'Little Miss Flame' Named In Longwood

'LITTLE MISS FLAME,' 19-month-old Terry Denise Bowling of Longwood, broke down in tears typical of any beauty queen who has just received such a high honor. The crown, a rhinestone tiara, was placed by Janice Russell, Seminole County's Miss Flame of 1963, who is shown comforting her miniature counterpart. Runners-up in the contest were Debbie Lynne Perkins, left and Cindy Eaton, right. (Herald Photo)

Jazz Pianist Lewis Killed In Car Crash

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (UPI)—Moude Lux Lewis, 58, jazz pianist who played everything from speakeasies to Carnegie Hall and helped make boogie-woogie an all-time American musical fad, was killed Sunday, in an automobile accident.

Red China Now Calls The Tune In Asia

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (NEA)—Not the Russians but the Red Chinese now determine and co-ordinate Communist moves and strategy in Southeast Asia.

Specialists on China see a direct link between the successes of the Communist guerrillas in South Viet Nam and the Pathet Lao victories in Laos.

Yet some of President Johnson's advisers persist in their refusal to face the grim reality. They defend past attempts to apply half-hearted and piecemeal solutions to the problems facing the little nations in Southeast Asia.

American policymakers, though in search of a peaceful solution in Laos and Viet Nam, tend to ignore the fact that Asia is dominated today by the Chinese dragon which Napoleon hoped would be allowed to sleep undisturbed. They are critical of French President De Gaulle's view that there can be no peace in the Far East without Red China's consent.

In his forceful speech at the United Nations, U. S. Ambassador Adlai Stevenson pointed an accusing finger at Moscow. He warned the Russians that they were running risks by encouraging Communist aggression in Southeast Asia. Nevertheless, the State Department's diplomats continue to pin their hopes on Moscow's dubious pledge to support a neutral government in Laos, and on Nikita Khrushchev's policy of peaceful co-existence.

How realistic is such a policy? By now it should be clear even to Foggy Bottom's optimistic officials that Red China's military adventures are directed against the Russian "revisionists" as much as against the American "imperialists."

Mao Tse-tung, in search of a place in the sun, is obviously out to prove to the United States that it is he who is now calling the tune in Asia. Since Red China is not a member of the United Nations, he is not likely to be impressed by American efforts to involve the UN as a peace-maker in the threatened region.

At the same time, by sparring the "little wars" in Laos and South Viet Nam, Mao seeks to convince his enemies in the Red camp that it is China's revolutionary policy and not Khrushchev's revisionism that wins victories over the American "paper tiger."

Thus, even if Khrushchev were a man of his word and not a deceptive opportunist, he could do little to affect the situation in Laos and Viet Nam.

Nor is it in Russia's interest to work for peace in Southeast Asia. As long as the United States is engaged in a costly conflict with Moscow's Chinese enemy, Khrushchev can sit on the sidelines and cheer.

This was Stalin's policy in 1939 when he signed his pact with Hitler. He also hoped that the Allies would fight Nazi Germany to exhaustion while Russia reaped the benefits and picked up the pieces.

Under the circumstances, there is a good deal of realism in President De Gaulle's proposal for another international conference on Laos that will include Red China.

Such a conference may not bring peace to strife-torn Viet Nam and Laos. The United States may have to intensify its military effort.

Can you imagine an ACL engine that never saw railroad tracks, except to cross 'em? It's true. It was the ACL's World's Fair Special complete with four of the prettiest train "men" you ever saw. The engine and its crew paid a visit to Sanford Thursday. They've travelled 1,700 miles in Florida, focal point of the promotion, and now are headed north into Georgia and the Carolinas. The entourage was here for only a few hours, but B. C. Deans, crew chief, admitted all fell in love with Sanford and the courteous reception afforded them here.

Speaking of the special and Deans, when Herald photographer Bill Vincent went to take a picture he did a double take on seeing Deans. Back on Dec. 20, 1952, Vincent had just gotten out of the Army and was stranded in New York's Penn Station. All trains were full as northerners headed for the south's warmer climate.

Bill prevailed upon Deans who was in charge of the gate to let him through after he explained his dilemma. There were no seats, Bill recalls, and he wandered from baggage car to the lounge, to the dining car and back to the lounge until finally the conductor announced, "Next stop Sanford!" Deans remembered the incident almost as vividly as did Bill.

That debris at the north-west corner of First and Park will soon go. City crews will begin cleaning it up, taking the material to the land fill area along the lakefront. They then will remove the base to the level of the sidewalks prior to making a municipal parking lot there. "Would be nice if a covered walkway could be placed along the parking zones. But, then, some people are never satisfied."

A Real Killer

We open our newspapers, turn on our TV sets, or read a magazine to find that there are many killers in our world today.

Certainly the war news reminds us that man has become a potential killer with weapons that make those of the past appear to be toys. The gangs of our cities still are able to get away with many murders. Even some who seem to be the best of people sometimes have a streak of homicide within them.

One of the most frightening acts of destruction that I know about is not one man killing another, but man deliberately killing himself by suicide.

Today statistics reveal some astounding facts. In the United States where we have so much of the world's material advantages almost eleven people out of every one hundred thousand commit suicide each year. This places suicide in a rank of killers that few people seem to realize, in fact, suicide ranks among the first ten causes of death in our country.

If the truth could be known the number would be much higher. There are many very obvious reasons for this. Some experts estimate that there are perhaps three to six times more suicides than the 20,000 indicated.

The question that comes to our minds is "why?" Why should a man with a fine strong body, a good salary, a wonderful family, and many other possessions that usually are thought of as making a happy life, destroy himself? Of course, all who do so, are not as the described above but many apparently have much for which to live yet do not find the daily act of life worthwhile.

Perhaps many of the people who commit suicide have asked the question, "Is life worth living?" The answer seemed to them to be in the negative. Why would this be true?

Certainly millions upon millions of people also have had to answer the question as to whether life is worthwhile and have arrived at an affirmative answer.

The difference in the answer is not often found in wealth, education, fame, health, or many other materialistic aspects of life. The attitude toward life is determined by the spiritual.

If you find life really worth living it is because you have found the golden thread that runs through the entire fabric of life. This thread is the kind of faith in God which compels one to "glorify God and enjoy Him forever."

Unless one realizes that the purpose of life is to glorify God then he will find it a barren waste. He may drug himself with pleasures, work, alcohol, or some other means for awhile, but there is always the time when he awakens from his dream. If such make believe has gone on intensely and for a long time, the hangover can be severe, indeed.

If one does realize that the purpose of his whole life is to glorify God then he can "enjoy Him forever." In this case life can be a thrilling adventure. One may experience new dimensions of life never known before. As he glorifies God more, life increases in beauty until one ceases wanting to destroy it but to zealously preserve it. After all one doesn't want to cast aside such a magnificent possession.

Shared Time School Plan Gaining Ground

Religion in America By Louis Cassels United Press International The shared time plan, which may offer a solution to two serious national problems, is slowly but steadily gaining ground.

A survey by the National Education Association (NEA) shows that shared time arrangements are now in effect in at least 183 school districts in 35 states.

Experiments with shared time—also known as "dual school enrollment"—are underway or pending in big cities such as Pittsburgh, Philadelphia, Detroit and Chicago, and in small towns such as Shorewood, Wis., Jamestown, N. D., Monroe City, Mo., and O'Neill, Neb.

The shared time plan, which religious leaders and educators have been discussing for three years, permits a student to study some of his courses in a public school, and others in a church-sponsored school.

For example, in the Cherry Hill subdivision of suburban Detroit, more than 200 seventh and eighth grade students spend half of each schoolday at a Roman Catholic parochial school, studying religion, English, history and other "value-oriented" subjects. They spend the rest of the day at a nearby public school, taking math, science, physical education, shop and home economics.

The General Board of the National Council of Churches, representing the leadership of 34 major Protestant and Orthodox denominations, last week overwhelmingly approved a statement urging "further experimentation" with shared time as "one possible solution" to the conflict over public aid to parochial schools.

The statement said that shared time seems to be a constitutional way of relieving the financial burden on parochial schools, while preserving the values of a public school system.

In voiced hope that Catholics may be willing to support federal aid to public education if their children benefit from the facilities of public schools.

While Catholic educators are interested in exploring the possibilities of shared time, they do not like to have it depicted purely as a sop to parochial schools. Msgr. Frederick G. Hochwalt, director of the National Catholic Education Association, has served notice that Catholic parochial schools do not regard shared time as a substitute for participation in any general program of federal aid to education.

The American Jewish Congress is the only major Jewish group which has taken an official stand on shared time. It opposes the plan on grounds that it would impose a heavy additional burden on public school funds. Protestants and Other Americans United for separation of church and state (POAU) also has attacked the plan. It is currently seeking a court injunction to block a major shared time experiment scheduled to get under way in Chicago next year. POAU contends that it would result in "vast savings by the Catholic school system at the expense of the general taxpayers."

Local Church Sets Hours

The Congregational Christian Church (United Church of Christ) located at Park Ave. and 24th St., has announced a change in church service schedules for the summer months, beginning this Sunday.

Church School will meet at 9 a.m. followed at 10 a.m. with morning worship. The Christian Youth Fellowship will meet at 7:30 p.m.

Ministers Meet

A meeting of the South Seminole Ministerial Association has been announced by Rev. Leonard Jones, president, for 2 p.m. next Tuesday at the Casselberry Community Methodist Church.

Georgia Nowadays Is Politically As Hot As A Firecracker

Big Wheels All Roll Into State

ATLANTA (UPI) — One of the hottest commodities on the political market these days is the state of Georgia. Not since the premiere of Gone with the Wind in 1939, have so many come so far to pay homage.

In times recent, Georgia has been visited by Lyndon Baines Johnson, Lady Bird Johnson, Lynda Bird Johnson, Barry Goldwater, Teddy Kennedy, Bobby Kennedy and Sargent Shriver.

