IN MEXICO
 If I lived down in Mexico I'd wear a big wide sombrero.
 And "Buena dia" I would say To my amigos every day.
 For lunch I'd eat a fat tortilla, I'd live in a cave and sit in a silla.
 After lunch I'd take a siesta. On holidays I'd see the fiesta.
 I'd say "manana" about my work, I'd say "tomorrow" if I wanted to shirk.
 If I lived down in Mexico, A lot of places I would go.
 Montezuma's town I'd see, And think of the tales that were told to me.
 Then I would go to the big bull fight, And yell and cheer with all my might.
 I'd go with my padre, on market day, To sell the pottery he made of clay.
 I'd wear their costumes bright and gay, And with happy children I would play.
 I'd say "si" for "yes" and "no" for "no", If I lived down in Mexico.

Class 8
 We decided to write a poem about Mexico. Every child was asked to write a couplet. We chose the best ones and put them together and made this poem.

In Room 8, Grammar School, we are studying water life. So in our Victory Club, Tuesday, somebody asked our chairman a bout buying three gold fish. We decided we would buy three gold fish with our club money.

Frederick Cooper brought the aquarium. It is big and has plenty of room and they get a lot of fresh air. We give them the regular fish grass and food. Aileen Rowe brought some snails.

Grammar School

and Freddie brought sand for the bottom.
 One fish has a pretty fan tail. Richard McNab brought a turtle. We named him Chester. We didn't put him with the fish because he would kill them.
 We are getting along fine with Chester and the fish.
 Mary Keim Room 8

The children of Grammar School are learning folk dances. Both children and adults like them because they are fun. They aren't like modern dances that are popular a few months. Folk dances are hundreds of years old. They are like languages for older by every country in the world has folk dances.
 Folk dances are like mirrors. They show the kind of people who made them up.
 The "Russian Dance" shows strength and determination. "The Irish Jig" is light and witty like the Irish. The Swedish "Clapp Dance" is solid and honest. "The Minuet" is graceful because Kings and Queens danced it. The Spanish dance has whirled and tiny steps.
 We have occupational dances like "The Sailor's Hornpipe," "The Shoe Maker's Dance," and "The Dutch Fisherman."

HARRY BEARLEY

We are sorry that the column was left out last week, but this was not our fault.
 One of our regular students is MRS. MAXWELL'S GRAND-DAUGHTER, MARY JEAN, who comes up to school and writes on the "Writing Board," as she calls it.
 The new students this week are: MRS. LILLIAN WILLIS, MRS. PAUL HROWN, MRS. NORRIS, and MRS. WILLIAM EPPERSON.
MRS. HALL'S second year shorthand class has graduated into MRS. MAXWELL'S class and is being speeded up.
 We wonder what has been happening to MRS. HALL. She has been staying out to lunch an unusually long time this week.
 The school has addressed several thousand envelopes for the Salvation Army this week. We also cut stenils for the Woman's Club.
 This new filing class started this week and is getting along fine.
 We are glad to have MRS. GALLISON back. She has been working through the winter at the Naval Air Station with the construction department. She has gone to apply for another job this week.
MRS. BETTY WAGNER has a job at the Naval Air Station. We all wish her good luck.
 We are also glad to see MRS. MERIWETHER back after a vacation. She is getting to be a real typist.
MRS. MARGARET HODGE took a Civil Service Examination this week.
 Those who have been helping with the rationing this week are: MRS. EMERICK, MRS. TEMPLEMAN, MRS. LYON, MRS. TOPLIGHTY, MRS. E. B. SMITH, MRS. KENNEDY, MRS. WOODLEY, MRS. HANNA, MRS. FORT, MRS. TILLIS, MRS. KNOX, MRS. FEINBERG, MRS. GREENSHAW, HELENE EPPERSON, and MRS. WIRGIANIN.
HAROLD CHAPMAN has been coming to school in the afternoon to learn what Geometry is; but, if he is like me, it is rather hopeless.

