

Engineering Technicians Behind

BOSTON (U. S. — The United States may be falling seriously behind Russia in a race which many Americans don't even know they're in.

In this swift-changing atomic-electronic age, educators say that this country may soon be handicapped in research and development by a shortage of engineering technicians — the men who turn plans into production.

Unofficial figures show that last year Russia graduated about 50,000 engineers and the same number of engineering technicians. The United States graduated 23,000 engineers and 13,000 technicians.

In some fields, particularly the automobile industry, five technicians are needed for each engineer.

This situation is causing deep concern among educators and government officials alike.

Secretary of Commerce Sinclair Weeks warns that without technicians the efficiency and progress of the engineer and the scientist would be critically curtailed or utterly lost.

What is this field which is being comparatively neglected by American youth, despite the scarcity of workers and the promise of good salaries? Dr. H. Russell Beatty, president of Wentworth Institute, a top Boston technical school, says the technician combines the points of view of the scientist and the skilled craftsman.

"Here is a field definitely between the trades and the engineering field," says Dr. Beatty. "It is a field for the doer, the builder."

"The engineer plans; the technologist makes and does. The engineer creates and projects; the technologist operates. The engineer is concerned with the why of a job, the technologist principally with how to do it."

There are about 80 technical institutes in this country.

One of their intensive two-year courses come engineering team specialists, such as draftsmen, designers, cost estimators, production supervisors, chemists, testers, research technologists, control supervisors, time study men, technical salesmen and planners of production and construction.

"The warrant officers of industry," Dr. Beatty calls them. Often they become contractors and owners of businesses.

Starting salaries are not far below those of engineers and, says Dr. Beatty, "We have no placement problems."

TRADITION FLOUTS MODERNITY

BENTON HARBOR, MICH. (U. S. — The sleek new Gard Elementary School is ultra modern in every respect and the weather-worn old bell looks out of place.

The bell was cast at West Troy, N. Y., in 1856 and has been calling Benton Harbor school children to classes for 85 years. Everyone knew that it didn't fit the new building but tradition won the day.

DEADLY SAWDUST

HELENA, MONT. (U. S. — Seven cows broke into an old shed on Peter Suta's ranch and ate some sawdust stored there. Thirty-five of them died. Suta said arsenic had been mixed with the sawdust as grasshopper bait 20 years before.

'Courteous Cop' Contest Is Begun; To Run This Month

Seminole County and Sanford law enforcement officers are in the running for the title of Florida's Most Courteous Cop.

The third annual contest, sponsored by the American Automobile Association, the Florida State Chamber of Commerce and the Florida Peace Officers Association, will continue through March 31.

It is designed to stimulate law enforcement officers to give recognition to the courteous acts of uniformed law enforcement officers.

Gov. LeRoy Collins, in a proclamation, noted that "much good can be realized by continued development of more courtesy and true southern hospitality extended to our residents and our rapidly increasing influx of visiting tourists."

Any municipal policeman, state highway patrolman, uniformed sheriff or deputy and federal registry, customs and immigration men may be nominated. Winners will be chosen in each of seven classifications based on size of the jurisdiction.

Ballots on which the name of the officer and the courteous act performed may be registered are available at the Chamber of Commerce.

Two Request Court To Define Rights

JACKSONVILLE (AP)—Two persons under investigation for possible Communist Party activity and an alleged racketeer asked the U. S. Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals yesterday to define their rights in denaturalization proceedings.

The Immigration and Naturalization Service had subpoenaed them to testify at hearings, and they asked the U. S. District Court at Miami to set aside the order.

Red Nominees Snowed Under

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—Prime Minister Nehru's Congress party and its allies snowed under Communist nominees in first returns today from a key election in Andhra state.

The Reds, once so confident of victory they announced plans for taking over the south Indian state's government, won only two of the first 62 state legislative seats so far decided.

Unofficial newspaper tabulations of early results gave victory to 38 candidates of the United Front which is led by the Congress party.

Among the defeated Communist candidates were some of the state party's hierarchy. Red leaders immediately complained voting was unfair.

Of the other 12 seats decided, the Praja (People's) Socialist party (PSP) won 4 and independent candidates 8.

The counting is expected to continue for several days.

The voting among Andhra's nearly 21 million people, held over a 17-day period, ended Sunday. With the Communists making their pre-election forecasts gave them a good chance of winning control of the new Legislature.

Red leaders have long regarded Andhra, one of the poorest of India's 29 states, as a likely prize and have concentrated on building up a strong grass-roots organization there.

Early Communist confidence was based partly on apparent widespread dissatisfaction among the peasants with what they considered the Congress party's failure to achieve social and land reforms. The Congress' national prohibition policy also brought hot criticism.

The primary issues were social and economic with each faction pledging much-needed reforms.

Forrest Breckenridge, manager of the Chamber of Commerce, and A. W. Lee attended a meeting on the proposed Sanford-Titusville canal in DeLand last night. The meeting was sponsored by the Volusia Wildlife Association.

Breckenridge was a member of a panel which discussed the canal and the effects upon wildlife in the upper St. Johns River area.

The 100 or more sportsmen and conservationists attending the meeting were assured by Richard Macomber of the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service and others that everything possible will be done to protect wildlife.

The meeting featured a talk by Oscar Rawls, chief of the technical liaison branch of the office of the Corps of U. S. Engineers, Jacksonville. He spoke on "Flood Control, Navigation and Wildlife in the Upper St. Johns and Indian River Areas."

Another special guest was Gene Wallace, representative of the Florida Game and Fresh Water Fish Department.

Macomber and Wallace are engaged in a full-time study of the flood control plan in its relation to conservation.

The meeting was held at the Chamber of Commerce building.

James Arbaugh, new trainer for the Richmond Virginians, arrived in Sanford today, inspected the baseball facilities, and sized up the weather, and said: "Everything looks fine for us."

The Richmond club will begin training Monday at the old stadium. Players will drift into the city over the weekend.

Accuses Opposing Politico

Move Is Made
To Favor Father

PARIS (AP)—King Norodom Sihanouk abdicated Cambodia's throne today in favor of his father, Prince Norodom Suramarit, the French News Agency reported. He accused opposition politico parties of hamstringing his reforms in the Indo-chinese kingdom.

The 33-year-old monarch, host only Monday to U. S. Secretary of State Dulles at a luncheon in Phnom Penh, was quoted as saying he intends to retire to the country and live a humble life "like that of my subjects."

A music-writing leader of the fight for Cambodian independence from the French, though their ally in the war against Communist rebels, Sihanouk has used withdrawal tactics before to win his points. In those cases he retained his royal authority.

The French News Agency said the King announced his decision in a radio broadcast. It quoted him in part:

"My people are not unaware of the work accomplished by their King in the past three years, nor of the importance of the constitutional reforms which I envisaged to avoid a return to chaos."

"Certain political parties, among them the Democratic party of Son Ngoc Thanh, have intervened with the International (American) Control Commission to prevent me from carrying out my work. That is why, today, I announce publicly my intention to abandon power and to step down from the throne in order to live among my people a life that will be as humble as that of my subjects. I will retire to the country and I will remain in favor of my father, Prince Suramarit."

Son Ngoc Thanh is a former Nationalist French member whose followers have been claiming credit for the independence of Cambodia's 4 1/2 million people backed the King.

The French account said the control commission recently opposed a royal plan for political reform as contrary to the Geneva armistice agreements.

The French Foreign Ministry said it had no information on the case.

Secretary Dulles, now in Manila on his way back from the Manila Pact powers' conference in Bangkok, Thailand, declined comment.

How Pinn, Jerry Britsch has identified Sgt. Robert William Caveney, 30, as driver of the car that hit 18-month-old Barbara Lynn Gaham Sunday morning on State Road 528-A a mile south of Conway St. in Orlando.

Sgt. Caveney is stationed at Pinecastle AFB and lives at 312 1/2 Conway Gardens Rd.

Britsch was investigating on the base when he found the car answering the description given by witnesses. Approaching the driver, Britsch stated that he seemed to be nervous and when he asked the airman why he had hit the girl and left the scene Caveney said he "just got excited."

The sergeant was jailed on charges of reckless driving and leaving the scene of an accident. Bail was set at $350 for the two charges plus $50 for improper license tag.

Congress To Draw Higher Pay Than Governors Of 41 States

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Congress, by voting its members a $7,500 pay raise, has decreed that the taxpayers pay their senators and representatives salaries larger than are drawn by governors of 41 states.

But a number of those governors who are receiving smaller paychecks actually are on a higher annual financial level than the congressmen by virtue of more liberal expense allowances.

The House passed and sent to President Eisenhower yesterday for his expected signature a bill increasing the yearly congressional salary from $15,000 to $22,500. The measure permits congressmen a $3,000 annual tax deduction to offset living costs and 20 cents a mile travel expense for one round trip home each year.

An Associated Press survey showed that salaries of the governors range from $6,000 a year in North Dakota to $20,000 in New York. Personal expenses allowed governors vary widely from none or bare travel reimbursement to allowances for just about everything, including housing, food, travel, entertaining, chauffeurs and unspecified items.

In addition to New York, only five states pay their governors more than $10,000 a year.

Under their compromise legislation, New Jersey's gubernatorial salary is $20,000. California, Illinois, Pennsylvania and Texas each pay $25,000.

The governor of Michigan draws $22,500, the same as the new scale for congressmen.

All other states pay their chief executives less in salary.

In Nevada, the salary is only $7,600 a year. But the Nevada chief executive receives $1,500 in pay for other duties to run his total to $9,100. His salary would be upped to $15,000 under a bill pending in the Legislature.

The governor of Ohio has expressed opposition to a bill which would boost his pay and defeat of the measure seems likely.

Gubernatorial raises also are before legislatures of Arizona, California, Maine and Montana. The West Virginia Legislature has raised the governor's salary from $12,500 to $17,500, effective in 1957.

Increases went into effect for governors of some states this year. Notable among these was the hike from $25,000 to $30,000 in New York.

