H. J. LEHMAN IS NAMED HEAD OF CELERY GROUP

Directors Adopt Plan For Clearing House; Committees Named To Work Out Details

Meeting Tuesday afternoon in Lakeland, directors of the Florida State Celery Association unanimously approved a plan for the establishment of a clearing house association to function in conjunction with the proposed advertising program, and in addition chose H. J. Lehman to be the association's first president.

Others elected to office included Lorin Rauf of Sarasota, first vice president; C. D. Darymple of Ocoee, second vice president; H. T. Warren of Oviedo, treasurer; and W. M. Haynes of Sanford, secretary. All of these will hold office until permanent officers are selected in September. Sanford was designated as headquarters for the association; temporary offices to be maintained at Haynes and Ratliff's establishment, the First National Bank was designated as the official depository of the organization.

After laying plans for the formation of the clearing house, the directors named a committee of 16 to work out the details and submit them at a conference to be held June 25 at Lakeland. The committee includes the following prominent growers and shippers of Sanford and Oviedo: A. H. Stone, J. H. Colquitt, F. E. Dotson, W. A. Lettler, M. S. Wiggin, J. C. Hutchinson, T. E. Adams, L. F. Frasier, L. A. Brunley, R. H. Chapman, E. L. Marcell, and J. Cameron of Sanford, and C. J. Lee, H. T. Warren and B. F. Wheeler of Oviedo.

The clearing house project has long been advocated here as one of the measures by which some of the farmers' problems could be solved. Its certain establishment, made possible by yesterday's action, was hailed today as one of the biggest forward steps ever taken in behalf of the celery industry. A number of local growers were quick today to lend their endorsement to the proposition.

Tuesday meeting in Lakeland was described today by Mr. Lehman as a very enthusiastic and harmonious gathering. Sarasota and Bradenton representatives, it is said, reported increasing interest in the advertising plan. Between 95 and 100 per cent of the Sarasota growers are expected to sign up for the association.

Meanwhile much progress was reported here in the campaign committee headed by E. J. Meyer. Upwards of 400 acres have been signed up already this week, pushing the total to within 500 to 600 acres of the goal. Mr. Meyer said intensive work on the drive would continue until success is assured.

New York Student Wins First Prize In Airplane Designing

NEW YORK, June 19.—(INS)—August Zinner, Jr., of this city, won first prize in airplane design at the Daniel Guggenheim school of aeronautics of New York University. The contest was conducted by the Wright Aeronautical Corporation of Passaic, N. J.

C. H. Schowalter, Wisconsin, was awarded second prize and Wellwood E. Head, 105 Merchant Building, San Francisco, won third place in the contest.

All three awards were based on designs for high wing monoplanes built around a single engine. Zinner is a graduate student with degrees from Princeton and Harvard Universities. He received a cash award of $200 from the Wright company.

The presentations were made in front of the school of aeronautics building on University Heights yesterday. Speakers at the ceremony were Harry Guggenheim, president of the Guggenheim fund for the promotion of aeronautics, Grover Loening, president of the Grover Loening Company, and Professor Alexander Klemm of the Guggenheim school.

Heat Wave Scorches Every Area Of North

By International News Service—The gods of heat continued to hurl their fireballs with relentless abandon at most of the United States today, with virtually every section of the country and particularly the East, the mercury had moved to near record heights. In New York City, residents were preparing to endure another day similar to Tuesday when the mercury touched 93 degrees to record the hottest June 18 in 48 years. Eleven deaths have been attributed to the heat in the East in the last 24 hours. New England likewise felt the wrath of tropical temperatures. One death and a score of prostrations were reported in Boston, Gloucester and Fall River, Mass., reported 103 and 110 degrees respectively. The Midwest after a scorch yesterday saw no prospects of let-up today. Chicago, Cleveland, Cincinnati, St. Louis and Kansas City all reported temperatures in the neighborhood of 90.

BIGAMIST GIVEN YEAR AFTER NEW TRIAL IS DENIED

Abercrombie Case Concluded On Directed Verdict By Wright

Carl G. Bruton, convicted of bigamy Monday in Circuit Court, was sentenced this afternoon by Judge Wallace W. Wright to serve a year at the state prison farm at Raiford. A motion for a new trial, filed by H. S. White, attorney for the young white man, was denied by Judge Wright.

