A survey to determine renovations necessary to allow full use of the medical clinic building vacated by the county health department 10 days ago was authorized by the city council. Donovan Dean, architect with the Environment

Design Group, was hired to do the auroau for $200 Jaques said Dean's report will be available within a week and the city has $21,000 budgeted to put the building in shaps. While the report is being readied, the council agreed to have the facility treated for termites. He said the architect will also show the city its existing and future building needs.

Council set a series of public hearings at 8 p.m., Oct. 29, on the proposed annexations of the McArdle property on SR 434 near Island Lake, the Griffin-Conway tracts and the Campbell parcel on SR 427. Davis said the hearings are necessary under the new municipal homerule law. Annexation ordinances for the properties were given

A new drainage problem-this time at Georgia Avenue and Seminole Street hit the city council Monday night when a group of residents insisted standing water at the in tersection and adjacent properties is creating a health problem.

Residents said the water has been standing more than 14 days and because of the stagnant odors windows or nearby iwellings must be kept closed.

Jaques said city crews have cleaned the ditch from Lake Wayman to Longwood three times in 30 days. However, the Seminole-Georgia Avenue residents insisted no relief has been provided and said they doubt the waters will recede when drainage pipes are installed at Land and Credo Avenues.

Monday's heavy rains left the Land and Credo Avenue areas under water again. Jaques said work on the drainage problem there will begin today. He also urged the city council to adopt a policy requiring

City councilmen were to view today the green belt section dedicated to the city to Shadow Hill subdivision while considering a request that the area be leased to adjacent TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) - Gov. Reubin Askew has suspended Jack Wheeler as Broward County Comptroller following Wheeler's Oct. 3 indictment on perjury charges.

Wheeler is accused of lying to a Broward County grand jury about an employment contract executed with his wife after a law went into effect barring officials from employing relatives. Wheeler testified that the contract was made before the law went into Suspensions of county officials is automatic when they are indicted by a grand jury.

Orlando Conference TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) - Nearly 300 representatives of the health, government, education and business fields are expected to attend the annual conference of the Governor's Committee on Employment of the Handicapped.

The conference is scheduled for Oct. 12-13 in Orlando. Secretary of Commerce Don Spicer and J. Baxter Swing, Workmen's Compensation Bureau chief, are among the scheduled speakers. Veterans's retabilitation and employment architectural accessibility for the handicapped, and the experience of Florida employers in hiring the handicapped will be subjects of workshops and discussions.

could achieve this is the fact that newspapers are the only commercial enterprises in the nation that enjoy the specific protection and encouragement of the Constitution.

Because they refuse to be intimidated by governments or special groups, U.S. newspapers come through when the chips are down. And this is true more often when the stakes are high, as in Watergate.

National Precedent? Court Gives Zoning Decision

By KENNETH J. RABBEN Copley News Service

A federal court decision giving a oning board the right to rule on curriculum, enrollment and administration of a college could set a tional precedent. Involved in the case recently decided by the District of Columbia Court of Appeals are Marjorie Webster Jr. College in Washington ounmunity groups in the college neighborhood and the D.C. Zoning Board. It allows zoning boards and mmunity groups to say which courses are objectionable and thus liegal, how many students can attend and when.

The ruling strengthens community groups who want to maintain neighborhood characteristics and could seriously reduce the ability of higher education institutions in Washington and elsewhere that want to broaden their academic program and increase enrollment and hours of operation for academic and financial reasons.

Many academicians who staunchly have advocated and supported oning now find themselves the

"victim," with the Zoning Board, in effect, sitting in their academic councils and administrative board meetings,

People complaining about Marjorie Webster's expansion plans include those who sought federal and local funds for the very programs the college brought to their neighborhood. Many people objected to college programs to rehabilitate drug addicts.

Neighbors, Inc., is one of the complaining groups and took part in the litigation.

One of its members is James E. Cheek, president of Washington's Howard University, certain to be affected by the court ruling sought by its chief executive.

Marjorie Webster, for years, was a finishing school for about 120 girls who arrived in the fall and stayed until summer in dormitories on a 10acre tract in what now is one of Washington's finest residentially zoned neighborhoods of singlefamily homes on lots whose minimum size is 7,500-square-feet. anywhere at any time. What the Supreme Court has ruled is that the Constitution does not permit state-ordained prayer. That this would be the inevitable consequence of any right-to-pray amend...eut, no matter how worded, is indicated by the statement of another witness before the subcommittee. Whife affirming that her organization does not support "state-imposed or state-composed prayer," Mrs. Bennett G. Miller, co-ordinator of the National Back to God Movement, stated that "we do demand the right freely to recognize a Supreme Being at an appropriate time, place and casion in the public classroom. "When, how, what, where and the words must be left to the good sense of state and local option." "When, how, what, where and the words - whet is this but the substance of an officially sanctioned ceremony of ublic prayer? The fact that children whose parents did not wish them to participate in prayer would have the right to remain silent or to leave the classroom does not make it any the less involuntary, nor render it any the less an unwise intrusion of the state into an intensely personal matter.

