WHERE 3 SOUTH CAROLINIANS DIED IN BLAST

This scene of ruin was left in Newberry, S. C., by an explosion and fire that killed three men and wrecked three buildings. The blast was believed to have been caused by the ignition of dynamite in the basement of a hardware store. In the ruins firemen found the bodies of Jesse H. Mayes, a store clerk; John T. Walls, Jr., state highway department employe of Greenwood, S. C., and Joe Brown, a negro porter. (Associated Press Photo)

Roosevelt stopped off at Knoxville, Tenn., and visited the Norris Dam, which is part of the Tennessee Valley Authority program which he sponsored. The dam, together with Muscle Shoals and other projects in the Tennessee Valley are the President's idea for making life easier and happier for residents of that area. He is shown above looking at the development from the top of the dam. (Associated Press Photo)

N. Y., MIAMI, And BACK IN 17 HOURS

Despite his failure to complete a round-trip New York-to-Miami flight "between dawn and dusk," Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker, war ace, was cheerful and said he would try the trip again. He made it in 17 hours, 18 minutes, and 30 seconds, but was late for dinner in New York. Above at left Rickenbacker, co-pilots and some of the passengers on the flight are shown. ## Dairymen Can Have Cows Tested Free For Serious Disease

Seminole County dairymen who wish to have their herds tested for Bang's disease should make their wishes known to County Agent C. E. Dawson. The test will be made free of charge and dairy animals found to have the disease will be condemned, slaughtered, and paid for by the government. At the same time a test will be made for Mastitis, an infectious udder disease, and payments will be made on the same basis as for Bang's disease. Both these diseases are incurable and the dairyman is fortunate in being able to be rid of such animals. Information gathered over a long period of years from three to 400,000 cows shows that animals affected with Bang's disease have brought a 23 1-3 to 25% lower production per cow as a result of this disease. Therefore, he said, it is advisable to eliminate these cows at this time when grain prices are exceptionally high, with a good possibility of going much higher, while the dairymen get the bonus of free testing, plus the cash indemnity payments. The present prices of cows are undoubtedly lower than they would be six months or a year from now, he said. "For this reason," he said, "I think our dairymen can well afford to have the test made in this way and take advantage of the indemnity offered by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration, plus the free service for making the test. The length of time that the indemnity payments will be available for Seminole County dairymen is very uncertain."

Forest fires often are an aftermath of serious insect outbreaks which kill the timber, leaving a debris of leaves, dry branches and under for stray sparks.

Baptists Stage Unique Service Honoring Pioneers

(Continued From Page One) Stewart spoke on church work during the 28 years they have been members, while Mr. Jenkins discussed the highlights of the 26 years he has known membership. It was pointed out that the church was organized with only 18 members and that the membership now exceeds 750 persons; that the indebtedness against the church building has been reduced from $3450 early this year to about $1400, and that in 1929 this debt was around $7500. The service also marked the fifth anniversary of Rev. Brooks' pastorate, he having succeeded Dr. F. D. King five years ago last Sunday. Almost all of the persons who had held membership in the church for 25 years or more were present.

BIBLE VERSE FOR TODAY: I SHALL NOT WANT:—The Lord is my shepherd; I shall not want.

The truth hurts. Maybe that is one reason why there are rain-bows for the people to chase.

We may not have two cars in every garage yet, but we have at least two in every parking place.

With a little imagination, the seventeen accused in the Inghil prosecution could have organized a dummy holding defendant, to stand trial for the lot.—Detroit News.

In these days an optimist is a person who has no money but thinks he is about to get some, and a pessimist is a person who already has it but is afraid he is going to lose it.

Some day a movement will be started in Germany to take the "Hit" out of Hitler, and he can go back to his parer-hanging Cincinnati Enquirer.

The recovery program, apparently, has about reached the point where the Administration is finding it difficult to decide whether it is cotton or the AAA which should be plowed under.

One of the government's alphabetical agencies is known as SAPFT, and stands for Special Advisor to the President on Foreign Trade.—Brisbane wonders why the "FT" is necessary.

In New York they have a new political organization called "Utopia, Inc." But they'll find that these big corporations don't sit so well with the people. They better deoporate.

One of the best Public Works projects which has yet been suggested to the PWA is the proposal for the limitation of railroad grade-crossings. Thousands of accidents in which innumerable persons have been killed or injured have occurred at these railway-highway intersections, and could have been avoided entirely by the simple construction of bridges or underpasses. The death toll from such accidents will be reduced to nil if the government goes ahead with its plans.

France is worried over military preparations by Germany. Limited by the Versailles Treaty to a standing army of 100,000, Germany has, according to information given the French parliament, a standing army of 300,000, which will be increased to 400,000 by next year. There are also military police, auxiliary troops and reservists by means of which Hitler could throw an armed force of over five million men into the field on a moment's notice. The situation is more serious, says Marshall d'Eperey, than early in 1914.

