BRITISH POLICY OF ISOLATION TO BE DROPPED

Britain Undertakes Very Difficult Task

German Foreign Office
Adopts Waiting Attitude
on Negotiations

LONDON, June 10.—Official papers explaining the Anglo-French accord in replying to Germany's overtures for a pact guaranteeing Germany's western frontiers will not be presented to parliament, Mr. Baldwin, the prime minister, explained in the house of commons Tuesday, until the British foreign secretary, Austen Chamberlain, returns to London at the end of next week. An authoritative statement given out at night, however, indicates fully the nature of the proposed pact, should Germany accept—as seemed likely by the British government—will institute an entirely new factor in European relations.

First, Great Britain will abandon her policy of isolation and will virtually a member of a four power alliance—for it is assumed Italy will join—to preserve the peace of Europe and guarantee the frontiers of France, Belgium and Germany as established under the Versailles Treaty against violation on any side, and will employ the aid of her defensive forces for a purpose.

The pact will be bi-lateral, Great Britain undertaking to guarantee the frontiers against unprovoked attack by either France or Germany. But the whole pact will be under the aegis of the League of Nations, which Germany must join and any action taken will be by the League Council.

Germany is waiting. The German foreign office has assumed a wait-and-see attitude with respect to the negotiations for the proposed security pact.

Most of the so-called semi-independent comment emanating from these days on the Briand-Chamberlain negotiations is utter nonsense and merely makes the complicated situation more confused. The observation today that the German government, therefore, does not intend to make any commitment at this stage, "Germany," said the official, "insisted from the beginning on two points—first, that the whole pact be a security pact, including a security pact of execution of the Covenant and Germany's entry into the League of Nations, constitutes one point and cannot be settled except jointly, and second, that the only method of disposing of the matter is by a conference where the responsible statesmen can meet face to face."

Neither Los Angeles Nor Shenandoah Able To Make Western Trip, Says Steele

LAKEHURST, N. J., June 10.—Captain George W. Steele, Jr., commander of the Naval Air Station, where the navy dirigibles, Los Angeles and Shenandoah are berthed, announced Tuesday that it will not be possible to get either ship to Minnesota in time for the Norse-American Centennial.

Captain Steele said it would require about a week to repair damage suffered by the engines of the Los Angeles in its attempt to fly to Minnesota Sunday, and that the Shenandoah could not be made ready for the flight in less than two weeks.

"All the Shenandoah's gas cells," he said, "are folded and stored away. It would be necessary to re-prepare some of the helium now in the Los Angeles and then transfer it to the Shenandoah. We haven't inflated a ship at Lakehurst for some time and hope that we will have no difficulty in getting started efficiently. It will not be possible to get either ship to Minnesota in time for the Norse-American Centennial."

The Shenandoah is to fly to Portland, Me., July 4, for the governor's conference there.

The trouble encountered by the Los Angeles Sunday, it was explained, disclosed that its engines required a complete overhauling. Four will be sent to the government aircraft factory at Philadelphia for this purpose, the other being a spare, which has been operated only 88 hours. Meanwhile, the Los Angeles will be in the shop, and when the overhauling of the others has been completed, the plane is expected to be in first class condition.

DARROW IS TO HELP TEACHER OF EVOLUTION AT DESK AFTER WESTERN TRIP

Famous Criminal Lawyer To Give Dramatic Touch To Scopes Trial On Teaching The Theory of Evolution

Nation's Attention Is On Little Town

Parties Interested In Case Propose to Make It Issue Of Tremendous Magnitude

NEW YORK, June 10.—The ability of Clarence Darrow, Chicago lawyer, to dramatize court actions as well as his legal accomplishments, Tuesday led to his selection as one of the defense counsel in the trial of John T. Scopes, Dayton, Tenn., high school teacher, next month for violation of the Tennessee evolution law.

Forest Bailey, of the American Civil Liberties Union, which is organizing the defense forces, announced Mr. Darrow's selection Tuesday. He made no secret of the fact that the defense desires to make the trial so dramatic as to focus the attention of the nation upon the little Tennessee town.

Before Mr. Darrow arrived yesterday the Civil Liberties Union had been divided as to the wisdom of retaining him as counsel, as some members thought his views so liberal that his defense might not be fully comprehended by the country. However, Mr. Darrow took a prominent part in considering the best defense for the accused teacher and opposition to his selection was removed.

The defense, Mr. Bailey said, has settled fairly definitely its course of action. It is hoped, he said, to make the trial an event of outstanding importance which will educate the public to the need of absolute freedom in thought and teaching.

"Mr. Darrow," he said, "is interested primarily in educating the public. He hopes to make this issue of such magnitude as to make the public think about religion and its relation to the theory of evolution and education."