Harry Truman was scheduled, but couldn't make it because of an upset stomach. The rumor, however, is that tickets for the $100-a-plate fund-raising rally weren't selling.

Dick Nixon is scheduled to arrive Monday. George Corley Wallace and Ross Barnett are due in July. Nelson Rockefeller's brother was in Atlanta recently.

William Warren Scranton couldn't make it but two front men for the "keep Scranton alive drive" visited Georgia. Has any other state had this saturation of political activity, this attention? New York or California with many more electoral votes would be hard to put matching this political limelight.

What about the growing speculation that Sanders may take a federal job — maybe attorney general — so that Bobby Kennedy could be Johnson's running mate, thereby uniting the East and the South in a shotgun marriage?

What about the possibility of Russell versus Sanders for the U. S. Senate?

Or is it true, according to the best source available, that Johnson never turns that spotlight on Sanders until he has consulted with Russell?

There are always two methods to study things political.

The first is that where there's smoke there's fire.

The second was explained by one Al Smith many years ago. Smith said, "No matter how thin you slice it, it's still baloney."

Geneva Gems

By Mrs. Joe E. Mathieux
When I was just a little child my mother told me, "All things come to those who wait," and so it did... the 25th anniversary of my graduation from Andrew Jackson Senior High in Jacksonville. My husband, Joe, and I attended the anniversary and thoroughly enjoyed the reunion with old classmates.

Happy to say that "Little Liz," my niece, is back home after surgery at Orange Memorial Hospital in Orlando and is recovering nicely.

Speaking of hospitals, Mrs. Bertha Lindsey is confined to Seminole Memorial with a broken hip suffered in an accident. Hurry home, Mrs. Lindsey, we miss seeing you working in the garden of the "doll house." Another Geneva friend who is recuperating from recent surgery is Mrs. Helen McGill.

Deepest sympathy to Edward Putnam and his family in the recent loss of his dear wife, Mrs. Agnes Putnam.

I can surely understand why some of our friends who are leaving for homes up north don't want it announced and I would like to take this opportunity to say "thank you" to the "kind soul" who relieved us of our fan and laville him back to get the extension cord — when I'm home!

We had a nice visit with my mother and stepfather while in Jacksonville, however, I'm sorry to report that Pop is not well at all.

Now that school is out let's watch out for the children on bicycles and, please, let's especially watch those curves around Lake Geneva.

Mrs. Nellie Jackson, who makes her home with her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Kettering, recently had a surprise visit from an old friend from Baltimore, Md. Thinking of the Ketterings, they tell me that their daughter-in-law, Mrs. Adelaide Kettering, is confined to the hospital in West Virginia with a very serious heart condition; here's hoping she soon will be much improved and able to make that planned trip to Geneva to see the family.

In closing, let me again urge that we be careful of our youngsters on bicycles now that school is out. Some adult supervision should be given also when they are swimming, especially at Lake Harney. Sink holes there are very dangerous. I know, for if it hadn't been for Joe's opportunity to say "thank you" to the "kind soul" who relieved us of our fan and laville him back to get the extension cord — when I'm home!

Scranton Set For Challenge

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Pennsylvania Gov. William W. Scranton was expected to announce today that he will run for the Republican presidential nomination.

Scranton planned to make a "statement of very important significance to the present political situation" in a keynote speech at 2:30 p.m. EDT before the Maryland state Republican convention here.

Informed sources in Washington and Harrisburg said the statement would be an announcement of his candidacy.

The 46-year-old Scranton has maintained in the past that he would be available for the GOP presidential nomination only on the basis of an "honest and sincere" draft.

He was reported to have made his decision to run about 8:30 Thursday night following a 2 1/2-hour meeting with the executive mansion in Indiantown Gap, Pa.

Present at the session were Pennsylvania GOP Chairman Craig Truax, a longtime Scranton booster; former state Chairman George I. Bloom; state Atty. Gen. Walter E. Alessandro, Scranton's campaign manager in his 1962 gubernatorial campaign; and James A. Recheley, William Keating, William Murphy and Jack Commy, all top assistants to the governor.

"It is a firm decision to run," one Washington source said. "The governor has made up his mind..."

Scranton's decision came as a surprise since Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., was considered to have the presidential nomination all but sewed up. Goldwater has a huge lead in delegate strength and the GOP convention is only a month away.

First pro-Goldwater reaction to the report Scranton would announce his candidacy came from Steve Shadegg of Phoenix, western regional coordinator for the Arizona senator, who was attending an assembly convention of Idaho Republicans at Idaho Falls.

"He's been a candidate three different times in the last 10 days," Shadegg said of Scranton. "We don't know whether this vaccination is going to take or not."

Shadegg said if a Scranton entry is another stop Goldwater drive, it may offer a "clear-cut answer to the question of whether Goldwater is really representative of the Republican party."

Lake 'Monster' Even Baffles The Zoologists

SISTER LAKES, Mich. (UPI) — Even the zoologists are baffled by the "Monster of Sister Lakes."

Three more persons reported Thursday that they saw the creature which has been terrorizing this resort area in Cass County for the past two weeks.

Most of the witnesses said that it is nine feet tall, weighs 500 pounds, and is covered with hair except for a block, human-like face.

Prof. Frank E. Eggleston of the University of Michigan Zoology Department said he is inclined to believe the monster is a gorilla.

"Bears don't stand on their hind feet too often," Eggleston said. "I suspect from the description that it's an escaped circus gorilla."

Dr. William H. Burt, however, another UM biologist, was more skeptical.

"It could be a black bear," Burt said. "The only trouble is, they usually don't wander that far south in Michigan. Roscommon County, about 200 miles north of Sister Lakes, is about as far south as we've seen them."

Burt said if the "monster" is a black bear, it probably is only five or six feet tall. "They are about three feet tall at adult height standing on all fours. When they get up on their hind legs, which they occasionally do to look around, they might be five or six feet."

He said if it's true that the

St. Augustine Crowds Gather To See 'Show'

ST. AUGUSTINE (UPI) — Nine p. m. to 10 p. m.—the hour of alarm.

Tension built up in slave market square of old St. Augustine like powder being packed into one of the ancient cannons in the neatly-trimmed and palm-shaded city park.

The crowds of strollers thinned last night as the cathedral bells nearby tolled nine times—the hour that a new racial march into the park was expected.

But several hundred persons remained, mingling with hordes of officers or standing along the fringes waiting. A nearby bar did a rush business, but mostly the crowd just stood, and tension revved on Cordova Street to the south.

Down that street would come the marchers, determined to reach again the Slave Market at the Bayshore side of the park, symbol of their determination to break segregation in the nation's oldest city.

Onlookers and officers spoke in subdued tones. There was no laughter. In the still night air, the regular clicking of a traffic light could be clearly heard as its signals changed.

The daylight strolling of happy vacationers was over for awhile and it was the hour of tension.

The scene in the rectangular park, surrounded by two story spanish-type buildings, reminded some of a script from an old western movie where the populace of a trading post is waiting for an expected Indian attack.

It was that kind of tension. The spell seemed to break, however, as the marchers appeared out of the night.

After a turn around the block under heavy police guard, the Negroes returned to their section of town and the crowds thinned away. Within minutes young boys were riding bicycles again along the historic, narrow streets.

Women, some with babies in their arms and one in the advanced stages of pregnancy, left for home. They had come to see the show and had gone to spots where there would have been the worst trouble had violence occurred.

It was another spectacle of curious people willing to take dangerous chances to get close to excitement.

With the coming of a new day, the curtain went up for another act of the vacation theme. Elderly checker players returned to their game in the slave market. The voices of taunting nighttime demonstrators were replaced by the soft, sing-song recital of points of interest by Negro drivers hauling tourists in horse-drawn open carriages.

'Fun For Summer' Recreation Department's Slogan

Full Program For Teenagers Is Scheduled

"Fun for the summer" is the theme of this year's City Recreation Department Program, according to director Jim Jernigan.

Morning and afternoon activities this summer, said Jernigan, will be available to suit all tastes among the teenagers in this area.

Jernigan said that if the youngsters felt athletically inclined the department will offer tennis two nights a week, archery one afternoon, sailing, horseback riding and a brand new activity called "Sackett."

For the outdoorsman horseback riding will be available and for the creative individuals there will be a full seven-week course in ceramics.

For the teenage girls, said Jernigan, "We'll have a combination chern school and slim and trim course." He pointed out that the girls do not have to be overweight to receive valuable assistance to personal appearance from participating in this activity.

For the lounge around or music enthusiast there will be dancing to records and live bands throughout the summer. Even though the official opening of the program will be next Monday a special dance is slated to be held tonight at the Civic Center to "kick off" the big summer season. Jernigan said that "Big Dave and His Come Ups" — a popular Central Florida band — will provide the music. The dance theme will be "Vacation Time" or "School's Out."

Among other big affairs planned for the summer will be the annual Fourth of July barbecue in support of the local Little League program.

Listing these events, Jernigan said that archery is available 2-4 p. m. Mondays at Fort Mellon Park, ceramics 1-3 p. m. each Monday at the old library building, horseback riding 2-4 p. m. Wednesdays at Rifle-A-White Stables, and sailing 2-4 p. m. Tuesdays and Thursdays at the Municipal Boat Basin.

Tennis is available from 6-8 p. m. Tuesday and Thursday nights at Fort Mellon, Slim and Trim and the chern course for girls is presented from 9:30 until 11 a. m. every Monday, Wednesday and Friday at the Civic Center, and the new game, Sackett, a co-educational affair, will be played 2-4 p. m. Fridays at the Civic Center.