What Donald Richberg had to say in Atlanta with regard to inflation will not sit well with many people who believe that greenbacks are plenty good enough as money for the people of the United States. There is no patent medicine which will cure our economic ills. Mr. Richberg said in a direct affront against those who believe in all kinds of white rabbits, "But of all the quick remedies," he added, rubbing it in, "the worst that is offered to this Nation in the cold gray days of recovery is the interesting fallacy of not doing anything at all."

But Alice Still Lives

Eighty-two years ago a baby girl named Alice Liddell was born in Oxford, England, the daughter of the dean of Christ Church College and his wife. A few days ago this same Alice, rich in all the best things which this world has to offer, died at her home in Westurham, Kent, after a brief illness. Had it not been, that she was the Alice in "Alice in Wonderland," her passing would have possessed no unusual significance.

But as a little girl of ten years, Alice used to call on one of the Oxford dons, a certain Dr. Charles Lutwidge Dodgson, a student of Euclid and Archimedes, a professor of algebra and trigonometry. In the quiet of his book-lined study, or rowing on the Thames, the strange world of the March Hare, the Mad Hatter, and the Walrus, the Carpenter, the White Rabbit, and Humpty Dumpty, the Red Queen, the Duchess, and the Dormouse, Tweedledum, Tweedledee and the Jabberwock was created.

Thus grew the tale of Wonderland. Thus slowly, one by one, its quaint events were hammered out—And now the tale is done, And home we steer, a merry crew, Beneath the setting sun, Alice! a childish story take, And with a gentle hand Lay it where childhoods dreams are twined In memory's mystic band, Like pilgrim's wither'd wreath of flowers Pluck'd in far-off Land.

Dr. Dodgson is better known today as Lewis Carroll. When he was finally induced to put the stories he told his little friend into writing, he was so sure they were not quite becoming to so dignified and learned a college professor that he chose a pen name. But on the library shelves of the world today, "The Fifth Book of Euclid Treated Algebraically" by Dr. Charles Lutwidge Dodgson has long since been forgotten, while Lewis Carroll's "Alice in Wonderland" is a never ending delight for little children.

And so it is with Alice Pleasance Hargreaves who died the other day. Those who knew her, will pass away. Time, as it must with most people, will erase all memory of her. But the little Alice who walked through the looking glass, so eager to see what was on the other side that nothing could stop her, will live forever, and a thousand years from now her adventures in Wonderland will be a constant source of pleasure for the very young.

You gave the world the gift of gentle laughter, Of magic touched with a prismatic gleam; You taught us that life holds frail romance after First youth is past and hearts scarce dare to dream.

Your people saunter by, a long procession As mad as April and as sweet as May. . . . They are so real (and this is a confession!) That I can see them, though my hair is gray!

There's Alice and the Rabbit, walking primly, The sobbing turtle, and the child that sneezed; The croquet-playing Queens who shouted grimly, The drowsy Dormouse, and the Hare that teased. Your dear illusions never, quite, can pass, Though you have wandered through the Looking Glass!

Domestic Accidents

Declaring that accidents don't happen; they are committed, Paul W. Kearney, writing in the Readers Digest, says that about seven times as many accidents occur in the home as on buses, taxicabs, and trains. He further points out that in one industrial field, 15,000 persons were accidentally killed in 1932 while among the same group there were 28,000 who were accidentally killed at home.

The answer to this appalling slaughter is of course to be found in the admonition, Be Careful. Falls cause 44 percent of the domestic accidents. Tripping over rugs, chairs and playthings left out of their proper place, slippery bathtubs, and poor lighting are responsible for most falls. For other types of accidents, Mr. Kearney has the following recommendations:

Always strike matches away from you, not toward you. Always wield a knife away from you. Keep all scissors in sheaths when not in use. Keep kitchen knives in a rack, not in a jumble in the table drawer.

Always put broken glass in a box—don't throw it in a trash basket loose. Is there a gun in the house? Remember that it is always loaded until proved innocent! Put small bells on all poison bottles—or shove three or four pins into the cork (heads up) to warn the grocer in the dark.

Mop up spilled grease now—not "in a minute." Keep all pot handles turned away from the front and edge of the stove. Never burn a gas or oil stove in a closed room. Always have at least one door open to guard against carbon monoxide poisoning.

Don't put pins in your mouth. Don't handle electrical fixtures with wet hands. Don't leave a chair in the normal path of travel through a room. Somebody may kill himself on it in the dark.

Open all doors of the oven (to ventilate it) before lighting it. Don't use gasoline in the home for cleaning—it is never safe.

Throw out electric cords when they become frayed—don't try to patch them.

