

Panel Mulls Impeach Trial Rules

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Rules Committee is hearing specific proposals for overhauling its impeachment trial rules against what some see as an uncertain backdrop of Senate support for President Nixon.

The committee is going into closed session to hear from nine senators today in the first of two such sessions to take testimony before drafting recommendations to be used if the House impeaches Nixon.

Meanwhile, there were estimates within the Senate that there are neither 67 sure Senate votes for conviction, nor 34 needed for acquittal.

Also, Chairman Peter W. Rodino Jr. of the House Judiciary Committee has sent each House member a schedule that lists the times when they will be able to hear each of the 19 presidential tape recordings in the committee's possession.

Sen. Walter F. Mondale, D-Minn., in prepared testimony, already has decided it wants to stick mainly with the rules written for the nation's only presidential impeachment trial, that of President Andrew Johnson in 1868.

Other scheduled witnesses to the panel and before the full Senate on the role of Chief Justice Warren E. Burger, who will preside, and on whether to set standards for introduction of evidence or conviction.

Sen. Walter F. Mondale, D-Minn., in prepared testimony, urged the committee to set rules to insure the Senate can subpoena the tapes and documents of 64 White House conversations being supplied special prosecutor Leon Jaworski under last month's 8-0 Supreme Court ruling.

Nixon Maintains Defense Silence

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has rejected, at least for now, suggestions that he take his case against himself and his impeachment to a major address, aides report.

Speculation that Nixon was preparing such an address was spurred Sunday when he summoned his top two speechwriters and his impeachment lawyer to his mountaintop retreat.

Bombing Charges Dropped

Charges against three San Francisco men accused of the May 1 fire bomb attempt against the homes of three policemen have been dropped by the State Attorney's office.

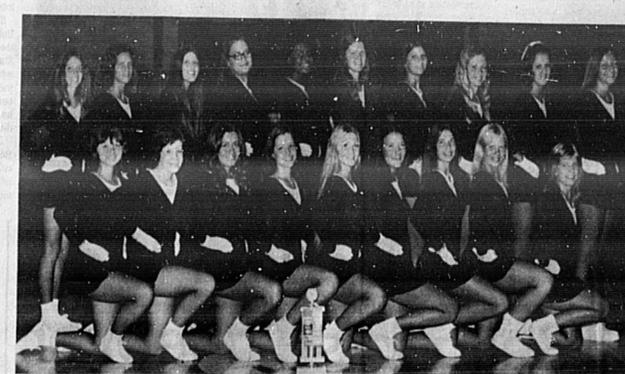

A story by reporters Bob Woodward and Carl Bernstein said the sources reported that the new tactic was proposed because the 84 tape recordings which Nixon has been ordered to turn over to U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica contain information potentially damaging to the President.

However, prosecutor Bill Hoffmann said "new information" surfaced in the case in the weekend, and hinted that "new developments" will occur by midweek.

White House Deputy Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren issued the denial of plans for a nationally televised address by the President concerning the impeachment and said he knew of no plan for a written presidential statement either.

Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., and House GOP Leader John Rhodes of Arizona had suggested that Nixon make a major public address on the issue now dominating most of the President's working hours.

Power & Light Hike Vetoed

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — The state Public Service Commission voted today to suspend a $143.3 million rate increase asked by Florida Power & Light Co. of Miami pending public hearings.

Commissioner Paula Hawkins, who is running for the U.S. Senate on the Republican ticket this fall, voted with Mayo. Bevis was not present.

The company had filed the rate hike request Friday. A new law would have allowed the rate increase to go into effect automatically within 30 days had the commission decided not to suspend it.

Under the new law, the commission has eight months to decide on the rate hike request of FP&L.

Commissioner Billy Mayo said the suspension was in line with action the commission had taken on rate hike requests by Florida Power Corp. of St. Petersburg and Gulf Power Co. of Pensacola. The commission has suspended rate hike requests by those firms pending hearings. Mayo, who along with PSC chairman Bill Bevis is up for reelection this fall, denied the suspension was designed to delay action on the rate hike until after the November election.

Phone Strike Averted By $3 Billion Contract

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Bell Telephone System and its subsidiaries have reached tentative agreement on a $3-billion, three-year contract, averting a nationwide telephone strike scheduled for today.

Western Electric and another $5,000 work directly for Bell. Negotiators for IBEW members at Western Electric rejected the tentative settlement while negotiators for IBEW members, working for Bell accepted it.

A Western Electric spokesman said IBEW members had set up pickets at 10 of the 15 Western Electric plants employing IBEW members.

Western Electric spokesman said IBEW members had set up pickets at 10 of the 15 Western Electric plants employing IBEW members.

He said pickets had been set up at plants in Chicago; Montgomery, Ill.; Lisle, Ill.; Omaha, Neb.; Columbus, Ohio; Shreveport, La.; Oklahoma City; Indianapolis; Kearny, N.J.; and Allentown, Pa.

He said there were no IBEW pickets in Vancouver, Wash.; Reading, Pa.; Denver; San Ramon, Calif.; and Little Rock, Ark.

Eight other Western Electric plants whose workers are represented by the Communications Workers also were unaffected, the company spokesman said.

Western Electric spokesman estimated that $6,000 to $7,000 IBEW workers were on strike.

The tentative agreement, which requires rank-and-file approval, would boost wages and benefits 3.8 per cent over the next three years.

In announcing the settlement at a news conference Sunday night, CWA President Glenn E. Watts said the contract would be submitted for ratification only after local contract negotiations are completed.

A deadline for wrapping up local issues was set for mid-

Utility Experts To Field Questions

A public question and answer session to explore the problem of high utilities bills in Florida is being held from 7 to 10 p.m. in the Sanford Civic Center by State Rep. Vince Fechtel (R-Dist. 34).

Among the top names in utilities to appear at the panel meeting is Dr. Jay Kennedy, termed the "miracle man" by the Florida Public Service Commission (PSC). Kennedy is a utility economist on loan to the PSC from the University of South Florida charged with finding the answers to the high electric bills in Florida.

Other members of the panel include representatives of the Florida Department of Pollution Control; Florida Power Corp.; Florida Power and Light Co.; Sumpter Electric Cooperative; Florida Municipal Utilities Assoc.; and Florida Gas Co.

The meeting is being held so the people can ask questions about their utility bills and get answers from qualified persons.

"I'm sure all of us want to know the real hard facts on the costs of utilities," said Fechtel. "I want to know when we can expect Florida electric bills to level off or be reduced. As a legislator I want to get ideas from the people of Florida how to reduce the costs of utilities."

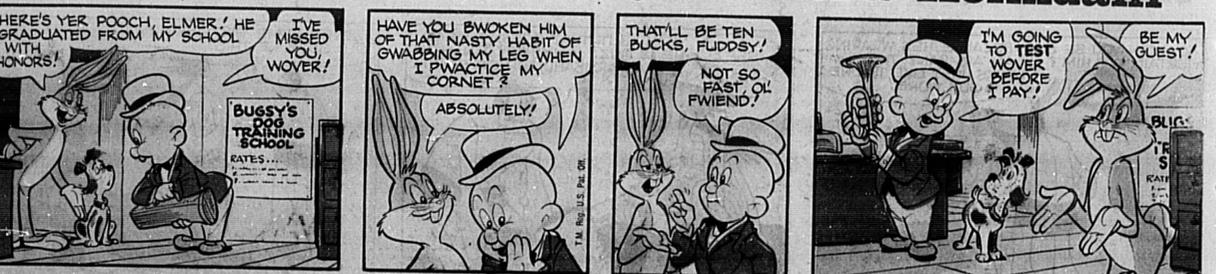

Fechtel hopes the panel meeting will answer such questions as: how do our rates and costs compare to other parts of the country? Are there government restrictions that increase the costs of utilities in Florida and what changes can we make? How can advertising the utilities companies be justified?

