

Kirchhoff Tells Kiwanis Plans For Year

ED KIRCHHOFF

New Kiwanis President W. E. Kirchhoff said at installation ceremonies recently that within the next year, a new Kiwanis Club would be formed in a fast growing area of the county.

Other goals that Kirchhoff outlined for the year included the improvement of inter-club relationships, with every member attending at least one meet, and an improvement in local attendance with a goal of at least 95 percent.

Continuation of the student loan program, the foreign exchange student program, services to the needy, support of civic affairs and churches and help and guidance for youth were some of the other aims that the new president said that he hoped to see accomplished.

Retiring president, Jim Grant, humorously presented Kirchhoff with some "gifts" that he thought the new leader would need. They included a pair of "rose-colored" glasses, a huge bottle of aspirin and an oil-can, along with the bell-ringing gavel.

President Grant read a nine page summary of the past year's activities and although a complete listing of all the Kiwanis Club accomplishments is not possible, these are some of the highlights:

The Foreign Exchange Student program: The club provided expenses and a trip for Finnish student, Peter Kurkjarvi. They also set up the machinery and paid the expenses and found homes for Miss Dorte Dremtroder, from Germany.

The club gave money to the SHS band for instrument repair, gave a $25 bond for the Science Fair, sent a boy to Boy's State, sponsored a Babe Ruth League baseball team; sponsored Kids Day and supported the scholarship fund.

They conducted vocational guidance tests, set up a service station management course, did a survey for distributive education, purchased equipment and selected a coordinator for the program, helped to organize a power sewing class for Negro women, organized evening trowel trades classes, backed business education, evening college courses, vocational language classes, and electronics technician courses.

They supported churches and armed forces activities and were instrumental in starting several children going to Sunday School.

The club helped raise money for the band's trip to Washington, D. C., and sent a boy to Key Club International. They also helped with Scouting in the area, helped with adult training courses, helped with guided tours at Camp LenoChee, and conducted Cub roundtables.

The Underprivileged Child committee, paid for tonsilectomies for two children, bought clothing for several children, paid for dental work for several children, purchased a hearing aid for a child and worked with other county agencies in providing help for needy children.

The Marianna plan group has worked to help eight boys in the industrial schools, kept in touch with 26 boys by sending letters and cards, and worked with the county judge's office for closer and better co-ordination.

Members of the agriculture and conservation committee worked in many areas, including the Science Fair, county fair, 4-H projects and short course, and many local agricultural problems.

The public and business affairs committee took part in many civic, business, military and school activities and in governmental, political and legislative affairs.

The Interclub committee, social events and sunshine committee, attendance committee, election, house, historian and projects committee were all active and busy all year with their respective jobs.

Biggest project of the year was the annual fish fry and auction which involved nearly all the members of the club in soliciting, procuring, ticket selling, etc., with a balance of profit of $1,164.64 to show for their work.

Liggett-Rexall Stands Behind The Quality!

AROUND THE CLOCK
By LARRY VERNHEL
Sud Richard, the man who built the bandshell on Lake Monroe back in 1926, will be on hand Wednesday to see it begin to fall. Demolition of the top structure of the bandshell will be the first step in construction activity on the new San Atee Harbor marina. Richard, who said "that bandshell turned out to be a white elephant," said he wouldn't shed any tears on its passing.

Things sure have changed under J. H. (Jimmy) Crapps' administration! During the meetings it used to be cokes and candy . . . Now it's milk and candy . . . By the way, before he was mayor Jim used to ride to the meetings in a jeep . . . now he comes in a car.

Don't forget the policeman's ball Saturday night at the Mayfair.

Poor George Simons! The City discussed his comprehensive plan last night and Commissioner Earl Higginbotham said, "Sorry we dealt with him . . . it's not worth five cents . . ." So how come the city paid him $7,500?

Traffic charges made up the large percentage of arrests in 1961, Sheriff J. L. Hobby reports. The largest number of arrests was for driving without a license, 264; rights of way violation, 111, and driving while intoxicated, 119. As far as felonies go there were two murder charges, 29 for grand larceny and eight rape.

The city's new switchboard is now installed and Mrs. Norma Ferrell is the operator.

Speaking of the city, the new 20-month-old chimp, purchased last week, is named Carmen and is now on display (is that the right word?) at the zoo.

The Seminole County Juvenile Council hopes to get at least $500 from the SOCK matinee race held last Friday.

County Judge Vernon Nize tells us he's in desperate need of more space. Present plans call for the County to start rearranging courthouse offices in the fall.

Barbed wire has been placed around the county's clay pit at Santalio Springs. County Engineer Carlton Bliss tells us that the county has a 20-year supply of clay there.

The word is that Congressman Syd Herlong will be in for a lot of trouble come the spring primaries. One high county official (no names please) says he will start knocking on doors to defeat Herlong.

Deputy Chief of Bureau of Weapons, Rear Admiral K. S. Masterson, arrived at Ramey Field Monday on a routine inspection trip. A visit to the Martin Co. in Orlando is planned following the morning inspection.

The Seminole-DeBary Heart Council will hold its January meeting at the Health Center on French Ave. at 8 p.m. today. The meeting is open to the public.

Sanford's Harold Kastner was installed as assistant rabban for the central Florida Bahai Temple in Orlando recently.

Longwood's City Hall is sporting a bouquet of cotton . . . the large stalk with 15 open buds and numerous buds was grown by John Tulio, resident of the town.

Approximately 40 women will be leaving off Wednesday at 9 a.m. in the annual 51 Handicap Women's Golf Tournament which is sponsored by Kader's.

Monkey see . . . Monkey do . . . we hear that there will be a tape recorder at the monthly meeting of the North Orlando Village Council tonight.

County Moves To Hire Administrative Aide

Hutchison Renamed Board Chairman

Avery Opposes Because 'Our Views Differ'

The County Commission by a 3-1 vote today reappointed J. C. Hutchison, as chairman for 1962. Vice Chairman James P. Avery opposed the appointment.

Avery told the Herald after the meeting that although he had nothing personally against Hutchison and had the highest regard for him "our political views differ."

Hutchison, during budget conferences, advocated an increase in taxes to provide for services that I consider non-essential. Therefore, this philosophy being in direct contradiction to my views, that no taxes be levied except for essential services, led to my decision to vote against his leadership," Avery said.

At the same time, the board elected Avery vice chairman. Commissioner Vernon Dunn recommended John Fitzpatrick for the job but he declined to accept the nomination.

The board also appointed three new fire commissioners for the 10th fire district in Lake Mary. New commissioners replacing Ed Zimmerman, Earl Toney and Charles Krueger are Jimmy Reeves, Joseph Smathers and Ralph Able. Reappointed again were Richard Ivers and Ralph Schweickert.

The board also tabled action on reappointing an insurance committee made up of Clifford McKibbin, Bob Karns and Bob Crumley. Avery asked that the board be re-elected.

The board also accepted the resignation of Jack Gale from the board of adjustments and reappointed the zoning board, board of adjustments, water control and electrical and plumbing boards.

The Sanford Herald

WEATHER: Fair with high of 70-75 today; increasing cloudiness tonight and Wednesday; low in 50s.

GROUND-BREAKING ceremonies took place this morning at 10 a. m. at the new industrial site of the Del Mar Cabinet Industries Corporation of Atlanta. Present at the new project were Sanford-Seminole Development President Cliff McKibbin officiating, several representatives of the company, as well as Sanford businessmen and local officials. The Del Mar project is the first authorized in the state under the new Small Business Administration. (Herald Photo)

Casselberry May Set Referendum On Liquor Issue

Sunday sales of alcoholic beverages in Casselberry possibly will be put to the townspeople in a referendum.

The election decision was reached after new members of the town's Board of Aldermen were installed at Monday night's meeting and alderman Paul Bates, newly elected chairman, split the tie vote with Mrs. Hope Bennett and Rubin Lady, for, and Cliff Overman and George Howard, against.

Attorney Kenneth McIntosh was instructed to prepare the election ordinance and have ready to come before the board at the February meeting. It must meet with unanimous approval of the board and pass through its second and third reading if an election date is to be set at the meeting.

The matter of the Lillian Dale Subdivision plan was introduced by Mrs. Bennett before retiring members withdrew from the board. The plan was approved at a meeting on April 19 in the living room of Mrs. Bennett's home and legality of its approval since has been questioned by Rubin Lady and Mrs. Bennett. Lady pointed out that he only wanted the town records to show that the plan had been appropriately passed in an appropriate manner. The matter for reconsideration of the plan split the board with Mrs. Bennett and Lady for, and Ben Evans and Paul Bates against.

Chairman Lytle Swope closed the issue by voting against, explaining that he approved the plan the first time, saw no reason to approve it again and saw no reason why the new council couldn't consider the matter.

Board Approves Road Project

The County Commission today authorized S-13 as a substitute road project during 1962 if the county road department fails to get rights of way for the Pineway Bypass.

Engineer Carlton Bliss said that the road would save six miles from Chulouta to Sanford.

The improvement project would include paving.

Pineway has been designated among the top projects in the county. However, indications are that the board would be unsuccessful in getting needed rights of way.

In other business the board tabled action on Bear Lake Rd. from SR 426 to Curtis Rd. pending rights of way. "We need that road now," James P. Avery said, adding that the school is going to be completed by the next school year.

"We need a way to haul those pupils in," he said.

Avery suggested the board build the road on curb and gutter basis and use what rights of way it now has.

Vernon Dunn questioned whether the school board could purchase 20 acres anywhere and then ask the board to build a road.

"I would like to have the answer to that one also," Chairman J. C. Hutchison added.

Firemen To Install New Officers of the Lake Mary Volunteer Fire Dept.

New officers of the Lake Mary Volunteer Fire Dept. will be installed at today's 8 p. m. meeting. The organization in the Lake Mary Fire Hall, according to Otto Sjubom, member and past secretary of the group.

New Herald Format

Have you noticed the wider look in the Sanford Herald? Yes, the paper is different now. Instead of the usual eight columns to the page the Herald now has nine, but the overall width of the pages is the same.

The columns are narrower, which makes for easier reading and more versatile display of news, pictures and features.

This is another indication of the Herald's desire to make improvements in the paper whenever they are possible.

In Politics, It Pays To Be Legal

Sanford Attorney Kenneth McIntosh was hired again Monday night as legal representative for the town of Casselberry by the new Board of Aldermen which also doubled his monthly pay.

