Temperature On West Side Seen At 26 Degrees

Heavy Frost Damages Mature Celery And Cabbage And Young Plants, Seed Beds

Heavy frost and temperatures recorded as low as 26 degrees in the Sanford west side area this morning have resulted in an estimated 15 to 25 percent damage to mature celery, severe damage to young seed beds to the extent that growers may not set out the young plants, due to the possibility of their going to seed, and damage of 15 to 20 percent mature cabbage and set back its cutting time several weeks.

Heavy wind storms on Monday and Tuesday had the effect of covering some celery fields with which had already lowered considerably by the hurricane, according to M. L. Cullum, sales manager of Chase and Company. W. E. Chapman, waste department reported that celery frozen had straightened up this morning and estimated up to a 25 percent loss. He added that between the hurricane and the present freeze more than 50 percent of the cabbage crop would probably be lost.

H. G. Hebrun, Lake Monroe grower, pointed out that he estimated to be 15 to 20 percent damage to older cabbage. He had 18 seed beds of cabbage, and said that he expected a total loss on the younger plants pointing out that if they should be planted after such continued cold, they would be likely to go to seed. Lettuce, celery and escarole plants in seed beds presented the same hazard, he added.

On the official type thermometer of Fred Holly in Lake Monroe the temperature was below 30 degrees at 10 o'clock last evening, as reported, reached a low of 26 degrees early this morning at 7:00 A. M. was up to 46 degrees. He estimated that his large escarole plantings might be damaged up to about 10 percent.

American Planes Increase Raids On Luzon Island

91 Jap Aircraft Destroyed, Shipping Vessels Damaged

(By Associated Press) American bombers today reportedly increased their attacks on Luzon in the Philippines. Tokyo said 400 carrier-based planes struck anew at Luzon including 100 raiding Clark Field, and admitted Thursday's carrier attack in the same area. Employing new tactics, earlier planes bombed new targets, earlier planes bombed the ground, destroying 91, setting two destroyers afire and damaging other shipping.

Tokyo also reported four super-bombers dropped incendiary bombs on the capital.

(By Associated Press) The Japanese casualties on Leyte and Samar islands in the Philippines now total 42,541 from Oct. 20 to Dec. 12, Gen. Douglas MacArthur announced today. American casualties in the same period were 18,400 men. Gen. MacArthur announced today.

The one-to-eight ratio favoring the Americans has been attained despite the fact that they are attacking from the sea.

The American 7th division has advanced over a mile north on Ormoc, and captured the enemy's main supply base Wednesday.

The public relations officer said that Americans had counted 33,801 enemy dead; taken 253 prisoners and that the enemy had suffered an estimated 18,500 additional ground casualties. In addition 30,000 Japanese were drowned when they were destroyed while attempting to retake the Leyte airfield.

Pending Ceiling On Celery To Be Issue At Meeting

With price ceilings on celery, cabbage and other fresh vegetables about to be imposed by the OPA in Washington, according to reports of the Florida Vegetable Committee, growers of Seminole County have been urged by M. L. Cullum, president, to attend the special meeting of the Seminole County Farm Bureau Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the Celery City Restaurant Annex to discuss this development.

"According to law, growers' losses in the recent hurricane will be considered by the OPA in making ceiling prices on celery and other vegetables, but growers will all make their losses."

H. G. Wells Must Go Churchill Must Go

LONDON, Dec. 14. (AP)—Asserting that Prime Minister Churchill is a "would-be British fascist" who has "lost his head completely" in the Greek crisis, Harold H. G. Wells said today "it is high time he retired upon his laurels before we forget the debt we owe him" as a British fighting symbol.

In an article entitled "Churchill Must Go" published in the Weekly Tribune, Wells said the prime minister's intervention in Greece was a "discredit" to the nation and resulted from Churchill's "pro-royalism," his "nebulousness" and "limited range of ideas."

Wells conceded that Churchill had served Britain as a fighting symbol, but contended he had "outlived that role."

Seventh Is 35 Miles From Mannheim As Sixth Threatens To Close Saarland

(By Associated Press) The American Seventh Army today invaded Germany, driving across the northeast tip of Alsace into the old Bavarian Palatinate seven miles from Karlsruhe and 35 from Mannheim, and Ludwigsburen, Rhineland industrial centers, as the Sixth Army threatened to envelop German Saarland, and Palatinate from rear.

