Airmail Pilot Dies When Plane Crashes At Fort McPherson

Aviator, Lost In Fog,
Strikes Radio Tower;
Craft Bursts Into Flames After Fall

ATLANTA, Ga., Sept. 13.—(INS)—Lost in an early morning fog that blanketed this district, Sid Mulloy, air-mail pilot flying the Richmond-Atlanta route, was fatally injured today when his plane crashed into a radio tower at Fort McPherson, near here.

Mulloy was taken from the plane by centries only a minute before the gas tank exploded and the plane burst into flames. The pilot died of injuries at the base hospital at the fort, however, four hours later.

Arriving late, due to headwinds, Mulloy had weather conditions, he flew over the fog blanketed city at 5:30 off his course, and jockeyed his ship down low to clear his bearings.

Sentries on the early morning shift at the army post noticed the pilot flying dangerously low over the fort, obviously trying to determine his whereabouts.

In the blue haze of the early morning fog he did not see the slim tall radio towers in which the fort's radio aerial is strung. A wing of the plane crashed into one of the steel towers and turned the ship about, hurrying it to the ground.

After striking the radio tower the plane crashed into a tree on the edge of the fort's drill field and fell to the quadrangle a mass of twisted wreckage. The radio tower buckled under its supports and tumbled to earth near the tail of the wrecked ship.

Mulloy was taken to the base hospital and surgeons rushed from the fort. On arriving they declared the pilot sustained skull fractures and a fractured right arm.

As he passed over Spartanburg, S. C., ahead of his schedule, Mulloy was running smoothly and the pilot ran into adverse weather conditions which showed his progress.

He was already off his course owing to fog, they said, when he arrived over the city and was unable to see Candler Field from the air.

Mulloy being the Pittman Company owned their line here and was known as one of their "safest flyers." His home is in Columbus, Miss., but so far efforts to communicate with his relatives there have proven futile.

W. C. Graves, chief of the air-mail department at Candler Field said he had been told by a checkup that the plane was in the air for any amount of value was burned.

Royal Dutch Shell Enters Latest U.S. Gasoline Squabble

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—(INS)—The latest "gasoline war" in the eastern markets was complicated today by entrance of a new competitor for the American petroleum business, in the form of the Royal Dutch Shell interests, leaving old world refiners and marketers of oil.

In Wall Street and oil trade circles reports were current today of the alignment of Col. Robert Stewart, erstwhile head of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana, with shell interests, in the extension of their American business. International News Service learned from unimpeachable sources that there is not a grain of truth in these rumors, and that Colonel "Bob" has managed out an entirely different program from his future activities in oil or other industrial fields.

When questioned by the writer today about these activities, Col. Stewart said: "I am smiling today for a short period of indefinite length. I hope to be able to embark today, though it is not impossible that something may detain me as the last minute. I must decline at this time to comment in any way on rumors, or in fact on rumors of any kind in Wall Street or elsewhere connecting me with business enterprises of any nature whatever Stewart said.

The meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Wright, 1014 S. E. 10th St., at 10 o'clock.

The location of such a shop, those who will conduct the business, and the rules to be observed in the commission and exchange departments, will be settled. It is proposed to donate the net proceeds to community benevolence. Although the meeting is called especially for members of the Welfare Department, all women interested in the project are invited to be present at 10 o'clock.

TARIFF ISSUE EXPLAINED BY WARRING SIDES

Democrats Cast Aside
Free Trade Policy
At One Time Exclusive
G.O.P. Doctrine

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—(INS)—"Protective tariff versus competitive tariff."

This was the issue drawn in the Senate today between the Republican legislation and the Democratic insurgent coalition in their warfare over the administration's new tariff bill. The Republicans fought for tariff rates high enough to protect American industry and agriculture against cheap foreign importations. The coalition fought for rates only high enough to protect the difference in cost of production at home and abroad. This issue was laid down in the opening statements of opposing leaders.

The Democratic days of "free trading" and "tariff for revenue only" were cast in the hands of protectionists and the theory of a "competitive tariff" emerged. It was the coalition's definition of the tariff which was accepted by the Senate majority (41) of 51 to 40.

Not only the coalition but the Democrats declared the tariff should be changed to a "competitive tariff" since the days of Cleveland and Bryan and that the doctrine of "protective tariff" was the "law of the land."

This proclamation was pronounced on by Republican leaders who were prompt to charge the Democrats with a change of heart. The Republicans also issued their "protective tariff" thesis, asserting a "competitive tariff" which nearly met differences in cost of production between the United States and other countries. American manufacturers must be protected enough, they added, to guarantee them American markets.