McIntosh, who was given the customary $100 per month, had asked that his pay be increased from $50 to $75.

Caucus On Speaker

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Party harmony was the official keynote today of a mid-afternoon caucus of House Democrats to choose their first new leadership team in 21 years.

The result was a foregone conclusion with unanimous voice anticipated for:

Aldermen Elect Bates Chairman

Paul Bates was unanimously elected chairman of the Casselberry Board of Aldermen after new officials were sworn into office at Monday night's regular meeting.

Taking office were Cliff Stoddard as mayor and Carl Overman and George Howard as new aldermen.

Stoddard's appointment recommendations for various committees included Herbert Maley, chairman of the street light committee; Bress H. Ice, chairman, Ben Wilson and J. D. Self, roads committee; Ery Remington as custodian; Overman, chairman, Ben Evans and William, new town buildings committee; Overman as building inspector; George Lewis and Fred Erdman, assistant police and Earl Zibell, chairman, George Howard, Herman Joyce and L. E. Woodham, zoning board.

More Power For Medical Board Sought

The County Commission today voted to set up a meeting with the legislative delegation medical examiners and judiciary officials to get strong legislation in 1963 for more authority for the medical board when signing death certificates.

The examiners had threatened to resign because law enforcement officers had refused an autopsy in the case of a Negro a few weeks ago.

Dr. E. W. Stoner of Oviedo spokesman for the examiners, said that under present legislation "we can accomplish absolutely nothing." What we need are strong laws such as Orange County has," he added.

He proposed a joint meeting with the medical examiner in Orlando to spell out recent Orange County legislation that would give doctors more power in ordering an autopsy.

"We have no authority to sign a death certificate as long as a JP is there,"

Extradition Of Trujillo Asked

SANTO DOMINGO (UPI) — The government will ask France to extradite Gen. Rafael Trujillo Jr. on charges of "direct participation" in the murder of six suspected assassins here two months ago, it was reported Monday night.

The newspaper La Nacion, quoting Atty. Gen. Antonio Garcia Vasquez, said the government also will seek extradition of air force Col. Gilberto Sanchez Rubiana and Luis J. Leon Estevez and Federico Cabral Nova, former chief of air force intelligence and propaganda.

AF Tanker Craft, 9 Men Missing

NEW YORK (UPI)—An Air Force K150 tanker plane with nine men aboard was reported missing early today over the Atlantic east of Virginia.

The plane was reported overdue on a flight from Langley Field, Va., to the Azores, the Coast Guard said.

A Coast Guard spokesman said the plane's last reported position was roughly 210 miles east of Norfolk, Va.

City Warned It Must Keep Business Downtown

The City Commission was warned Monday night of future "commercial slums" and possible agitation for moving the courthouse to a more geographical center of the county unless the city strives to keep business downtown and changes the zoning of a portion of W. First St. from commercial to R-2 residential.

The area includes the south side of W. First St. from Poplar to the city limits.

Planning and Zoning Board Chairman Clifford McKibbin went before the City Commissioners and told them why

City Warned It Must Keep Business Downtown

be westward and Higginbotham remarked: "You can't hold the city to two city blocks."

McKibbin, in stressing the need for the rezoning, said the city must have a duplex area and "this area appears to fit the need."

"Business should expand more on a block-by-block method than a wide open expansion resulting in a few businesses scattered among the residences that now exist there. Commercial developments slow this down with filling stations and driveways

CEBAR KEY (UPI)—A 21-foot cabin cruiser with a family of four aboard was expected to be towed toward shore today after five days in the Gulf of Mexico.

Committee Will Study Proposal

The first step in hiring an administrative assistant for the County Commission was taken today by the board as it named Commissioners John Fitzpatrick and Vernon Dunn to set up job classifications, salaries and duties and report back at the next meeting.

The board by a 4-1 vote agreed on the need for an administrative assistant because of the growth of the area.

District 2 Commissioner Ted Williams voted no, saying, "I was hired to do the job and I don't need any help."

Clerk Arthur Beckwith said "where are we going to get the money to pay him and where are we going to put him?"

However, John Fitzpatrick who made the motion, declared, "we'll find a way."

Chairman J. C. Hutchison said that with an assistant the commission could operate more efficiently, while Dunn, Fitzpatrick and Avery agreed that the time is ripe for some administrative help.

In other business the commission received a letter from the Florida Development Corporation that it had inspected a commercial airport site in the Lake Harney area and that the inspection revealed that the "site could be suitable for a small airport."

The board directed the clerk to write the Naval Air Station as a "courtesy" measure telling them of the proposed airport.

FLORIDA State Bank president T. E. Tucker will speak to the Seminole County Vocational School at noon Wednesday. The talk is open to the public and Tucker will discuss the new consumer economics course now being taught at the school.

ALFAMONTE Sets Town Meeting

The Alfamonte Springs Town Council will meet Thursday night, according to information received indirectly from Mayor W. L. Swofford, who was ill and could not be reached. Some residents of Alfamonte showed up at the Town Hall Monday at 8 p. m., thinking that there would be a meeting. The old council had met on the second Monday night in the month.

The meeting date of the new mayor and council has not been definitely set as of this date, but indications are that future meetings will be held on Wednesday nights. It was reported by persons close to Mayor Swofford that some of the new Council members found it inconvenient to meet on Mondays.

Citrus Mutual Asks U. S. Aid

LAKELAND (UPI)—Florida Citrus Mutual will ask Wednesday to persuade the federal government to boost U. S. citrus sales.

Mutual Executive Vice President Robert W. Ruffledge said the big growers cooperative would ask U. S. Agriculture Secretary Orville Freeman for more government research to find industrial uses for grapefruit, and to work harder to break down British barriers against U. S. citrus imports.

He said Herman Steele, Mutual's assistant general manager, would attend Freeman's conference in Washington called to discuss ways to eliminate U. S. farm-product surpluses.

Bates Released From Promise

Casselberry Alderman Paul Bates Monday night was released from his promise to pay all costs in excess of $900 for construction of the new Seminole Blvd. bridge by the unanimous vote of the council.

Approval of the move was expressed by the standing room only audience in the Casselberry Women's Club which gave out a sound round of applause.

Total bill for putting up the bridge as reported at the meeting was $874.

Road Asks 'Competitive' Rate

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Southern Railway system planned today to back up its appeal to the Interstate Commerce Commission for lower grain rate shipments with detailed economic studies.

John Corson, a management consultant from New York City hired by Southern to make a study of the proposed rates, and Vice President W. Mason King were scheduled as the first two witnesses.

Executive Vice President W. D. Bronson gave examiner W. W. Peck Monday a broad outline of why Southern needed the lower rates and by what means the rates were economically feasible.

Southern has proposed a 60 per cent cut on its rates for shipment of grain from the Midwest into the South. The proposal met with strong opposition from water carriers, the Tennessee Valley Authority, shippers, and others.

Bronson, the sole witness on the opening day of the hearing, said the railroad needed the new rates to meet competition from trucks and, to a lesser degree, barges.

"That's the music we must dance to if we choose to dance at all," Bronson said, "and we choose to dance."

He conceded that Southern's proposed rates were based on what was needed to "make us competitive with unregulated highway carriers."

Bronson said Southern was able to offer its lower rates through the development of high-capacity, lightweight aluminum cars, loaded with a minimum of 90 tons per car in lots of five, 10 or 20 cars at a time.

He said Southern shortly would purchase 200-ton capacity cars which easily could be transferred to the shipment of grain.

CHAMPIONSHIP SPEEDWAY-type auto races, with hub-to-hub dirt track duals, above, will be featured at the Florida State Fair in Tampa on four afternoons this year. Races days have been set for Wednesday, Feb. 7; Saturday, Feb. 10; Wednesday, Feb. 14; and Saturday, Feb. 17. The 1962 IMCA sanctioned speed meet marks the 41st anniversary of auto racing in Tampa.

Prizes Galore

More than 30 of the nation's top auto racing drivers and cars will compete for $10,000 in prize money during the forty-first anniversary of IMCA sanctioned automobile racing at the 1962 Florida State Fair.

Race dates this year will be Wednesday, Feb. 7; Saturday, Feb. 10; Wednesday, Feb. 14; and Saturday, Feb. 17. Time trials start at 1:30 p. m., and the first six races at 2:30 each afternoon.

Automobile racing has been an outstanding attraction at the big mid-winter state fair since 1921, when it started as a one-day event. Today it is the first competition of the new year's nation-wide racing circuit, drawing the finest and fastest drivers in the country.

Lift Restrictions On Residual Oil, Kennedy Asked

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Office of Emergency Planning (OEP) has recommended to President Kennedy that he remove all import restrictions on residual oil, a reliable source said today.

The source said the recommendation has been at the White House for three or four weeks. It is a result of a study initiated last May by New England's senators and representatives.

Kennedy's delay in acting on the recommendation points up the highly controversial aspects of it. Should he remove quotas, a surefire, bitter protest would be forthcoming from congressmen from coal-producing states.

Residual oil restrictions have been favored by coal states and vigorously opposed by northeastern states which use the heavy oil to produce electricity and heat large buildings.

The residual oil consumers claim the restrictions have caused higher prices and shortages. Coal interests claim it is foolish to become increasingly dependent on a foreign fuel supply which might be cut off in event of war.

The coal industry also maintains that mining facilities are being allowed to deteriorate and might not be available in case of a national emergency.

Residual oil is a left-over product from crude oil refining. Most of the imports to this country come from Venezuela.

On March 10, 1958, President Eisenhower issued an order restricting imports on crude oil and residual oil. His order followed a Defense Mobilization Act that crude oil was coming into this country at a rate to impair national security by discouraging domestic production and development.

Kennedy, then a senator, said shortly after Eisenhower's order was issued that it was an "unjustified, uneconomic and shortsighted action."

Users of residual oil say that if restrictions were removed, enormous benefits would fall on consumers with an estimated $2 billion annual saving in New England alone.

The principal states using residual oil besides the six New England states are New York, Florida, New Jersey, California and Hawaii.

Molotov Expected To Take Atom For Peace Post

VIENNA (UPI)—Former Soviet Foreign Minister Vyacheslav M. Molotov, one of the last of the "Old Bolsheviks" to survive under Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev, was expected here today to resume his Atom for Peace post.

