

The Top-Notch Bridge Player

A United Press Extra
WASHINGTON 10.—The four men sat around a small table in the second floor study of the White House, their democracy solemn, their concentration absolute.

Finally one broke the silence. "Pass," said the President of the United States.

Then the slightest of grimaces over the face of Mr. Eisenhower, for he had succeeded again in his favorite tactic of getting his bridge opponents out on a limb. The hand was played in one no trump and the President's opponents went down six tricks—which is about as bad a shelling as you can take in a bridge hand.

It happened not many nights ago at one of the frequent bridge sessions that the President enjoys with his close friends.

Mr. Eisenhower is so well known as a golfer that it is seldom realized he is not only a far better bridge player than a golfer but that he comes close to the championship class in the card game.

A Top-Notch Player
A friend and fellow player of the President was asked by the United Press what kind of game Mr. Eisenhower plays. He told about the no trump hand as an illustration and then went on:

"The President plays one of the best games I've ever seen. He has the three qualities essential for bridge—a mathematical mind, an excellent memory and a complete gift of concentration. I would say he and General Gruenther who is one of the nation's top players are of about the same caliber."

Is he an aggressive or defensive bridge player?

"Well, like everybody, he delights in getting a bid hand and going to game or slam. But he is the kind of player who gets even a bigger kick out of making the most of poor cards and setting his opponents."

"Some of the people he plays with have the common failing of overconfidence and reading more value into hands than they have—and he is quick to take advantage of it."

Follows Goren
Is he a Goren or a Culbertson man?

"Oh, he knows all the widely played systems. But he usually plays Goren because that is what most of us play. He is certainly not a reckless bidder and seldom a psychic bidder."

The President's most frequent bridge cronies are Gruenther; George Allen; William H. Robinson, president of Coca Cola; Treasury Secretary George M. Humphrey and Clifford Roberts, New York investment banker. They interchange as partners.

They play for small point stakes and occasionally make side bets when a rubber gets close. A great deal of good-natured banter is exchanged between hands but the playing is serious.

91 Florida Youths Illegally Employed On Northern Farms

JACKSONVILLE — Ninety-one Florida children were found illegally employed on farms in northern states during the Government's fiscal year 1956, according to Francis M. Quigley, investigation supervisor of the U. S. Labor Department's Wage-Hour Division field office here.

The children, all of them under 16, were members of Florida families which annually move in crews through various northern states to take part in the vegetable and fruit harvest.

The state in which the greatest number of Florida boys and girls were found working was New Jersey, where 47 were employed at times when they should have been in school. There were 20 in Virginia, eight in Maryland, and seven in other northern states.

"Federal law makes the same rules apply to farm employment in other states as in Florida," Quigley said, "and it is important that crew leaders and labor contractors learn something about them in order to avoid penalties which can be up to $10,000 fine for willful violations."

Migrant children should attend school in the district where they are living. "One of the first activities on reaching a new area where work is to be done," he said, "should be to enroll children in the local school."

It is intended that children under 16 work after school or on days where there is no school, migrant parents should take with them birth certificates or other proof of age for the pro-

Several hundred persons saw him slash his chest and arms with broken glass as police closed in to rescue him. A few minutes later, he plunged (right) but the Viennese policemen were waiting for him with a fire net. Sommer, who had previously been committed to mental institutions, was subdued and taken to a psychiatric ward.

the Snapshot Guild

Snapshots like this—tucked between the pages of a letter or placed in a special folder—will be welcomed by family and friends.

Snapshots Make Your Letters Welcome

How many times has something like this happened at your house? You get a batch of wonderful snapshots back from the photographer, and immediately decide you must enclose a picture or two in your next letter to Aunt Mame or Cousin Fred. But somehow weeks slide by and the letter just doesn't get written—or if it does, it's posted without a picture because the prints have already been put away.

Well, we think we've found the answer to this little problem. Next time you pick up a set of prints at your camera store, take a look at the attractive folders—complete with envelopes—that are available for your convenience. Aptly enough, they're called "friendship folders"—and each is especially designed so that a wallet-size print may easily be inserted. Four little slits hold the corners of the snapshot firmly in place inside the folder.

One of these folders we particularly like has a colorful scene of a house, lawn and trees on the front cover, along with the words "Just dropping in to say . . ."

Inside, the message continues "Hello—Now I'd like to see you," and an open door reveals the space in which a snapshot is to be inserted.

All you have to do is slip in your snapshot, tuck the folds into its envelope, address it and send it on its friendly way to someone you're thinking about. Some folders are available with Happy Birthday greetings printed on them; others, without any printed message, may be used for any occasion or as party invitations and special announcements.

HARRISBURG—Partners John Hiltner and Clyde Patton have their own ideas about naming their barber shop and geography doesn't influence their choice one bit.

Ten years ago they opened the Locust Street barber shop on Locust Street.

They have since moved to Pine Street but they brought their weather-worn shingle along still reading "Locust Street Barber-shop."

1958 Election Win Prescription

WASHINGTON 10.—Meads Alcorn, new chairman of the Republican National Committee, keeps telling his party it can win back control of Congress in the 1958 elections.

To some of his listeners, the job seems very tough, if not impossible.

Alcorn thinks victory can be won by doing three things: strengthening the party organization, nominating vote-attracting candidates and presenting a good program.

As for the program, he says President Eisenhower's is all that is needed.

Executive Committee Meets
GOP managers at the national level have been talking about how to regain control of Congress ever since they failed to do so last year while Mr. Eisenhower was winning reelection by a landslide. This how-to-do-it question was the chief topic on the agenda for today's session of the Executive Committee of the Republican National Committee.

From the GOP viewpoint, winning House and Senate majorities in the 1958 elections looks like a strenuous assignment. Normally, the party in opposition to an administration gains congressional seats in the middle of a presidential term. That would mean Democratic gains in 1958.

Each of the 11 Democratic senators whose seat is at stake next year was elected in 1954, the year of the first Eisenhower landslide. A number of the 21 GOP seats up for grabs next year seem in much greater jeopardy. Hence Senate Democrats already are talking of converting their present 40 to 47 margin into a more comfortable majority next year.

Needs 18 Seats
In the House, the present lineup is 233 Democrats, 200 Republicans and two vacancies. The GOP needs to gain 18 seats to recapture control.

Alcorn appears to have convinced some key GOP legislators that he is eager to cooperate and will not make any effort to purge members who do not fit President Eisenhower's definition of "Modern Republicans."

A national party organization is theoretically neutral when its branches in states and local districts are nominating candidates for Congress.

With Mr. Eisenhower talking of building a "Modern Republican" Party, there has been some uneasiness in the GOP as to whether there will be any purge effort like the one attempted by the late

Orange Crop May Be Bigger Than Expected

LAKELAND 10.—Florida Citrus Mutual General Manager Robert W. Rutledge hinted that if the federal estimate of the Florida citrus crop is correct, the state may produce even more oranges than expected this season.

The Agriculture Department Monday estimated the Florida orange crop at 94 million boxes. The estimate was the same last month.

"Since the total estimate this month was not changed, it is significant to note that the total volume of oranges yet to be harvested in the United States is about 1.5 million boxes less than last year at this time," Rutledge said.

He explained that in spite of this estimate, "Florida has 1.5 million boxes more Valencia's indicated to be harvested compared with last year's" at the same time.

The Agriculture Department put the total 1956-57 orange and tangerine crop at 128,415,000 boxes. President Roosevelt in 1928. That one backed off.

GOP Senators seeking reelection next year will include Sens. Joseph R. McCarthy Wis., William E. Jenner Ind. and George W. Malone, Nev., who do not claim the "Modern Republicanism" label.

On the basis of his attitude so far, Alcorn is not expected to try to read such men out of the party.

one per cent more than last year and 17 per cent above average. The estimate for Florida was 94 million boxes compared to 88.5 million for California. All of the estimated 4.5 million boxes of Tangerines are produced in Florida.

The grapefruit crop for the state was estimated at 35 million boxes and the Florida lime crop at 4,000 boxes.

WASHINGTON (U)— The House Appropriations Committee today slashed $516,993,000 off President Eisenhower's request for funds to operate 15 government agencies, including civil defense and the Veterans Administration.

