"We failed, we failed," were the words Airman 1st Class William V. Tootle kept repeating to his parents as he talked to them over the phone Saturday night. Tootle, 21, was involved in the aborted rescue mission in Iran and is currently in a Texas military hospital. His parents; Evelin and William A. Tootle, live in Winter Springs. He lived in Seminole County for 13 years during his youth. "I think he was still in shock," Mrs.

Tootle said this morning. "He kept repeating his concern for the boys that were left over there." Contacted today by the Herald at Wilford Hall Army Hospital in San Antonio, Texas, Tootle said he was, "feeling kind of weak" and would not comment further. Tootle received a leg injury during the mission, and doctors are waiting for swelling to go down before they can ascertain the extent of the damage, Tootle's wife, Tina, said.

Tina Tootle, contacted at her home in Ft. Walton Beach, said today she is waiting to hear whether the Air Force will be flying her and her 4-month-old daughter, Tabatha, to Texas to visit her

Guerillas Fly To Cuba, End 61-Day Hostage Siege

BOGOTA, Colombia (UPI) - Leftist guerrillas flew to Cuba with 12 diplomatic hostages to peacefully end a 61-day siege at the Dominican Embassy, taking a $2 million ransom but not the jailed comrades they vowed to die for.

U.S. Ambassador Diego Asencio, a captive throughout the two-month occupation, was released with the other hostages in Cuba and flew to Homestead Air Force Base, Fla., for a reunion with his family. He was joined in the flight by the papal nuncio, who also was held hostage.

Nine of the other 11 diplomats later returned to Bogota for an emotional reunion with their wives and children while the Mexican ambassador returned to Mexico City.

HOMESTEAD AIR FORCE BASE, Fla. (UPI) - His 61-day ordeal in a Bogota, Colombia, embassy over, U.S. Ambassador Diego Asencio is spending his first days of freedom unwinding in seclusion.

Asencio, 48, arrived at this base just south of Miami Sunday after he and 11 other diplomatic officials were released by leftist guerrillas who had been holding him captive at the Dominican Republic embassy in Bogota since Feb. 27.

He and the others had been let go at Havana earlier in the day in exchange for a ransom of private donations estimated at up to $2 million and safe passage to Cuba.

Vance Decision Hurts Dollar

LONDON (UPI) - Reports of U.S. Secretary of State Cyrus Vamce's resignation pushed the dollar down today on European financial markets. The price of gold also fell.

The price of gold fell $19 in Zurich to $535.50 and was down $13.50 in London at $536.00 an ounce, but dealers reported "no real selling."

In Hong Kong, gold closed at $533.50, 50 cents down from the morning's opening price. Market sources said local selling interests overtook a spate of early buying triggered by the news of Vance's resignation. The aftermath of the abortive mission to rescue the hostages in Iran and Vance's resignation sent the dollar lower on all the markets.

City To Consider County Library Terms

By DONNA ESTES Herald Staff Writer

The dispute between the city of Sanford and the Seminole County Commission over the leasing of the old post office building for continued use as a public library may be settled today.

A signed lease proposed by the county is on the agenda for consideration of the city commission at a 7 p.m. meeting at city hall. City commissioners advised County Commission Chairman Bill Kirchhoff two weeks ago to submit a proposed and executed lease agreement to the city, adding the city commissioners were willing to agree to "almost anything" to assure continued operation of a county branch library in the downtown area.

A suspicious Sanford Airport security guard's tip has led to the seizure of close to a ton of bootleg Quaaludes in Orlando by federal Drug Enforcement Administration (DEA) agents. The sedative pills, worth about $3 million street value, were destined to be dropped off at Sanford sometime before midnight Saturday, said DEA Agent Don Harper. But after landing at Sanford, the 71-year-old pilot became nervous and took off again for Orlando's Herndon Airport, where he and a passenger were arrested, Harper said. Harper said an airport guard, suspicious about the plane and its cargo called DEA agents, who set out for Sanford, then followed the plane into Orlando.

When it became apparent the plane would be landing at the city's general aviation airport, the agents called local authorities in to meet it.

DEA agents believe they have about a million of the pills, which sell for about $3 apiece on the illicit market. Harper said the pills were bootlegs made in a clandestine lab but designed to look like commercial methaqualone tables. When the twin-engine King Air plane landed a second time at Herndon, DEA agents, backed up by Orlando police and the Orange County Metropolitan Bureau of Investigation arrested pilot Robert Hanley, 71, of Miami and Michael Messersmith,

Prisoners Flee In Frisco

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) - Police warned that 10 of the 13 prisoners who fled the Hall of Justice jail may be lining up robberies to finance their flight.