Belgium Now Appears As Winner Of Gordon-Bennett International Balloon Race

BRUSSELS, June 10.—It seemed certain today that Belgium would be declared the winner of the first renewal of the Gordon-Bennett cup race for lighter than air balloons. Last evening Ernest De Muyter, Belgium's national hero, who piloted the bag Belgica, was credited with having gone the greatest distance from the starting point, 422 miles away.

Actually the Goodyear 3rd, piloted by the American, W. D. Van Orman, covered 710 kilometers (441.18 miles), but dropped in the Atlantic near the Ushant Light, and Van Orman likely will be disqualified under the rules governing the race.

Belgium's second string man, Veenstra, flying the Prince Leopold, is the lone aeronaut out of the eighteen who started the race who had not reported up to ten o'clock tonight. Veenstra has been the runner-up to De Muyter in all the balloon races in Europe in recent years and there is a strong hope among his partisans tonight that he may yet prove to be the winner.

Although three of the eighteen starters dropped into the sea all their crews were saved. The official results as announced tonight follow:

Belgica of Belgium, Pilot De Muyter, landed at Quimper, France, 680 kilometers (422.54 miles).
Champino V, Italian, landed at Lonsdale, France, 570 kilometers (354.19 miles).
Acrostic, Italian, landed at Romille, 540 kilometers (335.54 miles).

BATTLE IS STILL RAGING ABOUT CITY OF CANTON

Yuanese, Cantonese
Have Been Fighting
For Past 60 Hours
Without Any Break

Situation Said To Be Very Tense Now

Fear Is Expressed For Foreign Settlement Near Firing Lines

CANTON, June 10.—Fighting between Yuanese and Cantonese troops which has lasted almost without a break for 60 hours has caused very little damage because of the barricaded positions of the opposing factions. The fighting began at 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

It is believed the contest will be protracted, with small chance of a decision until the armies meet in the East and West river districts.

Cantonese troops tonight were closing in on the city of Canton, but all attempts to capture the city from the Yuanese troops holding it had failed. Heavy firing continued throughout the night.

General Hsu Chung Chi and his Cantonese troops are reported advancing on the city from the East and General Chu Pei Tai, with further reinforcements is reported on his way down from the North river.

Earlier reports that Commander Wing Fung, of the gunboat Popik, had taken a bribe from the Yuanese and decamped tonight proved incorrect. Wing, it since was reported, collected $100,000 from the Yuanese, but handed it over to the Kwangtung forces. The Popik apparently acceding to the Yuanese demands, conveyed a number of soldiers across the river, where they promptly were captured by the Cantonese enemies, together with a large quantity of opium and counterfeit coins. The situations in the foreign settlements has been extremely tense today. The fighting has been going on continuously since Saturday.

POSTAL RECEIPTS SHOW DECLINE IN MAY'S BUSINESS

For the 1st Time This Year Stamp Sales Slump; Hall Says Decrease Caused By Misunderstanding of Rates

WASHINGTON, June 10.—The total wheat crop of the United States, forecast Tuesday by the department of agriculture at 901,000,000 bushels is the smallest since 1917 and 212,000,000 less than produced last year.

Commenting on the forecast, the crop reporting board stated that the requirements of wheat for domestic consumption do not greatly differ from the usual, indicating there would be little or no wheat for export from this year's crop.

While the barley crop is larger than last year's production, those of oats, rye, hay, peaches and pears are smaller.

Winter wheat fared badly throughout most of the belt during May because of low temperatures, which retarded the plants, weakened by the adverse winter conditions. Production of 407,000,000 bushels is forecast from the June 1 condition, which was 66.5 per cent of a normal, or 10.5 points below the May 1 condition. There was reduction of 38,000,000 bushels since the May forecast.

The winter wheat acre yield is placed at 12,504 bushels on June 1 conditions. Not since 1904 has the yield been so low, while records back as far as 1890 do not disclose yield as low as this year's. The yield for 1924 was 12,504 bushels on June 1 conditions, which was 66.5 per cent of a normal, or 10.5 points below the May 1 condition. There was reduction of 38,000,000 bushels since the May forecast.

Spring wheat condition is fair to good, the cold weather having done no serious damage, and a crop of 254,000,000 bushels is forecast. That is only 29,000,000 bushels less than last year and 9,000,000 bushels more than the average production of the last five years. This year's acreage is 19.2 per cent larger than that of last year, while the oats and barley acreages also are larger. The increased oats acreage is due partly to the showing of its grain on some of the abandoned winter wheat acreage.

Britain Undertakes Very Difficult Task

German Foreign Office
Adopts Waiting Attitude
on Negotiations

LONDON, June 10.—Official papers explaining the Anglo-French accord in replying to Germany's overtures for a pact guaranteeing Germany's western frontiers will not be presented to parliament, Mr. Baldwin, the prime minister, explained in the house of commons Tuesday, until the British foreign secretary, Austen Chamberlain, returns to London at the end of next week.