Fresh German troops were thrown in as the Sixth Army attacked its grip along or near the west bank of the Rhine to 100 miles from Lauterburg to the Swiss border. More than a dozen French towns fell in the Seventh's advance.

In the north, the First and Sixth armies held a solid front line on the west bank of the Rhine after advancing on German soil.

The Third and Fourth armies were 60 miles east of Sarrebourg. The Seventh is the fourth American army on Nazi soil.

Coincidentally with this thundering advance, American artillery to the north began pumping shells into the Rhineland's last defense system across the Ruer where the First and Sixth armies had extended an 18-to-20 mile wide grip on the river's west bank in a sweep that captured four more German towns.

As the Germans blew up three large Ruer bridges north of Duren, threatened gateway junction 12 1/2 miles from Cologne, and pulled their guns back to the river's east bank, the First Army's lower wing occupied Kanderlich east of Lammersdorf, 18 1/2 miles toward Waberschiedel.

Wartime Worries Said Cause Of Tuberculosis

The heavy pressures and anxieties of wartime living conditions were cited last night by Mrs. James E. Ingley, secretary of the local tuberculosis association, as causes for the upward swing of tuberculosis cases in certain population groups.

"Now is the time to combat this disease," she said, "because of the heavy pressures and anxieties of wartime living conditions. Tuberculosis is a disease that is caused by a germ which is everywhere. It is a disease that is caused by a germ which is everywhere. It is a disease that is caused by a germ which is everywhere."

Texas Freeze Damage Less Than Estimated

HARLINGEN, Tex., Dec. 15. (AP)—Estimates of damage to the lower Rio Grande valley's vegetable crops by the earliest heavy frost in years last Sunday night were modified somewhat today by further surveys.

Dr. George A. Godfrey, plant pathologist with the Texas Experiment station at Weslaco, reported that in some fields at least half the tomatoes on the vines could be salvaged, although the cold and the green wrap tomato deal. Green peppers, eggplants and green bean were likewise reported heavily damaged.

First damage estimates were changed some when a second freeze, predicted for Monday night, failed to materialize.

Most of the beans already had been picked and the tomato crop was on the decline thus cutting the loss to these two crops.

Hardships Of Soldiers In Germany Described By Corporal McIntyre

Hardships of a soldier with the Allied Expeditionary Force in Germany, sleeping in cold mud and slims or while on guard straining his eyes for enemies in darkness, "blacker than a stack of black cats," are graphically contrasted with the soft comfort of civilians who complain of war time shortages, in the following letter received by The Herald from Cpl. Stuart H. McIntyre who lived in Sanford up to the time he attended Junior High School:

"Well here I am in a country that I thought I would only see after the war. But now that 'ere 'ere' I have to take what comes, and there is a lot of it that isn't nice to take or see. 'Oh yes, almost everything is rationed and you can't get this or that, or go here or there, and times are hard and all that, but let this thought go down deep. In your minds, soul and heart. You don't sleep on cold, wet muddy, almost ground out in the open. You don't eat out of cold tin cans for days at a time. You don't know what it is to look out in front of you (while on guard for you and all your buddies' lives) into a dark that is blacker than a stack of black cats and try to make out a moving object in the distance. You strain your eyes looking. You don't stand up to your knees with a damp, cold mist all around. You don't live crowded in your homes with five people from 5 to 60 homeless people with you. You don't have to worry at nights about bombs, artillery, gun fire or a person slipping upon you during the night to cut your throat or kill your buddy next to you."

four or five days at a time, or more for two or three weeks at a time.

"You don't know what it is to eat food that is dehydrated. You people are lucky and don't know it. I think after this war you won't hear any of the overseas servicemen or women say a word about their food, clothing or shelter.

"You don't know now what the word homesick means and if you did, you don't know what a postcard from home means to a person that is 4,000 miles or more from home, and hasn't been home since 1942 or before. If you did, the men and women in service would never have to write letters like this to make up some of the folks back home and let them know that there is a war going on.

"I make up folks and look around the camp a letter, today, this week or was it last month? Did you send him what he asked for, or did you forget or don't you care if he is well, sick, dying? There are a lot of men and women in the service that aren't getting a third of the attention that they deserve."

"I have been in England, France, Belgium, Holland and now Germany. Let's hope that this time next year all of us will be back home. Our company came into France on D one, and I hope we leave on V-one."

