Of the total, eight were white male, 23 colored male, two colored female, and one colored female incompetent.

Drive To Finance Demos Launched

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. — Former President Harry S. Truman will receive starter sustaining membership card No. 1 today to launch a big nationwide drive to finance the Democratic Party by small contributions. The campaign opens when Paul M. Butler, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, presents the card to the former President at the Truman Library in Independence. Democrats said the drive is the biggest such campaign in the nation's history. "The Democratic Women's Club will sponsor this drive in Florida for us," James M. Milligan, Chairman of the State Democratic Executive Committee of Florida, said this morning. "We will coordinate our efforts through the Democratic Women's Club," Milligan said "and leave such solicitations up to the local committees." He said that committee appointments were set up at a recent meeting of the Democratic Women's Club in St. Petersburg. William H. "Bill" Stemper is State Committeeman from Seminole County and Mrs. Ralph Austin Smith is State Committeewoman James Lee of Oviedo is the Seminole County Democratic Committee chairman. Butler said the charter sustaining membership program is the first step of a campaign to finance the Democratic Party by regular small contributions from rank and file members. "We believe that a healthy political party must be financed by widespread grass roots contributions," Butler said. "This drive will be followed by a door-to-door solicitation of funds on Oct. 11-12, called Dollars for Democrats Day. It and the sustaining membership plan will be national events." Sustaining members will give a minimum of $10 yearly. Invitations to become charter sustaining members are now being mailed by the committee. Butler said the intensive mail campaign from Washington will be followed by mail and personal solicitation by state and local Democratic committees. He said this is the first time a major political party has conducted a sustaining membership campaign on a national basis.

Agriculture Production Expected To Outrun Food Consumption

A rising population and improved living standards broaden the market for food and other farm products. Even so, it is believed that the productive capacity of American agriculture will outrun food consumption for many years to come—which means that we will continue to have a surplus problem unless new and different kinds of markets are found and developed. That is why attention is now being given to the possibilities of increasing use of agricultural products by industry.

The 84th Congress established a bipartisan commission to examine the matter. In carrying out its assignment, the commission obtained the assistance of 193 of the country's outstanding leaders in agriculture, industry and science. Its report has now been made—and it is an exceedingly interesting one.

The question the commission dealt with is this: "Can the economy develop profitable industrial markets capable of absorbing enough of the excess farm production to minimize, possibly even to eliminate, the need for costly restrictions, supports, and surplus-disposing operations?" The commission found that "the answer is an emphatic YES, providing the necessary steps are taken to make possible and encourage such a development."

There are four main needs. The first is a sufficiently sharp sense—now lacking—of the importance, the possibilities, and the urgency of the industrial utilization approach to farm surplus problems. The second is a greatly expanded program of both fundamental and applied research—a program which would not be confined to the laboratory but, in promising instances, would go through the development stages of pilot-plant experiment and trial commercialization. The third is to ensure through fellowships, scholarships, grants and other means that much more scientific talent is trained for and channeled into this neglected field. The fourth is to provide when necessary, suitable financial incentives during a temporary trial or development period. The initial step, the commission states, is sound legislative action by Congress.

The commission emphasized that, by comparison with industry, agricultural research is in the doldrums. Industry is currently investing at least $3 billion a year—three per cent of gross sales—in research, and the result is a constant flood of new and improved products. Agriculture spends not more than $375 million a year on research—about one per cent of gross sales—and most of this goes to improve and increase production, rather than for utilization research. Consequently, the commission says "agriculture has been researched out of a good part of its natural markets" through the increasing use of detergents, synthetic fabrics, leather substitutes and so on.

The commission proposes that a five-member non-partisan Agricultural Research and Industrial Board be created by Congress, or alternately, that responsibility for the program be placed in the Department of Agriculture, under a director with Assistant Secretary rank. And it makes another important suggestion—that the program be undertaken in a way that will "add as little as possible to the structure of government."

