Most Severe Battle Of Shanghai Front Is Going Against China

Tremendous Assault Of Reinforced Jap Army Pushing Back Defending Soldiers

SHANGHAI, Mar. 1.—(A.P.)—Japanese officials claimed today the entire Chinese line from Chapi through the western environs of Kiangwan to Min-changchen was driven back by their forces in the most terrific battle the Shanghai front has seen.

Backed by 12,000 reinforcements, the Japanese began a tremendous assault along the whole front. They used artillery, airplanes, machine guns, and tanks in the great push which Tokyo expected to defeat the Chinese sooner than the League of Nations' peace proposals could become operative.

A terrific explosion which shook the entire city occurred when two mines blew up near two Japanese warships without effect. The Japanese lines struck with fury unknown heretofore in the conflict and claimed an advance of more than a mile.

Seven hundred wounded Chinese were brought back from the front into the crowded settlement hospitals. A spokesman for the Japanese intimated their casualties also were heavy.

Japanese howitzers in Hongkew Park, within the International Settlement, shelled the Chinese positions, despite the Chinese protest, which machine gun fire answered. The Japs kept up their shelling.

At 5 A. M. a wave of Chinese infantrymen swept across Chapi and by desperate fighting broke down the defense in a surprise attack. The Japanese quickly called for assistance from their big guns and soon blasting shells stopped the assaulting soldiers.

Then the Japanese reformed and put on a counter attack in which they recovered most of the ground they had lost, but the Chinese held on to the Paise bridge, north of Chapi. It was the fourth time they had taken the bridge since the fighting started. They armed it with machine guns and appeared ready to fight it out all day.

The hostilities, which had been going on virtually without interruption since early Monday, heightened with the clearing of the smoky Japanese atmosphere. Upward of a dozen Japanese airplanes were seen.

Al Smith Consents To Use Of His Name

BOSTON, Mar. 1.—(A.P.)—Alfred Smith's consent for the use of his name by candidates for delegates to the Democratic national convention from Massachusetts was received today by Frank Donahue, Democratic state chairman. Smith said he understood this was a technical requirement. The action will permit the entry of a slate of candidates for delegates pledged to the former New York governor and presidential nominee in 1928. It is in line with his recent statement of policy.

TO ATTEND FUNERAL

All members of the Masonic order are requested to meet at the Masonic Temple tomorrow afternoon at 1:45 o'clock from where they will proceed to the First Methodist Church to attend the funeral of J. E. Mettinger, a member of the order.

The men, who were from North Carolina, were in the city looking for a man who had been reported missing for three years. PEACE EFFORTS IN FAR EAST ARE LOOKING BRIGHT

Parley Agreed To For Arranging Terms Of Final Settlement

GENEVA, Mar. 1.—(A.P.)—The Japanese and Chinese delegates to the League of Nations Council last night accepted a proposal for truce at Shanghai and an international conference to arrange terms for a final settlement of the conflict.

The United States, Great Britain, France and Italy—as well as Japan and China—are participating in this new move to halt the warfare in the Shanghai area. In hopeful tones both Naitoku Sato and Dr. W. W. Yen, the Japanese and Chinese council delegates, gave their support to the peace project and promised to recommend its immediate acceptance.

The attitude of the Japanese representative was in marked contrast to the position Japan has taken in the past. Hitherto Tokyo has insisted that Chinese withdrawal must precede Japanese evacuation and Tokyo has declared against participation by neutral powers in peace negotiations.

Although the memorandum did not specify an immediate armistice, Sir John Simon, British foreign secretary, said that "United States" (Continued on Page Five)

Mettinger Rites Will Be Held At Church Tomorrow

Funeral services for J. E. Mettinger, 70, former Sanford business man who died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. W. L. Morgan, early yesterday afternoon, will be held from the First Methodist Church at 2:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. The Rev. Dr. E. O. Heath, of Jacksonville; Rev. Carroll Varner, of the First Methodist Church, and Rev. E. D. Brownlee, of the First Presbyterian Church will officiate. Burial will be in Evergreen Cemetery under the direction of the Erickson Funeral Home.

Members of the Masonic order will participate in brief ceremonies at the grave. The honorary pallbearers will be: F. R. Forster, L. R. Phillips, C. M. Hand, O. J. Pope, S. U. Chan, J. A. Takach, and the active pallbearers will be: F. H. Adams, L. Miller, H. C. Haskins, F. J. Gonzalez, J. D. Jenkins, and E. B. Brady.

Mr. Mettinger was born in Philadelphia, Mar. 9, 1861, and came to Sanford in 1881 to become an employee of the Florida Land and Colonization Co. He became associated in business with a friend later in the '80s, and later established a dry goods and department store which he operated until 1919 when he sold his interests, and moved to Jacksonville in 1920.

During his nearly 40 years' residence in Sanford, Mr. Mettinger became one of its most prominent residents, particularly in church work. A large memorial window in the local Methodist Church, erected in 1914, is a tribute to his 50 years' service as superintendent of the Sunday school. Since his residence in Jacksonville, Mr. Mettinger has been known as one of the most faithful laymen in that city, and his death was received with deep regret by the pastor and members of that congregation, as well as his numerous friends in this county.

He is survived by his widow, two daughters, Mrs. W. L. Morgan, Sanford, and Miss Ruth Mettinger, Jacksonville, and a grandson, John Mettinger Morgan, of Sanford.

MOBILIZATION OF NAVY SCHEDULED IN PACIFIC OCEAN

202 Fighting Vessels Will Be Collected West Of Canal Zone

WASHINGTON, Mar. 1.—(A.P.)—The might of the American navy is being mobilized in the Pacific.

Under orders disclosed yesterday, 10 warships will pass through the Panama canal to join the powerful fleet which soon will hold maneuvers in defense of the Pacific coast. This will bring to 202 the fighting ships flying the American flag west of the canal.

The unexpected move, representing the first time that the special service and training squadrons have been directed into such maneuvers, attracted widespread attention. "Asked if there was any relation between the sudden orders and the Far Eastern situation, navy officials replied their latest reports showed an easing of tension in the orient and emphasized a statement by Admiral Pratt, chief of naval operations, that a plan for such a ship movement had been "under consideration since maneuvers were first announced."