Pathfinders Win Gold Cup At Annual Fair

The Forest Lake Pathfinder Club received a "third award" gold cup at the Pathfinder Fair held Sunday at Forest Lake Academy in Forest City. The club, one of the largest in Florida, is sponsored by the Forest Lake Seventh-day Adventist Church and has as adult director C. B. Allen of Forest City.

During the fair, 400 Adventist youth exhibited skills in camping and outdoor living, first-aid, water sports, amateur radio, marching and other activities. Seventeen clubs elected booths to display projects and activities of the past year.

Awards were given for excellence in participation in the Pathfinder Fair, and in all club activities of the past year. G. Ray James, director of youth activities of the Adventist's Florida Conference, was coordinator of the fair. Among the judges were Des Cummings and W. E. Dopp of Atlanta, Ga., and Les Stannard of Charlotte, N. C., church youth leaders of those areas.

The Pathfinder Fair has been held with the annual Adventist camp meeting for the past six years.

55 Families To Get Water Line

Fifty-five rural families and a dairy at Lake Harney in Seminole County will have potable water for the first time in their community through a $50,000 water system association loan approved today by the Farmers Home Administration, according to William T. Shadlick, the agency's state director.

All families in the Lake Harney community currently must haul their drinking water several miles as the wells in the immediate area have an excessive amount of sodium chloride.

The loan will enable the Lake Harney Water Association Inc. to drill a well, construct a pumping station, provide a 1,000 gallon hydro-pneumatic pressure tank, and lay 5 1/2 miles of pipe. Ten people will be employed. When completed, the system will be capable of supplying 225,000 gallons of water per day.

The Farmers Home Administration loan is to be repaid over a period of 40 years. Officers and board members of the association are: F. S. Holmes Jr., president; Roy G. Morgan, vice president; Mrs. Margaret C. Cammack, secretary-treasurer; and W. B. Health, and Mrs. Donald A. Dunn.

Rural water system loans are available to organizations operating on a nonprofit basis.

Post 53 Nine Faces Test Tonight At Casselberry

About Sports Thinking Out Loud

By Julian Stenstrom

That must have been a heartbreaker for David Lee, the Sanford youngster who pitched a no-hitter for the Little National League's Locomotive Engineers this week only to lose the contest by a score of 2 to 1.

It was his second no-hitter in a row, and it was against — of all teams — the Hunt Lincoln Mercury Comets, the one team the Engineers must beat to win the loop title.

And speaking of the score of that contest being 2 to 1, of the 94 games played in the Little Leagues this season in City Recreational Department play 23 of them have been decided by either a one or two run margin. We'd say that not only is the competition evenly divided, it's also keen. These youngsters have been playing great baseball.

Out in the South Seminole Little League and Senior League play they've had some interesting happenings, too. Steve Cockrell, a hurler for the Altamonte Twins in the Little League, tossed a no-hitter Wednesday night when he and his mates blanked the Altamonte Senators, 11 to 0.

During Wednesday night's Senior League tilt between North Orlando and Sunland, the plate umpire — Harold Willoughby — was struck on the foot by a foul up. It was so painful that the general manager — also manager of the Altamonte club — had to retire from the fracas. He was replaced by Leo Simpkins of Longwood.

In that encounter, North Orlando's pitcher, Butch Brown hurled North Orlando to a 4 to 3 win over Sunland. Going the other way, Brown allowed only one hit but whiffed 12. Sunland's outfielders, Robinson and his reliever, Smith, allowed North Orlando only three hits between them and together also fanned 12. North Orlando broke up a 3-3 tie by pushing over the winning run in the final frame.

Here's a tip to officials of American Legion Post 53. The post, we understand, pays the freight for the Legion baseball program here. It is costing $10 a game for umpires, $5 for the city's fee, and $25 for the lights. Wednesday night there was a crowd of some 850 fans present. Finally, someone passed a hat and $18 was collected — $22 less than the expense of the game. We believe that if a couple of Legion members would organize themselves and pass the hat, or maybe sell tickets for as little as a quarter, they'd be able to pay for the program. We're just thinking out loud, that's all.

High School pole vaulters are being warned by the American Medical Association to exercise extreme care in using the right fiberglass poles.

"Too often," says the association, "in an attempt to achieve the publicized whip-like action, the springing athlete turns to a pole lighter than that specified for his weight."

"Each pole is rated by the manufacturer through control tests on flexural, tensile and compressive strength for a definite weight limit. Manufacturers warn that the poles must not be overloaded as much as even five pounds or breakage is apt to occur."

The report continues, "The potential hazard from falls and possible impaling of the vaulter justified serious concern by all those interested in the health and safety of the athletes."

Locals Engage Ocala In Twin Bill Saturday

Post 53's American Legion baseball club runs into another Sixth District opponent tonight when Manager Frank Thomas takes his outfit to Casselberry for a contest which will be played at 7:30 at the Casselberry Recreation Park.

Saturday night the locals engage in a mid-Florida doubleheader at Sanford's Memorial Stadium. They will enter in the Ocala club which Post 53 divided a twin bill last Saturday night in Ocala.

So far this season Post 53 has posted a record of three wins and one loss. They defeated Ocala, Orlando Post 92 and Euclid, and dropped one tilt to Ocala.

Thomas said this morning that he has given the mound assignment to Jim Courier, the outstanding Oviedo High hurler who has a record of one win and no losses thus far.

Thomas, blessed with two top notch receivers in Billy Higgins and Rex Brooks, will give the nod to Higgins tonight. So far Thomas has successfully alternated the two catchers.

Ed Fitzgerald will be at first, Marlin Sheffield at second, Rick Golloher at short, Red Jansen at third, Lawrence Pivec will be in left, Donnie Griffin in center and Steve Harris will handle the chores in right.

According to the present slate, Post 53 had 17 more regular season games on tap and 10 of them are slated for the local Memorial Stadium.

Maris, Mantle Answer Yogi's Call To Arms

By Fred Down UPI Sports Writer
Manager Yogi Berra and the New York Yankees will be satisfied this year if M&M stands for minute men.

Mickey Mantle and Roger Maris meant Murder, Inc., when they hit 115 home runs between them in 1961. They won't come close to that total this year but they flashed their home run power Thursday night—and not a minute late as far as the Yankees are concerned because tonight they're opening a five-game series with the Chicago White Sox that could have an important effect on the American League race.

This is a series in which the Yankees hope to cut into that five-game White Sox' lead and make their first real pennant move under their rookie manager.

The Yankee minute men answered Yogi's call to arms with three homers—Mantle's ninth and 10th of the season and Maris' 10th—to lead a 18-hit barrage that produced an 8-4 victory over the Boston Red Sox.

The Baltimore Orioles gave the Yankees a helping hand by ending the White Sox' four-game winning streak, 8-1, the Minnesota Twins beat the Detroit Tigers, 4-3, and the Los Angeles Angels scored a 5-4, 12-inning triumph over the Cleveland Indians in other American League games.

FORMER SANFORD baseball great, Ellis Clary (right) chats with Herald Sports Editor Julian Stenstrom during visit to Sanford. Clary, now a scout for the Minnesota Twins, will participate in the old timers game Aug. 9 in St. Louis between members of the Browns and Cardinals who played the 1944 World Series.

Clary Still Recalls Liver And Baseball

By Julian Stenstrom Herald Sports Editor
If you lived in Sanford during 1936 and 1937, whether you're a baseball fan or not, you would have enjoyed the pleasure a few of us had Wednesday in chin-wagging with one other than Ellis "Briiches" Clary — probably the most colorful ball player to ever wear a Sanford uniform when this city was a member of the Florida State League.

Clary, a former major league player and coach, is now a scout for the Minnesota Twins—working for his long time friend and admirer, Calvin Griffith, owner of the Twins.

Ellis, the kind of a ball player who would whip you with his fist if he couldn't do it on the diamond, was in Central Florida on business — not scouting, though, "Briiches," as he was known by fans throughout the league, scouts for the Twins in Georgia, Tennessee and parts of Florida and Kentucky. He still makes his home in Valdosta, Ga., where he first made sports page headlines as an outstanding high school ballback.

Ellis broke into pro ball with Sanford in 1936 and played (and fought) here again in 1937. His first season was under Manager Stuffy McCross and in '37 he played under the one and only Bill "Raw Meat" Rodgers—all Clary's idol.

"You can't write about Clary without recalling at least a couple of incidents—like the time he tackled a Leeburg pitcher between first and second base and touched off a riot at the old Municipal Park. There was the time the "wolves" at Gainesville rode him unmercifully during an afternoon game of a twin bill. Between games Clary went into downtown Gainesville, bought two pounds of chopped liver, and the first time up in the nightcap he fanned.

Gainesville fans let him have it as he returned to the dugout. Clary stepped inside, unwrapped the liver, ran out in front of the stands and sprayed the dripping chopped up stuff all over the fans as he cried out in his shrill voice, "Eat it all, you hungry wolves!"

Of course, the league president — in the stands that night — suspended the fiery player.

Has Clary changed. Don't think so.

Clary left here and played for Charlotte and finally wound up at Washington. During the war he went to the St. Louis Browns. While there in 1944 the Browns—now the Baltimore Orioles—won their only American League pennant but lost to the Cardinals in the World Series—the only cross-town classic ever played in St. Louis.

Engineers Remain In Race, Win 7-5

The Locomotive Engineers, bouncing right back after that 2 to 1 defeat handed them earlier in the week by Hunt's Comets, scored a 7 to 5 victory Thursday over the winless Standard Oilers and stayed right on the tail lights of the Little National League leaders.

Paul Watson made his initial appearance of the season on the mound and it was successful. He set the Oilers down with three hits. The Engineers are now within one and a half games of the Lincoln-Mercury boys and the two clubs are slated to meet next Tuesday in what could determine the loop's title in the City Recreational Department circuit.

