Jap Sentry Is Charged With Slapping Girl

U. S. School Teacher Is Attacked In Japanese Area Of International Settlement

United States Files Protest

Jan Foreign Minister Urges Abolition Of Capital Warships

SHANGHAI, Mar. 5.—(AP)—United States Consul-General Clarence E. Gauss protested to Japanese army authorities today against the action of a Japanese sentry in striking Miss Grace Brady, a teacher at St. Mary's Hall, an Episcopal school.

Miss Brady was returning from school, a short distance inside Japanese occupied territory, when the sentry stopped her, and asked to see what she was carrying in a book bag. According to information the commanding general tendered Japanese authorities, the sentry struck Miss Brady in the face while she was opening the bag. Miss Brady formerly lived in San Diego, Calif.

The Japanese confirmed receipt of the protest but the only explanation offered was "the Chinese woman accompanying Miss Brady talked back to the sentry."

Although this incident added new fuel to the flames of antagonism which have flared intermittently between the two nations, Japanese Foreign Minister Hirota yesterday urged a world naval reduction by abolition of all capital warships in a renewed bid for friendship with the United States.

"As long as we fully understand each other," Hirota told a parliamentary budget committee, "I am confident there will be no trouble between Japan and the United States."

The foreign minister, who long had sought a friendship accord with the United States, told the committee "we are doing our best to promote friendship through an exchange of messages with Secretary Hull."

He said Japan "would welcome the opportunity to discuss the question of naval reduction with the powers. If such opportunity appears, the Japanese government will propose the total abolition

Heavy Celery Prorate Will Be Continued

Allotment Of 75 Percent Is Approved; SCC Is Asked To Buy 10 More Cars

Members of the Celery Control Committee for the fourth consecutive week recommended to the Secretary of Agriculture an allotment percentage of 75 percent of the available supply of Florida celery, for shipment in interstate commerce during the coming week.

Committee members also passed a resolution requesting the Surplus Commodities Corporation to purchase 75 cars of celery instead of 65 cars as purchased this week; to purchase U. S. No. 2 grades at $1.05 per crate and continue to purchase U. S. combination grades at $1.10 per crate.

The amount of celery available for shipment during the coming week showed an increase over the current week, but it was the consensus of opinion of shippers present that in view of the probable reduction in shipments of California celery, the market will satisfactorily absorb the increase.

Reports from the far west celery producing centers indicated considerable damage to the celery crop, by the heavy rains. Information which might lead to an accurate estimate of the damage, however, was not available because of disrupted communication facilities in the flooded areas, telegrams revealed.

Damage to celery in the Chula Vista section was estimated to be at least 40 percent, and shippers in that section advised that the

Doudney Insists California Is Facing Threat Of More Storms

Citizens May Vote, However, Whether Taxes Paid Or Not

All persons in Seminole County who are assessed for personal property and who are between the ages of 21 and 55 and are not otherwise exempt will be required to pay the annual poll tax assessment of $1.00 per head for this and subsequent years just as before the Act of the 1937 legislature was passed amending the poll tax measure.

Bonnie County Tax Assessor Sanford Doudney, stated today, "A belief seems prevalent among many of the taxpayers of the County that the legislature eliminated the poll tax. Tax Collector Jno. D. Jenkins stated, but this belief is erroneous in that the Act only amended to statute to provide that payment of the tax was no longer necessary for a citizen to cast his ballot. Payment of the tax is no longer a prerequisite to voting privileges," the Tax Collector stated, but it is still supposed to be paid, the proceeds going to the county school fund.

The amendment became effective on Jan. 1, 1938, thereby eliminating the necessity of payment of poll taxes in order to be eligible for the coming primary or subsequent elections. It was pointed out,

In outlining the history of the poll tax measure, Mr. Jenkins pointed out that payment of the tax was made a pre-requisite to the voting privileges soon after the 1835 constitution became effective and for 60 years, at every election, voters were required to display two years' receipts before casting a ballot.

"Bring them in alive if possible—but bring them in," the sheriff's broadcast said.

Hundreds of horses have been destroyed or buried, and some of their occupants drowned. Buildings, including many homes, along the banks of the raging Los Angeles river were swept into the stream.

Registration books for registration of all residents of the county who were not registered in 1936, will be opened in the homeless in this rich and populous various precincts beginning Mar. 1 area where 3,000,000 people live.

The town of Atwood was virtually swept off the map when the Santa Ana river changed its course and swept over the townsite.