RANDOM POLITICS BY BYRON PRICE

(Chief of Bureau, The Associated Press, Washington)

Borah of Idaho must be put down in history as one of the great paradoxes of American politics.

He has an almost incredible facility of making himself heard in situations where his voice, by every orthodox calculation, would be least expected to be audible.

For 30 years the Democratic party listened when Borah spoke, even at those periods when his personal fortunes were lowest, when the rank and file completely disagreed with him and refused to follow him.

Now again Borah has the Republican party listening. His refusal to abide by party discipline, strict party caucus or campaign under party auspices.

Yet whose views on party reorganization and party leadership are attracting most attention and provoking most comment in the wake of the election of Hoover.

This does not prove that his advice is likely to be followed by the party. It seldom has been, in all the years of his great prominence.

His fame as a legislator rests most solidly on his power of resistance.

It is hard to recall a single major piece of legislation which bears his name. But the congressional record is strewn with references to "Borah amendments," some of which are referred to as "Borah amendments."

His most sustained feat of resistance was performed when the League of Nations treaty was before the Senate. Time and again, when the contending factions appeared near a compromise which would have ratified the treaty, Borah rose to intervene in the debate some coy word, some adroit question, which started the quarrel all over again.

The man's power to stir up discussion, to set people to thinking and debating, has appeared sometimes almost beyond human belief.

Now he has done it again. Just when so many politicians were sighing in relief, believing the election had settled everything, a voice scarcely heard at all during the campaign has reopened the whole case.

Borah is credited by some who know him with a still-lingering aspiration to sit in the White House. Some speak of him as a possible rallying point for the scattered republican legions.

Such a suggestion manifests it is out of harmony with the whole background of the man. To sit in the driver's seat would be a new experience for him. Some question whether he would like it.

Naturally, he has many many enemies in the course of his campaigning. To unite the party behind him he would have to overcome the resentment of those right-wingers whom he has harried so long, and likewise the resentment of those left-wingers whom he refused to join in their great Theodore Roosevelt bolt in 1912. Overcoming resentments never has been his forte.

But whatever happens later, Borah is, for the moment, the star of the Republican show. That is because he is Borah.

Liquor Advertising Regulation Plotted

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—Proposed regulations for liquor advertising will be considered at a hearing here Nov. 22, Joseph H. Choate, director of the Federal Alcohol Control Administration announced today.

The only mandatory requirement in the proposed regulations, which apply to all forms of liquor advertising including newspaper and radio, is that the advertiser's name and address appear. However, if prices are mentioned, contents offered for sale and all statements on age must be according to labeling regulations.

After the hearing the FACA will revise the proposed regulations and then promulgate them at an early date.

When Jared Hopkins wanted a new clerk Down at the village store, he'd set a plate Of firm red winecups on his wall- not desk, (A genial spider with a tempting fly) And offer one to all who would apply, Then watch their attitude toward the round bait.

"Somehow I figure," Jared used to say, "They can't be sneaks, nor bullies, nor unclean Who reach out for an apple, grip their kien White teeth into its hearty red." "The man who has no music," "I wouldn't trust a man," old Jared said, "Across my room who would pass by Nature's best gift, with an unfriendly eye."

Apples may recommend a war for clerkship, Tie a deep fraternal bond. Throw yourself down on an old orchard floor, Look up at ribbons of young sky Tugging shaking veil of rose. A bumble bee drums by To stumble through a flower's loop.

C'ight in a cloud of odor and of taste, Who lies with apple orchards in their flower Will rise reborn from the deep scented hour.

Wander among orchards in their prime; Red pendants clasped against each bough, The ground below, a wreath With winy fall dappled upon the grass, And plunge your teeth Past the crisp casings, to the white gold beneath; This the blood bond of a great brotherhood, Brother to orchards now. . . . Kinship forever with the fruit and bough.

Apples, fruit that we share With our first ancestor, beware "The man who has no music" . . . thrice beware Who has no innocent delight to taste A summer's bounty in a single sphere! —Faith Viles.

FARMS CENSUS SEEKS DATA ON DROUGHT DAMAGE

Changes Produced By Depression Also Will Be Gathered

By CARL C. CRANMER WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—Changes produced by the drought and the depression, as well as by many trends in the habits and customs of living, are expected to be revealed by the mid-decennial agricultural census that begins on Jan. 1.

Because of these changes the census is regarded by many government departments and recovery agencies as the most important farm census since 1940.

The data collected are expected to be of great value in charting the future course of acreage adjustment, subsistence homesteads, submarginal land buying and utilization, rural rehabilitation, farm credit, farm housing, soil erosion and reforestation. The census also may have a bearing upon such problems as unemployment and industrial decentralization.