The prisoners staged the surprise breakout - the worst in the jail's history-as deputies and trustys were passing out breakfast Sunday in a maximum security unit. Five sheriff's deputies and a civilian chef were handcuffed and locked in a holding cell.

Two fugitives were captured in the parking lot behind the Hall of Justice and a third arrested running through the building.

Quesada's story was repeated in substance by several other arriving refugees interviewed by reporters. Another refugee, Juan Julian Herreras, 55, a merchant seaman, who estimated there are about a quarter of a million political prisoners in Cuban jails, said, "many are prisoners

'Hopelessness' Swamps Cubans

KEY WEST, Fla. (UPI) - A story of deprivation hopelessness and strict government controls is emerging from conversations with Cuban exiles arriving on the Key West sealift.

"You have to go where they tell you to go and do what they tell you to do." said refugee Rodolfo Guzman Betancourt, 19, a taxi driver. "You can't go anywhere without your identification card."

Refugees arriving aboard private boats after the dangerous 90-mile trip from Cuba also talk of monthly rations of four ounces of meat, wages of $160 per month and shirts costing

'Rice (a staple in Cuba) is limited to five pounds pe person a month," said Simon Mendez, who ran a government food store in Havana. "I eat that much in one day." Other monthly amounts allowed by the government were

10 ounces of peas, six ounces of beans, one bar of soap, a pound and a half of cooking oil, a half pound of salt and a half pound of onions (when in season), Mendez said Sunday. Eggs cost 6 cents each, but apparently are in good supply since they are what Cubans used to pelt departing refugees with. Condensed milk is limited to children under seven. "I gave my quota of meat to my wife for our daughter," said Abelardo Cordoba Santana, 33, who worked at a Havana bus terminal for $160 a month. "She's small, so she needed it more than I did.'

Cordoba's wife and 4-year-old daughter were not allowed to join him on the boat that brought him to the United States

Cordoba also said markets in Cuba have been running out of food recently and "rations are always behind." Prices for clothing were inflated despite the low salaries,

"This pullover cost me $110 because it is imported," he said of his black short sleeve shirt bearing a Made In Italy

No one coming off the boats was overweight. Some older people were so emaciated and weak after going with little food for the past two weeks, they had to be carried ashore.

Raid On Iran: A Carter Bonus?

President Carter is to be commended for supporting an attempt to rescue the hostages in Iran, with a bold military raid.

As we now know, the move failed due to some equipment failure. Eight Americans were killed when two aircraft collided on the ground after the president ordered a withdrawal.

The president said he accepted full responsibility of the rescue attempt, as of course he must. At the same time, it will be interesting to see whether Mr. Carter is subject to the same criticism President Ford received in 1975 after his approval of the Mayaguez rescue in the China Sea, which also cost American lives, but was at least successful. Because some criticism of the Iran raid is certainly justified.

The president apparently ordered the move without enough consideration of trying to tighten the screws on Iran with a naval blockade or bombing the Iranian oil fields, dams and power stations.

Such measures would perhaps not have freed the hostages, but they would have demonstrated both to the world and to the Iranians that the U.S. was prepared to punish Iran with military force. A display of such military strength would have a certain educational effect. In contrast, the secret raid attempt was bold and daring, of course, but it also may have been reckless.

However, the raid did have the undeniable drama that, even in failure, could have a beneficial effect on President Carter's political fortunes.

Victory For Privacy

The United States Supreme Court confirmed a necessary bulwark against government intrusion into personal privacy recently through a 6-3 decision that requires police to have a warrant before entering a suspect's home to make a routine arrest.

In the case of Payton vs. New York, which is certain, to be well-remembered, the court reversed the New York State Court of Appeals and invalidated the laws of New York and 22 other states that permit warrantless arrests in the Denying some scattered cries that Payton is another judicial impediment to the police is the experience in those states requiring warrants for house arrests.

Actually, the Payton case is not so much an inhibition on police power as a needed reaffirmation of ancient Anglo-Saxon common law proclaiming a man's home as his castle beyond the reach even of a king.

The court specifically limited this decision to routine arrests and provided for exceptions in such circumstances, for instance, as the hot pursuit of a suspect. As is often the case with the Burger court, ambiguities of this decision will surely require clarification in future appeals.