The protectionists from the Democratic majority addition announced the "protective tariff" given significance in the new bill. After Senator Spooner (R) of Ohio, admitted that some of the tariff product duties were "tariff for revenue" rates, Senator George (D) of Indiana, charged the bill would damage agriculture by increasing the cost of living to farmers, while giving them an additional benefit in the sale of their crops. George blamed the plight of agriculture on the high level of prices in the American market, due to Republican tariff protection, while farmers are forced to sell their products at a loss.

Senator Blaine (R) of Wisconsin also assailed the new bill as certain to raise the cost of living to farmers. He said the steel rates in the new measure would increase the cost of farm machinery by 100 percent, a year's cost of operating railroads by $50,000,000 a year, with resulting increase in freight rates. Farmers, he said, would have to pay the burden of both increases.

Senator Johnson (D) of Pennsylvania called upon the Republicans to "take a stand" against the tariff. He said the tariff was a "burden" on the people and that the tariff was a "burden" on the people.

The tariff was a "burden" on the people and that the tariff was a "burden" on the people.

Stimson Says U.S. And Britain Are Ready Now To Sign Law To World Conference

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—(INS)—"We are ready now for a conference of the powers," Secretary of State Clegg announced today that the United States and Great Britain are ready to sign a law to a world conference.

There are still some small differences between the British and American positions, but these were described by the Secretary of State as being of a character that they can be worked out at the general conference itself.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.

The long-sought naval accord between Great Britain and the United States, which is to serve as a springboard for another world disarmament conference, was described in Washington today as something already achieved.

When the Secretary of State today would say a world law of disarmament was the fact that President Langley Macdonald, who is to be the chief spokesman for the United States at the conference, is expected to arrive in London within a few days after receiving the "final" American proposals, such an announcement would indicate that the agreement is nearly complete.

GOD LOVES—The Lord thy God in the midst of thee is mighty; he will save, he will rescue over thee with his right hand.

A SIGN OF RELIEF

I have always been troubled with worry. Concerning the bodies that were in the very old decease of hurry.

Easy Money

The woods are full of sharpers looking for easy prey. Every man who sits down to a game of bridge in a Pullman car is likely to find the cards stacked against him.

KEEP AFTER THE MEDFLY

Heaven knows we want to see Florida rid of the Medfly! But saying Florida is free of the pest doesn't exterminate even one little larva.

Gifts That Count

At the beginning of the story of the Master's passion stands the beautiful incident of the anointing of Jesus by Mary, at the house of Simon the Leper, in Bethan.

Not So Bad

Anaemic women can find little else to terrify them after an encounter with a spider. They see in the sticky clinging web, which sometimes envelop them like an overhanging cloud, quicksand likely to swallow them up body and soul.

SAMPSON CONVICT CAGE FIRE

Learning House to Be Managed by Capable Man

For the coming season. Most assuredly there is there, and every indication is that Florida celery will be proclaiming its virtues to the world, through the medium of printer's ink, by the time the month of January rolls around. Surveys of the various big city markets, have been made and much research work has been done. The stage is practically set for a real campaign to put the sell in celery.
Charles E. Lee of Ovidos, who has been one of the active workers for cooperative effort and who is a member of the clearing house committee, explains that the new organization will be greater than needed. He calls special attention to a article four of the proposed by-laws, which reads in part:
"The corporate powers of the association shall be exercised by and the business and property of the Association shall be controlled by a board of directors of not less than seven nor more than thirteen. The term of office of each director shall be one year. Unless and until the board of directors shall increase the number, the association shall have nine elected directors. Compensation of the directors shall be limited to their actual expenses while engaged in the business of the association.
"The directors shall fix the compensation of all officers and employees of the Association including the President, Secretary and Treasurer and of the Directors while acting on business of the Association. Each district shall be entitled to one Director—the additional Directors being appointed to the district in proportion to the message shipped through the Association. For the first year the directors shall be appointed as follows: Sanford 5; Ovidos 2; Dunwoody 2; and Sarasota 2.
"Within a few days, the articles of incorporation and by-laws will be printed and submitted to the growers in the Sanford, Ovidos, Dunwoody and Sarasota districts. Growers will be provided with copies of the proposed contracts which set forth the duties and provisions of all members. It is expected that fully 95 per cent of the growers of the late will soon attach their signature to these contracts.