Licking Luggage Problems Easy: Forget It!

By MARK WEINZ
Herald Staff Writer

It's vacation time again and scores of tourists in and around Seminole County are whipping into and through Seminole County.

However, some tourists, by choice or chance have discovered a way to reduce the load on route to "vacation land" — leave "trinkets" in motel rooms.

But more often than not "leaving" things is not to reduce a packing problem; many times the "trinkets" are valuable and the owner had no intention of disposing of them.

There are many ways for tourists to travel lightly; the most practical being to leave unwanted or unneeded items at home.

All area motel managers say they hold left-behind articles for three months to a year.

But, despite the most meritorious attempts to return the "lost" items the record isn't all that impressive.

Manager of the Days Inn at I-4 and S.R. — 46, Frank Gross, says less than 50 per cent of forgotten items are recovered.

"We get eight to ten bushel baskets of such items each year," he says.

Gross, who has been in the motel business more than 20 years, says he has found an array of items left behind by tourists.

Before he came to Sanford he was a motel manager in New York City. He has found clothes, radios, glasses and even suitcases left by guests.

Fortunately, he was able to retrieve the missing dentures because they had been found by a maid and the motel manager had set them aside. Somehow he was confident he would soon be hearing from a toothless tourist.

Apparently some items are extremely important even though they are not missed until 3,000 miles click by on the tourist's odometer.

Take the case reported by MacClung of Sanford. After a California couple had returned home they called MacClung. The little woman had misplaced her sheer, light blue nightgown.

"No, they don't leave any big items, but we get plenty of knick-knacks and clothes," Gyle Workman, manager of the Cavalier Motor Inn, U.S. 17-92, says.

Managers say the best thing to do when missing an item is to call the motel because the goods are almost always stored. But as one manager put it, "I think sometimes they just want to dump some of the junk they are carrying and we wind up with it."

Prayer Replaces Communion

WASHINGTON (AP) — An order banning a newly ordained woman priest from celebrating the eucharist at an Episcopal church was protested Sunday by cancellation of the church's rite of Holy Communion.

Instead, the rector of St. Stephen and the Incarnation Church substituted a brief prayer service. The congregation applauded the decision.

"For the first time in 14 years at this church the eucharist will not be celebrated at the 10 a.m. service," said the Rev. William A. Wendt, the rector.

Mrs. Alison Cheek, one of 11 women ordained in a disputed ceremony last Monday in Philadelphia, had been forbidden from celebrating the eucharist at the church by Episcopal Bishop William P. Crighton, the presiding bishop of Washington.

Dragstrip Crash Kills 2

EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill. (AP) — "It was just all over the stands. The people couldn't get away," Willie Weston said. "People were crying and one lady was screaming 'leave me alone, leave me alone!'"

Weston described the scene after a supercharged car, its engine blown, fishtailed across a narrow dragstrip Sunday and hurtled into crowded bleachers while more than 15,000 spectators watched in horror. Two people were killed, 19 injured.

Authorities said Kent Myers, 16, of nearby Wood River and Lana Reed, 19, of Festus, Mo., were dead on arrival at St. Mary's Hospital.

Critically injured were the car's driver, Bill Bagshaw, 30, of Long Beach, Calif., and Michael Tarkus, 23, of Quincy, Ill.

Florida Cyclist Miscalculates

PHENIX CITY, Ala. (AP) — Calling motorcycle stuntman Evel Knievel a "con artist," cyclist Bob Pleso said a few days ago, "I'm going to jump so far, it's hard to figure how I'm going to land."

Pleso, 22, of Ocala, Fla., died of massive internal injuries Sunday after his motorcycle landed on the 20th car in a string of 30, hurling his body to the asphalt surface of a drag strip.

Witnesses among a crowd of about 3,000 said the force of the cycle hitting the car sent Pleso's body wheeling 40 feet through the air before he landed on his neck and shoulders and skidded another 20 feet.

FDA Delays Drug Approval

CHICAGO (AP) — Americans who suffer high blood pressure are being deprived of drugs found helpful in treatment of the disease in Great Britain, according to an editorial in a leading medical magazine.

The editorial in this month's Journal of the American Medical Association blames the Food and Drug Administration for delaying approval of these drugs, even though they have been found safe and effective by the British.

Women Treated Well In Bellapais Takeover

Editor's Note: Associated Press correspondent Peter Arnett and AP photographer Paul Roper on Sunday were the first outsiders to visit the town of Bellapais since Turkish troops forced a sixman United Nations team to abandon nearly 1,500 Greek Cypriot civilians.

By PETER ARNETT
AP Special Correspondent
BELLAPAIS, Cyprus (AP) — In normal times, tourists sip brandy soups and sweet oriental coffee around tables in the cobblestoned town. Now there is war, and the town's population has been taken prisoner.

Last Thursday the commander of a Turkish infantry battalion that moved into Bellapais shoved a submachine gun against the stomach of one of six Finnish United Nations soldiers with crosses carved on their chests, and the inference was that Christian Greek Cypriot guerrillas had sneaked down from the mountains to wreak vengeance on the Moslem Turks.

The United Nations has been prevented from approaching Bellapais by Turkish patrols, but our press car rolled unhindered Sunday along the dusty road to the town.

A busload of women passed by us to the center of town, from where they were being permitted to go home and collect food and clothes.

"We are letting all the women get what they please," a Turkish officer said. "We wish them no harm."

"We are not looting, but they are stealing from us," he said. Most of the women were assembled at the hotel. They crowded around, sweating in the 100-degree heat, and estimated about 600 adults and several hundred children were at the hotel and complained about the lack of water and food.

"But this is war," the Turkish officer protested.

The only water source was a concrete drainage ditch through which water flowed swiftly, and some Greek women knelt beside it to wash clothes.

Turkish soldiers poured drinking water for other women.

"We have as much as we can expect, I suppose," said Toulla Staridou, a pretty housewife. "But I want my husband back. I will not leave 'til then."

Her husband and other men apparently were taken to an open air detention camp in the plain outside Nicosia, U.N. personnel said.

Cyprus Buffer Talks Continue

By The Associated Press
Talks on the demarcation of cease-fire lines and buffer zones on Cyprus between Greek Cypriot and Turkish forces entered a fourth day today as truce agreements remained largely inoperative.

Military officers representing Britain, Greece, Turkey and the United Nations peacekeeping force, who are conducting the talks, took the first step toward firm cease-fire lines to the battle zones on Sunday.

As they inspected the zones, skirmishes were reported along the northern coast near Kyrenia and along the "Green Line" separating the Greek Cypriot and Turkish Cypriot sections of Nicosia.

The U.N. role in the peace effort apparently was downgraded on Sunday. A late-night press briefing on the deliberations was given by a secretary of the British High Commission in Nicosia, instead of by U.N. spokesman Rudolf Stajdjar as usual, after a British official announced that the United Nations heretofore would be in an "observer status."