An authoritative statement given out at night, however, indicates fully the nature of the proposed pact, should Germany accept—as seemed likely by the British government—will institute an entirely new factor in European relations.

First, Great Britain will abandon her policy of isolation and will virtually a member of a four power alliance—for it is assumed Italy will join—to preserve the peace of Europe and guarantee the frontiers of France, Belgium and Germany as established under the Versailles Treaty against violation on any side, and will employ the aid of her defensive forces for a purpose.

The pact will be bi-lateral, Great Britain undertaking to guarantee the frontiers

U.S. LOAN TO BE USED TO AVERT FRANC DECLINE

Caillaux Declares He Will Act Only When It Will Do Most Good; Sterling Touches 103

Intervention May Come During Today

Wall Street Following All Trade Exchange With Much Interest

PARIS, June 8.—The loan of $100,000,000 which France negotiated with the Morgan firm will be brought into play, the French Ministry of Finance announced Sunday in an attempt to prevent the further fall of the franc.

Sterling touched 103 and the dollar passed 21 francs Sunday. The officials of the Ministry of Finance are convinced that the rise in Anglo-Saxon exchange is entirely due to speculation, and as outlined in M. Caillaux's recent declaration, the Morgan loan, set aside to meet just such an emergency, will be brought into the market to stem the rising tide of sterling and the dollar.

The current talk in Paris circles the past week, that M. Caillaux did not intend to interfere in exchange operations until sterling reached 120 and the dollar 25 francs officially is denied at the Ministry of Finance, which insists that it "will step in at the psychological moment, when and where it will do the most good."

The opening of the Bourse today is awaited with much interest in view of the announcement.

"Proof that the latest fall in the franc was due entirely to adverse speculation is shown by Saturday exchange movement," an official informed the correspondents at the finance ministry today. "The New York and London stock exchanges were closed Saturday, yet the franc was propelled downward in the Paris Bourse by internal speculation. We can employ sufficient ammunition to halt this latest offense, and are ready to do so."

Whether this intervention will occur Monday or Tuesday, was not announced, as this "would defeat its own ends" but the feeling at the ministry of finance was that some "short" will receive similar squeezing as took place in March 1924, when the Morgan loan was originally made and the dollar was hammered down from 29 to 18 francs between March 12 and 20.

Exchange Watched Closely.

NEW YORK, June 8.—With American credits of nearly half a billion dollars at the disposal of foreign governments for the protection of their currencies, Wall Street is scanning closely the flow of international trade exchange.

Great Britain, it is believed, will find it necessary to draw upon the $300,000,000 available here for maintaining sterling around par, but it would not be surprising if both France and Italy utilized their Morgan credits.

Postal Revenue Shows Decrease Last Month

WASHINGTON, June 8.—Postal revenues instead of being boosted as contemplated in the increased postage rates, which became effective April 15, are declining at the rate of more than $12,000,000 a year, it was indicated today in a summary of May receipts. Postal officials are awaiting June reports, which are expected to show whether the business decrease is temporary.

This is the time to Buy in Florida

PROPERTY purchased now should be resold at a big profit during the coming fall and winter months. The natural increase in values in the next six months will be great and the person who owns property will find many people in Florida buying property next fall.

FOR $25 cash a lot can be purchased in Oak Hill. The monthly payments are easy. The value of lots in this subdivision will undoubtedly increase greatly between this time and the coming winter months.

WHERE can you find a better investment opportunity for the small amount cash required than is offered you in Oak Hill.

CLOSE enough to be within easy reach of the business section of the city, and far enough out to get away from the section for discriminating people.

IF you will call at our office we shall be pleased to take you to the property and you will be under no obligation to buy. Oak Hill sells itself.

Pacific Coast Bootleggers Hire Chronic Ailers To Peddle Stuff

SPOKANE, Wash., June 9.—Latest strategy of bootleggers of this locality, the civil authorities declare, is to hire some person suffering from chronic illness to market their wares. Then when the peddler comes before a court, the plea is made that he has no money and that a jail sentence would mean sure death.

Judge's statement. "Bootleggers that I have prosecuted during the last month have claimed to be the victims of every disease from barter's itch to galloping consumption," he said. "The man who is caught with the liquor in his possession usually is undersized, and pleads for the courts to give him a chance to get out into the country and regain his health."

Roman Editors Find Way to Evade Censor

ROME, June 10.—Italian newspapers devoted to exposing the cause of political parties opposed to Fascism, have initiated a novel method of serving their readers with news and opinions criticizing the government.

Each time an edition of an opposition newspaper is suppressed by the censors, a subsequent edition prints a modest item setting forth the title of the article which caused the suppression. But each title is significant enough to explain the context of the offending article.