Florida agriculture has found itself—many times—in between the rise and fall of important markets with nothing on which to fall back and recoup its losses because of unsalable surplus that has been thrown away, plowed under, or destroyed.

A formula on which the farmer could operate to insure himself an income commensurate with the importance of his product and occupation, would do much to increase the stability of a very important segment of Florida's economy.

Physical Education Important

One of the complaints frequently heard about the American educational system is that pupils in the public schools do not, by and large, get satisfactory physical training. It is a complaint soundly based on fact, and supported by tests which show that European school children have greater strength and endurance than those in this country.

Prof. Paul Hunsicker of the University of Michigan has come forth with some rather startling data on this matter. He reports that "91 per cent of American elementary schools do not have a gymnasium, and about the same number lack space essential for play areas." Prof. Hunsicker also notes that the great majority of American elementary school pupils do not have regularly scheduled classes in physical education.

The situation is disturbing, even though physical education is admittedly not as important as mental training. "A sane mind in a sound body" is still an excellent motto. Parents and others who are concerned that our children shall receive a fully rounded education in the public schools should push hard for improved physical education for all pupils, and not merely for athletic teams.

The future health and physical well-being of an entire generation is involved in this. However, we must look briefly at the future plans for our local school system, which includes gymnasiums for schools, larger areas to insure physical education programs, and schools located in central areas for more complete use of the school facilities.

There is no doubt that school programs, outlined by our local educational leaders, contain the elements of a broad education—a sound mind, a sound body, and vocational achievement—to prepare the student for his or her future in a modern world and a complex economy.

Three New Drugs Found To Aid War On Disease

By HERMAN M. ROBINSON, M.D.

DEVELOPMENT of three new drugs, destined to benefit mankind in three different ways, comes in this month's report on medical advances.

Streptovaricin, a new antimicrobial agent, gives promise of being of value in the treatment of tuberculosis. The drug is derived from a fungus, Streptomyces spectabilis, found in the soil near Dallas, Texas.

Used Against TB

Doctors who have studied the drug report it is active against a wide variety of bacteria and is "particularly striking" when used against the tuberculosis germ.

Experiments with mice indicate it is especially effective for treating tuberculosis when used in conjunction with the drug isoniazid. Although only half as active as isoniazid when used alone, it is, nevertheless, about ten times as active as streptomycin and about 100 times as active as para-aminosalicylic acid.

Washington pathologists report that the mustard derivative ThioTEPA (cq) is one of the best all-around drugs yet found for treating certain cancers and leukemias.

Cancer Growth Impeded

Growth of tumors was noticeably impeded after application of ThioTEPA in more than 50 cancer cases that were studied. Appreciable inhibition of tumor growth was noted in specimens of the ovaries, lungs, stomach, liver, stomach and pancreas.

as well as melanomas and lymphomas, including Hodgkin's disease. Earlier studies produced excellent results in cases of lymphocytic and monocytic leukemia.

While we cannot regard this new drug as a cure for cancer, it does offer promise as an adjunct to cancer therapy.

Pain-Killing Drug

A new pain-killing drug, one of the fastest-acting known, was revealed recently at an American Chemical Society meeting. The new compound is a synthetic product and in tests on animals relieved pain in 10 minutes as compared with the 45 minutes required by morphine.

Like morphine, this new drug belongs to a family known as analgesics—agents which ease pain without causing the patient to lose consciousness.

The new analgesic also is reported to have a long-lasting effect.

QUESTION AND ANSWER
 P.W.: I have been bothered for years with prostrating hands. Can you advise me what to do?
 Answer: Excessive sweating of the palms may be an indication of some general disorder, such as an infection or perhaps even difficulty with the thyroid gland. In many cases, it is a localized condition, the cause for which cannot be determined.

There is no treatment that seems to be of any particular value. Of course, a careful search should be made for the cause, so that it can be eliminated.

IT WOULD be interesting to know how many Americans there'll be in the year 2294 who'll be bragging to their neighbors and friends that their ancestors came over in the Mayflower II 'way back in 1957.