Officials no longer have accurate information, only estimates, as to the actual farm population because of the shift in recent years of city workers to rural areas and because of the tendency of young people to stay on the farm.

The movement of cattle from drought areas to the slaughterhouse and to other sections of the country will be revealed. The true picture of drought damage is expected to be disclosed in figures showing the acreage of land idle in 1934 as a result of crop failure or destruction.

Changes brought about by the campaign for reduction of such basic crops as cotton, tobacco, wheat, corn and hogs will be recorded.

A clue will be given to the changing problem of the share cropper in the South as a result of these campaigns.

Increased production of fruits and vegetables may reveal a dietary change from wheat and meat in the habits of Americans. Despite the variety of information desired, however, Uncle Sam plans to ask fewer questions and get the information quicker. Only 100 questions will be asked by enumerators, compared with 233 in the farm census of 1930. The shorter census is expected to be completed in 30 days, and the shorter schedule may make possible compilations for use this following crop year.

Among the new questions asked will be the extent to which farmers rely upon employment outside the farm, amount of hired help, production and number of orange and grapefruit trees, and number of sows expected to farrow before June 1.

Other information sought will include acreage of farm land owned and rented, crop land harvested; crop failure by acre, idle land, plowable ground; land, woodland, irrigated land; farm value and amount of mortgage debt; number of farm houses, number of persons on the farm and number not on a farm five years ago; acreage and production of corn, sorghums, peanuts, soybeans, cowpeas, field beans, legumes, hay, small grains; cotton, sugar cane and sugar beets, sweet potatoes and yams, tobacco, potatoes, vegetables, fruits and nuts; number of horses, mules, hogs, milk, cows and calves; sheep, goats, chickens and turkeys; milk produced, butter churned, and eggs produced.

Powell, Loy Together Again In Milane Film

Out of the ten-year hiatus of the courtroom, the Metro-Goldwyn Mayer studios have brought the powerful story of "Evelyn Prentiss" to starring William Powell and Myrna Loy which opens Thursday at the Milane Theatre.

The picture marks the third partnership of Powell and Loy and is the industry's response to the public's demand for a re-reenactment of the popular pair's made screen history in "Machete" and "The Thin Man."

Una Merkel appears as Miss Loy's wise-cracking and faithful

Choosing Maids

One of the surprising things in watching the raising of children is to see the kind of maid to whom the most careful mother will sometimes entrust her child.

Seemingly well-tended and guarded babies will be left in the hands of a maid who is ignorant and probably takes it for granted that the parents are later parties to it, where the children get their ideas, or why they are so hard to manage.

Many mothers turn their children over to the care of maids for hours every day, trusting the child's most impressionable years. If they were sure of their maids it might do no harm, and much might benefit the child, for the mere fact of having a baby makes any mother a mother in the strict sense of the word.

But had the time the woman has an unknown quantity, and may seem, if she has been well trained, everything that is desirable, when underneath the veneer of her manners she may be crumpled and dirty even corrupt.

Even if the child is able to speak he will probably not tell. He knows no better in any case, and probably takes it for granted that "life is like that." It may even be threatened or bribed into holding his tongue.

To say that he is too young to be affected is a mistaken theory. The impression made on him during these early years will influence him through life, and he will never be freed of it.

The choice of any woman as a home where there are children is very important, and should not be lightly made, especially if the children are to live in the home.

Even if they are not directly influenced by the child's care, they are bound to come in contact with it and so to influence it.

America Succeeds In Preventing Cure For Depression

The indignation and fever of coming so fast that they have worked their cure through limitation before we could get set to "fight" them. After a short period of collapse, we have been in the way out. Recovery inevitably follows cure.

This time, we would not take our medicine. We can't "take it." Instead, we have developed an unparalleled technique of "borrowing ourselves out of debt." Thus we have kept the patient alive without curing him.

We keep the fever down by using the EFC ice pack. We stimulate him by hypodermics of government credit, for which we have dozens of "medicines." We give him nutritional nourishment through "bank work" schemes, P.W.A., etc.

The result is that he is going to be a permanent invalid, if we don't watch out. Everybody will be living off the government, and "business" will become politics. By the same token, politicians will become business leaders. Government taxes and spending will replace business buying and selling.

The folly of business leaders and sound money advocates has been they have not had the courage to stand for their principles. From the beginning and to face a showdown today they are still following the Fed Paper, and are talking "confidence" and credit, and proposing to inflate money by "making work."

"Borrow" is mixed up with business, and business is mixed up with recovery, in a grand show of "co-operation."

In all this, they are surely killing business by turning it into politics, and making it a means of inflation and relief.

The EFC is a one result and there is a real danger that EFC will become the national EFC. If we adopt the old slogan of "let the credit work," and turn the nation's business into a national monopoly for the sake of "making work," we are in the good old sense.

Instead, the government will become the great work provider in the EFC.

