IN BRIEF Harris Opens Bid For Demo President

CONCORD, N.H. (AP) — Former Sen. Fred R. Harris of Oklahoma announced his candidacy today for the 1976 Democratic presidential nomination, calling for an attack on forces preventing "full employment and fair taxes."

Harris, 44, told a news conference he would run "a people's campaign — both in strategy and in beliefs."

Harris, who calls himself a "new populist," stressed economic problems as the central theme of his campaign. "The basic question in 1976 is whether our government will look after the interests of the average family or continue to protect the super rich and the giant corporations," he said.

"Both the economy and the politics of our country are in deep trouble. Too few people have all the money and power, and most people have little or none."

HUD Quits Program

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Department of Housing and Urban Development is shutting down the program to provide federal aid to developers of planned "new towns." The Washington Post reported Friday night.

The Post story said HUD has notified developers it will not accept further applications for construction loan guarantees or other federal new town assistance.

It quoted informed sources as saying the 15 HUD-supervised new towns already in various stages of development will continue to receive limited federal aid because HUD would have to pay off their construction bonds if they went broke.

Kissinger Goes South

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger has tentative plans for a South American trip next month that he hopes will soothe anti-American feelings in the region, State Department sources say.

Although the plans still are not firm, Kissinger expects to visit Argentina, Brazil, Chile, Peru and Venezuela over seven to 10 days in mid-February, the sources said. Kissinger has never visited the continent.

Robbery-Shootout Trial Tops Docket

By BOB LLOYD
Herald Staff Writer

Trials are scheduled in circuit court at Sanford this week for suspects in an attempted robbery-shootout, a cocaine smuggling conspiracy and threats on the life of a witness in a robbery trial.

Included in 25 cases docketed for trial before Circuit Court Judge Richard B. Muldrew is the trial of a 28-year-old Vidalia, Ga., man charged in the Nov. 1 attempted robbery-shootout at the Interstate Mall A & P store in Altamonte Springs.

Trial of Robert Dennis Phillips on charges of robbery, second degree murder, attempted murder, shooting within an occupied building and use of a firearm in commission of a felony was continued from last week. A hearing is scheduled Monday in the case of a defense motion to suppress evidence in the case.

Phillips and two other suspects—Mrs. Dean Parrish, 38, Lyons, Ga., and Dorothy Ketteringham, 18, Sidel, La.—were charged after Altamonte Springs police surprised two men and woman inside the food store during a robbery attempt. Charles Hobbs of Atlanta was killed in an exchange of pistol fire with officers. Altamonte Spings Police Lt. Steve Garver was wounded.

Phillips and Parrish were arrested at the scene and Miss Ketteringham was later taken into custody in Atlanta.

Mrs. Parrish is docketed for trial in the case of the week of Jan. 20. Miss Ketteringham has pleaded guilty to lesser charges and turned state's evidence to testify in the Phillips-Parrish trials.

Also docketed for trial this week is a 35-year-old Longwood man charged with imported $7 million worth of cocaine into the U.S. Mrs. Cotton's husband, Jose Manuel Cotton, 39, faces federal charges in the case, agents said.

Also on the week's trial docket is Grant Wilson Jr., 47, of 583 East SR-436, Altamonte Springs. The self-styled juvenile, his 38-year-old wife Mary Lee Wilson and a 17-year-old juvenile boy were arrested Oct. 18 in connection with the robbery of three elderly Midway residents and the theft of a safe containing between $80,000 and $100,000—the family's life savings.

Wilson faces charges of robbery, use of a firearm in commission of a felony and aggravated assault in the safe theft incident.

Mrs. Wilson is charged with buying, receiving and concealing stolen property and is scheduled for trial Feb. 3. Wilson is scheduled for trial, however, this week on a witness tampering charge stemming from the robbery case.

State Attorney Abbott Herring's office says that a witness in the robbery case, Mrs. Georgia Peterson of Orlando, was placed in fear for her life when Wilson told her that he would kill her or have her killed if she testifies in the upcoming robbery trial.

Wilson is in county jail on $200,000 bond on the witness tampering charge. He is listed as without legal counsel in the case and the trial could possibly be postponed.

Sanford attorney Roger Berry represents Wilson and his wife in the robbery case but he has asked the court several times to let him withdraw from Wilson's case. So far the motions have been denied.

Assistant State Atty. Claude Van Hook is the prosecutor for the Phillips and Wilson trials and Assistant State Atty. Bill Heffernan will present the state's case against Mrs. Cotton.

Lake Mary Facing Thorny Problems

LAKE MARY—A full and controversial agenda faces city council here when it meets at 7:30 p.m. Monday at city hall.

The city must consider the resignation of Police Chief Gerald Fitzgerald, which is to go into effect Tuesday, and the request for reinstatement by Guyenne Turner, who has been temporarily suspended.

And is faced with a slate of developers asking to rezone land for light industrial development.

At the top of the list are two pending development proposals — the annexation and rezoning of a 206-acre parcel west of Interstate 4 and the new request for rezoning of a 145-acre site on Lake Emma Road.

In both cases a change to light industrial zoning is being requested.

HJK Builders Inc. is also slated to appear — after a year-long fight with the city — to again ask for building permits for a proposed subdivision.

In addition, the city will consider two new ordinances for final approval. On or-derance concerns rezoning all land bounded by Lake Mary Boulevard and State Road 46A.

Bradley and Young Associates have asked for rezoning of the Lake Emma Road site, south of the new Scott Electronics Plant, for a proposed International Commerce Center to be patterned after the Orlando Central Park project.

HJK Builders, Inc. has sought a permit for a year to allow it to upgrade the project to the area.

A new ordinance giving the mayor the authority and responsibility for governing the day to day activities of city employees and giving him the power to temporarily hire and suspend city employees is slated to be proposed by Councilman Virginia Mercer.

Also coming up for first readings will be the young city's first subdivision, mobile home and utility control ordinance.

The annexation and rezoning request from Don Rabel is to allow development of an industrial complex of warehousing concerns on land bounded by Lake Mary Boulevard and State Road 46A.

Two promotions have been announced by the Flagship U.S. Bank of Sanford. Wayne Albert, left, has been named executive vice president, and Peter Jamison, right, has been promoted to cashier.

Chamber Head In Sanford Talk

Reservations are still being taken for the Greater Sanford Chamber of Commerce's annual awards banquet Jan. 31, says Jack Horner, executive manager.

Charles H. Smith Jr., current chairman of the United States Chamber of Commerce and chairman of the board of SIFCO Industries, Inc., will be the guest speaker.

The banquet will be held at The Forrest clubhouse in Lake Mary, Horner said. A "happy hour" is planned at 6:30 p.m. with dinner at 7:30 p.m.

The chamber's annual "Toppers" award and many other awards for community leadership and service will be presented at the banquet, Horner said.

The event is open to all civic-minded citizens. Tickets are $10

Man Arrested On Drug Charges

One Sanford man is in jail on felony drug possession charges and Sanford police and Seminole Sheriff's Department are investigating a rash of reported armed robberies.

And at least two Seminole residents surprised burglars in their homes this weekend.

Joseph Edward Cameron, 19, S. Cameron Ave., Sanford, was in Seminole County Jail Saturday on a $5,000 bond. He was arrested by Sanford police Friday evening at Crusty's Pizza, Sanford Plaza, on a charge of "possession of a controlled substance over five grams." Cameron was employed as a laborer at Dumby Stimpson Contractors, according to sheriff reports.

Dwight S. Aisen, 16, 1451 Cavendish Road, Winter Park reported two white men—one wielding a knife-kicked and hit him and took his wallet at about 12:30 a.m. Saturday on Dean Road near Lake Baptist, off State Road 426. He suffered no visible injuries, according to the sheriff's report.

Two white males, reportedly armed with a knife and gun, also reportedly struck and kicked Larry Z. Salmaria, 18, 850 Carnation Drive, Winter Park, early Saturday.

Howard van Pelt, 3423 Glouca Mora Drive, Apopka, reported fishing rods and reels valued at $237 were taken from his home Friday evening.

M. J. Garrett, owner of Garrett's Department Store, 200 E. 1st St., Sanford, also reported a burglary attempt Friday at the store. About $400 damage was reported done to about 2:30 a.m. Saturday.

At least three car thefts were also reported to the sheriff's department and the Sanford police.

Andrew Sulner, 601 19th St., S.W., Washington, D.C., said his 1970 green Dodge and contents, valued at a total of $1,053.50 was stolen at about 3 a.m. Saturday from the parking lot of the Ranch House Restaurant on State Road 400, Sanford, while he was in the restaurant.

Ulysses Harris, 410 Willow Cove, Sanford, told police his 1965 Chevrolet Impala was stolen Friday evening while parked outside his home.

A 1967 Volkswagen belonging to H.E. Sturgeon, 1221 Marquette Road, Orlando, was reported stolen Saturday morning on State Road 419. Sturgeon's son said the car broke down and he had left it on State Road 419. It was valued at $400.

'Sunshine' Probe Is Studied

Williams pressed for a decision, Kwiatkowski then produced a contract for the services of Freeman's firm as county attorney. The new firm would be a savings to the county.

But both Williams and Kimbrough insisted on investigating firms for the attorney post just "as we would research any other professional position."

The decision was continued to the after session, when Villen voted with the two Democrat overcharges have been received since the shortage subsided last spring, officials say.

However, the same regulations are still in effect. And dealers found in violation are subject to civil and criminal charges.

The rules provide that retail dealers may charge gasoline prices no higher than they were charging on May 15, 1973, plus three cents a gallon and adjustments to compensate for their own increases in expenses.

Patrol Checks Two Hit-Run Accidents

Florida Highway Patrol troopers are investigating two hit and run incidents which occurred in Seminole County early Saturday morning.

According to Trooper Michael Hobbs, the FHP is looking for the driver of a gold 1974 Vega who knocked down a power pole on Wymore Road, just south of the entrance to Spring Lake Hills.

About $1,500 damage was done to the power pole and equipment, Hobbs said, adding that the car was totalled and abandoned at the scene. The driver's identification was not known.

21st St. and Sipes Avenue, Midway, Hobbs said White's cousin, Emmitt (cq) Lanier, same address, said White was hit by a white Pinto. Hobbs also said both men were intoxicated.

White was taken to Seminole Memorial Hospital with a dislocated shoulder and minor abrasions on the hand, Hobbs said.

Hobbs also said he is investigating a "possible" hit and run incident involving Clem White, 56, Rt. 2, Box 200 B, Midway. The incident allegedly occurred at about 2:30 a.m. at

Divorce Rate Declines As Dollar Troubles Mount

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

For every four marriages in Seminole County during 1974, three couples sought divorces in the county's courts.

In October, the highest number of divorces was recorded (169) for any 31 day period in Seminole County history—30 more than during the same month of 1973.

But in November, 62 divorces were filed compared with 61 in November, 1973 and in December the divorce rate slacked off from 54 to 47.

And there are even less divorce actions this month, according to a clerk in the circuit judges' office. "People just cannot afford to shell out the $300 to $500 attorney fees for divorces," the clerk said.

Michael Jones, an Altamonte Springs attorney, who does not specialize in divorce cases, said that during hard times there is an overall tendency toward counselling rather than divorce.

He noted that in recent weeks five married persons came to him seeking divorce assistance, only to leave his law office ready to give their marriages another try.

While the marital discord may remain unresolved, the divorce is put off for awhile.

Seminole County Bar Association president Ned Julian Jr. said he has seen an increasing number of clients with domestic problems. "Women who were co-existing in marginal marriages are seeking support from husbands who have bailed out abandoning their families," Julian said.

"More economic pressures are being brought to bear on fragile marriages," he said.

Rev. Lucas Grile, pastor of the Westminster Presbyterian Church, Casselberry, said requests to him for marriage counselling are "null right now."

"Our people are coming to us with every other kind of problem, but the divorce thing is down and has been for six months," Rev. Grile said.

"It has been really quiet on that front. Not even those from outside my congregation are coming in for help with their marriages," he said.

Rev. James Martinez, pastor of St. Augustine's Church, Casselberry, agreed, saying that couples during hard times depend on each other more.