Meanwhile, Navy — which already has clinched the Little American loop flag, made it win number 17 by cloaking George's 19 to 4. The Sailors tallied at least once in every frame and Freddie Turman cleared the wall twice with drives to bring his home run production total to six. Walter Jordan clouted his seventh round-tripper. Ace righthander, Scott Harris, was credited with his seventh decision without a setback.

Both games in the Junior League were decided by one-run margins Thursday, and in both cases the losing team had the tying run on third when the contests ended.

Kiwanis squeezed past CPO, 6 to 5, by virtue of a big five-run outburst in the seventh. CPO came back with theirs in their half of the seventh but when it was all over they were still shy one marker. The contest was played under protest by CPO.

In the other affair, the Elks, behind a fifth-inning rally that produced five runs and they got the Rotarians, 7 to 6. Ken Goshorn was the big stick for the Elks with a pair of hits. Tommy Bryan had a pair of singles for the losers. Don Nicholas got credit for the win.

In the Men's League, Longwood got back on the track by beating Florida State's Bankers 19 to 2 in a wild one. Mike Farley led Longwood with three hits but he had plenty of competition when every member of the South Seminole squad got at least two hits. Otto Thomas registered his eighth win of the season to go with only two defeats. He also joined Bob Simpkins in the home run department—each getting a four-bagger in the abbreviated four-inning affair.

In the other tilt, Chase, behind the hurrying of Dick Frank and some excellent defensive play, whipped Wilson Malar, 8 to 2. Frank got his eighth win of the season against 10 losses.

Griffith Still Seeks Pitcher; Peddles Power
ST. PAUL MINNEAPOLIS (UPI) — Minnesota Twins' President Calvin Griffith was on the phone again today trying to make a deal for a right-handed pitcher, which the Twins need badly.

Griffith Thursday peddled Vic Power and Lennie Green for utility help. He was still hoping to trade with the Cleveland Indians for either Gary Bell or Jim Grant.

"We tried hard to get Dean Chance from Los Angeles," Griffith said. "But there's no chance of that now. We hope we can make a deal with Cleveland."

The Twins sent Power and Green to the Angels in separate deals that brought them Cleveland infielder Jerry Kindall and Angela's farmhand Frank Kostro.

Three Cards Tossed Out Of Dodger Contest

By Fred Down UPI Sports Writer
How times change!

It used to be Don Drysdale who blew his top but now it's the big Los Angeles Dodger pitcher's rivals who are doing it.

At least that was the case Thursday night when Drysdale pitched a 5-0 four-hitter during which three members of the St. Louis Cardinals were ejected. Big D maintained his composure throughout two separate arguments to score his eighth victory of the season and increase his major league-leading strike-out total to 90.

Outfielder Carl Warwick and Ernie Broglio were tossed out of the game by umpire Bill Jackowski when they argued that an inning-ending grounder by Tim McCarver in the third had struck foul at the plate and Julian Javier in the fourth when he threw his bat into the air by way of objecting to a third-strike call by umpire Ed Vargo.

The Dodgers scored single runs in the fourth and seventh innings and then clinched the game with a three-run burst that routed Ray Washburn in the seventh.

The Houston Colts defeated the Cincinnati Reds, 5-3, the Milwaukee Braves beat the San Francisco Giants, 6-5, and the Chicago Cubs whipped the New York Mets, 6-3, in other National League games.

'Flipper' Splashes Ritz

FLIPPER, the lovable dolphin star who endeared himself to millions of moviegoers in the popular Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer film, "Flipper," is back in MGM's fascinating sequel, "Flipper's New Adventure," in which he aids young Luke Halpin and Pamela Franklin in outwitting a trio of murderous escaped convicts. It is showing at the Ritz Theatre.

If ever an actor had the right background for a starring role in a movie dealing with underwater exploits it is Brian Kelly, who makes his motion picture debut in "Flipper's New Adventure," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's sequel to the highly popular "Flipper," which can be seen at the Ritz Theatre through Wednesday.

When Kelly went through Officers Candidate School for the U.S. Marine Corps, he emerged as a Lieutenant specializing in Scuba—underwater demolition and reconnaissance.

His expertise came in mighty handy for his role as Luke Halpin's father in "Flipper's New Adventure," in which he joins the youngster and his dolphin friend in exciting action beneath the high seas.

Incidentally, it was while Kelly was donating his services as a Scuba instructor at a Rehabilitation Center for children that he was spotted by producer Ivan Tors and signed for his screen debut.

Also starring in "Flipper's New Adventure" are Pamela Franklin, Britain's popular young juvenile actress, and Tom Helmore. The new Ivan Tors production was directed by Leon Benson.

CAROLYN KING, of Bartow, national watermelon queen, leaves this month on a national tour. She is sponsored by the Watermelon Growers and Distributors Association.

2 At Drive-In

THIS MIGHT seem like a strange time to play a violin concerto, but then again Peter Sellers is known to do strange things. The rather puzzled lovely lady is Capucine, and they both appear in the delightful comedy, "The Pink Panther," which will open Sunday at the Movieland Drive-In Theatre. The Mirisch Company presentation of Blake Edwards' Technicolor-Technirama picture is being released through United Artists.

"The Pink Panther" starring David Niven and Peter Sellers opens this Sunday at the Movieland Drive-In Theatre as part of a first showing feature.

Co-feature of the color film will be "Soldier in the Rain" starring Jackie Gleason and Steve McQueen. The double feature will run through Tuesday.

Wednesday and Thursday the drive-in will have "Fancy Pants" with Bob Hope and Lucille Ball and "Hell to Eternity" with Jeffrey Hunter.

A triple feature will wind up the filmfare for the week. Included will be "The Gun Hawk" with Rory Calhoun; "Mail Order Bride" with Buddy Ebsen, Jed Clampett of TV's Beverly Hillsbillies; and "The Spiral Road" with Rock Hudson.

Deborah Kerr At Cinema

For the second time in her career, Deborah Kerr is appearing with Britain's acknowledged queen of the theatre, Edith Evans.

The two stars will appear on the screen at the Seminole Plaza Cinema in the Ross Hunter production of "The Chalk Garden," a Universal release in technicolor which will run Monday through Friday.

In the film, Deborah plays Miss Madrigal, a governess-companion with a strange past, and Miss Evans plays the same role she created in the original stage play, Mrs. St. Maugham, Deborah's employer.

A full twenty years marks this reunion.

Back in the 1940's Deborah was a comparatively unknown actress who had made a brief appearance in the film production of "Major Barbara" and was striving for a stage break.

Soon after, Deborah received an offer to appear in a stage production of Bernard Shaw's "Heartbreak House" in London's West End. The star of the production was Edith Evans.

Deborah Kerr still regards this as her most valuable training ground.

"I learned more from watching Edith than I did from any other source," she says.

"THE CHALK GARDEN" featuring Deborah Kerr and Hayley Mills will be shown at the Seminole Cinema in Casselberry Monday through Friday of next week. The Universal release also features the British actress, Edith Evans.

TABLE HOPPING

BY JUDY TURNER

Here's another weekend to fly your flag... especially Sunday which is Flag Day. To start the weekend off in a true blue fashion, you'll want to enjoy the fine food and drink offered by these local places.

Jean's Spaghetti House suggests that you start planning ahead for next week's Father's Day celebration. They are open on Sunday and if your "old man" likes a cool glass of beer with his dinner, Jean's is the place to go. Special this week at Jean's is cheese or meat ravioli at the usual low price.

Although they couldn't tell me of anything new and exciting going on at George's Tavern, both Kris and Dottie sounded as though they were having a good time with lots of laughter in the background. This friendly, neighborhood spot on French Ave. also has a package store and plenty of free parking.

Judy Garland's Marriage Denied

HONG KONG (UPI)—A source close to Judy Garland today denied Hong Kong press reports that the singer had married Mark Herron, her traveling companion.

The English-language Hong Kong Tiger Standard and its associated Chinese-language editions had quoted Miss Garland as remarking Thursday that "Mark and I were married five days ago." The papers said the singer made the remark at a party she attended at a hotel night club.

Neither Miss Garland nor Herron was available for comment.

It's A Double Parking Charge

ROME (UPI)—At a time when most Romans have trouble parking their cars, one motorist has trouble unparking his.

A swarm of bees built their hive on the car and refused to let anyone near. Bystanders saw the unidentified owner make several attempts to reach his car and retreat exactly every time.

LBJ Joke Asks Woman As Foe

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Johnson would like to see the Republicans nominate a woman for president this year.

Johnson dropped a joking hint to the GOP Thursday during a White House ceremony marking the effective date of a law guaranteeing equal pay for women.

The President said he thought there were women today capable of being president, and referred to efforts of "a certain party to decide upon a nominee this year."

Greek Bears A Message

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Greek Ambassador Alexander A. Masta delivered a message from the Greek Prime Minister George Papandreu to President Johnson Thursday, but the White House would make no comment on possible efforts to ease the Cyprus crisis.

Masta left the executive mansion by a side door after meeting with Johnson for about an hour. Press Secretary George E. Reedy said the ambassador had requested the meeting.

The table was gaily decorated with blue and gold ribbon streamers, Lyman High School colors, beautiful hybrid day lilies, and accented with two troll dolls complete with cap, gown and diploma.

Each girl received, as a souvenir, a small doll in cap and gown holding the tiniest good luck troll doll imaginable.

The honorees were presented with yellow carnation corsages. Guests enjoyed a roast beef luncheon with a cake especially decorated with graduation caps and diplomas.

Afternoon Tea Fetes Two Graduates

Mrs. Ike J. Butler Jr. was hostess at her Jenkins Circle home to an afternoon tea honoring Miss Pat Rabun and Miss Pat Wiggins, graduates of the 1964 class of Seminole High School.