In an earlier briefing, Stajdjar had referred to the work of the officers as "the four-party talks," but when the British spokesman, Geoffrey Stephens, took over, he called it "tripartite talks."

Asked to explain the change, both Stajdjar and Stephens declined comment. In New York, a spokesman for U.N. Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim said he knew nothing about a downgraded U.N. presence.

Protests Erupt In Italy

ROME (AP) — Italy's leftist-dominated trade unions called general strikes today to protest the Sunday bombing of an express train which killed 12 persons and injured 48, including two Americans.

The injured Americans were identified as Leonard Gary Palma, 21, of Alliquippa, Pa., and John Mairano, 29, of Wilmington, Del. Neither was seriously hurt.

The leftists blamed neo-Fascists for the blast, and police refused to rule out any extremist group. They said they had few clues. Parts of an alarm clock used as a timing device and traces of TNT and plastic explosive were found in the charred and bloody wreckage of one passenger car.

The bombing, which followed a long series of terrorist acts in Italy, raised new fears that extremists were trying to throw the country into turmoil at a time of serious economic difficulty.

Trade union leaders called an eight-hour general strike throughout Bologna province and strikes of up to four hours in the rest of the country.

The bomb went off as the train, heading for Brenner on the Austrian border, passed through a tunnel between Bologna and Florence.

The unions said in a statement that the bombing "was undoubtedly part of the criminal plan being hatched by the Fascists."

In April, a time bomb hidden in a trash can exploded during a plastic assault rally in Brescia, north of Bologna, killing seven persons. Police blamed right-wing extremists but made no arrests.

The Sunday blast went off around 1:30 a.m. as the 17-car train sped through an 11-mile tunnel. The train carried more than 1,000 passengers — mostly

House Now Clearing Essentials

WASHINGTON (AP) — An essential business is more immediate than that of the Senate, its impeachment floor. Debate is expected to begin Aug. 19. A Senate trial of President Nixon would depend on whether the House voted to impeach.

The Senate Rules Committee, however, already is working on the possibility of overhauling its impeachment rules. It was scheduled to hear from nine senators today.

However, economy advocates

In the Senate, supporters of a consumer protection bill planned to make another attempt this week to end a filibuster against the measure and bring it to a vote. Two previous attempts to shut off debate failed, by 10 votes the first time and seven votes the second.

The veterans-space-housing bill before the Senate is $139 million under President Nixon's budget.

'Trojan Horse' Fails In Escape

HUNTSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — "They were shooting the hostages inside the shield container and they were firing at us through a slit. All hell broke loose."

Texas Ranger Capt. G.W. Burks gave that description of the bloody climax to a Texas State Police escape attempt in which drug smuggler Fred Gomez Carrasco, his convict partner Rudolf Dominguez and two handcuffed women hostages died Saturday night.

Justice of the Peace J.W. Beeler issued a preliminary ruling Sunday that Carrasco and Dominguez committed suicide after shooting their hostages, Mrs. Elizabeth Beseda, 47, handcuffed to Carrasco, and Mrs. Julia Standish, handcuffed to Dominguez.

The two women were among 12 hostages held for 11 days by Carrasco and his confederates, who pulled guns in the library of the "Walls" unit of the prison in a bid for freedom. They initially held 16 hostages, but three were let go and one escaped.

"At no time was there any thought given to the granting of any illegal freedom to any captives," said prison systems director W.J. Estelle. He described Saturday as "one of the meanest days anyone ever spent in public service."

WORLD IN BRIEF

Roof Falls, Traps Workers

MIAMI (AP) — Part of the federal Drug Enforcement Agency building in downtown Miami collapsed today, trapping an unknown number of office workers inside, police said.

Police said they believed about 15 to 20 people were in the building when the roof collapsed, sending cars parked there crashing through the warehouse-type building.

"We have got six out and they are on the way to hospital," a spokesman said. "As far as we know no one is dead."

Officials said they believed the cars parked on the roof were too heavy for the structure and caused the section to collapse — into office space, trapping people inside.

At least half a dozen cars could be seen in the rubble which firemen and police were trying to clear.

Russian Arms Unacceptable

WASHINGTON (AP) — Indian defense officials are reported dismayed with some of the major weapons received from Russia and turning elsewhere to buy new submarines and aircraft.

U.S. intelligence sources report the Indians are unhappy with the performance of F class diesel-powered attack submarines and some jet fighters supplied by the Soviet Union, as well as spare parts and other logistic support provided by their sources.

As a result, these sources said, the Indians have shown renewed interest in buying advanced planes and other arms from the British, who used to be one of their main suppliers.

Vietnam Fighting Continues

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — Fighting swirled today into a 20th successive day in the northern and central coasts of South Vietnam. The Saigon command said North Vietnamese troops, moving under a barrage of shells, attacked government rangers on the outskirts of the besieged Duc Duc district 20 miles south of Da Nang. President Nguyen Van Thieu quipped in a speech that the Communist command's attacks were in preparation for a general offensive.

Independence Imminent

LISBON, Portugal (AP) — United Nations Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim says he has been told Portugal is ready to grant independence to its West African colony of Portuguese Guinea. Waldheim's announcement on Sunday, at the end of a two-day visit in Lisbon, reiterated a declaration made last week by President Antonio de Spinoza.

Hiroshima Bombing Noted

TOKYO (AP) — More than 40,000 persons are expected to participate Tuesday in an observance of the 29th anniversary of the dropping of the atomic bomb on Hiroshima, the world's first atomic attack.

The annual government-sponsored ceremony in Hiroshima's Memorial Peace Park will begin at 8:15 a.m., when two survivors of the Aug. 6, 1945 attack will ring the "bell of peace" for a minute of prayer. That will be 29 years to the minute since the attack.

Adams: Split Commerce

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — U.S. Gov. Tom Adams has proposed splitting the state Commerce Department in two, one agency for labor and the other for tourism and business.

Adams, who is opposing Gov. Reubin Askew for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, said in a press release that the change was long overdue.

He said the proposed Department of Labor would handle job safety, workers' compensation, apprenticeship and mediation services.

Adams, here for a Hillsborough County campaign steering committee meeting, said the state's potential for attracting businesses and industries would not be fully realized until there was a Department of Tourism and Business.

DeLand Mayor Page Faults Tax Hike

DeLand Mayor Don Page has raised the spectre of a tax hike to balance the city budget, but says the blame must be placed squarely on the shoulders of the state legislature.

The biggest single threat to the taxpayer's pocketbook comes from the legislature's approval of the Public Employee Collective Bargaining Bill, which compels cities, which compels cities to work conditions for public employees on both sides.

Garbage collection companies will be the first target of the union if it gains recognition, Page predicts.

Speaking to a DeLand Kiwanis Club luncheon audience, Page said a tax hike may have been made inevitable on the legislature voted to discontinue city utility taxes but failed to provide relief from fuel adjustment charges.

The city's property tax revenues on many parcels may have been wiped out by an across-the-board increase in homesteaded exemption for property owners over 65.

Council May Revoke Fire System Waiver

ALTIMONTE SPRINGS—A waiver of the city's fire code water sprinkler requirements, granted to Crest Moore, president of the Miami-based Southeast Home Mortgage Co. in early July for the company's planned new offices on SR 434, may be revoked.