It ordered a general belt-tightening by public servants, calling for fewer new cars, less travel, stabilized payrolls, reduced office space and fewer furlis on new public buildings.

The 8.7 per cent bite out of the $5,823,185,000 requested to run the independent offices was in line with the announced determination of the committee and of the House to trim a substantial amount off Mr. Eisenhower's record $1.8 billion dollar budget.

The action followed a budget-cutting move by the administration itself. Federal Housing Chief Albert M. Cole recommended a 200 million dollar cut in fund for government housing programs.

The house committee made its biggest reduction in funds for the Federal Civil Defense Administration. It allowed only $9.3 million of the 130 million requested, a cut of 90.7 million.

The committee cited the President's own remarks at a press conference on Feb. 7. Mr. Eisenhower said then that the likelihood of any nation's using atomic weapons in an attack "grows less, I think, every year."

Veterans compensation and pensions lost 10.3 million off a request of $2,840,500,000. Overall, the committee chopped VA's budget from $4,800,363,000 to $4,632,705,300. Funds for hospital and medical care were not touched.

Prison Head Will Ask Legislature To Stiffen Laws

TALLAHASSEE (U)— State Prison Director Richard Culver today prepared to ask the Legislature to stiffen criminal laws by setting a 10-year penalty for multiple or violent crimes.

Culver proposed legislation to provide penalties in connection with convict riots and the holding of hostages by inmates to the Governor's Advisory Committee on Criminal Justice Thursday.

But State Atty. W. A. Hallows III, Jacksonville, said that although there was approval of the proposals, they did not fall into the field for which the committee was created. He suggested Culver submit the ideas to the Legislature independently.

The car slammed into a parked automobile, a building, and then around the block structure on the old Orlando Highway. James Edward Coburn was the driver. (Staff Photo)

Tax Deadline Still Apr. 15

WASHINGTON (U)— Today is the last day of March—the day Julius Caesar was assassinated and Americans used to pay their income tax.

March 15 was the deadline for paying personal income taxes for years. But now it's just another day.

The 1954 Internal Revenue Act gave the taxpayers another month to work on their tax forms. Since 1955 the deadline has been April 15.

Authorities Confiscate 'Shine; Arrest 2 Men

Two men were brought before Judge Ernest Hoosholder this morning charged with possession of moonshine whiskey.

Both men, one white and the other Negro, were held under bonds of $2,500, set by Judge Hoosholder.

W. M. "Billy" Jacobs, of Chuluota, said to be 76-years-old was taken into custody about one mile from his home just off a dirt road as one five-gallon jug of moonshine whiskey was placed on a truck. Another five-gallon jug was already on the truck when Sheriff Luther Holby and Deputy Sheriff Morgan McClelland jumped from their hiding place to arrest them.

Man Unhurt As Car Hits Parked Auto, Slams Into Building

The back end of a 1952 Packard automobile was smashed in, a 1955 Mercury was damaged, and a plate glass window at Bob's Oyster Bar was shattered, when the Packard, driven by James Edward Coburn, 26-year-old Navy boy, skidded more than 107 yards, turning and twisting as it traveled.

Shortly after 10 o'clock last night, Coburn was traveling south on Sanford Ave. apparently at a high rate of speed when he came to the intersection, Sanford Ave. and the Old Orlando Highway.

Trooper T. Mark Mack of the Florida Highway Patrol said the automobile skidded 75 yards before smashing into the Mercury automobile parked in front of the Oyster Bar, another four yards when it hit the Mercury and slammed 28 yards before it came to a stop behind the building on the Old Orlando Highway.

Coburn was unhurt but apparently shook up from the effects of the smashup.

380-Acre Tract Of Land Sold For $84,000

A 380-acre tract of land south of Oviedo in Seminole County has been sold for $84,000, according to Florida Ranchlands, Inc., an Orlando real estate firm which handled the transaction.

The property was purchased by Carroll L. Ward. The 380 acres was in two pieces which adjoined. One tract was purchased from W. J. Krohne, 220 acres, for an announced price of $54,000 and the second tract of property consisted of 160 acres and was purchased from Blasas Samoski for an announced price of $30,000.

The two tracts were purchased for dairy purposes, according to an official of the real estate firm.

Ward, the real estate man announced, recently sold a piece of property near Winter Park for an announced price of $500,000, a transaction which was also handled by Florida Ranchlands, Inc.

Attorney representing the purchaser was John McCormick with the firm of Anderson and Rush of Orlando.

Attorneys representing the sellers were: George A. Sheer Jr. of Sanford representing Krohne and Frank Whitaker of Orlando representing Samoski.

Change Starts 2 a. m.

Sanford will wake up Sunday morning to experience a dream that it has been looking forward to for many months—dial telephone service.

During the wee hours of the morning, at approximately 2 a. m., the "heat coils" in the manually operated telephone exchange, amid a possible few tears, will be pulled with a similar operation taking place at the new dial exchange on Laurel Ave. at 9th St., to signal the start of dial phone service.

Thousands upon thousands of hours on the part of hundreds of technicians have been consumed in making ready the newest dial telephone exchange equipment for Sanford and surrounding area customers.

Underground cables have been laid, overhead cables have been strung, cable splices in a myriad of locations have been completed to join customers of Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Co. with the outside world in every direction.

A building into which every piece of equipment had been literally "stacked" to take care of the growing demand for phone service in the Sanford area will be evacuated. Operators who, up to now, have answered "number please", will now become Long Distance Dial Operators, who with the flip of their fingers and in a literal "flash" can connect telephone callers with distant and remote areas. (Continued On Page 3)

Schools Are Closed Today So Teachers Can Attend Confab

Seminole County Schools were closed today to allow teachers to attend the Florida Education Association's convention being held this weekend in Tampa.

Committees of the association had a proposal readied today which would oppose any means to end a free public school system, regardless of any racial integration measures which might be adopted.

"We believe that a strong public school system is fundamental to the well being of the state and the people," the resolution said. "No issue, however critical, should prevent our wholehearted support and maintenance of the public school system."

The recommendation will be presented to the 6,000 delegates of the FEA's 72nd annual convention on Saturday. Also to be presented at that time will be a resolution supporting expansion of the educational television outlets in Florida.

The FEA resolutions committee said it endorsed the stand reaffirming support of the free public school system in view of proposals in some other Southern states to set up private school systems rather than given in to demands for an end to segregation.

Delegates gave unanimous approval to the association's legislative program calling for higher pay and more building funds. The teachers asked for pay raises which would cost the state an additional 40 million dollars a year.

The educators said they would seek a $4,200 base salary for four-year college graduates with guaranteed maximum salaries above $7,000 a year for veteran teachers. This would mean a pay hike as much as $1,000 in some of the state's 67 counties.

Tax Assessor Will Talk To Kiwanians

Mrs. Mary Earle Walker, Seminole County Assessor of Taxes will be the principle speaker at next Wednesday's Sanford Kiwanis Club luncheon.

Mrs. Walker will speak on the subject "Facts and Figures on Assessments in Seminole County and the Probable Effects of Re-assessment."

Program chairman for next week's Kiwanis luncheon meeting is O. P. Herndon, a member of the Kiwanis Education Committee.

Forgiveness

Our verdict had been given. With a word of commendation the Judge discharged us, the ladies and gentlemen of the jury. The completed duty brought little relief. Instead there was a burden, a spiritual weight. Days of testimony and hours of deliberation had given an oppressive sense of the world's sin and suffering.

The door of my church was open and I slipped inside. I was alone as the rays of the setting sun enhanced the rich colors of the windows. All was quiet. I dropped to my knees.

Gradually in the solemn beauty of that sacred place I found peace. Here was sanctuary for me and for all who would come in faith believing.

Thankfully I arose; my heart and mind felt calm and refreshed. I could go home now, but I would return often. In glad fellowship with God's people I would worship the Christ who died that men might be forgiven.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Red Cross Always On Hand, Ready To Help; Support It's Fund Campaign

So few of us have seen disaster staring into our faces.

So few of us know that when there is disaster a friend is always standing by to aid and assist.

Whatever might be the calamity—be it hurricane, tornado, drought, a devastating fire, flood or the ravages of disease—several organizations show up, among them the Red Cross.