"McIntyre requested that someone send him the address of brother Robert, who he last heard was a stiff sergeant somewhere in Texas and whom he had not heard from since 1942."

Herman Brumley Wins Schaal Award As Football Star

Y girls, cheerleaders and guests. "Fate," it was reported by his father, had telephoned his mother that he was unable to appear due to doctors' orders, but expressed much appreciation at receiving the trophy. Cheers followed this announcement.

To Bobby Callahan and Clarence McKee, Dr. H. W. Tucker presented the Kiwanis awards, a trip to the Orange Bowl football game in Miami. This award was given to the two boys on the basis of having improved the most in ability to play football, of good sportsmanship, and of improvement in scholastic grades. A silver loving cup, the award of the Rotary Club, was presented to Bobby Callahan as the best back on the team.

A general invitation to Seminole High School seniors to give consideration to attending the University of Florida next year was extended by Coach Robert Pittman, assistant coach of the University, who was introduced as guest speaker by Dr. L. T. Boss. Coach Pittman also told of the outlook for the team next year at the University.

Coach Carl F. Kettles of Seminole High School was presented by the Celery Peds with a 17-jewel Bulova watch in appreciation of his efforts in developing the team. He expressed thanks for the gift and said that he had enjoyed his work with the boys very much. He likewise praised the fine spirit of co-operation shown him by the faculty and students.

The Celery Peds unanimously elected "Football" Brumley as team captain and Bobby Callahan as co-captain.

Supt. T. W. Lawton presented football letters to the following players: Bobby Callahan, Bob Cullum, Donald Dyess, Robert Cranston, Sonny Raborn, Vern Clark, Frank Robinson, Bill Ludwig, Ed Fleming, Richard Singletary, Herman Brumley, Carl Sumner, Glenn Lingie, Clarence McKee, Alvin Kilpatrick, Harold Kasiner, Theron Madden and Billy Shoemaker.

Senior lettermen included Callahan, Cranston, Robinson, Brumley, McKee, Madden, Raborn and Shoemaker.

Times Assessed Cases Of Drunken Driving

With but 14 cases on the City Court docket Monday, costs and fines amounted to $493, due largely to two drunken driving cases, illegal possession of liquor and drunkenness.

For illegal possession of liquor Jerry Martin, negro, had his bond of $201 exonerated. Charged with drunkenness, disorderly conduct, resisting arrest, abusive language and assault and battery, Leroy Williams, negro, was fined $125 and costs or 150 days. For drunken driving, was exonerated.

Bonds of $8 of H. P. McArthur, charged with reckless driving, of Foster King $11 on a charge of drunkenness and of $14 of W. H. Wainwright on a charge of drunkenness, were exonerated. Case of C. R. Walker, charged with drunken driving was continued.

Negro cases were: Mattie Lee Williams, disorderly conduct, $8 fine or 20 days. Bonds were exonerated by the following negroes on charges as follows: Booker T. Gaines, $8 for failure to take V.D. treatment; Alfred Canada, drunkenness, $11; Henry Black, drunkenness, $16; Hill Duvall, reckless driving, $11.

Colored Man Burned; Falls on Coal Pot

Andrew Jones, 30 year old negro, was severely burned about the left arm and shoulder, when he fell from a bedroom chair upon a red hot coal pot in his home at 913 Pecan Avenue at 11:00 o'clock, Thursday morning it was reported by police.

Anguished shrieks of the aged negro as he lay in the hot embers brought the colored woman who was his caretaker running in from the yard. He was rushed to Fernald Loughton Memorial Hospital for emergency treatment for burns and shock. He was born in Waynesboro, Ga., March 18, 1874.

Pending Ceiling On Celery To Be Issue At Meeting

known these prices will inevitably be lower," said Mr. Cullum. He accordingly urged that growers who have not already done so, come to the meeting with figures showing their storm losses.

Statistics compiled from already revealed figures of growers indicate the following losses of crops already set out in the county when the hurricane struck, according to Mr. Wathen: celery, 60 percent; cabbage, 50 to 100 percent; egg plant, 75 percent; escarole, 25 to 50 percent; lettuce, up to 60 percent; romaine, up to 100 percent.

Heavy losses due to damage to buildings, loss of fertilizer and cost of repairing washed out land were revealed in the following instance of a grower with 200 acres of land. In addition to his heavy vegetable losses, he lost 30 tons of fertilizer valued at $1,045, damage to buildings was estimated at $1,000 and cost of repairing the washed out and flooded land amounted to $300.