Father Martinez pointed to the Brevard County divorce rate five years ago when it was nationally publicized as the highest in the nation. He said the rate was highest there during Brevard County's most prosperous times.

"From September to now, we have had less marital problems coming to us than in previous years," he said.

Dr. Bob Edelman, of the Center for Psychological Service on SR 436, Altamonte Springs, said there has been a striking drop in the number of married couples seeking counselling at his office since August.

He noted that money problems occasionally cause dissension in marriages, but more often money becomes an issue because of other things—because the marriage partners are not kindly disposed to each other and then resent money outlays.

Unfortunately many do not seek counselling until after the fact—after the divorce—and life has gone sour for them, he said.

FLORIDA IN BRIEF

Seminole School Budget Suffers $608,000 Cutback

TALLAHASSEE—Seminole County schools will see a drop of $608,000 from state school funds in the wake of a cabinet rollback of budgets, Education Commissioner Ralph Turlington reported today.

The county will receive $21,454 million from an anticipated $22,062, or a drop of $608,000.

The decrease was part of a total of $34 million trimmed from the school budgets across the state.

Orange County schools lost $1,683 million from its budget. Orange had been allotted $17,297 million in state funds for the current year ending June 30. It will receive $16,610 million now.

Volusia County took a cut of $707,000 with its expected $19,173 million trimmed to $18,466 million.

Jury Secrecy Sought

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Chief Justice James Adkins of the Florida Supreme Court says he endorses legislative proposals to ban publication of the names of state grand jury witnesses.

"Secrecy is one of the more important elements of the grand jury and I'd like to see laws directed toward that goal," Adkins said Friday to the Senate Judiciary-Criminal Committee.

Present law has no prohibition against publishing names of persons who are subpoenaed to appear before a grand jury or who enter a grand jury room.

Adkins said that making public the names of witnesses was harming the concept that anyone can air grievances against public officials before a grand jury without fear of reprisals.

Askew For Rights Bill

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Gov. Reubin Askew says he hopes Florida and the United States will have passed the Equal Rights Amendment for women by 1976, when the nation celebrates its 200th birthday.

He made the comment Friday after signing a proclamation declaring International Women's Year in Florida in 1975 and preparing for a hemispheric Conference of the Inter-American Commission of Women in Miami in 1976.

U.S. commission delegate Rita Z. Johnston of Washington attended the brief signing ceremony in Askew's office. The commission is part of the Organization of American States.

Job Testing Completed

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — The Parole and Probation Qualifications Committee today completed testing and interviewing of 54 applicants for two $27,000-a-year parole commissioner positions added by state law.

Circuit Judge James Joans of Tallahassee, committee chairman, said his committee hoped to narrow the field to four to six names on Sunday. Gov. Reubin Askew and the Cabinet will make the appointments, subject to Senate confirmations.

The committee, which has encouraged blacks and women to apply, also includes State Atty. Robert Egan Orlando; Asst. State Atty. Janet Reno, Miami; Broward County Sheriff Ed Stack and A.S. "Jake" Gaither, retired Florida A&M University football coach.

Florida Prison Ranks To Increase To 16,000

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — By 1980, Florida will need space for more than 16,000 convicts, according to estimates of the state Parole and Probation Commission and the Corrections Division.

The present adult prison system can hold a maximum of 10,531. The projected population was in a five-year plan presented Friday to the legislature.

'Open Covenants' The Best Method

President Woodrow Wilson was looking toward a new era of diplomacy after World War I when he went before Congress on Jan. 8, 1918, with his famous Fourteen Points for peace. He headed the list with this requirement for peaceful international order: "Open covenants of peace, openly arrived at, after which there shall be no private international understandings of any kind, but diplomacy shall proceed always frankly and in the public view."

By and large the United States of America has tried to uphold a tradition of openness in international diplomacy ever since. It is the apparent departure from that tradition which accounts for the tone of uneasiness which has crept into many otherwise laudatory appraisals of the accomplishments of Secretary of State Henry Kissinger.

Later in 1918 Wilson explained that his call for open covenants did not preclude "confidential diplomatic negotiations involving delicate matters." Diplomacy cannot be conducted in a fish-bowl, especially during the testing and probing of each side's position that is part of the negotiating process. However, Mr. Kissinger's penchant to be tight-lipped during international negotiations has carried over into a reluctance to be open about the results of those negotiations when secrecy can no longer be justified.

It is still not clear exactly what commitments Mr. Kissinger may have made which led to the more favorable turn in relations between the United States and Egypt, and this uncertainty has contributed to Israel's declining confidence in his role as an even-handed mediator in the Middle East. There has been equal difficulty in finding out exactly what agreement was reached at Vladivostok to form the basis for the next round of U.S.-Soviet arm negotiations. Also, the Soviet Union has suggested that Mr. Kissinger deliberately allowed Congress to labor under a misapprehension about the Soviet commitment on Jewish emigration as an exchange for new trade benefits.

Some of our allies have complained about the failure of our State Department to inform them in advance of diplomatic developments that affect them. The former head of intelligence for the State Department, Ray S. Cline, has charged that Mr. Kissinger's "style" of being a one-man virtuoso in managing foreign policy is interfering with the normal decision-making process in the government.

The criticism of Mr. Kissinger that began with questioning of his style is now extending to doubts about the substance of some of the agreements he has fathered in different parts of the world. He would find that criticism easier to answer if he would pay more heed to the Wilsonian principle, based on lessons of history, that the cause of peace is best served when the world knows what "covenants" have been made between governments. That is also a basic principle to follow in earning and sustaining the confidence of one's own people when serving in an open, representative government like ours.

BERRY'S WORLD

Having spent all of a day-and-a-half at the governor's inauguration this past Tuesday, it should qualify me for the "experts" category insofar as political observations are concerned, right?

Right or wrong I'm going to lay a few onto you. Battle 'em around for a while and see if there isn't a trend developing of which you should also be concerned.

There's a definite attitude developing towards the big county versus small county. As a matter of fact, it was Atty. Tom Freeman who brought this to our attention with the statement that "most of the present cabinet and the high courts were elected by the populous Duval County."

For the record, only two of the present cabinet are not from Duval County... Doyle Conner and Bruce Smithers.

When asked what could be done to alter the present trend Freeman said only a shift in the population could. "In the meantime, this decade will see Duval County's influence in political matters governing this state."

Nixon Overspends Transition Funds

WASHINGTON — Richard Nixon has spent almost double the amount Congress allotted for his transition from President to common citizen.

Congress voted a flat $300,000 to help him adjust to private life. He has already spent at least $367,000.

We have obtained the expenditures that Nixon has run up in exile at San Clemente, Calif.

During the first three months, $107,000 was paid out in salaries to 29 aides, including his personal butler, maid, three chauffeurs and a medical corpsman. This doesn't count $47,000 for the Nixon's living expenses, nor $2,419 for their miscellaneous travel bills.

Nixon's own travel from Washington to San Clemente cost the taxpayers $8,440 from the transition fund. But this was only part of the cost; the rest was charged to the White House because he technically remained President during the first part of the flight.

There was a bill for $3,147, however, for packing and moving Nixon's personal effects to Andrews Air Force Base outside Washington. No charge was made against the transition fund for the shipment to San Clemente, because the crates were carried on scheduled military flights. Nixon's military drivers picked up the crates at El Toro Marine Base, Calif.

To keep Nixon's fleet of government cars full of gas has cost $2,000. The taxpayers are even paying for magazine subscriptions for the former President.

A bill for $9,172 was submitted for office supplies, wire service machines and magazine subscriptions.

Not included in the transition cost, of course, is the $17 million that the federal government has sunk in the Nixon estates in California and Florida.

But even after he gave up the presidency, the government continued to lavish money on his two estates. During the first three months of his retirement, $2,160 was spent at San Clemente and $23,540 at Key Biscayne to operate the facilities.

It has cost another $63,000 to screen, crate and store millions of Nixon papers. There has been no final decision, meanwhile, who will wind up owning his presidential papers and gifts.

Except for the $17 million that went into the presidential compounds, all the expenses listed above were supposed to come out of the $300,000 transition budget. This is clear from the language of the House Appropriations Committee report.

Yet on November 9, when these figures were submitted, the former President had already exceeded the budget by a whopping $167,000. This raises the question of who will be stuck for the overspending.

Since Nixon has been pardoned for the crimes his associates have been convicted of, he is still eligible for an annual $60,000 pension and $50,000 staff allowance. The fairest solution might be to deduct the excessive spending from his future appropriations.

Meanwhile, one of the toughest watchdogs in Congress, Rep. Jack Brooks, D-Tex., is keeping a sharp eye on the Nixon spending.

Footnote: The $367,000 in bills Nixon has run up doesn't include the cost of protecting him, which is not considered a transition expense. It will cost the Secret Service at least $622,000 a year to protect the Nixons. Another $126,000 was spent last year on Coast Guard and Secret Service equipment at Key Biscayne.

WASHINGTON WHIRL: As part of the civil defense effort of the 1950s, the federal government stockpiled $60 million worth of portable hospital equipment to be used in case of nuclear attack. This hospital equipment, desperately needed both abroad and at home, is still sitting in warehouses going to ruin for lack of care.

Assistant Labor Secretary Jon Stender has sternly restricted his employees to "those trips which are essential in carrying out our program responsibilities." He set an example by taking nine trips to his home state of Washington, three to sunny Florida, one to Puerto Rico and another to Hawaii, all courtesy of the taxpayers.

We tried to reach him for comment, he was — you guessed it — off on another junket.

The Elizabeth Daily Journal, has been crusading to help keep six young Vietnamese students from being shipped out of Los Angeles to Saigon. The paper's hands-across-the-nation appeal began when an editor learned that the six had protested against South Vietnam's President Nguyen Van Thieu and thus faced the likelihood of reprisals if they were forced to go home.

For more than two years, ex-GI Bob Elliott has been trying to get his undesirable discharge reviewed under a law passed to expedite the process. After his written appeal and argument were heard, he came to Washington to try in person. But after 19 phone calls, he was still unable to get past a secretary or switchboard operator.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Warning that the Soviet Union wants to maintain tensions in the Middle East, Israeli Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin says peace can come only through direct negotiations between his country and the Arab states.

The peace-making is the responsibility of the parties to the conflict, Rabin said in a television interview filmed in Jerusalem.

He added that he doubts the Soviet Union is interested in peace.

"I wouldn't say the Russians' purpose is the destruction of Israel but the prevention of conditions conducive to peace," Rabin told the Christian Broadcasting Network.

MOSCOW (AP) — Two Soviet cosmonauts reported today "everything is going well" as their Soyuz 17 spacecraft went into earth orbit headed for possible docking with a space lab launched 16 days ago.

The Soyuz rocket carrying the two rookie cosmonauts blasted off from Baikonur space center in central Asia shortly after midnight Moscow time, the Soviet news agency Tass reported.

Tass said all systems were operating normally. The flight by Lt. Col. Alexei Gubarev and Flight Engineer Georgy Grechko, both 43, was seen over Russian territory.

While this was a record for a city not particularly noted for a high level of violence, the latest (1973) complete statistics on the penchant of Americans for knocking each other off indicate that with a homicide rate of 28.5 per 100,000 in cities with 250,000 or more population, a city the size of Cleveland can expect about 179 criminal homicides (murder and manslaughter) in a year.

According to the FBI's Uniform Crime Reports, the criminal homicide rate in the cities rises consistently with size, from 1.9 per 100,000 in cities of less than 10,000 population to 27.1 in cities with a million or more.

The national homicide rate — 10.0 per 100,000 — stands at its highest point in 40 years. Paralleling the general increase in violence and disorder in the 1960s, homicide rates increased by about 68 per cent in the period from 1960-61 to 1970-71. Current data indicate the trend continues.

This is not the first time the country has been caught in a rising whirlwind of domestic violence, even in this century. The Statistical Bulletin of Metropolitan Life recalls that homicide rates in the United States showed a steady increase from 1900 to 1933, when a rate of 10.0 per 100,000 was reached, the same rate as today.