It is what we might call "front line duty." For immediately when such disasters strike, they're there as if by magic, with soothing comfort for those who are separated from families, those who have been injured, those who are hungry and ill-clothed.

The Red Cross is in the midst—right in the middle—and of its annual membership campaign.

They have answered the call in practically every section of the country—overseas in foreign countries—wherever our service men might be stationed, the Red Cross is on hand to serve those who need help most.

Now, we're called upon to contribute a dollar or more to finance the life-preserving services, so famous where the sign of the Red Cross can be seen.

Little do many of us know that the Red Cross is working quietly in times of peace and calmness, training first aid classes, preparing youngsters for their life-saving swims of the future, doling out comfort to servicemen when they're faced with moments of stress.

Let us be faced with a hurricane, or similar type disaster—and we turn to our friends as they arrive on the scene.

At no time is the Red Cross organization unprepared—whether it is at this moment, tomorrow, a month from now—they're ready for the emergency whenever disaster strikes.

This year's budget for the Seminole County Chapter of the American Red Cross is higher than it has been—not much higher—but a real goal to reach. It is necessarily high because of the numerous tasks to be accomplished within the next 12 months. The course has been charted, so to speak, and local officials know just how much they're going to be called on to do—with the exception of those disasters which come unannounced.

Local citizens have "pitched in to help" when other sections of the country have been hard pressed because of existing emergency conditions—we've extended the helping hand. But none of us know when or how we might have to call on communities over the nation to help us.

It behooves the entire community to stand

A goal set of $10,000 must be reached. It will take the contributions and memberships of all of us to reach the quota this year.

If you haven't been called on—get in touch with the Red Cross immediately and become a member or offer your contribution.

Navy Appreciation Day

A team of Jaycees is working with a huge group of fellow Jaycees and Sanford citizens toward what might well become one of Florida's biggest and greatest annual events.

Harry Cannel and Garfield Willett are chosen as co-chairmen of the Jaycees sponsored Navy Appreciation Day which will be observed here on March 30th.

These two young men, spurred on by the membership of the Seminole County Junior Chamber of Commerce, are planning to feed five thousand or more people on Navy Appreciation Day.

What's more, they're going to entertain the mammoth crowd—probably with fire works, a baseball game, a gala street dance plenty of music.

They've conferred with Captain Robert W. Jackson, Commanding Officer of the Sanford Naval Air Station—and the day is going to be an official holiday for the Navy folks for the Navy Appreciation Day is a gesture to show how much Sanford and Seminole County appreciate the Navy and all of the folks connected with it.

Flags are going to be out, according to the two young committeemen, and they've enlisted the help of the National Guard, so big will be the crowds—and the Jaycees don't want to see a single accident, not the first person hurt.

Harry Cannel and Garfield Willett have enlisted every member of the Jaycees organization—Mayor David Gatchel, for instance, to whom the Jaycees are indebted (he's a Jaycee himself) for the Navy Appreciation Day suggestion, is heading the invitation list and he's come up with a list of names to which titles have been added, and it's interesting one to look at. There's not one person of importance left off—and it begins with President and Mrs. Eisenhower—Vice President Richard Nixon, Presidential Assistant Sherman Adams, Secretary of the Navy Charles S. Thomas, Under Secretary of the Navy Thomas Gates, Jr., Senator George Smathers, Senator Spear L. Holland, and Congressman A. S. "Syd" Herlong.

Governor LeRoy Collins and his cabinet, the State Senators and Representatives—and Navy people from all over.

Yes, it's going to be a big affair—an affair to which every Sanford and Seminole County citizen must go. There's going to be plenty to eat such as more than two tons of fish six thousand ears of sweet corn, 750 pounds of cabbage for slaw—why the menu looks like one prepared for a battleship going on a six months cruise.

Jaycees President G. Andrew Speer is practically a member of every committee for his enthusiasm is running high.

Frankly—the Jaycees are meeting with wonderful response from all on whom they have called—and they're going to need much help in putting on one of the most successful events that's been staged in Seminole County.

This seems to be turning into an annual celebration—and we hope so.

MILWAUKEE HAS REAL BRAVES

MILWAUKEE—John E. Kalupa, assistant city comptroller who earned somewhat of a reputation as an encyclopedia about Milwaukee, was stumped when asked:

"How many American Indians are there in the city?"

Kalupa did a little research and found out the answer is 381.

FALSE ALARM PAYS

MILWAUKEE—Co. 4 at Marquette University's O'Donnell Hall sent Fire Chief Ed Wischer $300 to pay the department for answering a false alarm. A fire alarm box on the first floor of the girls' dormitory broke, sending 350 girls from the building. They returned when no trace of a fire was found.

TAX COLLECTOR'S HEYDAY

Herlong Reports

Slash the budget! That's the word Congress is getting from the people who are sick and tired of Federal spending.

The President, as you know, sent us a record 72 billion dollar budget. He said Congress could cut but didn't specify where.

The questionnaires I sent out several weeks ago pertaining to major legislation are still coming in. The returns show me that the people want to make their thoughts known.

While I cannot make a final check until all the questionnaires are in, a preliminary survey shows me that the people of my District are interested in what their government is doing.

As you know, I have been intensely interested in seeing that the Federal Government cuts expenditures and operates more efficiently ever since I came to Congress. And I will pursue this line to the fullest of my ability because I think everyone in my district wants spending reduced as a cut in taxes.

The questionnaires show that the people are particularly worried about appropriations for military and economic foreign aid. As one person so aptly put it, "true and lasting friendship is a community that cannot be bought at any price."

So far, the answers on Federal aid for school construction are in a neck and neck race. But most of those who favor such legislation are careful to qualify their statement that there be no Federal controls.

We won't know what's in the bill until it is ready for House action. But it is difficult right now to see how it can get through without some segregation amendment that would make it unacceptable to the South.

Then again, even if such an amendment is not attached the integration-minded Supreme Court may see fit to hold that we can't get the money unless we change our schools to their line of thinking.

The preliminary glimpse at the questionnaires also shows that the people are heavily in favor of increasing the postal rates on the so-called "junk mail," referred to by one as "advertising circulars which land in the waste basket."

They also want the overhead of the Post Office Department reduced at the top level, and a more efficient operation.

The count is running almost five to one against a general liberalization of the immigration laws. However, most are in favor of giving permanent residence to the some 25,000 Hungarian refugees who were admitted to the last few months—providing they are carefully screened.

The trend is running three to one in favor of statehood for Hawaii and Alaska.

A delightful event of the year was the reception given by President and Mrs. Eisenhower for his cabinet and members of Congress recently.

Foreign News Commentary

By CHARLES M. McCANN
United Press Staff Correspondent
Guy Mollet, France's most durable premier since the end of World War II, is about to face his biggest test.

The National Assembly, controlling house of the French Parliament, opened a free-swinging debate today on Mollet's policies.

The debate will continue until March 23 when Mollet will put his program to a vote of confidence. It is pretty certain that the decidingly scholarly-looking Socialist premier will win the test. If he does, it will be the 33rd time since he took office on Feb. 1, 1954, that Mollet has put the life of his government on the line and has kept his job.

Two Policy Issues
The National Assembly debate centers on two policy issues. One is Algeria, the $81,200,000 square mile area of French Africa which has been torn by a bloody, costly revolt since Nov. 1, 1954.

Mollet is determined that France shall keep Algeria at any cost. He offers Algeria free electricity and a great measure of home rule. But he insists that first the nationalist rebels must lay down their arms.

The other issue concerns Mollet's fight against inflation in France.

It is being planned on the demand of powerful agricultural interests for a rise of about one-half cent a quart in the price of milk, which is government-controlled like many other prices.

Raise Price Index
The difficulty is that if the increase is approved, it will raise the price index.

That would mean an increase of 8 per cent in the minimum wage scale for all of France.

Actually, not a great many French workers would get the increase, because few of them get only the minimum wage prescribed by law.

Mollet knows, however, from past experience that if the minimum wage is increased, the labor unions will at once open a fight—and wage it with mass strikes—for general wage increases.

Mollet has decided to stand up to the unions, but he has refused to raise the milk price.