W. M. Scott, vice president of American Fruit Growers Inc., pointed out that growers who replanted celery and other crops which had been ruined by the storm, were forced to pay out heavy costs in labor and materials.

It was a question to many growers whether to plow up and replant celery, or to leave in the field celery, half of which had roots destroyed by water after the heavy downpour, he said. Most of the growers decided to grow what was left standing, he added.

About 37 percent of the celery crop in Seminole County had been set out in the fields before the storm, Mr. Scott estimated. With one-half of this destroyed, loss of the total crop in the county would be about 18 1/2 percent, he pointed out.

Due to the fact that the storm set back the celery crops from two to three weeks, and that the recent cold snap had probably set it back another week, celery harvesting will be much later than usual in this section, he added. The result will be that a lot of it will be harvested at one time, he said.

From the Glades district, Fernald Loughton reported shipment of about 20 cars this week.

Labor needs of growers will be discussed at the Farm Bureau meeting Monday, according to Mr. Cullum.

4 American Armies Fighting Germans On Native Soil

The latest reports from the front on the eastern side of the Meuse, south of the city of Aachen, show that the last week of the fighting was being fought on an eight inch snow cover. The eastern edge of the Meuse forest blanket was broken by mines, booby traps, machine guns and barbed wire.

Thursday night the fighting was being fought on the eastern side of the Meuse, south of the city of Aachen, and the fighting was being fought on an eight inch snow cover. The eastern edge of the Meuse forest blanket was broken by mines, booby traps, machine guns and barbed wire.

The Seventh Army's 10th Army Corps, which is fighting across the Meuse, is the only American army fighting on the western border of the Meuse. The other three American armies are fighting on the eastern side of the Meuse.

BIBLE VERSE FOR TODAY
DEATH IS JUST A TRANSITION TO SOMETHING BETTER AND BETTER. Yes, tho I walk through the shadow of death I will fear no evil.—Ps. 23:4.

FLEET OUT
 Ebb-tide, and winds of autumn
 Breaking free,
 And a convoy heavy laden
 Put to sea.
 Across the long horizon
 Steamers fleet,
 Fading in light
 Where air and water meet.
 Safe days! And may
 The following wind be strong,
 And may the work you sail to Take not long,
 And when you come again,
 Bring home to stay
 The word of peace
 To warm our Christmas Day!

Islands At Dawn
 (From The Christian Science Monitor)

The little islands, one by one,
 Come out like flowers in the sun.
 First Lone Tree, with its scrub oak brave
 Above the ceaseless drag of wave
 Then Simmons, nitro-sharp an-thin.
 Lying where the tides begin;
 Candewood, rough-been and bright
 Linned in mica's silver light
 And Faraway, straight out to sea,
 Webbed with dry wild rosemary,
 Last, Cranberry, far to the west,
 Flatter, wider, than the rest—
 slow sunbathing at winter dawn,
 Before night's chilling dream has gone,
 To see resolve from mist and frost
 These bits of land—from earth long lost.
 But still forever panoplied
 Against the sea's eternal greed.
BARBARA OVERTON.

SELECT
 (From Kaleidograph)

I choose my enemies with scrupulous care,
 Since war like friendship, is a game with rules.
 I have no wish, nor time, to beat the air,
 Wasting good anger on corrupted fools.
 I choose my enemies for every reason
 Love has for choosiness. My foes are loyal
 Upright, determined, speak the truth in season,
 At all time ready for a battle-royal.

I do not doubt them, and they will believe
 In me. Each, having proved the other, knows
 Here is no ponard hidden up a sleeve,
 Blows will be honest, if it come to blows.

Forgive the least . . . Antagonists like these Sharpen my edge, press me to my own ends.
 I choose those only, for my enemies,
 I should be proud to number with my friends.
RACHEE HARRIS CAMPBELL

"I'd Walk a Mile For a Camel" is the slogan of a popular brand of cigarettes. Little did the manufacturer know that some day this slogan would come true.

Congress has definitely proved that the cigarette shortage was caused by an insufficient number of tags to supply the needs of consumers. This conclusion arrived at after great deliberation.

We have heard a lot of complaining lately about the predicted cold in this area, but one thing we can be thankful for is that we don't have to "take it" lying in a fox hole or standing watch on some naval vessel on patrol in the North Atlantic.