Read Zoning Director Curtis Engert's resignation effective Sept. 27. Engert resigned to complete studies and to go into the practice of law. He is to take his bar exam in October.

Agreed to withhold payment of $4,000 for map updating by Glace and Radcliffe, consulting engineers. Councilman Cal DeVoney said the firm offered to do the work for $1,000. Bill Palm of the firm said the bill is being researched.

Instructed City Atty. Joe Davis to prepare a resolution to pave First Street between Newburyport and Hermits Trail and assess costs to adjacent property owners.

Approved Floyd's proposal to name an insurance advisory committee to update and prepare insurance specifications, particularly for employers' benefits.

Agreed to decide at new budget time whether to improve the city sanitary landfill at Pyle's clay pit on Douglas Avenue, estimated to cost $2,000 to $10,000. The alternative, Floyd said, is to use county landfill facilities at cost of $20,000 annually in county fees plus costs of operating trucks for trips to the Osceola county dump.

Moore's testimony to gain the waiver—that computer companies will not lease their equipment where sprinkler systems are installed—is not true and submitted written data from the firm where Moore leases equipment to prove his point.

In other action, council: Accepted the low bids of Bumbly and Stimpson at $2,018,802 for force mains and gravity interceptors and from Baylon General Inc. at $1,215,700 for pumping stations. Both bids are for construction of the Montgomery Road sewer interceptor system. Construction will begin after bid approval is received from the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency.

Frey Agonizes On Impeachment

The agony of the impeachment debate was clearly etched on the normally cheery face of U.S. Rep. Lou Frey last weekend as the Winter Park Republican ruefully admitted he will vote against Richard Nixon if the House impeaches Nixon.

Frey, unlike the indicted U.S. Sen. Ed Gurney, was careful to disassociate himself from any personal relationship with Nixon, and told a Greater Orlando Press Club news conference that "an awful lot went on (in the White House) that no one's proud of."

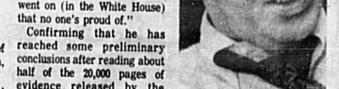

Confirming that he has reached some preliminary conclusions after reading about half of the 20,000 pages of evidence released by the Judiciary committee, Frey refused to comment on what he might be, but promised to return to Orlando for an announcement if and when he makes up his mind.

In the meantime, Frey admitted, his confidence in Nixon personally has been "eroded" by revelations of White House involvement with the Internal Revenue Service and the "enemies list."

Frey said that no matter what the final outcome of the impeachment debate, Watergate will have accomplished the positive setting of "notice to future chief executives on what the country will tolerate and what it won't tolerate."

Frey said that he and congressmen on both sides have been dismayed by the apparent lack of a White House "strategy" to defend the president against impeachment.

The old Erlichman-Haldeman "stonewall" still exists, Frey said, adding no Congressman was worried about being compromised by a tape-recorded telephone call to the White House "because our calls could never get through."

Instructed City Atty. Joe Davis to prepare a resolution to pave First Street between Newburyport and Hermits Trail and assess costs to adjacent property owners.

Approved Floyd's proposal to name an insurance advisory committee to update and prepare insurance specifications, particularly for employers' benefits.

Agreed to decide at new budget time whether to improve the city sanitary landfill at Pyle's clay pit on Douglas Avenue, estimated to cost $2,000 to $10,000. The alternative, Floyd said, is to use county landfill facilities at cost of $20,000 annually in county fees plus costs of operating trucks for trips to the Osceola county dump.

Now Dogs Can Enjoy Council Agendas

ARKVILLE, N.Y. (AP) — A new resort opened this summer to join the hundreds of others in the cool, clean Catskill Mountains of upstate New York.

But Camp Lando — Beautiful Field — is a resort with a difference: It's a summer camp for dogs whose owners want to get them out of the stifling city or give Man's Best Friend a treat while Dog's Best Friend goes off on his own vacation.

"I couldn't find anywhere but a stuffy boarding kennel to put my own two when I had to go off on a business trip," explained owner Ron de Stralpe of Manhattan. "So I bought this place and opened the camp."

"This place" is 75 acres of field and forest with a crystal-clear mountain stream tumbling through it. Already it's so successful that de Stralpe, a commodity and securities investor in his 20s, is looking at another 400 acres in Monticello for expansion.

Campo Lindo has no fences, and dogs are held on leashes by neighborhood youngsters who accompany them on outings. The masters pay $40 a week or $150 a month for the canines' stay.

Some dogs strike up intense friendships. Such a pair are Kawakaki, a mixed breed from the Bronx, who is inseparable from Pasp, a 3-year-old Siberian husky who belongs to Michael Prince of Manhattan.

Every dog at camp gets a merit badge for eating and each one is fed the diet prescribed by his owner. On Sundays there's a hot dog-and-hamburger barbecue.

The daily schedule of the campers — "we never call them dogs" — is much like that of children at camp, with some differences.

Dogs who don't like to play with other dogs are excused from "group activities" if their owners have requested such treatment.

Schools Told Open Student Records

We spend a great deal of our time labeling people. Men and women, children and adults, sunny and cheerful, pretty and ugly, conservative and liberal.

More often than not the labels are meaningless and just as often inappropriate. Even the differences between sexes has been proven in recent years to be somewhat less rigid than was formerly believed. And it is increasingly difficult to pinpoint at what point in one's life an individual ceases to be a child.

So it is with conservatives and liberals. The labels are more for the convenience of political writers and campaign contributors than they are for explaining in any substantive way a man's political views. The "far right" and the "far left" are so close as to be unidentifiable.

Thus it came as no surprise to read the other day that Sen. James Buckley, Con-R.N.Y., was the author — with the backing of the American Civil Liberties Union — of legislation that would give parents the right to inspect, challenge and protect school records on their children.

The measure provides that federal funds shall not be made available under any federal education program to any educational institution or agency that:

(1) Denies parents the right to inspect and review any and all official records, files and other information about their children, including all the material placed in the pupil's cumulative record folder.

(2) Allows the release without the parents' written consent of any records or files in which the identity of the child or the parent is easily recognizable, except for certain specific educational purposes spelled out in the bill.

We have always been baffled at the attitude of educators on the release of information in those files. And the more the school people insisted on keeping them secret the more adamant we've become in insisting that they be made available.

The problem is simple: We, as parents, have no idea what's in the records. They may be totally innocuous. Maybe they don't even exist, but anytime someone starts keeping records on us or our children, then we get a little uptight. And when the record-keepers insist that the records be kept secret, then we become suspicious.

The possibility, for instance, that a second grade teacher might label a youngster a "trouble-maker," or "lazy" or a "slow learner" and that description would follow the youngster through his or her next 10 years of public schooling is unacceptable.

Children have a right to an identity and personality of their own, and the building of that identity and personality should be permitted to grow at its own pace, unhampered by an evaluation made years previous under different circumstances.

We applaud Sen. Buckley for keeping his eye on the value of personal privacy in today's rather confused Washington atmosphere.

BERRY'S WORLD

"Thank you, but you've misspelled horoscope. It's H-O-R-O, not H-O-R-R-O-R-O!"

Nixon Likes Heavy Jewelry Cache

WASHINGTON—President Nixon deals heavily in jewelry, which used to be catalogued for him by the distinguished Washington jeweler, Shaw and Dussinger.