After 1933, however, the rate declined for more than a decade, rose sharply in 1948-49, but then resumed a generally downward trend until the late 1950s, when a rate of 4.9 per 100,000 was recorded. Then in the early 1960s the trend reversed and the homicide rate has risen rapidly since then.

The Metropolitan statisticians, using data from the National Center for Health Statistics, have broken the raw figures down into a number of categories:

—For all ages combined, death rates from homicide between 1969-71 and 1970-71 rose by 95 per cent among white males and 44 per cent among white females, and 85 per cent and 37 per cent among nonwhite males and females.

—Increases were highest for white males and nonwhite males and females at ages 1 to 4, reflecting to some extent more accurate recording of deaths resulting from child abuse. As for white females, their largest homicide increase occurred at ages 75-85, which coincides with a reported increase in crimes against the elderly.

—Victims of homicide are predominantly young men, and predominantly nonwhite.

Ann Cramer was elected to be the Democratic effort for the coming year, and she was solidly endorsed by three of the state's biggest counties — Duval, Broward and Duval.

By this time, you should have received the "news from the county tax office."

May I call your attention to a special attachment which reviews all of the present eligibility requirements. There are some new exemptions which could make your state's tax bite easier for some of you.

As an example — $5,000 Homestead Exemption; $5,000 Senior's Additional Homestead Exemption; $500 Widow's Exemption; $500 Disability Exemption; and $4,500 Additional Disability Exemption.

The only precaution offered is that in no event shall the combination of these exemptions exceed $10,000.

If you have any questions on this matter, please feel free to call the proper authorities at the courthouse.

WORLD IN BRIEF

South Vietnam Blasts Hanoi, Cong Positions

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — South Vietnamese bombers continued heavy attacks today on North Vietnamese and Viet Cong positions along the Cambodian border, the Saigon command reported.

It was the fifth straight day of raids northwest of the provincial capital of Phnom Penh, 75 miles north of Saigon, which was taken by the Communists on Tuesday.

The command claimed 27 cease-fire violations by the Communist side in the 24 hours ending at dawn today, the highest number recorded in almost a month. But the command said 150 of the attacks were indirect, meaning by rocket and mortar.

In the Mekong Delta, about 90 miles southwest of Saigon, three civilians were reported killed by Communist shelling.

Rabin Warns Soviets

WASHINGTON (AP) — Warning that the Soviet Union wants to maintain tensions in the Middle East, Israeli Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin says peace can come only through direct negotiations between his country and the Arab states.

The peace-making is the responsibility of the parties to the conflict, Rabin said in a television interview filmed in Jerusalem.

He added that he doubts the Soviet Union is interested in peace.

"I wouldn't say the Russians' purpose is the destruction of Israel but the prevention of conditions conducive to peace," Rabin told the Christian Broadcasting Network.

Oneida Indian Chief Returns To Sanford

By JANE CASSELLBERRY Herald Staff Writer

How did an Oneida Indian Chief from Canada happen to marry a nurse from Sanford with a Swedish heritage?

Wilbert Smith, 78, (whose Indian name is Coletel) still gets a gleam in his eyes when he recalls the romantic circumstances in which he met the former Adele Reynolds of the pioneer Stenstrom family back in 1942.

Smith was hospitalized with injuries in a Detroit, Mich., hospital and was placed in an iron lung. When they advertised for a nurse qualified to operate the iron lung Miss Reynolds was the only one to apply.

It was fate, and after seven weeks of her tender, loving care, as she nursed him back to health, Smith decided to marry his nurse and did not waste any time.

The Smiths lived for 10 years in their Country Club Manor home before moving to Canada where Mrs. Smith died two years ago. Here from Port Stanley, Ontario, Smith is in Sanford for two months to take care of some real estate business.

A full-blooded Indian, Smith said his family name goes back so far, it must date to Capt. John Smith and Pocahontas. The Oneida Tribe is one of six in the Iroquois Nation.

Born in the little Oneida (Ontario) settlement (he does not like to use the name reservation) he comes by his

WILBERT SMITH (he does not like to use the name reservation) he comes by his claim to the position of chief through the blood line on the side of his mother who held the name "Bear Claw."

Not overly ambitious, Smith said he was "just lucky" with many others pushing him to advance his education and career along the way. He attended night school while working for Henry J. Kaiser and later General Motors, advancing to project engineer working in design, layout and drafting.

The tribe now has an elective system for choosing the chief, and after he retired as project engineer he was elected head man. He felt there were some needs of the tribe that he could help, such as teaching Oneida language, land drainage and getting the hills cut for roads so the school buses would not be sliding around in the winter. Smith said that after Prime Minister Trudeau pushed for having French taught in all Canadian schools the Oneida Chief spoke to a council of all the other Indian Chiefs.

As the oldest man in the council, he spoke out in favor of the teaching of the Indian languages in Indian schools instead. Only the tribes from Montreal spoke French so only one of the chiefs opposed his proposal.

"I won out," he says proudly. "They now teach the Indian language in the schools attended by children of six tribes of the Iroquois Nation." One advantage of being an Indian is that they do not have to pay taxes, Smith said.

The Oneidas are found mostly in New York and Canada, but are scattered in states such as Wisconsin and Florida.

Smith retired from active management of tribal affairs after he made the improvements he set out to do, but will carry the honorary title of chief of the Oneidas until he dies.

Strip Mines Stay Busy In Hazard

HAZARD, Ky. — (NEA) — Esthetically, Ollie Combs' property has never been much. It's 40 acres, mostly up and down, at the head of a hill overlooking the town of Hazard.

Nevertheless, it's all she has — and her great pride. Thus, when a coal company rudely invited the land a decade ago, with strip mining intentions and machinery as tall as the trees, widow Combs said no. She said it so forcefully, in fact, positioning herself in front of bulldozers and so forth, that she became something of an instant mountain legend.

Today, widow Combs has retired from the war against strip mining. She says she's too old now — 70 — for combat. She does keep up "some" strip mine news, she adds, but for the most part she's out of it. She spends her time quietly, caring for a paralyzed relative in a dilapidated home on the flattest portion of the 40 acres.

Meanwhile, all about, the strippers still tear up the land. The departure of this warhorse is of more than passing interest in the local and national strip mining controversy. For she has retreated not only because of age, but in the face of changing odds favoring the other side. Times in America, hard, have swung against the sensitive, militant, defiant approach to surface coal mining and toward "necessary" acquiescence. This widow Combs and other anti-strippers, once heroes, are now, in light of energy shortages and industrial stagnation, considered dangerous by many of the fearful.

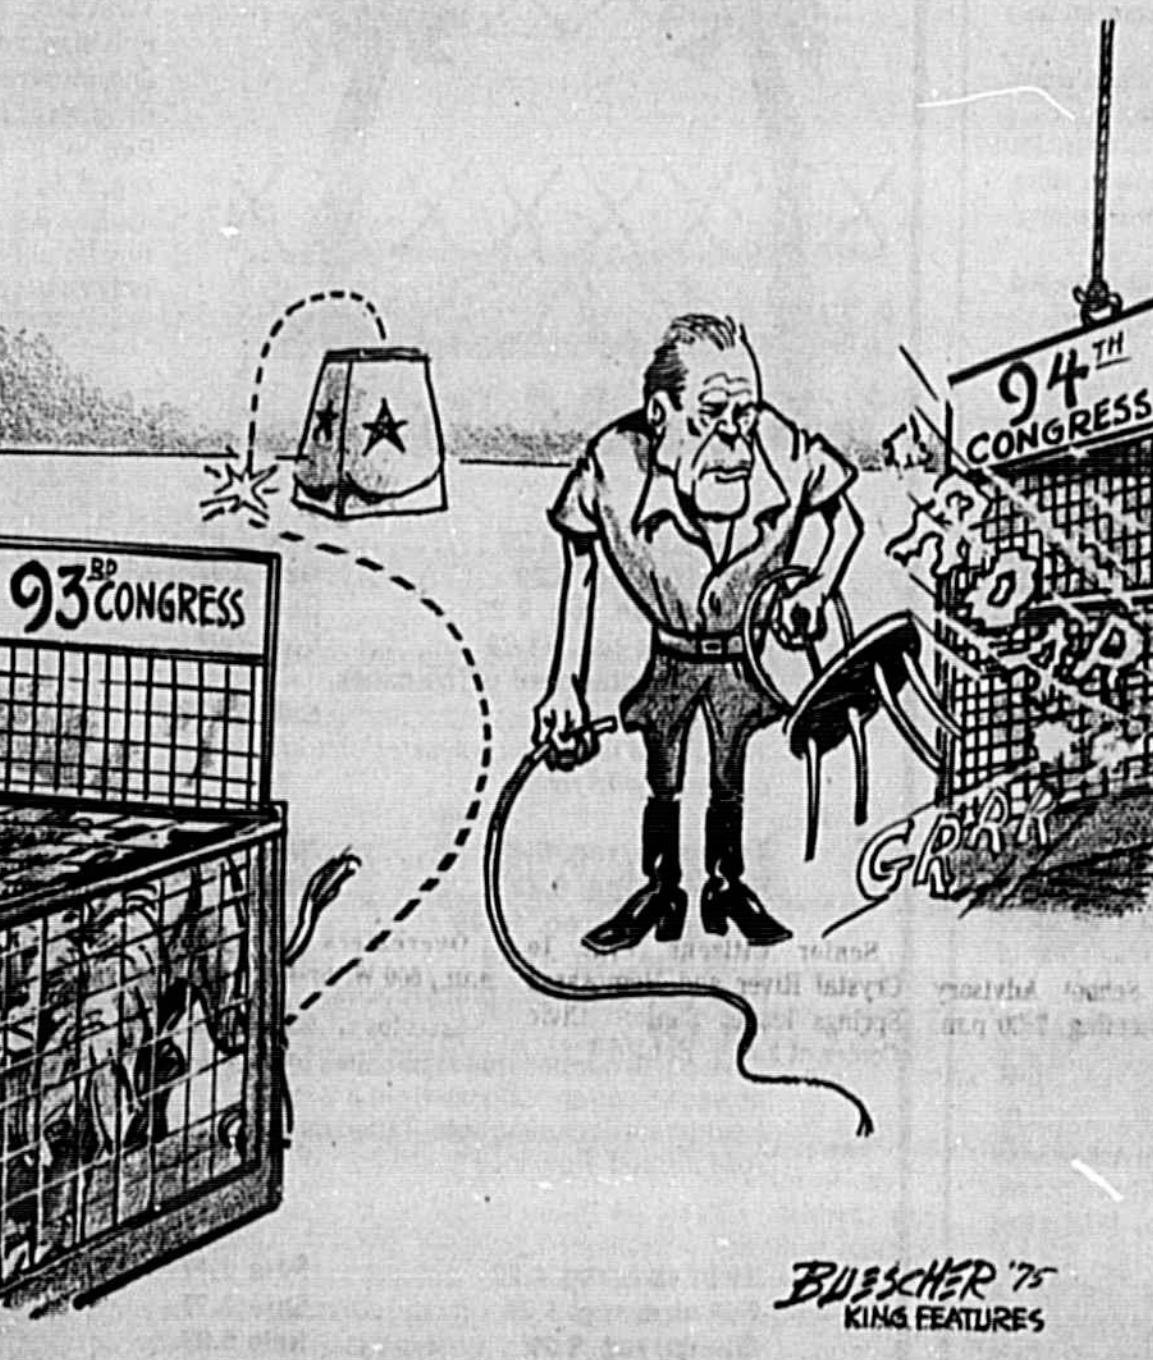

The trend away from the hard line on strip mining is of course most apparent in coal country. Ken Ratliff, of Kentucky's Bureau of Reclamation, says this state as a whole is still "very concerned" about surface mining abuses, "but coal counties are something else." Bumper stickers in the hills proclaim: "We Dig Coal." Mining area newspapers trumpet statistics which show a doubling in Kentucky of strip-mining activity. Individuals often equate conservationists with anti-Americanism: "What do they want, the Arabs to take over?"

The pro-strip attitude carries no mystery here. Coal at present is synonymous with prosperity. Oldsters who remember the Appalachian dollar gloom of yesteryear, and read about enormous problems elsewhere even now, say with accuracy that strip mining here is the difference between lower middle class survival and desperate privation.