Scenes of destruction and horror occurred as the flood waters, bursting the banks, poured down over the town in a 18-foot wall of water, while terrified residents in the car in which they were riding fled. Many were caught in the last night when they ran off the bridge and swept as far as four miles away.

Eleven bodies were recovered at the side of the highway just from the flood in this area alone, beyond Five Points. It was learned after the water spread over flat at the Sheriff's office this morning that the body was driving.

Walker, at the time of the accident, was lowering the hood over the motor and sustained severe injuries when the impact drove the truck forwardly for ward.

Mr. Cole was jarred about the face and head considerably before he was removed from his auto and taken to the hospital where he had not gained consciousness today.

Investigating officer Deputy Sheriff Carl Williams stated that the auto truck drivers had flames on the street above the track and that Mr. Cole, because of the extremely dense fog, had evidently failed to see the parked vehicle.

Woman Given Top Screen Role Sought By 25,000

The typical American boy—brave, strong, he doesn't dance, yet a生's prodigy, and he doesn't—comes to the screen at last.

He is Jimmy, 24, the 15-year-old unknown from the Bronx who, though equally inexperienced, was selected among more than 25,000 promising boys as an ideal Tom Sawyer for the Technicolor production of "The Adventures of Tom Sawyer," shooting at the Fox Theatre next Thursday and Friday.

David O. Selznick, the producer who discovered Freddie Bartholomew, is like this director, extremely reticent, a boy boy who wants his very special "adventurer" whose "tall, head of a mane" of seven living in a "tremendous flat" had been on WPA paper for two years, when the ring of fortune pointed out his son.

Like the typical American boy that he is, Jimmy has never given any thought to an acting career. His mind was on baseball. He dreamed of the day when he would wear the uniform of the New York Giants. Hollywood was an unimportant place 1,000 miles away, with its baseball team in the minor leagues.

Unknown to himself, his knowledge of even his family, firmly possessed that solid quality known as "born personality," indomitable, intangible, but immediately recognizable, it had only to be used by a person capable of recognizing it and the boy's sense of destiny would be stirred. Bartholomew, the investigator-father of new screen personalities, was that person.

For nine long months Selznick hunted the Midwest and byways of the United States for the real boyishness that everyone would immediately recognize as the counterpart of the immortal character created by Mark Twain.

WARDEN

Girl Marries Out Of Pity But Has To Prove Her Love

When a poor girl marries a man out of pity, her love will prove her worthiness and then he proves his love when he goes broke, it evolves into one of the season's most highly entertaining fiction pictures, particularly when Fred Crawford is the Sir. Spencer Tracy the man and the picture Tuesday and Wednesday at the Rita Theatre.

Here is the Joan Crawford her face, have been clamoring for glamourously, crowned by Adrian, singing "Soliloquy," a new song hit "Always and Always," and finally teamed with Tracy. As Jessie Cassidy, a shop girl fed on novelty, who accepts love as an escape, he falls for her, and then finds a real love worth fighting for, since she has the type of dynamic role which has brought her fame as an actress and star-dom.

Tracy as John L. Hennessy, a man who has to have a fortune to discover what the love of a woman can mean, has been given a forceful characterization that must be numbered among his best.

Well received, too, was Hollywood's newest leading-man discovery, Alan Curtis, who makes the most of his first important film opportunity as Eddie Miller, a cheap crook.

From an original story by Kathleen Ulrich, who wrote "Young Man of Manhattan," the picture has New York's grab-tight district and ambitious multimillionaire's penthouse as colorful and exciting background.

To escape from her torment surroundings, Jessie marries Eddie who proves a walking she-determined to live her own life. A resolve which fades before Hennessy's determined courting. They marry, which gives Miller an idea for a blackmail scheme that misses when Hennessy goes abroad. This gives Jessie the chance to prove her love in a dramatic and surprising climax.

To make castor oil palatable mix it with orange juice; beat them together with a fork, then have the patient drink it quickly.

MARCO POLO

This is the year's greatest travelog adventure, Marco Polo, which spans the far reaches of the world between Europe and Asia. The action takes place during the reigns of Kublai Khan, the greatest of all Chinese Emperors.

Marco Polo, companion of the Polo brothers, merchants and inventors, to seek by his village from Venice to China. The father sends Marco because he is not a sturdy buccaneer, but a romantic, adventurous, dilettante, who always brings something worthwhile back from his travels.