The program is not too far for those who believe an internal and initiative, a definite monetary standard, and an economic emergency which counts the cost of production, it is too late for them to make a stand.

Would they rather go on logging their expenses in and controls over inflated values and overvalued properties?

Provisional business, I think, is necessary. It does not mean that we take inflation; the government must take business.

Railroads Ask Another Cut In Rates On Citrus

ulting cause low prices all over the country. And with a large percentage of Florida fruit going to market by water, glut at marketing ports have been one of the difficulties of the season. Now, with prospects of a considerable percentage of fruit being diverted from ships back to the railroads, the ports will be relieved, the railroads will take the fruit to inland markets, and all will benefit.

The territory covered by the proposed cut includes all the New England states, and other Eastern states as far West as Pittsburgh and Buffalo, and as far South as the Potomac River.

This reduction will give competitive rail and water rates almost all the way between Florida and Atlantic seaboard markets. In southern territory a zone system has been in effect for the last three years, designed chiefly to compete with truck transportation.

Between the Florida long belt and Atlanta the railroads allow a reduction of 35 percent below standard rates, from Atlanta to Nashville the reduction is 25 percent, and between Nashville and Richmond a cut of 15 percent is allowed.

The new rates in some instances will be even lower than water charges, Aulls said, and in virtual all cases as low. They were plainly put in effect to meet the challenge of the steamships, which have been taking more and more of Florida's crop.

From Tampa to New York the present rate is 85 1/2 cents a box, the proposed rate is 55 cent. From Orlando to New York the present rate is 84 cent, the new 66 cents; from Fort Myers to friend, Amy Drexel, and others in the supporting cast are Harry Webber, I. Abel Jewell, Harvey Stephens, Rosamund Russell, Edward Brophy, Cora Mae Collins, and Jessie Ralph.

New York the old rate is 90 cents, the new 80 cents. Comparative reduction will be made to other cities in the seaboard territory.

A few years ago almost all Florida fruit went to market by rail. Truck and steamships began to cut into this business. Last year 43 percent of the crop went by rail, 13 percent by boat, and trucks took 11 percent.

This season so far boats have taken about 50 percent of the fruit shipped while the railroads got about 35 percent and the trucks 15 percent.

30 CENT HOUR MINIMUM WAGE ON RELIEF OUT

Hopkins Says Future Pay Will Be Rate Prevailing In Town Where Job Is Done

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—(A.P.)—The Relief Administration today abandoned its 30 cents an hour minimum wage for work relief.

Hereafter, it was said, the factor in governing work relief wages will be the rates prevailing in communities where the work is done.

The order rescinding all rules and regulations governing work relief wages has been sent to state administrators by Harry L. Hopkins, federal administrator.

Responsibility for determining wages in the future, it said, has been placed with local committees representing labor, business, and the local relief administration.

Celery Control Board Members Seek Better Pack

Sanford and Oviedo representatives on the Florida Celery Control Board will recommend that immediate steps be taken to bring about a more uniform and normal packing of celery during the heavy season, and that the unusually heavy "bulge" package be outlawed.

Meeting yesterday afternoon under the chairmanship of R. B. Chapman, seven of the eight Seminole County members of the state control board passed a resolution which embodied these recommendations.

They also named B. E. Squires as secretary of the county control committees and voted to establish a permanent office at Room 224 in the Meisch Building, beginning Dec. 1.

Attending the meeting were: Mr. Chapman, John Meisch, Sr., F. F. Dorner, J. C. Hutchison, Ted Wathen, Perry N. Whitehurst, and B. F. Wheeler of Oviedo. C. S. Lee of Oviedo was the only absent member of the local committee.

U.S. Steel Labor Body May Battle In Court

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—(AP)—A court battle between the giant United States Steel Corporation and the Steel Labor Board appeared a distinct possibility today as the result of the latest development in the corporation's labor board relations.

Negotiations between the corporation and the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel, and Tin Workers on an agreement as to their future relations have collapsed.

As a result, the steel board likely will make a decision soon as to Amalgamated's position for an election at the Carnegie Steel Company's Duquesne, Pa., plant. Carnegie Steel is a United States Steel subsidiary.

In the event the board orders the election, it will need company payroll to make up voting eligibility lists. There have been hints from steel sources that the company might not surrender these payrolls.

Mendenhall Bail Case Is Argued

TALLAHASSEE, Nov. 22.—(AP)—The Florida supreme court will determine whether J. J. Mendenhall, charged with murdering two women in Jacksonville, is entitled to his release on less than $50,000 bond in each case. The court has set next Monday for a hearing on an application for a reduction in bond. Counsel for Mendenhall appeared on writ of error proceedings when the Duval county circuit court denied application to reduce bond, pending trial. Mendenhall is under indictments charging the first degree murder of Mrs. Laura Madeline Green, 84, and her daughter Mrs. Mary Rae Anderson, 60. He has denied the charges.

