

Old Squabble Reaching Showdown

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla. (AP)—The nation's oldest city has growing pains.

Some of its citizens want it to go forward. Some want it to stand still. Some want it to stand still. Some want it to stand still. Some want it to stand still.

But it is agreed something must happen soon because a traffic bottleneck by which U.S. Highway 1 now crams a captive motoring public into the city's quaint old streets is about to be broken.

And the populace fears this may bill a flow of dollars which St. Augustine will have to replace with its own.

Everyone knows that St. Augustine long has made much of its living from being a curiosity, the money coming from thousands upon thousands of short stay tourists who pay to see the wide variety of more or less historically authentic places, plus some latter day museum type attractions.

There is a great deal of opinion expressed in no uncertain terms—but few want to be quoted.

Such as one prominent citizen who said "If these xxxx storekeepers want to be right guys, they'll take down those xxxxxx signs and put up something that wouldn't make me and Christopher Columbus sick to our stomachs."

As an example of what is happening in this city of 14,000-odd population, founded in 1565 and which until recently has seen a more or less comfortable economy, look at its newest blocklong downtown building.

It houses a five and dime, a dress shop, a shoe store and a drug store. Designed by Morris Lapides who styled the fabulous Fontainebleau Hotel at Miami Beach, it was redesigned at the request of the St. Augustine Zoning Committee to conform with the "city's movement toward restoration."

In other words, considerable extra money was spent to give the spanking new building an old style look.

City Commissioner Charles W. Straas Jr., is father of a restoration ordinance patterned after one in New Orleans. It says no signs may extend more than 14 inches from a building, cannot be lower than 8 feet above the sidewalk; cannot extend above the roofline; no animated flashing signs, no billboards.

But it had a year's grace from last fall and St. Augustine is a virtual midway of signs of all kinds.

Progressive antiquity would be fine if the city could be sure that the new U.S. 1 cutoff—now being completed—won't siphon all motor traffic away from the center of town.

The cutoff is never actually out of town and runs only within a couple hundred feet of San Marco Street which is the city's entrance from the north—a street thousands of tourists will remember.

San Marco is a funnel lined with souvenir shops, filling stations, motels and the like. It is laden, too, with traffic—often bumper to bumper for a mile or two, all being squeezed slowly straight into the city.

One filling station operator at a tight bend in the street said, as he regarded the jam one Sunday: "If it weren't for this bottleneck I'd have starved to death long ago."

This may seem a fantastically pessimistic view of things but the Chamber of Commerce is equally alarmed.

The chamber has just advertised that "When the first automobile drives down the new four lane U.S. 1 our ancient city gates will no longer be the entrance to the Oldest City." It proposes to purchase by public subscription some land for a new gate.

W. I. Drysdale, chamber president and co-owner of an alligator farm on A-1-A, says the property will "have to do the job the city gates have been doing by directing traffic into the city."

Elmer Davis, a St. Augustine native who owns a hotel and motor court wants to create a modern restaurant in a Spanish galleon on the bayfront in the center of the old Spanish quarter but is meeting stiff opposition.

He says "I'm as reverent of our history as anybody but the only thing sacred about our museum spots is the cash register."

Edward G. Flather, manager of the magnificent Ponce de Leon Hotel which since 1888 has kept in tact its Victorian splendor, sees a bright note in the cutoff.

He says "Now St. Augustine has a chance to become an island of old world charm in our feverish new world. All motor traffic could be barred from the center of town and narrow Spanish streets around it. Then restore the old fronts."

Mayor Dwight L. Britt wants to dissolve the dilemma this way: "We have to restore the atmosphere of the Old City as much as possible; at the same time we have plenty of room for industry around it."

Of course the cutoff may be a blessing in disguise—but not many are counting on it.

Recently released by the Reds, she "confessed" to having been a spy and said she was rightfully imprisoned. However, she refused to talk with American newsmen on her return. (International)

Yoshida Proposes That Non-Commies Diach Red China

TOKYO (AP)—Former Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida today recommended that the non-Communist world use 10 million Chinese outside Red China as a fifth column to detach Red China from Soviet Russia.

He called splitting the Communist bloc the best way to overcome the Communist threat in the Far East. It appears strong, he said, because of the long common frontier China and Russia share.

He said the overseas Chinese in Southeast Asia could be shown through freedom and world trade that communism does not pay and then they would become "an effective fifth column for the freedom and welfare of mankind by calling out to their compatriots at home."

"It would have great impact on the (mainland) Chinese people and contribute much toward detaching Communist China from the Soviet Union."

Yoshida's advice was in a text prepared for a speech to the Tokyo Foreign Correspondents Club.

Diana Barrymore Said Recovering

BOSTON (AP)—Actress Diana Barrymore, 34, was reported recovering early today from what a Boston City Hospital doctor said was "drug intoxication—an overdose of sleeping pills."

Miss Barrymore collapsed last night in her room at the Hotel Sturline and was taken by police ambulance to the hospital, where she immediately was placed in an oxygen tent.

Her husband Robert Wilson denied the doctor's report to police that Miss Barrymore had taken sleeping pills.

American Bomber Crashes Near Baha

HAKA, China (AP)—An American B-24 bomber groping through the darkest clouds crashed three miles from Baha airport today.

Both bodies were recovered. There was no indication whether the crew was the complete crew. No one was released.

Two Chinese were burned and hospitalized when the B-24, apparently falling down for a second time, crashed into a group of trees near the airport.

Lady Kangaroo Acting Strangely; Has Baby Arrived?

BALTIMORE (AP)—How does one know when a lady kangaroo has had a baby?

That's the burning question at the Baltimore Zoo.

Director Arthur R. Watson says, "We're sure the baby is there. But the next minute he hedges: 'At least, we think it is.'"

Watson and the keepers have noticed movement in the mother's pouch for several weeks. And once they thought they saw a tip of tail sticking out. But they can't be sure—the pouch movements might be the mother's nervous reflex twitches.

At birth, baby kangaroos are no bigger than a man's thumb. So until junior grows a few inches and gains enough strength to peek out at those trying to peek in, the secret belongs to Momma.

As for Watson and the rest—they're still hoping. There's never been a kangaroo birth in the history of the zoo.

Scout Council Being Formed

Machinery has been set up to organize a long sought after Girl Scout Area Council which will include four counties, Seminole, Orange, Osceola, and Brevard and will extend Scouting to thousands of girls.

A meeting was held April 28 in Orlando with Mrs. Gretchen L. Kidd, a member of the national staff from the Atlanta, Ga., branch office, in which the committee, formed earlier of Scout Leaders from each of the Counties, started the ball rolling with action to take place in the form of a nomination of officers from their own community to take a part on the general council.

"Sanford needs the people of the community that are interested in Scouting now to help out," stated Mrs. F. D. Scott, leader and member of the executive board.

"For 25 years Sanford had one Girl Scout troop, now we have five Girl Scout Troops plus three Brownie Troops. The membership totals over 200 including the adult membership," she went on.

Mrs. Scott then said that one person from Sanford will be represented in each office and that the budget set up for the four counties would be $21,000 which would finance three paid staff members, a secretary and provide for council services and also with the program for the first year.

Action of the council would be composed briefly of troop organization, training, program, camping, public relations, finance, membership-nomination, staff and officer and general administration.

Cost of the program meeting with the four counties of the council. Tentative share for the Sanford and Lake Mary area was set at $1,700. All Girl Scout adults in the entire council work together to raise the total budget. The amount of the budget and the amount of money that it is reasonable to expect to raise throughout the jurisdiction is determined by the committee to which Sanford's representative gave help. Effort is being made to spread the responsibility for raising the budget as widely, fairly, and proportionately as possible.

This money may be obtained in Sanford by a chest drive and/or through fund raising campaigns. People interested in helping out are asked to attend a meeting which will be held Tuesday night at the Girl Scout Hut at 8 o'clock for the purpose of nominating a committee. A list of the committee will be sent to the Girl Scout Office in Orlando May 10.

A name for the council is to be chosen from a group of names sent in by each Girl Scout Troop. Miss Frances Cobb is the president of the Girl Scouts here and Mrs. Lucian Scott of Lake Mary is a member of the area study committee and also represents and votes for the council. "No council large or small can succeed unless the people in it really want it to succeed," Mrs. Kidd, national representative said. "Girl Scouting is a cooperative, working-together enterprise, and it is possible through the pooling of resources, talents and determination."

Adenauer, Pinay Work Out Details
BONN, Germany (AP)—West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and French Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay sat down together today to work out details of the French-German pact on the industrial Saarland. If they fail to agree, West German rearmament could be delayed still more.

To head off demonstrations supporting Germany's claim to the border territory, Adenauer's government reinforced police in the capital and banned public processions.

Tomorrow Is First Deadline For New U. S. Tax Collectors
WASHINGTON (AP)—Tomorrow is the first deadline for something like a million of Uncle Sam's new tax collectors—the householders who pay a domestic helper an average of $4 a week or more. The new social security law that went into effect Jan. 1 qualified domestic help for social security if they make $50 a quarter, or more, from any one employer. That figure is about $4 a week.

Payments are due for any help around the house who earned as much as $20 during January, February and March, including a baby sitter, maid, handyman, landlady, cook, housekeeper, gardener, janitor, busman, government, valet, butler, chauffeur or other help.

The law puts the entire responsibility for making the social security tax payment for a domestic on the householders.

Many Civil Defense Workers Go Home
LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—More than a fourth of 1,200 civil defense workers who came here for the big atomic blast have returned home, but nearly a half among those remaining despite three postponements.

This is the word today from Val Peterson, Federal Civil Defense Administration director.

A weather breaking today will determine if the 40-ton atomic bomb in the test area can be detonated.

Pilot Club Members Gather In Daytona

Annual Spring Meet Of District 4 To Be Attended By Local Delegates

The annual spring convention of District Four, Pilot Club International, comprising 39 clubs in the state of Florida, will convene in the Princess Isabella Hotel tonight. Delegates from the local club will be in attendance.

Delegates from the local club will be in attendance include Mrs. Harvey A. Swanson, president; Mrs. Walter L. Carter, first vice president; and Mrs. Sue Stevenson, second vice president. Others attending will be Mrs. J. P. Hall, alternate, and Mrs. D. K. McNab.

Pilot International is a classified women's service organization with 350 clubs throughout the United States, Canada, England, France, Bermuda, Mexico, Hawaii and Japan with a membership of approximately 10,000. Florida leads all districts in number of clubs and has a membership of more than 4,100. An attendance of 350 to 400 is expected from the 28 Florida clubs at the convention.

Mrs. Genie C. Doid of St. Augustine, treasurer of Pilot International, will be the official representative of P. I. at the convention. Mrs. Edith McElreid Cameron of Gainesville, president-elect of Pilot International will be an honored guest. Mrs. Ruth Campbell of Daytona Beach, district governor, will preside, assisted by Mrs. Alice Chambers of Tallahassee, district lieutenant governor. The annual election of district officers will be held Saturday and the projection of work for the coming year will be presented by the new district chairman.

Revisions to the district standing rules will be voted on Sunday. Themes for the convention will be "Vision Plus Action Equals Reality" which is Pilot International's theme for the year. This will also be the topic for the guest speaker, P. Kenneth Brasted, Ph.D., of the National Association of Manufacturers.

Another convention composed of the 15 Anchor Clubs in Florida, service groups of high school girls sponsored by Pilot Clubs, will convene in their first annual session in Daytona Beach on Saturday, with headquarters at the Genova and Jhalimar Hotels with an anticipated attendance of 150 members.

Senators Get Try At Turnpike Bill
TALLAHASSEE (AP)—The Senate gets a crack at the administration's full-length turnpike bill today and indications are the battle lines will form about like they did in the House.

The bill is due to be called up on special order and the Senate probably will stay with it until roll call.

The bill which the House passed 60-30 Tuesday also is on the calendar and turnpike proponents could move to have it substituted for the Senate measure. But Senate strategists indicated last night they probably wouldn't do so.

Florida Spending Figure Is High
TALLAHASSEE (AP)—Preliminary estimates on the amount of money Florida will spend in the next two years indicate strongly the figure will be above the $60 million mark.

