haig may have encouraged the invasion, but the United States subsequently protested it, though too weakly to halt it.

Now Israel's growing problems with the Shiite Moslem population in occupied south Lebanon are causing strong protests from the Moslems. On Sept. 6, we vetoed a draft U.N. Security Council resolution calling upon Israel to respect the rights of the civilian population in that area. On Sept. 20, the U.S. Embassy annex in Beirut was attacked in a suicide truck bombing, some claimed in retaliation for the veto.

Thus we are blamed for what Israel does, but we lack control over what Israel does. That besits the relationship between sovereign nations, but America has the right to pursue its own national goals. Two years ago. when President Reagan proposed a peace plan that would grant autonomy to the West Bank Palestinians, in association with Jordan, the plan was instantly rejected by Israel and rejected only later by Jordan and the Palestinians.

If increasing our foreign aid to Israel were the way to make it an armed camp perpetually depending upon the generosity of U.S. taxpayers for its very existence, then it might be justified for this country to accept the cost. The concept of an ideal Israel, a sanctuary for the Jewish people who have had no national home and who have been persecuted so cruelly and so long in so many foreign countries, is important to us.

But, in fact, our aid has not brought regional peace, though denying that aid might have made the situation even worse. The relationship between Israel and Egypt has improved, at great cost, but the relationship with Israel's other neighbors has not.

At the same time, indiscriminate U.S. aid has encouraged Israel to follow an irresponsible economic policy. Inflation at the rate of 400 percent a year cannot be tolerated. Israel should not rely on the United States to maintain its standard of living so that it can continue to settle Arab lands and spend billions on defense without causing a revolt and a new exodus of Israeli voters and taxpayers.

A new direction must be charted, one that looks to the long term. The goal should be an Israel safe and secure, prosperous and independent, at peace with its neighbors, at home in the region, and offering to all the people of the entire Middle East that "eternal light" of humanity, civilization and progress which we expected when the tiny nation was founded in 1948. Long-term security for Israel, which is in the security interests of the United States, cannot come without sacrifice from both countries.

Aid leading clearly to that goal should be given generously throughout the region, without quibble. But aid that works to frustrate that peaceful vision by building settlements or supporting invasions should not be increased; it should be suspended.

BERRY'S WORLD

Lois Jones, who organized former military wives locally and is the National President of the National Action for Former Military Wives, said a bill signed into law by President Ronald Reagan on Oct. 13 will benefit many ex-military spouses in this area who weren't covered under the Former Spouses' Protection Act passed in 1982.

The new law will provide medical benefits and commissary and post exchange privileges retroactively to all ex-spouses who were married for 20 years to service members, during which time the members served 20 years in the military, regardless of the date of divorce.

Under the original law, former spouses who otherwise met requirements for the shopping and medical privileges were ineligible if their divorces became final before Feb. 1, 1983.

"We're really proud of this ac-complishment," said Ms. Jones, whose organization has worked so hard to get help for the ex-millary wives through legislation.

The bill passed the House and the Senate on Sept. 26-28.

Another measure entitles an exspouse who was married to an armed forces member for 20 years, with at least 15 years while on active duty, to full military medical care, if the divorce is finalized before April 1. 1985. These former spouses, however, would not be entitled to commissary and exchange privileges.

Finally, the bill would allow two years of military medical care to ex-spouses who were married to members at least 20 years including 15 years of active-duty service, and whose divorces are finalized on or after April 1, 1985. But these ex-spouses would lose this benefit if they remarry. After two years, these exspouses would have the option of joining a guaranteed insurance pro-

Ms. Jones said the legislation is of great interest in Florida as the national average for divorce rate among military men and their wives is 50 percent and there are 116,000 retired military personnel living here.

This last provision, the guaranteed Insurance program, would be available not only to future ex-spouses who meet the 15-year requirement. but also to other persons who lose their entitlement to care in the military health care system including all other former spouses, military personnel and their dependents leaving active duty and dependents of active-duty peronnel or retireees when they reach age 22.

The idea is to have the Department of Defense develop a program much like that which exists in the federal employees' health insurance plan. The plan would guarantee the exspouse, or whomever, the right to convert to a private insurance plan. No matter what condition that person is in . they would have a guarantee of insurability, Ms. Jones said.

Ex-military wives who are interested in joining the organization or finding out more about the new benefits may call Ms. Jones at 628-2801.

IN TALLAHASSEE Justices, Citizen Do Battle

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) - Florida Supreme Court Justices Raymond Ehrlich and Leander Shaw have said in formal declarations that they have active opposition in the upcoming general election and, therefore, have the right to wage a political campaign.

Not so, declares George Schulte. an inventor and freelance engineering consultant whose years-long battle to cut government taxes has led him into a one-man campaign to have the two justices removed from the court.

Schulte declared openly after the court knocked Proposition 1 - his proposed constitutional amendment to limit government revenues — off the ballot last March that Ehrlich and Shaw must go.