Announcement of the maneuvers was made by Admiral Pratt in testimony before a House committee in January a year ago. The 202 vessels that will be concentrated in Pacific waters before long are made up of 12 battleships, 17 cruisers, 33 submarines, 11 destroyers, three aircraft carriers, and 150 other vessels.

Students Leave To Take Part In Meet Held In Gainesville

Miss Eloise Winn, Miss Georgia Hart, and Forrest May, students at Seminole High School, left for Gainesville this morning, accompanied by Mrs. J. M. Stinebaugh, of the faculty. There they will participate in the state-wide Academic Tournament sponsored by the General Extension Division of the University of Florida, and will compete in three different divisions against representative scholars from all over Florida.

Each was the winner of first place in district contest held at Deland last week. Each was sent to Gainesville with the well wishes of the entire student body, and each is declared to have a splendid opportunity of winning state honors.

Miss Winn will read a passage from "Mark Twain" in the declamation contest; Miss Hart will take a written examination in Algebra in that contest, and Mr. May will deliver his oration, "George Washington and the Constitution," which he wrote. Miss Winn and Mr. May will be in semifinal competition tomorrow morning at 10:00 o'clock, and if successful will be in finals Thursday at 2:00 o'clock.

Big Saving Expected In Rate Cut On Citrus

TAMPA, Mar. 1.—(A.P.)—The Southwest Chronicle, Florida Citrus Exchange periodical, today said that citrus shipping companies have reduced citrus freight rates 10 cents a box between Florida and northern terminals. It said that grapefruit canning is only a fourth of what it was last year and that fruit in Florida in mid-February is approximately 22.00 cents.

J. E. Dow, Exchange traffic manager, anticipated that the 10 percent railroad rate cut for the northeastern territory made last month would save growers a million dollars in the rest of this season. Reductions by steam lines he said would add hundreds of thousands to the savings. The reductions will affect approximately 50 percent of its rail and water shipments from Florida.

HOUSE VOTE ON DRY ISSUE IS ASSURED

Wet Bloc Obtain Necessary Signatures On Petition Which Will Be Showdown

WASHINGTON, Mar. 1.—(A.P.)—A House vote on the consideration of a state and local liquor control plan was assured today when the wet bloc obtained the necessary 115 signatures on a petition to take the measure away from the Judiciary Committee.

The vote was expected to show the House lineup on prohibition for the first time in years. What it will be remained to be decided. The first day on which it will be possible to bring the suggested constitutional amendment up for a vote, however, will be Mar. 16.

Representative Mansfield, Texas Democrat, was the 115 House member to sign. The vote will determine whether the House wants to consider the proposal sponsored by both Democratic and Republican wet blocs.

A revision of the national criminal procedure to block the escape of law breakers through legal delay and technicalities was urged upon Congress yesterday by President Hoover. Simultaneously, he advocated a wholesale remodeling of the federal bankruptcy law.

In addition, in one brief paragraph of a special law enforcement message, the President spoke of prohibition for the first time since the completion of the Wickard report.

Pursuing his idea that the national capital should be a model enforcement city, he asked prompt action upon his previous suggestions for additional dry law enforcement here. One phase of his plan would have the local police force clothed with the authority of federal dry agents.

The special message drew prompt reaction in Congress. Senator Hastings introduced a bill to carry out the recommendations. Chairman Sumners of the House Judiciary Committee announced that within two weeks hearings would begin looking toward "a complete overhauling of the bankruptcy laws."

The Chief Executive said the increase in crime in the United States "is and must be a subject of concern to the government and to every well-disposed citizen." He pleaded for increased law observance.

"We must all keep before us the thought," he said, "that effective administration of the law in a republic requires not only adequate and proper machinery, honest and capable officials, but above all, a citizenry imbued with respect for law."

Here are the President's suggestions for revising federal criminal procedure:

The supreme court would write a series of uniform rules designed to speed criminal appeals. Legislation would be enacted permitting accused persons to (Continued on Page Four)

SOLOMON URGES FULL PAYMENT TO WAR VETS

Has Bond Issue Plan Which He Says Will Assist Much In Circulation Of Money

WASHINGTON, Mar. 1.—(A.P.)—Immediate full payment of World War veterans' adjusted service certificates was proposed today by Senator Thomas, Oklahoma, under a bond issue plan which he said would greatly increase the amount of money in circulation.

Congress hauled down its "politics adjourned" flag yesterday and entered the presidential campaign debate with a bang.

In the Senate, "Tall Tom" Connally of Texas denounced George Moses of New Hampshire for what he termed a "savage attack" on Speaker Garner over the week-end. He reiterated the Garner claim that President Hoover and the administration were responsible for hard times and warned that the period of cooperation on legislation was over except, perhaps, in the case of the tax bill.

In the House, Representative McDuffie of Alabama, Democratic whip, issued a 600 word statement suggesting Garner as the man to nominate to avoid a deadlock Democratic convention and another "Madison Square Garden" type.

Outside the Washington political arena attention was drawn to New York reports of a secret conference between Alfred E. Smith and New York and New England Democratic leaders friendly to his possible candidacy.

Although Smith's office said such a conference was not on the day's calendar, it was understood he might be preparing a statement to Massachusetts Democrats outlining his position and in effect asking for support in the primary. So far Smith has said he would make no pre-convention campaign for the nomination.

Samuel Seabury, counsel to the New York legislative investigating committee, denied any political ambitions in his Cincinnati anti-Tammany speech; Governor Murray of Oklahoma announced he would make seven campaign speeches in North Dakota this week to advance his own candidacy, but said he may change his mind about stamping Georgia, and a Fort Worth pamphlet endorsing (Continued on Page Three)

Court Orders Pryor To Appear Before It

TALLAHASSEE, Mar. 1.—(A.P.)—The supreme court today issued a quo warranto writ directing R. E. L. Pryor, Tampa, to appear Mar. 11 and show by what authority he acted as a member and chairman of the Republican state executive committee.

The writ was on application of Glen Skipper, Republican national committeeman, and other members of a faction which opposes Pryor and his associates within the party.

Skipper, recently challenged Pryor's rights to membership on the committee claiming Pryor forfeited all claims resulting from the last election. He quoted an opinion from the attorney general to back up his view.