It is odd indeed that so basic an issue as that in the Payton case has never before come to the Supreme Court. But the Fourth Amendment seems specific: "The right of the people to be secure in their persons, houses, papers and effects against unreasonable searches and seizures shall not be violated ... "

It would be difficult to quarrel with the reasoning of Justice John Paul Stevens, who cited this language in the majority opinion and wrote that it "unequivocably establishes the proposition that at the very core of the Fourth Amendment stands the right of a man to retreat into his own home and there be free from unreasonable government intrusion

WMFE-FM, broadcasting in stereo at 90.7 megahertz, down towards the 'left hand' side of the FM dial, will be producing some local shows on topics of interest to Central Florida residents, but will mainly draw its programs from National Public Radio, a network of public, foundationowned and university radio stations, say station okesmen

JACK ANDERSON Report Pushes For Withdrawal WASHINGTON - The popular wisdom in Washington is that the United States must depend on its allies in Western Europe to help achieve American goals - whether it involves a boycott of the Moscow Olympics or sanctions against Iran.

For this reason, the Pentagon has kept tight security wraps on a potentially explosive strategy report that advocates an almost total U.S. withdrawal from Europe as a move that offers "the best prospects for the future." What lends the report weight is its authorship by two of the Defense Department's best and brightest - Adm. Henry Train, head of the U.S. Atlantic Command, and former Deputy Defense Secretary Robert Ellsworth. Train's duties include command of NATO's Southern European naval strike and support forces. The secret, 35-page report spells out the authors' recommendation that the United States drastically decrease its NATO commitments in the interests of national security. In a nutshell, Train and Ellsworth suggest that our European allies simply cannot be depended upon. The report is not regarded as a crackpot commentary by any means. Pen sources told my associate Dale Van Atta that the report offers "very viable" alternatives to present U.S. policy. How many top Defense Department strategists share the authors' views is not knows. Train and Ellsworth then argue that "a Western Europe has top priority in U.S. defense thinking, over Asia and the Middle East. But they note the difficulties involved in - There has been, they report, a steady "decomposition, erosion and destabilization of political will in Europe and of the European defense posture."

In terms that might irritate our European allies, the Pentagon report observes that the recommended U.S. pullout "recognizes that the Europeans today are basically irresponsible and impotent in foreign policy and security terms, (and) that their impotence is due in no small measure to their dependency on the U.S. for their military security."

The authors recommend that the United States withdraw all but a "small U.S. force" take a rear seat to the wheeling and dealing from Europe, making up for this pullout by a promise of quick military backup in the event that goes on in the back rooms of Tallahassee and the Seminole Harness Track. of a Soviet attack. Representative Hattaway called Jerry Collins "selfish." As I understand, Mr. Collins has been a philanthropist most of his life, giving money to a myriad of local charities and was a major contributor to New College in Sarasota. I don't know how much, but I understand it's been more than I'll ever make in a lifetime.

If the state is only interested in "the bottom line," as Representative Hattaway put it, why not just extend the Sanford-Orlando Kennel Club's season through the summer? The tax money to the state would probably be as much or more with one track running twice as long instead of having a second track that the public doesn't want.

Many harness tracks across the country operate very profitably. I have visited several in New York that catered to the public and were rewarded by good business. Management in any business makes the difference between profit and loss.

Horse racing has always had a stigma of race fixing and organized crime participation that has been hard to dispel in the public's mind. Dog racing has not had this black cloud over its head, and a great deal of the credit for this can be given to Jerry Collins, whose efforts have given the kennel industry a spotless reputation. You can fix a jockey, but it's almost impossible to fix a dog with today's scientific chemical tests of dogs before and after a race.

Jerry Collins has probably done more to clean up Florida dog racing than any man aliye, and it has become a lucrative industry because of his efforts.

> JEFFREY HART A Close Look At

The Shah There has just appeared a small classic on he literature of revolution, a book, I think that will last. Fereydoun Hoveyda, an Iranian politician and diplomat, has written a slim book called "The Fall of the Shah," a study of the decomposition of a ruler and a regime unable to navigate the heavy seas of contemporary history. Hoveyda's short chapters: often only a couple of pages, achieve a crystalline lucidity. The story they tell has the nevitable quality of Greek tragedy, and that story may affect the fate of the entire world.

Fereydoun Hoveyda has held many high Iranian posts, including that of the shah's U.N. ambassador. His brother served as prime minister.

Fereydoun Hoveyda has little reason to love. the shah, who abandoned Amir Abbas Hoveyda, an honest patriot, to inevitable; murder by Khomeini. But Hoveyda has achieved an uncanny clarity in this book. He sees the shah objectively, and, in the end, enfolds him in a kind of universal pity.

In Hoveyda's account, the shah, starting through a pride so blinding that it cut him off from reality. It's the story of an aging despot. bound by his own folly to the wheel of fortune: Hoveyda gives due credit to the shah's' modernizing ideals and to his real achievements. Originally an uncertain and playboyish young ruler, Mohammed Pahlevi gained in self-confidence and stature as he pressed his "White Revolution" and planneda "Great Civilization." In a few short years hestransformed Iran from an illiterate and stagnant backwater to a semi-modern A country. He diversified the economy and redistributed land. Between 1972 and 1977 Iranian domestic consumption quadrupled. Education and social welfare made giant Hoveyda sees the fall of the shah as con-?? nected with three events that changed the character of the monarch and the regime: the great imperial festival at Persepolis in 1971; the visit by President Nixon in 1972; and the quadrupling of oil revenues in 1973. To put it, bluntly, it all went to the shah's head.