Says one coal executive: "Companies are now charged $35 an acre and $150 for each permit to dig. Plus there is a 35 to 40 cent severance tax per ton. Half the acreage and permit charges are given to the counties, and a percentage of the severance tax. Hell, that's big money. You don't find people staking here willing to forego it for the sake of a few trees. We worry about people, not landscapes."

And so it is that while some people do profit, the landscape suffers. Despite a fairly stiff state reclamation law, great stretches of the surrounding hills have been wounded. Large numbers of giant coal trucks dominate and damage the highways. Roadside processing plants, at full steam, throw out ever widening circles of scorched earth. The air is heavy with the smells and grime of cold coal ash.

And things will get even worse. Coal production in America this year is programmed to equal last year's 591-million tons, and a government study foresees annual digging rates of two billion tons by 1985 — more than half of it by strip mining. Farinas will get 600,000 acres of cropland is under coal leases in North Dakota alone, water supplies will be threatened, ecological and human balances upset. Says one area glomster: "What you see here you'll soon see everywhere in the U.S."

BUBSCHER'S KINKS FEATURES

WILLIAM A. RUSHER Are You Afraid Of Flying?

This column is being written in my New York apartment, but in the brief period before it reaches you I shall have traveled nearly 9000 miles. When you read it, I will be strolling along a street in Hong Kong — window-shopping, perhaps, or glancing out across the world's most dramatic harbor toward Victoria Peak.

It is of course, jet travel that has made this sort of thing possible, and I hope I never grow so blasé that I start taking it for granted. Will there be a time, do you suppose, when our children's children will think no more of a flight to Paris or Hong Kong than you or I would think of one from New York to Washington or from San Francisco to Los Angeles? I hope not, for the wideness and sheer wonder of the world are among its most magical charms. No doubt airline pilots and stewardesses get pretty inured to the delights of travel, but I hope I don't, and doubt that I ever will.

Of course for some people I suspect for many people — flying itself is a serious obstacle to extensive travel. I once talked to a lady in Cape Town who had never flown and was determined that she never would. "I'd rather walk a donkey from here to Cairo," she told me, "than take a plane."

Psychologists say that the fear of flying is rooted in an unconscious fear of putting oneself completely in somebody else's hands. How much this bothers us depends, of course, upon our own past history. In fact, there are, at the other end of the spectrum, people who positively enjoy being wholly in somebody else's hands. These are the types who, on boarding a plane, promptly and happily fall asleep. "Let the pilot worry," seems to be their attitude.

Having spent all of a day-and-a-half at the governor's inauguration this past Tuesday, it should qualify me for the "experts" category insofar as political observations are concerned, right?

Right or wrong I'm going to lay a few onto you. Battle 'em around for a while and see if there isn't a trend developing of which you should also be concerned.

There's a definite attitude developing towards the big county versus small county. As a matter of fact, it was Atty. Tom Freeman who brought this to our attention with the statement that "most of the present cabinet and the high courts were elected by the populous Duval County."

For the record, only two of the present cabinet are not from Duval County... Doyle Conner and Bruce Smithers.

When asked what could be done to alter the present trend Freeman said only a shift in the population could. "In the meantime, this decade will see Duval County's influence in political matters governing this state."

Life And Violent Deaths

Over one bloody weekend in Cleveland a couple of months ago, 10 people were shot to death. The victims were young, and, in passion and in cold blood, by design and by inadvertence.

While this was a record for a city not particularly noted for a high level of violence, the latest (1973) complete statistics on the penchant of Americans for knocking each other off indicate that with a homicide rate of 28.5 per 100,000 in cities with 250,000 or more population, a city the size of Cleveland can expect about 179 criminal homicides (murder and manslaughter) in a year.

Broadway Landlords Happy As Productions Take Jump.

EDITOR'S NOTE — Nothing ventured, nothing gained. So say executives of the vast Shubert organization. Broadway landlords who give financial backing to a variety of entertainment. They are revising old ways of doing business in the theater.

By WILLIAM GLOVER
AP Drama Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Broadway's show supply is up this season, a trend particularly gratifying to that bunch every one else neglects, the landlords. For without them, the multimillion dollar Shubert organization, and as busy revising old ways of doing business.

The important thing, keynotes Bernard B. Jacobs, "is development of a constant, dynamic flow of productions." Jacobs is one of the executive triumvirate which runs the vast Shubert organization, and as and Irving Goldman have operated on a philosophy of nothing ventured, nothing gained. Other theater owners have been branching out too, but with control of 17 of Broadway's 36 temples of commercial drama, Shubert dominates the industry, says Jacobs.

Help ranges from providing the final front money a project needs to begin rehearsal to picking up the tab for four musicians a show doesn't need and cannot afford but which a labor contract requires.

To attract young audiences, management is keenly interested in a widening variety of entertainment — cabaret careers as well as conventional plays, environmental events as well as production nicely caged within the proscenium arch.

"We have to get people under 35 to know that the theater isn't just for their grandfathers," asserts Jacobs.

Economics, Enforcement Dims 'White Lightning'

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Economics, enforcement and education have taken the thunder out of white lightning in the Southeast. Riley Odey of the U.S. Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms (ATF) Division's Jackson office says illegal whiskey production has dropped so much that his Mississippi agents can concentrate more on other duties.

"There's no doubt about it. Moonshining is down tremendously," Odey said. "We virtually don't have it any more." The director of Mississippi's Alcoholic Beverage Control Division, Uree Garner, agreed. "Until eight months ago, we were catching 3 1/2 stills a week on an average. That average has dropped tremendously," he said.

Garner said people once bought moonshine because it was cheap. "But with the rising cost of sugar and other ingredients, people are finding they can get bonded whiskey for the same price." Jones said enforcement campaigns in South Carolina and Georgia have played a part in the decline of moonshine, although Georgia continues to lead the region in illegal whiskey production.

In Florida, moonshining activities which once flourished throughout the state are now limited primarily to northern portions near the Georgia and Alabama lines. Russell Bailes of Florida's Beverage Division, said, "The moonshiner is the only criminal for whom special agents are assigned to his particular capture. That makes things pretty rough on him."

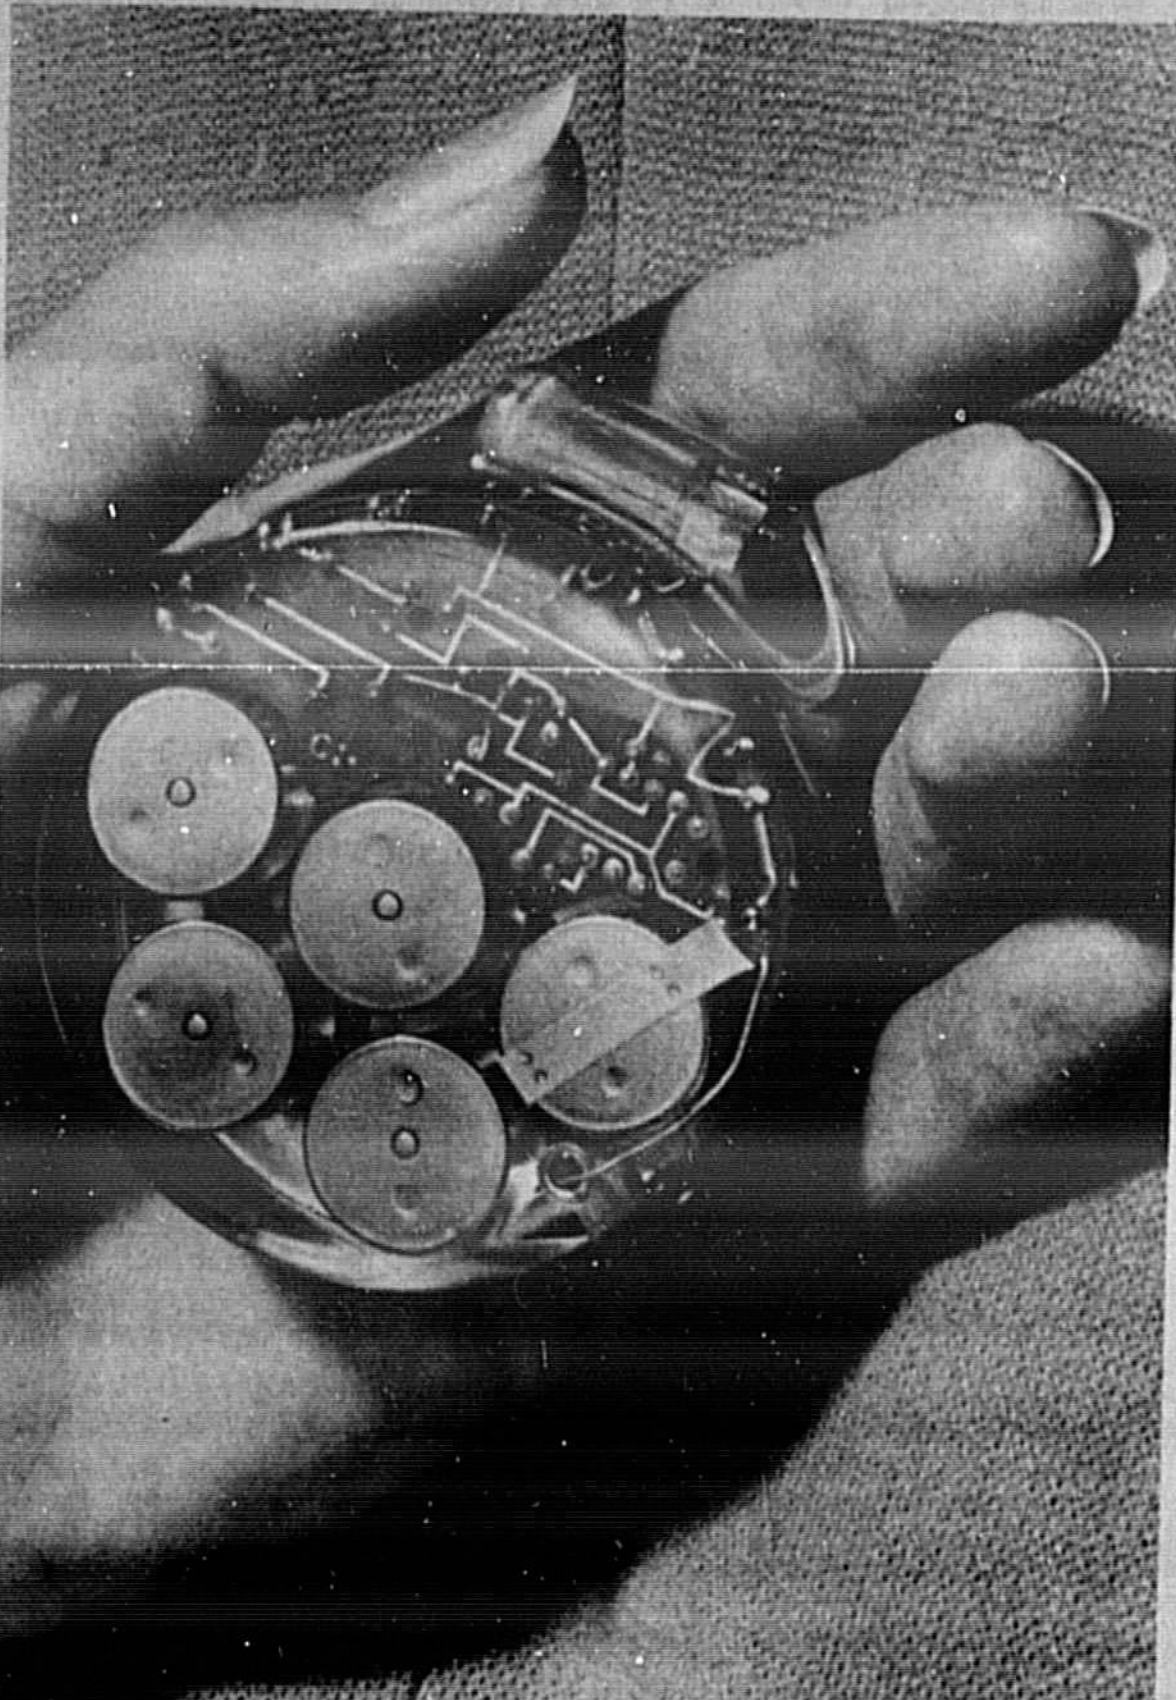

Adopted Children Keep Single Teacher-Mom Busy

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — Beverly Emmert, one of seven children, always wanted to raise a family of her own. When still single at age 30, she decided to adopt her family. "I love children," said Miss Emmert, now 34. "When I hadn't found anybody I wanted to settle down with and have my own children, I figured I'd better get at it and adopt some."