Under Florida's merit retention law, justices do not run against other candidates; instead, voters decide simply whether to retain them on the bench or not. If the vote is no, the governor appoints a new justice.

At the same time, justices are not allowed to openly campaign for retention unless they have active opposition. That is where Schulte and the two justices - the only two facing the voters this year -

Schulte says he is simply a private citizen working by himself to try to have the two men removed. He has no committee or campaign organization for the

In formal papers filed with Secretary of State George Firestone, Ehrlich and Shaw say they do have active opposition and have set up committees to work toward their retention on the court.

The two justices have a point. During the past year, Schulte has developed such relatively easy access into the newspapers and onto the airwaves of the state that he has become a type of one-man political movement.

And Schulte, who professes not to like any politician and lumps them all under the label "Re-publi-crats," has had a definite impact on the state in the past

His Proposition 1 campaign, although unsuccessful as a ballot issue, is credited in many circles with prompting the legislature to 1) finish its work on time and 2) approve a budget halled - somewhat erroneously - as having no new taxes.

Since then, he has made Ehrlich and Shaw think about campaign-

A Misguided Faith

Surely one of the more grotesque recent events was the announcement of former President Jimmy Carter that his Christian homebuilding group plans to build some homes in Nicaragua, and that this will show the Nicaraguan people that there are Americans who 'love" them.

Of course Carter could have found people in need of housing in Calcutta, or for that matter London. but current political fashion leads him to Managua and the Sandinista dictatorship there.

Carter is not alone in his fatuity. All summer, a steady stream of entertainment celebrities descended upon Nicaragua, praising the dictatorship and flattering the local dictators. In his Easter sermon, Bishop Paul Moore, Episcopal Bishop of New York, uttered the following absurdities from the pulpit of the cathedral of St. John the Divine: "I'm not saying the Sandinistas are perfect, any more than I am saying that the young United States of America was perfect after the Revo-lutionary War. It took us 12 years to have an election, and George Washington was the only candidate.'

The bishop appears to be so infatuated with the Sandinista dictatorship that he is willing to faisify the history of his own country in order to apologize for them; but Jesse Jackson and George McGovern have done much the same thing, without incurring public ridicule.

Bishop Moore earns a failing grade of E for his account of American history. The fact is that 11 candidates ran against George Washington in the election of 1788. including John Adams, who, as runner-up, becames our first vice president. George Washington was inaugurated a mere 10 months after the ratification of the U.S. Constitution in June 1788. Contrary to the ignorant ecclesiast, it took us five years, not 12, to elect our first president, since the Revolutionary War ended with the Peace of Paris in 1783. During those years the U.S. was a democracy, governed under the Articles of Confederation, with elected officials from the states sitting in the Continental Congress We had a free press, and democratic elections at the state level as well.

All of this is a far cry from the Sandinistas' Nicaragua, where the press is intimidated, property subject to confiscation, control tight at all levels, and where there is no prospect for genuine elections. Anyone who has a starry-eyed view of the Sandinista regime ought to read the article on Nicaragua by Robert S. Leiken of the Carnegie Foundation in the Oct. 8 New Republic. Leiken wished to sympathize with the Sandinista revolution, but what he found in Nicaragua destroyed any possibility of that. Government policy, he found, "has polarized the country, led to distnyestment, falling productivity and wages, labor discontent, and an agrarian crisis." He documents the fact that "The shortage of basic necessities is also breeding pervasive corruption.

Those are the genuine, and now very familiar accents of 20thcentury totalitarianism, and it is extraordinary that men like Bishop Moore, Jesse Jackson and George McGovern can continue to entertain any illusions about it, and evencompare characters like Ortega to Washington and Jefferson. It is a nauscating phenomenon.

Hart Has Been No Spoiler

WASHINGTON (UPI) — In the days between the end of the presidential primaries and the beginning of the national convention, Gary Hart became a matter of deep concern to the Democratic

There was genuine fear, not totally without foundation, that Hart would decide to play the role of "spoiler" in Walter Mondale's presidential campaign.

Hart's heralded breakfast meeting with Mondale in New York City failed to fully stem these concerns.

And his dogged decision to carry the campaign to the convention floor, looking to the very end for some miracle that would deny Mondale the nomination, only fueled the skepticism surrounding Hart's post-campaign plans.

Not even his strongly worded pledge to do eveything he could to help elect Mondale - made personally to Mondale at a summit meeting in San Fransisco, to the entire convention and in several news conferences - fully allayed all of the fears. Much of that atemmed from Hart's remarkable attempt to cap-ture the nomination. A total outsider, although he has been visible on the Democratic scene since 1972. Hart was - and probably still remains - a puzzle to the were tustified. But there can be no question now, and maybe should never have been, that Hart would stick to his word. He may still feel that Mondale was not the best candidate but his overriding aim, even from the beginning, was Ronald Reagan's

His support has not been the type former Sen. Eugene McCarthy of fered Hubert Humphrey - late and tepid. Nor has he tried to distance himself from Mondale even in the most down days of the campaign.