Gubernatorial salaries have gone up at least 30 states since 1946, when Congress last approved a raise for senators and representatives.

12 County Schools Plan To Take Part In Spelling Bee

Twelve schools will participate in the annual Seminole County spelling bee, which will be held at Sanford Junior High the latter part of March or early in April, R. C. Steele, spelling bee director said today. A definite date has not been set.

Seminole County is one of 24 counties participating in the annual spelling event sponsored by the Miami Herald. The winner and runner-up from each county will go to the finals in Miami April 29.

Participating in the county event will be these schools: Sanford Junior High, Sanford Grammar, The Adventist Church School, 7th and Elm; All Souls Parochial School, 8th and Oak; Lake Monroe, Wilson, Lake Mary, Lyman, Forest Lake Academy, Oviedo, St. Luke's Christian Day School of Slavia, and Geneva.

Apopka Man Fined For Killing Buck

A fine of $175 and costs or 60 days in jail was imposed on County Court yesterday on an Apopka man convicted of illegally killing a buck deer.

Judge Ernest Householder handed down the sentence in the case of L. R. Sheppard, convicted recently of killing a deer Nov. 20 near the Sweetwater camp. Sheppard was one with a deer tag on his leg.

Some States Could Find Difficulties

By HERMAN R. ALLEN
WASHINGTON, (U) — At least six states might run into constitutional difficulties if they attempted to operate state school building agencies, a key feature of President Eisenhower's federal aid to education plan.

An Associated Press poll of state attorneys general, state school officials and other qualified persons shows that constitutions of these establishments of such agencies or limited bonded indebtedness so as to make it questionable whether they could function.

In nine other states the AP questionnaire disclosed, constitutionality of an authority or its bonding power has not been fully investigated.

However, eight states already have school building authorities, or other agencies which already do or could exercise similar powers.

In 11 states officials believe such an authority would be legal under both constitution and statutes right now. In 13 others, legislation of some kind would be necessary.

The tally included all states except Delaware.

Under the President's plan to attack the nation's shortage of more than 800,000 classrooms, the federal government would help state building agencies establish a reserve fund to cover bonds which the agencies would issue.

The agencies would build schools with the bond money, and local school districts would buy them under a lease-purchase plan extending up to 30 years.

Under another section of the Eisenhower proposal, now before Congress, the government would buy part of bond issues from school districts which could not market them elsewhere at interest rates under 3 1/2 per cent.

Districts in most states could take advantage of this, according to the AP survey, although miscellaneous types of restrictions are imposed by some states. Georgia districts, for example, could not do so if anti-segregation strings were attached to the government offer.

A third phase of the Eisenhower plan would offer outright grants to states, on an average $0.50 matching basis, to help impoverished districts accept either of the other two offers.

Again, most states apparently could take advantage of this, within bonding limits, although a few have laws which would restrict them. Nevada as a state could not accept such federal funds, although individual districts could.

This would mean that most states could also make use of federal grants proposed in several other emergency school aid bills before Congress. These bills are confined to grants, on some state matching basis, for actual school construction.

It is the constitutionality of state building agencies that gives rise to most of the uncertainty.

Secretary of Welfare Hobby said at a news conference last week the Department of Health, Education and Welfare had legal advice that such agencies would be constitutional in every state, although he acknowledged some states would have to pass laws to put them in business.

Yet reports from both Oregon and Wisconsin say that school building agencies would be unconstitutional there, and the report from Nebraska says bonded indebtedness is constitutionally prohibited "at the state level."

In Oregon a constitutional amendment could not be adopted before November 1956. In Wisconsin an amendment can be adopted only after it has been passed on by two sessions of the Legislature, which meets every two years—after which there must be a vote of the people. An amendment could go into effect in Nebraska in January 1957.

The Eisenhower plan would cover three fiscal years, beginning next July 1, so these three states apparently would be out in the cold for a good deal of the time if they sought to come under the building agency provisions.

Omnibus Serves TV Programs Buffet Style

By WAYNE OLIVER

NEW YORK (U)—The Ford Foundation's Omnibus serves up television programs buffet style. If a viewer doesn't like one offering, he may find another to his taste.

Sunday's CBS-TV show, for example, was in three parts. First was a dissertation on how the human brain functions. Second was a live telecast from an Air Defense Command post. Last was a dramatization of the life of Charles Francis Adams, Lincoln's minister to England during the Civil War.

To this viewer, at least, the intimate glimpses of the workings of the nation's air defense system was both instructive and exciting and easily the highlight of the show.

Most of the telecast came from an underground Air Defense Command post on Long Island, but filmed sequences were used to good effect to show the full scope of the operations.

By contrast, the explanation of the human brain, while informative, was on the tedious side. And the Charles Francis Adams dramatization appeared stilted and not up to the two previous presentations in Omnibus' series on the Adams family.

Network TV audiences will be taken aboard the liner United States a second time Sunday when the Comedy Hour is telecast from on board the luxurious ship at her pier here. Your 1955 Parade was the first to originate from the liner back in 1949 when the United States had just gone into service.

MAN ARRESTED ON MURDER CHARGE
WHITE ROCK, N.C. (U)—John R. Macrae, 38, a striped, was arrested yesterday and charged with murdering a woman in the strangling of his 16-year-old mother Mrs. Minnie Copeland Macrae. He told police: "I didn't like the way she fixed me."

WRONG TRAFFIC CONTROL
PITTSFIELD, MASS. (U)—A pedestrian, blocked several times by heavy traffic in his effort to cross a street, finally was hit by a car which was stopped at a red light.

When police caught up with the man, who was completely sober, he admitted guilt and promised to pay for the damage.

Police said they did not know whether the man was loaded. They said the man's wounds did not appear serious.

RESCUE FOR CAT
CHICAGO (U)—A flame-haired cat was rescued from a fire by a fireman who was called to a fire on a street near the city center.

DETROIT (U)—Water leaked at the bottom of a three-story building yesterday, causing a fire which burned for several hours before being brought under control.

Here's Good News For Students

ST. LOUIS (U)—Buck up, Junior! If you got an F on your school report card last month, perhaps it shouldn't be there.

A group of educators here for a regional meeting of the American Assn. of School Administrators say it shouldn't.

But, the group admitted in an interview, it will take time to convince your teacher, your father, and even your school board.

"We don't have to have failures in our classrooms," said Mrs. Newton P. Leonard, of Providence, R. I., president of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers.

With her in the discussion were J. C. Wright, Iowa superintendent of public instruction; Dr. Francis G. Cornell, professor of education at the University of Illinois; Dr. E. Blodgett, superintendent of schools at Wheaton, Ill.; and Mrs. Irma Detjen, of Webster Groves, head of the Missouri Congress of Parents and Teachers.

Wright said grading children by arbitrary standards, whether the grades are good or bad, is unfair. Chief objection to the present day report, said Dr. Cornell, is that it tells only what happened the past semester and gives no indication of what the child can do in the future.

Some communities, the educators said, have replaced grade report cards with the following:

A parent-teacher conference about each child at the end of each semester (more often if necessary).

A narrative-type report card, in which the teacher discusses each of the child's subjects.

A group meeting with both parents and children prior to each semester to discuss the goal for that semester.

For greater benefits, the educators said, the child should have the same teacher two or three consecutive years rather than change each semester or year.

Love For Animals Brings On Problem For Texas Family

DALLAS (U)—When the cook found a sick possum in the garbage can last spring, Mrs. Ted Mayberry brought the animal inside and cared for it.

And that was the start of the possum problems on Cherokee Trail.

The Mayberrys—he's an oil publication executive—live in a big house on Cherokee Trail, a winding street in a wooded and high-priced Dallas neighborhood.

Mrs. Mayberry admits a fondness for animals (her pets include two squirrels, a talking crow, a dog and several cats), but possums were a new experience.

She kept the sick animal several days before she found out why it was ill. Then nine small possums came, kangaroo-style, out of the pouch on mama possum's stomach.

Before they grew up, another sick possum arrived with seven offspring.

The mothers weren't the devoted kind, however—they ran off shortly and left Mrs. Mayberry with 16 small possums. Then one of the neighbors brought in another hurt possum and she had 17.

One by one, she was able to place the young ones with "childless" women who would give them good homes: until she had only three left. Two were females she could not place, one was the hurt one and the other—his name's Bob—needed an operation.

Bob's getting better, she says, and the hurt possum is improving too. All of which makes for four good pets. "They're really very interesting," Mrs. Mayberry said.

"When you pick them up, they wrap their tails around your arm or jump into your arms and hug you."

"They've got long, sharp teeth, but they're really not vicious like a lot of people think. They just look vicious when they yawn."

Health Officers Throughout Nation Plan For Vaccine

NEW YORK, (U) — State health officers throughout the nation are making plans now for country-wide polio vaccination if the vaccine currently being evaluated is proved effective. It was reported today by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

The evaluation report is expected early in April.

The March of Dimes organization said health authorities were engaged in a far-reaching "preparedness program" aimed at putting the vaccine to work with the utmost possible speed, if it is licensed this spring by the National Institutes of Health.

"If the vaccination program takes place this spring, it will not be another trial but the first of a new preventive measure," said Dr. Hart E. Van Riper, National Foundation medical director. "But planning and organization must be done now, so everything will be in readiness if the vaccine is licensed."

Fix of the nation's top medical and health groups have agreed on a working blueprint for administering vaccine supplied by the National Foundation. It will be offered to 9,000,000 eligible children, should the report be favorable. Additional vaccine will be available to physicians for use among other groups.

Official representatives attended sessions on administration of the vaccine were from the American Medical Association, the American Academy of Pediatrics, the Association of State and Territorial Health Officers, the American Public Health Association, the U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare and the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

The group agreed that: 1. If and when licensed by the National Institutes of Health, the vaccine will be supplied by the National Foundation to State Health Officers in amounts sufficient to provide for the vaccination of children who participated in the vaccine field trial in 1954 but did not receive vaccine at that time; all children enrolled in the first and second grades of all public, private and parochial schools in the United States, Alaska and Hawaii this spring.