An elementary school teacher, Miss Emmert is now the mother of three. Sarah Beth, a cute 4-year-old blonde, was adopted in 1970. Jason, a handsome biracial child, joined the Emmert family when he was seven weeks old. He's now two, Katie, the baby of the family, will be one next month. She also is biracial.

Miss Emmert has formed strong opinions about the family bond. "Perhaps my beliefs are just reinforcement of my upbringing," she says, "but I think I have to provide a strong home environment for the kids. I don't want them to go to nursery or day-care schools. I have a marvelous baby-sitter to watch them while I'm working. It allows them to stay in familiar surroundings."

The Emmerts return as often as possible to Syracuse, N.Y., where Miss Emmert grew up. "We have no relatives here and I think it is important that they know family. My brothers and sisters are great. They don't think anything about my adopting three children. This just means there are more nieces and nephews."

Little Miracle, the pacemaker, commonly used today has five batteries (circles) connected to transistors. The unit offers hundreds of heart cases a new lease on life.

Pacemaker Offers New Lease On Life

By SUSAN FORREST
The Herald Services
SACRAMENTO, Calif. — "I have a new lease on life," said Mabel Jones, age 62. James Lange, 48, believes "I've had five extra years already."

"I wouldn't be here talking right now if I didn't have this thing inside," said Cecil Cooper, 72. The object of praise is a pacemaker each has under the skin keeping the heart beating.

Developers Hit On Improvements

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Land sales are dropping in Florida and complaints are increasing about developers who fail to provide promised improvements, the state Land Sales Division director says. The first problem compounds the second because of difficulty the developers have in getting money to do the work, Al Baker said.

In addition, he said, costs of building material and fuel have risen so much that the developer has problems providing roads and the buyers complain. What this means to persons buying land is that they should follow the lead of the Land Sales Division and look more carefully at how much money the developer has available to provide the promised improvements, Baker said.

Some developers have had to cut back on their sales operations and some have had to make land sales in large packages to keep going, he said. Developers plan on losing money over the first years of sales of a subdivision and then making it up in the latter part of their 10-year sales contracts. "If the purchasers decide they can't keep up the payments and sales are falling off, the developer can't get capital, they are in a difficult financial squeeze," which is the picture now, Baker said.

There are pacemakers for different activities, too. "For younger people there is a variable-rate pacemaker with an extra wire. It makes the heart beat faster if the person starts to run," said Dr. Smeleff.

The demand pacemaker is for those with intermittent heart blocks. It does not compete when the heart is going strong. "It keeps them from falling over dead," said Dr. Edward Smeleff, heart surgeon.

There are limitations, but one with a pacemaker has an advantage not enjoyed by those with all flesh and blood hearts. In case of emergency, the doctor can listen to his heart-beat faster if the person beats long distance by telephone.

"We are careful to look in more depth at the assurances that we require of subdividers such as trust accounts for improvements and irrevocable letters of credit," he said. The buyer should continue to look at the offering statement and contract, reports the legislature has required the developer to provide to give full disclosure, and he should get the help of a lawyer, Baker said.

With electrical jolts 70 times a minute or more, lot continues almost as usual. But those with pacemakers take some precautions. "With a pacemaker you shouldn't skydive or scuba dive deeper than 100 feet, but these are absurd things," said Dr. Smeleff.

He warns seriously against pacemaker wearers standing before a radar oven, walking through an airport electronic detector or leaning against the alternator of a car with the ignition on.

"I didn't have any trouble when I flew to San Diego (Calif.)" said Lange. "I told them I had a pacemaker and wasn't flying."

DEAR ABBY
Daughter Falls For Older Man
By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Our beautiful and intelligent 22-year-old daughter is ruining her life, and I am helpless to stop her. She says she is in love with a married man who plans to divorce his wife and marry her. Abby, the man is 53 (ten years older than her father) and will help you gain the affection of one you like but seems unapproachable. Show that you are a business expert can give the advice you need.
CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Show your affection for good friends who have done many favors for you in the past. Think constructively. Be calm.
AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Be sure you help good friends who may be in trouble and need your advice. A business expert can give the advice you need.
PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Put that plan to work that will help you gain the affection of one you like but seems unapproachable. Show that you are a business expert can give the advice you need.
IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will want to return any favors that have been extended, and thereby be able to make and keep friends.
A fine chart for organizational work of great magnitude, the dedication to duty is very pronounced in this chart. Give ethical training early.
The Stars imply, they do not compel. What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

STEELERS

Pittsburgh's Super-Job Is To Forget

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Pittsburgh must forget the tradition, forget the unwritten rules, forget the jinxes, and just remember that it has the best defense in the National Football League.

And, to employ a cliché, the best offense is a good defense. Or, as Pittsburgh quarterback Terry Bradshaw put it before the Steelers began their final workouts for today's Super Bowl IX, "The offense scores the points, but the defense wins the game."

That's how the Steelers expect to stop the Minnesota Vikings — and stop the nonsense that a first-time entry into this ultimate of pro football tests can't win against a team that's been in it before.

True, the Steelers have never been in a Super Bowl before. In fact, they've never been in an NFL championship game before, not in any of their 42 years. But that does not have to work against them, not with their defense.

The Vikings, on the other hand, have been here before and that could hurt them in the long run. Twice they've tried to scale the mountain. Twice they've been caught in land slides. First it was a 23-7 upset at the hands of the Kansas City Chiefs in 1970's Super Bowl IV. And last year it was an equally embarrassing 24-7 loss to the Miami Dolphins.

So the Vikings, many of whom must be thinking that this just might be their last shot at all the marbles, could be pressing just a little too hard to vindicate themselves, to eradicate the memories of those bitter, lopsided defeats.

Defensively, the Steelers appear statistically at least, to have an almost overwhelming advantage, particularly in light of Minnesota's inability to stop a consistent passing game.

On offense, the Vikings have crafty quarterback Fran Tarkenton, superior to Bradshaw — but not by that much.

Unless he's been playing way over his head the last few games, which is unlikely, Bradshaw has shown himself to be a capable, even inspiring, leader.

The running game, though, is all on Pittsburgh's side, with Franco Harris and Rocky Bleier heading the steamroller. The passing aspect seems even, with Minnesota having more success going to its running backs but Pittsburgh possessing a wealth of wide receivers.

Nevertheless, it all comes down to defense, as it almost always has when a Super Bowl is at stake. And when it comes down to defense, it comes down to Pittsburgh's kind of game.

VIKINGS

Minnesota: Experience Is Super-Prof

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The Minnesota Vikings can win today's Super Bowl IX with cunning and guile—and that's what experience teaches you in professional football.

The Vikings have experience with a capital E. Not only do they have the experience of playing in two previous Super Bowls, but they have it just about anywhere you want to look.

Start with the coaches. Minnesota's Bud Grant has been a head coach for 18 years and this is his ninth league championship game, counting the six times his teams played for the Canadian Football League title. Pittsburgh's Chuck Noll has been a head coach for six years and his only previous league championship game experience was as an assistant.

Then you've got the quarterbacks: the Vikings' Fran Tarkenton, 14 years a starter, more passing yards and more touchdown passes than any other active NFL quarterback, versus the Steelers' Terry Bradshaw, a sometime starter during his five-year pro career.

And you can go right on down the line.

The key to Super Bowl IX is likely to come in the trenches, reminiscent of the real line battles of the pre-1960 era.

It will be Pittsburgh's brash young defensive front four of L.C. Greenwood, Joe "Don't Call Me Mean" Greene, Ernie Holmes and Dwight White, if he's well enough. That's a total of 19 years of experience going against 46 years in the Minnesota offensive line of center Mick Tinglehoff, guards Andy Maurer and Ed White, and tackles Grady Alderman and Ron Yary.

The Pittsburgh defenders are aggressive and quick, maybe too aggressive and quick for their own good, particularly in a game against a quarterback like Fran Tarkenton.

The natural instinct of a front four, especially a young one, is to penetrate quickly and seek out the football in the other team's territory. It takes years and years of experience to hold back and contain, when that strategy is called for.

Noll, naturally, has harped on this all week long. But the veteran offensive line of the Vikings will be using every trick of the trade to lure Greenwood and Greene, in particular, into penetrating too quickly. Minnesota will be waiting for a momentary mental lapse, something younger players are more prone to. Then watch out. There goes Tarkenton.

On the reverse side of the coin, the experience in the Minnesota defensive line with such stalwarts as Alan Page, Jim Marshall and Carl Eller, will not work to the advantage of young Bradshaw, who likes to run the football himself. Then there's that five-man front that Minnesota's been using in certain situations, and Noll is the first to admit that his team is not down to this defensive wrinkle.

Above all, the Vikings collectively have had a goal since last January, when the Steelers weren't even together: not this one-game-at-a-time stuff, although each game was a stepping stone, but to get back to the Super Bowl and win it.

The Old Pro: Knickers And Creaky Shoes

By TOM KEYSER
Herald Sports Editor

DELTONA — Gene Sarazen stepped to the 13th tee, quickly drove down the middle of the fairway, then spoke as if he were talking to his clubhouse, "It will play."

Mark Linton followed Sarazen to the tee, took two practice swings, stood behind his ball examining the 515-yard hole, took another practice swing, approached the ball, examined some more, then hit it into the left rough.

"No!" he hollered and slammed the wood into the ground.

Sarazen sat in his cart and chuckled. It was a classic pairing when Sarazen, the old pro, and Linton, the pro aspirant, were half a foursome in Deltona Open's Pro-Am on Friday.

Sarazen is 72 and Linton is 15.

"He plays well, sure," said Sarazen. "But you can't tell about these kids at an early age."

"How old are you, Mark? Sarazen asked. "Fifteen."

"Fifteen? Boy, you have got a long way to go. I wouldn't want to start over at 15."

"You can't really tell until they're 18 or so," Sarazen continued. "I've got a grandson who is 15 and can play me even one time out and the next time out he can't even beat himself."

"The important thing at that age is to develop the swing. At that stage the swing is all there is. You've got to sow the seeds then."

"Well, I think I've got my swing down pretty good," countered Linton. "I'm just trying to make the shots now."

"I wasn't too consistent today. I should have shot about a 72."

He shot a 76 and Sarazen shot a 75. Their streak, after turning the front side with a best-ball 29, had a 33 on the back side for a 62, eight strokes behind the winning team.

Mal Galletta Jr. of Glen Cove, New York, the pro, and Ray Winstead, Fred Davis and Thomas Dwyer, the amateurs, won the Pro-Am with a 54.

Four teams, headed by professionals Denny Lyons, Tom Tinsley, Stan Lisk and Mike O'Sullivan, tied for second at 58.

Doug Dalziel of Stratford, Conn., fired a 69 for the lowest professional score of the day. Charles Keating, Bob Bratler, Earl Fennell, Dean Lind, Nate Starks and Ron Letteller had 70s.

Galletta and Dalziel each received $200 and the three amateurs playing with Galletta received $200 apiece in merchandise.

Sixty pros and 180 amateurs competed in the Pro-Am.

Two hundred forty-four pros are competing Saturday and today for $15,000 in the fifth annual Deltona Open.

First prize is $1,600 and proceeds, estimated at $10,000 will go to the Central Florida Zoological Society for construction of a zoo between Sanford and Deltona.

But the highlight of the weekend was Sarazen... the old pro, the legend.

The double eagle in the Masters at Augusta in 1934... the people still talked about it Friday at Deltona, forty years later.