The youth was brought to the Fernand-Laughton Memorial hospital last yesterday by a motorist who had knocked the youth from a bicycle he was driving along the Sanford-Orlando highway. The case was reported to the sheriff's office, and there it was discovered that his description answered to one on a photograph sent out from Yonkers by the youth's father some weeks ago, and on file with Chief of Police Roy Q. Williams.

According to the information on the photograph, Julius Cohen, age 16, left home on Jan. 5, 1932, for no reason, and has been missing. He is described as being 16 years of age; five feet, six inches in height; weighs 135 pounds, and has black hair and a dark complexion. His father, I. Cohen, of 106 Highland Ave., Yonkers, offers to pay all expenses in connection with his being returned to his home. He answers all the descriptions but denies that he is the youth in question.

Sanford Flowers

A Little Chat With The Secretary Of The Seminole County Chamber Of Commerce

The President of the Sanford Woman's Club was in Greenwood, S. C., last month and had occasion to step into a florist shop and saw what she considered the most beautiful gladiolus that she had ever seen. She complimented the florist on this wonderful bloom and asked where they came from. To her surprise he said Sanford, Florida. He said that he was securing a regular supply through B. F. Whitner. She then admired some wonderful Asparagus Plumosus ferns. The florist said, "And this came from Florida, too. They are from Fern Park." Mrs. Langley was so delighted to find that both the flowers and the ferns had come from Seminole County that when she came home she reported the incident to the Chamber of Commerce.

Many of our people do not realize that this county produces some of the finest and best flowers and ferns to be found in the United States. These ferns, flowers and bulbs are shipped not only all over the United States, but to many foreign countries as well. A great many thousands of dollars are brought annually to the growers in this county from the sale of our bulbs, ferns and flowers.

HOUSE CHAIRMAN URGES UNSEATING OF J. H. BANKHEAD

WASHINGTON, Mar. 1.—(A.P.)—A report recommending that Senator John H. Bankhead of Alabama, be unseated has been prepared for the Senate elections subcommittee considering the contest against his election by Chairman Hastings.

The report will be submitted to the subcommittee this week, but must be approved by that group and the full committee before reaching the Senate.

Hastings' recommendation is based upon charges of widespread violations of election laws in Alabama's 1930 senatorial contest.

In a former report to the committee he said the election laws had not been fully complied with in a single voting place in the state and pointed to "a combination of the circumstances which would satisfy a reasonable person that some fraud had been committed."

Hastings expects to submit the report to the subcommittee Friday.

It is a voluminous document, including in addition to Hastings' recommendations, a summary of the evidence collected by the committee in the contest brought against Bankhead's election by J. Thomas Heflin, Alabama's colorful former senator.

Missing Yonkers Youth May Be One Being Held Here

A youth believed to be Julius Cohen, 16, of Yonkers, N. Y., missing from that city since Jan. 5, is being detained in the Seminole County Jail while Sheriff J. P. McClelland investigates several claims he has told, and information he had received from Yonkers some days ago.

The youth was brought to the Fernand-Laughton Memorial hospital last yesterday by a motorist who had knocked the youth from a bicycle he was driving along the Sanford-Orlando highway. The case was reported to the sheriff's office, and there it was discovered that his description answered to one on a photograph sent out from Yonkers by the youth's father some weeks ago, and on file with Chief of Police Roy Q. TRADE BOOST IDEA MEETING WITH SUCCESS

Two Of Dollar Bills Are Returned After Going Through Fin- gers Of 21 Persons

Two of the eleven dollar bills which were spent in Seminole County or Sanford stores by prominent business and civic leaders early this morning, to inaugurate the "Spend Seminole County Dollars At Home" campaign, were returned to the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce office slightly more than an hour after they had been spent.

The folder attached to each dollar contained the names of 21 persons into whose hands the dollar had fallen during the hour after which it was first spent, giving trade body officials every reason to believe that the campaign will meet with considerable success as it progresses, and that much benefit will be derived in the matter of stimulating business and trading at home.

The first dollar returned was that spent by S. G. Gray, president of the Sanford Rotary Club, at Haynes and Ratliff's at 6:48 o'clock. It was returned to Mrs. Gray at 8:30 o'clock after it had been used to make 17 different purchases and had been paid on four old accounts.

Here are the persons through whose hands the Rotary dollar passed in an hour and five minutes: S. G. Gray, W. M. Haynes, E. D. Moley, Rocky Tire Shop, B. L. Perkins, Max Stewart, G. Gray, B. L. Perkins, E. D. Moley, The Amokkous, R. W. Blackley, Lancy's Drug Store, Pigeon-Wigley, Woodruff and Watson, Jewell's, S. G. Gray, H. B. Pope Co., Welch Tire Shop, Campbell Drug Co., and Pio-Pave Cola Bottling Company.

Max Stewart, president of the Sanford Lions Club, spent the Lions Club dollar at the Bulch Garage, and before it was returned within an hour and a half, it had passed through the following hands: Max Stewart, Bulch Garage, Seminole Dry Cleaners, Rader's, H. B. Pope Co., W. D. Hoffmann, C. E. Powell, E. A. Brotherson, E. L. Perkins, Rocky's Tire Shop, Spear & Sons, Mildred Bridges, W. S. Coleman, Max Stewart, United Pharmacy, Roumillat and Anderson, Roy Heller, H. M. Watson, and Max Stewart.

Merchants and individuals are urged to lend a hand in making this campaign a success, either by seeing that when a dollar attached to the special folder is presented, it is spent or handed out as change, as soon as possible, or by calling at the trade body offices to secure a supply of folders which may be attached to dollar bills running in cash drawers during the day to be used for purchases or in making change.

The plan will succeed only by the buying public within 15 minutes. Max Stewart, president of the trade body, said this morning. He urged all to keep dollars moving as fast as they are received, and that all unusual incidents in connection with their use in new purchases or in payment of old accounts be reported at the trade body offices.

As an instance of the possibilities of the plan, one of the dollars spent this morning purchased an article which the merchant declared he would probably have sold in some time. "I made a profit of 50 percent on the transaction," he is reported as having said, "and if this act is repeated in every store in town daily, the merchants will certainly have benefited."

TRADE BODY MEET
There will be a meeting of the Executive and Budget and Finance committees of the Seminole County Chamber of Commerce at 7 o'clock. All members of each committee are urged to be present. Many matters of importance to the trade body.