Instead, Hart has been on the road - a surrogate candidate in states and areas where his message is the loudest: in California, which he won overwhelmingly, among the independents and the young and to the "yuppies" he made a household word.

What this surrogate campaigning means for Hart's personal and political future is impossible to

Khomeini Planning To Zap Reagan

Ayatoliah Khomeini given Ronald Reagan the evil eye? According to intelligence sources, the aged lead-er of Iran's Moslem fanatics believes he was responsible for Jimmy Carter's defeat four years ago. Now he wants to put the same spell on President Reagan.

His madness is not without its methods. Iran has trained, bankrolled and directed Shiite terrorists who are reportedly planning one or more bombing attacks on U.S. facilities in the Middle East before Election Day.

U.S. intelligence received what one State Department insider de-scribed as a "specific" warning of a pre-election strike just a few days

As a result, several embassies in the region have been placed on full alert. They include those in Kuwait, Oman, Bahrain, Jordan and, of course, Betrut.

The flood of intelligence tips has created a problem, though. There have been so many reports of planned violence against U.S. embassies in recent weeks that some analysts suspect a deliberate disinformation campaign. The aim would-be to cry "wolf!" so often that, when nothing happened, the American embassies would relax security and make a attack easier.

There is deliberate misinformation being given out to wear down our analysts," one source told my associate Lucette Lagnado.

The Shilte terrorists' long-range goal is nothing less than driving United States out of the Middle East. Some administration critics charge that President Reagan has encouraged this dangerous dream by his failure to retaliate against the terrorists - or their sponsors who were responsible for the two massacre in Beirut. The critics say the terrorists have interpreted this as a sign that they can operate against Americans with impunity.

The latest intelligence warnings have been passed along to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, which will soon issue its long-awaited report on the September embassy bombing. Partisans on the committee staff have been quarreling over the final wording of the report, but at this writing its main points include

-Contrary to press reports, the decision to move the embassy from West Beirut to East Beirut was a sound one. Morale was poor at the old location because of constant tension; East Beirut seemed less vulnerable to terrorist attack.

-Replacement of the extra Marine security detail with Lebanese guards was a positive step. The Lebanese performed well. and a visible Marine presence outside the embassy building was considered an invitation to attack.

-The toughest criticism the report will make is that some of the most fundamental security measures had not been taken at the embassy. For example, while officials waited for concrete to set so steel gates could be put in position. a single truck purked across the entry road at the right place would have been enough to block the bomber's truck.

The Syrians, who have been drawing praise in recent months in administration circles, were less than helpful: They allowed terrorist groups to operate freely in Syrian-controlled areas of Lebanon. It's also possible that the Syrians let the truckload of explosives pass through their checkpoints.

TOKYO (UPI) - Police mobilized a new task force today to search for extortionists believed responsible for sending cyanide-laced candy to a Tokyo supermarket.

The first reported cyanide threat in the capital came Monday when poisoned caramel and candy drops labeled "Danger, Poisoned. Eat and die" were dropped in the mailbox of a family market.

Investigators said 0.01 to 0.05 grams, or less than lethal doses of sodium cyanide, were found in the sweets.

As a result, a special team of 50 detectives was mobilized to search in Tokyo for the "Man with 21 Faces" extortionist gang, which takes its name from a popular 1950s television mystery.

The gang threatened Oct. 17 to plant the tainted sweets across Japan unless the Morinaga Candy Co. paid the equivalent of $410,000.

United Press International Laura was kicked, punched, slapped, and 'knocked around" for nine years before she put a stop to the beatings.

"I finally decided I couldn't take any more w"thout going crazy, so I had him arrested." said the 45-year-old mother of six.

The final violent episode, in New York, thrust her out of her ambivalence and fear and forced her to take the action.

I asked him to bring something home for the kids to eat because there was never any money in the house for me to buy anything," said Laura.

He came home with one package of Twinkies for six kids. I was bathing the twins and when I saw that, I got very, very

He brought those Twinkles upstairs and squished them right in my face in front of the kids and started punching me around. He dragged me by the hair downstairs and. of course, the kids were screaming," she said, her voice cracking.

The 4-year-old jumped on his back to try to stop him. I think that's what did it. When the kids started getting involved," said Laura, her eyes brimming with tears as she remembered what she has tried so hard to forget.

The physical abuse ended after the arrest. but, she said, the verbal and emotional abuse continued until she finally divorced him 15 years later.

Laura, raised in a quiet, middle-income. small-town family, said she had never dealt with violence before.

Dan, however, "lived his own hell," growing up with an abusive father.

"His lather constantly beat up on his mother and the kids," said Laura. He left home at age 15, staying with brothers and sisters, and then joining the Navy.