'BLACK' SENSATION, SWIMMING IN HEAD

Man Says Constipation Was Wearing Him Out, But Black-Draught Brought Relief.
Lake City, Fla.—Mr. F. E. McKinney, of 6 South Columbia Street, this city, says:
"I cannot remember a time, in the last twenty years, when I haven't had Black-Draught in my home, or in my father's home.
"For a while I thought I wouldn't take anything, and that maybe I could wear out the headache, but I found they were wearing me out.
"If I got constipated, I would get dizzy and have swimming in my head, and everything would get black. I would have very severe headaches.
"I found that Black-Draught would relieve this, and so when I feel the very first symptoms, I take Black-Draught, and now I don't have the headache any more.
"I take Black-Draught when I feel a tightness in the chest, and a bloating after meals. A few doses of Black-Draught relieve me of this.
"I am a firm believer in Black-Draught, and after using it for twenty years, I am satisfied to continue."

DANIELS PRAISES CRUSADING TYPE OF NEWSPAPERS

Former Secretary Of Navy Makes Plea For More Militant Policy

ELIZABETH CITY, N. C.—W. C. Dowd, publisher of the Charlotte News, was elected president of the North Carolina Press Association at its 37th annual meeting here. Other officers named are Herbert Peole, Elizabeth City Advance, vice-president; and Miss R. A. Price, Cobb, Mercurian News-Herald secretary. The executive committee is composed of the officers and Lay B. Weathers, Cleveland Star, retiring president; A. L. Stockton, Greensboro News; J. L. Horne, Jr., Rocky Mount Telegram; L. S. London, Rockingham Post-Dispatch; and J. W. Noell, Roxboro.

High spots of the convention were the addresses of Governor O. Max Gardner of North Carolina; Josephus Daniels, publisher of the Raleigh News and Observer; and Lee Weathers, fishing trips in the channel banks of Eastern Carolina, which yielded several catches of drum, some weighing as much as fifty pounds, and a visit to Edenton, North Carolina's Colonial capital, where valuable American and other rare Colonial publications were presented by Mr. Daniels on behalf of Mrs. Fred Caboon of Elizabeth City to the Edenton Library.

Reviewing the progress of the press in North Carolina, Mr. Daniels urged that newspapers continue militant, asserting there is need for crusading. He referred to the prosperous times that have come and sounded the warning "there is greater danger from prosperity than there ever was from poverty and adversity" if publishers forget their duty to the public and come to "consider their papers as property to be sold on the highest market."

"If the time ever comes," he concluded, "when selfish interests control the press for the purpose of debasing the public service, then the profession of journalism will be no higher than that of the fish-monger and the clause in the constitution guaranteeing the freedom of the press should be repealed for there would be no more free press."
Similar thought ran through the address of Mr. Weathers, who condemned recent efforts on the part of the so-called power trust to buy in a number of North Carolina newspapers. Fabius Smith, he said, were mentioned as buying prices. "Newspapering in North Carolina is profitable in some instances," Mr. Weathers added, "but it is by no means a bonanza, as the public is beginning to think because of the prices mentioned in the recent Trade Commission investigation."

"It cannot conceive of a greater danger to a free government and a free press than to have these dailies in North Carolina controlled by the power trust or any other one interest. The strength of a newspaper lies primarily in its independence, and an independent, fearless press is the general safeguard of the people's welfare and the people's rights."
"For the sake of the press and the public I feel that the ownership of the press should be in the hands of the publishers themselves, men who are identified with and are a part of the communities they serve."

Connecticut Starts Fight Upon Mosquito

NEW HAVEN, Sept. 13.—(INS)—Nearly the entire Connecticut shore from Greenwich to Saybrook has been ditched in the fight of the state to eliminate the mosquito nuisance, according to the state agricultural experiment station here which is directing the work. A ditch ten inches wide and twenty-four inches deep, dug at a cost of twelve dollars an acre, will remain effective for years if changed once a year, the station finds. The inland town of New Canaan ditched itself of "mosquitoes" by spraying oil on the talets and covers of Five-Mile river, the one stream in the town, and then after cleaning up the stream bed, introducing small fish. The result was that the fish ate up all the larvae of the mosquitoes.

1. A "wet gas" is an atomized mixture of gasoline vapor in which are suspended drops of raw gasoline.
2. These drops of raw gasoline resist the action of the spark and will not ignite.
3. Result:—destructive crankcase dilution—difficult starts—slow acceleration—sluggish power.

1. The new and better Texaco vaporizes so readily that it forms a "dry gas"—a volatile mixture of gasoline and air.
2. This "dry gas" responds instantly to the action of the spark.
3. Result:—lightning starts—rapid acceleration—smooth power.

A THRIFT STORY...

"The opening of school was near... the children needed clothes and books and a host of other things for which there was no ready money. Necessity is always the mother of invention, and when hope had almost gone, the thought of selling some of the discarded furniture that had accumulated, occurred. A Herald classified ad was put to work and results were obtained at once."