CAMPBELL GOES BACK NOT HAPPY OVER HIS EFFORT

He Says Achievement At Beach This Year Didn't Satisfy Him

DAYTONA BEACH, Feb. 29.—(A.P.)—More than 30 years behind the wheel of a racing car at full throttle, on the roaring road of three continents, seems merely to have stimulated the appetite of Sir Malcolm Campbell for more speed.

The British driver's latest and greatest achievement here has not satisfied him by a long shot, even though they include a new mile record of nearly 250 miles per hour and four other notable world records.

He sailed back to England with his Blue Bird II supreme as the speed king on land, the only man ever to pilot an automobile over Daytona Beach's famous measured mile at an average two-way speed of better than four miles a minute. But he won't be satisfied, he said, until he does this "speck of space" at the rate of five miles a minute or 100 miles an hour. This would mean exactly 12 seconds for the mile, if you can grasp the idea which seems all quite simple, a matter of "luck" and conditions to Sir Malcolm.

He probably will have to build another machine if he does. He has already spent more than $100,000 on the Blue Bird but the best that he likely can even get out of this car, under perfect conditions, is somewhere between 250 and 260 miles an hour.

What does the driver think about such speeds?

Nothing much except to keep a firm hold on the wheel, his eyes glued to the marker flags along the course and his foot on the floor. The chances for a view of the scenery are minimized.

"I've got to keep my eyes straight ahead," explains Campbell, "it would be fatal to turn my head to either side, although I can glance down a moment to see what my water gauge or tachometer is registering."

"I might not identify you if you were standing on the course," he added, "but I would recall you had been there if you told me the spot afterward."

With something of an enthusiasm that his listeners failed to share, Sir Malcolm described the thrill of standing within, say, 15 or 20 feet of the race course and watching a machine such as the Blue Bird II approach at a speed of around 250 miles an hour.

"That's the only way to get the real thrill of it," he remarked. The suggestion was placed on file, not for future reference.

When Campbell lets his machine out at what he calls "full ball" elaborate arrangements are made for accidents or emergencies along the beach, but no thoughts of danger lurk in this slim Briton's mind. He has been at the game so long that he shrugs off any considerations of peril beyond the hazards of wind and surface that he nearly always has to face.

Sir Malcolm has had few accidents. His most serious mishap was in an airplane crash in South Africa, not in one of his racing machines. He has beaten the world mile record eight times altogether, doubling his own speed within the space of a dozen years. He has roared to world marks five times at Daytona Beach and he will be back again next February.

J. K. Mettinger, Pioneer Resident Of City, Dies

J. K. Mettinger, 70, former Sanford business man and religious leader, died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Walter L. Morgan, early this afternoon after a short illness. Funeral arrangements have not been made, pending the arrival of another daughter, Miss Ruth Mettinger, of Jacksonville.

Mr. Mettinger was born in Philadelphia, Mar. 9, 1861, and came to Sanford in 1881, and lived here until 1920, when he retired from business and moved to Jacksonville, where he had lived since. He was widely known among the pioneer residents of this city and Central Florida. Thirty years of service as superintendent of the Methodist Sunday School is attested in a beautiful stained glass memorial window erected in the honor of the First Methodist Church of Sanford, Life in 1914.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Mettinger, Mrs. W. L. Morgan, Sanford, and Miss Ruth Mettinger, Jacksonville, and a grandson, John Mettinger Morgan, of Sanford.

John McCormack To Give Concert In Orlando On Friday

"So this is Music Week, well, if this is Music Week, what is the poor world to do in the 51 weeks which are not Music Week?" Such was the remark made a short time ago by John McCormack, who will be heard in recital for his first time in Central Florida at the Orlando Municipal Auditorium, Mar. 4, when discussing what is known as Annual Music Week in a great many cities and towns in America.

"For myself," he continued, "ever since I first met the growing audiences throughout America I have known that there is latent in every breast of every hardened or softened citizen, male or female, a genuine love for art. I have found only a few who do not love art, as is well known among musicians. I have adopted what seemed to me to be the logical procedure."

"I have given newcomers to art pleasant, melodic things, and having caught my listeners, have proceeded, warily and systematically, to introduce the better and better things. To the musical educators of America I offer this simple thought: don't think for one moment that there is any body who can't love our art. Don't pretend in your mind that there is a certain class which must be considered as outside the gates of music. There isn't any such thing. I've never met a man who, properly and intelligently approached, cannot be developed to all good music."

Tickets for the coming concert are now on sale at the S. Ernest Phillips and Son Music Store, 134 S. Orange Ave., Orlando, under whose auspices the artist will sing.

Another Attack Is Made On Wife Of U. S. Navy Man

Mrs. Hope, the second naval man's wife to be attacked recently, was alone in her home. Her husband is with a contingent of the fleet sailing for the mainland to participate in naval maneuvers off Southern California.

At the emergency hospital doctors said positively she had been assaulted.

Navy officers joined police in investigating the assault.

As a result of other recent attacks a special session of the territorial legislature has been called and investigations by Congress and the department of justice been ordered.

Greatest attention was attracted by the brutal attack last September upon Mrs. Thalia Masie, wife of a naval officer, by five men. Four suspects are awaiting trial after the first jury disagreed.

Court Affirms Al Capone's Sentence

CHICAGO, Feb. 29.—(A.P.)—Conviction of Scarface Al Capone on charges of evading income tax laws was affirmed today by the United States court of appeals. Since his conviction last October in federal court here, Capone has been in Cook county jail where he was not getting credit on his prison term. Yesterday a marshal placed a guard on his cell because of rumors that he is still controlling his gang and is possibly planning to break if the appeal were denied. Capone was sentenced to 11 years in prison and fined $50,000.

WILLIAM HOWEY TAKES EXCEPTION TO OWEN LETTER

Communication Had To Do With Reimbursements On Fly Loss

W. J. Howey, prominent Florida Republican, has taken exception to a letter by Ruth Bryan Owen, Florida congresswoman, published in The Sanford Herald some weeks ago, and relating to reimbursements for losses sustained during the Mediterranean fruit fly campaign.

Mr. Howey, writing to B. C. Smith, Oviedo, states that while he has the highest regard and respect for Mrs. Owen, in the interests of accuracy and truth he wishes to make public a letter he wrote Mrs. Owen, in which he sets forth what he terms "the facts in the case."