Housewives: vanishing species The nonworking wife - the wife who doesn't hold a job outside the home, that is - is still in the majority in America but not by very great margin. U.S. Census Bureau figures compiled from the last na-tional census in 1972 show that 40 out of every 100 wives was in the labor force. The figure in 1950 was 25 out of ev-school." That new identity, testimony showed, brought about 2,500 students, most older than finishing school girls, through the neighborhood to attend classes day and night, seven days a week the year around for courses that lasted from a day to a semester. Some of the courses were federally funded and offered continuing education rather than college degree credit.

Neighbors became alarmed and complained to the Zoning Board that zoning regulations were being violated. Marjorie Webster's president admitted at least one illegal program but said others were premissible as long as they were 'appropriate for an academic institution of higher learning," as zoning regulations required. After nearly 13 hours of hearings, the Zoning Board ruled against the college and ordered it to reduce enrollment and eliminate offensive courses.

Senators Seek Mystery Figures

by Jack Anderson

(Copyright, 1973, by United Fusture Syndicate, Inc.)

WASHINGTON-Senators would like to question two of America's most mysterious figures-phantom billionaire Howard Hughes and President Nixon's shadowy friend Bebe Rebozo-about their backdoor dealings.

The Senate Watergate Committee has been quietly checking into a column we wrote two years ago about the strange Hughes-Rebozo-Nixon relationship. Last week, the committee's crack investigator, Terry Lenzner, gave the senators his preliminary findings behind closed doors. Here's what he told them:

A Hughes henchman, Richard Danner, slipped $100,000 in $100 bills to Rebozo in two separate, $50,000 packages, at which were delivered directly to the President's crosscountry estates at Key Biscayne, Fla., and San Clemente, Calif., in 1969 and 1970.

The payments coincided closely with two government decisions favorable to Hughes. In June 1969 President Nixon approved the sale of Air West to Hughes. The following year, the Justice Department reversed an anti-trust action which had barred Hughes from expanding his hotel-casino empire in Las Vegas.

MITCHELL'S ANNOUNCEMENT

A few weeks after the final $50,000 delivery was made, then-Attorney General John Mitchell brought Danner into his office and informed him of the farmer independent and the tra fon. Lenzner's findings confirm, essentially, what we have written. The White House swore to us that President Nixon never received the $100,000. Danner swore the money was intended as a campaign contribution and was never mentioned to Mitchell. And Rebozo swore through an intermediary that he has never misused any campaign money. As Lenzner ticked off his findings at the closed-door meeting, Vice Chairman Howard Baker, R-Tenn., expressed quiet dismay. He would like to and the Watergate investigation, but new revelations keep habiling "If you can verify those facts," he told Lenzner, "we have a whole new can of worms." After the meeting, other Senators told us they would like to take testimony from both Hughes and Rebozo.

1956 CONNECTION

Nixon first got encangled with Hughes in December 1956 when the eccentric billionaire siphoned $205,000 from a political fund in Canada and loaned the money to Nixon's brother Donald. The loan was secured by a vacant family lot appraised at $13,000.

Noah Dietrich, a respected former Hughes executive, told us he tried to dissuade Richard Nixon from approving the loan. Dietrich said he flew to Washington to talk to Nixon, then Vice President, about the loan.

"I tried to discourage him," said Dietrich, "against taking this loan for his brother. I told him, 'You can't keep " this quiet. Too many people know.' He told me, 'Noah, I have to consider my family ahead of my political career.''' A few weeks after Donald Nixon received the $205,090 loan, the Internal Revenue Service granted tax-exempt status to the Howard Hughes Medical Institute. Twice previously, the IRS had refused to treat the Institute as a non-profit organization.

CURIOUS COINCIDENCE

By an interesting coincidence, IRS last year conducted an intensive tax investigation of Robert Maheu, who used to run the billionaire's Nevada operation but is now suing him

Incredibly, two Hughes representatives, Chester Davis and Mickey West, had a ringside seat at an IRS interrogation. When Danner was questioned by IRS field agents Donald Skelton and Richard Lebar, the Hughes people were present. nner has admitted this in deposition that hasn't yet been made public by the court. "Mr. Chester Davis and Mr. Mickey West were present," F testified Danner, "during the investigation ... "

DAMAGING TESTIMONY

"Who," asked Maheu's attorney, Morton Galene, "was being investigated?