A Foreign Ministry spokesman in Moscow indicated Monday that Molotov, 71, and his wife returned to Vienna over the weekend.

A spokesman for the International Atomic Energy Authority (IAEA) said it had received no official word he was returning. Neither had Australian officials.

The IAEA is where Molotov once more will represent the Soviet government. It left here eight weeks ago amid speculation Khrushchev might have ordered him disciplined for being part of the old-line Stalinist "anti-party" group.

Khrushchev had bitterly denounced Molotov before the 22nd Communist party congress in Moscow. At the time, the ostensible Soviet premier was second in command of his country's delegation here—so post considered diplomatic "waste."

Western diplomats here received the news the "Old Bolshevik" was heading back to Vienna with great surprise.

In London, diplomats speculated that Molotov may be considered by the Kremlin less troublesome outside the Soviet Union than inside.

Molotov, who prior to being given the Vienna post had been stationed in Outer Mongolia, was reported to have dined with the Red Chinese while there. In addition, he criticized Khrushchev in personal letters to members of the Communist Party Central Committee last year.

SHS Glee Club To Sing In DeBary

The Seminole High School Glee Club directed by Miss Olive Reese White will present a program of music for the DeBary Civic Assn. at its banquets meeting at 7 p. m. Saturday in the Community Center.

During the business session preceding the musical program, committee chairman will be announced and photos will be awarded winners of the Christmas Lighting Contest.

NFL Owners 'Optimistic'

MIAMI BEACH (UPI)—The National Football League happily reported today a total paid attendance of 3,886,139 for 96 games in 1962, the fourth straight year over three million and an average increase of 367 fans per game.

In 76 games last year the league drew 3,179,268 spectators.

"This is particularly impressive," said Commissioner Pete Rozelle, searching a new five-year term at $50,000 a year. "In view of the fact that the last two weeks of the season we had very poor weather in the East and Midwest and also had one new club as well as a reactivated old club."

Who Said The Pioneers Are Dead?

WINNER, S. D. (UPI)—A rancher Don Wright put his knowledge of cattle up for sale at auction today, claiming a granite old West trail drive that took five men through two blizzards.

The 1,000 Hereford breeders here and 500 steers arrived here in a two-mile-long line Monday night in good shape despite their 70-mile ordeal in blizzard snow, freezing cold and biting winds.

The white-headed cattle, looking like a 19th century painting by the famous painter, were sold for $100,000, according to Fredric Hamilton, drew a swollen crowd of buyers from as far as Texas and Virginia for the sale at the Whitehead Auction Co. sale barn.

High bids were expected the best would bring him $200,000. He said he tried the best's secrets against a bitter South Dakota winter to save the $2,000 in trucking costs.

What happens to the cattle after the sale was not certain, much depends on who buys them. The steers could be slaughtered for gross but used to feed for operators for fattening. The cows could be slaughtered for beef or used for breeding.

Wright, 46, a World War II aviator, former rodeo horse rider with successful horse, used eight cowboys and his 20-year-old son, Don,

DEAR ABBY: I am 33, divorced and believe me, I have my problems. I am seeing a psychiatrist once a week. I met a very good-looking man (I'll call him "Mr. X.") in the psychiatrist's office. We were immediately attracted to each other and found we had a lot in common. We spent a few evenings together (he came to my apartment) and I think I am in love with him.

I told my psychiatrist everything and he said I should quit seeing "Mr. X," because he is more mixed up than I am. If I must make a choice, I will give up seeing the psychiatrist because "Mr. X." is doing more for me than he is. I told my psychiatrist I wasn't seeing Mr. X. any more, but I am. Should I tell the psychiatrist the truth, quit seeing "Mr. X." or quit seeing the psychiatrist?

We The Women: By Ruth Millet

"I can't teach my wife the first thing about money" complains a husband who reads this column.

"She thinks she has picked up a wonderful bargain when she buys a suit marked down from $150 to $75.

"When I tell her the suit never was worth more than $75 if the store was willing to sell it for that, she replies that I don't know anything about women's clothes and, furthermore, I don't appreciate what a careful shopper she is.

"She tells me with a straight face that she saves me money when she buys something on sale only because she couldn't resist a 'bargain.'

"When I suggest that she would save me money just by staying away from sales, she tells me I don't appreciate what a careful shopper she is.

"She even figures that anything she can get me to pay for that should come out of her household budget is actually money 'saved.' The fact that it all comes out of my salary doesn't impress her at all.

"Is she just hopeless financially—or what?"

It sounds as though she is a financial genius—just like most housewives. It's by just such feminine figuring that wives manage to stretch their husband's income to cover everything they—the wives—consider important.

Jacoby On Bridge By Oswald Jacoby

Against any opening lead but a diamond, South would have a fairly simple way to go after his four-spade contract. He would simply win the opening lead; cash two high spades; and go after clubs. As long as the spade breaks better than 5-1 and nothing serious went wrong with the club suit, he would lose two spades and one club only.

Unfortunately for that plan of play, West did open a diamond and South had to use one of his trumps at trick one. This meant that if he went after trumps he would need to find three in each hand with the queen in the right spot also, but South found a play that offered a much better chance for success.

Normally, it does not pay declarer to hurry to make his high trumps by ruffing, but this time it was different. South lost control of the trump suit when he had to ruff the opening lead, but he had another string to his bow. He led a heart to dummy, ruffed a second diamond, led a club to dummy, ruffed a third diamond, and then cash-

Miss Sandra Kay Chambers, E. W. Foss Married In Ceremony At Chuluota

Miss Sandra Kay Chambers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Wilson Chambers, Chuluota, and Everett Warren Foss, son of Mr. and Mrs. Warren C. Foss, of Cambridge, Va., were married Dec. 21, at 8 p.m. at the Chuluota First Baptist Church.

Rev. Charles Swaggerty, pastor, officiated at the double ring, candlelight ceremony. The church was decorated in a blue and white color theme with baskets of white gladioli, blue pom poms, tall candelabra and arrangements of fern. Windows were lighted with blue candlelight.

Mrs. Nolan Fore, organist, and Mrs. Ralph Warden, pianist, presented a program of wedding music. John Woods, soloist, sang "O Promise Me," "The Lord's Prayer" and "O Master Let Me Walk With Thee."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a silk faille gown with rounded neck, three quarter length sleeves and a petal overskirt trimmed with satin and lace. Her shoulder length veil was attached to a feather hat and she carried a white Bible.

topped with a bouquet of pink rose buds and satin ribbon. Her only attendant was her sister, Miss Karen Chambers, who wore a pale blue brocade dress, blue velvet hat, white accessories and carried a bouquet of white pom poms and blue ribbon streamers. Both girls made their entire outfits and the bride carried out the traditional borrowed and blue luck items in her ensemble.

MR. AND MRS. EVERETT WARREN FOSS

Charles Parker of Pompano Beach and Windsor, Va., was best man and ushers were Don Foss and Paul Bliss, both of Orlando.

The bride's mother wore a light blue dress, black accessories and a white corsage. The groom's mother wore a navy blue dress, black accessories and a white corsage. Following the wedding ceremony, a reception was held in the social hall of the church. The refreshment table was overlaid with a white lace tablecloth over blue and centered with a candelabra holding blue candles and surrounded with fern and blue pom poms.

It also held a large three tiered wedding ring cake, topped with blue sugar bells. Cranberry fruit punch was served with the cake. Assisting with the serving were Miss Katherine Mikler of Oviedo and Mrs. Doris Charleston of St. Cloud.

The couple has returned from a wedding trip to Pompano Beach and are residing at the Palma Trailer Court, 1610 South Orange Blossom Trail, in Orlando.

Keith Celebrates Ninth Birthday With Dinner

The ninth birthday of Keith Keogh was celebrated when a group of neighborhood children were invited over for a hamburger dinner at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Keogh, in Lake Mary.

Keith's birthday really falls on Christmas Eve, but his mother persuaded him to wait a while to have his party.

Mrs. Phyllis Rugenstein made a special birthday cake for the occasion and decorated it with fresh flowers. Guests attending were Betty, Cathy and Kip Rugenstein, Jud, Lela and David Hobby, David Cochran, Linda Kilpatrick, Craig and Colin Keogh, Mrs. Rugenstein and Mrs. J. L. Hobby.

Tinsleys Give Party On New Year's Eve

Mr. and Mrs. Milton Tinsley gave a small New Year's Eve party at their Orienta Gardens home in Altamonte Springs.

Guests included Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Humes, Mr. and Mrs. Al Leggett and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Newcomer.

At 11 p.m. refreshments of cognac, punch, turkey salad, ham, pickled olives, cookies, mints and nuts were served and at 12 the new year was appropriately welcomed by the group.

Miss Dorothy Fourakre To Marry Jimmy Ross

Miss Fourakre was born in Longwood and is a graduate of Lyman High School. She is active in the First Baptist Church of Sanford, serving as leader of youth activities in the Training Union and teacher in the Sunday School.

The groom-elect is a graduate of the High School at Clyde, Texas. He is Senior Chief Yeoman of the U. S. Navy, stationed at Pearl Harbor in the Fleet Personnel Office with the Commander Service Forces of the Pacific Fleet.

The wedding will be an event of March 4 at 3 p.m. at the First Baptist Church, Sanford. No invitations are being sent and all friends of the couple are invited to the wedding and reception in Fellowship Hall.

WSCS Plans Study On Latin America

Members of the Woman's Society of Christian Service of the First Methodist Church held the first meeting of the new year in McKinley Hall, with president, Mrs. L. D. Hastings, presiding.

Mrs. C. R. Jones, secretary of missionary education, announced that the study course on Latin America will begin at the February meeting and will continue on succeeding weeks. Mrs. Fred Harris gave a monologue introducing the course.

Mrs. J. E. Jarrell, program chairman, took the group into the sanctuary for the worship program, under the direction of Mrs. W. E. Timms. Special music was presented by Mrs. Ashby Jones and Mrs. Timms gave a meditation on "The Holy Spirit" which was the theme of the program.

Tice Family Holds Reunion

Mr. and Mrs. Theo A. Tice held a family reunion at their Longwood home recently.

Those attending were Mr. and Mrs. Henry E. Ellis and son, Jamie, of Donelson, Tenn.; Mr. and Mrs. Jack Tice and children, Linda and Allen, of Orlando.