After a long and difficult journey, Marco Polo and his servant Bagdad arrive in Peking. His kindness and ingenuity, the great Khan and at the same time falls in love with the Princess Kankach.

Although she is formally engaged to marry the King of Persia, the greater obstacle to Marco's courtship of the Princess is a cruel Saracen, Ahmed, who is determined to get rid of Marco Polo.

On an apparently innocent journey to the interior, Marco is attacked by Ahmed's soldiers and narrowly escapes death only to be captured by Lord Kaidu, a powerful general at war with the Khan.

Back in Peking, Kublai Khan, trusting Ahmed, leads his army against the Japanese, leaving Ahmed in full control. Knowing that the Khan and his army will be destroyed by a typhoon in the China Sea, Ahmed prepares to marry the Princess and declare himself Emperor.

In desperation the Princess sends a message to Marco which is discovered by Kaidu's officers.

Marco pleads with Kaidu to help him save the Princess from Ahmed. Kaidu's reluctance until Marco saves him from assassination by one of Ahmed's spies. In appreciation, Kaidu rallies his army to march to Peking and attack the palace.

The whole army arrives in Peking but is unable to storm the gates which are heavily fortified.

Inside the palace the Princess is preparing to kill herself rather than submit to a wedding with Ahmed.

Dressed as a slave Marco gets to the Princess and convinces her that if she can delay the marriage ceremony long enough, Kaidu's army will attack and deal with Ahmed.

But Ahmed snatches the army within the city walls, and traps it between two closed gates until it is only a question of time before Ahmed's artillery will wipe out Kaidu's army. Marco, now suspected by Kaidu, succeeds in blowing up the palace gates with gunpowder which up to now the Chinese had used only for toy firecrackers. After a tremendous battle within the palace, Marco rescues the Princess and Ahmed is killed.

A small remnant of Kaidu's army returns with the Emperor from the China Sea. Marco succeeds in bringing peace between Kaidu and the Khan, gets his "trade agreement" and embarks upon a long voyage with the Princess.

Warden Of Prison Learns Daughter's Love For Convict

The season's most powerful love affair comes to light in Odessa, "Penitentiary," which Jean Parker falling in love with a young convict, John Howard; Walter Connolly as a warden who decides to obtain freedom for one of his charges even if it means his own ambitions, and with John Howard throwing away his chance for release when it means violating the code of his fellow prison.

This picture, which steers happily between sentimentality and melodramatic violence, plays next Saturday at the Rita Theatre.

John Brahm, who directed, has found a rich vein of human appeal in the Martin Yaniv play and emphasized it in the filming with notable effect.

Howard plays a youth who is a victim of circumstances. With no criminal tendencies, he is breaking under the severe punishment meted out to him for an accidental killing.

Connolly, who as district attorney brought about his conviction, moves up the political ladder to the post of warden. To save the boy's health, he makes him his chauffeur. In this job Howard is thrown into contact with the warden's daughter, Jean Parker, and is inspired to a new interest in life and a future formerly tinged with despair.

The young man is in line for a parole, when a "squealer," who frustrated the escape of convicted spies, is killed. Suspicion falls on Howard. Obeying the criminal "code" of silence, he refuses to tell who committed the crime, faces trial for murder and loss of his parole.

Then Connolly learns his daughter loves the youth. He resolves to forget his own political aspirations and to release Howard on parole, despite the new charge, convict who actually did the killing reveals himself, and propels events toward their breath-taking climax.

"Penitentiary" teams with stark, tense drama, but a very human undercurrent, touches of humor, and an appealing love story, raise the picture above the class of pure melodrama.

"Rebellion" History Of Lawless Days In California Following Mexican War

A picture that we have no President Zachary Taylor to remember in history, but we do have the first important war between Mexico and the United States, and the ruthless band that infests the state makes for thrilling and spine-tingling excitement.

Tom is an appealing romance as Tom finds himself fighting on the side of a beautiful Mexican girl.

"For their adventurous girls and growing romances, there's nothing like 'Rebellion'." Against a colorful and glamorous historical background, there is no doubt that when it is announced that Tom finds himself fighting on the side of a beautiful Mexican girl.

This picture, which steers happily between sentimentality and melodramatic violence, plays next Saturday at the Rita Theatre.

John Brahm, who directed, has found a rich vein of human appeal in the Martin Yaniv play and emphasized it in the filming with notable effect.