She married Dan at 22, while he was still

"Before we were married, he wasn't like that. I did notice he had a hot temper and he picked fights with people. I stopped seeing him for awhile because of that, but he was

She became pregnant soon after they married and spent a peaceful year while he was stationed in another state.

"The first slap was right after he came back - about two weeks.

From just a slap he got to where he was knocking my head into the wall. His favorite pasttime was punching me in the stomach. because, of course, that didn't show," she

During her second pregnancy, she said she took a lot of battering "trying to keep him away from the first child." She almost lost the baby.

She said she tried to leave him and returned to her father.

'He told me I made my bed, sleep in it. I had no place to go. I couldn't earn enough money to take care of the kids." she said.

She said she had few friends to turn to for

"I couldn't have any friends. He would accuse me of being a lesbian, or if I did have friends, he'd drive them away.

"One time he accused me of taking his money, which I hadn't. He just punched me right in the face. I was ironing in front of a closet door and when he punched me I flew all the way to the back of the closet.

"I lay there, dazed, and he dumped water on my head and told me to stop faking. I ended up with two black eyes.

"My doctor didn't question me, and I didn't say a word. By that time I realized it didn't do any good. He would just smile and shake his head. like 'Oh, brother, another

Since the Federal Government began the deregulation of interest rates, banks can do what they want with rates and yields on certificates.

They can compound interest daily, monthly, every three months or once a year. Yet, some banks in Florida don't compound interest at all. But, at NCNB, we think you deserve more muscle for your money. So, on all certificates from 7 days to 5 years, we compound interest daily on every dollar you save with us. That makes $9 million more a year in interest we pay the people who save with us.

What's more, you also get the security of FDIC insurance and the backing of the largest banking organization in this part of the country.

Giving you more clout for your cash. That's just one more way we're working to be the best bank in Florida. One neighborhood at a time.

Raines Wants $7.5 Million For 5 Years

Raines gets his wish, he'll move into the Winfield, Foster, Schmidt, Ryan tax bracket.

Raines and his agent, Tom Reich. will ask the Montreal Expos to open the purse strings this week

Raines wants $7.5 million dollars over a five-year contract. That's a cool $1.5 million a year, thank you.

Raines said he figures he's in the Winfield, Foster, Schmidt and Ryan class as a player, so why not get paid like them?

Can't find anything wrong with that reasoning. Last year, the National League's reigning base thief had a $750,000 base salary and picked up close to another $150,000 for incentives (Ali-Star team, games, stolen base crown, etc.). Raines has put together back-to-back seasons which any player would envy. Here's a look at two pretty impressive years:

Category 19	83	100
Average	298	.30.1
Stolen bases	90	75
Runs batted in	71	60
Home runs	11	8

38 192 133 106 Game-Winning......RBI 13

Raines has led the league in stolen bases four straight seasons. This year. he became the first player ever to steal 70 or more bases in his first four seasons. Last year, he was the first player since Ty Cobb to steal more than 70 bases and drive in more than

This year, he also led in doubles. He was second in runs after leading the league last year. This year, he was third in hits, fourth in on base percentage (.393) and 10th in triples. Only Dale Murphy (162) played in more games than Raines 160. He missed one with injury and the Expos failed to make up the other.

This last quality may be Raines' most outstan was He is in the lineup everyday. When a player with his skills played everyday, the statistics will follow in bunches.

game - and somebody is going to pay for It.

But what if the Expos don't want to lay out all that cash for five years? 'Then I'll sign a one-year contract and become a free agent in two years." he said about the six-year free agency rule. "It doesn't matter to me. I can be Just as happy someplace clse."

The Expos touched off some minor fireworks right after the regular season when they proclaimed that no one was untouchable (via the trade route). For some reason, they made it a point to mention Raines and Andre Dawson.

This outburst, however, could have been predicted. Since the Expos have been picked to win the division for the past five years and have done it just once, the organization feels it may be

Or, as Leo Durocher : "e said, "If we don't win (in 1969 or ____), it's time to back up the truck." Well, the Cubs)), it's time to didn't win so they backed up the truck and took Leo out with the team.

Raines doesn't like to discuss team personnel. "Then, they'll think I want to manage." he laughed. "I'm not as old as Pete Rose."

Upon further prodding, however, he did offer these insights. "We need a good shortstop who can hit home runs," he said. "All the good teams have them. And if we want to win. that's what we got to have.
What else? "We need a topnotch relief pitcher. Like a Gossage, Smith or a Heinandez. On that can be a stopper and get us 30 or 40 saves. Our guys (Jeff Reardon and Gary Lucas) are pretty good but none are in that category.

Raines predicted that if the Expos don't produce next season, there will be some drastic changes. "Yeah, they're going to have to back up the truck if we don't win next year." he said. "We gotta get some people in

.Vill the truck take one Timothy Raines? "I'm may be on a one-year contract, but I'd rather not answer that question.