West Berliners must pay "import" duty on haircuts obtained in East Berlin. Seems over there a fellow gets a double trimming.

A postcard from Zedek Dumka kept lamenting: "We had the April showers, all right, but where are the May flowers?"

The Leaning Tower of Pisa, Italy, which has been leaning more and more out of kilter is to be reinforced so that it will remain at its present angle. The people of Pisa, it seems, were afraid that someday, as a tourist attraction, the tower would fall flat.

Our roadsters have taken on the bloom of spring as one sees the crocuses, the daisies, the dandelions, the empty beer cans.

Nearly 35 million persons a week patronized U. S. drive-in movies in 1955. That's what we call a good showing!

On reading a government report that the United States spent $62 billion on foreign aid since World War II, the man at the next desk says it's high time we introduced the do-it-yourself movement to other countries.

Foreign News Commentary

By CHARLES M. McCANN

United Press Staff Correspondent

Japanese feeling toward the United States has taken a decided turn for the better. At the same time, there is growing resentment against Soviet Russia.

The biggest development in Japanese-American relations was the decision of the United States to let a Japanese court try American GI William S. Girard for killing a Japanese woman.

This was a matter of national pride. Before the final decision came, there was heated talk that the United States was trying to trample on Japanese rights.

But there has been another development resulting from the United States decision to withdraw American combat troops from Japan.

The "Yankee go home" slogan was long popular with a lot of Japanese people. Will Miss Dollars

Now, people in Japan are talking about the millions of dollars which the GIs pour into the Japanese economy.

It has begun to occur to them also that the withdrawal of the troops jeopardizes the jobs of a lot of Japanese people.

Since the troop withdrawal decision was made, about 6,000 Japanese employed at American troop bases have been dismissed. Another 7,000 are expected to lose their jobs by the end of September.

About 127,000 Japanese are still employed by the American forces. Of these, about 70,000 work for the ground forces which are to be withdrawn. Provincial and city authorities face the loss of the various payments made by the United States forces for the use of firing ranges, drill grounds and other military establishments.

Resentment toward Russia is growing largely because of the refusal of the Soviet government to enter into a fishing agreement.

Fishing is a basic part of the Japanese economy. Negotiations for a treaty which would permit Japanese fishing vessels to operate in waters off the Siberian coast have been stalled again and again.

Close Off Area

To make the situation worse, Russia announced last Saturday that an area of more than 4,000 miles off the naval base of Vladivostok has been closed to foreign ships and planes.

There has been a suggestion that the Russian decree was linked up with military security. But the area in question has been effectively closed to foreign shipping and aircraft without any decree.

It appears that the decree really was intended to exclude Japanese fishing vessels from an exceedingly valuable fishing grounds.

Japanese Foreign Minister A-ichiro Fujiyama announced Tuesday that he proposed to send a strong protest to Moscow.

Japanese newspapers are denouncing the Soviet decree as a gross violation of international law.

Japanese people never forget, either, that Russia still refuses to account for thousands of prisoners who are believed to be still in slave labor camps nearly 12 years after the end of World War II.

Conning The News

By VIRGINIA COON

Bebe Bisbee, popular young teacher, will come back with her parents next week from working in Miami. Bebe plans to fly to Michigan August 10 to visit friends and then back to St. Petersburg for a former roommate's wedding. Bebe graduated from Florida State University and spent her first year of teaching at Fairlawn Memorial School in Miami. This year, she will teach in Sanford.

Deep sea fishing is popular with all the young Schirards at Cape Canaveral, where they are staying in Uncle "Pete" Schirard's cottage. Duke landed a fifty pound tarpon the other day with a spinning rod. Brantley had a big one hooked, and played it for two hours but the biggest fish always get away, and this one broke his line. Had a call from Cyd Schirard who came back to Sanford for a day to call on some new babies. The Schirards are having a wonderful time with a house full of company. They witnessed the firing of a missile over Cape Canaveral, which was both lovely and exciting.