Junior Class

David Thrasher has taken Bob Proctor's place in the Junior Class Play, "Sneaking Along" which is to be presented March 25 in the school auditorium.
 The cast has been coming to school every morning at 7:45 to practice this play to make it one to be looked forward to.
 So, let's all come out on March 25 and support the Junior Class Play.
 The growth of potatoes has been stimulated by the use of ethylene and propylene gases.
 A new reading UXB means, in the language of the armed forces, Unexploited Bomb.
 The prize of five dollars for purchasing the largest percent of the Rationals was presented to the Freshman class in chapel Thursday.
 Walter Anderson, editor of the Saily, presented the prize to Ann Lowell, president of the Freshman class.
 The winner of the snapshot contest was John Belyea, who was presented with three dollars.
 Mr. McKay received the following announcement from Southern College of Pharmacy in Atlanta, Georgia:
 Our next Freshman Class begins March 23, and since the time is short, we are asking you to favor us by making this announcement to your Junior Class. Catalog will be furnished on request.
 Sincerely yours,

Junior High School

Friday we all enjoyed the first interclass show, "The Last Outpost" starring Cary Grant and Claude Rains, a picture of the first World War. This picture recalled scenes that one may grow like to read so Clyde Hutt won't be trying of the rest of us.
 The winners of a Victory Poster contest were announced in the school last week. First prize of $3.00 went to Leslie Harvey. Second prize of $1.50 went to Huston Babcock. Third prize of a dollar went to William Cagle. The idea was to tell what we can do for Victory.

LYMAN SCHOOL

Six weeks exams are over and life at Lyman is once more the same.
 The Juniors have at last chosen their play and are having quite a time choosing their characters. Anthony's Antics is the name of it and we are looking forward to a great performance, sometime this month.
 The Seniors have at last received their play books entitled "The Good Charities" comedy in three acts. After the try-out next week, their characters will be determined.
 We wonder who the Senior at Gainesville is that Betty Bennett has on her mind. She can't see, sleep, or study. We think it has to be a thing that's bearing about some of these letters.
 Jean Walker won't admit it but her OAD has just left for the States. She has been in the States for some time. Around here she is known as "The Girl Who Stays Home."

Choosing laxatives? These 3 Questions may be important

Ques. What is the name of laxative that has been a best-seller all over the South with four generations? Ans. Black-Draught.

Ques. Is Black-Draught purely herial? Ans. Yes, and you'll find it easy to take. Ques. Black-Draught gentle in action? Ans. Yes, usually, if you follow directions. 25 to 40 doses only. Insist on Black-Draught. Follow Label directions.—adv.

When 30 seconds = 7,000,000 minutes!

If everyone who uses the telephone talked just 30 seconds less on each local call, the aggregate saving in time for our war-busy telephone equipment would be about 7,000,000 minutes each average working day or over 73 years.

These days when telephone lines are so crowded with calls, including military and government calls that help fight the war. Won't you try to shorten your local calls—not just 30 seconds—but all that's possible? It will help a lot, too, if you can manage to make fewer local calls.

BIBLE VERSE FOR TODAY

GREAT MEN

The great men are never "high-falootin'." They don't feel they're better than you. Their tastes and their habits are simple. They're humble in all that they do. It's the man who just thinks he's a wonder. Who holds his head stiff and high. So he can't see the people about him. As he laughingly passes them by. The Great Men aren't hard to approach. It's the bluffer who fancies he's a swell. Who puts on the swank and the swagger. And keeps folks standing in line. It's the better than you is the slogan. Of the men who are petty and small. It's simply one of you fellows. It's the creed of the Great, that's all. It's a friendly and human. That's how the big men rate. They don't waste their time being "high hat." Or they wouldn't have time to be great. —Ridney J. Burgoyne.

Do Your Part

The annual Roll Call of the American Red Cross has gotten off to a good start and bids fair to achieve its goal well before the time limit of March 31 expires. This year of all years there is every incentive for making generous contributions to such a worthwhile organization, not only because the need is so great and the cause so just, but also because individual incomes generally are up and the things for which money can be spent are limited.

In Seminole County the quota is $8,500. Last year the regular Red Cross Roll Call was for $1,500 and later a war fund drive was made for $5,000. And an additional $1,000 for the war emergency brought the total for the year up to $7,500. Thus this year's quota is only $1,000 more than was actually raised last year and should produce no hardship on anyone.