But a report in our column that the jeweler kept "thick books" listing all the First Family's valuable gems brought Pat Nixon's cousin flying to Washington to haul off the records to a safer hiding place.

Sources close to the First Family say that the President "does a lot of wheeling and dealing in jewelry." His close cousin, Bebe Rebozo, was involved in the purchase of at least one $5,650 carrying set for the First Lady. The Senate Watergate Committee has charged that Rebozo paid for the earrings, in part, with $100 bills.

We published the first news of the Nixon jewelry collection on February 15. Photographs of the individual pieces were kept in "thick books," we wrote, "presumably so they can be circulated to police if the gems are lost or stolen."

On the same day our column appeared, Edward O. Sullivan telephoned the jeweler from New York City and spoke to a partner, John Shaw. Sullivan said he was authorized by the Nixon family to pick up the books at once.

In a matter of hours, he strode into the store, demanded the records and walked out with them. "He came right down and picked up the books," recalled William Dussinger. Neither partner "has seen or heard from him since." We have now identified Sullivan as Pat Nixon's cousin. He is also a New York insurance broker who reportedly insures all of the Nixon jewels. Except for confirming he is the First Lady's cousin and an insurance agent, Sullivan refused to comment on our findings.

Richard Nixon has liked to adorn his womenfolk with jewelry, say our sources, ever since he presented Pat with an engagement ring in a May Day basket on May 1, 1940.

The First Lady has a taste for small delicate jewelry. Both daughters, Tricia Cox and Julie Eisenhower, also have expensive collections. Tricia's collection, according to our sources, is the largest.

Richard Nixon has liked to adorn his womenfolk with jewelry, say our sources, ever since he presented Pat with an engagement ring in a May Day basket on May 1, 1940.

Even the President's faithful secretary, Rose Mary Woods, has several nice gems listed in the Nixon books.

TIMM'S TRIP: We made a mistake in our recent report on Civil Aeronautics Board Chairman Robert Timm's all-expenses-paid golfing vacation in Bermuda.

We made the mistake of accepting Timm's word that his host, United Aircraft, wasn't regulated by the Civil Aeronautics Board.

We have now learned that the CAB regulates the San Francisco-Oakland Hercules Airlines, which is partly owned by United Aircraft.

Timm had to know about this, since he personally approved the sale of stock in the helicopter line to United Aircraft last summer.

For that matter, a formal petition from United Aircraft is now pending before the CAB. The firm has asked Timm and his fellow commissioners not to include United Aircraft in a CAB investigation into the relationship between airlines and investors.

Timm has admitted to us that his Bermuda travel arrangements were made by United Aircraft's chief lobbyist, former Nixon aide Clark MacGregor, who also invited four airline executives along. United Aircraft sells engines and accessories to these airlines.

Thus Timm wound up spending a cozy weekend with the airline bigwigs, who have multimillion-dollar decisions awaiting CAB action.

Two of the airlines, Pan American and Trans World Airlines, are also seeking millions in subsidies from Congress. Rep. John Jarman, D-Ola., whose House subcommittee is considering these subsidies, was also a guest on the Bermuda junket.

With their wives, they golfed, swam and fished in a paradisaical setting. All the bills were picked up by United Aircraft.

As we reported in our earlier column, former

Federal Communications Chairman John DeLoach was forced to resign for vacationing aboard the yacht of broadcaster George Storer.

Timm now tells us his approval of United Aircraft's purchase of stock in the helicopter company was "a singular action," which he considers to be "vastly different from regulation." United Aircraft is still involved in the other case when it comes before the CAB, he promises, "I will review my position and act accordingly." He refused to say flatly that he would not pass judgment on his Bermuda host.

WASHINGTON WHIRL: America's most disaffected and disadvantaged veterans, the men who fought in Vietnam, are receiving orders to report back to duty just as they are beginning to adjust to civilian life. With the end of the draft, the Army reserves are no longer attracting large numbers. The army has been compelled, therefore, to tap Vietnam veterans to conduct training sessions. The National Retail Merchants Association has fired off a memo to all its members urging them to "act promptly" with letters to their senators against the Consumer Protection Agency. But not all retail merchants agree with the association. As Montgomery Ward's president Edward Donnell put it: "For business to always oppose whatever consumers propose, strains the credibility of our public statements that for us the consumer always comes first."

FLORIDA

IN BRIEF

Sen. Lori Files Petitions

COCOA—Sen. Lori Wilson officially filed nominating petitions today with over 17,000 signatures of registered voters—over twice the number required to get her name on the ballot as an independent candidate.

Under revised 1974 election laws, Sen. Wilson was required to get five per cent of the voters in Seminole, Brevard, Osceola and northeast Orange counties to sign her petitions, or 8,438 names. Two years ago, when she first ran as an independent, the law required only three per cent, or about 3,000 names.

The deadline is Tuesday for independent candidates to file nominating petitions. Sen. Wilson filed today with the Supervisor of Elections in each of the counties in her district.

Road Maintenance Limited

DELAND—The county council will take no additional roads into its maintenance system. New roads construction will be approved only through the special assessment route whereby adjacent property owners directly pay for the improvement, the county council said again.

Sticking to its policy of maintaining only those unimproved roads excepted previously for maintenance by the county, board members noted surfacing or resurfacing will be undertaken only as projects come up on priority lists or through resident petitions for special assessment districts.

"If we were to take over maintenance of roads on a wholesale basis," Council Chairman William Sovell said, "we would be talking about another $1 million in the budget—even if we could get the equipment."

Using the policy as basis for his decision, the council refused a maintenance request from Orange City Terraces and a request for paving in Rygate Subdivision in DeLeon Springs.

Volusia Public Transit

DELAND—A public hearing on the proposed public transportation system that would take all of Western Volusia County is expected to be set for Aug. 13 by the Volusia County Council in anticipation that a question of creating a special assessment district will be on the fall ballot.

A comprehensive land-use plan for the West Volusia Zoning District and the first steps in establishing a public transportation system in West Volusia has been adopted by the council.

The land use plan prepared by the West Volusia Zoning Commission after two years of workshops and hearings was adopted by the council unanimously without change. The plan is intended to assure coordinated, adjusted and harmonious development of the area.

The transit improvement plan presented to the council by the West Volusia Transportation Advisory committee was prepared by transportation consultant W. C. Gilman Co.

The plan calls for a network of fixed route bus lines to be combined with a form of dial-a-bus feeder service linking residential areas throughout Western Volusia. Major project capitalization is expected from federal revenue sharing funds with operating expenses from the system's revenues, property tax and federal grants.

To Be Or Not To Be, Maudlin Indecision

By GEORGE W. CRANE, Ph. D., M.D.

CASE B-607: Florence R., aged 26, is a college coed. "Dr. Crane," she pleaded, "what should I do?"

"For I was brutally beaten and raped by a couple of men who attacked me while I was trying to change a tire on my car."

"It was broad daylight, too, when they stopped their auto. I thought they were gallantly going to offer to help me."

"But they dragged me into a woods and assaulted me. Unfortunately, I noticed the license number on their auto so I later told the police, who arrested them."

"Later a court psychologist tested their IQ, and found they were feeble-minded (morons) unable to finish the 8th grade in school."

"Now find I am pregnant, so would you advise an abortion in this case?"