Dale Booher and Bill Dartnell have rented the guest house at Bruce Anderson's beautiful place on Lake Minnie. There is another bachelor in on the deal, but my sources have not revealed his name.

Leta Peterson's brother and his family are here from Franklin, La. Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Taylor and son Edwin decided to stop and see his sister on the way to visit their daughter in Alabama. Seems a bit out to make a trip, if you are going to all the way, might as well go all the way. They have to leave Sanford as soon as they have seen Jim, who will be coming in tonight with Bob Conn, I hope.

Mrs. J. C. Peterson, Jim's father of Orange, Virginia, is staying with Leta and Jim. He plans to open a business in Sanford.

Ran into Maria Levi yesterday and she was excited about getting back from deployment. Her mother, Mrs. Arvilla Skinnor of Columbus, Ohio, has been visiting her. Maria will take her mother to the train in Jacksonville, and meet Ralph at the ship. I think that the energetic group of men and women at the Pinecrest Baptist Church are to be congratulated for the way they have made their congregation grow. Ground will be broken the fifteenth of August for the Onora which will be built on the Onora road. The young pastor (26) of the church will arrive August 4, for his first sermon. His name is Joe Courson, a man who decided to give up his railroad job and enter the ministry, when he married. His good wife, Ann, taught school while he attended Stetson University. After two years he was called to the Analea Park Baptist Church which at that time had 25 members. Even though Mr. Courson attended Stetson 3 nights a week until he graduated, nothing could leech his boundless energy. The Analea Park Church grew to 100 members with a $50,000 budget and a tremendous building plan.

Don Mattox, a ministerial student has been the interim pastor at the Pinecrest Baptist Church. It is hoped that at least 200 will attend the services August 4, when Brother Courson will give his first sermon for his new church. Dinner will be served on the grounds of the Pinecrest School following the service. The active program will start the following Monday night when he starts courses of study designed to make better church workers.

With the permission of the school board, the Pinecrest Baptist Church has used the Pinecrest School this summer, until services could be held in their own church. They have pledged to take care of any damage that might result, and pay the light bill and a janitorial fee. The use of the school building, temporarily, has enabled the former Herman Morris Sunday School class to grow into a large congregation with an average of 150 members.

Welcome To VAH-7

Home. There is nothing quite like it. It makes no difference where it is because home means those you love. During the space of a navy man's life, the tender moments of reunion are many. The children have grown, his wife looks even lovelier than he remembered. He is proud of the way they have managed without him. He is shown through the house to admire and be admired in turn. For a few days there will be an aura of sweet appreciation, until gradually the routine of home grows normal once more and the long parting is almost forgotten. This is what VAH-7 is experiencing now in the detachment that arrived this weekend. And if ever one could believe that "absence makes the heart grow fonder", here is the proof. That is, if any would admit that they could love more than they do. But there is no denying that the reunions almost make up for the long months of separation.

will be a member of this troop or Mrs. Austin's Girl Scout Troop, you are asked to attend a pre-arranged meeting Thursday evening at 8:00 P.M. at Mrs. Carlos home—2331 Park Ave. in Pinecrest. Betts Linker, troop organizer will be at the meeting to help with any problems. Also, there will be a gay Summer Sprinkle Spree for Troop 321, and that includes new, registered or fly-ups to that Brownie Troop. The Spree will be an event of July 31, Wednesday, from 2:30 to 4:30 at the regular meeting place, 2331 Park Ave. Bring dues of 10 cents, bathing suits and a huge appetite for toasted marshmallows. Mrs. Austin and Mrs. Powell will give the fly-ups their first scouting lesson on Campfire Conduct.