...Pony Restructures Officers

The Seminole Pony Baseball program, where Raines played a couple years, has shuffled its organizational structure, according to Lake Mary's Ed Suggs, who puts in a lot of hard hours at the Five Points Complex near Winter Springs.

Darryl Will will take over as president. replacing Delbert Wilks, who along with his wife Lois, spent several fine years overseeing the complex. Jim Withrow moves into vice-president one and Charlie Chapman is vice-president two. Gregg Twiggs will be the treasurer and Susan Keogh will be the secretary. Judy Bowers is the board member adviser.

"We're changing our whole league around," said Suggs. "There will be no coaches or managers as board members. That way we'll see whose really

Howell's 1-2 Punch Knocks Out Opponents

By Chris Fister Herald Sports Writer

One of the first things Teresa Tinsley did when she took over as volleyball coach at Lake Howell High was contact the team's two returning starters, Beth Saunders and Elleen Thiebauth, It was a wise thing to do. The two talented seniors have made Tinsley's transition to Lake Howell a

"As soon as I walked into the postition I was told to get in touch with Beth and Eileen," Tinsley said. "They were the team leaders from day one.

The leadership of Saunders and Thiebauth has been instrumental in the Lady Hawks' Five Star Conference championship season. They work together well on the court, are excellent students in the classroom and have been good friends since they were freshmen.

"We've been on an equal level "ince we were freshmen," Saunders said, "We've stuck together ever since, in volleybell and in soltball. We were the only two freshmen on variety and we both got to start when we were sophomores."

Saunders and Thiebauth have been fortunate to have had excellent instruction and motivation since they began playing volleyball.

Saunders took up the game as a fourth grader in Virginia Beach, Va. Her father, Jack, played volleyball for many years and knew just about everything possible about the game. Beth's older sister, Cathy, also picked up the game at that time and she also developed into an outstanding player.

"We learned most of what we know from my dad," Beth said. "We used to play together in our back yard, Cathy and I against dad."

Right through junior high school, when the Saunders' moved to the Central Florida area, Jack Saunders continued to teach Beth and Cathy. When the two entered Lake Howell High they met another great teacher, Jo Luciano.

'She was a very dedicated coach," Beth said of Luciano. "When she went home, she took volleyball with her. She did a lot of things for the team, spirit wise, and she was a great motivator."

Browns Hire Schottenheimer Buccaneers Waive Jackson

CLEVELAND (UPI) - The Cleveland Browns new head coach, Marty Schottenheimer, takes his job one step at a time. Step 1 - a one-game winning streak. Browns owner Art Modell fired Coach Sam Ruticliano Monday and replaced him with defensive coordinator Schottenheimer who helped make the Browns a top-rated defensive team this year despite the club's 1-7 re-Modell said he reached his decision on the coaching change late Sunday following a 12-9 loss to the Cincinnati Bengals, saying "Our personnel deserve a better He said Schottenheimer was the sole candidate for the job and hailed his appointment was the start of a "new era." "It is a bittersweet moment. but I'm excited about the opportunity," Schottenheimer said. "I'm positive that I'll be good at what I'll do. We are looking to start a streak ... We want to win one in a row. He gets his first chance Sunday when the Browns host the While wanting to be fully involved in running the club. Schottenheimer said he will rely heavily on offensive coordinator Joe Scannella for help.

"I don't see any major changes," said Schottenheimer, who added he would be evaluating players and staffers as the season progresses.

Rutigliano started the 1984 season by promising to win the AFC Central crown, but the loss to Cincinnati left the Browns essentially out of contention.

Modell said he would honor the 4 1/2 years remaining on Rutigliano's contract and hopes Rutigliano, named UPI's Coach of the Year in 1979 and 1980. would remain with the Browns in some capacity. His record was 47-50 over 6 1/2 seasons.

The usually jocular Rugitliano was subdued during the news conference but gracious. "Let's look at it as a fresh

Session Time Slice Up Frontier; Cattlemen Rebound, Top Angels

Session Time won its first game Saturday as it scored all of its runs in the first three innings en route to a 9-1 victory over Frontier Cattle Company in Sanford Men's Softball League play at Pinchurst Field.

Darrell Riggins led Session Time with an inside-the-park home run and a RBI single. Blair Kitner added a two-run double and Bob Kaneckele chipped in with a pair of singles. Ed Ray had two hits and drove in the only run for the Cattlemen. Frontier Cattle came back to win its second game Saturday, 5-2, over the Angels.

After three scoreless innings, the Angels took a 1-0 lead in the bottom of the fourth on Gilbert Galarza's RBI single. Galarza had three hits in the game.

The Cattlemen scored twice in the fifth to take a 2-1 lead on Randy Sheifeld's RBI triple and Gary Ochsenhirt's sacrifice fly.

Frontier Cattle made it 4-2 in the top of the sixth with the key hit being Paul McDaniel's RBI single and the Cattlemen when up by three, 5-2, on Danny Broyles'

The Cattlemen made a pair of errors in the bottom of the inning, but the Angels couldn't capitalize on them.