"You readers can develop a superb debate out of this type of unwanted pregnancy. It obviously differs widely from the frequent desire of a young wife to have an abortion just because she wants to wait a couple of years later before starting her family."

Other career-hungry wives may ask for an abortion because they don't want to be tied down with the "bottle and diaper" care of a baby.

Some women ask us doctors for an abortion when they get caught German measles during the early months of their pregnancy and thus dread that they will bear a deformed infant as a consequence.

And in our large cities, as well as many rural homes, girls aged 13 to 15 will get pregnant, by male relatives such as fathers, grandfathers, uncles and brothers.

Sometimes these men are half drunk, or at least use the alibi to excuse their incest. But on many other occasions,

Children Top Mental Health Priority

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP)

—Children, senior citizens and mentally ill crime suspects are the top priorities in state mental health programs, says Dr. Stuart N. Cahoon.

Cahoon, 58, was interviewed on his first day in his new post as director of the Florida Mental Health Division. He succeeded Dr. W. D. Rogers, who retired after leading the program for 40 years.

"The country as a whole has given a great deal of lip service to children's programs but not much money," Cahoon said. "In children is where the whole thing begins."

He said children's residential treatment centers are the state's biggest need and a 34-bed unit is being developed at Northeast State Hospital at MacClenny. There already is one unit at South Florida Hospital in Pembroke Pines.

A third is being considered for W. T. Edwards Hospital at Tampa, Cahoon said.

All of the division's 44 clinics and centers have well developed out-patient services, he said.

In addition to early treatment, Cahoon said he is interested in the Florida Mental Health Association's attempt to develop teaching programs that would foster mental health.

Cahoon said children need to be taught that they can express their feelings without fear.

"The theory is that if they are expressive they will not demand in every way we can break out in other feelings," he said. "Children learn this much easier than adults."

Assistance for the aged requires community programs that deal with the problems of loneliness and isolation, Cahoon said, adding that some clinics have started such work but it isn't enough.

"Then we try to try to prevent in every way we can the elderly, confused individual entering into our state hospitals," he said. Instead, Cahoon said they should be in community group living homes where a couple takes in four to six elderly people and they live as a family.

Cahoon said that two forensic centers are being developed to serve as diagnosis and short-term treatment centers for crime suspects or convicts who may have mental problems.

Prisoners now go to either the Chattahoochee or South Florida hospitals, which Cahoon said are overcrowded and insecure.

Cahoon said the centers will have maximum perimeter security so they are hard to enter or leave but patients will be relatively free to move around inside.

Deputy Killed Chasing Speeder

By The Associated Press

A Taylor County deputy sheriff was killed when his car overturned while he was chasing a speeding motorist, the Florida Highway Patrol reported today.

The officer was one of at least nine weekend traffic deaths, troopers said.

Officers said Victor J. Macdonald was thrown from his patrol car and killed Sunday night when a tire blew out and the auto overturned on U.S. 27 about 23 miles south of Perry.

Troopers said MacDonald had been at a service station when the speeding car passed and he jumped into his cruiser to give chase. The tread of a rear tire separated in the 100 miles an hour pursuit and the blowout resulted, police said.

Earlier Sunday, two men were killed in a head-on automobile crash in Columbia County.

Officials said David M. Clark, 19, of Auburn, Ga., and a 22-year-old Wisconsin man died as Clark was passing another car on State Road 20 just south of Fort White. The other victim's name was withheld pending notification of kin.

Police gave these details of other deaths: Robert Auserman, 17, of

WBC Gives Foster Deadline When He Has To Defend Title

The pompous World Boxing Council has given Light heavyweight champion, Bob Foster until Sept. 10 to defend his title against John Conteh of England.

It is obvious the WBC is only going through the motions as they have already decided to strip Foster of his hard earned title.

British boxing promoter Mick Duff and Foster's manager had agreed to a Conteh-Foster match early in the year. According to informed sources the two were scheduled to fight it out July 16 in London.

Duff agreed to allow that date to be set back until Sept. 10 so Foster could meet Ahumada in Mexico. Most felt the theater TV title fight was nothing more than a tune-up for the heavily favored champion.

When Ahumada came within a whisker of taking the aging Foster's belt, the champ's manager, Lou Viscusi, changed the asking price for a shot at his gladiator. It was now $200,000 and 10 percent of the challenger if he took the crown.

Duff came to the U.S. and met with Viscusi but the two could not come to terms. The English promoter then contacted Ahumada's manager Gil Clancy. They agreed to have their light heavies meet in mid-September in London.

Duff is now in Mexico City trying to talk the World Boxing Association into recognizing the Ahumada-Conteh winner as the world's champion.

If both the WBA and the WBC strip Foster of his title and give it to the winner of the London fight it would make Duff and Clancy happy but would it be right? For one can see it as nothing more than just plain highway robbery.

But I guess if you are demanding $200,000 and 10 percent of the other fighter, you're taking a pretty tough love yourself. This is big business when they say "all's fair" but to me it just doesn't seem all that fair.

Card, LA Routs Real 'Steals'

By ALEX SACHARE Sports Writer Lou Brock and Dave Lopes are running; St. Louis and Los Angeles are winning.

And that's no coincidence. After Philadelphia had taken a 6-1 victory in the opener of their Sunday doubleheader, Brock swiped three bases to pace St. Louis to an 11-0 rout in the nightcap.

Those three thefts, added to one in the opener, lifted Brock's season total to 72, tops in the majors by far.

Elsewhere in the National League, Chicago split a doubleheader with Pittsburgh, winning 4-3 and losing 7-1; Atlanta split a pair with San Francisco, winning 4-2 and losing 5-2; and Cincinnati split with San Diego, winning 7-2 then losing 1-0 in 14 innings. New York at Montreal was rained out.

Phil's 6-0, Cards 1-11 Mike Schmidt was the hero of the opening game, slugging a pair of home runs to boost his season total to 35.

Elsewhere in the American League, Boston won 4-1 over Oakland, while Detroit split with Cleveland, winning 4-2 and losing 3-1.

Minnesota won 4-1 over Kansas City, while Baltimore split with Oakland, winning 4-2 and losing 3-1.

Dodgers 2, Astros 1 Stolen bases led to all runs in the Houston-Los Angeles game.

The Astros took a 1-0 lead when Cesar Cedeno stole second in the eighth inning, but they were out in the top of the ninth.

After Houston took a 1-0 lead in the top of the first, the Dodgers came back to tie the score in the bottom of the inning when Lopes singled, stole second and scored on Bill Russell's single.

In the fifth, Russell singled with two out, stole second and came in on Jimmy Wynn's RBI single.

Cubs 4-1, Pirates 3-7 The Cubs won the opener behind the eight-hit pitching of Bill Bonham. But Andy Thornton's two-run homer in the fifth inning was the deciding blow.

Pittsburgh gained a split when Dave Parker belted a three-run homer to cap a four-run fifth inning surge in the second game.

Braves 4-2, Giants 2-5 Daily Baker's two-run homer in the ninth inning lifted Atlanta to victory in the opener, after Mike Lum had homered in the seventh to tie the score.

Gary Matthews and Chris Speier hit consecutive homers for the Atlanta Braves in the fourth inning. Matthews' run-scoring double capped a three-run first inning that got the Giants going in the second game.