Jackie Carlo is going to be quite busy, to say the least. Don't forget to tune in on "Wagon Trails" on WTRH Monday through Friday, at 2:45. This is the time when Welcome Wagon leads both Gallagher talks to well-known people around town, many of them friends of yours. On her schedule this week will be Mrs. Chapman and Mr. Touhy Monday—too late now, if you missed it. They were to talk on Mental Health. Tuesday, the questions will be fired at Sheriff Hobby. Wednesday the Jaycees take the mike honors with Mrs. Gallagher, and Thursday the Rev. J. W. Parham, pastor of the Central Baptist Church.

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. Frank T. Bryan and daughter Beth, of Berkeley, Calif. are visiting her mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Hunt, in their Second St. home. The Bryans will be in Sanford about a month.

Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Bisbee and Mrs. Robert Greenlee of Daytona Beach are leaving today for Miami, where they will visit the Bisbee's daughter, Bebe Bisbee. From there they will go to Sarasota to see Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Russell. They will return to Sanford in about a week, bringing Miss Bisbee with them.

Mr. and Mrs. John E. Higgins have returned from a trip to Norfolk, Va. While they were there they visited with Cdr. and Mrs. John W. Williams. Mrs. Higgins reports that all is well with them.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Bush and Mrs. Loly Roth have gone to New Smyrna Beach for a few days to stay in the Laffer cottage. Meanwhile Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Leffler have gone to the Northwest for a vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. John Schirard Sr. are staying with Mr. and Mrs. John Schirard Jr. at Cocoa Beach. Mr. and Mrs. "Pete" Schirard have returned to Sanford. David Stanley is visiting Duke Schirard. Other Schirard guests are Linda Smith and Hope Weldie. The family, including Brantley, Jack, and Duke, will return to Sanford next week.

Frank Donoforo YN2, left Saturday for Newport, R. I. to board the U.S.S. Kepler after a brief visit with his wife and son. He will leave August 12 for a cruise to the Mediterranean for four months duration. Mrs. Donoforo is the former Kathryn Culum.

O.W.C. Holds Coffee in B.O.Q.

A welcoming coffee was given Friday morning by the executive board of the Officer's Wives Club at the B.O.Q. at S.N.A.S. All members of the wives club were invited. As they entered the door and paid their dues, a name card was given to each. The cards are permanent and were returned as the guests left.

The serving table was centered with a large arrangement of yellow crathemums and white daisies. Coffee, iced tea, and rolls were served. Members of the board poured.

During the coffee Mrs. Joy Webber, president, introduced new members, among them Mrs. Lionel Arthur, who expressed her pleasure at being in Sanford. It was announced that club members could state their preference for the material to be used in making draperies for the bar in the B.O.Q., which will be made by board members and volunteers.

Mrs. Webber explained the request for a Welfare committee, made up of Officer's Wives who can step in to help in case of family emergencies.

It was asked if the O.W.C. would like to have another garden club circle. The navy circle, which encompasses all navy wives, is the Driftwood Circle.

The drawing for the door prize resulted in the silver entree dish being won by Mrs. Tommie Tension. Attending the coffee were Mrs. John Sangster, Mrs. William Lemor, Mrs. Marje Hecdash, Mrs. Ralph Chandler, Mrs. Richard

Mrs. Millsaps Gives Party For Mrs. Guy

Mrs. I. M. Millsaps entertained with a bridge luncheon recently honoring Mrs. James Guy, who will leave next week. The Millsaps home on East Second St. was the scene of the party.

The table was centered by a bowl of roses. Guests were served a delicious frozen fruit salad, hot rolls with ham, grilled cheese sandwiches and iced tea. Mrs. Guy was given a white bridge table cover as a gift from the hostess. Attending were Mrs. William Stetson, Mrs. Jean Dooley, Mrs. Gretchen Hall, Mrs. Fred Ganas, Mrs. D. W. Linker, and Mrs. Robert Radtke. Mrs. Stetson won first prize, and Mrs. Ganas the booby.

Fishermen and pleasure boaters will be looking toward the District Court of Hennepin County, Minnesota in September for the outcome of a test case to determine the extent to which a local community could enact and enforce boating regulations.