The tentative figure to be included in the House spending bill was disclosed yesterday by Rep. Moody of Hillsborough, the House appropriations chairman, to be $62 million dollars.

The Senate Appropriations Committee has approved $400,000,000. The separate appropriations bills are approved by the respective houses, then go to the other for approval.

Medical Group Protests As 'Unfair' Drafting Of Doctors

WASHINGTON (AP)—The American Medical Assn. protested as "unfair" today the drafting of doctors to care for civilian dependents of military personnel.

Dr. Walter B. Martin, of Norfolk, Va., president, and other AMA spokesmen urged the House Armed Services Committee to end the draft of doctors and dentists when the present law expires June 30. The committee is considering a measure to extend the law for two more years.

Dr. Martin described the law as "discriminatory." It makes doctors and dentists subject to enforced military service until they are 51. The regular draft law applies only to men up to 26.

As an example of the growing amount of dependents' care, he said more than 145,000 babies were born in military hospitals in 1953, compared with 42,000 in 1948.

Corliss Lamont Quits As Lecturer Until Case Clears
NEW YORK (AP)—Corliss Lamont, under indictment for alleged contempt of the U.S. Senate, said yesterday he has withdrawn as lecturer in philosophy at Columbia University until his case is clarified.

After a report yesterday in the New York Post that he had been dropped from the university faculty, Lamont issued a statement saying: "I have voluntarily withdrawn my course at Columbia... until my contempt case is clarified. There is no suspension or dismissal involved."

Columbia said in a statement that Lamont's action was "without prior suggestion by any officer of the university."

Admittedly Futile Filibuster Goes On
MADISON, Wis. (AP)—Democratic senators wrote Wisconsin political history today in an admitted hopeless filibuster on a bill that would prohibit labor unions from contributing money to political campaigns.

The eight democrats in the 33-member Wisconsin Senate started their fight against the Republican-sponsored bill early yesterday and continued it through the early hours of today without letup.

They were determined, according to their floor leader, Sen. Henry Maier, of Milwaukee, to continue the discussion indefinitely if possible in an effort to dramatize their opposition to the bill.

Charges Fired Up By Senator Johns
TALLAHASSEE (AP)—Sen. Johns of Starks, fired up by charges of a Florida Education Assn. official that his anti-PEA bill was "political reprisal," served notice he'll reply on the floor of the Senate today.

The charge was hurled by Ed B. Henderson, executive secretary of the FEA, during a meeting of the Senate Education Committee yesterday, at which Johns' bill was rejected by unanimous vote.

Henderson told the committee a Johns campaign worker called him during the last two weeks of the governorship campaign last year between Johns and LeRoy Collins and demanded that he line up teacher votes for Johns.

GROUP TO INVESTIGATE
WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Hubert (D-La.) says a House committee intends to investigate a report by the Hoover Commission that the Navy has stockpiled a 60-year supply of hamburger. The Navy says the stockpile is not made of meat.

Public Play Area Planned

Legion Conference To Be Here Sunday

Between 150 and 200 American Legion and auxiliary members from four counties are expected to attend sixth district meetings here Sunday. Represented will be Seminole, Lake, Orange and Osceola counties.

The Legion meeting was called by district commander O. E. Weaver of Altamonte Springs, Camp-Lossing Post 63 of Sanford will be host.

The Legionnaires and auxiliary members will hold separate meetings prior to a 1 p. m. luncheon, but will hold a short joint session afterwards.

Registration will begin at 9 a. m. at the Legion hut. The auxiliary will then meet at the hut, while the Legionnaires will go to the Legion building at the fairgrounds to conduct their meeting. The luncheon and the joint meeting will be held at the fairgrounds building.

R. Z. Johnson, commander of Camp-Lossing Post, and Mayor Denver Correll, a past commander of the post, will give addresses of welcome. Postmaster Joel Field will introduce distinguished guests.

Highlight of the Legion and auxiliary meetings will be the election of district officers who will be inducted at the state convention to be held May 20-22 at Sarasota.

The luncheon will be served by the Sanford auxiliary.

GOP Said To Back Ike's Decisions

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Capehart (R-Ind.) said today he thinks most Senate Republicans will back any decisions President Eisenhower makes in dealing with the Chinese Communists and the Formosa situation.

Capehart said in an interview he could not go along with his colleague Sen. Jenner (R-Ind.), who proposed yesterday a resolution to put the Senate on record that no government official "may take part in any conference" which might result in the transfer of any territory to a Communist state.

Jenner's resolution, which would be merely an expression of Senate opinion, obviously was prompted by the increased prospect of some kind of talks between the United States and Communist China aimed at relaxing tensions in the Formosa Strait.

SMALL PLANE CRASHES; THREE OCCUPANTS DIE
WILMINGTON, Del. (AP)—A small plane crashed in an open field on the outskirts of Wilmington yesterday, killing its three occupants. The victims were Floyd Q. Quinn, 27, of Wilmington; Winfield S. Pratt, 35, of Elamere; and Francis Hogan, 30, of Newport. They had taken the four-seater Beechcraft Bonanza aloft for an instrument check.

Building Permits Issued For Homes
A city building permit was issued yesterday to Lowell E. Orler for construction of a three-bedroom masonry dwelling at 1705 E. 16th St., City Building Inspector John Gilson announced today. The permit was valued at $15,000.

A permit for a $7,000 two-bedroom dwelling at 2120 Laurel Ave. was issued Wednesday to Russell Howard Gilson said 28 permits for dwellings have been granted thus far this month.

Company, Union Agree To Proposal

DETROIT (AP)—Parke, Davis & Co. and the CIO Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers have agreed on a union proposal to extend their contract on a day-to-day basis beyond May 1 expiration date.

The proposal was made last night at management and the union continued bargaining sessions with federal and state mediators on a new contract for some 8,000 Parke Davis employees.

The union said it asked for the extension rather than interrupt the flow of Salk polio vaccine by a walkout. Parke Davis is a major producer of the vaccine.

At issue are wage demands, a guaranteed annual wage and fringe benefits.

God's infinitely wise and loving government of man will be stressed at Christian Science services Sunday in the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Everlasting Punishment."

From the King James Version of the Bible will be read the account of Christ Jesus' healing of the impotent man at the pool of Bethesda, including the following passage: "Afterward Jesus stood with him in the temple, and said unto him, Behold, thou art made whole: sin no more, lest a worse thing come unto thee" (John 5:14).
The following correlative passage will be among those read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy (11:1-4): "The great fact that God lovingly governs all, never punishing aught but sin, is your standpoint, from which to advance and destroy the human fear of sickness."
The Golden Text is from Job (6:17): "Behold, happy is the man whom God correcteth: therefore despise not the chastening of the Almighty."

THE WONDERFUL SHIP

She'll sail with the best of them, because into her fashioning have gone the eager hands of a small boy and the gentle, experienced touch of an old man. Across bright blue water her miniature sails will billow clean and white, and into the eyes of these two will steal a new light of pleasure.

There has been guidance in the making of this boat, the loving guidance of one who has weathered life's storms and gained from them the comfort of experience. And the boy, sensing this experience, is happy in a childlike confidence that this ship... this wonderful ship... can never sink.

It may be that on some brave voyage the little boat will meet disaster, and this lad will learn that material possessions so seldom last. He is also learning to find faith in a ship that is unsinkable. That ship is the Church... and it will carry him through calm seas and storms throughout the voyage of life. Every child should learn early to anchor his life to the Church.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his money and material support. Men go to church regularly and reap year after year.

Altamonte Springs

By MRS. B. D. McINTOSH JR.
 Dr. John William Clardy of Winter Park and a retired Presbyterian Minister has accepted a call to be full-time pastor at the Altamonte Community Church and was accepted by unanimous vote of the membership at a meeting held at the church Monday night.
 Dr. Clardy studied at Princeton University Theological Seminary and was graduated from Washington and Lee University, where he received both his A.B. and D.D. degrees. He served as assistant pastor at the First Presbyterian Church of Pittsburgh, Pa. and was pastor of Watson Memorial Presbyterian Church in Pittsburgh. He was also a member of the Department of Welfare of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and was superintendent and warden of Rockview and Western Penitentiary from which position he retired in 1933.
 Dr. and Mrs. Clardy now reside at 1627 Walnut Ave. in Winter Park. The Altamonte Springs Civic Club will meet Wednesday, May 4, at the Community House for its annual May luncheon and final meeting of the fiscal year. Installation of new officers will also be held at this time. Luncheon will be served at 12:30 p.m. by the hostess committee Mrs. W. L. Swofford, Mrs. Clifford Gilbert Jr., Mrs. L. E. Mann, and Mrs. B. F. McKinney. A charge of $1 will be made for the luncheon.
 Mrs. Henry Hansen, outgoing president, will give her report at this time; also other annual reports will be heard. Mrs. Hansen will be succeeded by Mrs. C. O. Knox. Mrs. Lee Guller, corresponding secretary, will also be installed at this time.
 American Legion Post No. 183 held an election of officers for the coming year at its meeting Monday night at the Legion home on Prairie Lake. Following the election of officers and business meeting the Drum and Bugle Corps from Orlando presented a program of music. Several wives of Legionnaires were in attendance. Officers elected were D. T. Warren, Commander; Marvin McClain, First Vice Comdr.; Maurice E. Rudolph, Second Vice Comdr.; E. S. Douglass, Finance Officer; O. E. Weaver, Chaplain; Allen Forward, Historian; L. L. Cox, Sergeant-at-Arms. The following were elected to the executive committee: Mrs. Pauline Stevens, Allen Forward, and Jack Wallman, Comdr.-elect Warren announced that he would appoint Mrs. Stevens as Adjutant.

 The Post voted to change its meeting night to coincide with those of the Auxiliary, which meets each second and fourth Wednesday at 8 p.m. It was further decided to hold only one meeting each month during July, August and September.
 Mr. and Mrs. Graham Fuller were hosts at a dinner party last week honoring Mrs. Dan Gilbert on her birthday. Others present were Mrs. Gilbert's husband, Miss Anne Furigone and H. L. Smith of Orlando.
 Mrs. Florence E. Coursen of Philadelphia is spending a vacation with her father, Lewis B. Smith and family, and her brother, Harry Smith and his family.
 Mr. and Mrs. John Vohs and Miss Mary Vohs of Miami spent last weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Dan Gilbert.
 Miss Helen Powell of New York City has been the houseguest of Mrs. B. F. Seaman for the past month. She left Tuesday to return to her home by plane.
 Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Swofford and children, Carl and Connie spent Sunday at Daytona Beach.
 Mr. and Mrs. Howard Buell have had as their guests, Mrs. Buell's mother, Mrs. R. L. Mudge of Watsburg, Pa., and Mrs. Mary McFadden of Warren, Pa.
 Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Howell were called to Ocala last week by the death of Mrs. Howell's brother-in-law.
 Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Scott left Tuesday for their summer home in Leesburg, Ind.

 Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Bryan spent last weekend at Daytona Beach. They were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Kennedy, Corinth, Miss. and Mr. and Mrs. Morgan Howard of Winter Garden.
 Mrs. Edith Brown, Mrs. Marion Hamlin, Mrs. J. H. Knight and daughter, Betty Jean, Jimmie Fuller and David Hamlin spent last Saturday at Daytona Beach.
 Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Gilbert Jr. entertained with an outdoor picnic supper at their home Saturday night honoring Mrs. B. D. McIntosh Jr. on her birthday. Others present were Mr. and Mrs. Graham Fuller, Kent and Jimmie Fuller, Mr. and Mrs. Allen Forward, Barbara and Patty Forward, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Frick, James H. Healey, Jerry McIntosh, and Ronald and Michael Gilbert.

The Right To Know

The American Society of Newspaper Publishers has stated its opposition to new restraints on information instituted by the Commerce and Defense Departments.

Secretary of Commerce Weeks has established an Office of Strategic Information to provide "advisory restraints" on the publication of non-secret material which might, in the opinion of the OSI, help a potential enemy.