The table, overlaid with a sheer lace cloth, was centered with a red and white floral arrangement in a milk glass container, flanked on either side by white candle holders with red candles. A variety of dainty tea sandwiches, miniature cakes, cheese bits, nuts and candies was served with the refreshing fruit punch.

A table on the patio under an umbrella, was covered with a white cloth which the guests autographed, to be embroidered later in red.

The honorees and their mothers, Mrs. C. M. Rabun and Mrs. S. L. Wiggins, were presented white corsages from Mrs. Butler.

Serving as junior hostesses were Kathy Butler, Nora Butler and Mellanie Williams. Approximately 50 guests called during the appointed tea hours.

Red 'Squares' Spruce Up

By Jerry Sheehan

Newspaper Enterprise Assn. NEW YORK (NEA)—You don't have to look like a capitalist to dress neatly. Such is the tone of the semi-official party line resounding in Moscow today.

A controversy over men's clothing fashions was kindled, according to Radio Free Europe, by an article in "Trud," a solid Communist labor newspaper.

"What gives with the baggy pants, Comrades?" was the theme. The newspaper called on Russian men to become clothes-conscious, urging them to avoid either too wide or too tight trousers. No point in looking as though you just hopped off a tractor.

Some unfashionable readers immediately called for the return of the wide trousers—up to 15 inches across at the cuff. These, of course, are designed to make the wearer look like a working class edition of the hopelessly outdated Duke of Windsor.

In the end it seems likely that the Soviet smart set will prevail. Nikita Khrushchev himself has joined the chorus. Mr. K, hardly a fashion plate, has made more and better clothing one of the symbols of the better life which he says communism can produce.

If the interest in menswear continues to grow, some intriguing incidents could result.

For example, a future conversation between Khrushchev and Andrei Gromyko could concern itself with something more than Cyprus and East Berlin.

"I like your blazer, Comrade Andrei, where did you get it?" "Over at the GUM men's

TWO DANDIES from Dzerzhinsk. With the aid of the American Institute of Men's and Boys' Wear, Khrushchev and Gromyko find themselves in the best of formal summer taste. Mr. K looks country-clubbish in a seersucker jacket, and Mr. G is appropriately snappy in a straw skimmer in this bit of trick photography.

shop, Nikita Sergeevitch. They just got a new shipment from the Kiev factory. Notched lapels and side vents make it rakish, don't you think?" "Yes, Andrei. And I like your hammer and sickle design pocket handkerchief. Stylish but not showy."

"Yes, Comrade. A place called Hart, Schaffner and Lenin or something like that."

School and You

Car Pool For Mothers?

By Susan Light
Newspaper Enterprise Assn. DEAR MRS. LIGHT: I have just read the letter you received from "Just a Teacher" (who was disturbed by indifferent parents), and I felt in my heart that this was one letter I had to answer. As a mother, I know a teacher has many problems to face every school day. Now please read about mine.

We live in a rural town, and our son attends a high school three miles from our home. Without any transportation, how can a mother attend school meetings? Believe me, I have even called a taxi and had it arrive at my home half an hour too late to go. Who wants to walk in after the meeting has started, and then have to call several cab companies before she can return home?

So to "Just a Teacher" (God bless you!) I'd like to say that mothers have their problems, too. I'm sure there are more mothers like me who would love nothing better than to spend an evening with their children's teachers. We would like to know you better, also. Is it possible that the teacher could arrange some sort of transportation pool to and from the school, and the mothers could share the cost? I'm almost certain that more mothers would attend these meetings and be very grateful to do so.—JUST A MOTHER OF THREE VERY DEAR CHILDREN.

ANSWER: I'm sure that "Just a Teacher" was not referring to mothers like you when she spoke of apathetic parents. Obviously, your heart's in the right place—even though your home may not be.

Why not write a note to the principal of your son's school, describing your problem and suggesting transportation pools for PTA meetings, parent-teacher conferences and other special school events? He will know the best person or committee to call on for prompt action. It appears to me that this would be a practical and worthwhile project for room mothers or the PTA membership committee. Perhaps you'll start something that will spread across the country and help other mothers in your position.

Please send your school problems to Susan Light, 1200 W. Third, Cleveland, Ohio. While she cannot answer each letter personally, letters of general interest will be answered in this column.

The Clothes Poll

Don't Spread Out For Summer

By Helen Hennessey
Newspaper Enterprise Assn. Women's Editor
Summer's coming. And thousands of girls will be put in moth balls until fall. Why, in these days of air conditioning and feather-weight foundation garments, do women feel that the hot weather gives them a license to be sloppy? It beats me.

Even the slimmest model wears a light giraffe for figure control. Yet when the temperature reaches 90, it's not the gal who earns her livelihood with her figure who tosses aside needed restraint. The girls that spend the summer in storage are, in the main, sizes 16 to 40. Summer is the season for play clothes, pants, shorts and every shape-revealing daytime fashion in the books. The only summer garment that will hide unightly bulges is the tent dress. And it just won't do for the office.

Some women feel they can hide their ungirdled generous proportions under a full skirt. But there isn't a full skirt on the market that will really camouflage a round pot in the front and a mobile derriere—neither of which is "cute" on anyone over size 8.

The gal who decides that dog days release her from good grooming is foolishly giving up her chance to be an attractive woman. She has to forego pretty styles because she can't wear them without some figure control. And she's as hot as the rest of us anyway.

When the mercury rises, we're all willing outdoors unless we're in the water. A lightweight foundation garment won't increase the agony, but it will add chic to your appearance.

grass, you need control in order not to look sloppy. When you venture forth without it, you fool only yourself. Chic Chat

Q—"I just bought a long white formal gown for my lodge's installation of officers. My daughter and I are coming to New York for the fair in June and I want to take it along for nights at the theater or when we go to a luxurious place to dine in the city. My daughter says it would be out of place, but I understand long gowns are in fashion for evening."—LILLIAN C.

DEAR LILLIAN C.: Long gowns are certainly in fashion for evening, but unless an escort is accompanying (you didn't say), I wouldn't pack the long gown. It isn't any fun to get all dressed up to go out unescorted. And if you have no gentleman along, the formal dress would be out of place, especially at the theater. Short cocktail dresses are still holding their own here and are in good taste for anything but the most formal evening occasions. This would be a good choice for you.

Please send your fashion problems to Helen Hennessey, 1200 W. Third, Cleveland, Ohio. While she cannot answer each letter personally, letters of general interest will be answered in this column.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: With reference to the letter about why a man, who has a lady for a wife, will pick up a tramp and treat her like a lady, and then will turn around and treat his wife like a tramp:

Some time ago you stated in the confidential section of your column: "The worse a man's morals are, the better he wants his wife's to be." How do you reconcile the two answers? MRS. A.

DEAR MRS. A.: A man whose morals are low wants his wife's to be high, but he prefers a tramp for a sweetheart because he has a feeling of worthlessness and inferiority with his wife—but not with the tramp. And because a man treats his wife like a tramp does not mean he wants her to behave like one. Married men who cheat with tramps have no desire to marry one. Comprehend?

DEAR ABBY: I am so unhappy I hardly know where to start. I am a middle-aged woman employed as a cook, housekeeper, companion and chauffeur to the most selfish, heartless woman I have ever known. She expects me to eat leftovers that should go into the garbage can. She finds fault with everything I do. When she is going out I have to help her dress, which is a chore, because she tries on a dozen dresses before deciding what to wear, and I have to tell her "beautiful" she looks in every one or she gets mad. On my day off she lays in bed watching TV all day, and I have to prepare all her meals and put them within her reach. She is not an invalid. She plays golf. When she goes out I have to stay up and dress to let her in, lock up the house and undress her and put her clothes away. She is a millionaire, but she goes around the house in a quilted robe with the heat turned off to save fuel. Once she made a toll call for me and took 15 cents out of my wages. Jobs are not easy to find. What should I do? MISERABLE you remain with this woman, you do not deserve much sympathy. Jobs may not be "easy" to find, but if I were you I'd start looking for another one tomorrow. You could hardly do worse.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "WANTS TO BE POPULAR": It is better to sit home for a few weeks—or months—than to date boys who want only a quick physical thrill. After they get what they want, the challenge is gone and you'll be sitting with a bad reputation and memories that will embarrass and burn. Get smart, and date only decent boys or keep your nose in a good book. These are years for self-improvement—not self-destruction.

hearts and a side ace. Therefore, North should not have obscured the bidding by showing his three-card club suit. Instead, North should either have rebid his diamonds or raised his partner's heart suit.

South's blame is very minor. To start with, he might well have bid one heart instead of two. True he had a maximum pass, but he also held only a five card heart suit and no support for partner's diamonds.

Then his four no-trump call was a trifle optimistic. By this time he had bid and rebid his five card suit, so there was some possibility that his partner had raised him on only two trumps. Even if North held two aces, there would not be any sure play for the slam.

We The Women: By Ruth Millett

There's no doubt that a beautiful girl will have doors opened to her where a plain miss wouldn't get too room.

It seems to me the mother of a pretty daughter should try hard to see that her daughter develops the qualities that make a woman capable of meeting life's problems and assuming its responsibilities.

The only qualities a woman can bank on for life are qualities of character and ability and personality, there wouldn't be so many unhappy, envious, disillusioned women who were once pretty, popular girls.

But even the beautiful girl won't find everything she wants at her fingertips all her life. If she has been trained to think she will, she's in for a rude awakening.

A girl can bank on beauty for so short a time. It is a great shock to a woman who has counted too heavily on her looks to win love and admiration to realize one day that her beauty is slipping, and that she can't compete on looks alone with younger women.

It's a tough break, but beauty does fade and life isn't easy for the girl who has no other quality to recommend her.

It isn't true that a pretty girl will always find life smooth sailing.