Ned Smith, chairman of the drive, says that patriotic reasons alone should be sufficient to induce everyone to make a sizable contribution. And in this connection we would like to remind the public that Mr. Smith is a busy man, has accepted this chairmanship for patriotic reasons alone, and those who are assisting him in the drive are in the same boat. The public should make their labors as light as possible and not ask them to come back a second time.

Throughout the country the Red Cross is planning to raise $125,000,000 this month. That is a lot of money. It is, we believe, the largest sum of money ever asked from the people at one time by any one organization. But there is no doubt that the need is acute. There is no doubt that the Red Cross is the best equipped organization in the world to handle the task which lies before it. It has over 3,750 chapters with some 8,000 branches, and uses 800 volunteers for every paid worker.

Of this $125,000,000 approximately $66,000,000 will be used abroad to meet the requirements of the armed services in the Pacific, in North Africa, and wherever the powers-that-be decide the struggle shall be continued throughout the coming year. No one can begrudge a single cent that goes to relieve the suffering of our men on these far flung battlefronts of the world or helps to save the life of some American boy doing his bit for his country.

Over $45,000,000 is required to meet the demands on the home front, and with Army and Navy training centers throughout the country teaching young men to fly, paratroopers to drop from the skies, Rangers to advance on enemy positions under realistic machine-gun fire, one cannot fail to understand that the demands are great. Collecting blood plasma for wounded soldiers, making and dispatching sweaters, kit bags and similar articles, and comfort for Americans held prisoners of war, are but part of the requirements.

Everyone must want to do his part in this great cause. So send your check in at once. And be sure you do your part by giving more than your share.

Factual Reading

The New York Public Library reports that people "seem to be living for the present moment, ignoring the past and scarcely daring to think about the future." Their concern "is with immediate facts, not with great principles." "Knowledge and understanding of the war in its varied phases—the home front and the many battle fronts—are the primary concern of today's readers. People come to the library for information that is of vital importance to them rather than to look up material of casual interest."

A decline is seen in requests for the so-called "escape" literature. People want more serious books, and fewer purely recreational ones. Lessened circulation of "escape books" may also be due to the fact that inexpensive "pocket-book" editions are selling fast. It's often easier for people to buy a mystery tale for a quarter than to go to the library. In the depression years, the money saved by reading a book instead of going to a movie made a difference. Now the movie wins.

People had more time to read books dealing with "great principles," then, too. Now they are busy, and tired at night, and they want to know more facts about where Johnny Doughboy is and what he is doing, and how to manage their kitchens and gardens. It is a natural trend. But more and more it becomes wise for readers to turn to the books about great principles—history, literature, scientific theory, religion. Pope, two centuries ago, said "The proper study of mankind is Man." Alexis Carrel, modern scientist, says people investigate parts or aspects of human beings, but never seem to think about the powers and possibilities of the whole man. He called his book "Man, The Unknown." Socrates said "Know thyself." Maybe at the edge of a new world, we'd better know more about our selves, who are to inhabit it.

PORT WAR PLANNING — Recently the House Appropriations Committee failed to provide appropriations for the National Resources Planning Board, of which the President's uncle, Frederic A. Delano, is Chairman. The discussion had come before the Committee on numerous occasions that this board was doing Post War Planning and the Committee did not feel that they were qualified to do a job of this importance. A year ago I asked the National Resources Planning Board to give me some concrete evidence of their planning and up to the present time they have not done so but the President agrees a surprise comes to the lobby of the House of Representatives and calls a member of Congress one and in all assembly gives him his name on a bill or say anything for that matter, is a lobbyist and he has a perfect right to do so. So let's not get so excited about a lobbyist.

MAYNARD R. JOHNSON, Representative of Oklahoma, is a bit of a lobbyist. He has been in the House of Representatives for a long time and has been a member of the National Resources Planning Board. Instructions On Letters To Jap Prisoners Given

ATLANTA, Ga., Mar. 16. — (Special) — Immediately upon official notice of capture by the Japanese, letters may be sent to prisoners by ordinary mail, according to Lieut. Colonel Hartley B. Dean, Chief of Postal Service Headquarters Fourth Service Command.