2. Administration of the vaccine will be the responsibility of the State or Territorial Health Officer and will be worked out by him in cooperation with the state medical society and state education officials.

3. After completion of the program, the National Foundation will participate in the production, distribution or administration of subsequent vaccines.

4. The National Foundation will continue to be the first grade vaccine supplier in the first grades of all public, private and parochial schools in the United States, Alaska and Hawaii this spring.

5. The National Foundation will continue to be the first grade vaccine supplier in the first grades of all public, private and parochial schools in the United States, Alaska and Hawaii this spring.

6. The National Foundation will continue to be the first grade vaccine supplier in the first grades of all public, private and parochial schools in the United States, Alaska and Hawaii this spring.

Syria Has Most Active Left Wing In Arabian World

DAMASCUS, Syria (U)—A year ago Syria was ridding itself of a rightist military dictatorship. Today this country has the most active left wing in the Arab world.

Syria is the only Arab state to elect an admitted Communist to Parliament. A third of its newspapers are leftist. And Syrian Communist leaders have emerged as leaders of all Arab Reds.

Communists here got their big chance in March 1954 after military dictator Adib Shihabiyeh was overthrown. Shihabiyeh had suppressed communism with a heavy hand. He also had suppressed all other parties. Accustomed to working underground, the Communists weathered the dictatorship in better form than more conservative parties with no underground apparatus.

Communists still are a small minority in Syria, but their influence is strong internally and externally. The party officially is outlawed, but its candidates enter elections as independents, and its leaders are well known.

In last September's parliamentary elections, Communists elected their leader Khalid Bekdash to the Syrian Parliament. Communists running as independents polled a relatively heavy vote in Damascus. Throughout the country, the total Communist vote was around 45,000. In a population of about 4 1/2 million.

All these 45,000 are not Communists, of course. Many voted for the left simply in protest against the West. Others supported Communists in exchange for leftist support of their own candidate.

Although their number is not large, the Communists have gained disproportionate influence through manipulating an informal "popular front" with the Socialist, Republican and the Moslem Brotherhood. These three can pull together potent mob strength for widespread demonstrations at almost any time.

Witnesses Charge Hyno Needle Is Used In Attack

SAVANNAH, Ga. (U)—A young Mr. Farrow doctor was arrested last night and charged with assaulting another man with a hypodermic needle.

Edmund Rahal told police he was stabbed three times in the arm and hand by Capt. Frank W. Johnson, who is assigned to the 2nd Medical Squadron at Hunter Air Force base.

Two other witnesses also charged Johnson with assault and battery, said Patrolman L. C. Higgs.

Police said the incident occurred as Johnson and Rahal were leaving an attorney's office after a discussion of a civil matter. It was not clear what brought on the attack.

Police said they did not know whether the needle was loaded. They said Rahal's wounds did not appear serious.

State Road Maps Have Big Demand

TALLAHASSEE (U. S. —) Chairman Wilbur E. Jones of the State Road Department says he is finding an insatiable demand for official Florida road maps.

"I believe we could distribute three million a year if we printed them," he remarked.

His comments came in announcing yesterday that the department was placing an order for printing 100,000 new maps.

The Johns road board had 1,078,900 printed in 1954. Purchasing agent L. K. Ireland said this was a normal two-year supply.

Ireland said the new order will call for pictures of Gov. Collins and chairman Jones on the maps.

All the road maps purchased by the Johns' board carried pictures and messages from Johns and his road board chairman, Cecil M. Webb.

PESCADORES ARE KEY TO FORMOSA

SPRINGBOARD TO FORMOSA, the Pescadores form the last natural protection of the Nationalist stronghold against any invading force from the Chinese mainland. Forming a defense triangle with the islands of Matsuo and Quemoy, the Pescadores have become the anchor in Chiang Kai-shek's offshore guardian chain of islands.

Radar nets on Matsuo and Quemoy would give the first warning of approaching danger from the air, and Nationalist troops there might hamper a sea force, but it would fall on the Pescadores to stand as the closed door to an advance on Formosa. (Central Press)

Jet Bomber Leaves Fiery Path Crashing Into Residential Area

LAKE CHARLES, La. (U. S. —) A crippled B47 jet bomber smashed into a suburban residential area last night, killing five as it cut a fiery swath into a trailer park.

The dead included the three crewmen and a young couple whose house was demolished by flaming debris.

The six-engine Stratojet was trying to land at Lake Charles Air Force Base when it hit a power line, crashed and exploded in a field. Heavy metal pieces hurtled into the residential area.

The air base said the plane reported one engine had failed.

Capt. Clarence Wilson, 34, pilot, public information officer, identified the dead crewmen as:

Capt. Clarence Wilson, 3, pilot, California, Pa.; Capt. Mark M. Vack, 24, co-pilot, Downsville, Calif.; and Capt. Elwyn B. McBe, 33, observer, Fort Worth, Tex.

The Calcasieu Parish (County) sheriff's office identified the dead civilians as Albert Morgan, 24, and his wife Kate, 20.

T. Sgt. James C. Sapp, of Lake Charles AFB, was burned when debris ignited his trailer home. His condition was termed not critical. His wife was uninjured.

Wreckage of the plane was scattered over an area more than 250 yards long and 75 yards wide.

The main part of the plane careened into the Morgans' house, carrying the bodies of the pilot and the copilot. The body of the observer was found in a field.

Cole Olsen, a resident of the area, said he saw the wreckage hit the Morgan house and he ran to it. He kicked in the front door, but was driven back by searing heat.

The impact of the crash apparently hurled the sleeping couple from their beds into the bathroom. Several unoccupied houses and several trailers also were burned.

Spotswood said evidence indicated the plane was coming in for a landing when an engine went out, causing it to lose altitude quickly.

"The flames must have gone 1,000 feet into the air," reported William Denton, of Houma, La., who was a mile away when the plane hit, then hurried to the scene.

"The people were running in every direction around the tourist court. The wreckage appeared to be all in one fiery heap down toward the back of the court."

Accusations Made In Letter Received By Red Newspaper

MOSCOW (U. S. —) Bruno Pontecorvo, the Italian-born British scientist who disappeared from the West in 1950, said in a letter to Soviet newspapers today he has been working on "peaceful" atomic projects in the Soviet Union since that time.

The letters accused Britain and the United States of "using atomic and nuclear weapons as a means of achieving world domination" and appealed to Western scientists to protest against the use of atomic energy for military purposes.

Pontecorvo took part in British-American work on the first atomic bomb. The U.S. Joint Congressional Atomic Energy Committee in 1951 rated him a "first-class scientific brain" and "a storehouse of knowledge about Anglo-American - Canadian atomic projects."

It said he also had knowledge of later hydrogen bomb developments.

Pontecorvo's identical letters, the first definite word of him since his disappearance, appeared in Pravda and Izvestia, the Soviet Communist party and government newspapers. Without saying so specifically, they indicated he is working in Moscow.

The standards were worked out by the producers and other industry leaders. Regulations were adopted yesterday by the Florida Citrus Commission despite the objections of one producer, Golden Gift Inc. of Deland.

The regulations state that "chilled fresh orange juice" cannot have any processing except removal of seeds and undesirable pulp. Treatment with rays, addition of reconstituted frozen concentrate or other processing allow it to be rated or advertised only as "chilled orange juice."

Golden Gift contended its juice is fresh even though it undergoes a ray treatment.

State Inspectors Will Check Juice

LAKELAND (U. S. —) State inspectors will begin checking the new chilled orange juice next week to see that it conforms to standards adopted for the first time.

Review Is Refused By Supreme Court

WASHINGTON (U. S. —) The Supreme Court has refused to review an appeal by Daniel B. Vincent of Tampa, Fla., from lower court rulings that he was not entitled to patents on cattle feed produced from citrus wastes.

The U. S. District Court in Tampa and the U. S. Circuit Court in New Orleans had held that the process was open to all.

Defendants were Sun-Citrus Products, Minute Maid Corp. and other citrus processors.

Four-Laning Of Highway 17-92 Would Help County Prosperity

People are fond of the game of "supposing." In that vein, let's suppose a little. Suppose someone handed you $800,000 and told you to spend it on the one thing Seminole County most needs. You might devote quite a bit of time to study before you settled on that solitary item.

Or you might hit it right away. You might decide, as the Chamber of Commerce's long-range roads planning committee decided, that four-laning of U. S. Highway 17-92 is the project meriting the money.

Let's look at the facts. Good roads are essential to the development of the economic life of any area. Four-laning of 17-92 will help make Seminole a stronger and more prosperous county.

Florida, and Seminole County is no exception, is to a large degree dependent upon tourism. It is the lifeblood of some areas. Where tourists come, money flows. New businesses, nourished, springs up overnight. Whole towns live or die on the strength of the tourist dollar.

Four-laning of 17-92 will bring tourists to Seminole County in ever-increasing numbers. An already thriving county will feather its nest with new-found wealth.

It's not a pleasant sight to witness death. The Grim Reaper's favorite playground is the highway, and his toys are mangled bodies and smashed cars. He swings his scythe most vigorously on undeveloped roads where a smooth flow of traffic is impossible.

Highway 17-92 has one of the highest traffic accident counts of any road in Florida. Four-laning would materially decrease the death toll.

Allocation of $800,000 by the State Road Board for the project is not a "big thing" for the county. It is a tremendous thing, a memorable thing opening up unrealized opportunities.

The money will cover construction from the Orange County line north to Big Tree Road, approximately eight miles south of Sanford. Plans call for the later linking of Sanford. Cost of the entire project from Sanford to the Orange County line would be an estimated $1,500,000.

Seminole Countians, it goes without saying, greatly appreciate the work of the roads planning committee, the legislative delegation, and other public-spirited citizens in carrying out the 17-92 improvement campaign. It has required vigorous and conscientious effort, but the drive has not slackened since being initiated.