"Mr. Robert Maheu," said Danner. "And Chester Davis was there and you said nothing, and you were giving testimony against Robert Maheu? Is that what you're testifying to, Mr. Danner?" acked the atforney.

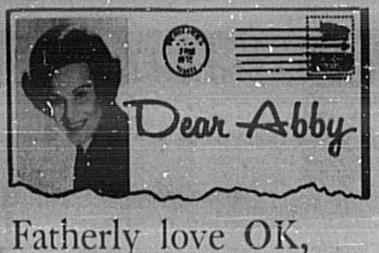

"That was substantially the situation," said Danner. Galane also asked Danner who directed him to appear before the IRS agents "so that you can give sworn testimony to get Robert Maheu into trouble with the United States government?

Danner testified that he had been contacted by Bob Morgan, a Hughes financial officer. We asked the IRS about these strange circumstances "There's nothing we can say," a spokesman told us, "not even to confirm that an investigation of Maheu is going on."

Other Thoughts

The Watergate committee of the Senate was reported Wednesday to be meeting "privately," and while we have no reason to believe its deliberations are bugged, we are confident that they will be leaked as effectively as though somebody had made tape recordings. -Charleston (S.C.) News and Courier

but beware of intimacy By Abigail Van Buren

C 1973 by Chicago Tribuce-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: Would you please write something in your column about overly affectionate fathers who encourage intimate body contact [all in the spirit of playfulness] with their teen-age daughters? This horseplay between my son in law and his 13-yearold daughter involves a lot of wrestling and touching, but I was shocked when I saw them rolling around on the bed [in the parents' bedroom] while my daughter was busy putting on her make-up in the adjoining bathroom.

Abby, this grandchild is just coming into young womanhood, and it's possible for her to become sexually stimulated and aroused by this sort of thing. Soon enough she will be faced with sex play with her peers, which is normal and natural, but such teasing from her father worries me.

I don't want to hurt my daughter by even suggesting that her husband keep his hands off his daughter. She might even be offended.

Frankly, I am ashamed to be writing this letter. I don't hink I'm collenting and an any service achaps my son in law will see it and take the hint. If you think I am wrong, please say so. I'll be able to take that, too. WORRIED GRANNY

DEAR WORRIED: Touching and hugging is a normal healthy expression of affection between fathers and daughters. But you make a good point. Teen-age girls should be taught that their bodies are "private," and not to be manhandled by anyone-fathers included. And fathers should refrain from intimate horseplay with their budding young daughters. At revoting as the loca hisy of to subic, it's possible for parents and children to be turned on sexually by each other, so intelligent restraint should be exercised.

DEAR ABBY: Several of up have been having an argument which we hope you can settle. Which musical instrument most closely resembles the human voice?

DEAR POLLY - I love any kind of a sale, especially garage and thrift shop sales, but my Pet Peeve is finding a nice wooden spoon, etc., or a piece of pottery that has been marked with a marking pencil or something similar that is impossible to remove, even with vigorous sanding. I wish the people running such sales would realize that we do not want to buy things that have the prices permanently marked on them - MRS. R. B. DEAR POLLY - Do tell Mary B. whose rugs smell of cats and dogs that an underarm deodocant spray did the trick for me, and so easily that I feit dumb for not thinking of it before. (Test the effect on an inconspicuous part of your rug before proceeding.) - ANN DEAR POLLY and Mary B. - I have a dog grooming service in my home. My two children often will let a dog loose and my carpets also had an odor. I scrub them with a disinfectant and then pour straight vinegar over the offending places. The vinegar odor lingers only a few hours (Test effect these products.) - MRS. A. S. DEAR POLLY - When all efforts had failed to teach my family the art of milk bottle rotation in the refrigerator, I thought of another way which has worked out beautifully. We slip bright colored rubber bands over the bottle necks. Everybody knows those bottles with the bands are to be used first. No more mixups' After being stranded in the grocery an umbrella to the cart I take to the store and also put several large plastic trash bags in the bottom of the cart where they remain rain or shine. DELTONA - The question posed by a June 20 headline in the Sanford Herald "Is There a Teacher for Kathy?" has apparently been answered in the affirmative.

Mrs. Emmy Warman, home bound teacher for exceptional children's program of Volusia County, in conjunction with the President's program for teaching exceptional children unable to attend school due to their handicap, is now tutoring 17-year-old Kathy Withers two hours a day twice a week.