"Extreme care should be taken in addressing these communications," he said, "and the following procedure is necessary." In the upper left corner of the envelope typewrite or print in block capitals "Prisoner of War" and directly below, "Prisoner of War" (Guerrilla) in the upper right hand corner, "Postage Free" and directly below, "Franc du Port."

The address itself should consist of the prisoner's rank, full name and branch of service, then on the second line should be written in parenthesis either U. S. Army, U. S. Navy or U. S. Marine Corps, as the individual case may be. The third line should read "Interned by Japan in the Philippine Islands," while the

They are advocating the transfer of commercial fisheries to the supervision of the Department of Agriculture. He stated also that one man on a fishing trawler can produce as much as 300,000 pounds of fish a year and advocated the construction of a number of wooden fishing boats.

CIVIL SERVICE EXAMINATIONS — The Civil Service Commission announces the following examinations: Agricultural Aide, $1020 to $2,000. Victory on the Home Front
WE CONTRIBUTE gratefully to victory on the home front. We buy bonds. We work in war industries. We're air raid wardens—we are all part of the Home Front.
There's a home front in your house—in your kitchen, too. You'll be making a contribution to victory by using your electrical appliances efficiently. By following simple rules you not only get the most out of your appliances—you also eliminate waste of electricity. Wasted electricity means wasted fuel oil. You know how vital fuel oil is in the war effort.
Here are some of the ways to get most efficient use of your range, for instance:
1. Do not use even for heating kitches.
2. Use large steaks on large "burners," small steaks on small "burners" and always use light broiling covers.
3. Switch to low heat as soon as food starts to steam (cook switch) off 15 minutes before food is done and cook on stored heat.
4. Don't preheat oven more than 10 or 15 minutes before use.
5. Be sure indicator works so it will show when correct oven temperature has been reached.
6. Preheat whole broiler in oven or when possible use above broiler instead of cooking several vegetables in one "broiler."
7. Always use temperature control for cooking large pieces of meat.
Your range may last for the duration. This good one of us—have it repaired at the first sign of trouble. This will promote the efficient and economical operation. Victory demands it.

Look! Listen! Live!

"That crossing is harmless," he thought. He had crossed it hundreds of times as a youngster as he walked to and from school. He had crossed hundreds of additional times as the driver of a delivery truck. He had watched scores of trains rumble over that crossing. But on the day of the accident illustrated here his familiarity with the railroad grade crossing was his death trap. A fast train roared into his small truck, tossed the motor through the air to crash against a nearby hotel. The driver and his helper were killed.

Issuing Clothes Is Comparable To Assembly Line

CAMP BLANDING—(Special)—An Army adaptation of industrial assembly line methods clothes hundreds of Florida soldiers here daily in the record time of 45 minutes per man.