He won the PGA and the U.S. Open at the age of 29 in 1922.

...invented the grand slam of golf, winning all four major championships in one year.

He became the oldest golfer at 61 to survive the 36-hole cut in the Masters in 1963.

Then just last year, when Sarazen was 71, he once again took the golfing world into the palm of his hand with a hole-in-one at the British Open.

And then, the next day, he holed-out from a sand trap on the same par-three.

Now Sarazen has buritis in his right shoulder. He cannot sleep a full night's sleep and he plays golf only two or three times a week.

He and his wife, Mary, live at Marco Island, on the southwest Florida Gulf Coast.

On the 16th tee Friday, Sarazen again belted his drive down the middle of the fairway. Linton followed with a screaming drive that hit a tree in the right rough, 100 yards away.

"You're too loose," Sarazen said. "You're swinging like this."

Sarazen's exaggerated example looked like he was swinging the club with rubber arms.

Canadian Boxers Enter Hot Ring

From the cold northern winter come 16 of Canada's top amateur boxers to compete in what is expected to turn into a hot contest when they meet an awaiting group of Central Florida boxers in Orlando on Tuesday night.

The Canadian national amateur boxing team, making a mid-January swing through the Sunshine State, will go toe-to-toe with several local sluggers when they meet in the ring at the Orlando Sports Stadium at 8 p.m.

The Canadian team arrives in Orlando today to begin two days of training before the match. The team is coming from events in Hemestead and Miami.

The international boxing event is being coordinated in the area by local promoter Pete Ashlock.

Ashlock said the boxing match is "more than a sporting event."

"This will be a prestige event for the city of Orlando and the surrounding area."

Sports Stadium Coach Jimmy Williams will guide into the ring boxers Scott Clark of Casselberry, Allan Dalton of Tavares, Jimmy Clay of Winter Park and Ricky Zwiercon of St. Petersburg.

Fred Mitchell and Gordon Russell, coaches for the Canadian team, will be joined at the match by ring-side official Bert Lowes of the Canadian Amateur Boxing Federation. Lowes will judge or act as a non-scoring referee, along with three American officials, who will be sanctioned by the local Amateur Athletic Union.

Burke-Smith Say Vows In Open Air Ceremony

Greetings on this official dawn of International Women's Year...

Miss Kathy Sue Smith and Kenneth Alan Burke were married Dec. 29, at 1 p.m., at Wekiwa Springs State Park...

Mrs. Kenneth Alan Burke — Kathy Sue Smith

Back to the Democrats for a moment: Linda Lohr, daughter of School Board member Pat Telson...

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James R. Smith, Hester Avenue, Sanford...

Ernestine Forward of Forest City, who has stuck with the local committee through the thin and the fat years...

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white velvet gown featuring sweetheart neckline and empire waist...

Did you ever wonder how Winter Springs Council member Irene Van Epsel, mother of three, keeps her girlish figure?

Sandi Crownover of Sanford served as maid of honor in an olive green velvet gown with organza sleeves...

Five year old Barry Glenn, all spruced up in his new sports coat, sat with his father, Douglas in the front row at the Altamonte Springs city hall...

Best man was Ernie Eisele of Sanford, and brother of the bride, Mark Smith, was groomsmen.

Following a reception at the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, the couple left on a wedding trip to Kentucky and North Carolina.

The bride is employed at Walgreens, and the bridegroom at J.C. Penney's hardware and sporting goods department, Sanford.

Brown-Johnson Marry

Mrs. Edward Louis Brown — Gladys Johnson

Miss Gladys Johnson, daughter of Mrs. and Mr. Mae Johnson, 2016 Williams Ave., Sanford, became the bride of Edward Louis Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Brown, 1201 West 13th Place, Sanford, Dec. 28, at the New Mt. Calvary Missionary Baptist Church, Sanford.

Fields and Gail Dennis wore pink velvet gowns with white lace inset and carried pink carnations with maroon streamers.

Chairman is Ann Cramer of Miramar and vice chairman is Walter Smith of Jacksonville. Mrs. Cramer served briefly as chairman some years ago during an unexpired term.

Seminole's Supervisor of Elections, Camilla (Cam) Bruce, who has served in office for the past 23 years, since her appointment by Gov. Fuller Warren in 1951, will be celebrating her twin — Pat and Dickie's — 30th birthday in April.

The bride was given in marriage by her grandfather, Mr. Floyd A. Palmer of Sanford, and wore a formal wedding gown of candlelight tulle with a high collar and long sleeves.

Kathleen added that the small counties in the state — such as Seminole — were somewhat discriminated against by the weighted vote system used by the state committee.

Incidentally, Longwood's new mayor, Jim Lorman, is also a twin. His sister is the attractive Sandra Lorman. And, of course, he has a delightful older sister, Linda.

The couple left for a trip through Georgia and North Carolina and are now making their home in Thomastown, a suburb of Tampa.

Altamonte City Clerk Phyllis Jordahl, who has to be the prettiest city clerk in the area has enrolled in an economics class at Seminole Junior College working toward her diploma in business administration.

The bride is in her junior year at the University of South Florida and will continue her studies. The bridegroom will graduate in June from the medical school of the University of South Florida.

A member of the local Democratic committee for the past 12 years, Kathleen temporarily retired from the state committee in 1966. All who know Kathleen well will remember that her young daughter Kelley was born during the heat of her campaign for re-election that year.

A constant companion of Longwood City Clerk Onnie Shomate is her 11-year-old granddaughter, Julie Ann Martin. The two go to church together and out to dinner often. Onnie currently is teaching Julie how to sew and knit.

Seminole's GOP are mighty proud of their state committee woman, Jeanne Rodriguez. Jeanne, at the reorganization of the state Republican committee, was elected secretary-treasurer, to mark the first time a Seminole County resident has been in office there.

Thank you, Donna. Makes you feel proud, doesn't it? Not only are these women doing a fine job in the political arena, but they're living full lives as mothers, wives and grandmothers, too. To say nothing of developing their personal talents in the world of arts and crafts.

For today, why not go some place different, or do something new you've been considering for ages? Have fun!

FOR TODAY, WHY NOT GO SOME PLACE DIFFERENT, OR DO SOMETHING NEW YOU'VE BEEN CONSIDERING FOR AGES? HAVE FUN!

Scouts Meet

Under the direction and assistance of principal David Sawyer and his wonderful faculty and administrative staff, Grace Zemejda, Jack Bullington, Sue Osborn, Darlene Adams, Yvett Lycans, Susie Gaskin, Terry Nicasio, Ronald Wilson, Diane and Lonnie Friend, Barbara Newsome, and Beckie Hunter worked like beavers to see that the school was ready for the rush of new students.

Come Join Us

Winter Springs Junior Police will meet on Jan. 14 at 7:30 p.m. at the new city hall. The Ladies Auxiliary to the Winter Springs Volunteer Fire Department will sponsor a film on the March of Dimes, Jan. 13 at 7:30 p.m. in the Recreation Building. All are welcome to attend.

King-Lima Wed

Miss Pamela Marie Lima and Michael Ketterer King were married on Jan. 4 at a candlelight ceremony at the Orlando Naval Base Chapel. Chaplain W. B. Feagins officiated. The bride is the daughter of Lillian Dunthorn of 115 Alderwood St., Winter Springs. The bridegroom is the son of Cmdr. USN (Ret.) and Mrs. Edward King of Portsmouth, R.I.

Firemen, Hurrah

The Volunteers and paid personnel of the Winter Springs Fire Dept. deserve a large accolade from the citizens of the city. Since the Fire Station was opened last week, it has been staffed 24 hours a day. The Volunteers are taking turns sleeping there nights to give the city maximum fire protection.

School's Open

In preparation for the opening of the Winter Springs Elementary School last Monday, parents and members of the PTO spent three days working to get the school ready for occupancy. They cleaned, polished, hugged books, and did all the mental tasks necessary to prepare the building.

Marriage

The groom is presently employed as an electrician at General Dynamics in Groton, Conn. A footnote to the wedding: The mother of the bride made all of the beautiful gowns worn by the entire wedding party.

Young Horsewoman Dreams Of Riding In Future Olympics

At a first glance Dana Henry seems just like any other Seminole County youngster — bright eye, pig-tailed and lively. But Dana has an ambition which not every other 12-year-old girl in the county has. She dreams of being an Olympic horseback rider. Or more specifically, jumper.