Mrs. Warman explained there are only five home bound teachers in Volusia to take care of all those in the Exceptional hild progress of X X 1000 teach 6-8 children during the five day week.

Voice Over Eyes

HOLLYWOOD, Fla. (AP) - Blind hypnotist William Craft says you don't have to stare people in the eyes to put them under. "You can stare people in the eyes, but I don't use that method for obvious reasons," said Craft, who is believed to be the nation's only licensed blind hypnotist "I rely on my voice and have them close their eyes, relax and take a few deep breaths."

Bishops Kill Ban

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) - The Episcopal Church's House of Bishess has approved revised rules that eliminate a ban against the remarriage of divorced persons except when they can get an ecclesiastical annullment. The change, which still must win concurrence of the church's House of Deputies, for the first time recognizes civil divorce and allows those who have been through it to remarry in the church. Under the liberalized provisions, parish pastors are given a freer hand in deciding the eligibility of couples for marriage and may conduct weddings even though neither person involved is an Episcopalian.

By J Richards Herald Sports Editor

Donneybrook time in Shea Stadium-inheritors of New York's Ebbets Field, home of the long moved Dodgers, got some of the cld time furor they've been missing for years Monday when lightweight Bud Harrelson tangled with Pete Rose circa second base. Those of us fortunate enough to be lazing at home got one of baseball's dividends, but those Mets fans got it all in living color.

With the Mets on top, 9-2, the final score of the National League's third play off game, Rose barreled into Harrelson at second when Joe Morgan hit a ball sharply down the first base line and John Milner scooped it up and tassed to the keystone sack for what was supposed to be the first half of a double play.

The Reds leading slugger went into the base hard, feet outstretched and Harrelson tumbled directly over him. From where I watched-flat on my back taking it easy-Harrelson caught a forearm or elbow from Rise who was trying to protect himself, and that started some of baseball's best action.

And that was all it took. Harrelson, at 150 pounds, and Rose with 50 more pounds that 1 Chill squared on and then the dagouts epurity 1 it's been a long time since I've seen a anging match on second, and it wasn't disappointing. Before it was over just about everyone but the six game officials got into the act.

Reds' reliever Pedro Borbon picked opposing relief man Buzz Capre fer a second fight on the big card, and both pitchers threw some of the best I've seen in a long time.

For the most part baseball melees, like other sports, are wild, wooly affairs in which both sider usert twice as much effort as necessary and inflict half the damage expected. Both the Mets and the Reds will be out on the field and you'd probably sever know they had the free-wheeling fistic scene the day before. Pros shake it off and play right on through.

Speaking of Pros, the Monday Night NFL services, cosermoned by Dandy Don and Howard the Lip, with moderator Frank Gifford got upset in the final moments when the Redskins pulled off a quick upset over the Dallas Cowboys.

Howard, who used the phrase "Motif of Modern Football," no less than three times in the first half, describing the conservative-styled running attack both teams featured until the game really got down to scoring tries. Don't know about your feelings on that, Howard, but I never knew you were an interior decorator as well as a lawyer,

While on the subject, did you notice it was the passing tame that both won and lost the tilt for the two teams. Of course the ground game, amply supplied by Calvin Hill and Larry Brown on the opposing elevens, set it all up, but what did Sonny and Roger The Dodger both resort to when the chips were down.

Trying to run on the Cowboys defense is like walking across Semoran Boulevard at CR 436 at 5 p.m.-against the lights. You gotta be crazy. And for back-up Craig Morton, who scored one of Washington's two TD's with a weak curl in pass to Tight end Bobby Joe DePree that was intercepted for a Skin tally, passing was just about the same thing. Staubach looked crisp and sharp on his aerial atlack, but the Dallas line was too porous to stop the Redskins rush and both he and Morton found far too many unfriendly faces all evening in the backfield while setting up for the pass.

But, all in all, it was an exciting game, and I even ened hearing the Danderoo come back with some quips of is own for Howard's ever present utterances.

Did you see the sequences of the days when Tom Landry and Frank Gifford were teammates for the Giants? That was omething. Giff scored on defense taking lateral from Landry as the teaser, but the next shot was even more fantastic. Must have been at least three laterals and four or five tackles made on the same play, but the runner just kept getting back up and moving on down the field. When Kenny Houston stopped Walt Garrison on the one yard line as the Cowboys lost their last chance to take it over for a tying score, the Delias back also looked desperately for a similar friend to lateral to. Unfortunately, the attempt failed. Too bad Frank and Tom were both on the sidelines that time. At least for the Cowboys.