Also Rev. and Mrs. G. B. Warren and children, George, Ted, Ben Chaffer, Jackie and Sarah, from Brandon. Rev. Warren is pastor of the Methodist Church there.

Holiday Anniversary Sparks Party

Miss Louise Higginbotham was guest of honor at a surprise party on the occasion of her 16th birthday, Dec. 31, at the home of Miss Linda Mills.

A large group of friends gathered at the Mills home to greet Louise as she arrived with her date, John Boniface. Recorded music was played and guests enjoyed dancing and repeated trips to the refreshment table which was loaded with all kinds of delicious snacks and tidbits.

Promptly at midnight, as the clock struck 12, gaily wrapped gifts were brought out and friends gathered around as the attractive and useful gifts of jewelry, perfume and personal items were unwrapped. One gift (?) was a paddle, which was used to "initiate" the honored guest to the joys of being sweet sixteen.

Refreshments consisted of chips and dips, chocolate chip cookies, assorted sandwiches, mints and candies and Christmas punch.

Celebrating with Louise were John Boniface, Cary Cowan, Judy Buntin, Wayne Epps, Jack Ivey, Betsy Scheunemann, Bobby Johnson, Rose Kratzer, Judy Ogden, Doug Stenstrom, Ceni Wheatland, Mike Champion, Chip Crawford, Gwen Champion, Jack Caolo, Loretta Fore.

BROWNIE TROOP 463
The third grade brownie scouts of All Souls School, Troop 463, recently visited the Good Samaritan Home to share with the patients some of their holiday cheer.

The brownies took table decorations, made at previous meetings, and a basket of food for the home.

After entertaining the patients by singing Christmas carols they adjourned to the home of Mrs. Phyllis Conroy, assistant leader, where they enjoyed refreshments of cookies and hot chocolate.

Assisting with the afternoon outing was Mrs. Alice Crowder and Mrs. Reba MacFarlane, their leader.

A personal note of sympathy has the most meaning for the person receiving it.

"SURPRISE!" shout all her friends as Louise Higginbotham (right) arrives at a party held in her honor on her 16th birthday. Shoeless guests are all ready to start doing the twist. This dance has apparently taken such a firm hold that everyone has forgotten how to do any of "old-time" dances. (Herald Photo)

Officers Named By VAH-11 Wives

Ladies of VAH 11 met Thursday at the Pinecrest home of Mrs. Craig Moore to chat over coffee and conduct their monthly business meeting. Co-hostess was Mrs. Charles Bone.

New duties were assumed by several of the wives. Mrs. Jerry Patterson will be the new representative to the All Wives Board, and Mrs. C. D. MacDonald and Mrs. Moore will attend the NAS Central Committee meetings.

Mrs. Alice Blunden will be social secretary for the group. Mrs. MacDonald will be hospitality chairman and Mrs. Dale Varner and Mrs. Sidney Banks will be the telephone committee. Mrs. Wayne Robinson will continue as the treasurer.

Mrs. John Barlow of VAH 11 was introduced by Mrs. H. K. Manship as a candidate for the presidency of the Officers Wives Club. Two other candidates, Mrs. George Schneider and Mrs. Harold McCumber, were special guests at the coffee.

A new member, Mrs. Sam Carr, was welcomed to the group. Others present were Mrs. Ted Klein, Max Bent, Roger Smith, William Rose, Andrew Burkett, Harry Hudome and John Blattuck.

Next social event for the squadron will be a farewell

Red Carpet

It is time to "Roll Out the Red Carpet" for the tourists who are flocking into Florida. This is the advice of Chairman Wendell Jarrard of the Florida Development Commission.

Repeat business in future years will depend largely on the kind of treatment our visitors receive this year, he adds. And repeat business is what we all want.

It's quite natural for a person to want to go back at vacation time where he has made friends and had a pleasant time on a previous occasion. And, vice versa, none of us is likely to want to go back where people ignored us, treated us like perfect strangers and made no effort to make our stay among them pleasant. Tourists do not want to return to a place where they are overcharged for food and accommodations and where people who serve them are not courteous.

And so, let us roll out the red carpet. A smile is always helpful. We will thus sell them Sanford and Seminole County as well as being good ambassadors for the entire state.

Florida will play host to an estimated three million visitors within the next three months. If we, as citizens, as service station personnel, as store salesmen, as food servers and in whatever other role we might meet and deal with them, treat them right, greet them with friendliness and do everything we can to make their stay in Florida pleasant, we will have gained three million enthusiastic salesmen for our state.

And that could indeed mean a lot to us, you may be assured.

Dr. Crane's Worry Clinic

CASE L-408: Philip, aged 29, is our oldest son, who is in graduate school at Indiana University.

He and Ariene lived for a year in a compact little student apartment, but when their first baby was due, they decided they needed an extra bedroom.

"Dad," he began, "we are debating what to do. We can get a larger student apartment for about $125 per month.

"Or we might start buying a house in Bloomington. We've looked at a couple of old homes that need some renovation.

"They'd require a down payment of about $5,000. Maybe we could rent out a couple of rooms to students to help pay for the heat and light bills.

"But lately we have hit on another plan. We can buy a 50-foot mobile home with two bedrooms for a total cash payment of less than $5,000.

"It will be all modern, too. We can locate the mobile home in a very convenient Trailer Park for $20 per month rent.

"That $20 pays for water and the sewer connection. So what do you think we should do?"

Well, I asked him how much his oil bill for the oil furnace would run per year, plus his electricity and bottled gas for his kitchen stove.

Philip figured they would average not more than $20 per month, which meant his rent and other necessary expenses of the mobile home would total about $40 per month.

Meanwhile, he would be paying about 6 per cent interest on the $5,000 he would borrow to buy the mobile home. That 6 per cent totals $300 per year or $25 per month.

Added to the $40 already itemized, he could thus have his own 2-bedroom modern home for a total outlay of $68 monthly, against a rental fee of double that sum for a university apartment.

So Philip bought the mobile home, and has been quite pleased with it.

His purchase was economically justified, but many people jeopardize their budget by spending too much for a home.

Dr. E. F. Donaldson, at Ohio

State University, recently announced that the price of your new home should not run more than 2½ times your annual income.

If you are thus earning $2,000 per year, that means the ceiling on the price of your home should not exceed $12,500.

The usual graduate student obviously does not make $5,000 per year.

Even if he were on a graduate fellowship of $1,800 and getting G-1 monthly aid of $125, his total income would thus not exceed $3,200 so such a person could not afford to pay more than about $3,500 for a home.

Mobile homes are thus a very attractive deal for college students and moderate wage earners.

Unless the young married couple have in-laws who will make a down payment on the new home as a wedding gift, or unless they have worked and saved their money for several years prior to the wedding, they better stick closely to Dr. Donaldson's ceiling price.

Q—If stock gifts are made to minors, may this custodial property be used for the support, maintenance, education or general use and benefit of the minor? Who determines such use?—M. C.

Dear M. C.: Yes. Generally any part or all of the custodial property may be used for these purposes as the custodian deems proper with court order and without considering the other property belonging to the minor. In addition, a law called the "Uniform Act" states the parent or guardian of the minor—or the minor if he has reached the age of 14—may petition the proper court for an order calling upon the custodian to pay over a part or all of the custodial property necessary for these purposes.

Q—I understand there are some plans that allow a college student to work part of the year, get academic credit for his job as well as pay, study part of the year and that these are called co-operative education plans. Where can I get details?—C. C.

Dear C. C.: First, write the college of your choice to see whether they offer a co-operative plan. Write to Dr. Henry H. Armsby, Division of Higher Education, Office of Education, Washington 25, D. C., for a free pamphlet called "Co-operative Education in the U. S." Also, contact your local U.

S. Civil Service Commission office. Under Civil Service various plans are available in a wide range of job classifications.

Q—When I was forced to discontinue premium payments on my insurance policy two years ago, the agent advised me to select what he called "the extended insurance" option. Now I am told I cannot borrow against the policy even though I am covered for the next nine years. Is this true?—B. W.

Dear B. W.: Yes, this is true and your agent did not give you very good advice or else you did not understand what he was suggesting you do. What you did in taking the "extended option" plan was to authorize the insurance company to use the cash value in your policy to buy a term policy for you for the next 11 years. Term policies do not build cash values; that is one reason their premiums are lower. Now you have no cash value from which to borrow.

You could surrender the policy for cash but I am told that the amount of cash you would get would only be a fraction of what the policy is worth.

Political Notebook

WASHINGTON (NEA)—Under State Department auspices, a marionette show is being sent on a three-month tour of India, Nepal and Afghanistan. It's part of the U.S. cultural relations program.

The act consists of nine live people and an unspecified number of versatile puppets. They can do vaudeville turns set to American popular music, including a folk-tale fantasy, "Davy Jones' Locker," which should wow the natives.

First eyebrow-raising reaction to this startling bit of new year news is that here is just what Secretary of State Dean Rusk needs to improve U.S. foreign relations all over.

Why send $25,000-a-year ambassadors abroad when a puppet could do just as well, responding to strings pulled backstage instead of to cabled instructions from Washington?

Improvement of U. S. relations with crucial South Asia will probably be noticed at once, if the puppets put on a couple of shows in each country. Indian groups will renounce neutralism. Nepal will declare war on Red China and march to liberate Tibet. Afghanistan will apply for admission to the CENTO alliance and ask for arms aid to clean up Russia. Fighting with marionettes, no doubt.

What about Pakistan, though? This favoritism in sending puppets to the Paks' principal enemies India and Afghanistan, may cause President General Ayub to demand two marionette shows on his foreign aid program next year, or he'll go Communist. A diplomatic incident fraught with significance might be raised before the United Nations General Assembly reconvening in New York.

But speaking seriously for a moment, this latest venture in American diplomatic initiative points up some doubts about the whole cultural relations business.

The United States got sucked into it because the Russians and Red Chinese make such great propaganda out of cultural relations. Americans can't afford to be less cultured, natch.

As a matter of fact, Washington and Moscow diplomats spend more time negotiating cultural exchange agreements with each other than they do over the Berlin crisis.

The United States now has an assistant secretary of state, no less, in charge of educational and cultural affairs. He is Philip H. Coombs, an economist, educator and experienced public servant in Washington and abroad, a good guy and smart.