A number of communities in the vicinity of St. Paul and Minneapolis passed ordinances requiring the registration of pleasure boats and the payment of an annual license fee.

Shortly after the passage of these ordinances, Vern Rippon, a marine dealer in the Twin Cities area, began wondering just how far such numbering acts could be carried and could picture the day when a boat would be covered with more numbers than the "big board" at the New York Stock Exchange.

Deciding to test the legality of these local laws, Rippon invited arrest for violation of the ordinances.

According to Rippon, several of the villages refused to act upon his invitation. Finally, he found that the Village of Brooklyn Center was willing to enforce its law.

Rippon appeared in the waters off Brooklyn Center and was issued a ticket for failure to have his boat registered and to have the license number on his craft.

Eventually, Rippon was hailed before the local justice of the peace and fined $100 and costs or 30 days in jail.

At this point, the Outboard Boating Club of America, the national association of boating enthusiasts and manufacturers and sellers of marine equipment, stepped in and agreed to assume the burden of the appeal of this case. OBC favors uniform state boating laws.

OBC feels that this test case could have far reaching consequences. The advent of the boat trailer has made boating more and more transient in nature and the enactment of local ordinance would result in a welter of regulations putting the planning of a day on the water on the same level with studying for a bar examination according to OBC.

Boating Accidents

By FRED W. FERGUSON
NEW YORK — Three teenagers rammed into a rowboat with their speedboat and then tried to run over the smaller boat's 26-year-old occupant as he swam desperately for shore.

A teenager was mangled by his own boat's propeller when he fell from the deck of his speedboat. He had been racing with another boat and throwing water at its driver.

These are only two among hundreds of cases of seaway insanity reported this summer.

But incompetence at the helm is by no means limited to youth, authorities emphasize.

A Coast Guard auxiliaryman reported to district Coast Guard headquarters the wisecrack of the wealthy, middle-aged owner of a deluxe cabin cruiser when reprimanded for a "boating" incident: "So tell it to my insurance company."

He had swamped three canoes paddled by young boys from a summer camp. Two of the boys could not swim.

Seldom reported are the hundreds of "everyday" caplings caused by speedboaters who buzz other boats, the Coast Guard says. Officials of the Coast Guard and Coast Guard Auxiliary, the U. S. Power Squadrons, the National Assn. of Engine and Boat Manufacturers, and major boating magazines, along with experienced yachtsmen, agree on the seriousness of the problem created by buzzers and speedboaters. Boating men say that the ranks of the reckless and negligent boat operators have swollen with the terrific increase in boating since World War II.

"Right now we are collecting statistics on boating accidents," says John S. High, chairman of the U. S. Power Squadrons' general safety committee. "By the end of the year we hope we have built up enough examples to stress their real cause."

What has impressed him most, High said, was "a complete disregard of the rules of the road" by the hundreds who have turned from the highways to the waterways.

"It's not the old established yachtsmen we're worrying about," a Coast Guard said. "It's the people who have never been on a boat before; who get up the 10 per cent down payment to buy one, and who then set out to operate it without even learning how."

Some boating dangers have been sought for years. Among them are fire, engine explosions and lack of safety equipment. They must be faced anew in the boating boom.

A Coast Guard petty officer said other dangers have been added. He pointed to recent accidents involving skin divers and water skiers.

The skin-diving problem often involving inexperienced divers surfacing beneath the propellers of motorboats appears to be centered on the West Coast.

High said there were fears among aqueduct officers that water skiing will be a major cause of accidents this year.

"In confined waters you find dozens of skiers all cutting in and out around other boats and each other," he said. Their water skis often operate in flagrant violation of speed rules in addition to the rules of the road."

Left-Handers Lead In Effectiveness Today's Sport Parade

By OSCAR FRALEY
United Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK — Tommy Jackson, billed in the fistic marts as the "Hurricane," will prove along about 10:25 p. m. e. t. tonight that he's not an ill wind.

In roughly the seventh round, the "Hurricane" will do Floyd Patterson a lot of good by blowing his chances at Floyd's heavyweight championship.