These people have passed to us the key to Seminole County's future greatness.

A Political Conscience

Pierre Mendes-France has been called the political voice of the French conscience. He knew that the fighting in Indo-China had to be stopped, that the French blood and treasure being there was sapping his country's strength to the danger point. He knew that the rest of the world did not want to get involved. So he made concessions, unpopular concessions that left himself open to the accusation that he had given Indo-China to the Reds.

He studied the present world crisis and concluded that European security demanded an alliance of western nations that would include a rearmored West Germany. He knew that, with or without his country's approval that rearming would take place. Once again he risked public disfavor by leading in an unpopular direction because he believed it to be the right direction.

He knew that any government must pay its own way and that it can do so only by collecting taxes. He instituted reforms designed to increase the flow of taxes and to put an end to traditional tax evasion practices. He spoke out for a realistic approach to the problems in North Africa.

He made mistakes—but they were honest mistakes. He got things done even when it would have been smart politics to leave them undone. For all these reasons he finds himself out of office. His opponents have won this round.

Yet he is a young man as politicians go, with a lot of fight left in him. The elections to be held next year will disclose whether the faith he has shown in his countrymen was justified, whether, given a free choice, the people do not prefer a real leader to politicians who are blown about on every wind of expediency.

Congress Misses On Men's Rights

NEW YORK (AP)—Curbsome comments of a pavement flake: "Congress is missing a bet. Rep. Catherine St. George of New York, who is both a lady and a Republican, has introduced a bill you'd think every man in America would back."

It proposes a constitutional amendment to give women equal rights. Naturally her male colleagues, who may feel they already are living in a civilization dominated by feminine muscle, don't see very much.

They aren't interested in giving women more power. And the bill seems to have disappeared down a deep dark well, the same well it vanishes into every year that Mrs. St. George introduces it.

But what the gentlemen in Congress are overlooking is the fact that they may be missing a real opportunity to get back equal rights for men. The amendment would abolish all legal discrimination based on sex.

Mrs. St. George believes a lot of antiquated state laws now do discriminate against the ladies. She cites a number of states in which the older women are allowed to vote on the basis of age, but the younger women are not.

The bill would also abolish the "old maid" law, which allows a woman to vote on the basis of age, but the younger women are not.

The bill would also abolish the "old maid" law, which allows a woman to vote on the basis of age, but the younger women are not.

The bill would also abolish the "old maid" law, which allows a woman to vote on the basis of age, but the younger women are not.

Granting the exceptions listed by Mrs. St. George, don't women by both custom and the actual working of the law enjoy vast advantages over men today?

They have special privileges in everything from getting a seat in a crowded bus to getting away with marital murder. A man who kills his wife in a fit of rage after 20 years of incessant abuse goes to the chair or to prison for life. But a wife can cold-bloodedly mow down her husband, invent any defamatory lie about him she can think up to explain her action, and have an odds-on chance to cry her way to freedom. She may even later marry a sympathetic bachelor on the jury.

The energy men burn up in outworn forms of gallantry—running errands for women, lighting their cigarettes, straining themselves pushing revolving doors so the girls can walk through without so much as even lifting their little pinky—probably is one explanation why men die younger.

One man I know even blames his baldness on his chivalry. "My mother taught me at the age of 5 to remove my hat in the presence of ladies," he said. "At 25 or 35 years of taking off my hat and putting it on again, I finally wore all my hair off. And what is my reward? Women laugh at me now."

There is also the little legal matter of alimony. A wealthy woman now can marry a poor and innocent young man, turn his boyhood love with her riches, and then—after he gives her the best years of his life to him aside pennies and go on to another man. If he tries to sue her for a fair share of her booty, he is laughed out of court as a hum.

The 20th Century has been a one-way street for the ladies too. Let's climb on Mrs. St. George's bandwagon, boys, and force women's code and for all to take equal rights if they are made equal in law, they must be made equal in social customs, whether they want to or not.

It is not very likely that you will experience Frank TV reception and pick up a program originating several hundred miles beyond your normal range, but this is a phenomenon which does occur.

Under certain weather conditions signals from a distant transmitter can strike one of two layers in the earth's atmosphere and bounce back, creating long-distance transmission. One of these layers, the troposphere, is a few thousand feet above the earth's surface. The other, the ionosphere, is located in the upper atmosphere, about 100 miles above the ground.

The ionosphere is a layer of ionized gas, and it is this layer that reflects radio waves back to the earth. This is why you can receive radio signals from stations hundreds of miles away.

The ionosphere is also responsible for the "skip" in radio signals. When a signal is reflected back to the earth, it can travel a great distance before being received.

Inside Washington

WASHINGTON—Democratic party leaders admit ruefully that they have failed so far to unearth any real vote-getting issues to spring in the 1956 presidential election—but they have not given up hope. They concede that the trouble is that President Eisenhower has stolen much of their thunder with his own proposals for social legislation.

The Democratic chiefs agree, too, that any attempt to attack Mr. Eisenhower for his military manpower cuts might backfire, since the American people are likely to depend on the former general's long-time military background rather than listen to the less-experienced who want a larger Army.

As for the alleged "giveaway" of the nation's natural resources, Democrats admit that this is an issue which would appeal only to scattered regions, and not to the voting public at large.

However, the Democratic leaders are astute politicians. They realize that anything can happen between now and November, 1956, and that what happens is likely to furnish them with a number of burning issues on which to base their campaign.

In the Senate, Democrats already are attacking the President's proposed federal aid-to-school program. Senator Robert Kerr, of Oklahoma, charged that it was "conceived by the investment bankers and inspired by the money lenders." In the process, Kerr and other Democrats are doing something they have hesitated to do before—attacking the President personally.

Broken Spell—A good luck piece which Senator Joseph C. O'Mahoney has kept for 34 years has finally let him down. It could not beat the Senate's unwritten rule of seniority.

The Wyoming Democrat has had the key to room 333 in the Senate Office building since 1920. However, that was not enough to win him back the office he occupied for 18 of those years. Instead, the suite has been assigned to Utah's Watkins, who outranks him in seniority.

O'Mahoney first worked in room 333 from 1917 to 1920, when it was allocated to the late Senator John B. Kendrick, also a Democrat from Wyoming. When Kendrick died and O'Mahoney was appointed to succeed him in 1934, the door key he had taken home with him to Wyoming in 1920 still fit.

Although he occupied 333 from 1934 until his defeat in 1950, O'Mahoney could not get it back after his re-election last November because his Senate membership had not been continuous.

UNT Pressures—The administration really is putting on the pressure to try to get congressional approval of President Eisenhower's armed forces reserve and modified universal military training program.

There was virtually no opposition to the President's request for a four-year extension of the draft, but his proposals on the reserve and civilian training drew fire in both the House and Senate.

In a surprise move, the Defense department made public statements from three of America's top military leaders to support Mr. Eisenhower's program.

Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, supreme Allied commander in Europe; Gen. John E. Hull, Far East commander, and Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, Army commander in the Far East, all lauded his arguments on behalf of the President's plans.

SWITCH HITTER

My New York

NEW YORK—Third Avenue is a street that looks as if it had the pox long ago. Cheap little saloons and musty pawnshops scar its dark, cellar-smelling length. Here and there a bright, antiseptic new building studs its booby scene, waiting impatiently for the elevated to be torn down, but mostly it is a street that doesn't change character as it dribbles from downtown to uptown. It is a rundown lane, loved only by the kind of people whose hearts go out to muddy, beat-up, tail-between-the-legs dogs.

In the Forties and Fifties, antique shops spilled along Third for a stretch and if you drift past them of an afternoon, you can see costly limousines parked at the meters and furred fat ladies haggling over the cost of urns or sofas. Some of them, though, just can't be called antique shops. "Junk stores" is closer to it.

In front of one you stop and think for a while on the grandeur that was Greece. Furniture is crowded around the store front on the sidewalk and there are a couple of ornate chairs in thick wood and dusty leather that you see are selling for $4.50 each.

What Ethel Barrymore type sat in them and said with calm assurance to the serving maid, "Mary, you may begin now?" or what fat old gent with mutton chop whilepers wriggled his bulk around in one of them impatiently and exclaimed, "Demmit all, gentlemen, if this company is to go on as it has in the past, we must merge!"

A couple of rickety tables are outside too, holding a spate of books by Harold Bell Wright and Rex Beach and E. Phillips Oppenheim, their covers faded by the sun and buckled by the rain. You open one. "To Leslie on her birthday January 14, 1928," reads the spidery legend, in brown ink. That would make Leslie 44.

Where is Leslie on this February afternoon? Has she made it to 44 safely, with a handful of kids around her, or has she, as Erich Maria Remarque put it, come face to face with the wild monster, death?

The bronze bust in the crowded, dirty, window of a young man, his hair parted in the middle. Vasili and cutlery bowls pile around him in confusion, but he peers out cheerfully and steadily, the way the young do. Down by the cut-off shoulder, the artist has engraved his name and "1928." Does the young man still part his hair—or has he any left to part?

In the other window a three-foot-high Buddha contemplates the universe in the classic pose. The junk store people have tried to make this Oriental window but if you almost reach the mood, you lose it when you peer into the shop and see the door sign, "Not responsible for goods left over 30 days."

There are mountains of trash inside—an umbrella stand full of rusted sabers, a baby-sized chair.

Move To Cost About $7 Million

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress is almost finished voting a pay raise for itself—$7,500 a year—and raises for federal judges and district attorneys. Total cost to the taxpayers will run around seven million dollars.

The Senate approved the idea yesterday. With the House almost certain to do the same, the pay boost then will be effective as of today. Congress had a lot of support for this move.

President Eisenhower gave it his blessing beforehand, without naming an amount. So did a special commission which he appointed in 1953 to study the problem of pay increases for Congress, the judges and the district attorneys.

The salary of 350 members of Congress—86 senators, 264 representatives—goes from $25,000 a year to $32,500. That of the remaining House members, Speaker Rayburn (D-Tex.), goes from $40,000 to $47,500.