MAGUIRE TIES HIMSELF UP IN FASCIST PLOT

Board Probes Rumor Of CCC Camp As Operations Base

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—(AP)—Behind closed doors, the House committee on an American activities questioned at length yesterday Gerald C. Maguire, Wall Street bond salesman, regarding the report he was seeking to establish a fascist corps in the United States to impose a dictatorship.

Amidst reverberations of the charges laid before the committee Tuesday by Major General Smedley D. Butler, the retired marine, Maguire was asked to head the fascist headquarters.

At this camp, the committee heard, 500,000 men were to be concentrated for a march to Washington.

The committee recently investigated this camp. Its commander, Captain Samuel Glazier, was summoned Tuesday to testify again.

At Baltimore, Glazier said his testimony did not concern the Butler charges.

"I know nothing," he said, "about this reputed dictatorship scheme."

Britain Proposes Self-Rule For India

LONDON, Nov. 22.—(AP)—The National Government moved yesterday to cut ancient India, hot-bed of discontent, partly free from Britannia's apron strings.

A modified form of self-rule for the homeland of the Mahatma Gandhi was proposed to the New Parliament in recommendations submitted by its joint select committee, whose 20 months of intensive investigation culminated seven years' study of the best way to reform India's government.

Supreme Court Rules $25,000 Verdict Against Coast Line Was 'Excessive'

The Florida Supreme Court has ruled that a Seminole County jury rendered a verdict and judgment that was "excessive" when in 1933 it decided that the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad should pay $25,000 to Sam Kinlaw, one of its employees at that time, because he had lost his foot in an accident while performing his duties.

The Court's mandate, held by Circuit Judge M. E. Smith. It also orders that the Coast Line as plaintiff in error recover from Mr. Kinlaw as defendant in error, the sum of $12 to cover costs of carrying the case before the Supreme Court.

The Court's opinion is as follows: "In this case the defendant in error was a switchman working for the plaintiff in error in the performance of his duties he jumped off a moving train in the dark, tripped over a switch block, and his foot was mangled under another train which was then rushing parallel to and in the same direction as the train was moving upon which the switchman was working. LASTING NRA RULES SOUGHT BY RICHBERG

New 6-Point Program Includes Revised Concept Of Anti-Trust Legislation

NEW YORK, Nov. 22.—(AP)—A six-point program of essentials for permanent NRA legislation, including a new conception of the anti-trust laws, was advanced last night by Donald R. Richberg, director of President Roosevelt's executive council.

Richberg, in an address here, pointed also toward strong administrative opposition to organized labor's demands for a national 30-hour work week. His statements were considered of unusual significance, despite repeated assertions he expressed only his own views which "may not be generally acceptable."

Although Richberg did not segregate his six points pertaining to a permanent NRA, he did, in an address before the associated grocery manufacturers lay stress on the following:

- 1. Preservation of the "flexibility of code making" both as to commercial practices and labor conditions. 2. "I believe there is a demonstrable soundness in the fixing of minimum wages and maximum hours for each trade and industry." 3. "Admittedly, dishonest business."

Miami School Houses Crowded With Pupils

MIAMI, Nov. 22.—(AP)—Unprecedented demands upon Greater Miami's school system forced the county board of public instruction yesterday to order double sessions beginning Monday in at least five schools, and more as the season advances.

Counting upon at least 3,000 more pupils to crowd into the already overtaxed schools between now and the seasonal peak of January, teachers will divide lower grades into morning and afternoon sessions in those schools.

RFC Authority Will Be Extended Year

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—(AP)—The RFC's authority to strengthen the weak spots of the nation's credit structure with millions of dollars in loans will be extended another year at the coming session of Congress.

Under present laws, its lending life would end Jan. 31.—Consequently one legislation to be submitted to Congress is to be a bill postponing the expiration date until, probably, Jan. 31, 1936.

Supreme Court Rules $25,000 Verdict Against Coast Line Was 'Excessive'

The Florida Supreme Court has ruled that a Seminole County jury rendered a verdict and judgment that was "excessive" when in 1933 it decided that the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad should pay $25,000 to Sam Kinlaw, one of its employees at that time, because he had lost his foot in an accident while performing his duties.

The Court's mandate, held by Circuit Judge M. E. Smith. It also orders that the Coast Line as plaintiff in error recover from Mr. Kinlaw as defendant in error, the sum of $12 to cover costs of carrying the case before the Supreme Court.