Shortly after taking over his new job, he set out to make some sense out of cultural relations on half a dozen fronts. First he had to integrate a dozen scattered agencies working the field. He set out to improve the quality of cultural attaches the U. S. sends overseas. He put emphasis on increasing the teaching of English in foreign countries. A major program was laid out to help new nations build their own educational systems.

At home, increased foreign language instruction is encouraged through the National Defense Education Act. And a big 10-point program has just been launched to increase the number—now 53,000—of foreign students coming to the U. S. as well as the quality of the education they receive for their own needs.

If cultural exchange—in the best sense of the word—could be confined to more international education from primary to higher, it would be all to the good. It is when cultural exchange slopes over into "culture"—in the worst sense of the word—that it tends to go haywire.

The marionette show is cited as an example. No matter how good the troupe being sent to South Asia, no matter how few thousands of dollars it costs the taxpayers, puppets just ain't American culture.

Opera Group Gives Program

The DeBary Opera Study Group presented a program of music on New Year's Day in the DeLand High School Auditorium.

Robert N. McGee was master of ceremonies and Laura Platt Brown was accompanist. Others appearing on the program included Florence St. Amand, Gertrude McNaughton, Ivan Walker and Mrs. Beatrice Muller.

The entire ensemble closed the program with "Happy New Year."

Shades Of 'Cautious Cal'

Kennedy Takes Tip From Coolidge In News Bees

By LYLE C. WILSON — WASHINGTON (UPI)

Newspaper stories from Palm Beach reveal to the discerning reader that President Kennedy has seized upon a new and relaxed method of communicating his thoughts to the people.

Almost, but not quite, President Kennedy has disintegrated the White House Spokesman, a famous character of the Coolidge administration. Calvin Coolidge wore him down to a frazzle. This spokesman was a figure of convenience to Coolidge and to the newsmen who reported the Coolidge press conferences.

Conference rules were strict. All questions had to be submitted in advance, in writing. Coolidge always stood when he received us, signaling that the conference had begun by parking his cigar in an ash tray.

Cautious Cal then would rattle through the sheet of notes paper in his hand, each bearing a written question. Some would flutter from his hands to the floor without answer. Others would obtain a response. The reporter who dared to ask a question orally was quickly squelched.

The harvest of this carefully screened conference process then was attributed to the White House Spokesman. The reading public caught on to that dodge, however, and all hands soon understood that this phony spokesman was, in fact, the President.

Coolidge stayed with it however, until finally the spokesman became the butt of crude jokes by comedians starting on that latest wonder of the 20th Century, the wireless or radio.

Herbert Hoover kept to the written questions but permitted his own ideas to be attributed to him, although not in direct quotation. Franklin D. Roosevelt abandoned questions in writing and invited reporters to fire at will. Harry S. Truman and Dwight D. Eisenhower did the same although neither was as handy as FDR at sparring with reporters.

The Kennedy administration put the news conferences on live TV. Less so now than at first. Only a president of great courage and of greater self-confidence would dare to do that. A presidential misdeed could be disastrous, literally disastrous. Kennedy has gotten away with it, however, and persons familiar with the hazards were and are impressed.

From Palm Beach last weekend came long stories of what is in the President's mind. These views are attributed to friends, to reliable persons who enjoy his confidence, to informed sources. Kennedy's ideas are not attributed to the White House Spokesman but definitely seem to be in that spokesman's relaxed mood. That spook took a lot of heat off Coolidge.

Strikes . . . Spares

As you probably know, whenever an unusually high game is rolled at Jet Lanes we announce the scores involved over our public address system.

Let me tell you that the wires were hot on Friday evening during the Mr. and Mrs. League. And get this, my fellow male species, it was a woman who dominated the high games and series departments for the evening's entertainment.

Shirley Conkey had one of her biggest thrills in doing the "flinking of the male's ego," as she ripped the pins apart with a 219/557 series. (Ooh, she had to go ahead and do this just when I'm in one of my worst slumped Golly-I-just-can't-stand-a-show-off. Congratulations, Shirley you know I'm only kidding.)

In reviewing some of the other big games bowled in the husband and wife league, Jerry Hook topped the men with high game, a 218 and Harry Meehan led in series with a 668.

Others in the Charmed Circle were Phil Roche 201, Elaine Kostival bowled her first 90 lg game, Meehan 208, Dick Mayer 209, not to overlook Tom Best's 82 set.

Oh by the way! We're not giving out any of those gold pins anymore for the various categories of high games—175 for youngsters; 200 for women and 225 for the men.

Instead of the pins, we have attractive arm patches. And just as soon as these are gone, then we'll probably switch over to some desk-pen sets.

Doris Bell and her new bowling ball (a Santa's Gift to Doris) found things just falling her way on Wednesday AM in the Kingswood Bldg./Sunland lg. as she led her teammates — the Jet Lanes Kids to three wins over the Sunlagers.

Doris was hi for all of the lg with a 200/806 series.

I see where my good buddy Emmet Ferrel of Holler Motors was in again on Friday AM watching the girls bowl in his lg and offered a box of candy to the person who rolled the highest game.

Evidently it was just what Dot Holbrook was waiting for as she shot a 209, her first 200 game since bowling. She a further received the 200 arm patch from Jet Lanes. And then to really cap it off, she gets the "Bowler of the Week" award, worth approximately $25, as a result of rolling six consecutive strikes! Congratulations Dot, it couldn't happen to a nicer gal.

I might also mention that in this same league, teammate Verna Bolton had a 489 series, hi for the league.

Friday must have been a good day, all the way round in all of the lgs. First the Holler Motors/Navy Wives lg; the Mr. & Mrs. lg and now in checking the pinfall in the Spare Ribbers lg, I see where they had some mighty fine shootin' there, too.

Ed Allan, of the Fat team, was the Big Boy as he rolled a 191/512 series. Bowling with the Lean five-some, comical Stony tied Ed with a 191 also.

Not too far behind, F. Dominick of the Never Better's had a 189 as did Ed Conley of the Bar-B-Q's.

The Jet Lanes Keglers Thursday Nite lg found Bill Stein of Team No. 7 hang home a 204 high game and John Bridges (Wheeler Fertilizer) averages out to a 184 for the night. (See that Johnny, all of that practicing finally paid-off, didn't it?)

In this same lg, Johnny Richardson is back on the strike pattern again as he blasted a 208 while bowling for Barley's Sinclair. Hey, look here! Johnny Pierra of the American Legion team came in with a 221. (Geeze, with all those Johnny's mentioned, you'd think there'd be at least one more 200 game for another Johnny I know. Ahem! I further know that if he doesn't get one soon, he's gonna flip his ever-loving lid.)

In the later lg, the Mixed lg, the names of Gerald Bohrens, Margie Woods and Dot Powell dominate the scoring.

Gerald Bohrens of Stine Machinery worked his way back into the strike cycle again with a 221/544 set. Margie Woods (Pryor's State Farm Insurance) had a 188 game which was hi for the gals and Dot Powell's 493 was top in series for the ladies with a 493.

The only other kegler to make the Charmed Circle in this lg was Piery of Appleby's who had games of 200 and 201. (Hey Piery, how'dja like the way I didn't even mention that last score. It looked too much like some of my scores lately.)

Jimmie Livingston bowled her first 200 in lg competition on Wednesday evening in the Sandpurs lg. as she hit the pins to the tune of 202. Ah! My favorite left handed back-up ball artist (as a matter of fact, the only lefty I know who rolls a back-up ball) Maxine Koehler (Welsh Tire Shop) had a 480 scratch series to lead in the lg. A couple of other goodies were rolled this same night—Pat Foster 100, Vicki Carter 108, Sus Jackson 180, J. Adeock 171.

Get this! Curly Meltzer was again one of the high men, in fact the highest single game rolled this past Wednesday in the City lg. as he had a 222. Bowling against the Sanford Mig. Team, was Johnny Wright (Jet Lanes) who took the night's lp with a 584 series. Oh yes, the manufacturing maulers swept four points from the league leaders.

Checking in with "Big Deuces" were Johnny Wright 218 and Bobby Borsdorf 200 (Jet Lanes); Carl Von Herbulis (Buddy's Auto) 202; Frank McMillan (Pinecrest Inn) 200; Ed Michalek (Harry's Liquors) 218; Garry Fox 215, Harry Pentecost two games of 202 each (Lake Monroe Inn).

Curly Barrentine took the week's high single honors with a 234 game while Stanly Terhill took series high with a 212-577. Others in the double feature bracket were Don Doran with a 213/518; Simmons with 208/517; Parsons with 202/508; Dwight Blackwelder 119/540, and Al Morris 210/202—376. There were 13 other bowlers who topped the 500 series mark last week.

The 3-10 split proved easy for eight keglers including Buddy Proctor who also solved the 4-5-7. Bud Gudding picked up the 5-7-10; Elliot, the 4-5; and Floyd Martin, the 6-7. John Richardson and Ed Hoover both topped the 2-7.

CARL C. STODDARD of the Casselberry American Legion Post 256 shows young Bouree, owned by Larry Hughes, who may draw a berth in one of the races Thursday night in the seventh annual Charity Night at the Sanford-Orlando Kennel Club. The Casselberry American Legion is one of the more than two dozen groups which will benefit from the Charity Night races.

Tri-City SOKC Match Coming Up This Week

Oviedo Hosts Montverde

Paul Mikler's Oviedo Lions play hosts tonight at 8 p.m. to Montverde High School as the Oviedo cagers head for their ninth cage battle of the season.

Seminoles Seek Fifth Win Tonight

Locals Play DeLand Five

By Pete Leveque Herald Sports Editor
Coach Bud Lauer sends his Seminole after their fifth cage victory of the season tonight against Murray Arnold's DeLand Bulldogs in an Orange Belt Conference game that after two straight losses sees Sanford the four-point favorite.

Mike Woodruff and Bubba Davis have been reported back in action for the Sanford players but are still weak from a brief bout with the flu. However, Coach Lauer has his starting lineup once again at full strength with only second stringers Ray Middleton and John Boniface out of action for tonight's game.

The main obstacles in the way of a successful scalping party for the Seminole over DeLand tonight are two key players, five-foot-nine Doug Parlin and his older brother Ken. Ken Parlin is the main scoring ace for the Bulldogs with more of a threat this year than last. Last year Ken scored 273 points for DeLand.