So does that of Vice President Nixon. The bill does not affect the President who gets $150,000 in salary and an expense fund.

The $7,500 increase for all members except the speaker is a 30 per cent raise. The last increase Congress voted itself, in 1946, was from $10,000 to $15,000. The presidential commission last year recommended a raise to $27,500.

This is what happens to the pay of about 400 federal judges: Chief Justice Warren—$25,000 to $33,000; the eight Supreme Court associate justices—$25,000 to $33,000. Judges of the United States Court of Appeals—$17,500 to $25,000. Lower court judges' pay will jump from $15,000 to $22,500.

United States district attorneys and assistant district attorneys were permitted a pay boost by Congress too, but how much each gets depends on how much Attorney General Brownell wants to give him. Congress left that up to Brownell.

He can raise district attorneys any amount from the present maximum of $15,000 to the new maximum of $20,000 and assistant attorneys from the present maximum of $12,500 to the new maximum of $17,500.

In addition to his pay each member of Congress gets official office space in Washington (in the House and Senate office buildings) and in his home district. He is allowed a minimum of $12,500 a year for clerical hire, $2,500 in mechanical equipment, $800 a year to buy stationery, unlimited free mailing privileges.

For travel to and from Washington for each session of Congress—one round trip—he is allowed to deduct $3,000 of his salary as expenses for income tax purposes.

The presidential commission estimated it costs the average member of Congress $13,000 a year more than his old $15,000 salary, and that 80 per cent of the members must depend on some private income. Many members maintain two residences, one here, the other at home.

Gen. Brownell wants to give him Congress left that up to Brownell. He can raise district attorneys any amount from the present maximum of $15,000 to the new maximum of $20,000 and assistant attorneys from the present maximum of $12,500 to the new maximum of $17,500.

Common Mouth Disor

By HERMAN H. SCHMIDT, M.D.
I THINK all of you will admit that your mouth can easily get you into a lot of trouble. Maybe you ask your husband for a new hat at the wrong time—or sass a traffic cop at any time—and you find out you've bitten off more than you can chew.

Well, your mouth can cause you trouble in other ways, too. Stomatitis, which has nothing to do with your stomach, but is an inflammation of your mouth, can be pretty bothersome.

Several things can cause this inflammation. Maybe you're smoking too much or eating hot and spicy foods too frequently. Jagged teeth or poorly-fitting dentures might be the cause. Or maybe you've been biting your cheek, an unconscious habit of many persons.

Lack of Vitamins
Lack of the B vitamins or of vitamin C or severe anemia might also be factors. One form of this ailment, stomatitis, is most common in children and can possibly be due to too much chocolate and citrus fruits. In these cases, the mouth is ulcerated and may become so painful that it is difficult to speak or to chew.

What Do I Do?
The diet in this instance, of course, should be kept bland. (Copyright, 1954, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

Avoid all citrus fruits, chocolate, coffee, wine, vinegar, tomatoes and melons. It's probably a good idea to take milk of magnesia. In any case of stomatitis, you should have your doctor take mouth cultures so he can definitely rule out diphtheria as the cause, and determine the best treatment.

But, no matter what the cause, it's important to keep your mouth clean. Throw away your old toothbrush and get a new one. Don't smoke excessively.

Mouth Washes Helpful
Mouth washes will be helpful. Any simple cleansing wash will help moisten an inflamed mucous membrane.

You can mix a good mouth wash yourself by adding one-quarter teaspoonful of salt to about half a glassful of warm water. If you wish, you can also mix in a quarter teaspoonful of sodium bicarbonate. Gulluladine tablets or penicillin lozenges may also be useful in treating your infected mouth.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
Q: What would cause herpes to come under the arms?
A: This might be due to enlarged lymph glands. It might also be due to infection of the hair roots, such a condition requires careful investigation by your physician.

GREENVILLE, S. C. (AP)—"There's a thief in the kitchen trying to make off with the silver!" Mrs. William Nelson nudged her husband awake.

He slipped cautiously into the kitchen where the noises were coming from the silverware drawer. Opening it cautiously, he discovered an opusculum making free with the tableware.

Nelson dispatched the critter with blows from his shoe and a piece of pipe.

GIFT VICTORY
IONIA, MICH. (AP)—After losing its first six games, Ionia High School scored a one-point basketball victory—with the help of a gift.

The winning margin came on a shot into the wrong basket by a Greenville substitute. The final score was 46-45.

Even with all this beauty, we still hope you have not been missing the native shrubs and plants in bloom along the highways.

Many wild plums are to be seen in open fields as well as in our gardens. Then in low areas you may come across a small upright tree literally covered with clusters of small pure white flowers all along its branches, reminding you of bridal wreath. This is Walters small viburnum (Viburnum obtusum Walt.) It is lovely in the garden and many plants have been brought in and established there.

Red chokeberry (Aronia arbutifolia) a small shrub four to eight feet high is also found in low places along the roadside. It has flat topped clusters of white or pinkish white flowers at branch tips, along with the leaves, which are gray backed and about two inches long. The flowers are followed by brilliant red, winter-persisting berries and red foliage in fall. They are useful in the garden because of the early flowers and for the colorful leaves and berries as well. Propagation is easy by seeds, cutting or layering. There are also purple and black berried chokeberries, but they would not have the appeal of the red one.

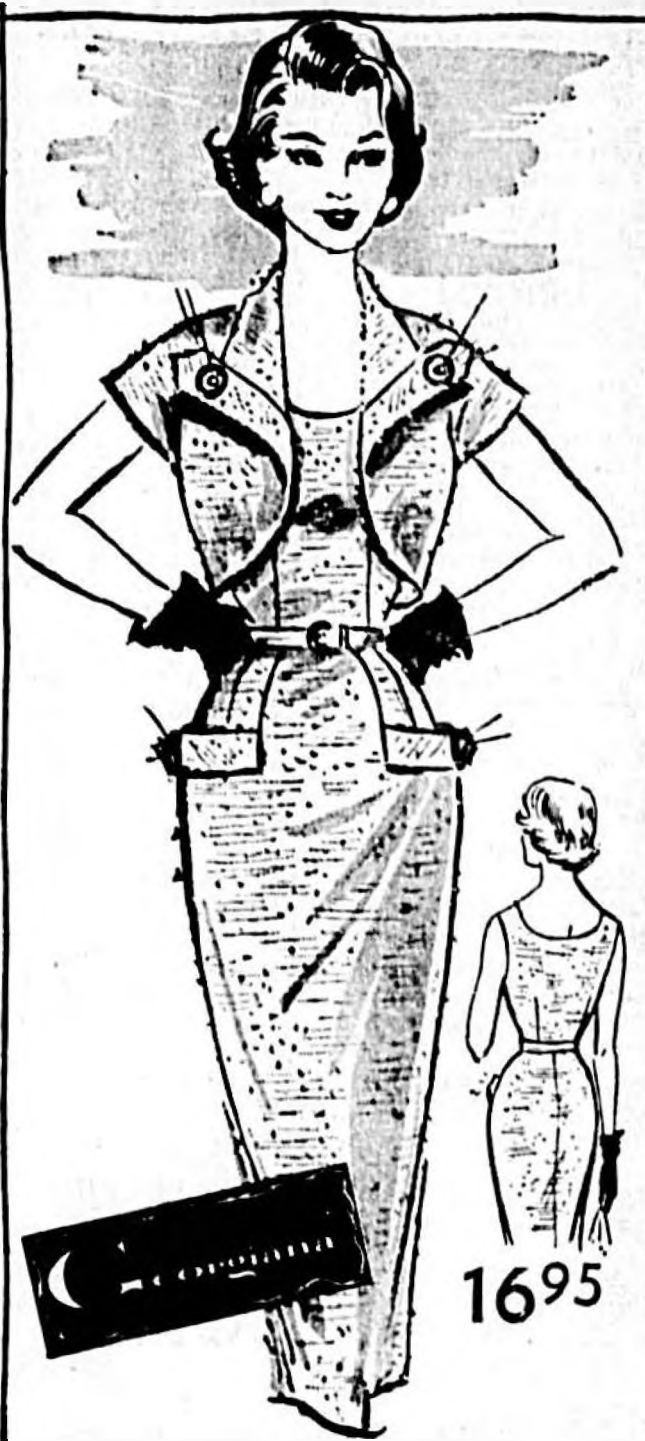

Another native flower that makes a show beside roadside ditches is the blue flag (Iris versicolor). It does well in gardens if given a location near a pool or dripping faucet, but it can get out of bounds when conditions are really to its liking.

The drying winds of the last few days have been very hard on the garden and the whole area should be well watered. Shallow rooted plants such as camellias and azaleas are especially in need of moisture if they are not to suffer. Amariyllis, gladioli and day-lilies that are about to come into flower will also benefit greatly from a good watering now, and a much of leaves will help retain the moisture provided.

Better lay in a supply of camellia and azalea fertilizer to carry you through the feeding season, March thru June. Azaleas are usually given three feedings during this time, and camellias can take the same, or if you prefer you may give a small feeding each month, until the last of June, when they start to set buds for the coming season. It is not necessary to remove mulch, just sprinkle fertilizer on surface and water in well.

TO WOMEN who are watching helplessly as their skins dry up and age prematurely

A frank statement by Jacqueline Cochran explaining how her miracle preparation, FLOWING VELVET, has restored the freshness of youth to countless despairing women.

Many people think of me as an aviation expert only. Yet, I started my career as a beauty operator before becoming the head of my cosmetic company. And I have constantly sought to create a limited number of simple corrective preparations, based on natural ingredients, that are easy to use—and above everything else—effective.

"HYDROLIN" will transfer beneficial moisture into parched, prematurely aging tissues. A big promise, true—but one that has been kept over and over again. Floods of letters from grateful users—from the four corners of the world—tell us that they will never again be without FLOWING VELVET. And it does not contain hormones!