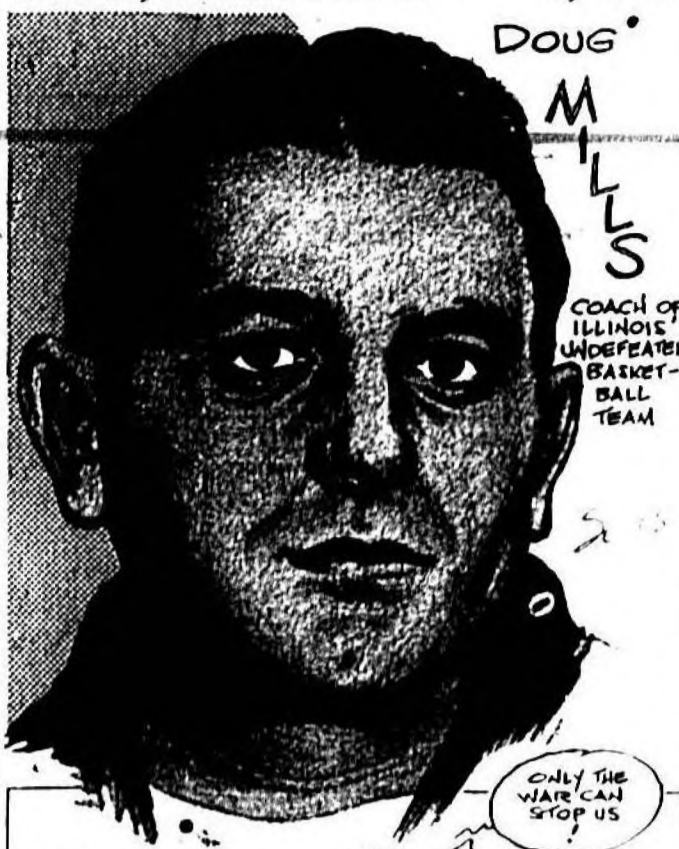

Operated under the direction of Capt. L. H. Lachiotte, the clothing assembly line is both a speedy and accurate method of clothing the large number of men who pass through the Reception Center. Out of a total of 14 items received by each man, an average of only 1 per soldier requires alteration. And according to Capt. Lachiotte, "there is no reason for a poor fit."

The warehouse which provides a roof for this rapid method of giving the new soldier his wardrobe is situated on "B" road in Blanding, close to the huts used by soldiers returning from 7-day furloughs. Daily it receives from the Quartermaster rush shipments of shoes and shirts, socks and ties, field jackets and overcoats to be fed to the assembly line where new soldiers are gradually being clothed as they pass by.

The soldier about to receive his Army outfit plunges into the camphor-scented air of the warehouse from a platform which is on the other side of the building and parallel with the one where the military habiliments are received and stored. First he passes a desk where he is checked off on a roster. Then he gets two big barracks bags, filled with 19 items such as handkerchiefs, neckties, towels—things which will not have to be fitted to him. He also puts all his civilian clothes except his shorts and socks in one of the bags.

As he passes along the line, the novice is gradually dressed in Army apparel. He tries on the clothes he is going to wear. He dons an O. D. Shirt, puts one away in his bag, and so on down the line in 45 minutes or less, including his visit to the shoe man. Contrary to popular opinion, the fitting of shoes in the Army is an exact business. Measuring machines are used, and no man is sent away with shoes which do not fit him. "After a week," says Capt. Lachiotte, "he'll be telling his buddies they're the most comfortable he has ever worn. That's because they give his ankles support."

Second Teddy Roosevelt Bounces Into Battle Leading U. S. Troops In Africa

(With the American forces on the central Tunisian front), Mar. 15. There's another Teddy Roosevelt bouncing into battle at the head of American troops this time in a jeep called "Tough Rider."

Showing the same dash which carried his illustrious father at San Juan Hill, Brigadier General "Boss" Roosevelt Jr., his bull-frog voice ringing out greetings to privates and officers alike, is almost everywhere at the front in Tunisia acting as combination and cheer leader. The men love this sprightly figure clad in combat jacket and G. I. khaki trousers topped by a steel helmet slightly askew.

In the first world war, two of his noted brothers served with him. Now one of his sons, Captain Quentin Roosevelt, is serving under him in North Africa, while two others sons, Theodore, the third, and Cornelius, are ensigns in Navy aviation. Quentin, field artillery officer, almost died from wounds received from a strafing enemy plane in the battle of Kasarine Pass, but he now is recovering and should be back on active duty in about a month.

"Thank God for that," said his father fervently. "I thought sure for a while we were going to lose him."

Like the Teddy of the Rough Riders, General Roosevelt thrives on the aerial snarl of burning gun power and seems to be happiest when, standing in a topless jeep, he is driving from company to company inspecting positions or climbing to the most forward observation posts where he can see the enemy at close range.

Roosevelt always is on the move, rarely passing more than a day at a division headquarters, jostling along the muddy, bumpy, dusty roads, he recites poems reeling off verses by the yard, or bums snatches of tunes. When some of his men approach in a truck, he stands up in the front seat and yells:

"You going to give it to them, boys? The grinning soldiers, salute and shout back.

The general makes it a practice to visit each unit two or three times a week, if possible. He knows the mess sergeants by name and always inquires if the boys are eating all right. He usually winds up by having a cup of black coffee from the company mess.