If the mother of a pretty girl would impress on her while she is still young that

The Doctor Says: Calisthenics Keep Him Fit

By Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn. Q—I am now 80 years old and I still take two 20-minute periods of calisthenics every day. Back in 1910, I started brushing myself all over every day with a stiff brush. Is this harmful?

Q—I am bothered with gouty arthritis. Can you give me a list of foods that will help to control this disease? A—For you it is not so much a matter of eating certain foods as of avoiding such foods as meats, especially glandular cuts (kidney, liver, sweetbreads); meat extracts (bouillon cubes); fish, including shellfish, (caviar and shad roe are permitted); fowl and lentils. There is danger—but to a lesser degree—in asparagus, cauliflower, kidney beans, navy beans, lima beans, mushrooms, spinach, rye bread, graham crackers, whole wheat bread, shredded wheat and wheat flakes.

Q—What is chondrodystrophy? A—Chondrodystrophy or achondroplasia means that the bones of the arms and legs are very short but the rest of the skeleton is of normal proportions. The victim is a type of dwarf as opposed to the midget who is abnormally small, but perfectly formed. Since chondrodystrophy is usually an inherited characteristic, there can be no corrective treatment. A child with this type of dwarfism is normal mentally, but is likely to suffer a lot of teasing from thoughtless playmates. He will, moreover, need realistic guidance in planning for his future as an adult.

Q—I assume that the stiff brush you have been using for 34 years is not a wire brush. I don't believe it could be very harmful or you would have found reason to give it up years ago. The calisthenics are an important aid to fitness and the brushing can stimulate the circulation of the skin if it is not overdone. Since rubbing with a Turkish towel will accomplish the same purpose and is less likely to injure the skin, you might want to consider switching.

Q—I am a housewife, 22 years old. About two years ago my toenails started to become thick and hard. What could cause this? A—The toenails are much more likely to become thickened than the fingernails. In some persons this is an inherited trait. In others, wearing shoes that are too short may be the cause, especially if the nails are not kept trimmed. When outward growth of the nail is thus impeded the nail tends to become thick and to curve downward.

Paint With Toothbrush

By Polly Cramer

Newspaper Enterprise Assn. DEAR POLLY—Recently I painted my kitchen and found using a soft bristle toothbrush was much easier than a regular paint brush for painting window moldings around the panes. Then there is no messy paint to be scraped from the glass.—MRS. S. S.

This gives not only serring room but makes a table one can get his knees under. If it is small fry you are serving, pull out a couple of lower drawers and presto, there is a table low enough for them. Cover with oilcloth so that it is easy to clean. This tip

DEAR POLLY—It used to be a nuisance to hunt for the correct change for everyday expenses like the newspaper, school lunches, allowances and so on. It took scarcely 10 minutes to figure how much change we needed to cover these items during each pay period. In our case, a five dollar roll of dimes plus a certain amount of one dollar bills are picked up at the bank each pay day. These are put aside for those fixed expenses. Small plastic pill vials are ideal containers for the dimes.—MRS. D. V. S.

DEAR POLLY—If you need more "settin' and servin'" space when you entertain, buy a board large enough to rest on the outer edges of two pulled-out cabinet drawers.

oil or water in the car and other minor things before I leave for work.—JOHN DEAR POLLY—I transformed an old washstand into a neat typewriter stand for my niece. First, I removed the two lower doors and the lower shelf and used wood putty for the holes where I took off the doors. Then I removed all the old varnish and sandpapered it smooth. After revarnishing, new handles were put on the two drawers and marbled linoleum glued on the top. It turned out to be a neat and very useful piece for a high school girl's room.—EMILY

GIRLS—A use usually turns up for everything if you just hold on long enough. Seldom do I discern anything that I don't soon think of something I could have done with it. There is no greater satisfaction than making something out of "nothing."—POLLY

Record Shop Folk Music Is Changing

By Dick Kleiner

Newspaper Enterprise Assn. NEW YORK (NEA)—The plunkers are going out, and The Serendipity Singers are happy to see them go.

Record Shop

The plunkers, Bryan Bennett of the group explains, are guitar and banjo players who simply plunk out a simple rhythmic beat on their instruments to accompany their singing. They might just as well be rapping on the table, Bennett says. "Nowadays, most of the groups have good guitar players along, or can play well themselves. There are still a few plunkers around, but not many."

There are nine—seven boys Diane Decker and Lynne Weinraub—in the Serendipity group. (The name, which they chose after much soul-and-dictionary-searching, means the art of finding something surprisingly pleasant when you're not looking for it.) Most of them booked up as undergraduates at the University of Colorado, with Bennett the instigating force. Two of them—Tommy Tiemann and Diane Decker—were added later; Tommy and Diane had had moderate success as a duet before, they became Serendipities.

The size of the unit offers certain advantages. Diane says a big group makes it easier on everybody, because there is less chance of temperamental clashes than in a small group. And Bryan, the leader, thinks the advantage is that they can't play small clubs.

Classically, Angel has given us a new "Andrea Chenier," hardly one of the more popular operas. But, as done by Franco Corelli and Antonietta Stella, it is an interesting experience. This was one of Caruso's pet roles, and Corelli tries hard, but—

Listen to the Serendipities on their Philips albums or their hit single, "Crooked Little Man." They are about as folksy as Frank Sinatra. But their guitar-banjo-bass instrumentation enables them to appeal to the folk-oriented public and to get numerous chances to guest star on television's Hootenanny.

There are nine—seven boys Diane Decker and Lynne Weinraub—in the Serendipity group. (The name, which they chose after much soul-and-dictionary-searching, means the art of finding something surprisingly pleasant when you're not looking for it.)

Of course, The Serendipity Singers feel that they are more than just folk singers. They use the folk approach and folk instrumentation to play and sing other kinds of music. They sing jazz and pop, as well as straight folk tunes. And they seem to prefer new folk songs to the traditional folk songs of the electric guitar.

Hope For Sick Lawn

WITH AILEEN

It is almost time for the Monday morning quarterbacks to come out of their holes and tell you where you went wrong with your lawn.

deteriorate as grass seed does, you can lose money here by buying a large quantity cheaply. According to Fulton, you take a chance when you buy a 20-pound bag for $2.50. This is "sudden death and will burn up your lawn," says Fulton.

If your spring seeding and fertilizing efforts appear ineffective, take heart. You can recoup your lawn, if not your investment, this fall. Fertilizer and lawn seed authority, Robert Fulton (Heritage House), passes on some helpful buying tips:

You also can lose up to 50 per cent of the fertilizer you put on your lawn if you do not know the soil's lime content. To save you this expense, invest in a $1.50 soil testing kit or have a county agricultural agent test your soil free of charge.

Fulton says he would be extremely worried, for example, about any lawn seed he could buy for under $1.50 a pound. "You get," he says, "what you pay for in seed." His worries are your worries when it comes to growing a healthy lawn. Fortunately, the grass seed purchaser today has more protection than in past years. Federal and state laws require the lawn seed package to name the varieties of seed inside, the percentage by weight of each and the proportion of guaranteed germination.

Many persons probably toy with the idea of buying sod and having the lawn appear in the few hours it takes to set in place. When buying sod, be ungentlemanly and ask about its age. Three-year-old sod is best. You can tell age by comparing the denseness of sod to other plugs.

You also will want it free of bent grass. This is tricky, though. Often you will get a guarantee against such things as bent or crab grass. But, remember this is usually for one season and continued success in the fight depends upon good maintenance of your neighbors' lawns.

Other buying precautions suggested by Fulton include being leery of specials unless they are manufacturer's promotions and beware of extravagant claims, fly-by-night

BUZZ OFF: Pleasantly scented and attractive, an insect repellent candle appeals more to people than flying insects. Each candle protects a two- to three foot area and is said to last for 24 hours. Under a dollar.

Kinship Revisited

It is becoming more obvious every day that people aren't people. The first hint came quite a while back when scientists decided that man was descended from the monkey. While this was perhaps not too flattering, it was accepted by man with a lighthearted attempt to laugh it off. The monkeys merely ignored it.

Now, science has gone even further in aligning man with animals. It says rather flatly that human beings share basic hereditary characteristics with all other backboned animals.

(There MUST be a prettier way to describe human beings than that!) From a genetic standpoint, the scientists say, man is still most closely related to the monkey (85 to 90 per cent). But he also has a kinship to mice, rats, hamsters, guinea pigs, rabbits and cows that comes to about 20 to 25 per cent.

Adding it up, it seems to make man more than 100 per cent animal. The way some of us humans carry on at times, you could hardly blame the animals if they sued the scientists for slander.

How Sweet It Is

One may argue, as many governments seem prone to do, that the tens of billions of dollars in foreign aid dispensed by the United States all over the world since World War II proceeded ultimately from our own self-interest. To expect thanks for all this money is just another indication of American naivete, if not hypocrisy.

Even so, it's nice to be thanked once in a while, and any expression of gratitude from abroad, however restrained, is such a rare event that it bears repeating.

Noting that U.S. aid to Britain, which began with Lend-Lease in 1940, is now virtually ended, The Economist of London recently wrote: "The United States has given Britain $8.7 billion since the war. It would be hard to imagine a European state in America's postwar position taking such a long and broad view of its interest.

"Now that Western Europe, including Britain, is prospering, the least we can do is to pay tribute to the relative and partner who nursed us back to self-earned health, both when our very life was in danger and when we were being debilitatedly convalescent."

Thank you, Economist!

Political Notebook

WASHINGTON (NEA) — The State of Mississippi is getting ready with a plan the aim of which—at the very least—is to delay a final, potentially explosive confrontation with federal authority over desegregation of public schools.

Likely to be handed soon to Gov. Paul Johnson for signature are four legislative bills which would, for all practical purposes, allow him to close public schools that have been ordered by U. S. courts to desegregate and to set up a private school system for Mississippi white children.