THE DRY SKIN PROBLEM

Dry, sensitive skin is the major problem of millions of American women. Greasy, heavy preparations only "butter" faces superficially. The logical answer is moisture... not surface moisture, but moisture in the tissue. Several years ago, after long and painstaking research, I succeeded in finding a way to make this beneficial moisture penetrate into the skin.

The result? A new product was born: FLOWING VELVET, the new-famous formula that has given hope, confidence and new beauty to hundreds of thousands of delighted women all over the world who swear by it.

WHAT IS FLOWING VELVET?

FLOWING VELVET is a triple-action, greaseless, flowing formula containing a revolutionary, exclusive ingredient—HYDROLIN, that works 3 ways:

1. It furnishes moisture that actually sinks into the skin.
2. It provides necessary oils for essential lubrication.
3. It maintains the normal balance of oils and moisture.

HOW TO USE IT

Apply it at night, after your skin cleansing. It disappears instantly, leaving no trace of grease on your face or upon your pillow.

Apply it again in the morning, under your foundation. It keeps your skin dewy, soft and beautiful all through the day.

Apply it often, as freely as you wish. FLOWING VELVET is instantly absorbed by the thirsty skin. It is so rich and concentrated that only a few drops are all that you ever need.

NOTHING LIKE IT

Because FLOWING VELVET was so revolutionary and so successful, imitations inevitably followed. (I consider them a compliment.) But—NO ONE CAN SUCCESSFULLY IMITATE IT—since its miraculous element, HYDROLIN, was developed and is exclusively controlled by my own laboratories.

"Flowing velvet" is unique, and the only greaseless moisturizing preparation that will actually do more for your skin than you could ever dream possible—in so short a time.

MAKE THIS TEST: Meet our specially-trained Jacqueline Cochran consultant. Watch her pour a few drops of FLOWING VELVET on your wrist. And see it sink instantly into your skin.

We asked Joe Day Jr., who is executive director of the U.S. Golf Assn. and a sort of referee for the ruling body, if he had heard of any new guided missile type of ball which might account for such a crazy burst of scoring by a comparative unknown. Would it be possible, we asked Joe, for one of the big ball concerns to get such a jump on the opposition?

"It would not," he said flatly. "We see to that. There are about 5,000 golf courses in this country and there is too much money tied up in them to let a new ball manufacturer get the ball manufacturers. We are not going to let the ball get any kinder than it is right now."

DeBary Has High Representation

By KAY HENNINGER

It is safe to say that the residents of DeBary represent nearly every state in the United States. To be sure, some of the states such as New Jersey, New York, Ohio, Michigan have sent more than others. It is evident that DeBary has an appeal for these people, or else they wouldn't be here. What we are interested in primarily, is what they have to contribute to DeBary and to the state of Florida which they have adopted for their new home.

Someone said recently, "I haven't retired." And so it is with many of them. They left their homes and their chosen occupation at which they had been busy for many years, and came to Florida to retire. Here they got themselves settled in their new homes and, after the first few months of adjustment had passed, the habits of a lifetime began to assert themselves and they found themselves looking around for something to do.

Many of them made gardening their hobby and found that new skills had to be learned and not a few of the old ones had to be unlearned. Others are learning to use their hands and are taking an interest in some sort of craft. Many joined clubs of all sorts and a few painted or wrote. Let us tell you about a few of the many who have been outstanding in the community.

There is Laura Platt Brown, a musician, from New York, where she was born and where she studied music. She began her study of music when she was eight years old, and at the age of fourteen, she played piano for the public schools. At eighteen, she was the Assistant Choir Director of a Junior Boys' Choir. She is a graduate of the Institute of Musical Art of New York and of the Juillard School of Musical Art. During her freshman year in high school she joined the Sigma Cappa Society which had a limited membership of thirty. She is proud and happy to be one of the nineteen members who are still active in this group. She has studied at different times with Gertrude Clarke Edwards, Edwin Hughes and Angela Diller.

Her career was interrupted for a time when she married and had her daughter and son. The latter, Charles Canfield Brown, is at present in La Rochelle, France, with his music his career and plays the piano, the organ and the bass fiddle.

During the years Mrs. Brown lived in White Plains, the taught piano, was the organist and choir director of several Westchester County churches, was the accompanist for the Westchester Philharmonic Chorus for the Eastern Star for twenty years.

Since coming to DeBary to live, she has contributed much to cultural life of the community. She has done some work with the Woman's Club of Sanford, has served as chairman of the annual committee of the DeBary Civic Association and is teaching piano to a limited number of pupils. She directs a choral group for the Home Demonstration Clubs of Volusia County. She played for the Sunday School of the Methodist Church in Enterprise until she joined the DeBary Baptist Church and became Music Leader and Choir Director of the first church to be organized in DeBary.

Another DeBaryite who is well known to the civic leaders of Sanford is Paul A. Uhlmann whose home is on Lake Monroe. Mr. Uhlmann was born in Aalen, a small town in Southern Germany. He was graduated from the Engineering College in Stuttgart, Germany, as a Civil and Structural Engineer. In 1934 he and his wife were eager to leave Germany because of the deplorable post-war conditions. He accepted an invitation to come to the United States and from 1934 to 1935 he was associated with structural steel companies. Since 1935 he has been practicing as a Sanitary Engineer, specializing in sewage systems, sewage treatment plants, municipal water works systems, water treatment, water softening plants, municipal swimming pools and industrial waste treatment plants.

Mr. Uhlmann took into partnership with him in his employ who had served his ability and formed the company known as Paul A. Uhlmann and Associated, Consulting Engineers, in Columbus, Ohio, one of their outstanding projects was the design of a sewage treatment plant and the construction of the water softening and industrial waste treatment plant at Newark, New Jersey, and a sewage treatment plant at Newark, New Jersey.

W. G. Miller, one of DeBary's foremost builders, is a native of Canada. His father was a lumber man and builder, so young Miller grew up in the atmosphere of the building trade. He worked for only a very short time with his father, after which he went off on his own and in 1918 he came to the United States.

During World War II he served in the U. S. Navy and was one of the men who landed on the African beach with Gen. Patton. He was Chief Carpenter's Mate on a Transport which was torpedoed. After the war was over, he worked for a number of years at Ft. Lauderdale, Hollywood and Miami. In 1948 he came to DeBary and built homes here on a contract basis, in Plantation Estates. After a few months he transferred his activities to a new section of DeBary which was named Miller Acres. Since May of 1949 he has been busy developing this section and the still newer Lake Marie Estates adjoining Miller Acres. During the time from 1948 to the present he has built approximately 150 homes and is now completing the 100th home since May 1949.

That sounds like a large enough program for anyone but he has still other accomplishments to his credit. In 1932 he built Dr. Starke's Professional Building, a clinic for colored people in Sanford. He acted as advisor on the building of the Community Building in DeBary. He built the Administration Building for Lake Marie Estates, the Shell Gas Station, Dr. Frisson's Building and a large store which is as yet unoccupied. He is now building the DeBary Baptist Church, the first sanctuary to be built in this community.

He has been recognized as one of the outstanding builders in Florida. On January 28-29-30 of this year, the State Industrial Commission met in Gainesville in the Engineering Building of the Florida State University. Mr. Miller was one of the seventy builders invited to attend the Conference on Accident Prevention Engineering to insure greater safety in the homes of the future. Such problems as the number of steps in the home, heating of the home, the height of ovens etc. etc. were discussed, and plans were made to build better homes for retired people. DeBaryites are fortunate in having the benefit of such discussions and in having an up-to-date builder.

In his early twenties, he was given his first chance at a selling job. For five years he sold musical instruments for a firm in Pittsburgh. During the last of these years he married and his wife traveled around the country with him. Neither of them liked his homeless sort of existence and so, in 1930 he resigned and went into the insurance business. From then until 1938 he sold insurance for the Life Insurance Company of Richmond, Virginia in their office in Cincinnati. In 1933 he became Associate Manager and held that position for fifteen years. It was at a company convention in Miami that he was so overwhelmed by the beauty of Florida that all future vacations were spent somewhere in the state, and when he resigned from his position in 1948 he came to DeBary to live.

For about two and a half years he was a salesman for the Plantation Estate Corporation. On June 1, 1948 he went into business for himself and opened the first real estate office in DeBary. On September 1 he was invited to join the DeBary Realtors. He is a member of the DeLand, Seminole and DeBary Chambers of Commerce.

His success may be attributed to hard work and perseverance; to putting first things first. As a youth he was unable to obtain formal education because of financial difficulties at home. Nevertheless he took a course in salesmanship, the Dale Carnegie Course, two semesters of Real Estate Law and Practice in the University of Cincinnati. He holds a diploma for a special training course in insurance and is a graduate of the School of Adult Education in Florida Real Estate Practice.

On the Highway between Sanford and DeBary is a sign which expresses rather well how he feels about his work. It says, "DeBary is My Home—May I Help to Make It Yours?" With gardening as his hobby, his garden is one of the finest in DeBary by reason of his giving up sleep to make it so. You may see him working there many a morning at five o'clock. He is glad to advise and help his neighbors and is never happier than when he can dig up a plant for someone who has looked longingly at the lovely things in his garden.

James Romney, also a native of New York, came to DeBary in the early days, about five years ago. He had served in the U. S. Army for three years and in the U. S. Navy for thirty-five years. In the Navy, he achieved the rank of Master, in charge of Camouflage. Upon his retirement in 1949, he came to Florida to live. All will agree that he had earned the right really to retire. But he didn't do that. He interested himself in civic affairs and was elected to the presidency of the DeBary Civic Association of which he is now vice-president.

He sold his first home here and built another to own liking. Soon after the completion of his new home, he opened it for the organization of the DeBary Ground Observers' Post and became the Post Director. Under his enthusiastic leadership, this group has done its part in every operation of the Civil Defense Department of the Air Force. It was also named as "Post of the Month" last July and has been cited by Washington, D. C. for its fine work.

