There will be no more subsidies for big aviation companies on the air mail contracts. The time may yet come when all government subsidies will be discontinued.

Florida's venerable, senator, Duncan U. Fletcher, has introduced a bill in Congress which would put a cap on stock speculations, which would limit national accounts, and put an end to pool operations. We have a hunch that the bill will pass, and that when it does many gullible investors will be better protected than they have been.

According to Eugene Lyons, the "Red" Press correspondent in Moscow, the original Russian Five Year Plan included the distribution of some 400,000 automobiles among the Russian people. At the end of five years there were only 10,000 automobiles in actual use in the Russian. In this country there are something like 30 million automobiles, valued at $10 billion.

Finger Printing

Time was when only those individuals apt to be found in the rogues' galleries ever had their fingerprints taken. Nowadays, however, many far-sighted individuals from all ranks of citizens are being fingerprinted as a sort of precautionary measure. In fact it is all the rage now.

Since kidnaping has become so popular, men of wealth are resorting to fingerprints for the protection of their children. But in the cities thousands of middle class citizens are also sending in their fingerprints as positive means of identification in case anything goes wrong. In fact, the only persons who are actually avoiding the fingerprint bureau are persons likely to be caught in some criminal undertaking.

It's all for protection. Parents can have a positive record of their youngsters. Long lost brothers can return and claim their share of the last will and testament of a bereaved relative. Families dealing with kidnapers can be sure of positive identification. Persons afflicted with amnesia can learn who they really are. Those who have "doubles" can prove who is who.

Every hour of the day 300 sets of fingerprints are filed in permanent records of the Department of Justice, which segregates criminal and non-criminal fingerprints. Although begun only in 1924, the Fingerprint Division now has eight lines as many exhibits as Sherlock Holmes' rival, Scotland Yard, long possessor of the world's finest collection.

Impetus to the movement was given in 1929 when civil service applicants had their whorls recorded, since criminals often covered their tracks by getting a government job. At that time, one in 13 applicants was found to have a criminal record. Now the ratio is one in 40.

Postal savings depositors have their fingerprints taken, although it is done without smearing ink all over their hands. Recently a Middle Western city sent 81 sets of prints of applicants for city positions. The Department of Justice checked them with the records and found that seven had criminal records.

Bank Liquidation

The announcement of Comptroller Lee that he would go to Washington in an effort to obtain Reconstruction Finance Corporation funds for loans to aid in liquidating a number of Florida's defunct banking institutions, has raised a note of hope, the Tampa Times points out, for thousands of middle class depositors who lost their all when abnormal conditions forced these banks to the wall.

"Comptroller Lee said he would ask for loans on the security of 'frozen assets' of probably a hundred Florida banks that have been closed for longer or shorter periods," the Times declares. "He did not specify the banks although he made it known that the closed banks in the Tampa area were included."

"Assuredly, it would be a great thing for thousands whose all is tied up in Florida banks that are out of business, if such a loan can be negotiated. It would release hundreds of thousands of dollars of deposits that have long remained impounded and unavailable, and would stimulate business and industry in every corner of the state."

"The Comptroller will go to Washington next week, armed with detailed reports of appraisers who have just completed rigid examinations of the affected banks and their assets, and these reports, it is hoped, will be sufficiently clear and reassuring to bring the desired results. All Florida will hope that Mr. Lee will bring home the bacon."

Thus far, Florida has been handicapped by the fact that since the full force of its depression came a little sooner than in the rest of the country, such federal legislation as has been enacted for the purpose of helping the banking situation, has not been as effective. In this state as elsewhere, if depositors are to be paid off by the government in banks which closed in 1933, we believe they should be similarly paid if their banks happen to close in 1932, or at any other time during the present depression.

SANFORD, TWENTY YEARS AGO

Monday afternoon Mrs. Edna Williams entertained 14 young ladies in honor of her thirteenth birthday. Mrs. Zachary and Mrs. A. C. Williams assisted Mrs. C. M. Williams in receiving. Among the winners in the various contests were Miss Julia Zachary, Miss Fannie Reba Munson, and Miss Dorothy Rumph. Those who were invited were: the Misses Mary and Julia Zachary, Clarice Hand, Dorothy Rumph, Adele and Lucille Rines, Vera Terhoun, Ruth Waldron, Kathleen Brady, Irene Norwood, Fannie Reba, Munson, Mamie Kate Williams, Maggie Pearl Smith, and Corinne Keen.

Mr. and Mrs. John W. Baker and children and Hoke Smith of Hartwell, Ga. are visiting in Sanford for a time as the guests of Mrs. J. M. Vickary. Mr. Baker is the clerk of the circuit court of Hartwell County.

There was a meeting on the banks of the St. Johns River on Saturday just above the point where it enters Lake Harney, which means a great deal for Seminole County. The object of the meeting was to locate a crossing for the road to be built connecting us with the east side of the river, and this was definitely established at the place known as Rat Island, a mile and a half south of Lake Harney. It means that Geneva and East Seminole will be within about 15 miles of the National Highway under construction from Montreal to Miami and that Sanford will be but little more than 50 miles by automobile from Titusville.