Hilliard Tops SEC Performers

BATON ROUGE, La. (UPI) - Tailback Dalton Hilliard ran up 164 yards against a tough Kentucky defense and scored four touchdowns — tying a Louisiana State record — to win United Press International's Southeast Offense Player of

It was Hilliard's second most productive day as a collegian and pushed the the 5-foot-8, 187-pound junior from Patterson, La. to third among the nation's rushers with an average of 130.2 yards a game.

As a freshman in 1982, Hilliard totaled 183 yards on 38 carries against Florida State and earlier this year - in LSU's 47-7 win over Wichita State - he carried 17 times for 166 yards.

Saturday's 36-10 victory gave LSU a 5-0-1 record overall and 2-0-1 in the Southeastern Conference.

All four of Hilliard's touchdowns came in the second half. He scored on runs of 15, 12, 14 and 3 yards.

Infante Withdraws From Gators

JACKSONVILLE (UPI) - Lindy Infante, coach of the U.S. Football League's Jacksonville Bulls, has removed himself from consideration for the coaching job at the University of Florida, The Florida Times-Union reported Monday.

Infante's move follows that of Tampa Bay Bandits coach Steve Spurrier, who withdrew his name Oct. 8. Both are former Gator players.

University of Florida athletic director Bill Carr has been directing the search for a new coach to replace Charley Pell, fired in the wake of an NCAA investigation into the football program. Infante told the newspaper he informed Carr of his decision Friday.

Infante said the move allows him to get on with directing

"I just want to end all of the speculation," he said. "The timing is bad because of the possibility of them waiting until early December to make a decision when we would be into our preparations for our season."

Dickerson Dashes Past Falcons

ATLANTA (UPI) - Containing Los Angeles Rams running back Eric Dickerson is easier said than done.

The Atlanta Falcons knew that was what they had to do if they were to have a shot at beating the Rams twice in the same season for the first time - but they couldn't do it.

Dickerson, the No. 2 rusher in the NFL. battered the Falcons for 142 yards on 25 carries Monday night - including a 10-yard touchdown Jaunt - while leading the Rams to a 24-10 victory that avenged a 30-28 loss in Los Angeles barely two weeks ago.

In the process, Dickerson, a second-year man out of Southern Methodist who gained 164 yards last week, increased his season total to 911 yards, just 36 behind Chicago's Walter Payton in their battle for the league rushing title.

Pro Football

He had 108 of those yards in the first half while the Rams were building a 21-3 lead with three second-quarter touchdowns. He was up to 140 by midway through the third quarter, but played little the rest of the way. The offensive line was the reason I ran so well in the first half," said the 6-foot-3, 220 pound Dickerson. "We simply didn't play as well in the second half."

Dickerson, who had a couple of fumbles blaone on "a bad handoff" and the other for 'trying to change the ball from one hand to the other" - complained that the Falcons were hitting him late.

"I guess they teach them to take cheap shots." he said. "I won't say they are a dirtyball team, but I don't call the way they hit so late as being good football. No. 27 (Atlanta defensive back Tom Pridemore) did a headstand on my back when I was down and getting up.

Cathy went on to be a threeyear starter for Luciano and. after a fine senior scason in 1983, she received a scholarship to play for Valencia Community

With Luciano's guidance, and playing alongside of talented seniors such as sister Cathy, Christy Scott and Kathy Barma, Beth became one of Seminole County's top players as a junior.
Luciano took a leave of absence for the first semester of the 1984-85 school year and three years under Luciano was enough to steer Saunders and Thiebauth in the right direction.

"Elleen and I knew she (Luciano) was leaving," Saunders of talent coming up off the junior varsity and I believed we could do it (win the conference)."

This season at Lake Howell Saunders has emerged as one of the best all-around players in Central Florida. She excels at every aspect of the game and has the attitude to match.

"Beth's always the first one to practice and the last one to leave," coach Tinsley said. "She's always ready to give 100 percent. If she keeps working hard, she'll go far in college ball."

The 1984 season is the first time in eight years the Saunders' have been apart. Beth said she would like to be reunited on the same team as Cathy next scason.

"Cathy and I are trying to get back playing together," Saunders said. "We played together for a long time and really know each other and are aware of each other when we're playing."

Beth would like to join Cathy on the Valencia Community College team next season. Scott, who graduated from Lake Howell last year, is also playing for Valencia and Thiebauth is interested in the college.

While Saunders has played volley ball for eight years. Thie bauth first started out playing in high school.

"In eighth grade I just played for fun in PE class and a liked the sport a lot," Thiebauth said. "So I decided to try out my freshman year."

It didn't take long for her to learn the game. "I just worked hard on it and asked a lot of questions," she said.

And there with the answers was Luciano. "She was a great coach." Thiebauth said. "She influenced me quite a bit."