Reds 7-0, Padres 2-1 Tony Perez capped a two-run rally with a tie-breaking single in the sixth inning of the opener, then the Reds broke the game open with three runs in the eighth. In the nightcap, Fred Kendall's sacrifice fly with the bases loaded in the 14th inning produced the only run of the game.

Working Pros Love Their Jobs By JACK MURPHY The Herald Staffer a high degree of skill and professionalism.

This is an era when athletes seem obsessed with their quest for higher salaries, pension benefits, profit-sharing and investments.

Strike Ridiculous: Ex Stars

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — The verdict from Gale Sayers, Paul Hornung and Steve Van Buren, three great former National Football League running backs, was unanimous: Thumbs down on the players' strike.

"I think the freedom demands are really ridiculous," said Sayers, 31, the Chicago Bears' halfback who retired in 1971. "I think the players association is going to have to be revised a little bit. Hopefully, they'll realize that they're killing the golden goose."

"Some of my demands are just outrageous," said Hornung, 38, the "Golden Boy" of the Green Bay Packers. "They want no discipline, but I don't think any of the ball players are really men enough to know what discipline is unless it's pushed upon them."

Van Buren, 53, whose career as the battering ram of the Philadelphia Eagles' backfield ended 22 years ago, agreed, declaring, "Absolutely, the freedom issue can't go. I'll run football."

Sayers was in this resort to be interviewed by Hornung on a syndicated television sports show, "Greatest Sports Legends," and Van Buren journeyed down from his Philadelphia home Thursday night to attend a party in Sayers' honor.

Both Sayers and Hornung said they would cross the picket lines if they still were playing. Van Buren said that despite his objections, "I would go along with the strike."

But the ex-Eagle, now an insurance salesman, added, "Most of the veterans you talk to don't want to picket. They want to go into camp. Who's giving them advice? I think they're getting bad advice."

One current NFL player, linebacker Wayne Colman of the New Orleans Saints, also attended the reception and admitted he had his doubts about the strike.

Hornung, who retired in 1967, said that if the players could play where they pleased, a team like Buffalo could never have won a Super Bowl.

Both Sayers and Hornung admitted that if the World Football League had formed a few years back, they would have been tempted by the fat contracts the new league has thrown around.

White Sox 6-13, Rangers 3-10 Chicago took advantage of a pair of errors by Texas shortstop Toby Harrah in the seventh inning to score two unearned runs and beat Texas in the first game of their doubleheader.

Bill Melton's two-run homer capped a four-run uprising in the sixth inning and Jorge Orta drove in five runs to lead Chicago's victory in the second game. It was the White Sox' first doubleheader sweep of the season.

Tigers 6-3, Orioles 1-9 Joe Coleman pitched a two-hitter and Dick Sharon slugged a two-run homer to help Detroit beat Baltimore in the first game of their doubleheader.

Brooks Robinson drove in four runs with a homer and single to lead Baltimore to victory in the nightcap.

Slumping Perry: Revive Spit Ball? By KEN RAPPOPORT AP Sports Writer It may be back to the wet look soon for Gaylord Perry.

The Cleveland Indian pitcher ace dismissed the spit ball from his repertoire at the start of the season, but he's never needed it more than he does now.

After winning 15 of his first 16 decisions, Perry now has lost five in a row—including Sunday's 8-3 thumping by the Milwaukee Brewers in the second game of a doubleheader. The Indians won the opener 4-3.

"I'm disturbed with some of the hits they got and I walked too many, but I'm not going to get down on myself," Perry said.

Elsewhere, the Chicago White Sox beat the Texas Rangers to split a doubleheader 6-3 and 13-10; the Detroit Tigers whipped the Baltimore Orioles 6-1 in the first game of their doubleheader before losing the nightcap.

driver from Randleman, N.C., has become a folk hero south of the Mason-Dixon line for his exploits on the tracks—mostly winning.

And Sunday, he proved to be about 50,000 people north of the Mason-Dixon line that it wasn't southern folklore that made him so popular.

He out-dueled four of the South's other stars in a brilliantly executed, though rain-piagned, Grand National stock car race at Pocono International Raceway to record the 161st victory of his career.

Hours after the race, the $1.5 million career winner still was standing in the mud at Pocono signing autographs.

"He's second only in national popularity to A.J. Foyt," one observer said. "And Foyt gets his because of his three Indianapolis wins. It's a shame Petty never ran at Indy."

Foyt, meantime, passed up the Purulato 500 at Pocono to get back into the headlines himself. The famed Texas veteran, who will be 40 years old in January, went to Talladega, Ala., Saturday and set a world's 152 of the 192 circuits actually completed.

Buddy Baker came in second in a Ford, Cal Yearborough was third in a Chevrolet, David Pearson fourth in a Mercury and Benny Parsons fifth in a Chevrolet.

Leaders Collapse In Classic Upset

SUTTON, Mass. (AP) — "He was awful nervous," Tom Weiskopf said. "I thought I could take him on the last three holes, but it just wasn't meant to be."

"He did everything right and everybody else made the mistakes. He's your champion."

And that's Victor Regalado, a 26-year-old Mexican, whose triumph in the Pleasant Valley Golf Classic Sunday ranks as probably the biggest upset since Orville Moody won the 1969 U.S. Open.

The young man with the perpetually puzzled expression took advantage of a massive collapse by the leaders—Weiskopf, Dave Hill and Jim Wiechers—and won his first American tournament with a two-under-par 69 and a 278 total.

That was a one stroke better than Weiskopf, who put on some heat with a birdie-birdie finish for a 72-79.

Bain was voted most valuable lineman for the winners. Bill Kynes of Tampa Plant, who threw a fourth-down pass 11 yards to Bain for the South's first touchdown, was named most valuable back.

"I liked the way both our quarterbacks worked," Saltrick said. "Kynes is a fine quarterback and leader. Nick Ray (of Tampa Robinson) is a good passer."

Kim was the National Junior Speed Skating Champion, National Youth Champion and placed third in the National Junior Championships.

"Kim is a world-caliber freestyle skater," says her coach Jerry Rehfield.

Kim's goal is to skate in the Olympics and then she wants to teach skating. At one time she was interested in skating with an ice show, but now she isn't so sure. Kim went on exhibition four last year and says she got tired of one-night stands and all the packing and unpacking.

Rehfield assures her there are few one-night stands for the figure skaters in the United States, such as regional, sectional and national championships are the steps that are ascended to qualify for international competitions and are sanctioned directly or indirectly by the U.S. Figure Skating Association.

Kim McIsaac of suburban Harbor City is 17 and she's been skating for 10 years. She competes her schooling, says skating is her work. Kim skates at least 30 hours a week practicing for the eighth and final amateur test. Then she will be eligible to compete for the senior ladies title and hopes to go on and qualify for the world championships.

To qualify to compete in the world championships, Kim must place first, second or third in regional competition, again at sectional level and again in national competition.

President Huddling With His Cabinet

City Engineer Mack LaZeny (orange shirt) inspects 'ditch', says no violation of Sanford regulations.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Facing the gravest crisis of his presidency, Richard M. Nixon called his Cabinet into urgent session today following his admission he tried two years ago to thwart a crucial phase of the FBI's Watergate investigation.

As Nixon gathered his Cabinet members and closest advisers around him, ranking White House officials summed up the reaction to Monday's disclosure in two words: "It's bad."