ABOUT ANIMALS

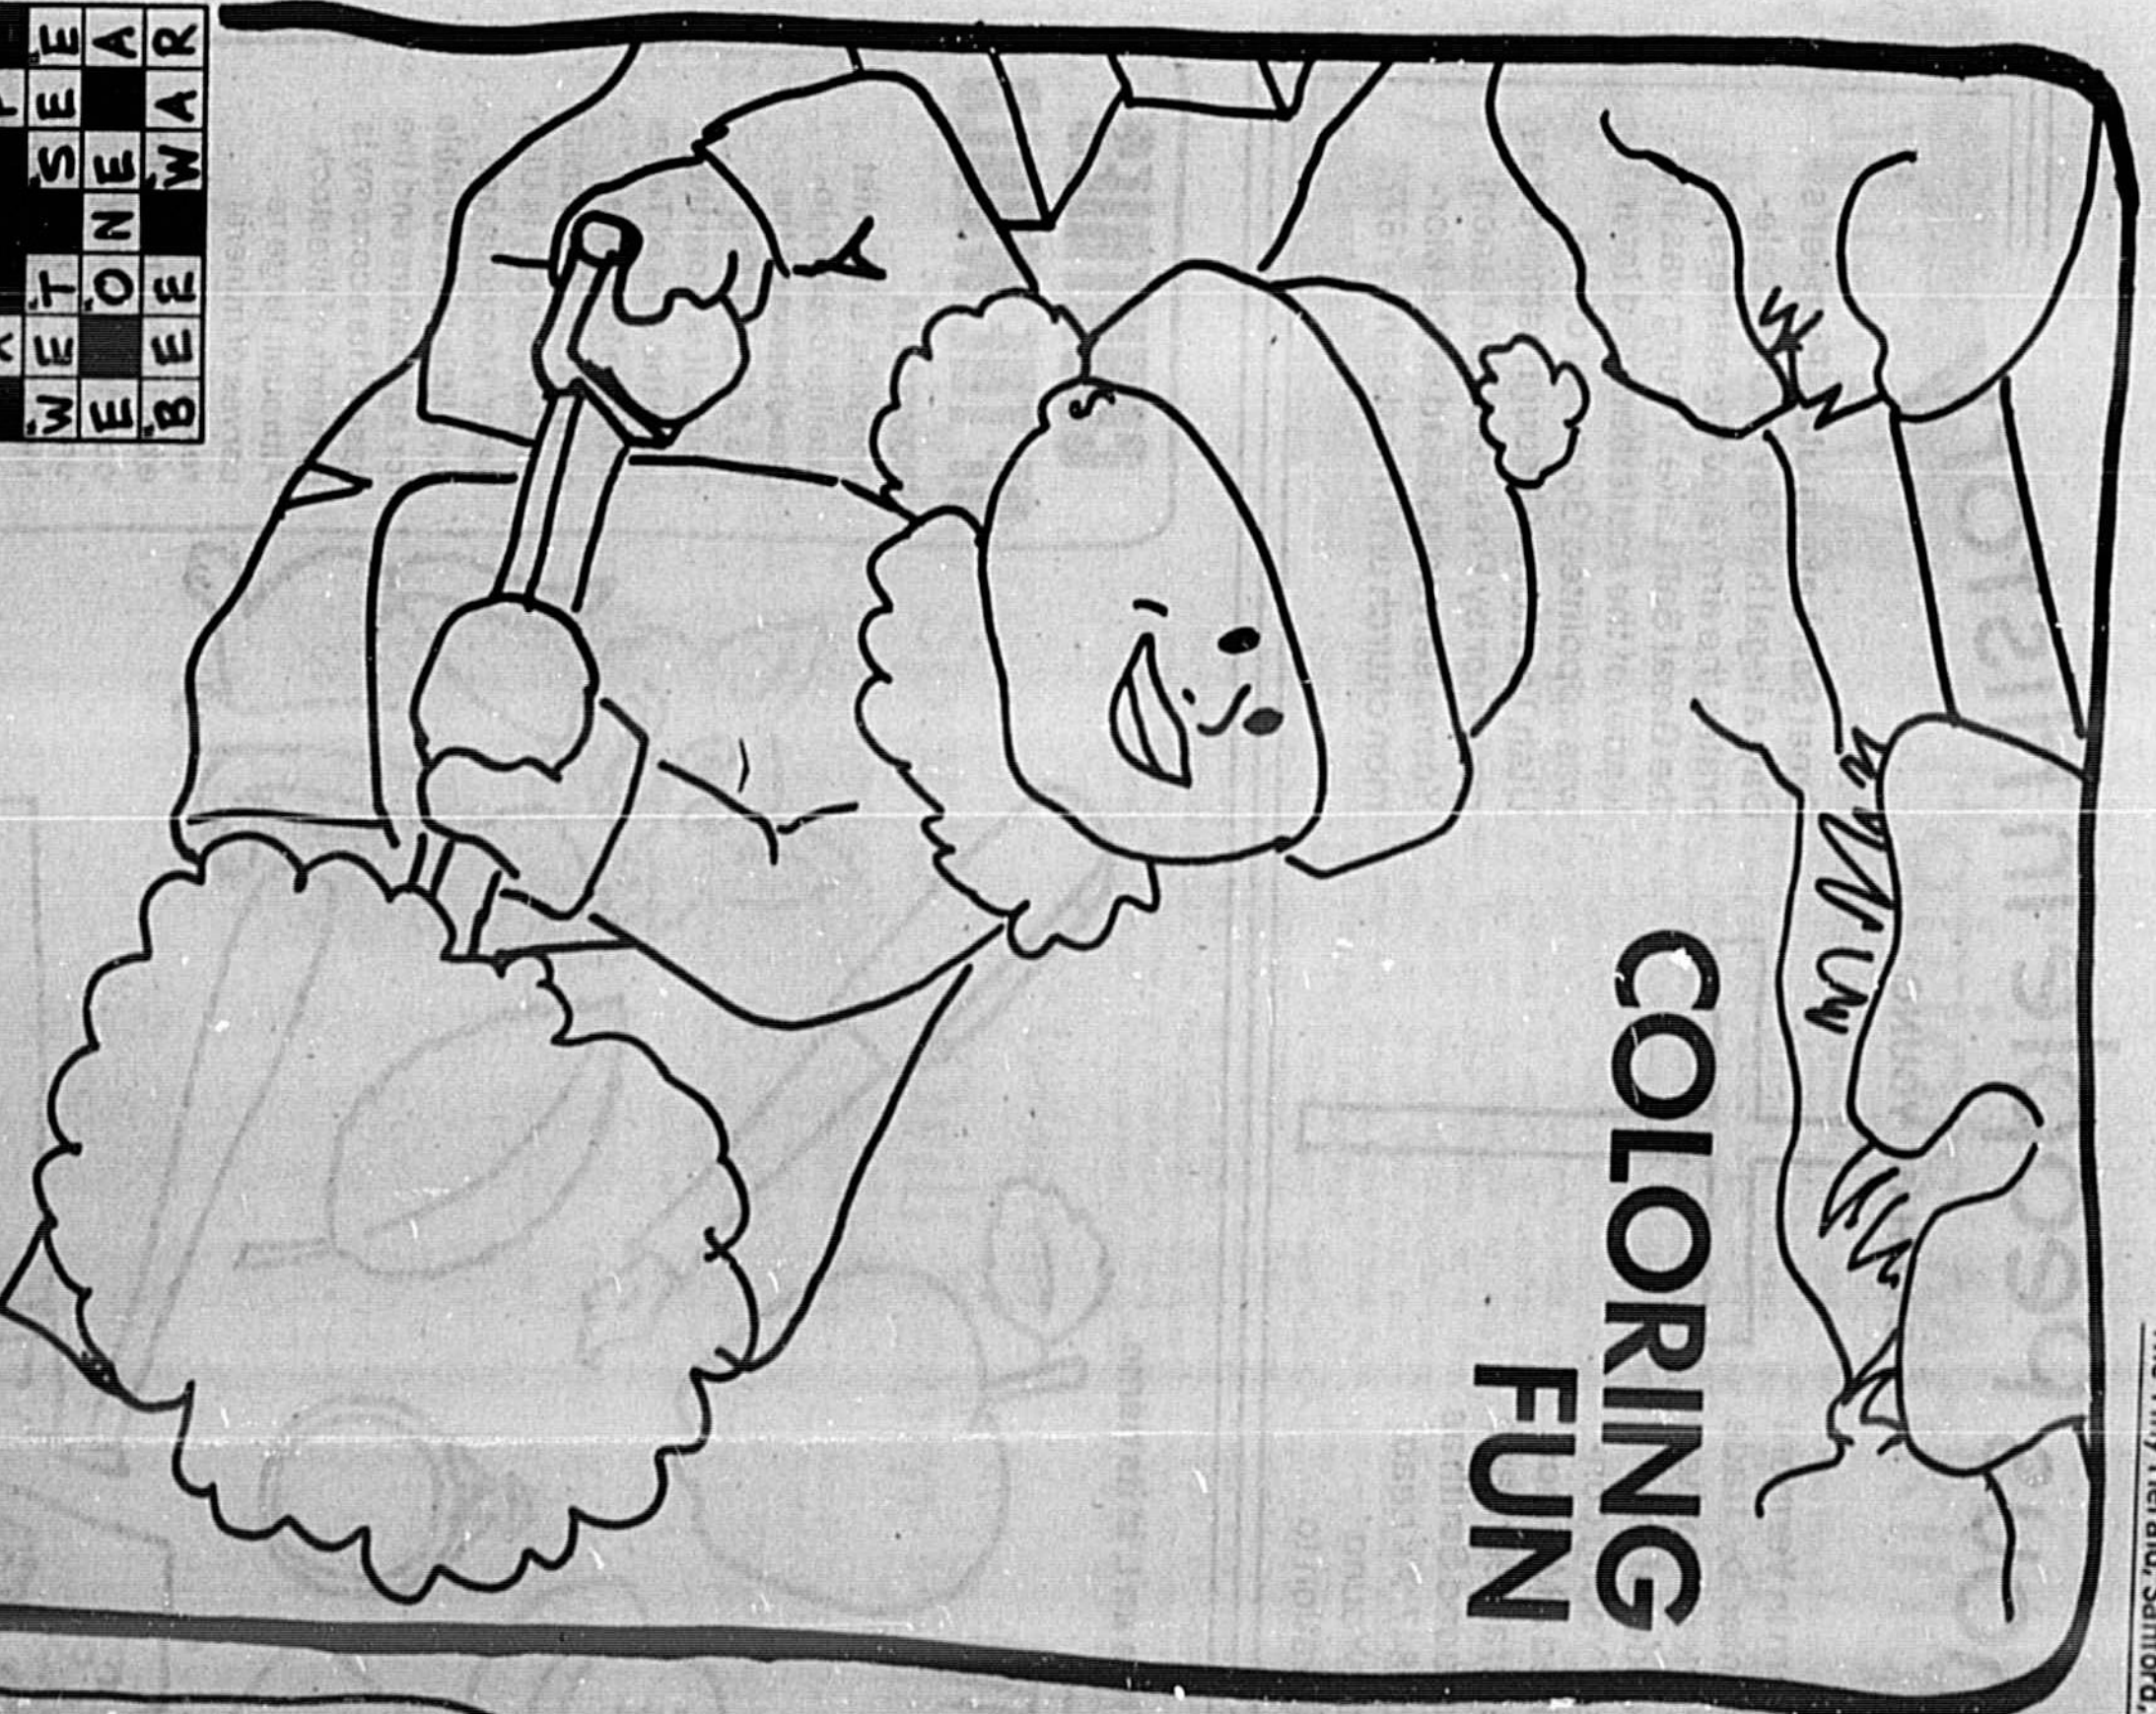

HIMALAYAN TAHR

Himalayan Tahrs are goatlike animals with thick coats of long hair that protects them against the cold live high in the mountains and are very wary of people and other animals. Tahrs are also found in Arabia and southern India but these have shorter horns and hair.

Bernice Bede Osol's this week in astrology

Dear Bernice:

My mother and I fight constantly. Now that I'm 18, she feels I should have outgrown pop heroes, dancing and other non-interests. I love my mother and I don't want her upset. Do our horoscopes show an answer? My birth date is Oct. 14, 1957, her's is July 11, 1939.

DEAR TORN-BETWEEN: AGE HAS LITTLE TO DO WITH YOUR PROBLEM. YOUR LIKES AND DISLIKES WILL ALWAYS VARY. YOUR MOTHER'S CHART SHOWS A FONDNESS FOR THINGS OF A PRACTICAL AND DOMESTIC NATURE. YOURS SHOWS YOUR INTERESTS WILL ALWAYS BE AWAKENED BY MORE ARTISTIC AND CONTEMPORARY HAPPENINGS. HOPEFULLY, YOU'LL BOTH COME TO UNDERSTAND EACH IS ENTITLED TO HER OWN IDENTITY.

— BERNICE

NOTE: Send letters to Bernice Bede Osol, c/o this newspaper, 1200 West Third Street, Cleveland, Ohio 44113. Bernice cannot answer all the letters, only the ones of general interest.

BERNICE PREDICTS
AS THE WEEK OF JAN. 12 - JAN. 18 BEGINS YOU WON'T FIND FAVOR WITH OTHERS IF YOU HOLD FAST TO OLD CONCEPTS BECAUSE THAT'S THE WAY THINGS HAVE ALWAYS BEEN DONE. A CHANGE IS CALLED FOR. AQUARIANS, SAGITTARIANS AND LIBRIANS WILL BE MOST LIKELY TO MAKE THE LARGEST STRIDES. FROM MIDWEEK ON, BE MORE AWARE OF THE FEELINGS OF OTHERS. COMPASSIONATE GESTURES WILL BE LONG REMEMBERED. LACK OF CONSIDERATION WILL LEAVE SCARS THAT WILL BE SLOW TO HEAL. AS THE WEEK CLOSES, CONDITIONS GENERALLY BECOME LESS STABLE NATIONALLY.

YOUR WEEK AHEAD

- ARIES (March 21-April 19) Friends will prove helpful to you in unusual ways till midweek. Some unrelated issues sidetrack you from goals Thursday, Friday. Be sensible regarding agreements Saturday.
- TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Early in the week an important achievement will be realized. Thursday, neither loan nor borrow from friends. Toward week's close, neglected work disrupts your fun plans.
- GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Your ideas win favor Monday, Tuesday. Your prestige rises at midweek. Thursday's lucky financially, careerwise. Saturday you lose points through a social blunder.
- CANCER (June 21-July 21) Monday, Tuesday business dealings and joint ventures look promising, profitable. Your best ideas come to you at midweek. As week closes, tether your temper. Be more patient.
- LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Opportunities can be developed through close associations this week. They'll later prove rewarding. Keep activities confidential or you'll expose ideas prematurely over weekend.
- VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Innovate, be imaginative about work this week. Substantial progress can be made using new methods. Important alliances form at midweek. Financially, be sensible.
- LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Your best days: Early in the week. You'll get off to a good start. Something lucky Wednesday, Thursday, Friday you're a good worker, but careless. Opposition from late Saturday.
- SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Monday, Tuesday you manage domestic business interests admirably. As week progresses you're fortunate in dealing with prestigious contacts. Saturday, shun strenuous pursuits.
- SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) As the week opens, prisons who opposed your views are ready to go along with them. Good news for the family Wednesday, Friday, favorable financially. Saturday, select pals wisely.
- CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Monday and Tuesday you'll do well with situations of a material nature. Exciting news Wednesday. Opposition is overcome if you keep your cool Friday.
- AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) This week influences focus on conditions that will benefit you. Be alert for new ways to expand income or resources. Consideration of others is a must as week closes.
- PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Monday, Tuesday the co-operation you require will be available. An unexpected shift in circumstances enables you to advance self-interests at midweek. Saturday, a money problem.