People are wondering why there should be clarity and understanding between the United Nations, apparently fighting with a single purpose. But nations are like individuals. Just look around your neighborhood and observe how they live. There and here, such harmony and goodwill prevail. When people can't get along together in their own families and with their own friends, how can we expect nations to live in the realm of brotherly love.

Return of the Royal Navy

The return of the Royal Navy in force to southeastern Asiatic waters undoubtedly constitutes another milestone on the long road of war. The British feel that their new Pacific Fleet, just formed under the command of Admiral Sir Bruce Fraser, is alone equal to the whole of Japan's remaining naval power. It is an earnest of Mr. Churchill's pledges to wage the war against Germany as tenaciously as Britain has waged that against Japan; and it brings us a long way from the tragic moment, three years ago, when the American fleet lay paralyzed in the mud of Pearl Harbor and the two great ships which had been sent out to form the backbone of the British defense had gone down in the Gulf of Siam.

Now, at last, the two allies have the naval power on the scene which was so badly needed then. And now, unfortunately, it is not additional naval power which is required so much as the ground troops, land-based aviation and landing craft to carry them which are necessary in order to exploit the command we have acquired over the sea routes. Until these forces and these transports are available it seems hardly probable that the British Pacific Fleet can achieve any very decisive results alone.

There is even a disposition in some American naval circles, which have spent the intervening three years in earning all the intricate lessons of Pacific sea-air warfare in the hard way, to doubt whether British naval power, trained under the very different European conditions, could be any great help in the Pacific. That, however, seems a rather narrow view and one which insufficiently honors the great and loyal co-operation which the Royal Navy and Royal Australian Navy have given our forces in the Pacific—from the tragedy of the Java Sea, where Exeter and Perth were lost along with our Houston, through the lean days in 1943, when Victorious helped out our still scanty carrier forces, down to the battle around Leyte, in which Shropshire and Australia played distinguished roles. None can yet afford to look askance at any reinforcement; he one question is only how to secure that integration and flexibility of command which can make the maximum use of all forces available.

Let There Be Light

It is not exactly a new idea, but one which it seems necessary to emphasize especially nowadays, that one of the main things the world needs is more news. In spite of the immense gains made in facilities for transmitting foreign information, it seems unusually hard to gather, hard to get past the censor, and hard to get into the newspapers for distribution.

This difficulty, it should be added, is far worse abroad than it is here at home. Walter Lippman, in a recent column, spoke especially of the "blackout of news from the United States." The British seem to get very little of our important news, and the French practically none at all. Even our diplomatic representatives abroad, says Mr. Lippman, seem marooned as far as news is concerned. There is almost a total blackout of factual information.

Lack of news means mental darkness. The present job is not merely to win the war, but even more, perhaps, to let in the light.

What Kids Want

Department store Santas are having their troubles this year. They must have all the usual answers, and others. A few young visitors want to know why they didn't get what was promised last year, and a few want electric trains or roller skates on this year's sleigh, but all are comparatively simple. Especially says one jovial saint as parents' have apparently been careful to explain exactly why there won't be so much fancy Christmas this year.

The real problem is posed by the youngsters who put at the head of their lists "I want my daddy for Christmas." The kids understand why it can't be, in most cases, but just the same that request is far more frequent than skates, sleds or even dolls. And how do you explain it to a trusting three-year-old?

THE CIGARETTE SHORTAGE

The temptation to oversimplify such problems as that of the cigarette shortage is a human one; but the fact is that the only broad generalization that can be made about it is that it is a war-time phenomenon, similar, for example, to the trebling of the currency circulation, which is still to be adequately analyzed and explained.

The per capita consumption of cigarettes rose from 1,250 in 1933 to 1,410 in 1943, or by more than 50 per cent, because people had more money to spend than ever before and because the strain of war increases the demand for tobacco, both at the front and at home. This huge demand has been pressing against bottlenecks in production, such as shortages in man power and materials. Any such shortage happens in such cases, the possibility of a shortage set in motion the very forces calculated to precipitate it, namely, speculation in the form of black-market operations and hoarding. To make the picture a little more complicated, there are such additional considerations as the fact that demand is concentrated almost entirely in the four or five most popular brands, of which some 10 per cent must be set aside for the armed forces before civilian requirements are met, and that the "pipe lines" by which cigarettes are distributed to the armed forces have been clogged as a result either of faulty methods of distribution or of the difficulties inherent in this war-time problem.