The Court's opinion is as follows: "In this case the defendant in error was a switchman working for the plaintiff in error in the performance of his duties he jumped off a moving train in the dark, tripped over a switch block, and his foot was mangled under another train which was then rushing parallel to and in the same direction as the train was moving upon which the switchman was working. We do not think that an ex-

EDITOR SEEKS TO ESTABLISH RIGHT OF FREE SPEECH

Writer Would Protect Newsmen From Punishment By Juries

OCALA, Fla., Nov. 22.—(AP)—That another session of the Florida State Press Association should not pass without legislation being gently reminded that there should be enacted in this state a specific law that newspaper editors and reporters should not be punished by juries for refusing to divulge confidential information, is the comment of W. L. Straub of the St. Petersburg "Daily Times."

"Newspaper men have a duty as well as a right to hold the confidence of their news sources in violation," Mr. Straub says. "That duty is inherent. It is as fundamental as the guarantee of freedom to the press for fair and orderly criticism of those in high place. It is an elementary portion of the stuff from which community service is made. It gives public assurance to an indolent public, loath to stir from its bed of lethargy, that grave injustice will not be perpetrated behind the mask of judicial power."

"The very life-blood of American journalism has been its freedom. From the founding of the nation it has demanded an untrammelled press. The people themselves have insisted upon the (Continued On Page Four)

Roosevelt Assures Mayors Of Recovery

CHICAGO, Nov. 22.—(AP)—President Roosevelt assured the mayors of the nation's major cities today that recovery efforts have yielded substantial results, and informed them that the next Congress would consider the extension of job-making relief projects.

"Our efforts along the road of economic recovery have been productive of substantial results," the Chief Executive said in letter to the annual assembly of the United States Conference of Mayors. "It is undoubtedly true that the coming session of Congress will give further attention to proposals involving unemployment relief, public works, unemployment insurance, old age pensions, and housing, all of which vitally affect the city governments."

Signs Of The Times

Kent Rosetter, whose profession as a florist is one of those which usually is first affected by the depression, today joined the ranks of local business men who are reporting "increased business and definite signs of improvement."

"My October and November business," he said, "is far ahead of that of the same months during the past few years, and from all indications florists everywhere can expect more and better business as the season progresses. Not only is the volume greater but the type of orders is improving. People are buying larger floral offerings for funerals, and are sending bouquets to wives and sweethearts in greater number than has been the record of past few years."

ANTI-HOARDING DRIVE AGAIN IS RENEWED

Common Man Asked To Put Hidden Billion Into Circulation, Aid Re-Employment

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—The Administration has called upon the common man to join with business and industry in giving recovery efforts a $3,000,000,000 shot in the arm.

The plan is to put idle dollars now being hoarded or in corporate surplus reserves to work. Treasury officials estimate there are at least $1,000,000,000 still in safety deposit boxes, tea cups and under mattresses—out of circulation.

Federal Housing Administrator Moffett said approximately $2,000,000,000 could be expended usefully by corporations out of their surplus reserves in machinery replacement and otherwise bringing their plants to the 1928 efficiency level.

Money spent by corporations for this purpose, officials said, would stimulate the heavy or durable goods industry which must come before the nation can con-

County Institutes Condemnation Action Springfield, Ga. Bank Safe Blown, Robbed

Unable to reach an agreement with regard to a 1,000 foot right of way needed for the construction of the lakefront boulevard, the Board of County Commissioners meeting in a special session at the Court House Tuesday afternoon, authorized the institution of condemnation proceedings. The property is owned by Arthur Yowell and the action was required in order to protect the State Road Department which had announced that it could not let a contract for the completion of the road until clear legal title had been acquired.

By resolution, the Board agreed to indemnify the State Road Department from any and all claims and judgments obtained against the Department by reason of its trespassing upon any property in the matter of construction of the road, and to defend any and all trespassing, and also to protect action brought because of such trespassing, and also to protect any contractor against loss occasioned by reason of legal action which might follow a trespass.

Lehmann Sees More Progress For State In Next 10 Years Than In Past 300

"Florida will make more progress in the next 10 years than she has made in the last 300," Karl Lehmann secretary of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce will say in addressing the Florida State Press Association at Ocala Friday, speaking on the subject "Looking Ahead in Florida."

"There are sound and basic reasons why Florida will show more real growth and development in the next decade than in all of our past history," says Mr. Lehmann, "reasons why we will double our population in the next ten years as we more than doubled it in the last ten, reasons why we will double our improvement and developments."

"Whether we want it or not, the next 10 years will find us in the midst of another boom very similar to the one through which we passed in 1925 and 1926. Low Angeles and Southern California have passed through five similar boom periods in the last 35 years, an average of one every seven years, and we are not smarter in Florida than they are in California, we didn't bring the last boom on ourselves and we won't bring on the next one but it will descend on us and we will be pretty well swung along in it as we were before. Bad as are the after effects of such a boom as we went through we can't prevent the boom coming, we can only act a little more wisely, magnify the possible good and minimize the inevitable bad so as to get the maximum value from it all."

