Taste of Oviedo: How sweet it was

Mmmm! Oviedo tasted soooo good! Thousands turned out for the third annual Taste of Oviedo Saturday, May 2. The Taste consists of restaurants sampling their food entrees, a fine arts and crafts show, an antique car show, the "Citrus & Celery Cook-off" by Citizens Bank of Oviedo, children's activities and live entertainment. Right, the sounds of the region could be heard with Wayne Ellis (left) playing the fiddle and David Jones (right) playing the guitar. And above, the City of Oviedo Fire/Rescue drew the youngster crowd with a clown, balloons and tips on fire safety.

Attorney: 2 adult club raids are X-rated politics

By Russ White
HERALD STAFF WRITER

SEMINOLE COUNTY - For 8 years, the dancers at Rachel's World Class Mens Club in Casselberry did their thing without much flap.

Then came two April raids by the City/County Investigative Bureau that has turned the tables. The CCIH arrested 13 dancers and 5 customers in the first raid, 3 dancers in the second. The charges were for straddle dancing or "illegal contact."

"This is X-rated politics at its worst," Winter Park attorney David Wasserman said Monday. "This club had a spotless record for 8 years and now here they come with a couple of raids designed for nothing more than to hurt Rachel's business."

Seminole County Sheriff Don Eslinger said today that just because Rachel's had what the club's management said was a spotless record did not mean it wasn't engaging in unlawful activity. "That's what I'm concerned with and why we went in there. They were breaking the law."

Eslinger said that the only reason there were not more arrests on the first raid was because of the "sheer volume of violations." He said the second raid offered proof "they still were not abiding by the law."

The sheriff said today that he is urging Casselberry to adopt the county's adult entertainment code in regard to "prohibitive acts." He said the land use issue was up to the city itself. "There are two different issues here," he said. "The one that we're concerned with is unlawful activity."

The CCIH also raided Cabaret, another adult club in SEMINOLE COUNTY - Doug Kangle, owner of Sassy Merlot's, is asking that River Capital Club be "grandfathered" in with the other adult entertainment businesses in unincorporated Seminole County.

Circuit Judge Alan DeKey's recent ruling that River Capital (Sassy Merlot's) "should be treated as any other licensed adult entertainment establishments" Kangle applied for certification of design modifications to Tony Matthews, Planning and Development director for the county.

The county has maintained that Sassy Merlot's operating without a license and is operating illegally.

Students score higher on critical writing test

By Nick Pfeiffel
HERALD STAFF WRITER

SEMINOLE COUNTY - If you don't understand what your school-age child says verbally, ask him or her to put it in writing. Seminole County students are proving they excel in that ability, at least better than average.

The results of a statewide writing skills assessment program show that Seminole County schools' 4th, 8th and 10th grade students have been graded at slightly higher than the state average in all categories.

The program, called "Florida Writes" was administered to students in the 8th grade on Jan. 13 and to students in grades 4 and 10 on February 10. There were two types of writing assessed at each level: expository and narrative (writing to tell a story) writing in the 4th grade, and expository and persuasive (writing to convince) writing in the other two grades.

The scores could range from 0 to 6.0 state wide, with the focal point for determining acceptable scores at the midway point of 3.0. In 1993, only 20 percent of Florida students scored above average. Two years ago, the number was up to 46 percent. This year, 70 percent went over that figure indicating a marked increase in writing skills among students in these three grades.

In announcing the results of the test, Brogan visited Kate Sullivan Elementary School in Tallahassee where he handed out a certificate to a fourth grader who earned a perfect 6.0 score. "Our public school

Lake Mary mulls development, business expansion

By Nick Pfeiffel
HERALD STAFF WRITER

LAKE MARY - This Thursday's meeting of the Lake Mary City Commission will see more proposed development and business expansion items on the agenda.

The Oaks Shopping Center, 345 West Lake Mary Blvd. wants to expand. A previously denied item is back again. Oaks Shopping Center had filed an application regarding the original developer's agreement. The original agreement specified that one of the tenants must be a 25,000 square-foot grocery store.

A change in that requirement had been requested previously. Now however, the developer has announced plans to have the Telephone Company of Central Florida, Inc. occupy the space. The request has been reviewed and the city attorney and Development Review Committee have agreed that even though this section is deleted, the remaining terms of the agreement would remain in force and the matter would be consistent with the city's comprehensive plan.

Additionally, the Local Planning Agency (LPA) voted 3-0 to approve the amendment.