MURDERED IN COLD BLOOD!

MELBOURNE TIMES

The golden-haired little boy died a few days ago. His body was not robust enough to stand the ravages of whooping cough. The doctors did all they could. They try now to bring some comfort to the grieving parents by telling them that if the child had lived he would have gone through the terrible disease, because of the disease that wrecking cough had done to his delicate lungs.

The little boy died from what they call a "child's disease." His parents may accept that verdict, but those who know the circumstances say that the child was never as recuperated as given a chance to recover at a hospital. He was recuperated by another little child who was not by his mother to play about in the street where she was enjoying the sun-tion: New York, New Jersey, Virginia, Ohio, Texas, California, Utah, Colorado, Wisconsin, Kansas, Massachusetts, and Washington. West Virginia was listed as NRA yesterday as having such a bill through its house and pending before the senate.

Johnson's letter to the governor said: "The NRA does not presume to give definite advice as to the particular provisions which such legislation should include in any particular state which elects to cooperate by the enactment of such a statute."

"However, it is thought that a substantial uniformity in the character of the various acts of the several states would prevent confusion and conflicts and aid in the co-ordination of the efforts of the nation and the states. With this thought in mind, the following is submitted as a form for a statute which provides for full co-operation with the National Recovery Administration in this emergency. This may be used as an aid in drafting, or in any way you see fit."

Essentials of the model law proposed are:

That state and local officials may be employed in NRA police work. Compliance with a code may not be avoided by the plea that the individual or firm involved is not engaged in interstate commerce. The terms of the applicable code shall have the force of state law for all. Violations by employers whether engaged in interstate commerce or not, shall be subject to a $500 state fine for each day of violation. Firms complying with codes shall be exempt from provisions of state anti-trust laws or any court decrees issued under them. The state, county and municipal purchasing shall be limited to code complaints.

That the state will not cause her arrest. She will not be taken before a court of justice and receive the punishment she deserves. A Solomon would perhaps send a Solomon carrying child to leave death for her own small son. But in this day of alleged civilization we let people send disease and death into public places, and then when the small basket is carried out of a stricken home, we lay it to the hand of God!

ICKES CALLS HALT ON NEW PWA PROJECTS

should be accepted." He asserted that it would be unfair to permit the government to spend money in the construction of projects when there would be practically no chance of the government being able to finance them.

Originally, the dead line for filing new PWA applications had been fixed for Jan. 1. This deadline later was extended to build up a reasonable accumulation of projects which might be qualified through examination so that they could be pushed when additional funds became available. Since the first of the year, allotments have been made possible only by rescinding earlier allotments, due to local conditions, court decisions, referendum votes and other actions. It was impossible to proceed with construction.

State engineers were directed by Ickes to instruct applicants that no further projects would be considered by their state boards. He urged that they submit, immediately, a schedule showing what projects are pending them to "clean up" on pending projects with the idea of sending in a final report not later than Feb. 23, next.

Colonel Lindbergh's telegram follows: "The President, White House, Washington, D. C. 'Your action of yesterday affects fundamentally the industry to which I have devoted the last 12 years of my life. Therefore, I respectfully present to you the following consideration: The personal and business lives of American citizens have been built up around the right of just trial before conviction. Your order of cancellation of all air mail contracts condemns the largest portion of our commercial aviation without just trial. The officers of a number of the organizations affected have not been given the opportunity to a hearing and improper acts by many companies affected have not been established. 'No one can rightfully object to drastic action being taken provided the guilt implied is first established but it is the right of

54-Year Old Cake Is Found In Georgia City

LAGRANGE, Ind., Feb. 12.—(AP)

There's a cake here that's 54 years old.

It belongs to Elias Ridley and was baked in 1879 for the late Cyrus F. Fillmore—brother of Millard Fillmore, thirtieth president—in honor of Cyrus' seventy-seventh birthday. Mr. Fillmore was the great-grandfather of Mrs. Ridley.

The cake has a fruit cake base, seven inches in diameter and two and a half inches high. A model of the old Fillmore home is made in icing which has turned to a soft cream color from age.

The model is complete, with four chimneys, doors, windows,

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCH

"SPIRIT" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, Feb. 11.

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "Am I a God at hand, saith the Lord, and not a God afar off? Can any hide himself in secret places that I shall not see him? Saith the Lord. Do not I fill heaven and earth? saith the Lord" (Jer. 23:23-24).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "God is infinite, the only life, substance, Spirit, or Soul, the only intelligence of the universe including man. Eye hath neither seen God nor His image and likeness. Neither God nor the perfect man can be discerned by the material senses. The individuality of Spirit, or the infinite, is unknown, and thus a knowledge of it is left either to human conjecture or to the revelation of divine Science" (p. 330).