The trial of S. M. Abercrombie, charged with embezzlement, came to an abrupt end yesterday afternoon when E. F. Hoagholder, counsel for Abercrombie, filed a motion for a directed verdict and it was granted. The "motion" was based on a statute under which counsel for the defendant can tender that his client could not be held for trial.

A material occurred this morning in the case of Pinkey Hart, one of a trio of white men charged with grand larceny. T. F. Turner and J. J. Newsome, the other two, have already been sentenced to serve a year in the state prison. Both were used by the state as witnesses against Hart. The latter was defended by S. A. B. Wilkinson.

State's Attorney Millard B. Smith announced this afternoon that Hart would go on trial tomorrow morning at 9:30 o'clock.

An extra panel of jurors was drawn by Judge Wright for tomorrow. The case will wind up in the criminal docket for the present session of court. Judge Wright also drew a panel for jury next week in the civil suits brought by the receiver of the Seminole County Bank against a number of local parties.

The bank cases are scheduled to get under way next Monday but no affidavits have been received here to whom Governor Carlton will assign to preside over the court because of the disqualification of Judge Wright.

On Up Digs, City Manager Asks Owners

Dog owners were asked by City Manager George H. Cairns today to maintain a close watch on their animals to prevent an outbreak of rabies and to protect Seminole children from the danger of being bitten by dogs suffering from rabies.

The City Manager's request came closely upon the heels of a report from the State Board of Health that a dog killed here last week was found to have been infected with rabies. The dog is said to have bitten several other animals and most of these have been pecked up by their owners following a request by the police.

Mr. Cairns said there might be other cases unreported to the police, and advised dog owners to examine their animals for wounds and if any are revealed to tie up the dogs as a precautionary measure.

DAWES SPEECH ON NAVY ISSUE ELICITS PRAISE

First Address As Ambassador To Britain On Disarmament Is Pleasing To Capital

WASHINGTON, June 19—Gen. Charles G. Dawes struck the keynote of the Hoover administration's whole policy toward world peace and naval disarmament in his first speech as ambassador to Great Britain. Nothing but praise of the speech was heard yesterday from the Foreign Office and administration quarters.

That policy, briefly summed up, contemplates a naval understanding between the United States and Great Britain—an understanding based upon equality which can serve as a foundation for a broader world understanding that will take in the other principal naval powers, Japan, France and Italy.

Moreover, the "yardstick" for measuring relative naval needs, which the General emphasized so heavily in his speech, reposed in his hip pocket while he spoke. He carried it away from Washington with him two weeks ago, and if it is not already under British scrutiny, it is only because the volatile General has not found time in the hectic few days he has been in England, to present it to his hosts.

This "yardstick" is of American design and structure, evolved by American technical experts under Mr. Hoover's directions, over a period of several months. It aims to reconcile the differences—principally cruiser differences—between the American and British experts, which caused the collapse of the tri-party conference at Geneva, and which ever since have stood as the greatest and insurmountable barrier to an Anglo-American understanding.

Gen. Dawes proposed to take these differences out of the hands of the experts and the technicians and not them in the hands of statesmen who are more used to the philosophy of "give and take" in international negotiation.

The new American "yardstick" would discard the hard-and-fast rule of tonnage in figuring relative naval needs, and propose instead a more elastic formula by which fighting strength would be the unit of measurement.

For example, Britain, with her far-flung trading stations and naval bases, can utilize smaller cruisers to better advantage than the United States. American requirements call for larger cruisers. That was the rock upon which the Geneva conference split. What the American "yardstick" now contemplates is to have the technical experts figure out how many small cruisers say with 6-inch guns, will equal how many tons of larger cruisers, armed with 8-inch guns. In this instance, Great Britain might be allowed, for example, 350,000 tons of 6-inch gun cruisers as compared with 200,000 tons of 8-inch gun cruisers for the United States, the tonnage superiority being offset by the greater tonnage, displacement, armament and fighting strength of individual units held off by his meeting Sunday.

We feel that recent months have passed us seriously by concerning attention upon a law many public journals and officials have been kept upon it up to now and efforts to enforce it have been upon a large scale.

Premier MacDonald in his address with Ambassador Dawes and the newest which they had found themselves in the same and aspirations of peace," Dr. McAfee told the President. "We cannot be indifferent to the fact that violation of law is a violation of love.