No decent newspaper wants to print a scrap of information which would endanger national security in any way. Yet who is to say what non-secret information is of some assistance to a potential enemy and what information is not? Is the knowledge of the American people about what is happening in their government to be restricted to only that material which is innocuous? What assurance have we that at some future date someone with this censorship power will not abuse it to stifle criticism?

Military secrets must be guarded. But we cannot permit our right to know what our government is doing to be abridged by well-meaning men who tell us it is being done for our own good. The American Society of Newspaper Publishers is to be commended for its stand and on this very important matter.

TODAY'S BIBLE VERSE

All these things have I observed from my youth; what lack I yet?—Matt. 19:20—The rich young man wanted perfection and Christ gave him a prescription that worked all right with Paul and countless other saints. Christ never intended all humanity to accept the task of full time preaching. Some must plow and reap, and manufacture and provide and serve food, and maintain.

A meeting was held by the local supervisors Tuesday night at the work unit office in the Sanford Atlantic Bank building. The meeting was called to order by Chairman, Bonner Carter and after the minutes of the last meeting were read by secretary, Jack Martin, Bobby Wiedersheim, the guest speaker was introduced.

Bobby, who recently won the Future Farmer of America public speaking contest at the Seminole High School, gave his talk on "What Soil Conservation Districts are Doing to Conserve Soil and Water Resources in Florida." His talk was very interesting and well prepared. Bobby will represent the local FFA chapter in the district meeting on May 6 at Leesburg and will also represent the Seminole Soil Conservation District in the Area meeting at Clermont on May 25. Bobby was accompanied by his mother Mrs. C. W. Wiedersheim and Bill West the V-A-I instructor at the Seminole High School.

The supervisors agreed to purchase a new rotary-type mower, to replace the present mower, from the Sanford Tractor and Implement Company. This Company who handles the Allis-Chalmers products provided the low bid. The new mower is expected to be available for use by local farmers and cooperators in a few days.

Another topic that received much discussion was the purchase of long time lease of a few acres of tillable land for use as a district nursery. The nursery is badly needed and would be used chiefly by the District to try out new practices and techniques that might be better adapted to this area. This topic will be further discussed at the next meeting.

Supervisors attending the meeting were: Chairman, Bonner Carter, George W. C. A. Wain, Ralph Hamilton, and Harry Wright. All were accompanied by their wives. Mrs. Carter also present and observed the group on new activities in the conservation field.

Secretary's World

Secretaries are gaining a new status in the employment world. Along with teachers, nurses and engineers, they're in short supply. As a consequence, girls who are skillful stenographers, typists and bookkeepers are sitting pretty.

There are many reasons for the shortage of secretaries. These include the low birth rate of the 1930's the lowered marriage age of recent years which is keeping many girls busy as homemakers and mothers, and finally the equal job opportunities women enjoy with men, which has drained off many girls into the professions.

As a result salaries being paid to secretaries today are on the way up. The fact is that good secretaries are a vital part of any organization; often they are indispensable. They keep a business organization running smoothly, handling on their own initiative many details which are strange to their own bosses.

Girls with secretarial skills are taking advantage of the current situation. Born with an instinct for shopping, they are doing just that when it comes to looking for jobs. They look for the highest salaries, the shortest hours, the pleasantest working conditions.

The day is gone when a man could demand beauty as well as talent in a secretary. Today he's lucky to find one, if he can afford to hire her. This may not be a woman's world yet, but it sure is a secretary's world.

Our Oldest Church

The oldest church in the United States is on the way to complete restoration. St. Luke's Church in Smithfield, Va., is being rebuilt by popular subscription, which has far run to $100,000. This is not enough, according to Henry Mason Day of New York City, president of Historic St. Luke's Restoration. It will take nearly three times as much.

When St. Luke's began, the nearby village of Jamestown, the first English settlement in North America, was just 25 years old. The Smithfield rhine antedates the oldest relic at Jamestown, the ruined church tower which may date from 1639 to 1647.

The English colony had not grown greatly since the days of Captain John Smith. Opehanacough, the Indian chief who in Smith's day was the whites' deadly enemy, was still alive, and destined to go on the warpath again 12 years later, in 1644. The son of Pocahontas and John Rolfe was a lad in his teens in England.

The restoration of the nation's oldest church is an event to stir the imagination. Future tourists should have a thrill.

Secret 'Weapon' Is Introduced

NEW YORK (AP)—America introduced a secret weapon to win a war with the Russians in an odd hospitality war fought along the Elbe River 10 years ago.

That weapon, it now may be revealed, was Kentucky's bottled breakfast of champions — 100 proof bourbon.

As soon as the two Allied armies linked up, a number of celebrations were held. In the first flush of enthusiasm they were largely spontaneous get-togethers between small groups of individuals or officers from both armies, marked by cordiality and good will on both sides.

But as the parties went up, echeion by echeion, from division to corps to army level, the atmosphere subtly changed. The cordiality and good will became formalized.

In this exchange of hospitality the Russians held a big edge. We wealthy Wall Street imperialists had little more than stern canned combat rations to offer. The simple virtuous peasant Soviet warriors on the other hand, seemed to have a pipeline of plenty that led straight to Moscow. When they were hosts, the tables groaned with piles of caviar, fat cheeses, fresh cucumbers, all kinds of rich tidbits you usually find only in expensive restaurants — and an endless number of carafes filled with vodka.

The Russians took a rude delight in trying to tempt the Americans under the table. And it must be admitted that many of our men, worn down by months of clean living in the field, were ill-prepared to face the Soviet vodka barrage.

As one officer remarked weekly after the 20-umph toast: "I thought Russian roulette was played with revolvers, not vodka glasses."

The lavishness reached its peak at a party thrown by Marshal Ivan Zonov, now Russian deputy minister of defense, for Gen. Omar Nelson Bradley and his staff.

Forewarned on the invidious impact of vodka, Bradley and his officers had guarded against it by swallowing quantities of canned milk and mineral oil.

Konov himself, a bald, powerful built man, proved the first to hold his. The Russian hospitality siege. He turned down the vodka and reached for a glass of white wine as an interpreter explained, "the marshal has stomach trouble."

Bradley, who is no drinking man himself, immediately switched to white wine, too, and had no trouble matching Konov's toast for toast. Grinning, Bradley leaned over to a correspondent friend and whispered, "How'm I doing?" He was doing perfectly. So were his mineral-oil-bursted staff. They easily met the Russian officers on equal terms.

Following a tremendous repeat a Red army chorus sang the "Star Spangled Banner," but apparently were the first being corrected by it as they had memorized the lyrics without understanding them.

A ballet troupe, obviously professional, then put on a splendid performance, but when Bradley praised the dancers, Konov merely remarked blandly: "Just a few girls from the Red army."

When it came time for Bradley to hold a return courtesy party, a question arose over what liquid refreshments to offer.

"They served us their national drink," Bradley said, smiling.

Knowland Has Repeated Misgivings

Associated Press News Analyst WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Knowland, Republican Senate leader, has repeated misgivings that if this country tries to talk peace face to face with the Communists it may lose its shirt.

This hardly indicates full confidence in the Eisenhower administration's ability to come out even in dealing directly with the Reds. The administration has just expressed willingness to have Formosa cease-fire talks with the Red Chinese.

President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles seem to have confidence enough in themselves to believe they can at least talk with the Reds about a cease-fire without coming home in a barrel.

Last weekend the Chinese Communists suggested talks with the United States to "relax tension" in the Formosa area. At first the State Department said there could

Report To People

By DOUGLAS STENSTROM, By Sen. Douglas Stenstrom

The big news of the Senate this past week was the defeat of the proposal for Constitutional Revision in the Senate Committee by a vote of 8 to 3. This came as a distinct disappointment to me as I have long advocated the need for a new Florida Constitution.

Governor Collins has made revision one of the most important proposals of his administration. I had co-introduced the bill which would have created a Constitutional Commission composed of 27 members representing the judicial, executive, and legislative branches of our government along with private citizens. This commission would have been charged with the duty of writing a new constitution and presenting it to the next session of the legislature.

The legislature in turn would have submitted the new constitution to the people. We had every hope that this bill would pass the Senate. It now appears that Constitutional Revision will not be accomplished; however, we must continue the fight and perhaps some day in some way Florida will get a new constitution.

Another disappointment to me personally was the defeat by the House Committee of the bill I had co-introduced in the Senate providing for an extension of the residence requirement for divorce in Florida from 90 days to 1 year. The House Committee defeated the bill by an 8 to 2 vote. This means that Florida will continue to be recognized throughout the Nation as a paradise for divorce seekers.

Agria we must continue this fight to restore Florida's integrity and good name in the eyes of the Nation. Good news came during the week when both the Senate Appropriations Committee and the Senate Education Committee, of which I am a member, reported favorably a bill to increase the salaries of Florida's school teachers $200 per year. Governor Collins and the Senate leadership feels that this can be done without increased taxes. The bill now will come to the floor of the Senate.

The Senate also this week passed a drivers' education bill providing for instruction of our high school students by competent teachers in the methods of operation motor vehicles. This bill, in my opinion, would not have passed had it been necessary to finance the program out of the general funds of the State; however, the program is to be financed by a 25c increase in the cost of drivers' licenses. This means that a Florida citizen who purchases his drivers license for the next 50 years will be contributing only $12.50 toward a program which will insure proper instruction to the young people of Florida in the operation of motor vehicles. It is impossible to estimate the value of this program through the years in the saving of lives and the reduction of property damage. It is expected that the turnpike bill will soon come to the Senate floor for a vote. I have not been convinced that the proposed route for the turnpike is sound nor that the revenue from the toll road will be sufficient to restore the bonds to be issued to finance the road. I can not support the turnpike and will vote against it on the floor of the Senate.

In closing, let me say as your Senator that I do hope that you will continue to write to me concerning your views on the matters coming before the Senate. I want to do a good job and to represent the people of my district fairly and impartially. I can do this so much better when I know how you feel.

Symptoms Showing White House Fever For Gov. Harriman

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—By all recognized symptoms, Gov. Averell Harriman has White House fever. It's a self-controlled case. New York's first Democratic governor in 12 years says he favors Adlai Stevenson for the party's presidential nomination next year — and few doubt his sincerity.

But political observers are convinced that Harriman is preparing to try to grab the nomination if Stevenson should count himself out or be counted out.

The same observers believe that Harriman would accept the vice presidential nomination but only as Stevenson's running mate.

Albany political experts have seen White House fever develop in a number of New York governors, among them Alfred E. Smith, Franklin D. Roosevelt and Thomas E. Dewey. So they are alert for the signs.

Two of the most common symptoms are a keen interest—expressed publicly and often—in national and international affairs and an oblique demonstration of rugged good health. Harriman has marked himself with both.

Since becoming governor Jan. 1 he has delivered a number of speeches devoted in whole or part to problems high on the list of presidential headaches.

He speaks with a background of experience in national and international affairs. He was ambassador to London and Moscow in World War II and took part in the Tehran and Yalta conferences. After the war he was secretary of commerce.

Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Young are back again in the house of his brother, Kelly Young, following his recent illness. His friends will be glad to hear that he is improved.

Tuesday evening the Fellowship Class of the Presbyterian Church sponsored a wienie roast for the newcomers. The young people met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Keogh and went over to the fireplace in the Gleason yard where the supper was cooked and eaten. The menu included wieners and rolls, baked beans, potato salad, cabbage slaw, fruit jello, orange cake, spice cake, cookies and marshmallows, which were toasted at the end of the meal.

Enjoying the occasion were the Rev. and Mrs. L. W. Scott and her sister, Miss Alice Downard of Buffalo, N. Y. Mr. and Mrs. Joe Bryant and three children, Mrs. Ted Brooklyn and children, Susan and Tim, Mrs. Ralph Williams and daughters, Myrna and Melanie, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Geiger and children, Rommie and Caroline, Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Smith, Mr. and Mrs. William Pulver and son, Donnie, Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Bone and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Keogh and sons, Craig and Keith, Mrs. Ellen Willard and Kathy and Dorcas Kirsch.

Wednesday evening the members of the Business Women's Circle of the Presbyterian Church entertained their husbands and a few guests at a barbeque at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Cochran. Mr. Cochran was responsible for the delicious barbeque of beef and pork. Baked beans, potato salad, cole slaw, assorted pickles and olives, celery, hot rolls, pie, iced tea, and coffee completed the meal which was eaten at tables on the patio overlooking the lake.