"Florida has certain great fundamental advantages which will cause wise people everywhere to come to this state and if we are as smart as we ought to be we will advertise these advantages to the world. "The proximity of Florida to the great centers of population and wealth this country will continue (Continued On Page Four)

Haney Commends President For Marked Change In His Attitude On Experiments

By LEWIS HANEY (Professor of Economics New York University)

NEW YORK CITY, Nov. 22.—In his address before the conference on economic security, the President shows a marked change of attitude and one which is for the better. There is little in this address that realistic economists cannot agree with.

The two outstanding points are the following: (1) He says: "Our first task is to get the economic system to function so that there will be a greater general security."

This is true, and all practical and patriotic men will agree. It should mean that we must get industry to functioning so that we can produce and earn, before we can give full consideration to expensive experiments. It means that we must establish a basis for confidence, in the shape of business recovery, before we can attempt those "retorts" and reconstructions which hurt business and disturb confidence.

But on June 8, Mr. Roosevelt said: "It is foolish to speak of recovery first and reconstruction afterwards." At that time he stressed reform.

He now says: "I have not changed my opinion, but the fact remains that in stating that our first task is to get the economic system to function, he seems to change the emphasis." (2) He now says: "There can be no security for the individual in the midst of general insecurity."

I take this statement to mean that until general business conditions are such that we have reasonable confidence in getting (Continued On Page 4)

Local Gridders Play St. Augustine Friday

Expecting a victory, Seminole High School gridders will leave early tomorrow for St. Augustine where they are to meet the Mulletts in a Northeastern Conference game which has no bearing on the title.

The game will be the sixth conference contest for the local eleven, and it is scheduled as the final opportunity to win a game this season for the reason that the Leeburg Yellow Jackets, conference leaders who are undefeated and hold victories over Miami Edison, Orlando, Deland, and other strong teams, will play here Thanksgiving Day in the closing game of the season.

Few local fans expect a Seminole victory over Leeburg for the Jackets are considered as the finest team in Central Florida. Seminole holds a single victory, that over Ocala. Otherwise it has been defeated by Eustis, Orlando, and Landon of Jacksonville, and has played to games with Lake City, Daytona Beach, and Deland.

YUGOSLAVIA ASKS PROBE OF SLAYINGS

Nation Complains To League That Deed Was Prepared On Soil Of Hungary

GENEVA, Nov. 22.—(A.P.)—Yugoslavia today lodged a formal complaint against Hungary asking the League of Nations council to investigate the assassinations of King Alexander of Yugoslavia and Foreign Minister Louis Barthou of France as acts calculated to disturb international peace.

M. Fottich, Yugoslav delegate to the League, sent a letter to J. A. C. Avenol, secretary-general, requesting that the matter be placed in the League agenda for discussion.

"The Yugoslav delegate alleged the investigation into the Marseille assassinations brought to light the fact that they were prepared on Hungarian soil by a band of international terrorists."

Speedier Planes Held Needed For French Protection

PARIS, Nov. 22.—(AP)—Minister of War Denain told France yesterday Germany's planes are "swifter and more modern" and asked 3,500,000,000 francs (about $200,000,000) to make the French air force superior.

"Since Goering (Hermann Goering, Hitler's minister of air) came to power, Germany has a military air fleet available and proclaims it," Denain told the chamber air committee.

"This air force is to be feared because it is composed of modern pursuit and bombing planes," he said.

Protesting against "panic fermenters" who pretend that Germany has thousands of military planes, the air minister estimated that the reich will have 1000 to 1100 planes at the beginning of 1935.

France has more machines, he admitted, but he declared the French models "are less swift and less modern."

Denain's plea for special appropriations outside the annual budget came as Leon Archimbaud, reporter of the budget, told the chamber's army committee the government would ask 800,000,000 francs (about $52,640,000) to strengthen French frontier fortifications.

Huge Farm Bloc Has Powerful Backing

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—(AP)—A huge farm bloc uniting the Middle West and South to demand "drastic fundamental remedial legislation" for agriculture was advocated today by Oscar Johnson, prominent AAA official.

The stocky Mississippi cotton planter who heads the producers cotton option pool within the AAA and speaks with an eloquent voice at conferences, confessed that he had been repressing his views for some time.

Now, he said, emphatically, the time has arrived "When America must definitely determine and publicly proclaim that industry and agriculture shall be upon an equal footing."

Action Expected Soon On Citrus Mart Pact

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22.—(AP) Officials of the farm administration indicated yesterday there might be an important development before the end of this week relative to the proposed marketing agreement for the Florida citrus industry.

There persisted an air of confidence that the adjustment machinery will regulate the bulk of the crop now coming in.