Another proposed business includes consideration of a site plan for a 7,488 square-foot Hollywood Video business and a 6,500 square-foot retail establishment on slightly more than two acres between Lake Mary Boulevard and Sun Drive, adjacent to an existing 7-11 convenience store.

While several variances are to be recommended, the Planning and Zoning Board (P&Z) has already voted 4-1 to approve the site plan (with four conditions).

AT&T has requested approval of a conditional use for a 100-foot monopole wireless communications tower and equipment shelter north of the western end of Sun Drive, approximately 800 feet north of Lake Mary Boulevard. The original request was for a 140-foot monopole. P&Z has previously voted unanimously to recommend approval for 100 feet.

As of early this week, the following items are listed on the agenda for the commission meeting.

- Opening ceremonies
- Proclamation - Older Americans Month.
- Proclamation - Presentation of Paramedic Patches (six paramedics)
- Citizen participation
- Report from city manager (see below)
- Reports from mayor, commissioners and city attorney
- Consideration - Request for conditional use for a 140-foot monopole at 776 Sun Drive.
- Consideration - Developer's agreement for the Oaks Shopping Center.
- Request for site plan with variances for Hollywood Video and 6,500 square feet of retail space.

Students create their own Taj Mahal

By Jeff Berlinicke
ASSISTANT SPORTS EDITOR

HEATHROW - In the 17th century, it took over 22,000 men and 22 years to build the Taj Mahal in India.

At Heathrow Elementary School, it took a handful of students and a few months to do the same thing.

Actually, the Heathrow Taj Mahal isn't quite on the same scale as the one outside Delhi, India, but the kids in Suze Peace's art class have been working on it for months now, crafting the building out of donated items such as egg holders and meat covers. The Heathrow Taj Mahal sits inside Peace's classroom and the kids

Weapons in Schools Eliminated

Congressman Bill McCollum (far right) presents a plaque Monday honoring 25 local business owners and civic organizations for their support of the W.I.S.E. program at Lake Brantley High School to Principal Darwin Boothe (second from right) and Dean of Students Kattie Caldwell (far left). Weapons in Schools Eliminated offers cash rewards for information leading to the confiscation of illegal weapons on the school campus. The program, founded by parent, Paul Gaptman (second from left), also emphasizes education and awareness. Close to $4000 donated to Lake Brantley's W.I.S.E. program has been used for student cards printed with the 800 W.I.S.E. phone number, announcements mailed to parents, reminders in the school newspaper, and rewards for seized weapons. The plaque, presented during a luncheon hosted by W.I.S.E. supporter Brothers' New York Style Pizza, will be placed on permanent display at the high school.

Get help for impotence

DEAR DR. GOTT: I'm a 43-year-old man with impotence and waning sexual interest. I easily achieve an erection with self-stimulation but fail miserably when performing with a partner. What's wrong with me?

DEAR READER: The fact that you readily achieve erections in certain situations means that you do not suffer from a physical cause for your impotence. In my opinion, you might be helped by counseling. However, I think it prudent for you to be examined first by a urologist, just to make certain that there is no unusual physical cause for your problem. I'll bet that the urologist will find you free of diseases such as diabetes and advanced arteriosclerosis, two common causes of impotence.

To give you more information, I am sending you my Health Report "Impotence." Other readers who would like a copy should send $2 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to P.O. Box 2017, Murray Hill Station, New York, NY 10158. Be sure to mention the title.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I would really like to travel, but I get violently motion-sick on boats and in planes. I have unsuccessfully tried all the non-prescription remedies. Is there any hope for me?

DEAR READER: Transderm-Scop is a patch that prevents motion sickness. Although it was briefly removed from the market, it is available once again by prescription for travelers whose trips are spoiled by seasickness and vomiting induced by cruising or flying. Ask your doctor about this.

DEAR DR. GOTT: In one of your columns, you stated that healthy adults do not have to consume extra fluids unless they are thirsty.

I read a lot of health magazines in which alternative practitioners recommend at least eight extra glasses of water a day. They believe that by the time a person is thirsty, he is already dehydrated. Who's correct?

DEAR READER: Silly you should ask. I am.

Thirst is nature's way of reminding us to increase our fluid intake. There is nothing magical about consuming six or eight glasses of water a day. If you engage in this practice, you won't notice any particular health benefits.

Moreover, you'll urinate a lot. Most of us obtain appropriate amounts of fluid by following a regular diet. Obviously, in the presence of summer heat, strenuous exercise and other factors, increased fluid consumption is mandatory. But again, the sensation of thirst will tell us what to do.