Enjoying this occasion were the Rev. and Mrs. L. W. Scott, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Zimmerman, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Evans, the Rev. and Mrs. James M. Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Gleason, Mr. and Mrs. Walter I. Piper, Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. S.

 Mr. and Mrs. C. J. MacCartee, members of Central Florida Squadron Civil Air Patrol, spent Saturday and Sunday recently at the Daytona Plaza Hotel, while attending the Annual Southeastern Regional Conference of the Organization at Daytona Beach.

Over 700 delegates representing the five wings, Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Tennessee and Puerto Rico, were present.

Lt. MacCartee stated that the C. A. P. has a total of over 80,000 volunteer members including approximately 48,000 cadets, young men and women 15 years and older who are engaged in an intensive aviation education program and more than 36,000 adult members who are pilots, observers, radio operators and technical specialists who in an emergency can muster some 45,000 planes as well as more than 500 liaison planes on loan from the air force.

The Civil Air Patrol is the official auxiliary of the United States Air Force created by act of Congress to give wings to the nation's Civil Defense efforts.

Lt. MacCartee urges that young men and women of the above age group should take advantage of the many excellent opportunities offered by the C. A. P. Cadet Program to better prepare them for the air age in which we are living.

The Home Demonstration Club County Council met at the home of Mrs. P. T. Piety for an all-day meeting, Friday with the following presidents and delegates representing their towns: Mrs. Charles A. Henson, Mrs. Jo Schmahli and Mrs. E. B. Kipp of Holly Hill; Mrs. J. C. Ford and Mrs. C. B. Norton of Port Orange; Mrs. Harold Eby, Home Demonstration Agent; Mrs. Frances Casbeer and Mrs. Carl L. ## Hoelt Pitches Detroit Tigers To 5th Victory

Billy Hoelt, a lefty who has lost twice as many as he's won for Detroit in the past, told Manager Bucky Harris this spring that this is the season he becomes a winner. "Show me," said Harris.

So far, the kid's been showing him plenty. And since he started winning, the Tigers have been unbeatable, riding a five-game winning streak to within half a game of the American League lead.

It was Hoelt, a 22-year-old with three major league seasons behind him, who started the streak, shutting out the defending champion Cleveland Indians 3-0 on three hits last Saturday. And it was Hoelt again last night as the Tigers won No. 5, beating the Washington Senators 4-1.

Hoelt whittled his earned run average down to 0.85, with Washington's lone tally unearned. He walked only one and struck out six. Except for some shabby fielding and wild pitching by the Kansas City Athletics last night, the Tigers would be in first place today with Cleveland instead of sharing second with the Indians. The A's failures allowed the New York Yankees an 11-4 triumph and with it the Bombers jumped back into the lead.

Chicago's White Sox tumbled out of first in a day game, losing to Boston and Ivan Delock, who spun a three-hitter for a 3-1 victory. Cleveland and Baltimore were idle.

In the National, Brooklyn opened up a four-game spread over second place Milwaukee, coming from behind to beat the Chicago Cubs 4-2. The Braves were beaten by Willie Jones' homer in the ninth last night at Philadelphia 3-2. Cincinnati broke up a six-game losing streak 3-2 at Pittsburgh under the lights and New York's Giants beat St. Louis 6-4 at the Polo Grounds.

The Yanks tagged five Kansas City pitchers for 13 hits — including a two-run homer by Mickey Mantle — but ran three runs across in the sixth without a single safety. Two hit batsmen, three walks and an error that prevented the third out accounted for the gifts.

Delock, a 25-year-old right-hander, didn't give the White Sox anything more potent than a single, but Chicago paired two of them with a walk to spoil his shutout in the seventh. Ivan had them hitless to that point.

Brooklyn was handcuffed by the

CBs Slam Door After Cards Gain All Runs In 1st

The Orlando Cubs snapped a two-game losing streak, their longest of the season, by pounding three Sanford pitchers for a 6-3 victory here last night.

Orlando spotted the Cardinals three runs in the first inning and then slammed the door as Alex Gorday struck out 11 and scattered six hits the rest of the way to post his third win of the season. Gorday's wildness got him in trouble in the first inning as he walked Stan Derry and Dan Keith, the only free passes he gave up all night, and then gave up successive singles to Terry Terrel and Russ Davis.

Pete Peterson, Cardinal lefty, shut-out the CBs the first three innings with the aid of three double plays by his mates but his wildness led to his downfall in the fourth.

With one down in the fourth, Dave Drapp, Mike Kasaban, and Dike Wilson drew successive walks and then Mgr. Tommy O'Brien doubled down the left field line to score Drapp, and Kasaban.

Roland Manfredi replaced Peterson on the hill and was greeted with a single by Ray Thomas that scored Wilson. Jim Walton then reached first on Sharper's error and O'Brien scoring on the play.

The CBs picked up two more tallies in the seventh when Ed Houseknecht led off with a double and scored on Kasaban's single. Kasaban moved to third on a hit by Wilson and scored on a long fly by O'Brien to end the night's scoring.

Sanford made four double plays throughout the evening to aid the Sanford pitchers who gave up at least one hit in every inning but the second.

White Hats Take 4-3 Bowling Win

After a see-saw battle that saw each team win three games of the six-game set, the FASRON White Hats edged the Sanford Chiefs in the championship playoff for NAAS Sanford Bowling League honors this week. The White Hats took a 4-3 win on a whisker-thin 14-pin advantage in the total pins department. Final count was 5034-5020.

The White Hats grabbed the first two games last Friday by scores of 51-47 and 51-47. Bouncing back with an 82-74 win in the third game, the Chiefs went ahead in total pins by 27.

One pin turned the trick for the Chiefs in the fifth game, played Monday afternoon, when they took the contest by 850-558. The biggest total of the playoff, an 884, was their rung up by the White Hats as they notched their third victory and went ahead by 68 sticks. The Chiefs came back down to the wire in the final but fell just one mark short of victory, winning by 56.

Jim Redmond of the winners and Floyd Dunlap of the Chiefs were by far the standouts of the playoff. Redmond's scores of 187 and 185 were the two best of the series. He also had the top average 156 for the six games.

The Chiefs won the first half season title and the White Hats grabbed the second half to win the right to meet in the championship playoff. In each case, the other was runner-up for top spot.

Don Bisplinghoff Meets Dave Smith In Tourney Today

PINEHURST, N. C. (AP)— Dave Smith, whose fine play in the North and South Amateur Golf Tournament this week has been a revelation, met another "tiger" today in the 18-hole semifinals, 20-year-old Don Bisplinghoff, of Orlando, Fla.

The winner will move into the 36-hole finals tomorrow against the survivor of the match between Bill Campbell, the Walker Cup player from Huntington, W. Va., and Ed Gravely, 34-year-old tobacco man from Rocky Mount, N. C.

Smith confessed he hadn't expected to be here this long and has had to buy additional clothing. The 28-year-old automobile dealer from Gastonia, N.C., who stands 6-3 and weighs 240, removed any doubts as to his skill and courage under pressure in the quarter-finals yesterday when he took a heart-stopping, pressured 21-hole duel from Dale Morey, Walker Cup player and former professional from Indianapolis.

Smith, who won the medal with a Sunday-par 67 Monday, still had to convince the skeptics that he was the real thing, especially after he had squeaked by his first two matches 1 up.

He started to win them over with a 4 and 2 trimming of Bill Hyndman, a "class" player from Abington, Pa., Wednesday. Yesterday he removed all doubts.

Big Dave was the only player to stay even with par over the 7,000-yard No. 2 course of the country club, and he did it for 21 holes.

Bisplinghoff, a confident youngster who has won the last three Florida state amateur titles, won at medal play, ousted Glenn Johnson, of Grosse Ile, Mich., 2 and 1. He finished one over par.

Mrs. Verne Smith Wins Third Place In Golf Tourney

Mrs. Dot Talton of Daytona Beach won A Flight low gross honors yesterday in the Inter-City Golf Tournament held at Dubsdread Country Club. Ninety-five ladies, representing 10 Central Florida clubs, competed.

Mrs. Anna Coffey of Orlando Country Club won low net honors with a 68 while Mrs. Frank Reilly took second net with 71. In B Flight, Mrs. Betty Hoche of Dubsdread had low gross of 84, while Mrs. Eileen Deming of Orlando CC posted a 65 low net. Mrs. Claude Mershon's 66 was good for second low net.

Low gross winner in C Flight was Mrs. A. Smith of Leesburg with 100. Mrs. Frances Rhodes of Dubsdread took first low net with 72, while Mrs. Fay Edgell, also of Dubsdread, had a 74 low net.

Mrs. Dorothy Blake of Dubsdread and Mrs. M. Rautenbusch of Daytona tied for low puts with 27 over the 18 holes. Mrs. Blake won the sudden-death playoff. Mrs. Verne Smith of Sanford had 28 puts to take third place.

Editor Nat Fleischer moved the 27-year-old Chicago Negro behind Cuba's Nino Valdes, England's Don Cockell, Pittsburgh's Bob Baker and New York's Hurricane Tommy Jackson.

Holman Vaults Into 5th Place In Ring Ratings

NEW YORK (AP)— Johnny Holman's astonishing ninth-round knockout of Ezard Charles vaulted the comparatively unknown Chicago fighter into a fifth ranking in the monthly ratings of Ring Magazine.

Titusville Downs Sanford, 3 To 1

TITUSVILLE—Billy Johns had a no-hitter going for Titusville until the sixth inning when Sanford got to him for two hits, but he was still good enough for Titusville to win, 3-1. In the sixth with one out, Sid Galloway tripled with a man on first. Jim Wheeler came in to put out the fire and preserve Johns' victory.

Memphis, Atlanta To Play Tonight

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Manager Jack Cassini and his Chicks welcome the Atlanta Crackers to Memphis tonight and they are a little curious to see what brand of ballplayers are kicking around in the eastern section of the Southern Assn.

Atlanta will be the first eastern team the Chicks have played and Cassini says he is "sort of anxious to see what they can do in comparison with our ball club."

Pirates Defeat Tigers, 6 To 1, In Rotary League

The Pirates clubbed Brooks' offerings for six hits and, combined with three Tiger errors, the Bucs took the rotary league game last night, 6 to 1.

Hudson drove a liner against the club house for a triple in the feature hit of the tussle. Brooks and Getman rapped out doubles for the losers but while they couldn't make them count for runs themselves, Getman's knock brought in Scott for the only Tiger marker.

In the first inning Corley and Johns both scored before a double play. Stafford to Bramlett to Scott ended the session for the Pirates. They annexed another after Hudson's triple when he came on around as Cordell missed the throw from leftfield to catch him at third.

In the final turn at bat Butler led off for the Bucs with a single to left. Ho, Johns and Wiederhold crossed home. Johns taking life on a fielder's choice as Corley was forced at second and Wiederhold singling to right.

The lineup:
PIRATES: Corley, ss; Johns, 2b; Wiederhold, p; Hudson, c; Hittell, 1b; English, lf; Stotaky, 3b; Butler, cf; Sikas, rf.

TIGERS: McCarty, cf; Cordell, 3b; Bramlett, ss; LeGrone (struck out for Bramlett in fifth) Scott, cf; Brooks, p; Smith, lf; Getman, 1b; Higgins, rf; Bowen, rf; Stafford, 2b.

FACADE LA

Lu Murphy

Here is a story that will warm the cockles of your heart.

And there's nothing like a hot cockle, I always say.

It's about a little book that was donated to the library at the Veteran's Hospital in Lake City for the sole/soul purpose to convert unbelievers and lead them into the Light.

Who would do such a splendid thing?

George C. and Althea Thornton of Englewood, N. J. That's who.

Which book?

"Uncle Pogo's So-So Stories." That's which.

I got into the act because I'm a charter member of the True Blue Pogo Pathfinders. And once I wrote a composition in which I deplored the fact there were some who did not share my passion for that possum.