There's one thing out of which Roosevelt gets a particular kick, and that's handling out decorations. He tells those men who receive the Order of the Purple Heart after being wounded in action that they are receiving one of the country's proudest honors. He knows what the men have gone through, for he was wounded twice during his eighteen months overseas in the last war.

"Sure, Americans like decorations as much as anybody else," he told a group recently. "We like to pin them on and walk up and down in front of our women folk to show them what a hell of a kind of men they married."

The general is a man who loves action. As one of his subordinates put it:

"He doesn't sit back waiting, but goes out and bumps up a battle. He gets into every bit of action possible."

He commanded the first combat team which attacked Gran from the west last Nov. 8, and was with the first infantry platoon to reach its objective.

After serving through the last war, he wound up at the army's base as a colonel. He remained in the reserve during the ensuing years doing active duty from time to time. Except for a two-month period late in 1940 he has been in active service since Aug. 1940. He was made a brigadier general in December, 1941, and headed a division which went to England, and then became assistant commanding general under Major General Terry Allen.

ETTA KETT
THE TOWN IS SIMPLY BULGING WITH DEFENSE WORKERS.

HAVE I GOT AN IDEA OR HAVE I?

LET'S TAKE IN A WAR GUEST FOR THE DURATION.

I SECOND THE MOTION!

YOU—YOU MEAN LET HIM ROOM HERE?

WE'VE GOT AN EXTRA ROOM!

NON—YOU'RE TALKING!

WELL, I GUESS IT WOULD BE THE PATRIOTIC THING TO DO!

ETTA KETT
CHANGED YOUR MIND ABOUT RENTING A ROOM TO A WAR GUEST?

HERE'S THE AD, READ IT!

IT'S SUPER! SOUNDS SO NICE I THINK I'LL MOVE IN IT MYSELF.

HEY IF YA GOT A SPARE ROOM, I'LL TAKE IT TO BE NEAR YOU!

DAD THINKS HE OUGHT TO CHARGE YOU RENT, AS IT IS!

WANT AD?—WELL, PUT IT IN THE NEXT EDITION!

THANKS!

DAN, TELL ME MORE ABOUT RED ROYCE.

HE SAID THAT RED WAS WANTED FOR MURDER IN CANADA. HE ASKED MR. MARTIN TO LET HIM KNOW IF RED EVER PLANNED TO CROSS THE BORDER.

HE WORKED FOR MR. MARTIN UNTIL THE CANADIAN MOUNTIE CROSSED THE BORDER AND TALKED WITH MR. MARTIN.

YOU CAN'T! HE'S AWFUL SMART! AND NOW HELL FIND SOME WAY TO GET YOU!

MAYBE WE CAN FIND A WAY TO GET THAT KILLER TO CROSS THE BORDER.

I DON'T CARE ABOUT MYSELF, BUT I WANT YOU AND TOMO TO GO AWAY FROM HERE. I TELL YOU, RED ROYCE IS REALLY DANGEROUS.

THE MORE BAGER RED IS TO GET, THE MORE RIKS HELL TAKE.

DAN, WHEN WE LEAVE HERE, YOU'LL GO WITH US FROM NOW ON. YOU'RE GOING TO BE MY PARTNER.

NON, DAN, YOU AND TOMO AND I WILL SEE IF WE CAN'T WORK OUT A PLAN.

Kiska Hit In Worst Air Attacks Of War

Navy Bombs Enemy Positions At Vila And Burma Battle Flares Intensely

WASHINGTON, Mar. 17. (AP)—The heaviest series of air attacks ever made on Kiska Island in a single day was carried out Monday, the Navy announced today, when American planes rained down their bombs on the Japanese base six times.

Naval bombardment of Japanese Solomon positions at Vila also was reported. A new battle of Burma flared with greater intensity today as the British reported 30 hours of fighting along the Mayu River while American forces ranged far and wide to bomb bridges, high ground and other strategic points.