Mr. Romney's patriotism is unimpeachable as evidenced by his speech to the Post members last September. After pointing out the seriousness of the situation in the United States today, he said, "If any of you can do a better job than I am doing, I shall be happy to step aside and I shall work under his leadership and with him until I die or am no longer able."

Need we say more? One of the most successful business men in this community is Ray E. Peck, DeBary's first Realtor. He was born in a lumber camp in East Waterford, Pa. where his father was a lumberman. There were eight children in the family so, when the father was badly injured by a falling log, it became necessary for the eight year old Ray to contribute to his own support. His first job, carrying water to the men, netted him fifty cents a week. This was followed by work on a farm in a steel mill.

In his early twenties, he was given his first chance at a selling job. For five years he sold musical instruments for a firm in Pittsburgh. During the last of these years he married and his wife traveled around the country with him. Neither of them liked his homeless sort of existence and so, in 1930 he resigned and went into the insurance business. From then until 1938 he sold insurance for the Life Insurance Company of Richmond, Virginia in their office in Cincinnati. In 1933 he became Associate Manager and held that position for fifteen years. It was at a company convention in Miami that he was so overwhelmed by the beauty of Florida that all future vacations were spent somewhere in the state, and when he resigned from his position in 1948 he came to DeBary to live.

For about two and a half years he was a salesman for the Plantation Estate Corporation. On June 1, 1948 he went into business for himself and opened the first real estate office in DeBary. On September 1 he was invited to join the DeBary Realtors. He is a member of the DeLand, Seminole and DeBary Chambers of Commerce.

His success may be attributed to hard work and perseverance; to putting first things first. As a youth he was unable to obtain formal education because of financial difficulties at home. Nevertheless he took a course in salesmanship, the Dale Carnegie Course, two semesters of Real Estate Law and Practice in the University of Cincinnati. He holds a diploma for a special training course in insurance and is a graduate of the School of Adult Education in Florida Real Estate Practice.

On the Highway between Sanford and DeBary is a sign which expresses rather well how he feels about his work. It says, "DeBary is My Home—May I Help to Make It Yours?" With gardening as his hobby, his garden is one of the finest in DeBary by reason of his giving up sleep to make it so. You may see him working there many a morning at five o'clock. He is glad to advise and help his neighbors and is never happier than when he can dig up a plant for someone who has looked longingly at the lovely things in his garden.

W. G. Miller, one of DeBary's foremost builders, is a native of Canada. His father was a lumber man and builder, so young Miller grew up in the atmosphere of the building trade. He worked for only a very short time with his father, after which he went off on his own and in 1918 he came to the United States.

During World War II he served in the U. S. Navy and was one of the men who landed on the African beach with Gen. Patton. He was Chief Carpenter's Mate on a Transport which was torpedoed. After the war was over, he worked for a number of years at Ft. Lauderdale, Hollywood and Miami. In 1948 he came to DeBary and built homes here on a contract basis, in Plantation Estates. After a few months he transferred his activities to a new section of DeBary which was named Miller Acres. Since May of 1949 he has been busy developing this section and the still newer Lake Marie Estates adjoining Miller Acres. During the time from 1948 to the present he has built approximately 150 homes and is now completing the 100th home since May 1949.

That sounds like a large enough program for anyone but he has still other accomplishments to his credit. In 1932 he built Dr. Starke's Professional Building, a clinic for colored people in Sanford. He acted as advisor on the building of the Community Building in DeBary. He built the Administration Building for Lake Marie Estates, the Shell Gas Station, Dr. Frisson's Building and a large store which is as yet unoccupied. He is now building the DeBary Baptist Church, the first sanctuary to be built in this community.

He has been recognized as one of the outstanding builders in Florida. On January 28-29-30 of this year, the State Industrial Commission met in Gainesville in the Engineering Building of the Florida State University. Mr. Miller was one of the seventy builders invited to attend the Conference on Accident Prevention Engineering to insure greater safety in the homes of the future. Such problems as the number of steps in the home, heating of the home, the height of ovens etc. etc. were discussed, and plans were made to build better homes for retired people. DeBaryites are fortunate in having the benefit of such discussions and in having an up-to-date builder.

In his early twenties, he was given his first chance at a selling job. For five years he sold musical instruments for a firm in Pittsburgh. During the last of these years he married and his wife traveled around the country with him. Neither of them liked his homeless sort of existence and so, in 1930 he resigned and went into the insurance business. ## VJ-62 Personnel Aid In Mission Aboard Carrier

For the first time in the history of Photographic Squadron 62, a group of squadron personnel participated in a photographic training mission from an aircraft carrier.

The VJ-62 unit, consisting of one of the squadron's photo planes, (AJ-2P), three pilots and an eleven man crew, successfully completed a ten day exercise from the deck of the USS Intrepid in Caribbean waters. The operations were carried on in conjunction with the ships regularly scheduled activities and consisted of catapult launches, normal take-offs and aerial landings in addition to the aerial photographic work.

Lt. J. H. Roche served as Officer-in-Charge of the unit and divided the plane commander duties as pilot with Lt. W. Carrier. Both pilots had previously qualified in carrier operations, but had to re-qualify for the exercise.

The detachment returned to the NAAS Sanford the latter part of last week. Other personnel who contributed to the mission's success were Lt. (jg) J. L. Miller; D. Hamilton, ADC; R. F. McCann, AEI; R. G. McIntire, AMI; E. Hammock, ADC; G. E. Yates, AN; R. J. Strong, ATB; J. E. Cradle, AN; W. B. Todd, PHI; R. F. Reynolds, PHC; E. D. Updegraff, PHI and R. N. Lang, PHR.

Rice is one of VJ-62's three fully qualified enlisted Photographic Navigators, flying in the PhotoRecon AJ-2P aircraft. He is also a camera repairman.

At present, Rice is overseas with the squadron's Detachment "King". He has also served on three previous VJ-62 detachments, "Baker", "Fox" and "Item" for periods of three to six months each.

He is married to the former Jean Caldwell of Joliet, Ill. and has two children, a son, Jimmy, 4, and a daughter, Barbara Jean, 20 months. The Rice reside at 1804 Washington Ave. in Sanford.

Ford Co. Receives Letter Of Praise

Strickland-Morrison, Inc., of Sanford, was notified yesterday by the Ford Motor Company that it has been designated as a four-letter dealer for 1954.

The Jacksonville district office of the Ford Company, in a letter to the local agency, pointed out that the high standards that you have met in Finance, Management, Spirit and Facilities to attain this award should give you a tremendous advantage in the competitive months ahead.

The office added that, in the near future, "a member of this office will call on you to present the plaque, pin and other materials for the display at your dealership."

Midget Celebrates 70th Birthday

DRUMMOND, Okla. (AP)—Nieu DeBary, who says he's the world's oldest living midget, celebrated his 70th birthday Monday, as a guest of the Lions Club.

DeBary, a native of Hungary, stands three feet in cowboy boots and weighs around 25 pounds. The cigar-smoking midget has been a familiar sight on Drummond streets for 43 years. He retired from show business in 1932.

The office building, located directly behind the new hospital, is being constructed by Dr. A. W. Kops and Dr. John Morgan. Of one-story masonry construction, it will have two office rooms and a lobby. Lowell E. Oiler is the contractor.

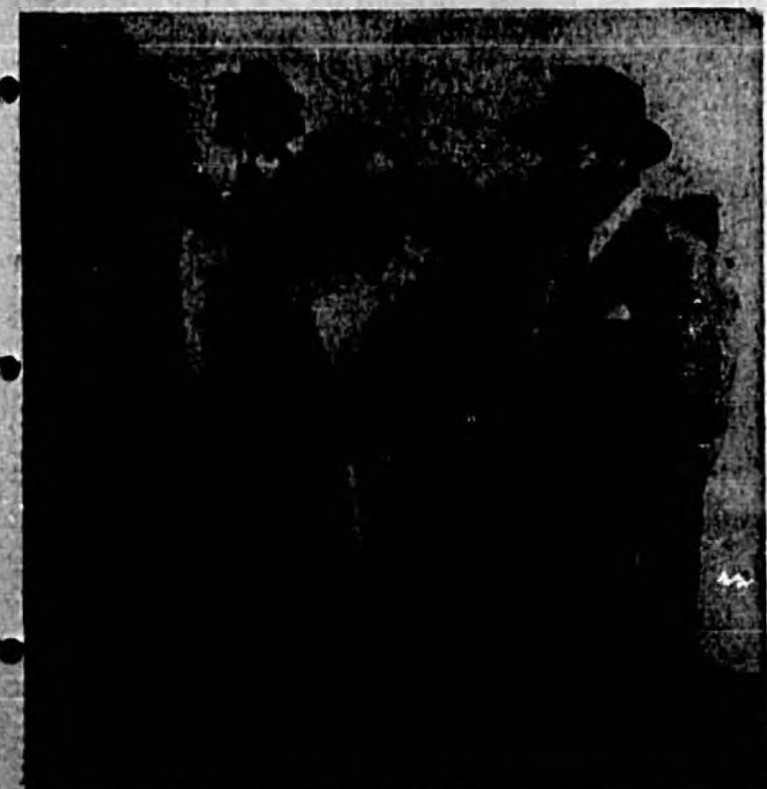

Prospects Taken On Tour Of Route

WEST PALM BEACH (AP) — Prospective buyers for Florida's turnpike bonds were taken on a bus tour of the upper end of the proposed pay-as-you-go route to let them inspect traffic on existing highways.

Thirty-seven representatives from large banking and insurance companies were inspecting the Miami - Fort Pierce area which would be linked by the toll road. The venture is to be financed with a 74 million dollar bond issue now awaiting validation before the State Supreme Court.

State Scholarship Tests To Be Given Here On March 22

Competitive examinations for state scholarships will be given in Seminole County at Seminole High School and Crook's Academy on March 22 beginning at 8:30 a. m.

The students who are away from home may take the test in the nearest examination center.