Jackson, a man who hates chopped steak and likes hamburger, and you'll have to figure out that one yourself, by the seventh round should be up to his eyes in canvas and up to his hips in Salisbury steak.

Ordinarily you wouldn't expect this bout to draw fans. The only thing Jackson, the Spartan from Spartan, Ga., has going for him is magnificent physical condition. It is no secret that he couldn't knock off your Easter bonnet with a baseball bat.

No challengers
However, you can't beat the fact that this is the only heavyweight championship fight available tonight. Or, as far as that goes, for quite a few Monday nights.

There just aren't any legitimate heavyweight challengers around and so Patterson, willing or unwilling, is forced to start what may well be a "Bum of the Month" club a la Joe Lewis. This certainly makes a good start.

You couldn't be criticized, actually, if you didn't know who really is the heavyweight champion of the world or if you entertained a suspicion that Patterson as of the moment doesn't rate 500. The former collegian was first in a 200 mile modified event in 1953 and set an all-time stock car record at 107 mph in winning the succeeding eight months. Floyd has been sitting on the throne in solemn solitude waiting for somebody to come along and make a payday.

But don't overlook the fact that this is a fine fighting machine whose future greatness will be marred only by the fact that there was nobody around for him to fight. As the 5-11 choice, Patterson seems about as safe as government bonds. If he loses to Jackson, a man he beat with one hand a year ago, there conceivably could be a congressional investigation.

One thing this fight will prove is that there really is a Floyd Patterson and Jackson, the gentle south wind billed as the "Hurricane," will prove to Floyd that yes, Virginia, there is a Santa Clause.

John Prevatt's Greyhounds Earn Over $14,000

DAYTONA BEACH — At the end of the first forty-five days of the 90 night greyhound racing season at the Volusia County Kennel Club John Prevatt's greyhounds, which are on top in the race for money winning honors, have earned more than $14,000 for him.

Frank Lane's greyhounds are in second place with $12,000 while Claude McGee is only a few hundred dollars behind Lane in third place.

The first forty-five nights, and also the matinee, have been marked by record crowds and record mutual play. The high class of greyhounds racing here caused many big betters from Miami to spend the summer in Daytona Beach instead of going to Boston or Denver.

Joe LaCroix, who ran away from the field last year when his greyhound earned more than $25,000, has moved into fourth place while W. L. Kirkpatrick is in fifth place.

thought was their car. They neglected to notice that it didn't have a license plate—indicating Queen Elizabeth's official car. "This is the royal car," the driver said to the embarrassed ladies.

Roberts To Again Seek Racing's Biggest Prize

DARLINGTON, S. C. — Glen (Fireball) Roberts, the popular Daytona Beach stock car veteran and winner of the May Rebel 300 at Darlington Raceway, will try again to capture racing's biggest prize.

Roberts' entry, along with that of Jimmy Lewallen, High Point, N. C., has been released by NASCAR officials for the Eighth Southern 500 mile stock car classic at Darlington Raceway, Labor Day.

The Floridian will drive a Ford and Lewallen a Pontiac.

Roberts, one of six veterans who have started in all previous Southern 500s, has won two major races at Darlington but never the 500. The former collegian was first in a 200 mile modified event in 1953 and set an all-time stock car record at 107 mph in winning the succeeding eight months. Floyd has been sitting on the throne in solemn solitude waiting for somebody to come along and make a payday.

But don't overlook the fact that this is a fine fighting machine whose future greatness will be marred only by the fact that there was nobody around for him to fight. As the 5-1 choice, Patterson seems about as safe as government bonds. If he loses to Jackson, a man he beat with one hand a year ago, there conceivably could be a congressional investigation.

Sheppard's Attorneys To Confer

DELAND, — — Two attorneys obtained a signed murder confession from a Florida convict today which they will use to try to free Dr. Samuel Sheppard from a life prison sentence for the slaying of his wife in 1954.