The letter to Mrs. Owen dated Feb. 4, reads as follows: "Replying to your favor of Jan. 20, advising that Secretary Hyde has taken a stand unfavorable to your bill H.R. 6914 and S. 266, and asking that the writer intercede, beg to advise that I will be delighted to do whatever is in my power to help you in having your bill reported out of committee."

"I note you state that the bill was introduced jointly by Senator Trammell and yourself at the instance of our committee. Surely your memory is not so short as not to recall the fact that Senator Trammell had introduced the bill before our committee reached Washington on Dec. 11."

"The purpose of the visit by our committee was one wholly cooperative and helpful, primarily to bring about unanimity so that bills of a different character would not be introduced, which happened in the previous Congress."

"The bill which you introduced in the previous Congress was different from that introduced in the Senate, which would necessarily call for a conference, and your failure to withdraw the bill or at least until the last days of Congress, prevented something going through which would have been helpful, although I see no need for us to take issue about the matter. I consider it water over the dam. What we are concerned about now is a bill which will meet the approval of those parties who can steer its course, and our work was complete after my visit to Washington."

"As stated in the forepart of this letter, the writer will address a letter to Secretary Hyde on the subject in hopes that something may yet be worked out. Newspaper publicity at this time is not going to help the situation one bit, nor is this the time to make excuses or arrange alibis for failure of performances. What we need is solidarity and hard work coupled with a determined effort to get this bill through in the interest of the growers of the state of Florida. They are not and the writer is not interested one bit in the water which has already gone over the dam."

All merchants who receive these dollars during the course of a day's business are urged to write their names on the attached folder, and pass it on in the legitimate channels of trade at once, either in making change or in making a purchase or paying a bill locally.

This is the first of a series of trade promotion events to be staged by the trade body during the month, and the co-operation of the buying public of this county is urged.

ROOSEVELT ASSUMES POST

MANHUA, Feb. 29. (A.P.)—Theodore Roosevelt today became governor general of the Philippine Islands. He side-stepped the delicate perennial subject of Philippine independence in his inaugural address and urged development of the islands until they are economically independent.

County Commissioner Boston Steele will start Dollar No. 10 at Forrest Gatchell's Grocery, and John Mensch, chairman of the board of county commissioners, will start his dollar at the Smith Furniture Co. store.

All merchants who receive these dollars during the course of a day's business are urged to write their names on the attached folder, and pass it on in the legitimate channels of trade at once, either in making change or in making a purchase or paying a bill locally.

This is the first of a series of trade promotion events to be staged by the trade body during the month, and the co-operation of the buying public of this county is urged.

PRAIRIE WOMEN
Should the prairie women are,
With rugged hands and backs that bow
In unrelenting servitude
Above the churn and plow.
Mac ever turn to lighter loves,
With slender breasts and unbound
hair,
And ever follow where the wind
Is gentler and more fair.
While prairie women home at night,
Weary of treading fields forlorn,Stare in their mirrors long, and hate
The tyranny of corn.

This year's standing headline:
"Improvement in business outlook seen." The scene of far-sightedness.

Florida's Canning Industry, is the caption of an editorial, or reprintment as practiced in the business world.

Jacksonville Is Open Door to World, Visitor Declares—Times
Union. Better be careful or the Japanese will get you!

The silver lining to the clouds of this depression can be found in the gray hair of most any business man these days.

When the Shanghai fighting started the Japanese said they were trying to save their faces;
now they would be satisfied to save their necks.

It is said that most of the newspapers of Florida are supporting John Martin for governor, so it becomes increasingly apparent that Hardie will be nominated.

Isn't it funny, the very man who objects to his name appearing in a police court story because the widespread publicity might damage his business, refuses to advertise because he says it doesn't pay.

Secretary Stimson is being severely criticized for his voluminous note writing with regard to the Japanese situation. As we recall it, however, our old friend Woodrow Wilson originated that custom.

Bandits holding up a Miami gambling club recently found two cops eating dinner in the kitchen.
We wonder how the cops, when the shooting started, knew whether to shoot the bandits for attempted robbery, or the club operators for running a gambling joint.

Visitor the other day was talking about next year and he said
President Newton D. Baker would make things hum in the United States. I wonder whether he gets that President Newton D. Baker still—Miami Post,

A St. Petersburg man was described as wouldn't get caught in a bank or a crazy stock market. He several hundred dollars he had saved for a rainy day in an old sock in his attic.
His house caught fire and his money burned up—proving that it doesn't always pay to hoard.

My wife doesn't mean a word to L. D. Morgan. He resigned from the Sanford Commission because he was given the same amount of money as he was given as will draw only $1000 per month. He thinks it is a disgrace.

The Washington Centennial
Everyone has heard of the Washington Bicentennial Celebration which began on Washington's Birthday this year and will last until Thanksgiving Day. But not everyone is thoroughly familiar with the facts concerning it. The following items are listed for the convenience of our readers in understanding exactly what it is all about:

1. It is sponsored by the United States Government; Congress created the United States George Washington Bicentennial Commission and the President of the United States is its chairman.
2. It will not be a world's fair or exposition, and it will not be held in any one place.
3. It will be a nation-wide, even a world-wide series of celebrations in which every state, city and town—every organization and institution, every home and individual—in this country, together with Americans and others in many foreign countries, will participate. Every community is expected to plan and carry out its own program of events, in cooperation with the United States Commission and the State Commissions.
4. It will last from Washington's Birthday, February 22, 1932, to Thanksgiving Day, November 24, 1932, with special local and national celebrations everywhere on all holidays, anniversaries, or other days which can be connected with the life of George Washington.
5. While the ceremonies on February 22 should be especially elaborate and impressive, as marking the actual Two Hundredth Anniversary of George Washington's Birth, arrangements also should be made for public gatherings, pageants, plays, processions, musical festivals, tableaux and other events at various times during the entire period of more than nine months. Every program should relate to the great life and work of the First President and Founder of the Republic. On Memorial Day, Independence Day, Labor Day, Thanksgiving Day and other national and local holidays or anniversaries there should be special programs, but the celebration should not be confined to these days.
6. It will take time to prepare the local programs and arrange for the local celebrations. The United States Commission urges mayors and other officials of every city and town in the country to appoint George Washington Bicentennial Commissions or Committees in order to prepare for the events of the Bicentennial Year.
7. All organizations and institutions of whatever character—civil, business, labor, educational, religious, fraternal, literary, social and others—are urged to plan for a "George Washington Year" in 1932.
8. The United States George Washington Bicentennial Commission, Washington Building, Washington, D. C., will send suggestions for local programs to any committee, organization or group that will write for them.