For example, the Mondo says, "Our second edition was suppressed because of an article entitled 'Responsibility,' commenting on a similar article in the Popolo d'Italia." Our third edition was suppressed because of a comment on the reply of Minister Rocca on the interrogation of the Fascist Deputy De Marsico about the transfer of certain Milanese magistrates."

Windsor Castle Most Difficult to Clean

WINDSOR-ON-THAMES, June 9.—Of all the spring cleaning jobs in the houses of royalty, that at Windsor Castle is the most difficult because of a two-ton carpet which covers the floor of the Waterloo Chamber, and which has to be taken outdoors and beaten by hand.

The Waterloo Chamber is used as the royal dining room during Ascot week, when King George and Queen Mary made Windsor their headquarters. A force of about 60 men is required to carry the massive carpet down stairs to the lawns. It is 80 feet long and 40 feet wide and was woven in India by the prisoners of Agra, who were engaged on the task seven years.

32 Arrested As Result Of Attack on Klansmen

CLINTON, Mass., June 10.—Thirty-two men are under arrest today as a result of a riot after an outdoor meeting of the Ku Klux Klan. Scores were apparently injured in the fighting, which was not stopped by 20 state police patrolmen who had charged the battling crowd. Three were hurt seriously enough to be treated by physicians.

The riot was started shortly before midnight when a procession of more than 300 klansmen's cars suddenly were attacked by a crowd throwing bricks and swinging clubs. State troops, who had patrolled the ground where the Klan meeting was held, were escorting Klan machines through Clinton when the riot started.

Five Are Electrocuted As Tension Wire Falls

HAVANA, June 10.—Five persons were electrocuted in the city of Santa Clara when a high tension wire across the Belco River fell on the bridge last night. A boy, Oscar Santoya, whose father, mother and sister were killed, miraculously, was saved after receiving severe burns.

Decorous Men Make the Best Husbands, Assert Co-Eds of California

LOS ANGELES, June 10.—Results of a questionnaire of 695 co-eds of the University of California southern branch held here recently, revealed that men of the "goody-goody" type and who have attitude toward life and its recognized institutions are the ideal husbands desired by modern college girls. The query was submitted by the civic education department of the institution for the purpose of ascertaining what standards are necessary for husbands.

Japanese Association Sends Envoy to Geneva

GENEVA, June 10.—Japanese activities at the League of Nations which are already considerable, have been given a new impetus by the decision of the Japanese Association for the League of Nations to send a permanent representative to the league. The choice has fallen upon N. M. Inagaki, former general secretary of the association at Tokyo. Mr. Inagaki has already arrived at Geneva, where he will permanently reside and will keep his home organization constantly informed concerning league doings.

5000 Are To Attend Quincy Celebration

QUINCY, June 10.—More than 5,000 farmers are expected to attend the Farmers' Celebration here on July 4, according to the committee on arrangements who announced plans for the occasion here. The farmers will come from Western Florida, South Georgia and Alabama.

TAMPA, June 10.—The first portable shower bath for public use by Tampa children has been put in operation on the streets of the city under the auspices of the Recreational Association and the Junior Board of Trade with the co-operation of the city water works department. The shower is attached to the fire hydrants and supplies shower for about thirty children at one time. It is planned to have similar showers at all the play grounds throughout the city.

Tampa Children Enjoy Portable Shower Bath

SARASOTA, June 10.—The local chamber of commerce, the largest membership body of any chamber in the United States based on the population of the city, has had a remarkable growth in the past year, according to the annual report just made public. One year ago the local chamber had no equipment and was $3,000 in debt, the report shows, while today it has $3,000 worth of equipment, is credited with a balance of $18,000 in a local bank and has $8,000 due it.

Sarasota Chamber Has Rapid Growth in Year

Food experts say people eat less since the war. That's fine. But they pay more for it. In Arabic the word "sheik" means "an old man," while in English it means "a flapper's fish."

SICKLY, PEEVISH CHILDREN Children suffering from intestinal worms are cross, restless and unhealthy. There are other symptoms, however. If the child is pale, has dark rings under the eyes, bad breath and takes no interest in play, it is almost a certainty that worms are eating away its vitality. The surest remedy for worms is White's Cream Vermifuge. It is positive destruction to the worms but harmless to the child. Price 35c. Sold by Lane's Drug Store.

How do you pay

Your Physician Your Dentist?

Your Promptness in Paying These Bills Is a Part of Your Credit Record

Your credit record is available to every member of the Retail Credit Men's Association of Sanford.

The Association is composed of the merchants and professional men who extend you credit when you buy their merchandise or their service. They exchange with each other the experience they have with you, your use or abuse of the privilege of credit.

"THE PRIVILEGE OF CREDIT"

Do you know what that means?

It means when you need a suit of clothes, or a lawn mower, or five yards of muslin, or have your teeth fixed, or call the doctor to your bedside, that you don't have to pay cash.