Nixon and Kissinger, viewing the shah as the policeman of the Persian Gulf, provided him with all the advanced weapons he wished to buy. At Persepolis, in a Gatsby-like extravaganza, the shah celebrated himself as the heir of Cyrus and Darius, the reincarnation of ancient Persia. Billions of dollars in oil profits reinforced his sense of invulnerable power. The shah actually began to think of Iran as one of the major powers in the world.

The young parents' faces show no trace of the anxiety or strain of her high-risk pregnancy. Mrs. Braham, 25, has been a juvenile diabetic for 16 years. In obstetrical circles, that makes her susceptible to such nightmares as maternal or fetal death, birth defects or premature birth and threatening respiratory problems.

"A lot of my friends are diabetic, and a lot have lost their babies," Mrs. Braham said in a break from her double load of mothering. Real Estate Transfers Growing up in a rural town near the north Georgia mountains, Mrs. Braham was counseled by her physician against ever having Francis M. Miller & Mary L. District Baseball Debuts Tuesday At Sanford Memorial Stadium

The district 9, 4A baseball tournament opens Tuesday at Sanford Memorial Stadium with five of the eight teams having legitimate chances at taking home the title. "It's up for grabs," Five Star conference coach of the year Ron Creese (DeLand) confirmed about the close-knit field. "I was pleased with the draw. The number one seed (Lake Howell) will have a tough row to hoe." Creese's second seeded Bulldogs will open with the Patriots of Lake Brantley. Originally, DeLand was to have played Daytona Beach Mainland, but it was discovered Lake Brantley had an ineligible player and had to forfeit its last two conference games. Brantly then lost a coin flip with Mainland for the sixth seed.

The revised lower bracket puirings are:

11:30 a.m. No. 6 Mainland vs. No. 3 Apopka 2 p.m. No. 7 Lake Brantley vs. No. 2 DeLand The upper bracket remains: 4:30 p.m. No. 8 Spruce Creek vs. No. 1 Lake Howel

7 p.m. No. 5 Seminole vs. No. 4 Lyman Creese will wait on the outcome of the Mainland-Apopka clash to determine his pitching rotation. "If Apopka wins we'll go with Ed Djeridi. If Mainland wins, we'll go with John Thompson," Creese confided. Thompson was an all conference selection. Djeridi is a sidearming, junk ball pitcher who Creese likens to Pittsburgh's Kent Tekulve.

Dale Murphy drove in three runs with a single and a homer to highlight a 13-hit attack that helped the Braves beat the Expos. Larry McWilliams, 1-2, allowed five hits in eight innings to post his first career victory over the Expos. Andre Dawson and Ellis Valentine homered for Montreal. Cardinals 10, Phillies 1

Keith Hernandez, the defending league batting champion went 5-for-5 and drove in three runs to spark a 19-hit attack that carried the Cardinals to victory over the Phillies. The Cardinals scored in each of the first three innings off starter Dick Ruthven, 1-2, and added three runs each in the fiftin and seventh to make it easy for winner Bob FGrsch, 1-1.

Results of the newest wave of smoker research are in. The conclusions: undeniable.

L-Evening Herald, Sanford, Fl.

MERIT Sweeps Latest Tests. Once again, extensive testing with thousands of smokers across the country has solidly reaffirmed MERIT as a proven taste alternative to high tar smoking. Blind Taste Tests: In tests where brand identity was concealed, a significant majority of smokers rated the taste of low tar MERIT as good as-or better thanleading high tar brands. Even cigarettes having twice the tar! Kings: 8 mg ''tar;''0.6 mg nicetine—100's Reg: 10 mg ''tar;''0.7 mg nicetine— 100's Men: 11 mg ''tar;''0.8 mg nicetine av. per cigarette, FTC Report Dec:79

Warning: The Surgeon General Has Determined That Cigarette Smoking Is Dangerous to Your Health.

Smoker Preference: Among the 95% of smokers stating a preference, the MERIT low tar/good taste combination was favored 3 to 1 over high tar leaders when tar levels were revealed! Long-Term Satisfaction: In the latest survey of former high tar smokers who have switched to MERIT, 9 out of 10 reported they continue to enjoy smoking, are glad they switched, and reported MERIT is the best-tasting low tar they've ever tried! MERIT is the proven alternative to high tar smoking. And you can taste it.