Thiebauth became one of the best hitters in Seminole County as a junior and, this season, she has developed into one of the county's best all-around players.

'Some people think she's just a hitter, but she's not. She can do everything," Tinsley said of Thiebauth. "She has real good court sense and won't hesitate to take charge. She's alway had a positive attitude and is a great competitor."

Both Saunders and Thiebauth have credited Tinsley and assistant coach Linda Morales with turning the team around early in the 1984 season. "Coach Tinsley and coach Morales got us working together as a team," Thiebauth said. "Team unity is Oviedo's Little League program, which has the best press box around, will hold its Fall Barbeque at the Meat World parking lot Saturday, according to president Edward J. Niemiec, Jr. That's Ed for short.

The barbecue begins at 11 a.m. and runs to 6 p.m. Rib dinners are just $4 while chicken dinner go for only $3.50. They come in take-home containers which include cole slaw and baked beans.

Tickets may be purchased in advance from Oviedo Little League board members. Niemiec and his hard-working crew have some big plans for the 1985 season and he said a big turnout would be appreciated. "Our major cost last year was

High Price Of Friendship Takes Usher By Surprise

DEAR ABBY: Please print this so parents will think twice before planning a "sky's the limit" wedding for their son or daughter.

Our son was recently "honored" when a college fraternity brother asked him to be an usher at his wedding.

Although this meant a long trip either by plane or automobile, as well as time off from work, our son agreed. What he did not realize (nor was there any mention of this until the day before the wedding), he was expected to pick up a tab of $70 for his tux rental! We were floored when we were informated at the tux rental shop. that the wedding had become too expensive for the groom's family, so everybody had to pay for his own.

Since our son is not financially well-off, we are paying for his tux rental.

Weddings with the attendants all dressed alike make a pretty picture, but in my opinion, unless the bride and groom or their parents are prepared to foot the bill, the wedding should be kept on a more conservative scale.

DISILLUSIONED BY FANCY WEDDINGS

DEAR DISILLUSIONED: When the bride and groom select their attendants, they should state whether they will pick up the tab for tux rental and attendants' gowns. Unless the bride and groom are extraordi-

DEAR ABBY: While shopping in a card shop recently, I remarked to an elderly lady standing near me that it was difficult to find just the right "get well"

She replied, "Yes, especially when you know that the person is not going to get well."

The lady was right. As I looked at card after card in the "get well" section, they all bore the same message: "Please, get well

Abby, the reality of life is that many sick people do not get well, so to send such a card to a terminally ill person who is aware of his condition is to deny reality.

I am not suggesting that we send a card saying, "I know you are dying and I hope it will be as easy as possible," but. Abby. surely there must be some way to say, "I hope you're comfort-

Thanks for listening.

THE REV. DOROTHY LAIRMORE, PRESCOTT. ARIZ.

DEAR MS. LAIRMORE: Your point is well-taken. Next time, look in the "friendship" section. You will find cards that say, "Thinking of you." or, "I value your friendship." And if you can't find an appropriate message, write one.

CONFIDENTIAL TO YOU: If you are not registered, you cannot vote.

Country Arts And Crafts Festival

The 11th anniversary of the Great Day In the County Arts and Crafts Festival promises to be a great day of celebrating country style. The sponsoring Oviedo Woman's Club changed the date from spring to fall but plans to keep the same country ambiance under the familiar oaks in the picnic area behind St. Luke's Lutheran Church, near the corner of Red Bug Lake Road and State Road 426 in the Slavia area of Oviedo, according to Barbara Shaffer. The Nov. 10 date affords early Christmas shopping opportunities for those interested in a variety of unique handcrafted gifts in gental un-der-the-oaks festival setting. Mrs.

Shaffer says. As a special feature, guests will observe demonstrations of several old country crafts brought in to generate interest in these fields: a look at forestry, an Audobon Society aviary, apinning, weaving and china painting to name a few. The entire booth area has been expanded to allow for a greater number and variety of wares to be available.

Great Day in the Country is designed to promote interest in hand-crafted arts while using the profits to benefit local charities and civic projects.

Mrs. Shaffer encourages festival patrons to plan ahead and mark Nov. 10 on your calendar for a rollicking. frolicking day of music, country food, special children's entertainment, a wide selection of arts and crafts, and especially a heaping helping of country hos-pitality for a Great Day under Liz McDonald of Pac N' Send will take the hassle out of gift wrapping and shipping.

Let Pac N' Send Solve Your Packaging Problems

It's time to think about getting ready for the holidays and Liz McDonald at Pac N' Send has some helpful packaging and shipping tips to take some of the hassle out of the Christmas rush.

For any of you who have gifts to ship overseas. November is the best time to ship these items to ensure that they'll arrive in time to be put under the tree. Packages which are shipped that great a distance need special packaging attention. A good sturdy cardboard box, strong scaling tape, and some packaging insulation will protect these gifts you spent so much time selecting.