It means (unless special arrangements were made at time the bill was incurred) that the account is due and payable in full upon the first of the following month and must be paid in full not later than the 10th, or else you are slow pay.

Some people fail to realize that physicians' and dentists' bills must be paid promptly. Some apparently pay such bill when they get ready—and they "get ready" months after payment is due.

Through its information bureau, the Retail Credit Men's Association finds there are too many people reported "slow pay" and "very slow" by professional men.

Steps are being taken to correct this evil.

An appeal to your pride should be sufficient. You buy from your physician and your dentist the thing that you care as most important of this world's goods—health. The man or woman who does not pay promptly for VALUABLE SERVICE ought not and will not be considered a good moral risk at the hands of those who sell merchandise.

Military Revolution In Portugal Ended

LISBON, June 10.—The much talked of military revolution having collapsed, the government has established martial law. Portugal is now under strict military rule, and all newspapers that do not appear and bow down to the government have been suspended. These include the Seculo and the Epoca.

Several regiments have been dissolved, and dozens of officers are imprisoned in various fortresses in different parts of the country. There are evidences that the authorities are not reassured on the question of the maintenance of public order. There is much political intrigue going on, and military unrest.

New Hungarian Stamp Popular In England

LONDON, June 10.—Arrival of the first new sports postage stamps of Hungary created a stir in London philatelist circles, where very high prices were paid for several specimens. The set of eight denominations were sold at about 100 percent above the postal value in Budapest when they first came out, the premium going toward a fund to help the Hungarian sports associations.

The designs include fencing, skating, ski-ing, a hurdle race, an athletic parade, a scouts' camp and a football match, while a particularly striking stamp is that illustrating diving, rowing and swimming.

SAVED—a precious Egg

MAYONNAISE without an egg! Don't you often want to make mayonnaise—but you can't spare the time! It's so tedious dropping the oil into the egg yolk—and sometimes it curdles and you have to start all over. And that means two egg yolks, with eggs so high.

three-quarters of a cup of oil, stirring with an egg beater.

Presto chango—of a sudden it turns thick as the best egg mayonnaise you ever made. Stir in two tablespoons of vinegar or lemon juice and it's all done. You aren't tired, the precious eggs are saved—and you have most of a can of Borden's for a dessert, a creamy soup, or cocoa for lunch.

Here's the new trick—and you save your eggs for the breakfast bacon. Mix a half teaspoon each of salt and mustard and half as much paprika and pepper. Pour in three tablespoons of Borden's Evaporated milk (this is the wonder worker) and add, gradually at first,

Florida's Back Country The Entire United States

THE importance of a "back country" as a factor in the permanent prosperity of a community is permanent. Florida's "back country" is the entire United States.

In a very extraordinary way the general growth and prosperity of the United States is contributing to the prosperity of Florida. Without precedent in the history of the country is the present "rush" to Florida.

From every part of its "back country" an immense and ever increasing transient population is coming into this state.

Money is pouring into the state and extraordinary expansion and business activity is taking place.

Florida is spending freely. Luxuries as well as necessities are in great demand.

The Bad Golfer Who Was Good.

"I'm a golfer, St. Peter!" the spirit proclaimed.
 "And of much I have done I am truly ashamed,
 I have fumbled and I've dubbed to my pitiful cost,
 But I blamed not the caddy whenever I lost.

"I've sliced and I've hooked and I've been in the rough,
 Twenty years I've played golf, I've had trouble enough!
 I've cursed when in sand traps, of that there's no doubt
 But I covered my footprints before I went out.

"I'm a golfer, St. Peter! just one of the nuts!
 My sins they are many, I've taken three putts
 Countless times when I shouldn't, my record is black,
 But always the divots I cut, I put back!

"I'm an old hundred shooter! I thought I was great.
 When ever I finished around ninety-eight.
 I was slow at the frame, I confess it to you,
 But I never refused to let others go through."

"Come in," said St. Peter, "come in and sit down!
 Come in and I'll give you a harp and a crown!
 I've a welcome for you, with the saints you may dwell,
 For it takes moral courage to play bad golf well."

Our Brother Citizens' The Seminoles

Has any one explained to Willie Willie or to the gentleman and ladies of the Bowleg family that they are privileged to vote in Florida, and to take a part in naming the officials who run the mysterious government?

Under the federal law by which all Indians are made citizens of the United States, the Seminoles of Florida automatically acquire the voting franchise. If they are good Democrats they can participate in the Primary elections. They can run for office with all the speed they can muster. And whether they know what it is all about or not, they can bask in the kindness of the vote-seeking candidate and put their mark for him on the election ballots.

Far be it from The Herald to insinuate that the Seminole Indian is not as capable of voting his convictions as are numbers of his white brothers. He merely may go at the business more simply. He may frankly choose the candidate who gives him the most for his vote, and then forget all about the silly government until another campaign comes around with its chance to give allegiance to the crowd that gives him the most for his cross marks.