The story of "Rebellion" has to do with the lawless days in California history following its acquisition from Mexico by the United States. How bad killers and thieves have had a slight of murder and robbery over the entire territory, plundering the Mexican and setting up a vicious government of their own where might rules.

Into this dangerous domain rides Tom as special envoy of with 35,481 in July, 1934.

Coast Line News
Publishes Article
Featuring Sanford

On the front page of the March-April issue of the Atlantic Coast Lines' News, a bi-monthly periodical devoted to the interests of employees of the railroad, there is a descriptive full-page story entitled "Sanford, Florida, The World's Celery Center," in which the attractions of Sanford and Seminole are outlined.

The front page article is credited largely to the efforts of George Collins, local ACL superintendent for the Jacksonville District of the railroad, who worked in conjunction with the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce.

In describing the productiveness of Seminole County, the article states that the County "produces one-fourth of the celery grown in the United States and Sanford has the distinction of being recognized as the 'World's Celery Center'. Also 'Seminole,' though fourth smallest of Florida's counties, led the entire State in the total cariot shipment of both fruits and vegetables during the past season."

A description of the St. Johns River which borders the County is as follows: "Unspoiled by the rapid strides of civilization, the St. Johns lally winds today through a galaxy of tropical beauty just as it did when known only to the Red Man," and in the story there are also listed many of the sports which may be enjoyed in this county, named as a "mecca for the angler and a veritable paradise for the hunter".

Britain Arms Program May Be Augmented

Chamberlain Pledges To Speed Up Armaments If Talks With Rome-Berlin Fail

Claims No Bias For Dictatorships

England Will Fight He Says, To Preserve Democracy

LONDON, Mar. 7.—(AP)—Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain told the House of Commons today that if the vital peace talks with Italy and Germany opening this week failed, Great Britain would speed up her already gigantic rearmament program.

But he said if the negotiations succeeded, a disarmament would follow in due course. The conservative majority repeatedly cheered the Prime Minister as he explained his policy of restraining and at the same time trying to prevent Europe from drifting "toward the catastrophe of war" by means of frank talk with the leaders of Italy and Germany.

Answering opposition charges that he was biased in favor of the dictatorships, Chamberlain in a fighting speech said, "I have to deal with the world in which the dictatorships exist. I have no interest in other systems of government except insofar as they stand on other countries. I have no bias in favor of National Fascism or Hitlerianism, because all of them seem to me to be inimical." With what is all important to me because it is root of my political creed—that is, individual liberty."

"For the preservation of Democracy," he said, "I would fight and I believe the people of this country would fight."

Reports Indicate Progress Made On Fruit Fly Measure

Reports from Washington indicate that progress is being made toward passage of the bill which authorizes $10,000 expenditure for survey of the extent of damages sustained in the drive against the Mediterranean fruit fly for which the growers of the State are claiming $4,000,000 damages.

In a letter to H. M. Penworth, of this City, Representative Joe Hendricks writes in part as follows: "I conferred with the Chairman of the Agricultural Committee, Marvin Jones, and he promised me definitely that the bill will be favorably reported within the next few days. This does not mean that it is passed by any means, but simply that we have it before the House and I assure you that if it is possible to pass a bill we shall do so."

In explanation of the delay of the bill in the House Mr. Hendricks stated that Mr. Jones and the Agriculture Committee have been endeavoring to get the General Farm Bill out of the way but that they now have their docket clear.

It was also reported that Senator Claude Pepper had asked the President's support to speed the House passage of the bill authorizing investigation of the damage claims which in Seminole County alone amounted to approximately $100,000.

No Marked Change Is Noted In Pershing

TUCSON, Ariz., Mar. 7.—(AP)—A drop in blood pressure—not enough to be alarming but sufficient to cause physicians some concern—marked the only change in General John J. Pershing's condition yesterday.

The usually fit general of the armies spent a restless Saturday night, but slept Sunday morning. After an examination by the staff of physicians Dr. Richard Parsons reported there had been no significant change in General Pershing's condition since

Fight Begins In California To Check Toll

Inoculations Given In Flood Areas To Prevent The Spread Of Typhoid Fever

LOS ANGELES, Mar. 7.—(AP)—Health officials, alert against the threat of pestilence, made typhoid inoculations throughout flood-devastated southern California today. No cases of the disease have been reported but sanitation conditions were reported dangerous.

The toll of dead and missing in the giant deluge caused by prolonged torrential rains last week was raised to 183 with reports from the San Bernardino region last night. The most recent estimates of damage to private and public property were $65,000,000 mark.