I deplored so deplorably my deplores were heard even into New Jersey. And before you could roar a roar for Nora, Mr. Thornton wrote he wanted to help. So he helpfully enclosed a check for one dollar.

So I ordered the book with the Thornton dollar—and then I wrote (I write, you know) a — well — you could call it a Dedication. Except this book already has a Dedication. And two D's. in one b. does tend to overcrowd things.

Still I was determined the Thornton deed should not go unsung.

I mean, lots of people will fight for what they believe in. Fight and preach and go forth into the wilderness.

So I wrote this little note and pasted it in the back of the book—and man, we're converting 'em right and left.

There's just been one minor complaint. For the Librarian. She—for some librarian aesthetic reason—seems to feel since my little note runs three chapters longer than the book — it makes it bulky.

There's really nothing to it — you just sit down and start to play. But then nine month old Kenneth Bardwell Donaldson has sort of a heritage in music—his daddy is band director at Gainesville High School. The photographer, Trent Rogers, didn't say whether Kenneth is singing, but his mouth is open and it looks from here like he was reading the music.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

YES MAM

I am an original Floridian, but married a Yankee so now live in Pennsylvania, but Florida, especially Highlands County and Sebring, are home to me and always will be. My husband and I have just returned from a trip to Florida and also through Ocala and Northwestern Florida, which we much enjoyed, but we came through when they were having those terrible woods fires, which upset us very much, for Florida is too lovely to be marred by fire. It is too bad when these fires get ahead of the fire fighters and I do hope this will never happen again, certainly on such a big scope.

My gripe is why Highlands County and Sebring are never mentioned in your magazine. I look each week for something about the loveliest and nicest part of the state, but in vain. I just cannot understand why not, a word was said about the Grand Prix, auto races, which has just been held in Sebring; this thing is international and why many minor attractions in the state are told about and this left out, I cannot understand.

I enjoy your magazine very much and am always glad to see on the cover, some of the natural attractions of the state and not so many girls and so called bathing beauties. I truly got fed up with them covers, and fully agree with Miss Jane Ed-wards of West Palm Beach in her letter in your magazine of Apr. 1, that Florida has so many lovely pieces of interest and beauty spots, that I believe many of your readers would enjoy seeing them on the cover. Thank you for taking your time to read my letter.

MRS. L. P. BROWN,
Lansdowne, Pa.

(Editor's Note: Although we have had several stories from Highlands County, we'll grant that Mrs. Brown has a point. The beauty of that section of Florida deserves more frequent mention. Perhaps some of the writers in that area can help us rectify this omission by sending us material. As for the Grand Prix, we considered that more of a news event, to be "covered" by the daily newspapers of the state rather than a feature article. As a matter of fact, the press of the entire nation did a very adequate job of reporting the Grand Prix and All Florida would have been left in the position of repeating yesterday's news.)

IT WON'T BE LONG, NOW

I have been watching for the first page of Florida Magazine, which you wrote about recently. That is a splendid idea, because many of us who are not native to Florida are unacquainted with various products of Florida and ways in which to procure them.

I hope you start the feature soon.

MRS. C. L. BROWN,
Winter Haven.

A LETTER TO MRS. EVELINE JORDAN

I saw your letter in a recent copy of All Florida Magazine. Not being a subscriber, I must have missed your article about weaving.

I wonder if you would send my mother instructions in weaving. She is a diabetic who had to have her leg removed above the knee and because of her age and being overweight, they won't let her have an artificial leg. She was always active on the farm and made some money on chickens and gardening but now she does her housework in a wheel chair.

She made a lot of trays from pine straw and raffia but the company which bought them is stocked up at present. Since she is not able to get outside any more, it would be nice if she could find something to do in her spare time that would bring in a little money to help her out. She has a very small income and likes to make things.

Her address is Mrs. E. V. Jordan,
Rt. 2, Box 66, Dade City.

If you can do this I will appreciate it very much and so will she.

I sent this to you at Pensacola but it was returned because of insufficient address.

MRS. M. M. MCCANNY,
Dade City.

(Editor's Note: We have forwarded the letter to Mrs. Jordan, but are reproducing it here to be sure that it comes to her attention.)

Looking Over

All Florida

In case you are interested in a hand painted cuspidor from Caracas, or have an aching yen to see once again a private membership card to a speakeasy, look in All Florida Magazine next week for directions to one of the most delightful museums in the world today. It is the Lightner Museum at St. Augustine. Originally set up as a museum for hobbyists, this fascinating collection of odds and ends from the far corners of the earth is one that rivals the imagination of a pixyish Jules Verne. If you love buttons, they probably have one that popped off the civilian vest of Napoleon Bonaparte. Or, if clocks "send you," the Lightner Museum has the grandfather of all grandfather time pieces.

Presented also next week, will be a story concerning the water-ski tournaments to be held over the state this summer, featuring Florida's "Grand Slam."

OUR COVER

This is the season when Miamians make a point of paying honor to one of the most beautiful trees — the Royal Poinciana. Both Miami and Miami Beach along with the rest of Dade County, join early in June in a week long festival to pay tribute to a tree that has added beauty to an already beautiful part of Florida. That the Poinciana is a gorgeous tree and worthy of tribute may be seen on our Cover this week.

To Mom

"God could not be everywhere; therefore He made mothers."

This, in essence, will be the sentiment in mind and heart of thousands of sons and daughters in Florida and in all America, this Mother's Day, May 8, as they wear a red carnation for a living mother or a white one to honor the memory of one deceased.

To the tiny babe, Mother is its whole world. As that babe advances in years he sometimes tenderly tolerates Mother's old fashioned and outmoded actions and ideas. But when there's a problem too deep and wide for him to solve, or when there is trouble and friends turn aside, then comes the realization: "Though I were hanged on the highest hill, my Mother's love would follow me still."

All over the country this Mother's Day, sons and daughters will be listening to church choirs sing selections dedicated to the queen of the family, and sermons which once again remind all mankind and womankind of the words spoken by Jesus as, on the cross, He commended the devotion of his closest friend and disciple to His own mother.

The gray-clad postman will not mind the extra heavy load of letters—perhaps long overdue—and packages or cards from those sons and

AN UNUSUAL photograph (above) of President Woodrow Wilson, with his wife, signing in 1914 the proclamation which officially established the second Sunday of May as Mother's Day. daughters who cannot attend the family reunion, or sit in the family church pew on this Mother's Day, for these men in gray, also, will be honoring their own mothers, living or dead.

This observance can be counted as the 47th consecutive annual one and the 38th official year of commemorating Mother's Day, but long before the present century, there were countless days set aside to pay tribute to Mother and womanhood. One such occasion occurred 90 years ago, in the final days of the War Between the States.

Eastman Johnson, an artist who became known as the "American Rembrandt," in that year painted the canvas, "Lullaby." It is known as a tribute to the countless millions of mothers who have rocked their children into sweet slumber before a fire that glowed cherry red. This famous painting was acquired several years ago by Hallmark Cards for its permanent collection, and it has been reproduced this year for the first time, as a Mother's Day card.

Mother's Day, as it will be observed this year, is a result of the untiring efforts of the late Anna Jarvis of Philadelphia. The idea came to Miss Jarvis while she was arranging a memorial service for her own mother. She presented it to church people and leading citizens and on the second Sunday of May, 1908, Mother's Day was first observed, locally, in Philadelphia.

Miss Jarvis' efforts were recognized in other cities and in 1914, President Woodrow Wilson proclaimed the second Sunday of May as nation-wide, annual Mother's Day—that date being selected because it was the birthdate of Miss Jarvis' own mother. The red carnation was chosen as a floral tribute for living mothers and the white for those who could be honored only in memory.

The observance in years that followed spread to many other countries. The early Greeks had directed their affections to Cybele, mother of the gods. With the advent of Christianity, they transferred their veneration to the Madonna, who symbolized the goodness, patience and suffering of all motherhood.

By the 17th century, Midlent Sunday—the fourth in the penitential period—had taken on a special meaning. It was known as "mothering Sunday." On that day people took gifts to their mother church, and to their earthly mothers, as well. It was a day also, on which youthful apprentices were permitted to return to their homes to take remembrances to their mothers. This was appropriately called "going a-mothering." If the distance was too great for a weekend visit, the apprentices were expected to send letters of greeting. Those notes were the first Mother's Day cards.

As church goes and others wear the badge of the day this May 8, many wearers of the red flower will be filled with the emotion of thankfulness that they may sit beside and worship with the one of whom they know the poet spoke truthfully when he said: "If I should sink to the deepest hell . . . my mother's prayers would come down to me."

Many who wear the white carnation will be choked with heartwarming devotion and veneration and will recall the words of President Abraham Lincoln when he said: "All that I am or ever hope to be, I owe to my angel mother."

DEATH FLIPS A COIN

Heads Or Tails — The Colonel Was Doomed To Die Of A Bullet

By P. O. Gorder
Part I

On a hot, sultry day in Texas in early July of last year, a young man stood grimly silent, alone, as he pitched a coin into the air — gambling with fate. He lost — by his own choice. Three times the coin turned heads, but obviously the young man didn't want heads, which, if he had kept his promise to himself, would have sent him to a job further West — and away from murder and a life term in Florida's state prison at Raiford.

The love of a woman was at stake that day — the love of a woman who had been the young man's common-law wife, but who now was married to another man and living in West Palm Beach, Fla.

But more than that — the life of a man, the young woman's husband, was also at stake that day as the man ignored the turn of the coin and headed for Florida. In a few days he would be a cold-blooded murderer, and his sweetheart's husband would be dead.

That young man was Orville T. Waldron, 31-year-old ex-Marine and part Iroquois Indian, whose home was in Wisconsin, but who had spent most of his time in California and other western states since leaving the armed forces after World War II. It was there he met the beautiful blonde.

She was Mrs. Violet Covington, thrice married, and then wed to Lt. Col. William A. Covington, 45-year-old Air Force officer stationed at Palm Beach International Air Force Base in West Palm Beach. They were married in Tavares, May 27, 1954.

The spider of fate that wove its web about these three persons extended across the continent, from California to Florida.

Actually, this bizarre story begins in July, 1948, at Clovis, N.M., when Waldron met the woman who was to become his common-law wife. She then was married to a Leonard Graham, who had divorced his wife for the attractive blonde. Waldron owned a motorcycle at that time, and with the permission of her husband, he took her riding on it. It was not long until Graham apparently sensed what was happening. He left, returning to his first wife.

Waldron and Mrs. Graham, whom he called Sue, started living as man and wife, although they were not legally married, nor had Mrs. Graham been divorced from her husband.

The next 18 months were spent traveling through the Far West in search of a job for Waldron, and finally in January, 1950, they wound up in Fairfield, Calif., where they settled down and lived as Mr. and Mrs. Orville T. Waldron until 1953. Together they acquired some property and Mrs. Graham arranged to file suit for divorce against Graham, charging him with desertion.

However, in the meantime, another man came into Sue's life. He was Colonel Covington, then stationed in California. Later, he was transferred to Florida, as he neared retirement from the Air Force after more than 25 years of service. But his retirement was to be a tragic one — death.

Mrs. Waldron, as she was then known, testified at the subsequent murder trial that she had "been seeing Colonel Covington for a month and a half or two months" in California while she was still living with Waldron as his common-law wife.

Waldron had learned of Sue's marriage to Colonel Covington, and it was then that he purchased a .38 calibre pistol from a friend who had at one time been a policeman. Waldron did not have long to wait until he heard from his Sue, as she admitted during the trial that she had written a letter to him on June 14, using the salutation, "Dearest O. T." and that she told him she "didn't know if the marriage (to Colonel Covington) would work out." She also admitted that when she left Waldron to come to Florida with Colonel Covington, she sent a refrigerator, a dinette, washing machine and other household goods to the Colonel's place in California, later shipping them to West Palm Beach.

But that was only part of the story, as Sue testified later that she actually intended to leave California with Colonel Covington when he went to Florida, but that she didn't tell Waldron this part of her plans.

Finally, Waldron decided that Sue was not coming back to him, and he left for his native town of Wonegan, Wis., after he discovered that the furnishings in their home, instead of being sold, had been sent to Colonel Covington's home in Florida.