What intrigues The Herald, however, is the idea of the Seminole woman going to the polls to vote. The Seminole woman is the business manager of her household. She keeps the money and dispenses it. She does most of the manual labor. And back of her silent face is wisdom rarely seen. Suppose she should become a member of the "Florida League of Women Voters" and should break her silence; what then!

Out in California, Minnesota and Wisconsin this new federal law is worrying politicians quite a bit. Here in Florida where Indians are few, and no one especially interested in their welfare, or their power, their new citizenship status does not mean much.

But the matter should really be of considerable interest. If the Seminoles are citizens of Florida they must pay taxes on the lands they hold in the Everglades, mustn't they? They also must be amenable to the laws of the state. Seminole children must go to the public schools. Seminole men and women must obtain marriage licenses before they marry. And no man must have more than one wife.

The first time you meet a Seminole Indian, talk all this over with him and see what he has to say.

His Name Was Hill

Who originated the postage stamp anyway?

With the increase in postage rates, and the placing of additional stamps on postal cards and other pieces of mail, that question has been in the minds of many persons.

Last week during the campaign for better mailing of letters we read a lot about the necessity of placing sufficient stamps on our letters if we really wanted them to reach their destinations and if we would keep them out of the dead letter office.

Among the articles coming to our attention was one giving an account of the manner in which the first postage stamp came into being. The story is an interesting one, and even though the author is unknown, we are repeating it for the benefit of Herald readers.

It was about the year 1840 that Rowland Hill, while crossing a district in the north of England, arrived at the door of an inn where a postman had stopped to deliver a letter. The young girl, who came to receive it, turned the letter over in her hands and asked the amount of the postage. The postman demanded a shilling, which to the girl who was poor, was a large sum. She sighed sadly remarking that the letter was from her brother but that as she had no money she would have to give it back to the postman.

Touched with pity, Mr. Hill paid the postage, and gave the letter to the girl, who seemed greatly embarrassed. The postman had scarcely gone, when the young innkeeper's daughter confessed that it was a trick between her brother and her. Some signs on the envelope told her all that she wanted to know, but the envelope contained no writing.

"We are both so poor," she said, "that we invented this method of corresponding without paying for the letters."

Rowland Hill, continuing on his journey, asked himself if a system giving rise to such frauds was not a vicious one. Before sunset he had planned to organize the postal service on a new basis.

IF THOU ARE a man, admire those who attempt great things, even though they fail.—Seneca.

MY FAVORITE STORIES
 BY IRVIN S. COBB

When Admiral Peary, then a naval commander, came back from the Pole a group of special correspondents for big city papers secured a tug from the Dominion government and steamed up the Labrador coast to meet the returning explorer and to get the first interview with him.

In the party was one New York correspondent who spent three days framing a highly scientific and involved question which was designed, as he thought, to bring out the exact truth regarding Peary's achievement. It will be remembered that the Dr. Cook controversy was then raging.

All the way up the coast he was insisting that he should have a chance, without interruption, to fire his broadside.

Peary's answer, he stated, would inevitably have a direct bearing upon the claims of Dr. Cook and he would show conclusively whether

Peary had really reached the Pole. In a body the newspaper men boarded Peary's ship and met him. After the first exchange of greetings and congratulations the spokesman for the interviewers cleared his throat and said: "Commander Peary, this gentleman here has a very important question to ask you."

Peary turned aggressively up on the New Yorker. His bushy eyebrows and bushier mustache were bristling.

"What do you want to know?" he demanded briskly.

The New York newspaper man was seized with confusion. He fumbled in his pockets and produced a cigarette.

"What is it you want to ask me?" repeated Peary sharply.

The correspondent swallowed hard: "Have you got a match?" he inquired.

RIDING WITH DE PALMA
 TAMPA TRIBUNE

A friend was invited by Ralph De Palma, the automobile racer, to take a ride along the road of Long Island on a recent Sunday afternoon. The friend was not fond of speeding and accepted the invitation with some apprehension. The story he tells is interesting, not because it chronicles wild bursts of speed and hair-breadth escapes, but because of the light it sheds on the mind of a really expert driver and his attitude toward those who take their lives in their hands every time they grasp the steering wheel.

The first surprise of the friend was occasioned by the moderate speed in which his host indulged, although he was driving a powerful car. Flivvers and cheap cars of all sorts whizzed past De Palma's racer as if it were standing still. But they provided no temptation to the veteran to step on the gas. He made frequent comments to his companion on the recklessness of those other drivers in tearing along crowded thoroughfares.

Finally, as De Palma approached a railway grade crossing, he shifted into "slow" and moderated his already reasonable pace. "I always shift at crossings," he remarked half apologetically to his guest. Just then a youth driving a small runabout came alongside. He was peevish at having had to diminish his pace because of De Palma's caution. "Whaddye mean, holding up traffic?" he demanded of the racer. "Where did you learn to drive, anyway?" And it is recorded that Mr. De Palma there and then proceeded to deliver a brief lecture to the impatient youth on the advantages of safe driving, especially at grade crossings.

