bout those juveniles who wreaked havoc on the local elementary schools . . . but, is the blame all theirs? How about the parents?

And by the way . . . if these kids went in and out of the building five or six times, where were the neighbors? How stome they didn't report these nysterious happenings to the local police? Or is it that they didn't want to get involved? How can we expect the police to do their job if cooperation isn't offered to them by the citizens?

On this same subject . . . did you know that there are habictual youthful offenders who "laugh" on the way to being booked, saying something to the effect that "we're juveniles . . . so we know nothing will happen to us."

Wonder if they'd laugh just as loud knowing that their parents were held liable for their actions. This type of a program was put into use up in Michiin . . . and you'd be surprised at how all of the parents know where their kids are . . . most of the time, anyhow!

There is a way to avoid the cold nights (no, not a plane ticket to the South Pacific!) and transform them into a cory, warm interlude.

A call to Seminole Petroleum, of course!

For the forgetful types Seminole Petroleum has a "keep full" service that will assure you of a ample supply of fuel on even the coldest days. Their method is simple-and thoughtful. They have a delivery route for their customers and check each tank regularly.

This is just one example of the extra thought and efficiency that goes into the service at Seminole Petroleum.

Another service that is especially appreciated by their customers is the special meter that prints out exactly the num ber of gallons of fuel delivered to your home (or business, of ourse). Thus they give you s precise record of your fuel consumption . . . very handy for

This is primarily the responsibility of the superintendent, the faculty and the members of the Seminole County Board of Public Instruction.

Yet when these outbreaks of rebellion against school authority take place there is just one more warning from events that the prime responsibility of a civilized and Christian community to create a citmate within the home and the community of inner strength to resist the evils of these times has been

Every parent, indeed every citizen, must be appalled at such doings as the wrecking of audio and visual teaching aids, the vandalizing of rooms and records, the ripping down and damaging of the American Flag.

We do not, in the slightest, hold any brief for those who take this wrong road. But we join with many others who have thought deeply and seriously about this malaise and have come to the conclusion that schools alone or homes alone do not hold the ef-

What is required is something as old and as revolutionary as the teaching of Christian morals and ethics in the home - not by word, but by example. It is obviously a time when teachers must, as many do, try to reach the pupil who is slow in learning and needs that personal attention which nips the resort to violence in the bud.

Those who have been near to this scene and have been alert to watch for any such reason for these outbreaks as "racial" inform us that such an interpretation would be wrong in fact. Schools are wrestling with the growth problem which has brought about double sessions and over crowded class rooms with a pupil ratio which physically denies proper personal attention. Yet, when the attention of the faculty is properly focused on the task of teaching, improvement does take place. When the faculty drive is for other goals, the pupils know and some become resentful, In the homes, the creation of a solid home base on which the youngsters can depend for understanding and encouragement as they go cut in a world even a school world -- which may seem hostile is Vandalism was not needed to call attention to the crisis which exists in education. But that these several instances have taken place is a fact which can be turned to good account.

Let school and home concentrate their efforts on basics and the roots of such disorders will be cut, Is this too large, too complicated, too naive for Seminole Countians to handle? Of course not!

Police Lt. Charles Fagan charged three boys with breaking and entering, grand larceny and destroying private property after three bikes were stolen and later found in a Goldsboro swimming pool.

Three juveniles were caught by Fagan, Patrolman William Dude and Sheriff's Deputy Otis Redding for the theft of clothing and shoes estimated to be worth approximately $500 from Jeff's. The merchandise was recovered, police revealed.

The latter trie was booked on breaking and entering and petty larceny charges. All suspects will be turned ever to county juvenile authorities. An entry last night into a desk at Reel's Paint and Body Shop on Sanford Avenue resulted in the loss of a number of checks bearing the firm's name and drawn on the Florida State Bank.