Waldron had learned of Sue's marriage to Colonel Covington, and it was then that he purchased a .38 calibre pistol from a friend who had at one time been a policeman. Waldron did not have long to wait until he heard from his Sue, as she admitted during the trial that she had written a letter to him on June 14, using the salutation, "Dearest O. T." and that she told him she "didn't know if the marriage (to Colonel Covington) would work out." She also admitted that when she left Waldron to come to Florida with Colonel Covington, she sent a refrigerator, a dinette, washing machine and other household goods to the Colonel's place in California, later shipping them to West Palm Beach.

WHAT WILL the verdict be? That's the question Orville T. Waldron ponders, his nervous hands clasped, during his murder trial proceedings in Palm Beach County court.

BLONDE BEAUTY. Violet Covington, key figure in murder.

SPORTS FESTIVAL

By KEITH VORING

Big kids—little kids—old kids—young kids, wide kids and narrow kids. Two hundred athletes ranging from heavyweights with muscles rivaling those reputedly once found under the spreading chestnut tree down to fleawrights who, soaking wet by the pair, wouldn't equal one of the big boys.

All these with wild whoops, and blood in their collective eye, recently descended upon the spacious pools, gyms and courts of the Daytona Beach YMCA bound on mayhem to each other and glory for their dear old home town.

It was the occasion of Florida's first statewide Sports Festival; swimming and diving championships would be decided, as would tennis, basketball, ping-pong and volleyball.

The Fort Lauderdale boys just knew they'd whip all the others—as did the brave lads from: Orlando, Tampa, West Palm Beach, Jacksonville, Coral Gables, St. Petersburg and, naturally, Daytona Beach.

Now be it conceded that Tampa made off with the honor of most points in all divisions. That is not to say our boys in Daytona Beach —or Jacksonville, Orlando, etcetra—couldn't have if-well, anyway, we'll show 'em next year. GRRRR!

The idea of the annual Sports Festival just sort of grew. Tennessee once tried such a thing. Before you could bat a ping-pong ball across a table the men representing Florida in that meeting had seized on and enlarged upon the idea. When H. M. (Bix) Bixler, secretary of the Daytona Beach group, suggested his city as a site, the others eagerly accepted it.

There was more muscle assembled under one roof this year at the Sports Festival than at any place recently, with exception of the Olympics.

But let us look at this orgy of athletics, this fiesta of good, clean fun. The play-off on two tables for the ping-pong championship for Juniors in the State of Florida is in session. These lads are pint size, but there is nothing miniature about their vocal cords. Cringing a little, you fully expect a back-hand slap from one of the fiery youngsters' paddles, or maybe an ear stuffed with a ping-pong ball.

THEY HIT swimming in the free style event (above) in the finals between Tampa, Jacksonville and Daytona Beach. Below a Tampa boy smacks back a tough one to help his team win the junior tennis title at Florida's Sports Festival.

A "PEACH"

By ROBERT TAYLOR

SUMMER AND winter, the beach at Daytona is crowded with visitors who can, literally, park their cars, open the door and jump into the ocean.

MORE than 20 million square yards of delightful beach; countless thousands of bluish-cheeked "peaches" from Georgia and adjoining states acquiring their burnished complexion tints in an atmosphere made pleasant on a summer day by the Gulf Stream; the longest board walk south of Atlantic City!

That's Daytona Beach at the time of year when many of the state's other resorts wear the "closed for the season" look.

Daytona Beach has pioneered in bringing to vacation-minded people of the Southeast the realization that Florida with its natural beauty, acres of clean beach and constant ocean breezes, offers as much charm in summer as in winter.

But "peaches on the beach" do not make up the entire vacation picture at Daytona Beach. Anglers gather suntan, also, pulling in sail fish, tarpon, dolphin and red snappers within 20 miles of the shore; speckled trout, whiting, sheephead and flounders from the tidal lagoons; and black bass, perch and other varieties in the freshwater streams and nearby lakes. "Ike Walton-ers" compete annually in a $10,000 fishing tournament.

Natural beauty is far from being Daytona's only attraction to vacationists. The wide awake civic organizations of the community provide fun and entertainment of a family type. Concerts are held nightly under the stars at the large coquina rock bandshell, against a background of the pounding surf.

Radio, stage, screen and television type shows on the 45-foot stage and orchestra pit of Peabody Auditorium, where also ice shows are presented each spring, keep the 2,500 seats there filled.

Other planned entertainment consists of the Barber Shop Quartet Society's contests and meetings, the NASCAR Speed Week events, the National Championship AAU Women's Swimming and Diving Championships; the "Mrs. America" contest and, over July 4th weekend each year, the "Dixie Frolics."

The Volusia County Kennel Club, four miles from downtown Daytona, holds dog races from June through August.

THE YOUNGER "set" (above) find the beach to their liking as millions of visitors have for many years. And the beach is not all Daytona has to offer as can be seen at right. players of the Cleveland Indians farm system go into action in the spring and summer months.

The vacationist who prefers "a book and a shady nook," finds a selection of more than 50,000 volumes in the Daytona Beach Public Library, from which to choose.

The visitor may select desired accommodations from the many luxurious hotels and apartment buildings, the more than 3,000 guest rooms facing the ocean in modern cottages, motels and apartments or if ocean front is not wanted, from the hundreds of other quarters between the beach and the Halifax River. To sum up the living quarters situation, if 30,000 guests should descend at one time upon the beach area, its capacity for desirable dwelling would not be overtaxed.

More and more conventions are being attracted to Daytona Beach annually, too. At Ellinor Village alone, on Ormond Beach, the set-up permits each delegate to occupy a furnished apartment at moderate cost.

FLORIDA'S HISTORIC HOMES

ONE of the state's historic homes is that of the Spanish Treasurer at St. Augustine.

PERHAPS LESS well known than many, this house, built in 1780, is of historical importance. It was the home of Prince Achille Murat, nephew of Napoleon and son of the King of Naples. Located at 350 George St., St. Augustine, the house was occupied in 1927 by Ralph Waldo Emerson.
PAGE 8—All Florida Magazine

SCATTERED throughout the gangling Florida peninsula are numerous physical reminders of the state's historic past, and none are more interesting than the famous houses still standing, whether they are tourist attractions or private residences. Many have played roles in history. Others bask in fame's spotlight because of some historic person. They range from the historic northeast area near Fernandina to Key West; along the west coast, and in the Florida panhandle.

It is as oddly assorted as it is scattered, reflecting the pot-pourri nature of the figures who built them, lived in them, or who bequeathed them their names and place in history.

They range from the house of a gun runner who became governor to the mansions of the wealthy, with a scattering of Spanish colonial structures and a mixture of European royalty thrown in for good measure. Their architecture is varied, and they all offer a first-hand glimpse of history with a feeling of realism no textbook can convey.

THE HOME of Napoleon Bonaparte Broward, famed as a gun runner and governor of Florida, still stands (circle, above) in Broward County near where the St. Johns River empties into the Atlantic. Below is the oldest house in the U. S., built in 1600 in St. Augustine.

By MAX HUNN

On the banks of the St. Johns River near its entrance into the broad Atlantic is the weather beaten, two-story wooden dwelling of Napoleon Broward, the gun runner who became governor of Florida. The gun running was quite legal or extra-legal, depending upon how you look at it, and it had no relationship to the governorship which came later.

Napoleon and his brother, Montcalm, gained their fame as gun runners during the days of the Cuban revolution prior to the Spanish-American War. Their tug "Three Friends" smuggled countless cargoes of arms to the embattled Cubans. Later Napoleon was elected governor of Florida.

Logically, St. Augustine but a few miles farther south should be well represented in the list of famous houses. The ancient city's leading entry is the Oldest House in the United States, now a tourist attraction, over which the banners of Spain, England, the Confederacy and the U. S. fly, emblematic of the changes of the government the house has seen. Now open to the public.

ANOTHER "OLDEST" house is this one at Key West, dating from 1825. It is the oldest in Key West and one of the oldest in Florida.

WHILE NOT distinguished by the title "oldest," this home is famous as the winter residence of John D. Rockefeller. In Chimney Beach, where it is located, residents call it "The House of Dimes." Rockefeller died here May 23, 1937, at 88 after declaring he would live to be 100.

STEAMBOATS IN THE HYACINTHS

BY
JOHN WILSON SOMERVILLE
AND
ELLA TEAGUE DE BERARD

CONCLUSION

An accurate account of the consolidation of the Hart and Lucas lines indicated the economy of living during the two decades of steamboating along the St. Johns and Ocklawaha Rivers.

The Astatula's grocery list for Jan. 20, 1896, consisted of brown sugar, bacon, lard, grits, mincemeat, macaroni, soda crackers, lemons, cabbage, Irish potatoes, meal, cheese, tapioca, cakes, syrup, prunes, and apples.

Eight and one-half pounds of rib roast at 15 cents a pound, eight of steak at 18 cents; five of stew at eight; two and one-half of sausage, five and one-half of pork chops, eight and one-half of ham, all at 12 1/2 cents a pound.

Turkeys were sold for a $1 apiece and chickens, 30 cents. Four mullet cost a quarter; eggs were 15 cents a dozen. The price of a complete dinner was 50 cents. Supper on deck was more expensive—a matter of 75 cents.

LATE in the 80's, the tourists who took the Ocklawaha trip to view the scenery did not use the same route returning. They preferred to get home to the North in less rigorous fashion.

The Metamora was used by the Lucas Line for passenger service on the Ocklawaha, until it sank at Welaka.

The largest of the Ocklawaha steamers, the Hiawatha, was built in the same style as the latest edition of the Okeehumkee and Astatula. She sported a small fantail deck abaft the upper cabin and carried two stacks placed abreast on the forward part of the upper cabin roof.

Ten staterooms on her saloon deck and 18 on her upper, made her a first class passenger boat. Her dining room was on the saloon deck forward, just beneath the pilot house. Communication between the two cabin decks was effected by a staircase in the after part of the saloon.

The Hiawatha left Palatka at 12:45 p.m. and arrived at Silver Springs before noon of the following day. She stayed there until 2 p.m. and arrived back at Palatka early the next morning. These trips were advertised as transporting the tourists into a mystical fairyland, the likes of which he could never see otherwise.

In 1881, at Palatka, Hart had built the Astatula, which had one steep ladder in the center line. The cabin deck and single cabin were rounded off forward, but the cabin was so narrow it permitted a full-length promenade deck. She was commissioned at the beginning of more than 10 years of unprecedented carrier and tourist business along the river.

All of the steamboats operating on the Ocklawaha at night were lighted by a fire of pitch-pine knots burning in iron pots, mounted on the pilot house roofs. Steaming along the sudden bends of the river, the flickering illumination washed with fiery gold the moss-draped oaks and the swinging vines along the cavernous, tortuous water-way. Occasionally out of the blackness into licking tongues of light, could be seen the frantic eyes of deer, or the opalescent orbs of an alligator.

Negroes, under the direction of the pilot on watch, steered the steamers through the hazardous Ocklawaha. Standing forward with poles to test the depths of the river, it was they who decided the channel through the watery wilderness.

The Dispatch was launched at Fort Mason in 1883. Five years later she was sent to Lake Griffin, which she circled daily under the command of Capt. W. M. White.

FOR duty on Lake Harris, the A. J. Lane was dispatched in 1888, under H. L. White. Eighty-five cents was the charge for the circuit trip.

Some river captains were more popular than others, and Captain Gray had his share of written testimonials about the pleasant trips on the Ocklawaha. These delightful journeys, however, were often interrupted by necessary haul-outs due either to occupational hazards or to deterioration.

At Hart's Point, out of Palatka, the one railway was constantly in use. Snags and submerged logs were the major cause of damage to the boats, but warm water and worms were aggravations that could not be ignored.

In 1888, when the Okeehumkee was hauled out, it was found that her bottom plank was wormed and several places gouged out. Four days after going up on the ways, her sheathing was removed to reveal nothing but dirt. Two weeks later, new timbers were installed. Two bales of okum and two kegs of wrought spikes were ordered to complete the repair job.

From the standpoint of prosperity, the Hart Line reached its peak between the years from 1885 to 1888.