"We are not satisfied with the logic of this argument, and we are glad that you have followed a fortunate precedent of the society of friends in stripping this issue of its cluttering externals and have brought it to the beating heart of it. No law is here in effect because it is law itself which is involved—it is in the task of revising and reassessing the dignity and right of law itself that you have called us.

CHURCH GROUP VISITS HOOVER ON DRY ISSUE

Delegation Gives Its Assurance Of Help In Law Enforcement

WASHINGTON, June 19.—(INS)—While messages of relief continued to pile up at Washington today over the wave of prohibition filings, President Hoover was visited by a delegation of Presbyterians, headed by the Rev. Cleland B. McAfee, moderator of the Presbyterian general assembly who assured him of the church's support in his fight for law enforcement.

Dr. McAfee presented to the President the 21 members of his national assembly, which he had organized to study the question of prohibition.

"A sense of a sense of peace," Dr. McAfee told the President.

"We cannot be indifferent to the fact that violation of law is a violation of love."

"We are not satisfied with the logic of this argument, and we are glad that you have followed a fortunate precedent of the society of friends in stripping this issue of its cluttering externals and have brought it to the beating heart of it. Green Says He Won't Attend White House Functions In Future

WASHINGTON, June 19.—(INS)—Rep. H. A. Green (D) of Florida today announced that he would never attend another social function in the White House as long as it is occupied by President and Mrs. Hoover and will not dine in the congressional restaurant at the Capitol as long as it is open to Rep. Oscar DePriest, colored congressman of Chicago.

Green said that he protested against entertainment of Mrs. DePriest by Mrs. Hoover on the ground that it sets an example for the rest of the country. Several members of Congress, he said, have ceased to eat in the House restaurant because DePriest entertains his friends there.

Brother Of Murderer Who Was Hanged For Crime Is Lodged In Same Prison

By ALFRED T. NEWBERRY
 International News Service

Staff Correspondent

BALTIMORE, June 18.—Fate

has placed Rawlings V. Whittmire behind the walls of the Maryland Penitentiary from which his brother, Richard Reeve Whittmire, killed an aged guard in prison, only to pay for the crime
 on the prisoner's stone scaffold Aug. 15, 1926.

Whitney "Duck" Whittmire, who was better known as the "Candy Kid," was hanged with the distinction of being a junior bandit
 and rated in the class of the late George Chapman, the big brother who just entered the ministry but was sentenced to serve twenty years for the robbery and kidnapping of the Farmers and Mechanics

Bank at Westminister April 5. With Minnie and August Dutcher, he beat up the bank officials and expected $112,600. A few days later he and his brother were arrested in St. Louis for speeding. They were identified as the men wanted by the Maryland authorities and several other men. Detective who made the raid said the gang was captured. On trial, they admitted being in a table when they dashed

 in, and a surprise attack.

After the robbery and kidnapping, the "Candy Kid" was charged with the charge when Baltimore police believed at that time she had taken part in the saloon hold-up. She proved her innocence.

The sentence brings the younger brother face-to-face with the vendetta of his brother's crime.
 When he goes to work in the shops
 of the prison, there's the gate where Richard dutifully struck the guard, smashing the gate and racing into the street to flee
 for more than a year before his capture in New York.

In another section of the yard
 stands a little stone two-story building. It's the death-house. In here the "Candy Kid" paid his debt to the State of Maryland for three years ago.

It's obvious Rawlings V. Whittmire
 more thinks of these things.

Police Seize Slayer Who Defied Arrest

ATLANTA, June 19 (INS)

Within an hour after Sam Alken, Jr., a painter, had shot and killed his wife, 38, and his Hunter, 30, and sent word to police
 that he would not be taken alive,
 he was captured today in an old
 theater in the heart of the city.

Alken, armed with the shot gun with which he killed his wife and Hunter, threw up his ticket, and made no gesture of resistance. He was found a short distance from the rear of the theater, where the double murder
 occurred.

This correspondent questioned
 the police about the shooting and the double murder. They said that Alken had been under arrest for some time
 and that he had been held in custody for the last few days.

SNAPPED AT NEW YORK CITY—Miss Leonora Rice won the model of the first steamship in history to sail on the ocean. It is one of the prominent displays at the Teachers College exhibition at Columbia University. Although not the first steamship to cross the ocean, it was the first craft to sail on a regular schedule—departing from Liverpool in 1840.