Empty Phrases
With the approach of another election, the melting pot of campaign platforms and slogans, of antiquated political verbiage and stale jokes, is beginning to boil, and even now we can detect the faint echo of the same old moth-eaten expressions, generally given out in election propaganda and speeches as new stuff.

Most candidates, if not all, will have some favorite panacea for public ills. They will, above all else, emphasize economy in government and lower taxes, because that is the cry of the hour. They will call for greater efficiency in the administration of public duties, and will expound at length upon the principle that a public office is a public trust.

Most of them will tell us of their early lives, of how they started from scratch, and worked themselves up to a place in the world. They will say they are not seeking office because of any financial remuneration but because of a real patriotic desire to be of service, or because their friends were impatient.

All of this is to be expected. All candidates for public office have been saying these things since the first election was ever held, and it is no discredit to them that they attempt to offer their solutions for public problems, even if these solutions are age-worn. And it is no reflection upon them if they recite facts surrounding their lives.

However, so far as the voter is concerned these things should be of little significance. Any average child knows that lower taxes, economy, and honesty in government are among the things which this country needs most. But naming the men to bring such things about is the difficult question. There is no sure formula for this, but there is one way of more nearly approaching it, and that is to elect men upon their established reputations and not upon what they tell you.

A man's reputation in his business and private life is the best gauge as to his ability to attain the acknowledged objectives of good government. If a candidate is successful in his own business, it is reasonable that he can be successful with the public's business. If he is honest personally, it is fair to assume that he will carry that quality with him into public office.

SANFORD, TWENTY YEARS AGO
Bert Franklin, former United States marshal, who was indicted for attempting to bribe jurors in the McNamara case, pleaded guilty in court and will be sentenced next Friday. The plea of guilty entered by Franklin is not so important in reference to him as it is in its probable effect on the chances of Clarence S. Darrow, who was chief counsel for the McNamara and who is under indictment as having inspired the bribery and employing Franklin and others to do the actual work.

Just now we are concerned with celery and lettuce, the two crops that made us famous and made so many fake lands infamous. This week Sanford ships 20 car loads of celery and 20 car loads of lettuce, and at the lowest possible estimate the 40 cars will total $30,000. A Dorner on Celery Avenue cuts 20 acres that will bring him over $30,000. One grower was offered on Monday, $2,000 for one and one-half acres, and accepted.

Doc Abernathy has been busy since his return day before yesterday from the south looking over the local political field, and as a result of his observations has announced that he will not be in the race for County Treasurer in 1922. He has given up the idea of running for office because he has seen the way the game is played.

Trance now would be too late, in his opinion, to be effective.

Arthur Dickies was wounded in the leg last week by the accidental discharge of a rifle in the hands of a boy companion. The latest account today is that he is feeling easily and will recover without any bad effects from the wound.

Judge William Martin, of Orlando, circulated among the voters on Wednesday night here with a self-satisfied smile that means he has no opposition for the position of county judge.

Mrs. E. G. Turner, of Tampa, is the guest of her daughter, Mrs. R. J. Hall, at her home on Sanford Heights.

Hon. Arthur Donagan, candidate for State senator, was making hands with his many Sanford friends last week.

RELATIONS RENewed
NANKING, Mar. 1.—(A.P.)—The Chinese government today declared to resume full diplomatic relations with Soviet Russia which were severed in 1920, when the Chinese and Russians were fighting in Northern Manchuria. The decision is believed to have been brought about by the fact that the Chinese government has been forced to recognize the Soviet government in order to secure peace in the Far East.

IN TIMES OF ADVERSITY, CONSIDER
FLORIDA CITRUS INDUSTRY

Florida citrus growers today are suffering, particularly those whose groves are mostly grapefruit and tangerine. Many of them have been receiving at Clearing House prices for their fruit that are well below the market value. Some growers have called on the Clearing House, making the same demand. We have been warned that growers generally have reached that point where they consider patience no longer a virtue. Several efforts have been made of the two grower cooperatives, namely, the Exchange and ourselves, for failing to better cope with the deplorable situation existing in grapefruit and tangerine.

We are in full accord with these insistent demands. That more is not being done is a reflection on Florida's industry in which the Clearing House must bear its full share of responsibility.

What can be done with the industry, split as it is, constantly forcing itself upon us. There is but one solution. That solution is for the citrus industry to come back to first principles and again recognize as it did three or four years ago that the industry as a whole must work together. It must recognize that one organization must be authorized to unite competing interests, so far as possible, along simple fundamental lines, including a sensible control of supplies to auction centers and a building of a greater consumer demand for Florida citrus products by the industry as a whole advertising a properly standardized product. This one organization should be a fact-finding body disseminating to the entire industry the combined action of all marketing agencies in their daily effort and making that information immediately available to the uninformed and uneducated competitor. The most sensitive group of agencies in adjusting prices to the true pulse of the situation, the less extreme will be the variation of prices. That is price stabilization.

For all these purposes the Clearing House was originally created. Its power for good right now would be nullified if it had the backing of the industry or even of 75 or 80 percent of it.
Lacking that backing it is doing the next best thing it can, in using its influence with that of the Exchange and those outside that will join, in meeting the emergency immediately confronting grapefruit growers and shippers with a program attempting to reasonably control grapefruit supply. It is also hoped that a joint advertising program on grapefruit may be made immediately possible in which not only the Exchange and the Clearing House will join, but other leading shippers or growers as well.

It is too late for a united effort on tangerines. It is not too late on grapefruit. Nearly half the crop is left, and we are making some progress. It is only because we seek to such depths that we have learned our lesson on grapefruit. The logic of the situation should show the necessity of working together on all varieties.
If the Clearing House is not the solution, our Board of Directors
are in that open frame of mind
to see some better solution.