When their ride was finished De Palma drew a long sigh of relief. "It always makes me nervous," he said, "to go driving on the roads Sunday afternoon. It scares me and see the way motorists take chances with death at every turn." Speed and recklessness are the marks, not of the expert driver, but of the immature and incompact. It would be a good thing to have a man like De Palma address some of these meetings on "safer driving" that are being held throughout the country. Certainly he would speak with authority.

Big Men Are Scarce. A Cure for Cynicism. Outlawing War. Heat Not So Bad.
 By ARTHUR BRISBANE
 (Copyright 1925)

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE complains that "big men" are scarce. That has always been. Caesar couldn't find leaders for his armies. President Coolidge lacks a man for his tariff commission. Few big, able men, inhabit the earth, fortunately for the average man.

WHEN W. R. HEARST was very young, running The San Francisco Examiner, after leaving Harvard, he complained to his father Senator George Hearst, that so many men were "fools." The father replied: "That's true, Willie, but let us not be too hard on the fools. If there were not so many of them, life be less easy for you, me and some others."

OIL COSTS more, gasoline will go higher, stocks of good oil companies will go up, and when they do the crop of "get-rich-quick" geese will be persuaded, as usual to buy stock in companies that have no oil.

REMEMBER THIS, little inventors: If a thing is good, the inside gentlemen, keep it. They don't offer it to you at a tenth of its value.

The English tourist said to a Western restaurant keeper: "A nice, thick porterhouse, please, broiled with mushrooms and tomatoes." The Western gentleman replied: "If I had anything like that I'd eat it myself." That's how it is with the oil stocks.

Anna L. Rose, dean of the George Washington University, distributed questions among her 1,700 young girls and was shocked at the answers. "Can you believe it?" Many of those, gentle pretty little creatures are "cynics."

They admit liking "risque" amusements and expressed cynical opinions concerning religious beliefs. But cheer up, Dean Rose.

EVERY HUMAN being has moments of cynicism in which he questions the wisdom of the universe, thinks suicide a pretty good institution, inclines to believe that powers of evil rule us. But that changes with years.

As for the girl cynic, the cure for her cynicism exists, not far away. The "cure" has nice blue eyes, or brown, thick curly hair, a pleasant smile, and rosy cheeks, carefully selected. When the boy meets the girl cynic and begins telling her how the sight of her has affirmed his belief in angels, her cynicism vanishes. All her world becomes a bright pink, and before she knows it she is hanging baby clothes on the line and is perfectly satisfied with the universe, as long as the baby is well.

IN THEIR New York church this evening the Paulist father would conduct a dialogue based on this question: "Are we Catholics good Americans?" The fathers probably have some useful plan, but it is difficult to see why the dialogue is necessary.

EVERY AMERICAN, regardless of his religion or lack of religion, is a good American if he works for a living, respects the Constitution, obeys the laws recognized by the government of the United States as the supreme under heaven, and refrains from interfering with the rights of other Americans, as set forth in the Constitution, free speech, free thought, free religion and complete separation of church and state.

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE would outlaw the use of gas in war. A better plan would be to outlaw it, self, if "outlawing" could have any real effect.

It is probable, and Professor Haldane maintains the view with energy, and facts, that outlawing gas would do good.

Every new idea in war is denounced as dangerous and cruel. The fact is that poison gas would probably end wars much more quickly than they could possibly be ended by bullets and explosives, and with smaller loss of life.

There might be some suffering with fewer deaths, but one would balance the other.

A million men shed bitter tears with mustard gas in their eyes and noses, and recover, a hundred thousand men lie on the battlefields with festering wounds, to die eventually, while the mustard gas men get well. Which would you choose?

It must be remembered that men are always horrified with what is new and take for granted every atrocious thing that is old. Age lends respectability to poverty, injustice, disease and bayonets.

THE NOBLE Chevalier Bayard, "without fear and without reproach" went to war as a young man dressed in armor to face spears and arrows only. When gunpowder came along he thought it was horrible and ought to be outlawed. And he executed without mercy every enemy soldier captured with a musket in his hands. Those with bows and arrows he treated kindly.

We simply look on poison gas as Bayard looked on powder. We are used to the powder. That's the only difference.

UP TO Saturday, throughout the nation, 250 had died of the heat. That is 250 too many, and 90 per cent of the dead would not have died had they been in better physical condition.

We make a great fuss about a heat wave, and make little fuss about a disease wave. Thousands die of consumption, tens of thousands of women die in childbirth. Such deaths could be prevented. But we don't get excited about that. We are used to such things.