It was a sad climax to a 35-year career on the river, that Hubbard L. Hart was struck down by a trolley car in Atlanta and died as a result of the blow.

During the 20 years of the rise and fall of the steamboating business on the St. Johns River and its tributaries, the State of Florida advanced to a high position in tourist trade in the United States. And, although the steamboats themselves rotted and sank into the water, the purpose they served in establishing the state as a resort area was worth the pioneer troubles they encountered.

The remains of most of these boats mouldered away and settled beneath the blanket of water hyacinths. Only the Hiawatha, in the year 1953, still rested determinedly on the bank of the St. Johns River at Hart's Point, near Palatka. The Hiawatha's boilers, condensers, paddles, and some of her bottom planks, are missing. She has been gutted and bereft of all brasswork, though her wheel and bell-pull remain in place.

One day her rotting rudders will scream with disaster as the water closes over the final collapse. The water hyacinths will bob gently over the hulk and her last voyage will be ended. The waters of the St. Johns River will ripple lazily beneath the funeral blankets of pale lavender blooms, and the interlaced plants will close over the sunken boat to complete the days of steamboating in Florida.

Florida's Next Generation of Sportsmen Now Have A Permanent Training Center Where Conservation Of The State's Resources Will Be The Watchword—And Saving Rather Than Destruction Will Be Their Creed.

By BILL MAXWELL

"WE ARE HAPPY" is probably what these junior conservationists are saying over the "mike" as they help dedicate with E. B. "Shorty" Jones (second from right), former director of the State Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission, the new permanent summer youth camp in the Ocala National Forest.

A FOND dream of thousands of Florida youngsters, and adults, too—a permanent summer youth camp site for Junior Conservation League members of the state—will come true this year on the shores of Lake Eaton in Ocala National Forest.

For on June 19, the Junior Conservation Camp will open in its permanent home for a series of six one-week outings for hundreds of youngsters. It's true that the camp has been held before in this and other locations, but more or less on a makeshift basis. The permanent camp is now located on 87 acres of land under long-term lease by the Florida Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission.

Through the foresight of one man, E. B. "Shorty" Jones, formerly of the Game Commission, complete facilities for the camp are now in process of construction. Ten modern cabins and a mess hall will be built as part of the permanent youth camp facilities and will make it possible to accommodate about 750 youngsters in groups of 125.

There are 51 Junior Conservation Clubs in the state with membership between 1,500 and 1,700. Bay County has the only Girls Conservation Club in the state, all the others being composed of boys. Attendance at the summer camp at Lake Eaton will be based on a point system, members working on conservation projects for their points.

The Junior Conservation Camp undoubtedly will be the most important single influence that will affect Florida's conservation future. It is no exaggeration to say that this camp will be the one factor upon which hinges the salvation of all wildlife in this state.

For from this camp will graduate the fishermen, the hunters and conservationists of future years. In this camp, Florida's youth of today will be trained to be the outdoor sportsmen and sportswomen of tomorrow. Just as the future of our state and country lies within the youth who will soon grow into adult men and women, the future of wildlife conservation lies within those youth.

Members of the Game Commission realize fully these facts. "The Commission long has felt that there could be no more important education program put into effect than its junior conservation work contained in the Junior Conservation Clubs, League and Camp," Director Jones says.

Complete construction plans for the Lake Eaton camp have been approved by the Game Commission, and many persons and organizations have pledged their assistance and cooperation in the building program.

Since the Game Commission, like all other state agencies, operates on a budget, there were no funds set aside for construction of the youth camp. In granting approval of the construction plans, the Commission left the finding of necessary funds to "Shorty" Jones.

What looked at first to be an insurmountable task in the matter of finances partially was solved quickly. In going over accounts with the Commission auditor, Jones found fines and forfeitures resulting from court cases of game and fish violations were running almost $7,000 above anticipated revenues from those sources.

Returning to the Commission with that information, Jones obtained an allotment of $3,750 from the fine and forfeiture toward construction work at the youth camp. The Florida Outdoor Writers Association chipped in an additional $200. Cooperation in planning and construction of the camp quickly was obtained from the U. S. Forest Service, the Marion County Board of Commissioners and the State Road Department.

But still more assistance in building the camp is needed, for it will take a total of $18,500, not counting labor, to construct the ten cabins and mess hall this year.

As a state agency, the Game Commission will not allow any solicitation of funds to be made in its behalf. It only can state simply that the camp now is being constructed, and those who wish to assist in the program may do so. But all donations must be made directly to the camp, not to the Game Commission.

DEATH FLIPS A COIN

Unable to forget his Sue, Waldron remained in his Wisconsin home town only about two weeks before he decided to go to West Palm Beach to see his sweetheart. He arrived there June 18 and took quarters in a motel in nearby Riviera Beach.

Anxious about Sue, and eager to get in touch with her, but not knowing her address in West Palm Beach, Waldron sent her a card in care of the Air Force Base, with a return address of General Delivery. The following day he wrote a letter to her and sent it in care of Colonel Covington. Then he proceeded to drive around and around the Air Force Base, hoping that he might see her. Before long he was picked up by police. Just how the officers were put on his trail was never made clear, but it is possible the Colonel suspected something when he received the card and letter addressed to his wife.

Waldron was jailed in West Palm Beach, and it was not long until his sweetheart came to visit him. Mrs. Covington prevailed upon police to release him, stating that he would harm nobody. Little did she know!

Mrs. Covington told Waldron to come to her home the next morning after Colonel Covington had left for the base, and she would prepare breakfast for him, he testified later.

Then events started moving swiftly.

Later that day Mrs. Covington took a taxi to Waldron's cottage in Riviera Beach, and according to his testimony, she told him: "Here I am, I'm ready to go back to California; we've had words," referring to a spat with her husband. Waldron added that she told him that Colonel Covington had told her, "you've been out with your boy friend—why don't you go with him?" It was then that "she took off," Waldron said.

Mrs. Covington and Waldron left West Palm Beach June 21 for California, stopping in New Mexico on the way. On June 28 Mrs. Covington decided to return to her husband in West Palm Beach, and borrowed $150 for plane fare from Waldron, he testified. She repaid the loan a short time later, he added.

Now another woman enters the picture which was rapidly shaping into one of violence and death. This woman was Mrs. Vera Lea of Riverside, Calif., a friend of both Mrs. Covington and Waldron. Mrs. Lea testified that after Mrs. Covington had returned to her home in Florida, Waldron came to her home in California, and one day "marked the way to West Palm Beach on a map," adding he was going to kill Covington. Mrs. Lea said Waldron went armed and had a belt of ammunition with him. She said she cautioned Waldron against any rash action, but that he replied: "I don't care . . . I don't have anything to live for now."

A few days later he set off in his car for West Palm Beach. It was while stopping over at a place in Texas that Waldron tossed the coin to determine whether he should return to the West or continue to Florida. The coin turned heads three times, as though fate were directing him away from the deed he had in mind. But Waldron ignored the fateful and strange warning, and drove on, arriving in West Palm Beach on July 8.

After careful planning, he set the stage for one of the most brutal and cold-blooded murders in the history of South Florida, details of which will be revealed in full in next week's issue of A.L.I. FLORIDA MAGAZINE.

SPORTS FESTIVAL

In the basketball courts where Intermediate boys are playing and the volleyball courts where Seniors, including many professional men, are taking to the game; at the swimming competition where the boys splash with the abandon of tarpons; and on the tennis courts where Juniors make brilliant volleys and lobs—we find equal hazards to the spectator and, thinking of the many contests we have covered, feel "It is enough."

But when the last bus is loaded with screaming youngsters and tenderly packed trophies, we already feel a vacuum and realize it will be another year before we can again see the friendly—if a little rough—boys and men roll up for another Florida Sports Festival.

A PEACH OF A BEACH

A population increase of approximately 12,000 to 15,000 in the past years may be traced to the increase in the number of guests and visitors. Along with this rapid growth, a number of new industries have been developed, the area now boasting 140 such, each of which employs from one to 200 people on a year around basis. This, of course, is exclusive of the innumerable merchants and small business establishments that cater to the wants of the thousands of visitors.

The Halifax area, consisting of Daytona Beach and the adjoining cities of Holly Hill, Ormond Beach, South Daytona and Port Orange, is the principal metropolitan zone on the central east coast of Florida and is the demarcation line of the sub-tropics, with an average year around temperature of 71 degrees—63 in winter and 79 in summer.

The maximum above sea level does not exceed 35 feet at any point and the 23 mile long smooth beach, 500 yards at low tide, extends the full length of the section.

When Mathias Day founded Daytona as a sugar plantation camp in 1870, and saw it grow to 20 homes, two stores and 70 people by 1875, little did he realize that the area would attain its present proportions as a year around resort and vacation area for thousands of people from all over the North American continent. That it would become one of the country's most famous beaches, providing the world's best sunshine and a square yard of white sandy beach and surf for each of more than 20 million people, year in and year out.

HISTORIC HOMES

early accounts indicate it was begun somewhere around 1600. It is made of wood and stone.

St. Augustine also is the site of one of the two houses which can boast of a Napoleonic connection. Here, as at Tallahassee, is a dwelling named for Prince Achille Murat, nephew of Napoleon Bonaparte and son of the King of Naples. The St. Augustine residence was built in 1790, and has another claim to fame, for in 1827 it was a temporary residence of the noted American writer Ralph Waldo Emerson.

The Murat house in Tallahassee, although it bears the name of the eccentric nephew of Napoleon, never actually was occupied by him. However, his wife, Mrs. Catherine Willis Gray, grandniece of George Washington, spent her last years in the Tallahassee residence living on an annuity from Louis Napoleon.

Among other houses in St. Augustine are the John Parades, now called the Old Curiosity Shop, started in 1805; the Llanibian house, built prior to 1763; Spanish Treasurer's house, erected 1690-1695 on the site of the original wooden house of the treasurer; Casa de Cannonos, whose walls contain an English cannon ball from Oglethorpe's siege of 1740; the Fatio house, begun in 1808; the Don Toledo house, built during the second Spanish occupation; and the Villa Zorayda, comparatively recent—1885, but unique because of its strange Moorish architecture.

Being the southernmost city in the United States, it is only natural that Key West should brag of the southernmost house. For years, the title was held by the Harris House, at the south end of Duval Street, an ornate red-brick structure with a tower, veranda and a second-story balcony. Later it was converted into a hotel, the Cayo Hueso. In recent years it was nosed out for this honor by a 20th century dwelling which went farther south by a mere few feet.

Key West has one of the homes of the noted writer Ernest Hemingway. This house was built shortly after the Civil War and ranks as one of the older houses in the city.

However, not all historic houses are on the Florida east coast. Fort Myers can boast of Thomas A. Edison's winter home—now open to public exhibition—where the famed inventor spent his winters from 1885 until his death. It, too, is a wooden, two-story structure which was pre-fabricated in Maine and was brought to Fort Myers by schooner and then assembled. Henry Ford and Harvey Firestone also were residents and neighbors of Edison during this period.

At Sarasota is the house of circus fame—the winter residence of John and Mabel Ringling, adjoining the Ringling Art Museum. The residence and museum made up the estate of the circus magnate, who spent 35 years in collecting art treasures valued at more than $14,000,000. Both are open to the public.

A little farther up the west coast, at Ellenton, is the famous Gamble Mansion, which besides having the distinction of being built in 1842-45 with sugar being used as the binder for the mortar, also was the hiding place of Judah P. Benjamin, secretary of the Confederacy, during his successful flight which eventually led to escape to England at the end of the Civil War. It is a public museum.

The Florida panhandle, too, is represented in the list of famous dwellings. At Pensacola is the Walton house built in 1805 and occupied by Dorothy Walton, wife of one of the signers of the American Declaration of Independence. Also in Pensacola is the Perry House—residence of Gov. E. A. Perry until his death in 1889—and now a Scottish High Rite Temple.

All in all, Florida's history is well represented by the houses that remain.

Ike Is Certain Of Red Defeat

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower said today that if America adheres to the principles which made it great, "We are certain of defeating communism."