Other outstanding players on the DeLand team include two six-foot-four cagers in Mike Roche and Wayne Anderson who provide the height for the Bulldogs.

PROBABLE STARTING LINEUP

Sanford	Position	DeLand
Woodruff	F	Parlin, Ken
Davis	F	Furlong
Gustavson	C	Roche
Riser	G	Parlin, Doug
Brown	G	Anderson

Kwite White Holds Small Lead

Kwite White still holds a small lead in the Jet Lanes Keglers League this week with a 38.5 win and 21.5 loss record with American Legion second in the running with 35 wins and 25 losses. Craig Cars is in third place with 34 wins and 28 losses.

Oviedo Hosts Montverde

With a (2-6) cage record so far this season with eight games played, the Lions are favored to take their ninth battle by a two-point margin.

Golf Championship Tourney Set For Mayfair Wednesday

The first annual Mayfair Country Club Best Ball Match Play Championship tournament will start on Wednesday with a practice round followed by a Pro-Amateur tourney.

Early entries in the Best Ball Match play are: Jack Schubert, a golfer who shot a 66 at Rolling Hills recently, will be teaming up with Gene Kesinger also of Rolling Hills.

Herald Holds To Top Spot In 'T' League

The "T" League got back in the swing after the holidays but the standings remained almost the same. The Sanford Herald still held first place with 40½ games won and 23½ games lost.

Dot Button rolled a high game of 194 with a high series of 493. Wieboldt's Camera Shop is still in second place with 26½ games won and 27½ games lost. Bernice Schaefer had two games of 155 and a 456 series.

Sinko's Tavern remains in third with 34 games won and 10 games lost. Delores Todd rolled a 160 game and 490 series. The Karn's insurance team is in fourth place with 28 games won and 26 losses. Donna Dondanville bowled a 172 game and 446 series.

Nationwide Insurance and Thriftway are tied for fifth place, marking the only change in the schedule. Each have 26½ wins and 37½ losses. Margaret Moore had a 182/428 and Jeanne Hekart rolled a 142 high game.

Wieboldt's had high team game and series of 619/1072. Joanne Bickart and Delores Todd rolled the 2-7 split, with Donna and Kaye Phillips making the 3-9. Jean Ogden converted the 3-9, with Mary Jane Gordon picking up the 4-3, and Dot Button making the 5-8.

Games that hit the 200 or better mark were bowled by John Pierra with 201, John Bridges with 202, John Richardson with 203, and Bill Stein with 204.

Splits that were converted were the 3-10 and 5-6 by Bob Steele and the 3-10 by Bob May.

Gets Okay PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Quarterback Sonny Jurgensen undergoes surgery today with assurances that his ailing passing shoulder can be repaired completely and his professional football career will not be affected.

Harold Ring and Harry Tooke, Jr. will also be a team in the best ball play.

Carl Dann, Jr. of the Dubsdread Country Club in Orlando will team with Mac Earle. F. R. Davis, Sr. and Ray Morris also of Dubsdread are on another team. From Ocala will be Key Scales, Jr. and "Moot" Thomas.

In the Pro-Amateur Tournament preceding the Best Ball Championship Match will be the following professionals headed by Mayfair Pro Rudy Goff: Neil Plopper from Wooster, Mass.; Bill Morgan of Orlando; John Gentilicher, a pro at Johnston, Pa., and brother of the Mayfair's golf pro Rudy Goff.

Other golf professionals entered in the play are: Bill Spaulk and Jimmy Spencer of Sanford; Denny Champagne from the Dubsdread Country Club; Mel Ashton, winning pro at the Rolling Hills Country Golf; Moe Norman, a Canadian pro from Toronto; Jimmy Brass of Orlando; and Red Addison of Rolling Hills.

Also entered is Mayfair golf assistant and pro from the

Lyman Plays Ocoee Tonight

Coach Walt Dzuris' unbeaten Lyman Greyhounds head for their third cage battle of the season tonight as the Longwood team travels to Ocoee to meet Coach Aubrey Morris' Cardinals.

The Cardinals have a (9-1) record so far this season and should give the Lyman cagers one of the roughest games they will have to play all season.

Aside from the fact that this is the third game for the Greyhounds compared to the eleventh for the Cardinals, the Cardinals have a superior advantage over the Hounds in height.

With six-foot-seven Joe Wortham leading the row of seven lettermen for Ocoee, the Cardinals top the tallest cager on the Longwood team, six-foot-one Jim Williams.

Military Cleared In Crash

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A House investigator said today the military apparently had no way to prevent the crash last November of a non-scheduled airliner which took the lives of 74 Army recruits.

Rep. James E. Van Zandt, a member of a special House armed services subcommittee, made the comment as the investigation of the Richmond, Va., crash moved into its second day. Assistant Air Force Secretary Joseph S. Imirie was called as the first witness.

The Pennsylvania Democrat said that from the evidence so far uncovered about last fall's accident "there appears to be nothing to hang the military with."

He said the military, in using the Imperial Airlines plane, was going along with the technical advice of the Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB) and Federal Aviation Agency (FAA), the two government agencies charged with making sure all commercial transports are reliable.

The subcommittee plans later this week to question both Najeeb E. Halaly, head of the FAA, and Alan S. Hoyd, head of the CAB.

Subcommittee chairman Porter Hardy charged Monday that the military traffic management service could "suspend an airline because of failure to serve meals but couldn't do a blessed thing because of a safety failure."

The Virginia Democrat made the charge after Maj. Gen. I. B. Morris, head of the Unified Transportation Service, testified that any question of operating safety was referred to the regulatory agencies.

Earlier, Rep. Francis E. Walter, (D-Pa.) accused the CAB of being more interested in keeping the non-scheduled airlines alive than in the welfare of the public.

He said the Imperial Airlines crash dramatized the "financial unfitness, unsafe operations, and law violations in the supplemental airline field."

Walter gave the subcommittee the names of the four non-scheduled airlines which the Military Air Transport Service has declared unfit to carry military personnel.

They were: Airline Transport Carriers, Inc., Associated Airlines, Inc., President Airways, Inc. He also said that 29 of the 32 non-scheduled airlines were reported to be either bankrupt or in bad financial condition.

Future Farmers Name Officers For New Year

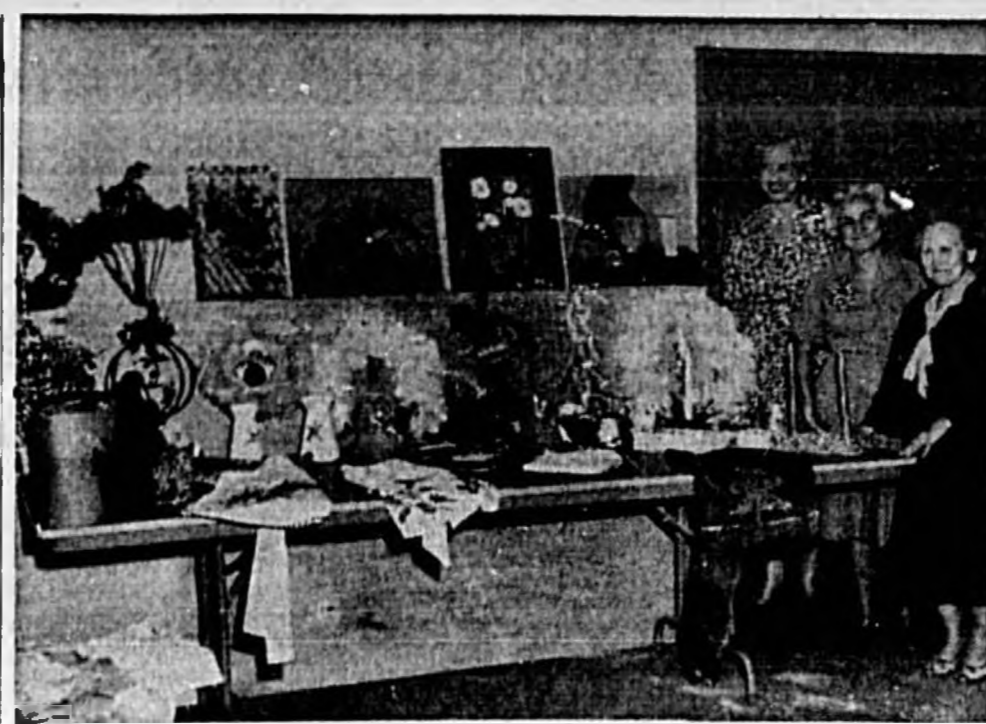

The Future Farmers of America group in Sanford held a meeting this past week for election of officers and to plan events to take place in the coming spring and the agenda for the entire year, reported Secretary J. Allen Sanderford.

Future Farmers officers elected for 1961-62 are: Carlton Frestat, president; Buddy Long, vice president; J. Allen Sanderford, secretary; Hans Hotonda, treasurer; Buddy Sheehan, sentinel; Alfred Jimenez, chaplain; and Billy Hall, reporter.

Various judging teams are being formed which hope to take some of the district honors. Some of the areas which the Future Farmers plan to compete in are horse shows, public speaking, and parliamentary procedure.

Men To Meet

The Men's Club of Sanford's First Christian Church will meet at 8:30 p. m. today in the Educational Building for a Chill Supper followed by a program when Rev. John Pilyer of the Lake Mary Community Presbyterian Church will be the guest speaker.

Unemployment Edges Above Four Million

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The government was expected to report today that unemployment edged above four million in December.

Labor Secretary Arthur J. Goldberg planned to announce last month's job figures at a news conference this afternoon.

Administration officials said they hoped any increase in joblessness would not exceed 100,000—the normal rise for December.

A key economic indicator—the seasonally adjusted rate of unemployment—would fall if the jobless rise was smaller than usual. The rate stood at 6.1 per cent in November after a significant drop of .5

from the October reading.

The shortage of jobs has been a persistent problem during President Kennedy's first year in office. He entered the White House with unemployment estimated at 5,385,000 in mid-January. The next month it hit a postwar peak — 5.7 million — before gradually declining to 3.9 million in October.

But the unemployment rate stuck close to 7 per cent of the labor force and dimmed Kennedy's hopes for a decline to 4 per cent by the end of 1962.

There were 61.4 million Americans at work when Kennedy took the oath of office a year ago. The number climbed to an all-time peak of 63.7 million in mid-November but dipped to 67,319,000 in November.