Letters To The Editor

The Sanford Herald
Sanford, Florida
Dear Editor:

As Neighborhood Chairman, for Seminole County of Girl Scouts, it is my privilege to express our sincere gratitude to you and your staff, for the wonderful coverage and support during our recent Girl Scout Fund Drive for Citrus Council of Girl Scouts, Inc.

Our drive was a real success. Your great joy and gratefulness. Your splendid cooperation did much to make it so.

I want to express our thanks, too, for the continued support you give us and in particular, for your help in presenting National Girl Scout Week, March 11-18.

Our cookie sale, fund drive and Girl Scout Week have made this a busy time in Girl Scouting and your generosity to us is of immeasurable help.

Thank you,
Most Sincerely,
Julia C. Chase
(Neighborhood Chairman, Seminole District)

To The Editor
THE SANFORD HERALD
Sanford, Florida
Dear Sir:

Since there seems to be much misunderstanding in the minds of some Sanford citizens, I would like to give you some of the details of the operation of the Sanford Elks' Blood Bank.

We are actually not a blood bank; the Sanford Elks Lodge, No. 1241, has an account with the Central Florida Blood Bank in Orlando. Personnel of the Central Florida Blood Bank draw, store, process, and deliver the blood on order. Our account or balance is presently well over one hundred pints.

Our blood bank balance was built up primarily by Elks, and was for Elks and their families in time of need. However, there have been occasions when we gave checks for blood to non-Elks. It has become our policy to never refuse an emergency request for blood, regardless of who makes the request.

We do request, however, that at the convenience of the family or friends of the recipient, the blood be replaced to our account. WE DO NOT BUY OR SELL BLOOD.

In case of emergency need for blood, call the Elks Club—9137, or in a few days Fairfax 3-9768. The person who answers the phone is a member of the blood bank committee.

We conduct blood bank drives every three months. At these times, anyone can donate, not only to our account, but to others if desired. These drives are held in the Elks Club ANNEX on Second Street.

Thank you,
Roy D. Green
Exalted Ruler

Sanford Herald
Sanford, Florida
Editor:

In behalf of the Seminole County Tuberculosis and Health Association I wish to express our appreciation for the fine support that the Sanford Herald gave to the Christmas Seal Campaign.

With your help we were able to have a very successful campaign and collect sufficient funds to carry on our work this year.

We would also like to thank all the volunteer workers of the Women's Club, The Future Nurses, the women of the Credit Bureau and all others who gave so generously of their time and efforts.

With out the help of these volunteer workers the Christmas Seal Campaign could not have been conducted and the fight against T. B. in this County would be severely handicapped.

Also, we wish to thank the citizens of Seminole County who by contributing their money so generously have assured that the fight against this dread disease will go on. Because of your contributions we are able to do the job of health education, and promote better case finding and treatment facilities.

Watch Out For Teeth If You Are Over 35

By HERMAN M. BUNDSCH, D.D.
ALL of you, I'm sure, are familiar with the age-old phrase: "See your dentist at least twice a year."

After you reach the age of 35 this advice becomes more important than ever. For it's during middle age that more teeth are lost from periodontal diseases—pyorrhea and gingivitis—than from any other cause.

Strikes Both Sexes

These diseases strike both men and women, although men are likely to be affected at an earlier age than women.

One study indicates that about half of all the nation's men are afflicted with some form of periodontal disease by the time they reach 45. Some have lost all their teeth as a result of it.

Even dental decay doesn't cause as much trouble during the years after 35.

As in so many diseases, the onset of the condition is gradual. Very often it progresses to the point where there is some bone destruction before the victim is even aware that something is wrong.

Unlike many diseases, however, one attack of pyorrhea or gingivitis does not mean immunity from future attacks. In fact, once you have had either disease, you've got to be especially alert for any recurrence.

In these diseases, the gums become inflamed. If not treated properly, they will start to recede. Eventually, perfectly sound teeth may be lost.

Proper Brushing

In addition to seeing your dentist semi-annually, you've got to brush your teeth not only regularly each day, but properly. And believe it or not, one method of brushing teeth may be better for you than another.

Actually there are several techniques. The condition of your teeth and gums will determine which will benefit you most. Ask your dentist which is best for you.

QUESTION AND ANSWER
Q. I had my gall bladder removed. Will I be able to eat everything or will I have to avoid certain foods?

A. Answer: Usually after removal of the gall bladder, it is possible for the person to eat all foods, within reason. No specific foods need be particularly avoided.

The wives of V.A.H-7 played bridge at Mary Libbey's Wednesday afternoon. Kay Dwyer was the big winner, and Gretchen Hall took second. Attending were Lou Johnson, Marilyn Forrest, Connie Yount, and her out-of-town guest, Sally Weigle. Joan Weigle, Bonnie Barabon, and Terry Price, besides of course the above mentioned girls.

Dodie and John King are floating on air these days—orders are in the wind for them to go to Ohio State University at Columbus. If all materializes they will leave in about two months, which breaks my heart, but will be wonderful for them. John will return to college life, and Dodie will have plenty of time to sharpen her bridge game. Muriel and Rocky Gildwell will be leaving soon for Denver, Colorado. That is also a terrific place to go.

Betty and John McCracken have had as their guests Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Usher of Rhode Island. Betty is still waiting around, but it seems to be inevitable that she will have a baby.

Newcomers to our community are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Briggs of Tenn. who are living in the Vieno home and Mrs. W. B. Colum and family in the Pell home.

Kenneth Shaffer of Charleston, W. Va. is a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Beall.

Vivian Beamer of Williston visited his sister, Mrs. Eunice Jenkinson, Sunday.

Miss Joyce Fletcher R. N. of Arlington, Va. returned home after several weeks visit with her aunt Mrs. William Cross.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank How of Rochester, N. Y. returned home Wednesday. They were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Frank George.

Mrs. Roy McCullough left Saturday by plane for Chicago. She was called there by the death of her brother-in-law.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Williams returned Saturday from a visit to New Orleans. They were guests of his brother, Mr. E. Williams. While there, they enjoyed all festivities and parades of the Mardi Gras. Returning home they visited her sister, Mrs. Olive Summerville of Pensacola.

The I.A.H. Club of the Methodist Church held their regular meeting Saturday afternoon. Donna Stonell was elected secretary. An activity hour was held and refreshments served by the hostesses. Jeannette Clark and Alice Sutton. Barbara Ann Clark was in charge.

Played my golf match with Mildred Smith today. She won, but we did have fun. And I don't know two others who can match us golf. To hear us talk we should both be in the hospital under sedation for all the pain. Saw Saralee and Pete Peters with Jack and Judy Smith ready to tee off. The Peters are delighted to be back in Sanford, even if the visit must be brief. It seemed like old times seeing them out at the Country Club. Louise Parker and Judy are having a party for them Friday night at Louise's, and the following night they will be honored guests at the After-Five party to be held at John and Jean Dooley's. This will be a covered dish supper, so I hope all Fivers will have their casseroles oiled up for the occasion.

Curt Crutchman celebrated a "perfect hit" with a party for all bombardiers of V.A.H-5 at Sinc's Wednesday night. This is a rare feat even among the best of bombardiers, as well most of us know after hearing for years about ASB, and other unreliable rear. So you may be sure that the bombing gear has little to do with a perfect hit. Congratulations, Curt. John McCracken expressed regret that he could not attend, but he was flying—and trying to perfect his own methods.

Spook Hook and Bill Cumpson are teaching ballroom dancing to the boys at the U. S. O. Wednesday night. The assemblies were taught several steps in the foxtrot, waltz, and swing. In two weeks they will learn the fundamentals of the tango, rumba, and samba. Spook reports that the boys are very enthusiastic, and are trying hard. It sounds like a wonderful opportunity to produce some excellent dancers, and they should be much in demand after a few lessons.

Speaking of dancing, all married couples, line up a sifter for the 23rd. There will be a free juke box dance at the B. O. Q. from eight to eleven, with all the latest hits on the before mentioned box. And for bachelors there will be chaperoned hostesses. Here is your chance to find out just how many lovely girls there are in Sanford. These girls are giving up an evening for your benefit, so let's show them a good time.

Wish I could end this on a whimsical note, but have no store of whimsy, so farewell.