Armies of workmen labored to dry the flooded area out from under the blanket of silt and mud. Ten thousand homeless are being cared for.

Elwyn Thomas Is Guest Speaker At Rotary Luncheon

Community Improvement Is Discussed By Circuit Judge

Pointing to the responsibility of Rotarians in preserving civil rights provided in the Constitution of the United States for future generations, Elwyn Thomas of Port Huron who for 13 years has served as Circuit Judge and is now a candidate for the state supreme court, addressed the Supreme Court at its regular luncheon today on "Community Improvement."

Referring to the efforts of the State and nation Judge Thomas declared that, "while Sanford makes attractions for visitors it must also make Sanford safe for these visitors" and mentioned the individual responsibility of Rotarians in connection with just law enforcement.

In discussing the Constitution, Judge Thomas declared that the controversy over the addition of judges to the Supreme Court had better acquainted persons with its provisions which he compared with those of other nations and declared that its guarantees should be continued for protection to future generations.

Elwyn Thomas, of Atlanta, deputy regional executive of the Day Scouts of America was a guest at the meeting and discussed the present condition of the Central Florida Council of Boy Scouts of America which he declared was on the verge of collapse because of lack of assistance.

"The Boy Scout movement is a movement that is right," Mr. Thomas declared and stated that the Central Florida Council need a group of interested persons to administer the scout program in this Country and obtain financial assistance from interested parties.

Rotarians W. B. McCracken and the Rev. Martin Bram were appointed by President H. H. Coleman to discuss arrangements for cooperation of the Rotarians in connection with this work.

Paul Bins announced that Ladies Night for the Rotarians will be held in the Mayfair Hotel Friday night at 7:45 o'clock.

Visitors at the luncheon included J. C. Chase of Winter Park, Judge Thomas, Mr. Sturkey, Edward, Steinmetz and W. H. Harry also Junior Rotarian Volie Williams, Jr.

Baron Von Cramm Is Arrested In Germany

BERLIN, Mar. 7.—(AP)—Baron Cramm, Germany's great tennis player, was arrested today by criminal police on "suspicion of being charged." While admiring that Von Cramm had been arrested, police headquarters declined to disclose the nature of the charges.

It was admitted authoritatively later that he had been taken into custody on "suspicion of moral delinquency." The tennis star arrived home only a few days ago after the world-wide competition tour.

The song "Dixie" was composed in 1855 and used by the Confederates as a war song.

Leader Of Brooklyn Baseball Club Dies

NEW YORK, Mar. 7.—(AP)—Stephen W. McKeever, 55-year-old president of the Brooklyn National League baseball club, died today of pneumonia at his home following a week's illness.

Connected with the club for more than a quarter century, McKeever had been president since 1922, when Frank B. York resigned in the Brooklyn reorganization.

The oldest president in the National League, McKeever was a central figure in the storm that raged over the Brooklyn management, for nearly 10 years.

Large Crowd Is Present At Audubon Meet

By C. R. MASON

Thirty-five members of the Florida Audubon Society brought to a conclusion the 38th Annual Meeting of the group in Winter Park with a Sunday trip to the Kissimmee prairie region for observation of some of Florida's rare birds.

Included in the better than 80 species seen, the party had the good fortune to find the rare Audubon's Warbler and to watch the peculiar Burrowing Owl at their nests.

The attendance at the Winter Park meetings Saturday was double that of any previous session with members attending from Pensacola to Jacksonville and Palm Beach, as well as from many states other than Florida.

The morning meeting was opened with motion pictures of birds of Dry Tortugas, taken by R. J. Longstreet of Daytona Beach, who has made two of the three annual expeditions of the Society to this interesting national Monument. The afternoon meeting was featured by an illustrated address on the Everglades National Park project by Ernest E. Coe of Miami.

Mr. Coe emphasized the wonderful beauty of plant, animal and bird life of this region and the necessity of holding this typically tropical territory for the enjoyment of future generations.

Harold B. Peters of the Bureau of Biological Survey, Washington, D. C., brought a touch-of-each weather to the Society with his pictures and discussion of the life of the wild life of Labrador and Baffin Land. Mr. Peters as a representative of the survey accompanied the MacMillan expedition to the north proved most interesting to Lion's Club.

"As a sparkling press agent," it was stated "Raymond Hart will play the leading part in the Lion's Club play for the benefit of underprivileged children in the schools, which was announced today by Max E. Stewart, president of the Lion's Club.