General scholarships for the preparation of teachers have a value of $400 a year and may be held for four years or until the holder receives the Bachelor's degree. A winner of general scholarship must promise to begin teaching in the public schools of Florida immediately following graduation from college and will be expected to teach consecutively for at least as many years as he received scholarship aid.

High school seniors, high school graduates, and college students are eligible if they are residents of Florida and are registered or intend to register in the school of education of an approved institution of higher learning in Florida to prepare for teaching in Florida's elementary or secondary schools.

Approved institutions are the Florida state-supported institutions of higher learning and the junior colleges and the following private institutions located in Florida: Barry College, Miami; Bethune-Cookman College, Daytona Beach; Florida Normal and Industrial Memorial College, St. Augustine; Florida Southern College, Lakeland; Jacksonville Junior College, Jacksonville; John B. Stetson University, DeLand; Rollins College, Winter Park; University of Miami, Coral Gables; and the University of Tampa, Tampa.

Any student may take the scholarship examination regardless of whether or not a vacancy exists in his county. Scholarship not used will be placed in a state pool and awarded to the highest scoring applicants from the state at large who do not receive a vacancy in their home counties due to an insufficiency of vacancies.

Foreign Secretary Asks Renunciation

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden appealed today for a renunciation of force by both sides as the first step toward solution of the Formosa crisis.

"We are trying to establish conditions in which a settlement can be obtained by conciliation and discussion," he told a news conference. "It would certainly help us in this task if some indication were given of a willingness to renounce the use of force."

The Florida Shorthorn Breeders Assn. named Austin Davis, Ocala, president; W. Y. Dwyer, Plant City, vice president; and re-elected Col. E. H. Wilberson, Eustis, secretary-treasurer.

Senators Disagree On Ike's Assertion

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senators disagreed today over the probable effect of President Eisenhower's assertion that the United States will fight no "aggressive war" in the Far East or elsewhere.

Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn.) interpreted Eisenhower's declaration as tacit admission of the existence of "two Chinas." Sen. Sparkman (D-Ala.) said he thinks "we can now write off any possibility of Chinese Nationalist return to the mainland."

Disagreeing, Sen. H. Alexander Smith (R-N.J.) said the President was merely telling the world that the Nationalist army is being held in readiness to strike if the Communists break the truce in either Korea or Indochina.

Post Yule Slump Hits Little Harder

TALLAHASSEE (AP) — The post-Christmas slump in citrus packing and retail sales businesses hit Florida a little harder than usual this year, the Industrial Commission reported today.

Though the January employment level in non-agricultural industries and business was one per cent above the like month last year, there were 63,000 workers out of jobs in comparison with 53,800 in January last year.

"Slower citrus movements followed the holiday season and resulted in a 1,800 drop from the December citrus packing employment estimate," the commission said.

"Layouts of retail sales people aimed only for the holiday period more than offset gains made by eating and drinking establishments. Hotels, while not yet to the level of last January, increased 2,800 from the previous month."

Dulles Says Islands Won't Hit Bargains

Project Sites Topic Of Meeting Tonight

Possible sites for the Negro housing project proposed by Brailley Otham will be discussed at a meeting today in the City Commission Room at City Hall. The meeting will begin at 7:30 p.m.

Convening jointly to debate the question will be the City Zoning and Planning Commission, the City Commission, and the County Commission, along with real estate brokers and building contractors.

Otham's bid to build the project on the vacant land across from the Memorial Stadium was rejected Feb. 18 by the Zoning Commission following angry protests against putting a "colored section" in the center of the white section of Sanford. At that time, tonight's meeting was set to solve the problem of a suitable site.

Several other possible sites were discussed at the February meeting. Including land belonging to the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad, but City Manager Warren Knowles told the group that the A.C.L. is acquiring land and will not sell under any circumstances.

Regarded with most favor was a 30-acre tract belonging to the American Fruit Growers, located at the end of west 13th St., across from Crook's Academy in the Goldsboro district.

The clause proposed by the Company reads as follows, "As the Parties have agreed on procedures for handling employee complaints and grievances, they further agree that there will be no lockouts, slowdowns, or other work stoppages during the life of this Agreement/Contract."

The purpose of the clause is to assure uninterrupted service to the public, Rothermel said, and to end walkouts without warning which are called to bring pressure to bear on the Company. There have been 103 such walkouts since mid-1951, he said. At the time present bargaining started they were occurring in Southern Bell at the rate of one every 10 days.

"In working with the Union to eliminate these quickie strikes," Rothermel continued, "The Company has been patient and has exhausted every other approach. For several years we have tried to solve this problem short of adding a contract clause."

"This clause does not in any way affect the right of the Union to strike at the expiration of the contract," Rothermel went on. "What it does is to recognize that the public which is paying for uninterrupted telephone service has a right to insist that the company and its employees furnish it."

The public relies on uninterrupted telephone service now as never before, Rothermel stated, pointing out that in Sanford 31,650 local telephone calls are made a day, plus 1,845 daily long distance calls.

"Many involve the public health and safety. In this day of such reliance on the telephone, the service is too vital to be at the mercy of Union Leaders who can ignore orderly methods of settling differences and call workers off the job."

Rothermel said the company has taken many steps in current bargaining to reach an agreement, such as:

1. Offered increases to employees ranging up to $4 a week. A wage increase was one of the Union objectives in the bargaining.

2. Streamlined the grievance procedures so settlements can be reached more quickly.

3. Reclassified certain titles and towns to higher wage schedules.

4. Shortened evening and work schedules.

"In a labor contract, the company guarantees the good working conditions and to pay the increased wages. It is certainly not too much to ask that the Union, in return, guarantee to respect the Contract and not engage in strikes while the contract is in force," Rothermel concluded.

Only former Sheriff Ralph Matthews and a jailer identified as Ben Clark were there all the time, however, Phillips told the jury.

The patrolman named several other persons as having been at the jail during the time in question.

Sources Give Hint Of Release

Abandonment May Spell Peace

TAIPEI, Formosa, (AP) — U. S. Secretary of State Dulles told Chinese Nationalist President Chiang Kai-shek today that Quemoy and the Matsus were not on the bargaining table for a cease-fire in the Chinese civil war.

But sources close to the secretary hinted the offshore islands might be abandoned to the Reds on two conditions:

1. That the abandonment would bring a guaranteed peace to Asia, and

2. That Nationalist China would agree to the move.

The Nationalists may not agree under any circumstances. The islands are the last important outposts they hold off the Red mainland.

Dulles reaffirmed U. S. determination to defend Formosa and the Pescadores, as pledged in the mutual defense pact ratified earlier today.

Dulles left for Washington late in the afternoon, winding up a whirlwind tour of Thailand, Burma, Laos, Cambodia, South Vietnam, the Philippines and Formosa.

Thirty-seven minutes after he arrived today he signed the documents that brought into force the mutual defense pact between the United States and Nationalist China. Nationalist Foreign Minister George Yeh signed for China.

The treaty itself was signed in Washington Dec. 2. It commits the United States to defend Formosa and the Pescadores, gives the United States the right to dispose land, air and sea forces in and about the area, and binds the two countries to act against an armed attack in the west Pacific.

In his airport statement, Dulles said the United States is committed to "closer and more effective cooperation for the defense of the treaty area."

He emphasized the lack of commitment to Quemoy and the Matsus in these words:

"It is not possible at this time to state explicitly how that defense will be conducted."

That leaves open the question of whether the United States actively would defend the offshore outposts if that becomes necessary to the defense of Formosa and the Pescadores.

Dulles did not go into the controversial question of the creation of "two Chinas" if an ultimate cease-fire is attained—Formosa and the mainland.

Young Generation Highlight Of Talk By H. Henderson

The young people of the world held the key to peace and understanding, Horace Henderson told the Junior Chamber of Commerce at its weekly luncheon meeting today at the Yacht Club.

"We are facing the most critical period in the history of mankind," he declared. "We know how to fight wars, but this time we are unprepared. We have no defense as yet. For this is a war of ideas, and we are fighting for the minds of men."

Henderson, recently named the "Outstanding Jaycee of the World," said the answer to the global problem is not guns or dollars. The people in Europe and Asia, he said, want friendship and cooperation, not a handout from America.

The only way the United States can win in the "cold war" is through "the enlightened leadership that must come from the young people of today," Henderson continued.

Henderson, of Williamsburg, Va., received a $25,000 American Heritage Foundation award as a result of his work in the Jaycees and used the grant to make a world tour in the interests of the organization. His talk today dealt with his experiences.

Chuckles echoed around the room as Henderson told how "some enterprising young man" had taken the punch out of Communist propaganda signs in Europe.

"The signs are all over Europe," he said. "They read: 'Americans Go Home.' Well, some enterprising young man added 'Via TWA' to the bottom of all the signs he came across."

He told how the paralysis of Communism had gripped Russia satellite nations. In Guatemala City, for instance, he said he was confronted by closed shops and deserted streets. On the walls of buildings were large posters of Uncle Sam with bloody hands.

Communism thrives on poverty, Henderson emphasized. He described the confusion over the world as a propaganda popularity contest between Communism and Democracy.

He said the Communists take young men and women out of communities, indoctrinate them to Communism in Russia, and then place them back in their communities.

"At the present time," Henderson declared, "we are losing the contest, but we can still overcome the lead held by the Communists."

Henderson received the "Outstanding Jaycee of the World" title at the organization's international conference in Mexico City recently.

He is visiting his parents, Dr. and Mrs. Brantley Henderson, who live on Ross Lake, seven miles west of Sanford. His father was present at the meeting today.

He once lived for about six months with his parents near here and later spent a year in Altamonte Springs, during which time he worked as a real estate salesman for Marie Williams in Orlando.

It was during that time that Henderson attended his first Jaycee meeting in Orlando. When he returned to his native Williamsburg in 1947, he organized a Jaycee unit there and became its president.

He held various district and state offices in the Jaycees in Virginia and became national vice-president in 1950, international vice-president in 1953 and national president in 1954.