Today's Sport Parade

By OSCAR FRALEY
NEW YORK — From Dallas to Corvallis the round ball bouncers are in a tournament this weekend with frenzied action in both the NCAA and NIT and in this corner the results shape up this way:

Game of the Week: SMU over Kansas. You've got to have rocks in your head to pick against the fabbed Will-the-Still Chamberlain. But the Mustangs are playing in their own back yard in this Friday night special of the NCAA regionals and Jim Krebs could spill the difference.

The remainder of the NCAA schedule shapes up this way:

Friday Night: North Carolina over Canisius; Tar Heels and Red Raiders; Syracuse over Lafayette; Cohen, Cohen, go on.

Saturday Night: Kentucky over Pittsburgh; Rupp and ready.

Sunday: Notre Dame over Michigan State; Redempting those battered football fortunes.

St. Louis over Oklahoma City: Too little, too late.

San Francisco over Idaho State: Without Russell.

California over Brigham Young: On Newell's coaching.

Saturday Night: North Carolina over Syracuse; This is the game of the night as the Yankees' 10 seeds, with a starting five from the New York metropolitan area, shoot for their 20th straight victory in an undefeated season. Every game gets tougher as they try to protect that winning streak but they have the guns to peel the Orange.

North Carolina over Syracuse: This is a tough one with the winner earning the unenviable right to meet North Carolina in the March 22 semi-final at Kansas City. Consolation: It's a nice trip.

Southern Methodist over St. Louis: The Billikins are steady but if SMU gets past Kansas the Impetus should carry them on to Kansas City.

California over San Francisco: The only state being absolutely dead certain to have a team at Kiny's home town.

The NIT Saturday Night: Utah over Memphis State; The Utes have the class to win a contest you'll be able to witness on video.

Xavier of Cincinnati over Seton Hall: This is the "sleeper" of the tournament and could pick up all the marbles even against idle top-seeded Seattle and Bradley.

Dayton over St. Peter's: Perennial runnerup which is a cinch to go just about that far.

Cincinnati over St. Bonaventure: Eve without the picking. Any questions?

Drive Safely: An accident is usually the only winner in the race against time.

Human drama will stalk the Sanford diamonds, almost unnoticed. From the free agents to the cut-backs and promotions the futures of brilliant baseball prospects rests on one single action that will look good and give the prospect a favorable spot in the line of command.

Last Sunday some 2,000 fans turned out to witness the roughshod opener of the exhibition season. It was a good showing for a season opener, but the fans are anxious to see the teams hit top form; are anxious for the cut-backs and promotions, so that when they see the name of a ball player it will mean something to them.

Building loyalty to a visiting team takes time, and the top brass of the Gators are more than thrilled by the turnout this week.

"When we set the pace and the competition gets keen, it looks like we'll have some good fans behind us," they say.

Full action opens here Sunday afternoon at 1:30.

Safer Drivers

THESE NINE "crackups" represent the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company's findings that men drivers at age 31 have nearly eight times as many fatalities as women drivers at age 31. Death rate for male 31-year-olds in 1953-55 was 64.1 per 100,000 and for women in the same period, 8.4. (Central Press)

A SHORT BREATHER and discussion are made the most of by Eugene Rust, coach Dave Laude, and baseball captain Brentley Schirard yesterday afternoon as the three took time out to look over the material and discuss strategy to be used in the season opener Tuesday night in Memorial Stadium against Winter Park. Game time is scheduled for 8 p. m. (Photo by Bergstrom)

SHS Baseball Team To Face Stiff, Long Workout Monday

The Sanford Seminoles looked in nearly top form on the baseball diamond yesterday and appeared confident and relaxed after the race for starting berths in the anticipation of an afternoon off this afternoon to have the opportunity to enjoy a day off from school before the opening game next Tuesday night in Memorial Stadium against Winter Park.

Most of yesterday's drills were limited to throwing, hitting, and infield retrieving.

Baseball mentor Dave Laude said that he would send his charges through a stiff and extended workout Monday that would polish off some of the rough spots, but that now he was glad "that the boys could take a short rest before the season pressure hits them."

Andrew Bracken, Seminole High School principal who is interested in sports but not at the expense of academic time, expressed appreciation to the City and the New York Giants organization for making it possible for the Seminoles to have their home season at night in Memorial Stadium.

"We certainly want to have the New York Giants organization here," Bracken declared. "And one of the provisions, as I understand it, to get them here was to give them a blanket agreement for the use of the Stadium as they needed it for their training and exhibition games." Bracken said that W. E. "Pete" Knowles had gone all out to give the Seminoles the opportunity to use the Stadium at night and had even brought it up before the City Commission.

"But the impressive thing is the cooperation from the New York Giants through Carl Hubbell," Bracken said. "When Knowles approached Hubbell about our needing the Stadium at night, Hubbell never hesitated in giving his answer. As a result, we will have a wonderful baseball season that will give the townspeople an opportunity to know and appreciate their home town team."

Not only would it provide recreation for the townspeople and students, Bracken explained, but it would fulfill the true educative function of sports in high school. "With afternoon games we are faced with a dilemma," Bracken asserted. "We must either punish the ball players by having the classes move ahead of the athletes when they are absent or punish the classes by slowing down with the work. Either way it is unsatisfactory. Now, however, everybody is happy and the sport is given the spotlight that everybody seems to say that it deserves."

Laude said that from expressions from the people of the town the baseball program will assume a new prominence in the city life. "Everybody tells me that they are tickled that we are going to have baseball at night. I think almost everybody that likes the other sports also like baseball and are happy to have the opportunity to follow the team on the home games."

High School Puts Study Hall On TV

NEW YORK AP—It's been a month and a half since the Pearl River, N. Y., high school put its study hall on television, and, according to the principal, things are working out just fine.

The study hall students have a rather limited audience—two secretaries in the school's general office. And they don't watch the program much. Just glance at it once in a while.

The camera is fixed in one position, to scan the tolling boys and girls at their desks. It is connected by a closed circuit wire to a television receiver in the office, where all the secretaries.

Now, you might think this is sort of a "big brother-is-watching-you" deal. The principal says, no it isn't. The kids are learning to be on their own, handle their own studying without supervision.

Look—No Teacher About 50 students study in the room at one time. There are seven study periods. Since the TV was installed, no teachers have been in attendance in the room during two of those periods. During the other five, teachers are there part-time.

Also, under the watching camera, students may go in and study before school, during the latter part of the lunch hour, and for 45 minutes to half an hour after school—without a teacher present.

The principal, Walter Reiner, said in a telephone interview that study hall department and general study behavior have been better since the TV was installed "because the students recognize they can handle themselves."

There have been no hijinks, no pranks. "Nor is there hardly any concern by our secretaries about watching the screen," Reiner said.

Day-Dreaming Allowed Asked whether there had been a diminution of day-dreaming, since the TV eye was put in, Reiner said study habits were good but that it wasn't the practice to hold a rod over day-dreamers. "We don't go into a student and say, 'now you open a book,'" he said. "They have to learn their need to study."

He said he regarded TV as a "transitional step" toward having students take responsibility for themselves.

"We're in the planning stage for a new high school," he said. "The television will help us find out whether or not we can set up, in that high school, lounge areas where students can go themselves, without reporting, without a teacher or adult supervision."

Mysterious, alluring and frequently deadly, the jungle world of Africa supplies the breathless locale for Columbia Pictures' "Safari," starring Victor Mature and Janet Leigh at the Movieland Ride-In Theatre on Sunday. Actually filmed in Kenya's fabulous North Frontier District, heartland of the dread Mau Mau who provide some of the new film's breathless action moments, "Safari" is said to combine the splendor of "King Solomon's Mines" with the mighty thrills and love-adventure of "Mogambo."

"Safari" was filmed in color by Technicolor and in Cinema-Scope. Mature plays a white hunter in the film; Miss Leigh, a former chorus girl who is affianced to an elderly, wealthy Englishman with an obsession—he is determined to kill a black-maned lion, rarest and greatest of the man-eating jungle kings. The Safari, under Mature's guidance, probes deeper and deeper into the dangerous Mau Mau country, facing incredible tensions created not only by the perils surrounding them but by their own entanglements and conflicts.