In an informal address at the annual meetings of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, the President declared that "A Communist international dictatorship is seeking to destroy our way of life."

Strolling In Sanford

One of Sanford's well known fathers who was having a little trouble with his five-year-old son sent away for a book on Child Psychology. In it he read that he should never ask a child a question which could be answered negatively. Soon he was having success. "Which," he would ask, "do you want to eat, your carrots or your spinach?" "Do you want to put on your brown sock or your blue sock?" Everything was fine until the father and son were in a sporting good store. "Hey, Pop," asked the youngster, "which do you want to buy me, a catcher's mitt or a baseball bat?"

The board of the Seminole High School P.T.A. will meet at 7:30 p. m. tomorrow in the school music room followed by installation of next year's officers in the auditorium at 8 o'clock. Mrs. Eliza Wray is in charge of the program, "Exhibit of School Work," and refreshments will be served by the designated committee.

John Fila, son of Mr. and Mrs. K. W. Fila of Sanford, has won an $800 scholarship in psychology at Duke University. Elected to Phi Beta Kappa last fall, he is an assistant editor of the year book, Quips and Cranks, has been secretary of the Davidson College Concert Band, and is a member of Kappa Alpha social fraternity and Delta Phi Alpha honorary fraternity. Last summer he was one of the 62 fellows given by the National Science Research Council for a special experiment at Davidson College, Davidson, N. C., where he is majoring in psychology.

Investments Topic Of Rotary Speaker

"With social security coming to be the national picture in 1957, many changes to come affect in a manner of investments, it was stated by Edward L. Bemis of Winter Park, guest speaker at the meeting today of the Sanford Rotary Club. He gave his hearers many important ideas as to the best way to safeguard investments and cautions about doing business primarily with a registered broker.

He was introduced by Bill Kirk, program chairman for the day. Visiting Rotarians introduced by Charlie Morrison were Fred Grantham, Gordon E. Carlson and Morgan Welch from DeLand; Charles G. Staplehart, Leesburg while several local Rotarians introduced guests, as follows: Frank Evans presented the Rev. James Thompson of Lake Mary; Randall Chase his brother, Frank from Winterberry; Harry Lee Jr. presented George Eaton of Ocala while R. J. Bauman had as his guest Dan Keith, manager of the Sanford Cardinals Baseball team and currently the Florida State League's outstanding pitcher.

President James Holtzclaw presided and called attention to the passing of one of the club's charter members, Robert A. Newman Sr., this morning. Dr. Charles Parsons announced the club's ladies night to be held at the Mayfair Inn Country Club Thursday May 12, at 8 o'clock.

Allocation Plan Being Worked Out

WASHINGTON (AP)—A government-sponsored committee worked today on details of a voluntary plan to allocate bulk polio vaccine amid demands from some quarters for rigid controls.

A second polio death was reported, meantime, among Idaho school children who had been inoculated.

The advisory committee was set up last week to recommend a plan of priorities under which the scarce vaccine, when it becomes available for commercial use, would go first to those areas and age groups most in need of it. The group met under the chairmanship of Dr. Chester S. Roper of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

THE CITY MANAGER'S OFFICE now has a photographic copier to simplify the task of making copies of the many reports and other items with which the office is confronted. Operating the machine is Mrs. Mary Harkey, secretary. (Staff Photo)

Legislature Asked To Retain System

Request Made To Keep Chairman
Of Road Group Full-Time Exec

TALLAHASSEE (AP)—The administration today asked the Legislature to keep the chairman of the State Road Department as a full-time policy-making executive and to retain the present system of appointing road board members to terms concurrent with that of the governor.

Road chairman Wilbur E. Jones, road department resident Alty. Ross Stanton and other road department representatives appeared before the House Roads Committee to express their views on the Legislative Council's road reform bill. No formal action was taken.

The Senate Roads Committee will hold a hearing on the council proposals today. The Legislative Council bill, in addition to setting up a sufficiency rating for highway construction, provides for staggered terms of the road board members and would replace the board chairman as full-time administrator of the department with a $15,000 a year highway director.

The chairman of the road board, now paid $18,000 a year, would become a part-time policy making executive at $6,000 a year.

Rep. Williams stated that while on a trip to California last fall he traveled a great deal on the roads of the state. "There was not a single limited access road in California in which a toll is charged. I think the reason is because the Legislature of California recognizes that a toll road costs about twice as much to build as does a free road. The reasons for that are many. . . . I am yet of the opinion that the Legislature is passing a law which will vitally affect to their disadvantage many people who have helped make this a great state. I know of no county which will be less affected by the toll road than Seminole County; but, at the same time, I feel that among my obligations as a State Representative, is one which requires me to be almost as concerned about the welfare of the people of the other counties of Florida as I am about the people of my own county. It was for that reason that I opposed the bill. . . ."

Butnick Is Elected District Commander

A. Jack Butnick, Orlando, was elected district American Legion commander and Mrs. Dorothy Fraser, Tavares, was named to head the auxiliary at a sixth district Legion conference here Sunday.

Butnick replaces O. E. Weaver and Mrs. Fraser succeeds Mrs. Ted Scardfield.

Richard Eddy, Mt. Dora, and Mrs. Carolyn M. Frid, Orlando, were chosen as executive committee members for the coming year. Mrs. Pauline C. Stephens, was reappointed district adjutant.

Butnick and Eddy also were named delegates to the state convention in Miami, along with George McGowan, Kissimmee. Alternates named were Ruth Perna, Winter Park and Mel Frid and Herb Harbin, Orlando.

At the same meeting, James J. Singletary, Sanford, was elected district 40 et 8 grand cheminole.

Principal speaker at the conference was Don Schoeppe, a member of the Eustis post and former state commander of the Legion in Ohio. He spoke on the services rendered by the organization.

Legion and auxiliary members attended from Seminole, Lake, Orange and Osceola counties, which comprise the sixth district.

The Legionnaires and auxiliary members held separate meetings prior to a luncheon, but held a short joint session afterward.

Registration began at 9 a. m. at the Legion hut, while the Legionnaires went to the Legion building at the fairgrounds to conduct their meeting which was held at the fairgrounds building.

R. Z. Johnson, commander of Campbell-Loring Post 53 of Sanford and Mayor Denver Cordell, a past commander of the post, gave the addresses of welcome. Postmaster Joel Field introduced distinguished guests.

The day after deposit of the last step to end the occupation of West Germany Thursday.

Winding up ten days of talks with French Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay, Chancellor Konrad Adenauer announced yesterday the Paris and London governments on that day would deposit in Bonn their instruments of ratification of the Paris treaty restoring sovereignty to West Germany.

The United States and West Germany already have deposited their ratification instruments.

Adenauer and Pinay announced to a news conference they had agreed on "all outstanding questions" between their two governments. Until the early hours yesterday the French had threatened to postpone German sovereignty.

The day after deposit of the last sovereignty instruments, Adenauer will go to Paris for the ceremony admitting West Germany to the seven-nation West European Union. It is as a member of this alliance that the Bonn government will be allowed to rearm.

Chinese Suburbs Invaded

U. S. Support
Reassures Head

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Reassured of American support, Premier Ngo Dinh Diem struck anew today at the shrinking private army of his foes at home and at Chief of State Bao Dai, who is watching the Vietnamese turmoil from the French Riviera.

Four battalions of National army troops stormed over three bridges leading to areas of the Chinese suburb of Cho Lon where two battalions of the Binh Xuyen held out in civil warfare that flared last week. The government objective was to mop up those men and permit five battalions which have deserted the Binh Xuyen, a commercial society which seeks to oust Diem, to switch to the army's side.

A mortar barrage that shook the city heralded the attack after 48 hours of relative quiet.

The government troops quickly captured the old headquarters of the Binh Xuyen commander, Gen. Le Van Vien. Then they moved southwestward to the Shi Thien Duong Bridge, two miles away, where a bitter battle was joined.

Diem beat down an attempted coup at the weekend and launched a fresh offensive against Bao Dai. The premier's office announced a national assembly would meet here Wednesday to depose the absent emperor who tried unsuccessfully to oust Diem last week.

Diem issued the announcement after conferring with U.S. Gen. J. Lawton Collins, President Eisenhower's special envoy who returned by plane from Washington today. Shortly after the general's arrival, U.S. Charge d'Affaires Randolph Kibler told newsmen at the airport American backing for the anti-Communist premier still stands.

It was announced that a Webster's dictionary would be organized soon with James Grant as den father.

Salvation Army Goal Set At $7500

The advisory board of the Salvation Army in Sanford has set the dates of the 1955 financial campaign. Ralph A. Smith, chairman of the board, stated that the drive will open today and every effort will be made to confine the drive to fund within a two-week period ending May 14.

"I, Marion Hatman Sr., news and program director of radio station WTRR, has been chosen to head this year's campaign," Smith related.

Hatman immediately set a goal of $7,500 for the 1955 drive in order that the Salvation Army can come nearer reaching its goal in the Sanford Area.

Elks To Initiate Eight Candidates

The new officers of Sanford Elks Lodge 1211 will conduct their first initiation ceremonies Thursday evening beginning with a free supper at 6:30.

The eight candidates to be taken in as members are Harry E. Aitai, Jr., L. N. Trued, Wesley G. Barker, Walter C. Hira, Douglas E. Huskin, Nicholas W. Pfeiffer, Lester P. Whitley, and Mark B. St. Johns.

Cub Pack Charter Presented Dodson By Rev. R. Knight

The pack charter was presented to W. F. Dodson, committee chairman, by assistant pastor Richard O. Knight at a meeting of Cub Scout Pack 24 Friday night at the First Methodist Church.

At the same time, awards were given to a number of scouts and four boys were inducted as bobcats.

Receiving awards were: Tim Richards, son of Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy F. Richards, Lion badge, gold arrow and two silver arrows; Don Breckenridge, son of Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Breckenridge, Lion badge and gold arrow; Heulan Grier, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Geier, Lion badge; Carl Atkinson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Atkinson, Lion badge.

J. C. Singletary, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Singletary, Bear badge; David Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Miller, gold arrow; Michael Ablet, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Ablet, gold arrow and donor stripe; Wayne Epps, son of Dr. and Mrs. A. W. Epps, Jr., silver arrow.

Johnny Clark, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Clark, donor stripe and 1-year service star; Allen Hunt, son of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Hunt, donor stripe; Kenneth Turbett, son of Mr. and Mrs. K. S. Turbett, assistant donor stripe; Dusty Crawford, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Crawford, assistant donor stripe.

Receiving a donor mother pin was Mrs. James Hunt, who is the mother of Don I.

Inducted as bobcats were Bobby Bing, son of Dr. and Mrs. H. K. Bing; Randy Rogers, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Rogers Jr.; Donald Lamb, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank G. Lamb; and Bonnie Hall, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hall.

Skits were presented by each den on the theme: "Forestry and Conservation." A short movie on conservation was also shown and Bobby Wiederhold, winner of the F.E.A. public speaking contest, talked on the subject.

State Forest Fires Cover Large Area

LAKE CITY, Fla. (AP)—The Florida Forest Service warned today that still more forest fires may follow blazes that destroyed more than 30,000 acres of timberland during the weekend.

John Hether, chief of fire control for the service, said "We are gravely concerned over the situation brought on by the yearlong drought buildup." He said recent rains have been little help.

The head of the Volusia County fire was stopped by State Highway 40 after 7,500 to 8,000 acres were lost.

Bank Official Killed In Chase

KAMPSVILLE, Ill. (AP)—A bank official and one of two men who abducted him and his wife were killed last night in an automobile wreck while being pursued by peace officers.

The dead were Harry Waldhuser, about 63, cashier of the Calhoun County Bank at Kampsville, and a man identified by Sheriff Paul L. Aderton as Thomas Underwood, about 28, of Washington Park, Ill.

Polio Suspicion Turns Out To Be Mumps

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—An 8-year-old boy who made news by becoming ill two days after being inoculated with polio vaccine turned out to be a victim of the mumps.

The boy, son of a couple stationed at nearby Mather Air Force Base, was placed in isolation at the Sacramento County Hospital last week as a possible polio case. But City-County Health Officer J. O. Church announced last night the boy has mumps.