It has been clearly demonstrated that, as far as the present consumer shortage is concerned, the trouble has been on the demand side and is not attributable to a shortage of leaf tobacco. Nevertheless, it is a fact that tobacco inventories have shrunk, as a result of acreage reduction, on the one hand, and increased demand, on the other, from their normal of three years' supply to about half that amount. Statistics in the tobacco industry maintain that the industry will be in a sellers' market for at least three years, and that if this is the case and if tobacco acreage is raised only moderately in 1945, as now planned, then dwindling inventories will soon be exhausted and that by 1947 they will find themselves with raw material on hand equal to only 70 per cent of indicated demand.

It seems to us that the tobacco industry is entitled to a fair hearing and an investigation of this question. The Treasury has figures on domestic manufacture and knows what allowance to make for long-term consumption trends. The lend-lease authorities and Commodity Credit Corporation can be called in to outline their projected requirements for continental Europe and the satellites.

BRENNAN-CRAIN HOME IN INDIANA

Rev. Paul Yates—Pastor of The Church of God—5th Street and Holly Avenue.

Remember the Words of the Lord Jesus who He said:

"He shall glorify me; for he shall receive of mine, and shall show it unto you"— John 16:14.

The Holy Ghost glorifying Jesus in the unfolding of His person, and character, and work, to His people. The great administering agent between the church on the earth and its glorified Head in heaven, carrying up to the Father the prayers and needs, the petitions and sins of believers, and receiving out of His inexhaustible treasury of love—comfort for their sorrows—strength for their weakness—sympathy for their frailty—this is the sublime end and object of His mission on earth.

How faithful has He been in every age in His great office as the glorifier of Jesus! See the first manifestation of His power in the Christian church at the day of Pentecost. What was the grand truth that forms the focusing point of interest in that unparalleled scene, and which brings three thousand penitents to their knees? It is the Spirit's unfolding of Jesus, glorifying Him in eyes that before have in Him no beauty! Hear the keynote of that wondrous sermon, preached in the demonstration of Spirit, and with power—Him hath God exalted to be Prince and Savior to give repentance to His people, and forgiveness of sins.

Ah! it is the same peerless truth which the Spirit delights to unfold to the stricken sinner, and, in unfolding it, to make it mighty to the pulling down of strongholds. All those glorious inner beauties of Christ's work and character are unadorned and undecorated to the natural eye. It is the Spirit that quickeneth.

No man can call Jesus Lord, but the Holy Ghost. He is the great Foreman—evidencing that the Baptist—proclaiming: Behold the Lamb of God!

Reader! Any bright and realizing view you have had of the Savior's glory and excellency, is of the Spirit's imparting. When in some hour of sorrow you have been led to leave with pre-emptory consolation to the thought of the Redeemer's exalted sympathy—His dying, everliving love;—or in the hour of death, when you feel the sustaining power of His extending arm and precious promises—What is this, but the Holy Ghost, in fulfillment of His all-gracious office, taking of the things of Christ, and showing them unto you, thus enabling you to glorify Him in your body, whether it be by life or death. As your motto should ever be, "none but Christ," and your ever increasing inspiration, "more of Christ," seek to hear in mind who it is that is alone qualified to impart the excellency of this knowledge.

Blessed Spirit of all grace! How often reader, have you grieved Him—resisted His desires—quenched His precious fire? He is still pleading with you. Oh may you realize more than you do, the need of this gracious influence. Ordinances, sermons, communions, providential dispensations are nothing, without the life-giving power of the Spirit.

Oh! church of the living God! Is not this the cause of thy deadness?—Oh! soul! Is not this the secret of thy languishing?—Oh! sinner! Is not this the reason of thy unbelief?—Oh! Christian! Is not this the cause of thy backsliding?—Oh! saint! Is not this the cause of thy unfruitfulness?—Oh! church of the living God! Is not this the cause of thy deadness?—Oh! soul! Is not this the secret of thy languishing?—Oh! sinner! Is not this the reason of thy unbelief?—Oh! Christian! Is not this the cause of thy backsliding?—Oh! saint! Is not this the cause of thy unfruitfulness?

For if ye, being still know how to give good gifts unto your children, how much more shall your Father in Heaven give the Holy Spirit unto them that ask Him.