One of the new innovations in gift wrapping at Pac N' Send is the custom designed stenci's which Liz is using instead of the standard bows. The stencils adhere to the packages better and do not get mussed up during shipping. The special Christmas designs are on the drawing board right

A number of the local people are doing some beautiful work with ceramics, and these make lovely gifts, however, they do require special packaging. The chemical foam system, which was installed earlier this year at Pac N' Send, does an exceptional job of protecting these pieces with a custom foam mold around each item and also eliminates the necessity of double boxing

Pac N' Send is still affiliated with G & S Packing of Weirsdale, for their fruit shipping business and G & S has come up with some delightful gift packs of Florida Citrus. They will start shipping fruit again, barring any more disasters, early in November.

Of course, if anyone still has citrus growing in their backyard, Pac N' Send has special boxes for shipping your own fruit.

Most of the parcels shipped by Pac N' Send are sent by United Parcel Service. The weight limit for packages is 70 pounds and 108" girth and length combined. Breakable items must be double boxed with at least 2" of insulation in each box or packed in the chemical foam system. If you have an unusual item or just need some packaging information, just give Liz a call at the store, the number is 323-1137. Pac N' Send is located at 304 East Commercial Street in downtown Sanford, right around the corner from the Post Office, the hours are 8:30 to 5:30 weekdays and 9-12 on Saturday. During the holiday season, the hours will be extended to accommodate their customers.

Preventive Nutrition Can Reduce Risk Of Disease

nutrition designed for your own individual needs can limit the risk to future disease and improve the quality at life by using clinical nutritional methods.

Richard Michael. clinical nutritionist, by analyzing risk factors through the use of computers, can set up a specific dietary program to meet the client's individual nutritional needs, lifestyle and the affects of stress on their overall health.

By changing these factors we can change the internal health of their bodies. The change is also reflected cosmetically in the way they look, think and project themselves," he said.

Because of the current food fadism, many people have a "pilt mentality." "I don't recommend megadoses of food supplements." said Dr. Michael. "Taking high potency doses of one vitamin or mineral can be harmful and cause a change in the metabolism. Everyright proportion then

Estrogens Not Drugs, Provide Many Benefits

DEAR DR. LAMB - Why does my body require estrogens and progesterones? What causes the hot flashes when I don't take them? What are the risks of cancer from taking them?

I am 30 and had a complete hysterectomy two years ago. I've been taking the two drugs since then.

DEAR READER - Better listen to your doctor. These are not "drugs" in the sense I think you mean, but are hormones that are naturally produced by your body. They are responsible for your female characteristics. Estrogens, in particular, help to develop breasts and secondary sexual characteristics and to maintain a moist vaginal lining . These hormones induce the changes at puberty that cause a girl to mature into a young woman.

Regardless of how it happens. a shortage of female hormones causes you to lose secondary sexual characteristics. Your body's thermostat may be we set. leading to het flashes. Even cells at the outlet of the bladder may change in such a way that a woman is more susceptible to urinary tract infections, and her bones will degenerate early.

You are the type of woman who greatly benefits from taking estrogen, according to a recent study sponsored by the National Instututes of Health. Women who have lost their ovaries from surgery and did not take replacement hormone therapy had a death rate, from all causes, that was more than eight times as great as that of women who took estrogen.

Your letter suggests that you badly need more information on the menopause, so I am sending you The Health Letter Special Report-22. Understanding the Menopause.

DEAR DR. LAMB - It is a common practice for high-school wrestling coaches to encourage weight loss so boys can wrestle at a lighter weight. They are coaxed into minimizing food and fluid, in addition to frequent expectoration, to keep their weight down. Won't they suffer from dehydration and malnutri-

DEAR READER - It might impress them most to know that a good study showed that teams did not do as well in competition if they employed such practices. Wrestlers who didn't try to get below their correct weight with such practices did better even if they wrestled at a higher weight class. Therefore, the practices

WIN AT BRIDGE

By James Jacoby

The bidding by North was time declarer will be smiling, super-aggressive. After South But it does pay to provide for trump, North might have con-tented himself with three diamonds or a raise to two no-trump. South would have accepted any game invitation happily, but the jump to three no-trump removed all doubt. Now that he was in game, South had to make it. Certainly the lead of a low heart was not frightening to declarer. The objective in the play on such deals is to establish the long suit (diamonds in this case) without allowing the dangerous opponent to come on lead. Of course. more often than not (68 percent of the time) the opposing diamonds divide 3-2. In other words, about two-thirds of the had responded to the one- that unfortunate remainder of the time when East may have four to the jack or 10.

So what needed to be done here? The answer was for declarer to win the heart king in dummy and lead a low diamond to the nine in the closed hand. Now any return can be won, the queen of diamonds played, and dummy re-entered with a high heart to run the diamond suit for enough tricks to make three no-trump.

The term for this play is "avoidance." By playing in this way. South has avoided giving East the opportunity to come on lead and attack declarer's precious club king.