The proposal in question would permit the state to make tuition grants to private school students, to provide them with free textbooks, to protect the retirement status of teachers who may shift from public to private schools, and to vest in the Education Finance Commission the power to supervise these efforts.

These measures have the governor's backing, and it appears his clear intent to use them to avoid as long as possible any racial mixing in Mississippi schools.

This formula, of course, is closely patterned after that employed by local authorities since 1959 in Virginia's Prince Edward County. The U. S. Supreme Court has just voided this approach, in effect ordering Prince Edward to reopen its long-closed public schools.

But Mississippi authorities indicate their belief that any application of the Prince Edward decision to Mississippi schools could not be managed in time to prevent use of the private school system in certain areas in the coming fall school term.

If that exception should prove correct, then the operation of public schools with both white and Negro pupils might be put off at least until February 1965 and perhaps later.

With such delay would come avoidance of the explosive

Johnson At The Brink

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Like Woodrow Wilson and Franklin Roosevelt before him, President Johnson finds himself with an idealistic social adventure at home, which is now threatened by entanglement in a far-off war.

There is every sign that Johnson is on the verge of a decision in Asia that is the equivalent to Wilson's arming of merchant ships which drew us into World War I, and to Roosevelt's decision that we must not allow Britain to fall before Hitler.

Unhappily, it seems to me, we no longer have in American public opinion that strong spirit of pride and self-sufficiency which some call nationalism and some call isolationism. True, it was not strong enough to prevent Wilson from muddling into a conflict that he sincerely abhorred, or to scuttle Roosevelt's machinations to join what he grandiosely termed "the war against the tyrants." Nevertheless, nationalistic-isolation, a traditional and appropriate policy for this great continental Republic of those days, did provide some necessary opposition. And when war became a reality, this spirit that would have kept us out of other people's squabbles blossomed into a glorious patriotism — and Americans went on to win mighty battles, the latest celebration of which we observed on the 20th anniversary of D-Day.

But here in the Sixties, Lyndon Johnson's decision is not helped and balanced either by the folksy common sense which scorns foreign brawls or by the assurance that, once forced into a fight, our patriotism will catch fire and go helibent for victory.

Modern pacifism is not nationalistic, it is psychotic. It seeks surrender. It shuns victory to the unbelievable extent of handicapping and sacrificing our sons by sending them to battle in obsolete aircraft. Pacifism exults in reciting with intellectual horror at the thought of using our best weapons, and of drumming Barry Goldwater out of the regiment for suggesting the use of tactical, low-yield atomic devices against Communists.

For these reasons, as well as for others, Johnson—and the country—have less chance to win a war than Wilson, Roosevelt and preceding generations had. He will have to overrule the Nu Win policy-makers who have given us, since 1961, the Bay of Pigs, the Berlin Wall and the sickly touch football game in Southeast Asia. He will have to overcome the political peace-mongers who are apt to lead the Republican campaign if Goldwater is destroyed. He will have to supply a palpable hat-figure, like the Kaiser or like Hitler—a psychological necessity in warfare. It's very unlikely that the country can be

Dr. Crane's Worry Clinic

Molly was one of the most popular coeds before the end of the semester, yet she had originally been a timid, disconsolate girl who felt she had little chance against the campus beauty queens. But winning friends is simply a matter of sales psychology, so send for the booklet below and PRACTICE IT DILIGENTLY!

CASE S-489: Molly T., aged 20, is the shy coed who didn't know how to win a boy friend. She felt that lack of a pretty face was going to keep her an old maid.

But she had average good looks and very pretty teeth. So I coached her in how to accentuate her attractive mouth, for that's the focal point in any face.

If you have a "kissable mouth," you don't need to be a beauty queen.

And a kissable mouth usually involves white teeth and flashing lips that chronically smile and utter compliments to the surrounding boys.

"Dr. Crane," Molly said, after she had begun using the new "love angle" on boys, "I run out of conversation too soon."

"After discussing the weather and our latest athletic game, then I don't know what else to say."

"In fact, I grow desperate and feel like shouting 'Help, Help!'"

H-E-L-P Formula

Several times in past years I have warned you young people to dissect that very word "Help" into its component letters.

Then use each letter as a prod or spur to open a new avenue of conversation.

The "H" can thus represent "Hobbies," so ask your male companion if he ever collected stamps, old coins, bottle caps, pairs of safety matches, etc.

You can meanwhile make some shrewd observations about your companion just on the basis of his hobbies, for extroverts will prefer to collect autographs, whereas introverts are more likely to be stamp collectors!

Usually this "H" will be adequate to get the boy friend into animated conversation.

But if talk begins to bog down, then switch over to "E," which represents "Entertainment."

This covers everything from athletics to movies, legitimate stage plays, etc.

Girls, always remember to fade out of your part of the dialogue with a question!

For a question mark is even shaped like a fish hook. And it thus "hooks" the other person gracefully into continuing the dialogue.

After "E," you can then use "L," which stands for "Literature," meaning books, magazines, best sellers, newspaper columns and comics.

"Which comic is your favorite in our daily newspaper?" Molly can thus begin. Or—

"Did you ever use Comic Books as the basis for writing a book review in high school English classes?"

Finally, the letter "P" indicates the broad field of "Politics."

Don't get into heated arguments thereon, but discuss such topics as, "Do you think it is right for Uncle Sam to draft boys at 18, yet still deprive them of the right to vote till they are 21?"

Meanwhile, sandwich personal compliments between your queries and memorize your conversational strategy at home, much as you practice on a talk for your Public Speaking class.

Send for my booklet, "Formula for Interesting Conversation," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 20 cents.

Letters

The Herald welcomes letters from its readers on public affairs. The writer may use a pen name provided the letter also carries the writer's true name and address. Letters of fewer than 250 words will be given preference. Letters addressed to others are acceptable provided they do not deal in personalities. Poetry is not published by The Herald.

What a shot! Photographers love to find a scene like this. Flowing water... a background of trees... a church spire in the distance... these always make an outstanding picture. Wherever we travel we see Christian churches in harmonious settings, and there's a tendency to think of them as "part of the scenery." But what an important part they are! Every one is a House of God, dedicated to His service. Every one is a community focal point, helping in a thousand ways to broaden and beautify the lives of its members. And every one is a vital link in the shining chain of Christian belief that stretches around the world. Not far from where you live, there's a church that could give your life a new dimension. Whatever doubts and fears you may have, bring them to God in His House. You can rely on His promise that He will not leave you comfortless.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL - ALL FOR THE CHURCH
 The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sacred reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

A doll of the bowler hat to Pete Knowles and his efficient city work crews. In a span of a few short hours the men had the parking lot site at Park and First cleared of all the debris left from demolition of two buildings there. The mess reminded Cliff Le-Kibbin of "Coventry during World War II."

Buy gas for less—and save on clothing bills, too. All you need do, according to a report in the Sunny Sands Scoop, multi-resort newsletter. The letter says gas can be bought at cost plus one cent a gallon. But, alas, it's restricted to membership in the club located near Daytona Beach.

Glad when a good rain hits the area. You've probably noticed those blessed blind mosquitoes, we're sure. Buildings painted white are peppered with the sticky pests. They only live a few hours but there's so many of them...

French and First intersection got new paint markings on the pavement Friday and the work crews put up temporary barriers to protect the painters and paint. Looked, for a time, like a sports car gymkhana scene.

Overheard: "My wife; she has the prettiest, most pearly white teeth. Both of them."

Last week the dancers on the Red Skelton television show were given a chance to introduce themselves and tell where they were from. One of them introduced himself and said he was from Sanford, Fla. However, we didn't catch his name and can't find anybody that did. Does anyone know who the dancer was?

Ever wonder why you see so many cars on the streets and highways these days painted off white? The answer is really simple, say some of the local auto dealers. It's the color preference among top auto buyers. Off white jumped into first place back in 1955 and continues to reign as the number one choice. Surprisingly, medium brown—which wasn't even listed in 1957, is new second choice.

Some of these South Seminole towns are growing—not only in population but also in many other aspects. For instance, Casselberry now has approximately 42 miles of roadways.

Herald Adds To Editorial Staff

Editor-Publisher Walter A. Gielow today announced the appointment of Harry I. Johnson as managing editor of The Sanford Herald effective at once.

Gielow also announced that Mrs. Dottie Austin has joined The Herald staff as city editor, the post previously held by Johnson.

Johnson joined the Herald four months ago after having been executive editor of the Winter Haven Daily News-Chief. He previously had been news editor of the Clearwater Sun.

A native of Elmira, N. Y., he began his career on the newspaper there. He and Mrs. Johnson came to Florida about 10 years ago.

His new duties will consist of complete charge of all editorial and photographic assignments for the news department.

Mrs. Austin, who has been public relations director for field district three of the Florida Heart Association, is a former feature editor and columnist of the Herald.

LAST IN LINE before the Sanford-Seminole Jaycees had to halt the Sabin Oral Sunday project when the supply ran out was Karen Daken of Winter Park. She visited the Jaycee Booth shortly after 5 p.m. to receive the Sabin vaccine. Administering the dose is Garnett White, local Jaycee member. Officials said 3,500 persons visited the five feeding stations Sunday.

Sabin Feeding Halts Due To Shortage

Turnaway crowds were noted at the five feeding stations Sunday as the Sanford-Seminole Jaycees concluded their Sabin Oral Sunday project. It was estimated that from 400 to 500 persons did not get the vaccine as the supply was exhausted. Plans to keep the Jaycee information booth open after 5 p. m. for late-comers was dropped because of the shortage.

Opportunities In Seminole Stressed

An attractive investment future for Seminole County was outlined Friday night by two local civic and business leaders and 200 naval officers were urged to make this area their permanent home. George Touhy, executive vice president of First Federal Savings and Loan Association of Seminole County, told the officers that the over-expansion of past years should be entirely absorbed by the end of the year and real estate should again be a solid investment.