Newsmen and photographers who were admitted briefly at the start of the Cabinet meeting found the President flanked by an unnamed Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger and Defense Secretary James R. Schlesinger, puffing on a pipe. To some observers, Nixon appeared somewhat tired and drawn, although he smiled once while engaging Kissinger and Schlesinger in animated conversation.

Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz, en route to the Cabinet meeting, said in response to a reporter's question that he "absolutely" supports the President.

A White House spokesman said, "all items" would be open for discussion at the meeting, but another official said, "it's not a strategy meeting."

About three hours earlier, Nixon's top White House aides gathered in the office of staff chief Alexander M. Haig to discuss the meeting. Haig said he "tried to be tried to be a part of the FBI probe and Reached by telephone at the home of his mother-in-law near Los Angeles, Halderman said: "I have told you all over and over again that I will have no comment. Even if I had a comment, I couldn't make it because I'm under a court order not to make any comment. I will not have a comment on this or any of the other things that are happening."

St. Clair's assistants repeated today that the Nixon lawyer has no intention of resigning.

H. R. Halderman, Nixon's former chief of staff, declined comment on the new transcripts which depict the President and him devising a way to divert the FBI's Watergate investigation.

On Capitol Hill, more of Nixon's once-staunch defenders called for his resignation or impeachment. But White House spokesmen again denied Nixon would step down, saying instead he plans "to fight on."

The tidal wave of reaction following Nixon's release on Monday of a statement and new tape transcripts disclosing that he gave orders within a week after the Watergate break-in that the Central Intelligence Agency be used to blunt an FBI investigation that threatened to expose the fact his campaign aides channeled money to the burglars.

—Was told six days after the break-in that his campaign director and former attorney general, John N. Mitchell, may have had some prior knowledge of the wrapping plans of the CIA.

—Withheld evidence from his closest advisers and lawyers as well as the House Judiciary Committee, and made erroneous statements to the American public.

—This was a serious act of omission for which I take full responsibility and which I deeply regret," Nixon said in the written statement.

At-A-Glance

WASHINGTON (AP)—Here, in brief, are developments involving President Nixon and the Watergate investigation:

NIXON—President Nixon admitted on Monday that he withheld some Watergate evidence from Congress and his own lawyers. He made public transcripts of three presidential conversations.

TRANSCRIPTS—The transcripts showed that Nixon approved a plan to use the Central Intelligence Agency to blunt the FBI's Watergate investigation.

CONGRESS—Calls for resignation or impeachment of the President increased in Congress. Four Republican House Judiciary Committee members who voted against impeachment said they had changed their minds.

FORD—Vice President Gerald R. Ford said he would make no further public comments on impeachment "until the facts are more fully available."

RESIGNATION—A White House official said that Nixon weighed the option of resigning over the weekend at his Camp David retreat. He rejected the option, said the official.

Residents Complain Of New Ditch Dangers

(67 acre) construction site," D'Amico said, "because we didn't feel it was necessary. And we have no fencing plans at this time."

D'Amico said there "should be no standing water in the 'ditch' but will be less than the present seven foot depth once it is sodded."

"We want to be fair and equitable," D'Amico said. "We don't want to harm anyone. But we feel any reasonable parent, if he thinks there's a danger a child might wander off on other property and stumble into the ditch, would fence his own property as a safeguard."

"We don't feel the city has any business in a dispute between Dreyfus and county residents," D'Amico said, claiming the project meets all city specifications.

D'Amico said the "ditch" will collect surface water from the mobile park and channel it via a pipe to a small pond for on-site retention.

Nixon Supporters Demand Resignation

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Charles W. Sandman Jr., R-N.J., who vociferously defended President Nixon during the House Judiciary Committee inquiry, said today he has called on Nixon to resign and that he will vote for impeachment if the President does not do so.

Among the 10 Republican members of the committee who had opposed all proposed articles of impeachment, Sandman was the fifth to change his mind because of Nixon's disclosure that he withheld evidence from the committee.

Four others said they were reassessing their position and the 10th could not be reached for comment.

One of those reassessing his position, Rep. Delbert L. Latta of Ohio, said in an interview this morning: "I've always felt that in order to impeach a president you had to have direct evidence and here the President was furnishing the direct evidence himself."

Latta, asked if his vote had switched, said: "Well, we haven't cast that yet, but certainly you can't defend that one particular charge."

Latta appeared on the CBS Morning News.

Sandman told a news conference that the transcript of a June 23, 1972 conversation released by Nixon Monday "is the type of hard proof I believe necessary. I can see no escape from this information."

Sandman said there is no question in his mind but that the transcript established an impeachable offense under the first article of impeachment by the committee—the one charging obstruction of justice in the cover-up of the Watergate break-in.

Asked whether he thinks the Senate would convict Nixon if the House votes impeachment, Sandman replied, "I can't see how they could do otherwise."

Rep. Charles E. Wiggins, R-Calif., who carried the main burden of Nixon's defense inside the Judiciary Committee, said Monday: "After considerable reflection, I have reached the painful conclusion that the President of the United States should resign."

Wiggins added that he would vote for impeachment if the President does not do so.

Judge Dismisses Two Bundy Counts

By CHRIS NELSON Herald Staff Writer

The grand jury indictments against ex-Altamonte Springs Mayor Lawrence Swoford, which included two counts of conspiracy to violate the election laws by distributing $400 evenly to Myers and Councilman Dan Dorfman, also to the present.

In throwing out the grand jury indictment on perjury, Williams commented that he was not aware Chief State Attorney Investigator Jack Fulenwider had been "elevated to the position of state attorney."

Williams said that Fulenwider's commission as a notary public did not authorize him to take sworn statements which could later be used in a perjury indictment.

In dismissing the first count, violation of the election laws, Williams said that he was unable to find anything alleged in the indictment which was against the law.

Brock, who earlier engaged in a bitter questioning violation of the Fifth and Fourteenth Amendments to the Constitution, as well as the Supreme Court's Miranda Decision on pre-trial statements," Brock said.

In the detailed motion to dismiss charges against Swoford filed with the Clerk of the Circuit Court, defense attorneys attacked not only the vagueness of the charges, but the constitutionality of the grand jury itself.

Claiming the indictments were based on illegally secured information in the first place, the motion argues that the grand jury is unconstitutional because it excludes 18-year-old registered voters from membership.

Ford Quits 'Defense' Of Nixon

WASHINGTON (AP)—Vice President Gerald R. Ford says he is suspending his public defense of President Nixon in light of Nixon's statement that new evidence "may be damaging."

Ford said Monday he had not seen the new evidence and would stand on his views that the President is innocent of any impeachable offense "until I have reason to change them."

"I have come to the conclusion that the public interest is no longer served by repetition of my previously expressed belief," Ford declared in a prepared statement.

He said "the whole truth should be the objective of the (impeachment) trial before the Senate."

The vice president issued the statement two hours after President Nixon released transcripts showing he authorized, six days after the Watergate break-in, an effort to keep the FBI from investigating evidence that Nixon re-election money was involved.

Elsewhere in Congress, many members said the President's statement increased the odds for Nixon's impeachment and removal from office.

"He's gone," said Rep. Joel T. Brothly, R-Va., of Nixon. "This is the end," said Rep. Harold V. Froehlich, R-Wis.

A kernel of support remained among the southern Democrats who have long sided with Nixon.