The hunter and the girl are inevitably attracted to each other. The elderly fiance, aware of their mutual, growing interest, not only attempts to kill his rival but disobeys orders in a desperate, solitary effort to kill the lion. Incensed Mau Mau attacks reportedly provide "Safari" with a truly memorable climax.

Among the dramatic highlights of the love-adventure that is "Safari" are such desperate scenes as Mature's face-to-face combat with the lion; the drum dance of the Chukras; the Mau Mau ambush leading to one of the most terrifying onslaughts ever filmed, according to Hollywood; and a scene in which Miss Leigh is trapped and helpless in the rapids of a crocodile-infested river.

There have been no hijinks, no pranks. "Nor is there hardly any concern by our secretaries about watching the screen," Reiner said.

Day-Dreaming Allowed Asked whether there had been a diminution of day-dreaming, since the TV eye was put in, Reiner said study habits were good but that it wasn't the practice to hold a rod over day-dreamers. Romantic highlights include, among other scenes, a dreamy jungle "pool of love," in which the stars bathe.

John Justin tops the featured cast, as a young man on the safari, who is hopelessly in love with the, to him, indifferent Miss Leigh; Roland Culver plays the obsessed millionaire, Anthony Veiller penned "Safari" for the screen. # Long-Heralded 'Giant' At Ritz

After more than three years in production, the George Stevens limitation of "Giant" will make its long awaited premiere Sunday at the Ritz Theatre. Elizabeth Taylor, Rock Hudson and James Dean star.

Filmed on an epic scale commensurate with the novel's locale, the vast empire of Texas, "Giant" is more than a regional story of Texas and its people. It is a chronicle of three decades of American family life and the profound human emotions generated out of the problems of our changing times.

George Stevens, who directed the film and produced it with Henry Ginsberg, is responsible for such screen masterpieces as "Shane," "A Place in the Sun," "Talk of the Town" and "I Remember Mama."

"Giant" has become one of the most eagerly awaited motion pictures ever to be produced. The excitement that began with Warner Bros.' announcement that George Stevens was to film the Edna Ferber best-selling novel gained in ever increasing momentum as the months of production slowly became years.

Some of the screen's most exciting stars will be seen in "Giant." Elizabeth Taylor, off-spoken of as the most beautiful woman in the world plays the lead role of Leslie Benedict. Rock Hudson, the popular actor who won acclaim in "The Magnificent Obsession," portrays Miss Taylor's husband, Rick. He is the ruler of a vast empire of land and cattle.

James Dean, who rose to stardom in his very first motion picture, "East of Eden," for which he also won an Academy Award nomination, stars as Jett Rink, an ambitious and hard working ranch hand who by sheer energy and determination turns a small piece of property into a fulfillment of his dream for riches.

A big first in "Giant" also will be the screen debut of Carroll Baker, an exceptionally talented young actress who plays an important role in the film. Miss Baker will next be seen starring in Ella Kazan's "Baby Doll."

"Giant" also stars Jane Withers, Chill Wills, Mercedes McCambridge, and Sal Mineo. Young Mr. Mineo will be remembered for his startling portrayal in "Rebel Without a Cause," in which James Dean starred.

Hundreds of actors and actresses were called upon to fill major and minor roles in "Giant." A mansion was built in the Warner Bros. property shop at Hollywood and shipped piecemeal to Texas on flat cars for erection on a lonely stretch of desert. Oil derricks and hundreds of gallons of artificial oil were also shipped from Hollywood. Cattle and horses for a period of twenty-five years. CHAPTER 22

LEONE wasn't at the reception desk and I couldn't wait for her. I had a dance lesson to give and I didn't want to run the risk of having my pupil complain about my inattention to him. I hurried through the reception room and down the corridor to Radio K.

I opened the door, stepped inside... and it was all I could do to keep from turning around and heading for the hills. The pupil waiting for his lesson was Wendell Kipp.

He was as surprised as I. But, while my surprise turned into a stampede of confusion, his blossomed into a kind of indignant joy. His smile was a drool, his valise eyes dripped delight.

"Well," he said. "Well, well and well."

"Well, yes!" I said. "Imagine! What a world! No, it can't be that small... you can't be the man I met at the Feather Club last night..."

"No," he said. "As a matter of fact, I want in the Feather Club last night." I shut up. I realized that my pole was still down, still out. Kipp was walking toward me. He put his insistent hands on my shoulders. I tried to step away, but he held me.

"Baby, what goes? Last night your name was Gloria. Today... here it's Hester Frost. I'm told. What goes?"

"Goes?"

"Last night you just happen to be in a bar where the Walter turns up. When I recognized him, you just happened to disappear. This morning you just happen to have Anita's job. What gives?"

"For that matter," I said, "what gives with you? Last night you said you took your lesson on Wednesday... just before the Walter. What are you doing here now?"

"I take three lessons a week, baby," he said. "This is one of my regular times."

"Oh," I said. "Listen, Mr. Kipp..."

"Last night you called me Wendell. Last night you were real friendly. How come you picked me up?"

"I picked you up?"

"You had a reason for it, didn't you?"

"Listen..."

"No, on second thought, don't tell me now. I think it would be more pleasant if you explained it to me over cocktails this evening."

"Sorry, I'm busy..."

"Not that busy... because I might get very conscientious and go to the police."

"You wouldn't do that, you..."

"Oh! So it matters. So we will have cocktails tonight. At five? At the Wellington? That's on Washington Square."

"No, I can't..."

"At five at the Wellington. We'll have fun. Maybe if we have enough fun I won't even make you explain. Now... teach me."

to dance, baby."

"Don't be silly. And it must be a big disappointment to you... finding me here, instead of some baby you could line up for yourself with this phony is-a-to-dance business."

"Oh, not at all! Don't be modest. I really like you, baby."

"Oh, for..."

But I didn't complete my derogatory sentence. A face was pressed against the square of glass in my studio door. Detective Haskins was looking over the scene of the crime and I was standing in full sight of him. I instantly became a dancing teacher. I stepped in Wendell Kipp's arms and fox-trotted him around until he was between me and the door.

The door didn't open; the face at the window moved away.

"You're shaking," Kipp said. "You're all unstrung."

"That's typical of me," I said. "Look," he said, "we'll skip this lesson. Why don't you take the day off? Rest up for our date tonight, get some beauty sleep. Not that you need it."

I walked out on the great lover. I fled to the ladies' locker room where I would be safe from all males, including members of the Homicide Bureau. I wanted to think things over. I went to a bettee and tried to relax and be logical over a cigarette.

Steve and I did seem to be getting someplace. A little more time and we just might prove that Steve hadn't killed Anita Farrell by proving who did. But we needed time. Kipp mustn't deprive us of that with his threat. Somehow, he had to be put off. But there was most of a day before that crisis arrived, and I mustn't waste that day. There was Leone for me to see, and Jack Walton and...

"Hello!"

Hooray Rose plopped down on the settee beside me. The ex-show girl, ex-model was looking a bit exhausted this morning, but on her even exhaustion looked good.

"Hello, Hooray," I said. "How are you?"

"What?"

"Never got up with a fellow from Altoona, Pa., who is in the trucking business. Brother! I finally had to punch him in the stomach. Ever try that? It's good. But you have to be careful not to hit him in the belt buckle. That can hurt you more than it hurts him. Well, now, let's see..."

She spilled a batch of money, mostly silver, on her lap.

"I've got to count this money," she said.

"Want some help?"

"No, I'm no good at counting sheep and things like that, but I can count money. This is a collection I took up for Jack and Dottie. Jack Walton and Dottie Harris. Their teachers here."

"What's happening about Jack and Dottie?"

"Tomorrow's their last day. They're getting married. We're from the Dadd, Mead & Co. novel. Copyright © 1945 by William and Audrey Kelley Roos. © 1946 by Kelley Roos.

going to have a little party to-morrow night. You know, cake and champagne."

"Oh, well, I'd like to contribute."

"I wasn't going to ask you, Hester, on account of you're new here, but if you insist... seventy-five cents."

I gave her three quarters.

"Thanks, Hester. Say, what is it about trucks? When I was a kid I was that way about a boy and he got into truck driving. Brother! I had to break it off. I didn't want to grow up black and blue. There's something about trucks."

"I guess so. Why are Jack and Dottie quitting? Does Jack have another job?"