Executive Manager John Krider of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce, followed Touhy on the program at the formal "Dining In" held by the officers of Heavy Attack Wing One at the Sanford Naval Air Station. He pointed out that Seminole County is currently growing faster than any of the 10 most populous counties in Florida and described its emergence from a "retirement area" to a major commercial center.

He cited the part which the Navy has played in the expansion and said that "Navy families have broadened our scope" culturally in addition to providing an economic impetus to the community.

Touhy showed how the growth in Gross National Product and disposable income was reflected in Florida and Seminole County. He listed climate, population increase and industrial expansion as some of the major reasons for the area having a "good investment market."

The banking executive also pointed to a trend among migrants to the state to locate in "the places in which you would like to make a home," sound well-rounded communities, rather than the "more gaudy areas."

He concluded, "We invite you to stay as long as you can. If you have to leave, come back again—we hope, to stay."

Other special guests at the dinner were Andrew Carraway, widely-known Sanford insurance agent and community leader, and Capt. Harold F. Lang, former squadron commander at NAS Sanford who now commands the fleet oiler USS Kankakee.

The guests were introduced by Capt. James O. Mayo, commander Heavy Attack Wing One.

Lack Of I-4 Sanford Sign Protested

SRD Favoring Orlando, CC Director Says

A complaint against the failure to install signs on I-4 showing that Sanford can be reached on the new link between here and Daytona Beach was made today by John Krider, manager of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce, to State Senator Mack N. Cleveland Jr.

Krider charged that it appeared the State Road Department was going to extremes to direct all traffic into Orlando.

"Following several phone calls from people who had used I-4 into Daytona, I made the trip to see for myself," said Krider. "Traveling west from Daytona there is one directional sign at the intersection of U.S. 92 and I-4, and it indicates that only Orlando can be reached via I-4."

"DeLand and Sanford are intermediate points between reaching Orlando, and both are the seats of their respective counties," Krider added. Krider also noted that there has been no change in the directional sign entering I-4 from the Orange City-DeLand interchange. However, later this morning unofficial word was received from the State Road Department that the sign was ready but had not yet been installed.

The absence of an appropriate sign at this interchange was recently called to the attention of the SRD by the DeLand and Seminole chambers.

"This type of treatment is becoming rather discouraging," said Krider. "It appears that they are going to force us to place advertising signs at this particular intersection at $50 per month to let the public know that Sanford is on I-4."

Cleveland, a Sanford attorney, was in court today and not available for comment.

Report Untrue, Lodge Says

SAIGON, Viet Nam (UPI)—Henry Cabot Lodge, U. S. ambassador to South Viet Nam today denied a press report that he has asked to be relieved of his duties here within 30 days.

Lodge described the report as "totally untrue." The published report from Washington said Lodge had asked President Johnson to be relieved of his ambassadorial post for health reasons.

White House Press Secretary George E. Reedy said in Washington Sunday night he had no knowledge of a request from Lodge to resign.

Flag Fiesta

PENSACOLA (UPI) — A joint celebration of the Fiesta of Five Flags and the 50th anniversary of naval aviation drew more than 100,000 people to this Gulf coast city during the week-end. The celebration commemorated the founding of the city in 1859 and the fiftieth birthday of the Naval Air Station on Pensacola Bay.

Colorful Flag Ceremony Held By Elk Lodge

Elks Lodge members and guests rededicated themselves to the American Flag during the annual Flag Day ceremonies at the club grounds Sunday afternoon.

The colorful rite was held on the front landing of the club building with spectators clustered in many groups, some in the sun, other moving back into the shady areas.

They heard Maj. B. T. Chen of the U. S. Marine Corps call for rededication to the Flag and heard the history of the American emblem as given by various officers of the club.

A color guard of Marine Corps and naval personnel moved a cluster of colors to the speakers stand.

Boy Scouts from the Elks-sponsored Troop 214 monitored a variety of flags, ranging from a replica of the 13-star emblem to today's 50-star flag.

The ceremony opened with Mrs. Helen McCloskey singing the Star Spangled Banner.

Officers taking part included Wade Snyder, exalted ruler; D. H. Green, esteemed leading knight; Malcolm C. Lodge Jr., esteemed loyal knight; Milton Tolbert, esteemed lecturing knight; J. R. Henderson, espire, and R. H. Williams, chaplain. Guy Allen, past exalted ruler, presented the history of the flag.

Scouts participating were Larry Warren, Johnny Foster, Dan Bernosky, George Ca'lon, Jennings Hurt, Paul 'ton, Roger Warren and a Houston. Eroutinsing James L. Duhon and his assistant, King Smith, were in charge of the group.

Victory Spurs Saigon Forces

SAIGON, Viet Nam (UPI)—South Vietnamese officials were jubilant today over a turnabout victory achieved by a government river patrol against a strong Communist ambush force.

Informed sources said a navy river patrol of four gunboats recovered from the ambush and killed at least 25 Viet Cong, the largest number of Communist guerrillas killed in a single engagement in more than a month.

The dinner, originally slated for the Civic Center, was held at the Police Benevolent Building. At 8 p.m. Jaycees discovered that by mistake the banquet had been prepared by the caterer at the police building. Nearly 200 Jaycees and guests vacated the Center and the change was accomplished without delay.

Smith presented the club's Spoke Award to Frank Finch; the Sparkplug, Key Man and Robert Spellman awards to Harold Chapman, and a special award was made to Don Royer for outstanding service to the club.

Honorary memberships were presented to Willie Hunt and Scott Burns. Associate memberships were given Chapman and City Commissioner Sonny Itaborn. Appreciation awards were made to The Sanford Herald, Orlando Sentinel, W.T. RR and Marguerite Price, president of the JayCec Wives Club.

Both Houses Placed Under Apportioning

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Supreme Court ruled today that members of both houses of a state legislature must represent districts substantially equal in population.

The ruling means the precedent-setting state reapportionment requirements established by the court earlier apply to state senate as well as the lower state houses.

The opinion declared: "By holding that as a federal constitutional requisite both houses of a state legislature must be apportioned on a population basis, we mean that the equal protection clause of the U. S. Constitution requires that a state make an honest and good faith effort to construct districts, in both houses of its legislature, as nearly of equal population as is practicable."

The court added, however: "We realize that it is a practical impossibility to arrange legislative districts so that each one has an identical number of residents or citizens or voters. Mathematical exactness or precision is hardly a workable constitutional requirement."

New Plant For County Under Construction

Construction is rapidly being completed on an 8,000 square-foot building located just off U. S. 17-92 on Sheppard Road, which will house Precisioneer, Inc., a firm which manufactures special purpose machines and equipment.

The company, which is currently located in Orlando, will move its operations into the new building about the last week in June, according to J. Earl Povencher, president and treasurer of the corporation.

Povencher said today that the company is now in the process of obtaining another building already constructed in the Sanford area for a proposed expansion of the firm's operations.

"We are delighted to be moving our operations into Seminole County," Povencher said today. "We have an attractive building and we're going to make every effort to make the industrial area in which we are located an asset to our friends and neighbors around us."

The firm's president is assisted by vice president and general manager, Jules Miller. Miller said the company has about 15 employees in Orlando and that all of them would continue with the firm in the new location. Povencher's brother, Robert J. Povencher, also a vice president of the company, is currently on active duty with the U. S. Navy overseas.

In addition to producing special purpose machines and automatic equipment, the company makes tools, dies, fixtures, templates, screw machine parts, test stands, aircraft armament and missile components. It also is engaged in manufacturing catapult arrest gear and aircraft ground support equipment for the armed forces.

The new plant, Povencher explained, would double the size of the company's Orlando space.

Burglaries On Weekend Keep Police Busy

A series of burglaries and attempted breaking and entries kept area police active over the weekend.

A man identified as James Washington of 1912 Grapeville Ave. was nabbed Sunday afternoon shortly after he allegedly entered Ratliff's Garage on the Orlando Highway, rifled the safe and generally vandalized the building.

Trooper Tommy Tomlinson nabbed Washington on 20th Street shortly after 2 p. m.

Deputy J. Q. (Slim) Gallaway and Deputy Jim Moore said the Negro admitted the theft of money but denied having taken an additional sum missing from the safe.

Earlier police reported someone had opened a window at the Elks Club, 1006 E. Second St., but apparently was frightened away before entering the building. A check showed nothing was missing. The entry try was discovered at 3:23 a. m.

Theft of a large quantity of clothing, five cases of wine, and a flashlight was reported missing at the Tip Top Grocery Store, 1100 W. 13th St., by the proprietor, Willie Sutton.

Sunday night police were told that someone had entered a house occupied by Lester Killingsworth at 1111 W. 10th St., while the occupant was away.

Killingsworth said the only thing taken was a half-gallon of sweet milk.

William McKim, Former Sanford Resident, Dies

A former resident of Sanford and one of the foremost business leaders in Charleston, W. Va., William M. McKim, 61, collapsed on a flight to Virginia Beach, Va., last week and died in a Norfolk, Va., hospital. He was the president of one of Charleston's most prominent downtown department stores.

McKim was stricken as his plane landed at Norfolk airport and was dead on arrival at Norfolk General Hospital. He had been enroute to join his family for a weekend at the beach resort.

Born in Kansas City, Mo., and reared in Florida, McKim got his start in retailing in 1927. He was later vice president of a Newark, N. J. store and went to Charleston in 1958 to assume the position he held until the time of his death.

During his years in Charleston he was active in the Chamber of Commerce and Downtown Merchants Association, a member of Christ Methodist Church and the Betty Hills Country Club.

Surviving are his widow, Carolyn, two daughters, Judith and Beverly; a son, William III; a brother, Robert J. and two sisters, Miss Alice McKim of Sanford, and Mrs. Mary Turner of Ocala.