It is time we are aroused. It is right that the Florida grower voice his protest. Cohesion rather than chaos is demanded. We will either pull ourselves together or we will pull ourselves apart. The industry has "come back" qualities. It must come back to first principles. If in coming back to first principles a better plan than the Clearing House can be evolved,
it is time to present such a plan.
It is time to force real thinking and with it we believe will come a general recognition of the necessity of joining all interests in one body and that the Clearing House is the logical

WILD CHILDREN
NEW YORK HERALD-TRIBUNE

There are wild children in more countries than Russia, we gather.
The extreme of revolutionary dis-location produced the roaming bands which an excellent Soviet picture has now portrayed. But there are other dislocations. There are mental and spiritual ones, for example, as Mr. C. Patrick Thompson's article in a recent issue of the Herald Tribune Magazine made clear for England. No less a leader than the Prince of Wales has been chosen to lead a youth movement, designed to stiffen spines, restore energy and end a moral slump. Hardly less momentous, there follows a cartoon in "Punch," by Mr. Bernard Partridge, "The Charley Call," a suitable quotation from Emerson about duty, whispering low and youth replying:

Is it sacrilege to include Mr.
Alfred Huxley in the same scene?
The intellectual hero of a generation—or at least of a highly intellectual part of a generation—cannot be lightly grouped with Moustapha, the Tatar hero of the Russian film, who was immortalized by a grinning, wild girl and a mellow hero by kindness and hard work. Yet the points of resemblance path forward.

There is the important item of mischievous, for example, The tricks played by the wild boys of Russia formed a large part of their remark. These were thoroughly real and destructive—slitting off the dresses of ladies, for example, for the amusement afforded by their embarrassment.
Similarly, the most entertaining moments in Mr. Huxley's latest volume have precisely the same quality of antic impropriety. The equal parts of ingenuity and valgarity are present in both.

The wild children are, of course, completely anti-social—if one may apply a technical term of the reformers to such treasures of nature. Their hand is not only against ladies' fur coats, but against every other institution of respectability. But it would not be difficult, with the aid of Mr. Heywood Brown to build a similar indictment against Mr. Huxley; for his "Brave New World" jeers at practically everything that Mr.
Brown applauds, from communism to sex freedom. That the best thing to do with the world, new or old, would be to throw it away is the conclusion brilliantly driven home—whichever, after all, is exactly what the children of Russia seek to do with all their might.

For a final comparison, it is worth noting that the Russian film is a fairy tale with a happy ending. The wild children are so thoroughly redeemed that they even become a trifle priggish. No such fate seems likely to overtake Mr. Huxley for several books to come. Yet the news of Mr. Noel Coward's latest play shows how the tide is setting. Who would have thought that this arch satirist would suddenly go romantically imperialist? Yet such seems to be the drift of "Cavalcade." Perhaps one should not be too confident of Mr. Huxley's natural depravity.
The first long stretch of his life
was spent in exhibiting the Old World in all its naked absurdity.
Then he demonstrated the futility of the New World at the ripe old age of thirty-seven, anything may happen. The world goes full circle while one watches—from hope to despair and back again. Why not Huxley into Kipling.

HITLER VS. HINDENBURG
CHRISTIAN SCIENCE MONITOR

The entrance of Adolf Hitler
into the German presidential race
as the chief opponent of President von Hindenburg insured a spectacle campaign in the days that remain before Mar. 13, when some 30,000,000 voters will go to the polls. The former Austrian citizen and one-time Bavarian landesherzog can be depended upon for fireworks.

Indeed, it is likely that one of his reasons for entering the lists
is a somewhat disadvantageous time is the possibility of gaining a wider audience for his exciting speeches. As a candidate for the presidency he may enjoy certain advantages in his "educational" campaign, although the time he spends in the election is likely to be too, that Herr Hitler cannot that he has a good prospect of success, although that is not the main reason for his entry.

The general opinion is that the President of the Weimar Republic is in a position to win the election in a practical sense. And Herr Hitler will labor not only under the disadvantage of personally opposing the man who has come to be a patriotic symbol for many Germans otherwise leaning toward more extreme nationalism, but he will be himself opposed by the Hindenburg Nationalists and the Communists.

In the Netherlands these opposition elements all combine against Gerrit Klaar. Hindenburg's moderate policy in the election they will be difficult. Thus it becomes a question not of a united front against Hindenburg but of a divided front against Hindenburg. The possibility remains, of course, that if there is no outright majority in the first vote the opposition parties would unite behind Hitler for the run-off contest which is provided in such cases.

This would require Herr Hitler's acceptance for "educational"
work and might lead him to work
the main opposition groups in deeper alliance. The National Socialists may wish also in success.

Political Truce That Aided Relief Legislation About Over

By CECIL B. HICKSON
WASHINGTON, Mar. 3. (A.P.)—The informal political truce that expedited relief legislation in the House and Senate in the emergency days of last year has broken down in both law bodies.

EXCITEMENT IS THRILLING but ACCURACY is Fundamental

When aroused human emotions play an important part in a vital event, the excitement surrounding it is an interesting angle of news. The confusion of such an occasion makes the assignment doubly difficult for the conscientious reporter, who must convey to his readers a true picture of the situation. He may not allow momentary hysteria to overshadow its true significance in his dispatches.

The Associated Press staff, through experience and background, is trained to cope with these emergencies. This association's editors and reporters are experts in distinguishing between the material and immaterial, rumors and realities, biased propaganda and substantiated truths. Their stories present every significant angle in its proper light.

The Associated Press serves no interest of economics, politics or religion. Its scrupulous observance of the founders' mandate of unvarying fairness has won universal confidence and respect.

TEACHERS AGAIN SEEK TO CREATE CABINET OFFICE

Governmental Recognition Is Sought By Educators At Meet

WASHINGTON, Mar. 1.—School masters of the nation have organized to urge again the creation of a Federal Department of Education with a secretary in the President's cabinet. The National Education Association has set up an exhibit at the school equipment show of the department of superintendence of the association and from this booth in Washington Auditorium is pressing with new vigor a plea for governmental recognition of education.

The National Education Association has induced the proposal at every annual convention since 1917, but the historic demand first was urged by teachers in 1867. The latest step to create a department of education is embodied in a bill introduced by Representative A. A. Reed, of New York. The proposal would create a new department which would transfer from the secretary of the interior authority over land grant colleges and some other institutions and would abolish the Federal Board for Vocational Education and transfer its activities to the new department.