THIS WEEK'S TOP PRIZE QUESTION:

BOBBY MARTINEZ OF HOBART, IN, ASKS: "HOW DO KNOTHOLES GET IN WOOD?"

A KNOTHOLE IS A HOLE IN A BOARD WHERE A KNOT HAS FALLEN OUT. USUALLY, A KNOT IS SIMPLY A HARD LUMP, OR GROWTH, WHERE A BRANCH GROWS OUT OF THE TRUNK OF A TREE. WHEN THE TREE IS CUT DOWN AND SAWED INTO BOARDS, THE "ROOT" OF THE BRANCH SHOWS AS A ROUND PLACE IN THE BOARD. AS THE BOARD DRIES, THE KNOT SHRINKS AND MAY FALL OUT.

Boys and Girls: Win one of these valuable prizes for the question answered here each week. Puzzle Books awarded for the next four best. Send your question and age to: Johnny's Wonder (c/o this newspaper) P.O. Box 1335 (SUNDY) Santa Cruz, Calif. 95061

Plus Pointers

DEAR POLLY - We take three daily newspapers and each comes rolled with a rubber band around it. I save these bands and every few months give them to our new baby. This saves him money and he is most appreciative. - R.L.

DEAR POLLY - When you want to dry a drip-dry garment as quickly as possible, put it on a hanger that is covered with a plastic dry cleaner's sack. The sack will keep the garment from clinging to itself and there'll be fewer wrinkles. (Use plain bags. If there is printing on them, test for color-fastness first.) - G.S.

DEAR POLLY - When our baby was about four months old he had a knit suit with a pair of knit "shoes" to match. I was afraid they'd lose their shape when washed. After washing in a mild soap solution I inserted an empty plastic sandwich bag in each, inflated these till the shoes were shaped, then put them on a window sill to dry. Crushed paper towels would have left wrinkles. - SUSAN.

DEAR POLLY - My pointer is for others as forgetful as I am. Recently, I mailed some film to be developed and forgot to enclose my address. Now, as soon as a film is used, I attach a printed name and address label directly on the cartridge. - JUANITA.

Getsetmane
A lovely panel to embroider in easy-to-do cross-stitch in rich colors. No. 2307 has hot-iron transfer, color chart, stitch illustration.

TO ORDER - Send 60c plus 15c handling with name, address, pattern number and size to PATTERNS (c/o this newspaper), Box 438, Midtown Station, New York, NY 10018.

Seven Held In Three-County Burglary Ring

By BOB LLOYD
Herald Staff Writer

Seminole Sheriff's agents have arrested seven persons in connection with a three county burglary ring and say at least seven other suspects are being sought.

Arrested Sunday night were three adults and four juveniles. Detective Sgt. Oscar Redden said more than $5,000 in stolen gun other items have been recovered so far. He said the ring, using juveniles, is believed responsible for 30 per cent of recent burglaries in Seminole and operated in north Orange and South Volusia counties as well.

In county jail today on bonds ranging from $5,000 to $10,000 on charges of buying, receiving and concealing stolen property were Roy Edward Richardson, 31, P.O. Box 515, Longwood; Albert Charles Lawrence, 20, of 441 Trailer Court, Orlando.

Being held at the county Juvenile Detention Center were four male juveniles, ages 14 to 17.

Among items recovered by deputies are guns and a clock taken in a Jan. 10 break-in at the home of Lake Mary Police Chief Gerald P. Hester.

Redden and Detective Doug E. ... And the ring members would cruise at night in a 1965 Buick Wildcat. The three men charged allegedly were fences for the stolen items, deputies said.

Sheriff's deputies numbered as many as 15 at one time during the 48-hour round-the-clock investigation triggered early Saturday when Thomas Cecil Overly of Longwood saw a man run from his World Auto Sales office at SR-427 and U.S. 92 at Five Points. Overly lives in an adjacent trailer, officers said.

Overly captured a male juvenile at the scene and held him until deputies arrived. The youth was charged with breaking and entering and grand larceny. Investigators said a second man escaped with a shotgun taken from the office.

Redden said two saddles taken in a burglary in Orange County were recovered plus a number of rifles, shotguns, calculators, tools and other items.

Agents said the burglary ring is believed to have fenced a number of firearms and jewelry items and checks are being made throughout Central Florida for these items.

Redden and Ruth said some of the burglaries the ring has been linked with occurred over a five-month period.

Two Held In Five Points Robbery

City and county law officers today were searching the Sanford area for a third suspect in the Sunday night robbery of a food store at Five Points. Two suspects, one of them a juvenile, were nabbed by sheriff's deputies who saw a man run from Jack's Mini-Market after the robbery.

Sheriff John Polk said Sgt. R. D. Miller and Deputy R. E. Winger were passing on U.S. 17-92 at SR-419 about 8:45 p.m. and saw a man run from the store. Winger pursued on foot and Miller in the patrol car.

Deputies chased down a 17-year-old Sanford juvenile on foot along the highway south of the store and Miller took Major Wheeler, 15, of 1811 W. 13th St., Sanford, into custody at a car parked on SR-419 near the store.

Deputies said a third man, armed with a sawed-off shotgun, didn't enter the store and escaped on foot. The third suspect was the object of an intense search of the Five Points area using a tracking dog from the Winter Park police department.

Wheeler and the juvenile were charged with robbery and use of a firearm in commission of a felony. Officers said clothing shed behind the store by the juvenile, money taken in the holdup and a handgun were recovered.

Just before 1 a.m. today a lone double-masked bandit armed with a pump shotgun escaped with approximately $1,000 in cash and checks after robbing Fair Lanes Bowling, 115 Wilshire Dr., Fern Park.

Francis W. Farnsworth, 65, of Winter Park, told investigators he was closing the lanes and went to his car to check on his dog. A man dressed in tan clothes, with a stocking mask under a ski mask, approached him with a pump shotgun and demanded the business bank deposit.

Farnsworth said the bandit, wearing flesh-colored gloves, forced him to go inside, open the safe and then hit him on the head after putting cash and checks from the safe and three cash drawers and a petty cash box into a blue flight bag.

The calm bandit also took $40 from the victim's wallet before escaping on foot via a rear door.

Longwood Chamber Votes To Back Police, Fire Agencies

By DONNA ESTES
Herald Staff Writer

LONGWOOD — The general membership of the Longwood area Chamber of Commerce at a breakfast meeting this morning voted confidence in both the city police and fire departments and no support in any move which may develop among the city council toward cutting personnel in either department.

Gerald Ream, president, said while it is only a rumor that councilmen may economize by cutting the police and fire departments that the city's business community should make its feelings known.

The chamber's liaison committee, which includes both Ream and Gene Duffey, a zoning consultant with offices in the city, are to appear before the city council tonight to make a report on the vote.

Police Chief Tom Hennigan, a guest at the meeting, gave a report on police activity during 1974 saying his department:

- Had patrolled 149,867 miles of city streets during the year, investigated 246 traffic accidents; worked 1,561 hours of unpaid overtime; had 3,891 complaints; made 2,021 misdemeanor arrests; 128 for driving while intoxicated; arrested 79 adults and 23 juveniles for felonies.
- He said that the department, in addition to himself and a lieutenant, had four sergeants and eight patrolmen with authority to make arrests.
- Fire Chief Roy LaBossier said his department has lost every paid firefighter trained in the two years he has been chief to other departments with higher pay scales. LaBossier said he went to Mayor James R. Lorrman on Jan. 2 — four days before he assumed office — asking that authorization be given to replace three firemen who resigned but a consensus of councilmen at the time had two agreeing to immediately hire and two disagreeing. Two of the firemen were replaced.
- LaBossier said his department saved Longwood taxpayers last year $800,000 in property and of 229 rescue calls, 222 lives were saved. One fire call received every 20.3 hours, he said.
- Mayor James Lorrman, also a guest, said during his recent campaign, he heard only complimentary remarks about both the police and fire departments. He said while the city has some problems with finances, there are adequate moneys "at the moment to take care of city needs." He added that an immediate shift in financing will be necessary to meet the crises ahead.

Casselberry Eyes 'Deficit' Report

CASSELBERRY — City officials here expect to hear a report from City Manager Harry Hug concerning a $70,000 deficit in the budget at a meeting tonight.

The budget for the utility department is off about $40,000, and red ink outweighs black in the police department by about $30,000, officials say.

Contacted at his office today, Hug declined to discuss recommendations he is scheduled to present at a meeting tonight at city hall.

Council Member Dr. Edith Duerr and Council Chairman Tom Embree said the city's not in the red, but that the deficits are a result of bookkeeping error.

Hug has been working with department heads in the police and utility departments to try and clear up the deficits.

Prior to Hug's report at a work session, the council will elect a chairman and vice chairman at a reorganizational meeting.

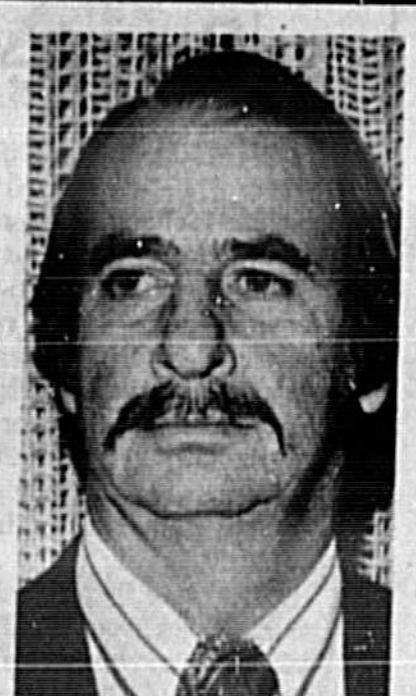

Councilmen elect Sal Orlando and Charles Sizer will be sworn in at the 7:30 p.m. council meeting.

At a December election, Casselberry residents elected Sizer, Orlando and incumbent Charles Glascock.

Embree, a chief petty officer in the U.S. Navy, didn't seek reelection because of a job transfer to Meridian, Miss.

Embree, a popular councilman with the city's residents, says he will return here once his upcoming tour of duty expires.

Orlando has vowed to make city hall more accessible to the citizens, while Sizer has promised to implement the fluoridation program as soon as possible.

Seminole Schools Face Pay Cuts Due To Shortage Of State Funds

By ED PRICKETT
Herald Staff Writer

If this year's cutback in state school funds continues into next year, the Seminole School Board will be forced to slash salaries, School Supt. William Laver said today.

But, "I won't cut salaries this year," Laver said.

In the wake of a cabinet rollback, Seminole's budget was trimmed by $608,900 at the bequest of Education Commissioner Ralph Turlington.

The decrease was part of a total of $34 million trimmed from school boards across the state.

Laver said this year's cut put a freeze on purchases of certain types of equipment and will cause the school system to postpone some services.

However, he said, the business of educating the county's children will "stay just as it is."

"This has happened to us before. When state revenues didn't meet expectations then there was an overall reduction in state spending," Laver said. "If revenues next year are reduced there will have to be an overall reduction of expenditures, including salaries. But we're cut other places before we cut salaries," Laver added.

After the state cutback, Seminole County will receive $21,454 of an anticipated $22,062 million, or a drop of $608,000.

Part of the reason for the cuts is the lack of money flowing into state coffers as a result of the slowdown in Florida's economy.

The appointment was effective Jan. 1.

Smoking Arrests Sought

Dr. Merle E. Parker today asked Sheriff John Polk for the arrests of three school officials for alleged violations of Florida's cigarette law.

In an affidavit, Parker asked for the arrests of Seminole High School Principal Don Reynolds, Assistant Principal A. Wayne Epps and School Supt. William Laver.

Parker says school officials violated Florida law by providing a special area where school children could smoke.

Polk said Parker's request would be handled like any other in that it will be turned over to the state attorney's office. Officials there will decide on the case, Polk said.

Parker made the request as director of Citizens' Legal Protective League and president of the American School of Mentality.

Parker claims Reynolds and Epps admitted knowledge of a "smoking area" near Seminole High's flagpole.