Virtually no change was expected in the over-all total in December although the number of higher-paid, non-farm workers usually climbs by 400,000 because of pre-Christmas activity.

Bomber Stream Competition Set

The Bomber Stream Competition for this month will be held on Thursday.

Competing this month will be Heavy Attack Squadron One, Three, and Five, and VAH-11. There will be four crews from each squadron and each crew will fly four RDS runs.

The Bomber Stream Bomber Flag will be presented to the squadron finishing with the greatest number of points.

Wait, See Policy Asked On Bonds

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. Leverage Saltonstall, (R-Mass.), said today his stand on support of the United Nations will be shaped by the extent to which other member nations bear their share of its cost in coming months.

Saltonstall, who is seeking the GOP policy chairmanship, withheld a final decision on whether to vote for President Kennedy's request for authority to buy up to $100 million of the $200 million UN bond issue.

The New Englander was not as blunt as (Sen.) George D. Aiken, (R-Vt.), who called the bond issue "purely a holdup intended to make the United States pick up the tab" for other countries.

Saltonstall, who is the ranking Republican on the Senate Armed Services Committee as well as GOP conference chairman, said in an interview he wants to "see the United Nations succeed if it is possible to do so." But he added:

"It can only succeed if all nations do as we do—carry their share of the load. I shall look at it in that spirit. A lot will depend on what happens in the next five months."

Saltonstall conceded what many other members have indicated—that the administration faces a donnybrook debate on the whole issue of future UN support when Congress reconvenes Wednesday. The real floor debate may be withheld until after the President delivers his State of the Union Message Thursday.

Thirty-Six Attend Luncheon Of DeBary Demonstration Club

By Mrs. Adam Muller

Thirty-six DeBary Home Demonstration Club members attended the luncheon following last month's morning workshop meeting in the Community Center where handicraft instruction was led by Mrs. George Wright, president of the club.

Luncheon chairmen were Mrs. Pauline Pettit, chairman of the hostess committee and Mrs. Maude Ritter, Mrs. Cora Gray, Mrs. Ivan Walker and Mrs. Wright.

During the afternoon business meeting which convened at 1:45 p. m. members were advised that reservations for the Jan. 20 County Council Meeting should be made with Mrs. Ritter or Mrs. Wright.

The council will meet at the Daytona Beach Elks Club and cars will leave from DeBary Plaza before 9 a. m. since registration in Daytona will be conducted at 10 a. m.

Following the business session a program of music was presented by the DeBary Choristers under direction of Laura Platt Brown with Theresa Kupeck as accompanist.

Refreshments were served at the close of the program and a social hour was enjoyed by the group.

Holland Mourns Death Of 87

ARMELLEN, Holland (UPI)—Flags flew at half-staff throughout Holland today in tribute to the 87 victims of the country's worst rail disaster in history.

All Holland was in mourning as grief-stricken relatives went about the sad task of identifying the remaining 18 bodies and making arrangements for the burial of 69 other victims.

Officials said 55 other persons were injured Monday when an 11-coach express from Leeward to Rotterdam roared past a red danger sign hidden in the mist and slammed into the side of a 6-coach Rotterdam-to-Amsterdam express at an 80-mile-an-hour clip.

Both engineers were killed and it is possible the exact reasons for the crash never will be known. A government investigation will open Friday.

Officials trying to piece together the cause of the disaster said the express train from Leeward was seven minutes behind schedule when it approached a short span of single tracks over which the Rotterdam-Amsterdam train was to run.

Zuleta, Alegria In Tennis Match

Another top match pitted fourth-seeded Henk Nyeboer of Holland against Jim Poling of Winter Park.

None of the four seeded players saw action as the tournament opened Monday. Skip Wilhelm, former state boys' champion from St. Petersburg, defeated Bob Balin, a Rollins student, in the outstanding match, 6-2, 1-6, 9-7.

THESE THREE NEW MEMBERS comprise a part of the 60 percent increase in membership gained by First Christian Church of Sanford, in the past three months. Shown here are (from left) Clyde Bryan, president; Richard Eby, William T. Cabell, John H. O'Grady, new members, and Chet Macek, membership chairman. Retired or career enlisted men of the regular Navy or Marines with six years of service are eligible to join. There is also a ladies auxiliary for the wives.

'Well, These Here Bees Started To...'

NEW YORK (UPI)—This is a story about the birds and the bees. But it's all right for the kids to read on.

These birds and bees did not get along at all. Not with each other and not even with people, including TV star John Daly.

As a result things were buzzing for a while Monday at the TV studios of Station WPIX where the birds, the bees and the people had assembled for a science education program on "animal communications."

The communications were going along in fine fashion until a black hen named Pandora opened a box of trouble by kicking over a glass-paneled beehive.

Two thousand honey bees zoomed out—live and unharmed—for a TV spectacular of their own.

Pandora clucked with alarm, a pigeon on the show cooed in fright and a bat tried to ignore it all.

The people acted much the same. While technicians fled in alarm, a runner was dispatched to the headquarters office of United Press International three floors away in the Daily News Building here, asking "Does anyone know anything about bees?"

Wayne Russell, a UPI teletype operator and former beekeeper, volunteered his assistance, while Stan Weinberg, a high school teacher who was on camera, gamely stuck to the script in the show-studio-go-on tradition, his eyes rolling about following the flight of nearby bees.

Russell, inspecting the bees were gentle in nature, went to work gathering them up and putting them in a box. He was stung twice. Some studio employees gathered up their courage and used a vacuum cleaner to corral the rest of the bees except for a few stragglers that were bugged.

Daly, who was scheduled to appear on another show at the station, escaped harm along with technicians and cameramen who decided that a hasty retreat was the better part of valor.

Two other casualties besides Russell were reported. Studio announcer Joe Bolton was stung on the left index finger.

And Pandora, the unlucky hen, was hurt in pride for laying an egg on her TV debut.

type operator and former beekeeper, volunteered his assistance, while Stan Weinberg, a high school teacher who was on camera, gamely stuck to the script in the show-studio-go-on tradition, his eyes rolling about following the flight of nearby bees.

LA Golf Meet: Just No Contest

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The crowds came to watch Arnold Palmer, Gary Player and national amateur champion Nicklaus.

But they stayed to cheer brash young Phil Rodgers, a 23-year-old pro who has been on the tour exactly six months.

It was Rodgers who methodically mowed down the big names in the $45,000 Los Angeles Open golf tournament—slaughtered them, in fact, to such an extent it was no contest.

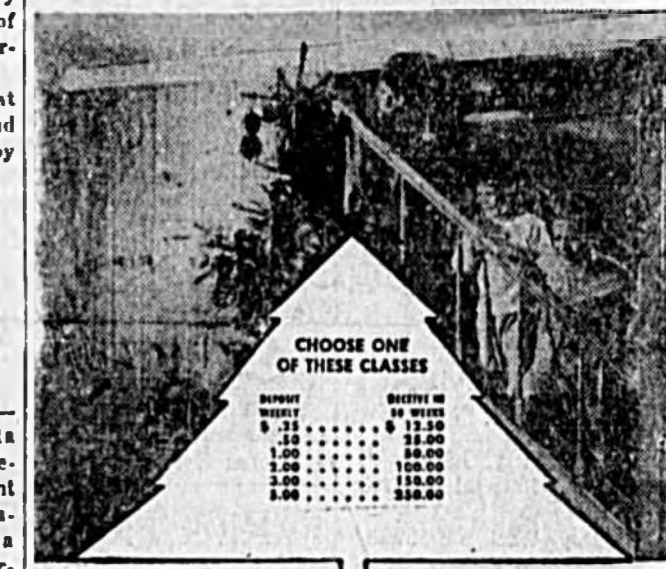

The young Rodgers, just out of the Marines, headed for his home town of San Diego today with the $7,500 first prize check in his pocket—and all the world much brighter. On his way to conquering the field the stocky, 187-pound, 5-8 Rodgers clipped four strokes off the tournament record by posting a 72-hole score of 268.

Light Snow Forecast For Central Florida

By LARRY VERSHEL

Nobody asked me, but isn't it a shame J. C. Hutchison didn't get the full support of the County Commission when he was named chairman? By the way, it was the first time in 15 years a chairman was not elected unanimously.

The Sanford Board meeting scheduled for Thursday was canceled today by Supt. of Schools R. T. Milwee. The meeting will be held next Wednesday morning.

Today Postmaster Guy Allen starts the big sweat. . . . Congress reconvenes.

We saw Trooper Jim Foster on the steps of the courthouse this morning shaking his head in dismay. "What's the matter Jim," says I. "You just can't convict a DWI case in this county," says Jim adding, "the jury just throws them out."

There was plenty of hammering on the roof of the courthouse Tuesday but County Judge Vernon Mize quickly put a stop to it. Workmen were repairing the roof but Mize stopped court proceedings and ordered Chief Deputy Jim Singletary to stop the men "or there will be some arrests." . . . The men stopped.

Work on a new bridge on Dodd Road and Howell Creek will start in about two weeks, County Engineer Carlton Bliss reports.

Bliss will meet with State Road Department engineers today in eliminating traffic jams by the new jai-alai front.

Action on Bliss's rights of way policy was tabled Tuesday by the commission.

The monthly educational forum by the Fleet Reserve Assn. on the study of communism will be conducted by George W. Govan and Jim Talmadge at 7:45 p. m. today at the FRA Home, 219 Seminole Blvd. A film will be shown, followed by a question and answer period.

The Society for Crippled Children and Adults will meet at the Health Center at 8 p. m. today. Mrs. Laymon Goodman, new president has been announced that business will be discussed and the annual Easter Lily Seal Drive plans will be made. The meeting is open to all interested persons.

The County Commission will get its administrative aide this year and money will come from the contingency fund. . . . Starting salary will probably be around $10,000.

Four teams have pulled out of the city recreation basketball league. Rates too high, they say.

Dr. E. W. Stoner of Oviedo made a startling statement before the County Commission Tuesday. Dr. Stoner said that this county is the only one in the state where you can commit murder and it would never come before the grand jury. Although the good doctor didn't elaborate, we take it to mean we need stronger legislation.