THE CHAPERON

USING PROFANITY
 TAMPA TIMES

If we were to forget entirely what is prescribed in the Decalogue upon the subject of profanity and if we were to cast aside the moral law which lays upon man the injunction to hold in high regard other things which are Divine, there would still be ample reasons to keep the mouth of man free from terms which desecrate that which by religious law is held holy and sacred.

It is regrettable, but true, that one may walk along the streets of this and almost any other city and be obliged to hear oaths uttered in loud voice by some who stand along the sidewalks. Indeed, the unwholesome habit of resorting to words which are written with honor in no language and accepted nowhere as worthy of utterance for the sake of expression, is found not only upon the street corners, but often factory, shop and office are defiled by this sort of blasphemy.

To call attention to this is not sermonizing. One does not draw a cloak of sanctity about him when he dares to point that this vain use of holy words is wrong.

Man cannot forget what is written in the Decalogue, nor can he entirely thrust aside the moral law which commands that such speech shall not be used—but some do.

Yet, aside from these commands there is a reason which should appeal to those whose minds will not be turned by the other injunctions. The profane man by his own tongue brands himself as thoughtless and empty-headed. He knows that what he does is defiling. He may not think that other people realize that such language comes to him because his mind cannot command better expression. It is the easiest way, sometimes, to lend apparent emphasis, but it requires the least thought, and this is why no man who aspires to be regarded as one who is capable of forceful expression will stoop to the use of gutter explicatives.

Young men sometimes resort to profanity because they think that it is smart, but the man who has passed his youth should be sound enough of mind to realize that language of this sort is but evidence of weakness, and a sham which he is forced to use in covering up the poverty of his vocabulary.

To those who cannot be touched by the higher law a consideration of the utter ineffectiveness of the oath as language and a realization that resort to it cannot but lower a man or woman in the estimation of their fellow-beings may in some measure help to curb a practice which is, indeed, becoming a bane in American life.

ANOTHER LOTT'S WIFE
 MEMPHIS COMMERCIAL-APPEAL

The Mrs. Lot of whom we read in Genesis made a very poor finish. She had every opportunity to get out of Sodom unharmed, but she looked back, and became a pillar of salt.

We read of another Mrs. Lott yesterday. She lives in Chicago. She was the wife of a very wealthy man, but he seems to have been a lot worse than he should have been, for he has been convicted of mistreating Mrs. Lott.

Mrs. Lott did not have to leave her home, as the biblical Mrs. Lot did. We believe that Chicago is a better town than ancient Sodom was, for the Windy City has never been threatened with destruction, except on one occasion when Mrs. O'Leary's cow kicked at something else and overturned the lamp.

But, while Mrs. Lott did not have to leave her home town, it seems that she had to leave Mr. Lott. Like the Mrs. Lott described in Genesis, Mrs. Lott of Chicago looked back—not at Chicago, but at the money she had helped her husband to save. She was entitled to part of it, if court records are accurate, and she got it. We are glad she did.

According to the evidence in the divorce suit, Mr. Lott slapped Mrs. Lott three times. Each slap cost the slapper $366,666.65, a total of more than a million dollars. This is what the court awarded as alimony.

In her bill for divorce, Mrs. Lott asserted: "We were happy when we were poor. I worked hard. Then we became rich, and prosperity

Is She Prettiest Co-ed?

Miss Dorothy Devin of Apache, Okla. has been given first place among eight pretty girls whose pictures were printed in "The Sooner," year book at the University of Oklahoma. Since she is a member of The Sooner staff, sororities that did not place members among the honored eight have raised the cry of favoritism. Here's the evidence.

CARTERMEN LOSE TO SAINTS 7 TO 6 IN ERROR SHOW

Cusack Pitches Winning Ball, But Suffers Usual Hard Luck In Receiving Poor Support From Team Mates

Cusack played in his usual hard luck Tuesday afternoon and although he allowed only seven hits and passed only two men, against 17 hits and three bases on balls allowed by the opposing pitchers, St. Petersburg won 7 to 6. The Celery-Feds piled up seven errors, Frisbie making four at short and Bailey making two and Walzak one, a majority of these being responsible for runs.

St. Petersburg began scoring on errors in the first inning and managed to put over four runs on two hits aided by the errors at short and first base. The league leaders kept up the scoring in the second and third, putting across one score each in these innings on a total of two hits and two errors. In the sixth they scored one more, making their total seven.

The Celery-Feds made a bid for evening up the score when they came to the bat in the second inning, when Brower allowed two hits and walked two men. Three runs were brought in with a double by Murphy.

Brower was knocked out of the box in the fifth when two more runs were scored on three hits. Edwards relieved him.

The Celery-Feds staged a rally in the ninth and for a time it looked as if the score would be tied. With one out Walzak doubled to right. McQue tripled to left, scoring Walzak; McQue was then caught at the plate and Bailey went out pitcher to first.