Tire Inspection Deadline Is Near

A. R. Peterson, rationing committee chairman, today reminded motorists of a gasoline rationing deadline for having tires inspected by a designated rationing station to receive a ration book that will be required for the purchase of tires. He pointed out that the last day of the month is absolutely the final day for the inspection, and that the ration book must be secured by that date. He said that the rationing committee will be unable to issue ration books to anyone who does not have a tire inspection card by the deadline.

Price Ceilings On Vegetables Are Opposed By Mann

L. R. Mann, state representative and grower, today voiced opposition to price ceilings on fresh vegetables, when he addressed Kiwanians at their luncheon at the Hotel Mayfair. He was introduced by Harold Keatner.

Pointing out that a large percentage of the potato acreage already reduced greatly in yield by the recent freeze, he said that the proposed price ceilings would be a disaster to the growers. He said that the government has failed to take into account the losses of growers during the past 15 to 20 years, due to weather conditions or low prices.

Tells Kiwanians Many Crops Are Abandoned Due To Ceiling Laws

Lieutenant Giles Made Instructor

NAPIER FIELD, Dothan, Ala., Mar. 17. (Special)—Lieut. Richard E. Giles of Orlando has been assigned to duty as a flying instructor. It has been announced by the Public Relations Office at Napier Field, Alabama, site of the Army Air Force Advanced Flying School.

The son of H. M. Giles, Orlando, Lieut. Giles attended Eastern High School and Stetson University, and lived in Sanford for some time. He completed army flying training Feb. 16, 1942 at Napier Field, receiving his pilot wings and commission of second lieutenant.

Black Market In Bus System Is Prevented

WASHINGTON, Mar. 17. (AP)—All vehicles carrying nine or more persons in local transportation service—buses, streetcars, trolley coaches, trucks converted for passenger use, and ferryboats—were "frozen" in their present service by the ODT today as a means of protecting war workers and school children by preventing transfer of vehicles from communities where they are needed. The "black market" school buses will be stopped, the ODT said.

Peanut Association Defended In Georgia

CAMILLA, Ga., Mar. 17. (AP)—Defending the Georgia-Florida Alabama Peanut Association against Georgia legislators' committee charges that it is a "monopolistic trust," President W. B. Crawley today said the association would be prepared for it to purchase and distribute an entire output of peanut picking machines last year.

Sub-Committee Votes 4 To 3 For Canal Bill

Chairman Snyder Will Make No Statement On Group's Action

WASHINGTON, Mar. 17. (AP)—A member of congress, who asked he not be quoted, reported late yesterday that a House Appropriations subcommittee voted 4 to 3 to include a $44,000,000 appropriation in a pending rivers and harbors bill for construction of a large canal across Florida.

Chairman Snyder said he had no statement to make on what action the committee had taken on the question of building the canal and that he had not completed the drafting of the appropriation bill.

British Hit Mareth Line In Tunisia

(By Associated Press) The German news agency DNB said today that the British had hit the Mareth line in Tunisia.

Speculation that the zero hour would be approaching for the Allied offensive in Tunisia found support in dispatches from Allied headquarters today reporting that Allied warplanes were steadily pounding Rommel's line in the Mareth area.

Nazi Artillery Fires On Eighth Army; Allied Patrols Active In South

(By Associated Press) Allied troops supported by artillery have driven back strong, armored enemy patrols in the Tefen area of the Tunisian front, the Eighth Army reported today. The fighting continued in the north, the British first army advanced slightly in the Soliman area to occupy an important sector.

Morris Comments Improvement In Paroled Youths

Boys At Sea Thank Red Cross Chapter

Two letters thanking the Seminole County Red Cross Chapter for "millions" of letters and sweaters were recently received from boys at sea. One of the seamen, Fred Black from Texas, wrote, "The sweaters and letters are very nice and I treasure them very much. It certainly is good to be remembered by you folks at home."

Celery Growers Assured Crates Until May 15

Request Granted To Place Product In Higher Category

The celery industry was assured higher priority on state rationals through May 15, according to the Office of Price Administration today. R. D. Hays, county agent, announced this morning.

Celery growers in Central Florida had requested a higher priority rating for celery to enable them to obtain the necessary amount of the rationing. The OPA granted the request and celery is now in the "higher" category.