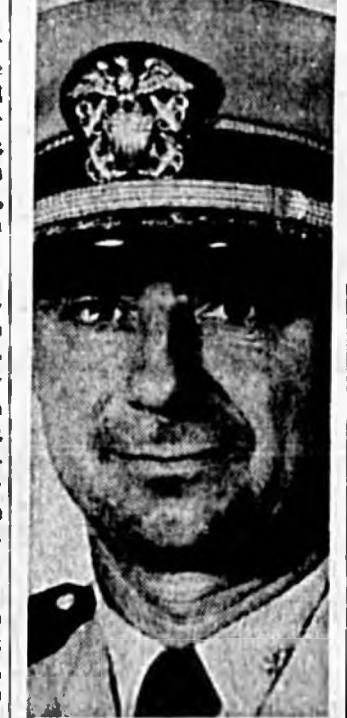

The County Commission received a large crate of apples from M. J. Moss of Orlando Tuesday. The apples will be given to the county home.

Record reveal that 17 children were kept in the new county jail with its separate juvenile facilities during December rather than release them to the custody of their parents.

Excess fees, turned over to the county at the end of the year, amounted to over $12,000 from the office of Tax Collector John Galloway and $16,836 from the offices of the clerk of the Circuit Court.

Search Atlantic For Body Of Sanford Flier

Planes from Heavy Attack Squadron Seven searched the North Atlantic today in hopes of finding the wreckage of an A-1J Vigilante missing since Tuesday night with Squadron Skipper Cdr. Bud B. Gear aboard, the Navy reported today. It was the first A-1J crash since the plane was made operational last year. The Vigilante crashed aboard the Carrier Franklin D. Roosevelt with Gear still listed as "missing." Navy officials said that Gear was practicing night carrier landings in the sleek North American bomber when the accident occurred shortly after sunset. There was no one else aboard the plane. The landing gear of his plane was torn off after striking the carrier's ramp while attempting to land. The bomber continued down the angled deck and plunged into the sea, the Navy said. An immediate search, hampered by darkness failed to locate any of the wreckage or debris but was being continued today in hopes of discovering some clue to the tragedy. Commander Gear, listed as missing, was survived by his wife, Sally, six children: Susan, 15; Karen, 13; Bud, 6, and twins Sally and Joshua residing at 317 Fairway Rd. in Loch Arbor.

Red Wall Called Stalinist Device

BERLIN (UPI) — British Foreign Secretary Lord Home said today the Communist wall dividing East from West Berlin is an affront to civilization and a repulsive survival of Stalinism. Home, in a speech at Berlin City Hall after a tour of the wall with Mayor Willy Brandt, raised West Berliners' anger at plotting the assassination of his successor, Gen. Park Chung Hee. He asked them to have "faith and patience." "I cannot tell you when," Home said, "but one day these Stalinist survivals will go the same way as other medieval practices."

Search Atlantic For AF Tanker

NEW YORK (UPI)—An air-sea search spanned the Atlantic today from the Virginia coast to the Azores for an Air Force K130 tanker missing since Monday with nine men aboard. Sixteen planes and five ships continued the search through the night, hoping to spot a flare from any survivors.

He Went Fishing Last April

'Dead' Floridian In Hospital

NEW YORK (UPI) — A Florida shrimp fisherman presumed drowned since last April rested in a Brooklyn hospital today but did not explain why he let his wife and four children believe he was dead. The Missing Persons Bureau identified the fisherman as John Petrakis, 56, of Fort Myers, last seen April 10 when he slipped off his boat into the waters of the Gulf. Petrakis' wife, Joan, and the couple's four daughters, thought Petrakis had drowned. What they didn't know was he had been picked up by a passing pleasure boat and taken ashore shortly after his dunking. Once on land Petrakis headed North instead of returning home. He remained "dead" as far as his family was concerned until Dec. 24 when he entered Long Island College Hospital for treatment of an ulcer. Hospital authorities had no reason to believe Petrakis was a missing person, but contacted the Missing Persons Bureau as a routine measure when the fisherman listed an out-of-state address (961 San Carlos Dr., Fort Myers). The Bureau learned of Petrakis' unexplained disappearance after contacting Florida authorities. Mrs. Petrakis now is living in St. Augustine with her parents while her husband remains at the hospital here in "satisfactory" condition from his ulcer.

Paving To Shut Off First St. Stretch

Parking on First St. from Sanford to Park Ave. will be halted for a four hour period Thursday morning as the city starts its massive resurfacing project. City Manager W. E. Knowles reported that starting at 7 a.m. the area will be roped off and no parking will be allowed while the street is being resurfaced. Knowles hopes the project will be completed by noon. Four new street resurfacing projects were added to the city's program by Knowles. "We added the new jobs because of the exceptionally fine bid we received," Knowles said. The four new projects are Court St. from Washington to Adams; Palm Way from Court to Crescent; Rose Way from Court to Crescent and Adams Ave. from 20th to Crescent. The original projects, expected to cost in the neighborhood of $23,000, are 24th St. from French Ave. to Park; Myrtle from 24th to 25th st.

Congress Opens 87th Session

WASHINGTON (UPI) The 87th Congress reconvened on snow-covered Capitol Hill today to confront President Kennedy with his sternest legislative task yet—getting his program enacted in a politically charged election year. On the harmonious note of renewed friendship, the gavels fell at noon in the Senate and House to open the new session. But hot political warfare was ahead. With a new and untested Democratic leadership in the House, Kennedy has given top priority to proposals more controversial than any which squeaked to passage in last year's "honeymoon" session. For the moment, however, legislative issues were put aside. Senators and representatives mingled on the floor to exchange pleasantries and to discuss the overnight snow storm which left the city white and icy in 17-degree cold. There were four new faces, and one conspicuous and sad omission in the House. Missing from the speaker's chair was Sam Rayburn, whose death from cancer came after Congress recessed last year. It was first time in two decades that Mr. Sam hadn't gavelled a Democratic controlled House to order. A Senate newcomer was Sen. Maurice J. Murphy, (R-N.H.), who was appointed to succeed the late GOP policy leader, Sen. Styles Bridges. On the House side were three new Democrats, Henry B. Gonzalez of Texas, Lucien N. Nix of Michigan, and Joe D. Waggoner of Louisiana. Before the session began, the Republicans completed one item of business by electing Sen. Bourke H. Hickenlooper, (R-Iowa), as chairman of the Senate GOP policy committee. He succeeds Bridges. Senate Democrats also met beforehand to hear Sen. Mike Mansfield tell them that Ken-

UN Accused Of 'Colonialism'

ELIZABETHVILLE, Katanga (UPI) — The Katanga government charged Tuesday night that the United Nations was trying to impose a new form of African "colonialism" on the Congo. Foreign Minister Evarista Kimba said that during a recent visit to France and Belgium he had learned of a plan to put the Congo under trusteeship of its African neighbors for 25 years. He said that under the plan these nations would run the Congo until 1987, supplying both civil servants and budgetary funds. "This plan would never be acceptable to Katanga," Kimba said. "It is a pretext to reimpose the most odious form of colonialism and international tutelage and would never solve the Congo problem."

Pensacola Hit By Sleet, Low Of 19 Degrees

The Weather Bureau predicted light snow for Central Florida tonight as snow and sleet pelted Pensacola early today and the temperatures plunged to 19 degrees as a mass of arctic air bore down on Florida.

The Bureau issued a mid-morning forecast for low temperatures tonight of 15 to 20 from the Suwannee and north portion of the Gainesville districts.

Below freezing temperatures tonight ETANA temperatures were forecast for most of Central Florida tonight and the future outlook was for hard freeze in Northern Florida and freezing temperatures again Friday morning, possibly as far south as the Everglades.

Citrus growers were warned of possible snow in some sections of the citrus belt tonight. The Weather Bureau forecast freezing temperatures, occasional rain and some snow in the Northern sections of the belt, extending down into portions of Central Florida.

Light snow flurries were reported at Pensacola and Milton, with heavy sleet at Cantonment north of Pensacola, and freezing rain and sleet elsewhere in the Florida Panhandle.

The 19 degree reading was the lowest temperature recorded in Pensacola since February, 1951, when the all-time record of 13 degrees was registered.

The leading edge of the cold air mass moved into the Northwestern section of the state Tuesday night and the temperature dropped steadily to the low of 19. At 1 p. m. the temperature at Pensacola was 23.

All bridges in the Pensacola area reported closed over, but the roads were generally clear. A hazardous driving warning was broadcast for all of Northwestern Florida. Accompanying the freezing temperatures and snow in Pensacola Tuesday night were winds with gusts up to 45 miles per hour.

The Weather Bureau said the cold air mass will continue its southward movement throughout today and will reach Southern Florida tonight and early Thursday morning.

Skies were cloudy over most of the state this morning and heavy shower activity was reported in the Gulf with a few waterpots observed at Key West.

Escambia County Sheriff William Davis urged Pensacola residents to stay off the highway if possible and to use extreme caution if forced to drive.

Small agricultural damage was expected in the Panhandle area, since most crops have been harvested.

Hodges To Head Boat Safety Unit

TALLAHASSEE (UPI) — Conservation Director Randolph Hodges will serve as chairman of a newly formed council to conduct a statewide boating safety campaign. The group was formed to educate the boating public about Florida boating laws and seek compliance without resorting to arrests and legal penalties.

Just A Phlegmatic Selection

'Spitting Machine' Wins Academy Award

NEW YORK (UPI)—The famed New York Academy of Sciences investigated today how it happened to award an honorary fellowship to a Swiss ex-convict whose major "contribution" to medicine seems to be the invention of a "spitting machine." A spokesman for the academy said officials were baffled on how it singled out Frederic Wichteremann, an accused quack who was notified of his honor by the U.S. ambassador at Bern, Robert McKinney. "We don't know yet whether it was a clerical error or just what happened," the spokesman said. "But we are investigating."

"We just don't know who nominated Wichteremann and we won't know until we get the committee together again," he said. "It is even possible that he used someone else's name to nominate himself." After the embassy relayed the award, Swiss newspapers reported that Wichteremann was sentenced to a year in jail in 1954 for fraud by a court that described him as a psychopath. The Swiss federal health office and court records said that Wichteremann had been practicing as a quack in the town of Herisau since his release from jail in 1959. The office said Wichter-mann's current institute was built around a "spitting" machine he calls the "Detector D'B." Wichteremann orders patients to spit at the machine, officials said, claiming it can diagnose diseases from the saliva. Officials said the machine almost always prescribes the most expensive medicine available.