"Not what you'd call a job. He's going to open a kind of country night club up in Connecticut somewhere. You know, they'll have dining and dancing and a bar and a show. Jack and Dottie will do their act. They got a cute act."

"Has Dottie always been Jack's partner?"

"Oh, sure."

"I thought I heard something about Anita Farrell being Jack's partner for a while."

"You must've heard wrong."

"How long has Jack been teaching here?"

"About a year."

"And he never left to take a dancing engagement anywhere? With Anita?"

"Uh-uh. Where'd you get that information?"

"From an unreliable source, I guess."

"You can say that again. Jack's just been teaching here steady all the time. Say, speaking of Anita, it wouldn't surprise me if the Walter is a truck driver."

"Why does everybody think Anita's murder was a sex crime?"

"Are you kidding? Where've you been all your life? Nine times out of ten it's sex."

"Nine times out of ten every-thing is sex. My God, Hester, haven't you noticed? Now, I've got to count this money."

"I won't keep you any longer. And listen, Hooray, before you date another fellow you ask to see his driver's license."

"You're not kidding! Brother!"

I went out to the reception room. Leone was tied up with some people. I scouted around, peering through the small windows of the individual studios. Dottie's was empty; apparently she didn't check in on Fridays until later in the day. I found Jack Walton instructing a group of a dozen women in the basic steps of the rumba. He didn't seem to be enjoying his work.

When I got back to the reception room, Leone was alone at her desk. I went to her.

Leone is on the spot tomorrow as Chapter 23 of "The Blonde Died Dancing" continues in this newspaper.

MR. AND MRS. SAUL GOIZ burst with joy at Idlewild Airport, New York, as they and their son, Ames, 7, were reunited with their eldest boy, Benzion, 16. The Jewish couple gave the boy to a Christian woman when he was three months old to get him out of a Lithuanian ghetto in which the Nazis had interned them. A long search ended when the woman found Mrs. Goiz's brother, Benzion told them, "I looked at your picture so long I'd have known you anywhere."

Now Hear This!

By JACKY FENWICK

Sorry I've been so sporadic about the hours for the swimming pool, but it's the way I receive the information myself, and I've been trying to get it into the paper as soon as possible. Consequently, I report one thing and the next day I discover it is not the complete story. The "word" now is that for the time being, when the pool opens today, it will be for the week-ends only, which means for the men only! If you will recall, that's one thing I did report, and kept straight!

Want to extend our congratulations to LTJG. Gerald Ryman, and LTJG. Dean Ortman, upon being named the youngest plane commanders in the Heavy Attack Program at S. N. A. S. Both men are pilots in V. A. H. 5, which makes them "Savage Sons" also. Perhaps this item means a little more to me than to some others, because there's something special about both of them. We've known Jerry longer than we've known just about anyone in "5", since my husband went through "N" school with him, in Norfolk, Virginia. And as of right now, Mr. Ortman is my husband's plane commander. Both of them are married, and we can well imagine how very proud their wives must be.

Thought I'd put this item in, even though my information, at present, is limited to the date, but the Medical Dept. of S. N. A. S. will be having a party on March 20. Those of you involved can look into this, and I'd appreciate any more details you can find out about it.

The "Chief's Club" will also be having a St. Patrick's Day Dance tonight. Sorry I wasn't informed about this sooner, so I could have let everyone know with a little more time to round up "babysitters", etc., but I can only write it when I get it!

Mrs. Rosemary Finnegan and Mrs. Betty O'Conner were co-hostesses, Wednesday Evening, at Mrs. Finnegan's home on W. 18th Street, for a Canasta Party. The guests, in addition to Mrs. Finnegan and Mrs. O'Conner, were Mrs. Irene Dulek, Mrs. Doris Shortland, Mrs. Adele Hietman, Mrs. Jimi Gold, Mrs. Joyce Williams, and yours truly. Contrary to what might be expected, we were all concentrating so hard on the card games that we hardly had any time to gossip! Winners for the evening were Mrs. O'Conner and Mrs. Shortland. Their prizes were adorable sugar and creamer sets, with matching salt and pepper shakers. Mrs. Dulek and Mrs. Hietman took the prizes for the low score, which were a set of matching vases. Rosemary served the most delicious home-made pound cake I've ever eaten. Someday, if I ever work up the courage to risk 10 eggs in a cake, I'm going to try and make one!

The enlisted wives of V. A. H. 7 had a meeting last Monday night at the U. S. O. Twenty-seven girls turned out for this meeting, much to the pleasant surprise of all concerned. Cdr. Blaine Libbey, commanding officer of V. A. H. 7, spoke to those present about past and present deployments. There were several guests attending, including Mrs. Dee Tapp, Mrs. Power, Mrs. Merriman Pulver, and Mrs. William G. Pulver. Quite a few new members joined up at the last meeting. They were as follows: Mrs. Frances Jones, Mrs. Nanette Jones, Mrs. Barbara Sowell, Mrs. Arlene Guernsey, Mrs. Margaret Rook, Mrs. Edna Collins, Mrs. Mary Carsons, Elizabeth Chinn, and Mrs. Edna Walszonski. I've been asked to include my phone number each day, so I will, gladly, if it means more news! The number is 1766-R.

In Case You Don't Know

Don't Go Scraping Along

Don't you hate it when food you're frying sticks maliciously to the pan? It's not greasing, says Crisco Kitchens. It's an annoyance easy to avoid. You just haven't used enough shortening. Remember that diagnosis next time and use enough Crisco so that when it's melted it covers the bottom of the pan. No more sticking!

Here's a Helpful Tip On Browning and Crisping

If your foods don't brown or are not crisp, it means your shortening was too cold when the food was added, says Crisco Kitchens. Make sure Crisco is thoroughly heated, but not smoking before adding food. Start with enough to do the cooking job. Cold shortening added after the cooking starts will prevent food from crisping.

Imagination Tastes Good, Too

It may sound high falutin', but you're a perfect right to consider yourself a creative artist when you're planning a meal... it's an artist's regard for color, shape and texture, as well as taste. Foods should look good as well as taste good to keep us mortals happy.

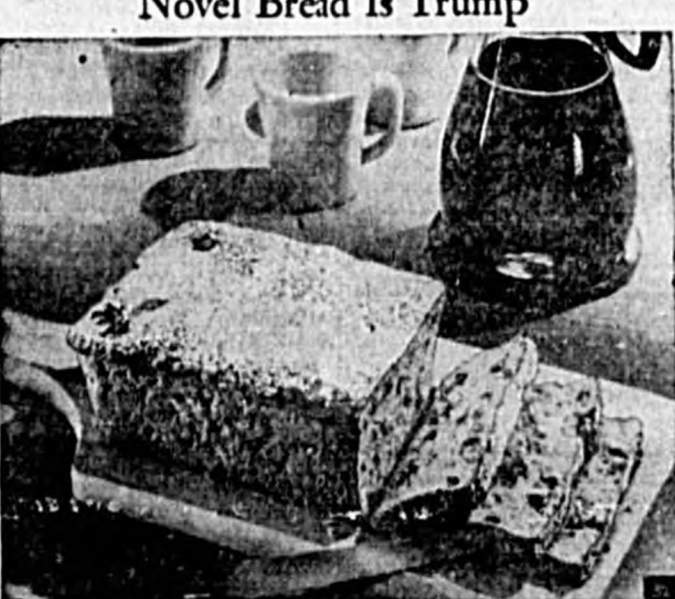

So, unleash your imagination. Be adventurous about your dishes and table linens. Kitchen bowls, if they're pretty, can come proudly to the table. Place mats or table cloths can be of bright gingham, denim or other washable material. Don't be afraid of the unconventional. It's fun to be traditional at times. And yet at times it's also fun to flout tradition!

Are You A Frosting Splatterer?

Some cake makers, even those who've been at it for years, leave a kitchen looking as if the plasterers had just been in. Others do a neat and tidy job of frosting their cakes, thanks to the clever advice of Crisco Kitchens. Here it is:

First, do the job right on the serving plate so you won't get nervous about having to transfer the cake later. Place two strips of wax paper on the serving plate, right angles to each other, and carefully deposit your cake on them. Then go ahead and frost. When you've finished, gently draw out the wax paper. Voilà! Not a bit of frosting to muss the plate.