By the time a person feels thirsty, he is already dehydrated — but not dangerously so; he can correct the problem quickly by drinking water.

My comments apply only in a general way to healthy adults, for whom the ritual of fluid supplements is unnecessary.

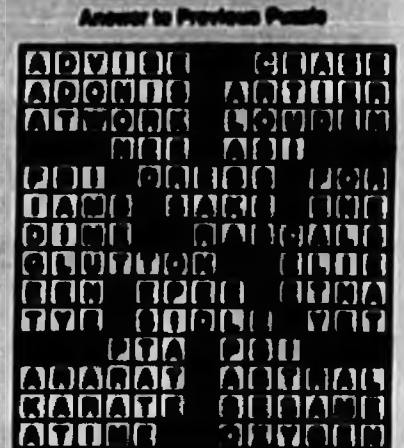

DR. GOTT

PETER GOTT, M.D.

There are instances in which additional fluid (beyond that mandated by thirst) is entirely appropriate; for example, in patients with failing kidneys, in people taking certain medicines, and in the instances I cited above.

Keep the opponent at bay

By Phillip Alder As mentioned yesterday, when in a no-trump contract, one cannot stop an opponent's torrent of winners, because there are no trumps with which to ruff. So, you must try to stop an opponent from running his suit. The simplest countermeasure is the holiday play, which is highlighted in today's deal. As a defender, what is your initial routine after the dummy appears? How do you plan the play? If you use the 16-18 no-trump, North should bid game immediately. Whenever the minimum combined count is 25, go for game. However, if you use the modern 15-17 no-trump, North should raise to two no-trump. Then South is happy to bid three because he has a good five-card suit and excellent controls (aces and kings). Always start by counting your top tricks. Here, there are five: two spades, two hearts and one club. The other four tricks will come from the diamonds, but West has struck at your weakest spot: clubs. If you win the first trick you will go down. East will grab trick two with his diamond ace and flash back his remaining club. West will overtake and run the rest of the suit. You must duck the first trick, winning the second with your club ace. Then play a diamond. If West wins with the ace and cashes three more club tricks, you may console yourself in knowing there was nothing you could do. At least you weren't doubled! If East wins with the diamond ace and has a club to return, presumably the suit has split 4-3, so you are still safe. Here, though, East wins with the ace and has no club left, so your contract is home free.

Bridge hand analysis including a table showing North, South, West, and East cards and a list of vulnerable cards.

Clear Birthday

Wednesday, May 6, 1988 In the year ahead you might be showered with an abundance of opportunities, but the best ones aren't likely to be long shots. Stick to the traditional kind of sure thing. TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Today you might be inclined to cater to your tendency to overindulge, physically and materially. Uncontrolled appetites in these areas generate regrets. Taurus, treat yourself to a birthday gift. Send for your Astro-Graph predictions for the year ahead by mailing $2 and SASE to Astro-Graph, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 1758, Murray Hill Station, New York, NY 10158. Be sure to state your zodiac sign. GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Do not succumb to your restlessness today by starting to make important changes merely for change's sake. Dissatisfaction could result in unneeded retooling. CANCER (June 21-July 20) Refrain from attempting to embellish your achievements today. Your credibility will suffer if others catch you telling tall tales. LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) You're a person who seldom counts his chickens before they hatch. Today, however, you might bank rather heavily on something that's not yet a reality. VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) A clever acquaintance who is aware that you can be manipulated through flattery might lay it on a bit thick today in order to subdue you. LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) Your good looks and charm won't guarantee your success today. If there is something important you hope to accomplish, be prepared to roll up your sleeves and work for it. SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) It might be wise today not to subject yourself to a social function with several persons whose company you don't enjoy. If you do attend, have an excuse ready for an early exit. SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Do not take bows prematurely today for something you have not yet accomplished. A competitor who would like to trip you up might seek to see the finished product. CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Most of the time you like to play things by ear, but today if you don't have concrete plans for each step of the way you may experience some turbulence. AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) Joint endeavors might be difficult today, especially if your counterpart is inattentive in looking after your collective interests. Keep close tabs on everything. PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) Be very careful today if you have to negotiate a delicate matter. You may go in thinking you have the edge, but that may not be the case. ARIES (March 21-April 19) Usually you're a reliable individual, but today you might pretend you took care of something for another when, in reality, you didn't. The truth will out.