The bill is the legislative answer to the report of a November 1929 committee of the national advisory committee on education, which was organized by the new federal department. The committee was appointed by President Hoover in 1929 and after an intensive study announced findings which evoked on favorable acclaim among teachers. Because of the traditional demand it is known that the association is unlikely to support any bill that does not call for a chair in the President's cabinet. Mrs. Williams made it known that both the Reed bill and the report of the advisory committee on education are eminently satisfactory in this respect.

The report of the National Advisory Committee directed by Dr. Henry S.uzzell, president of the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching, is regarded as one of the greatest documents in American educational history, she said. It will rank with the Monroe Manifesto of another generation.

"Educators are not likely to stand by its findings. It may be the final blow to win victory for our cause."

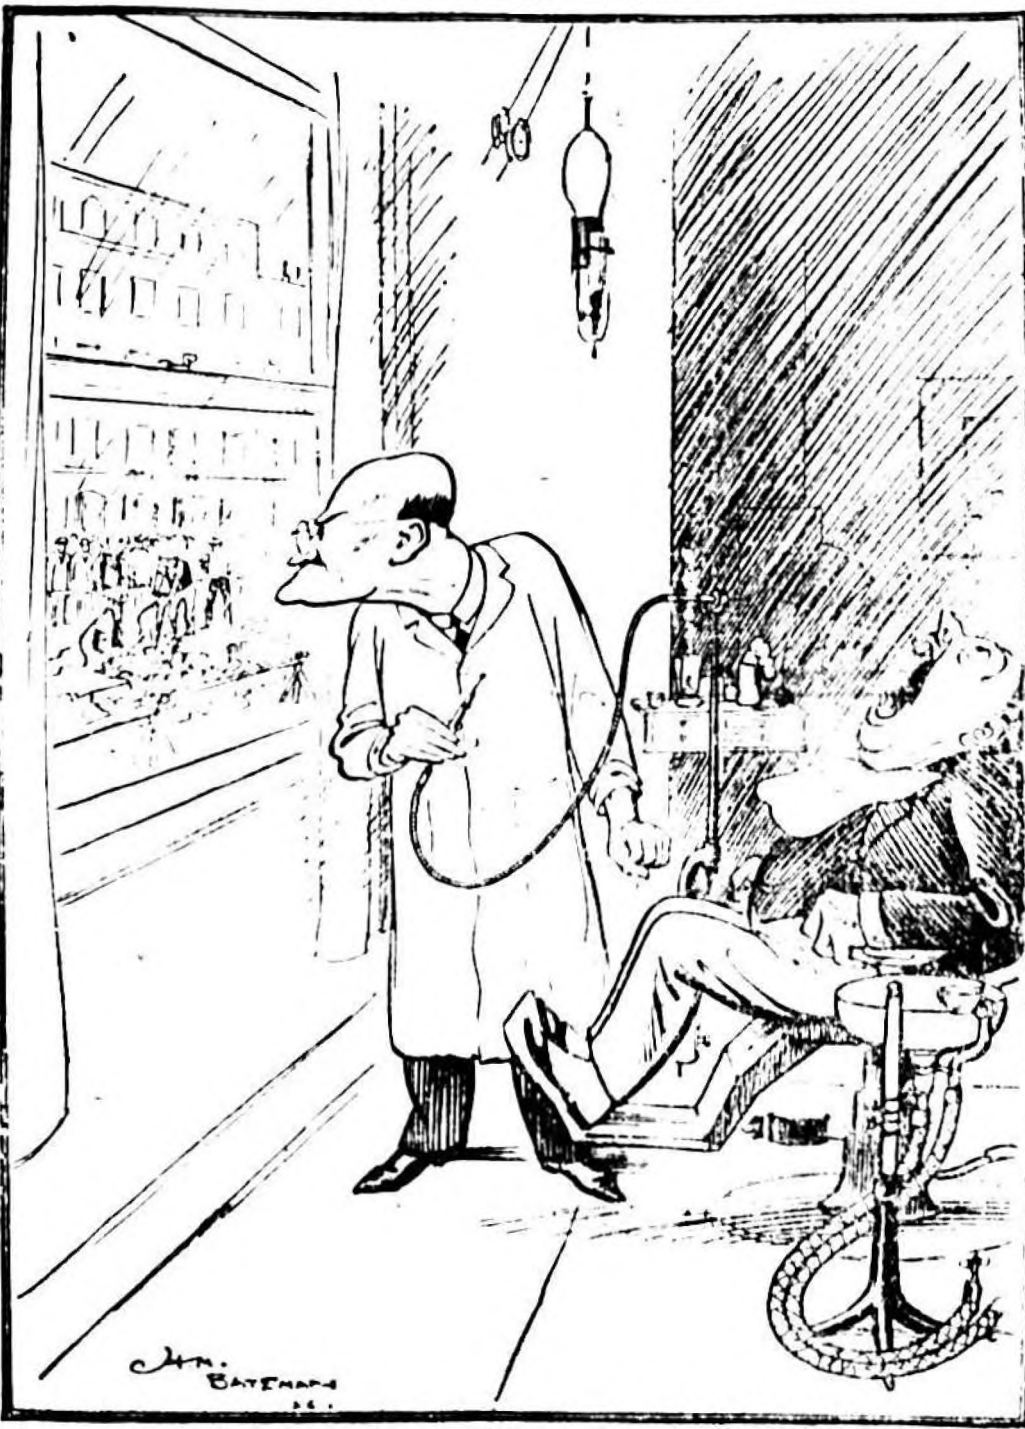

The resolution committee of the association held a preliminary meeting recently and a resolution expressing approval of the report was adopted to be presented Thursday.

It is virtually certain that the association will again urge a separate department of education. Recent pronouncements of President Hoover may, however, lead a section of the convention to think it inadvisable to demand such a cabinet chair. In his message on governmental reorganization a few days ago, the President recommended creation of an assistant Secretary of Education. While the action is not as far-reaching as the association leader, hope to at least ultimately for education, it is a step in that direction and apparently quite pleasing to many school men. Some, however, think the recommendation constitutes rejection of the committee report. Majority opinion at the convention recently was that the association would "stand by its guns," however, and again ask for a secretary of education in the cabinet.