Novel Bread Is Trump

Times do change! A few years ago no busy young homemaker would dream of taking time out from a busy morning for a little chat with her neighbor over a cup of coffee. Now, however, a late morning lull is a thing of the past. A few hands of bridge thrown in is a growing custom in small towns and cities. "Helps us relax," say these busy young homemakers. "Our husbands have their coffee breaks in the office. We like them too. Bridge? Well, once in a while if we have the time, it's fun and it changes our routine."

These late morning breakfasts feature fruit, a quick hot bread, preferably something novel and home made, and lots of coffee. And taking this cue, Crisco Kitchens developed a new recipe for a quick bread, light in texture because of the vegetable shortening used, and filled with cherries and spice. Try it hot. Try it cold. Try it with tea and with coffee. It's a winner.

Cherry Crumb Cake
(Makes one 9" x 5" x 3" loaf)
2 cups sifted enriched flour 1/3 cup Crisco 1 egg
2 teaspoons baking powder 1/2 cup sugar 2/3 cup milk
1/2 teaspoon salt
Sift flour, baking powder and salt. Blend Crisco, sugar and egg until fluffy. Stir in milk alternately with flour mixture; beat until smooth.

Filling:
1 #2 can pitted red sour cherries 1 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 cup brown sugar, packed 2 tablespoons flour
Drain cherries well. Mix brown sugar, cinnamon, flour and melted Crisco until crumbly.

Spread half of batter in greased 1-1/2" deep 9" layer pan. Top with half of cherries, then half of brown sugar mixture. Repeat. Bake in 400° F. oven 30 minutes, or until it tests done.

STUDENT AND

SAN MARCOS, Tex.—Beth Remington, a Southwest Texas State College student, thought she heard a mournful call for help as she walked by the Fine Arts Building on the way to an early class.

She spied a man peering out the second floor window.

He bashfully explained that he was a new janitor, on his first day of work, and had gotten locked in the night before.

HE HADN'T THE

TUCSON, Ariz.—Officials at the Arizona-Sonora Desert Museum's live-animals exhibit have decided they don't want their animals too lively.

A badger came in from the desert one night and ate the horse-meat intended for the owls, drank from an automatic water hole and then curled up for a comfortable nap. The keepers bounced him out on the desert the next day.

Southern Bell Official Tells Of Big Spending Program In Florida

Top News In Brief

Munich, Germany — U.S. Army Sp3 Ronald F. Montge, of Hialeah, was shot and killed on a downtown street early Saturday, the Army said today. German police are holding Ludwig Schwarzbauer, a 31-year old engineer, and private detective, who admits shooting Montge but who said he did it in self-defense.

WASHINGTON — Rep. Bob Bikes said today efforts are in progress to bring relief to West Florida and other southern states from the "degradations" of the imported fire ant which he said is rapidly infesting the area. "These pests started their activity in Alabama near Mobile and have spread to Northwest Florida," Bikes said. "It allowed to continue their migration the ultimate cost for eradication would be prohibitive."

WASHINGTON — Rep. Emanuel Celler (D-NY) said today he was concerned about who was "minding the store" while top administration officials were out of the country last week. Celler said he would introduce a resolution this week expressing the will of Congress that the President, vice president and secretary of state should never be out of the country at the same time.

"We like to think of the word progress being synonymous with Sanford", Mayor David Gatchel told a group of about 100 Sanford citizens following a tour of the Sanford Dial Telephone Exchange Friday night.

"Progress is the real reason for being here tonight," he said, "and I know that Southern Bell Telephone Company is proud of their new dial exchange."

The Mayor climaxed his talk with "We like to think that the progress of Sanford has made the new dial exchange necessary."

The dinner, attended by Claude J. Yates, vice president and general manager of Southern Bell Telephone Company, as well as many other top officials of the Florida division of the telephone organization, was held at the Mayfair Inn. Gordon Rothermel, group manager of the Sanford DeLand area during the process of constructing the new building and installing the equipment, was the toastmaster for the occasion.

Senator Douglas Stenstrom spoke briefly as he emphasized that "We are proud of the accomplishments here of Southern Bell Telephone Company."

"Little did I dream that Southern Bell would spend a million and a half dollars in Sanford," said the Senator, "Southern Bell, however, is a company with a heart. We like to feel that Sanford is a growing city and growth is an indication as to what's going to happen here in the future."

Claude J. Yates pointed to the Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Company organization in Florida as a "specially trained group of Florida citizens who know the know-how."

Yates said that there are 12,000 (Continued On Page Ten)

Senator To Urge Change In Primary Election Date

TALLAHASSEE — Sen. Ted Cabot of Fort Lauderdale says he will urge the Legislature to change Florida's primary elections from May to September.

Cabot said the new strength of the Republican Party makes it impractical to have primaries five months before the November general election.

Prior to 1952, when the GOP made its first strong showing in the state since Reconstruction days, the May Democratic primaries settled the election outcome and winners with Republican opposition did not bother to campaign actively.

Cabot pointed out that the resurgence of the Republican means that candidates now have to campaign about nine months of the year.

"WE ARE GRATEFUL FOR the trust and faith of our investors and we are proud of the opportunity to deliver the finest telephone facilities," said Southern Bell Telephone Company's Vice President and General Manager Claude J. Yates as he speaks before a group of 100 citizens Friday night. (Staff Photo)

Mayo said Walters, who works under the Department of Agriculture, will be succeeded by Mrs. W. Perry Neel, Walters' assistant for the past 14 years.

In his letter of retirement, Walters said he felt the Florida prison system has improved considerably, but "I am in hope that the next Legislature will provide funds for construction of at least one new prison as well as needed additions to the prison at Ralston."

Sees Show While On Cruise

ABOARD EISENHOWER ESCORT SHIP — President Eisenhower saw supersonic Terrier missiles from the cruiser Cambera knock down a high-flying drone target plane off the Bahamas today.

The President was given the demonstration of America's guided missile might as the Cambera took him on a leisurely get-well cruise in tropical waters prior to his Bermuda conference later this week with British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan.

The Cambera fired two of its 27-foot Terriers at a Grumman Hellcat fighter piloted by remote control. The target plane was directed by three escorting control planes from the U.S. naval base at Guantanamo, Cuba.

The cruiser and escorting destroyers Wood and Barton remained in Exuma Sound in Bahama waters for the firing exercise. The practice shoot was originally scheduled as a regular training operation last week but was delayed, the Navy said, by preparations for the presidential voyage.

Mr. Eisenhower and members of his staff watched the firing from a small deck area near huge radar direction finders which control movements of the missiles.

The President was about 75 feet from the missile launchers. The first of the sleek, gray Terriers exploded prematurely short of its target. But the second, detonated by electronic control, went off 50 feet from the drone, which gunners officers said was well within lethal range.

Cutover To Dial System Is Completed Sunday

Sanford area telephone subscribers heard dial tones instead of "number please" at exactly one minute past two yesterday morning when an operator utilizing less than 60 seconds completed the cutover from a manually operated telephone exchange to the new dial exchange.

Four telephone operators in the old exchange on First St. over the Hollywood Shop and Penney's Store handled the "switchboard" and the last calls to be put up while four members of the plant department stood by to pull the "heat coils" in the final switch from one location to another.

In the old Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Co. exchange, other than the four operators and four plant men, were the local manager, Earl Turner and C. R. Lovorn, district traffic manager.

Contact between the two buildings was maintained through an installed PBX board on which the departments, two in the old building and the two in the new building were talking simultaneously.

The First St. office of Southern Bell, in Sanford, has been maintained in the same location for at least 37 years. Manager Earl Turner said Saturday night that the local office has been "located here, to my knowledge for 37 years."

Sheriff Luther Hobby, this morning said that 25 gallons of illegal moonshine whiskey were found and brought in Saturday morning from the same Chulucota area in which 10-gallons of moonshine were confiscated Friday morning.

The moonshine was found in five-gallon cans, said the Sheriff, and was within a 50-yard area when the two five-gallon jugs were confiscated as they were being loaded on a truck.

"We left the five-gallon cans of whiskey," said Sheriff Hobby, "in the hopes that someone would come and try to pick them up. They must have gotten jittery," said the Sheriff.