The attorneys, William Corrigan and Fred Garmone, left Deland for Cleveland, Ohio, hoping the confession by Donald J. Wedler will give them a legal way to reopen the celebrated case.

The two attorneys would not disclose their next move at this time. Corrigan said he plans to call a conference of all attorneys connected with Dr. Sam's defense to plan the legal strategy they hope will free the Cleveland osteopath.

Wedler described in a 3 1/2 page statement prepared by the attorneys how he clubbed Mariann Sheppard to death on July 4, 1954. The statement was prepared from information the attorneys obtained in an interview with Wedler Monday.

Wedler gave the name and description of a girl he said he slept with in Cleveland on July 1, 1954. He told of spending the next two days in the downtown district and of meeting a Charlie Freeman who gave him a shot of narcotics.

"I was beginning to feel high... something seemed to be urging me on," he said as he described how he reached the Sheppard house.

He said he was armed with a pipe bent at a 45-degree angle which had flanges on each end with square corners.

He said he slipped into the house, noticing a man asleep on a couch downstairs and a woman on a bed upstairs.

"I opened a dresser drawer and found nothing in the way of money," he said. "I was in the act of closing it when a woman on the bed made some kind of noise. I hit her three or four times that I remember."

He explained how he ran into a man at the top of the stairs as he was fleeing the bedroom. He said he hit him with the pipe and pushed him out of the way as the man started to fall.

Wedler said he ran from the house along the beach in the opposite direction from where he parked his car and threw the pipe into the lake.

Corrigan said he would drive back to Cleveland but said Garmone would leave from nearby Daytona Beach by airplane this afternoon and should be back in Cleveland late tonight.

Pedestrian Light Will Coincide With Vehicular

Pedestrians, crossing at the intersection of First St. and Park Ave., will no longer be able to walk across the intersection in any direction. Traffic lights have been changed so that pedestrian traffic will coincide with vehicular traffic. Walk lights will now operate with red and green signals. The Walk light will signal pedestrian traffic with the green light while the red light will cause the pedestrian "wait" signal to be lighted. The lights were regulated late yesterday afternoon and began operation this morning.

Hazlett Takes Command Of VAH-9

In a colorful change of Command ceremony preceded by a full dress inspection CDR William R. Hazlett, USN, assumed command of Heavy Attack Squadron NINE yesterday. He relieved CDR John M. Miller, USN soon to become Chief of Staff to the Commander of Heavy Attack Wing ONE. CDR Hazlett has had a varied and colorful naval career. A graduate of Pennsylvania State College, he was designated as a naval aviator in January 1942. During World War II he saw combat and was decorated as a plane commander in both PH1Y and PH2Y. Following World War II he served a stint as a flight instructor at Pensacola. He was a 1947 graduate of the U.S. Naval School of General Line, Newport, R. I. His next tour of duty was at the Navy's Special Devices Center, New York where he served as Head, Flight Services Branch. In 1949 he was ordered to VRB operating out of Honolulu, Hawaii. He served as line pilot and later as Flight Training Officer while with VRB. He participated in the Korean airlift. In 1953 CDR Hazlett completed the famed Test Pilots Training Course at Patuxent River, Md. He remained at Patuxent River as Test Project Pilot and Operations Officer of the Electronic Test Division. In 1955 he reported to Heavy Attack Wing One and has been serving as Squadron Executive Officer. In April of this year he was

Property Owners Get Jaycee Letters

Property owners in Sanford began receiving letters today from the City of Sanford's addressograph so that all property owners will be notified of the drive to enlist the cooperation of owners in the "voluntary removal of shrubbery." Signed by the Jaycee President, M. L. Raborn Jr., the letter states "As we all know, during the past 10 years the City of Sanford has experienced tremendous growth. With this growth new homes and subdivisions have been built and beautified with the planting of shrubs and trees. Older homes, over the years, have also been beautified by the planting of additional shrubs." Calling attention to the dangers which exist, the letter reads "Recent investigations made by the
